(1.2) Property used in a fishing business. For the purposes of applying the definition "qualified fishing property", in subsection (1), of an individual, at any time, a property owned at that time by the individual, the spouse or common-law partner of the individual, or a partnership, an interest in which is an interest in a family fishing partnership of the individual or of the individual's spouse or common-law partner, will not be considered to have been used in the course of carrying on the business of fishing in Canada, unless

(a) throughout the period of at least 24 months immediately preceding that time, the property or property for which the property was substituted (in this paragraph referred to as "the property") was owned, by any one or more of

(i) the individual, or a spouse, common-law partner, child or parent of the individual,

(ii) a partnership, an interest in which is an interest in a family fishing partnership of the individual or of the individual's spouse or common-law partner,

(iii) if the individual is a personal trust, the individual from whom the trust acquired the property or a spouse, common-law partner, child or parent of that individual, or

(iv) a personal trust from which the individual or a child or parent of the individual acquired the property; and

(b) either

(i) in at least two years while the property was owned by the one or more persons referred to in paragraph (a),

(A) the gross revenue of a person (in this clause referred to as the "operator") referred to in paragraph (a) from the fishing business referred to in clause (B) for the period during which the property was owned by a person described in paragraph (a) exceeded the income of the operator from all other sources for that period, and

(B) the property was used principally in a fishing business carried on in Canada in which an individual referred to in paragraph (a), or where the individual is a personal trust, a beneficiary of the trust, was actively engaged on a regular and continuous basis, or

(ii) throughout a period of at least 24 months while the property was owned by one or more persons or partnerships referred to in paragraph (a), the property was used by a corporation referred to in subparagraph (a)(iv) of the definition "qualified fishing property" in subsection (1) or by a partnership referred to in paragraph (a)(v) of that definition in a fishing business in which an individual referred to in any of subparagraphs (a)(i) to (iii) of that definition was actively engaged on a regular and continuous basis.

History: S. 110.6(1.2) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 17(5), applicable to dispositions of property that occur on or after May 2, 2006.

► 110.6(1.3) ◄

(1.3) Property used in a farming business. For the purposes of applying the definition "qualified farm property", in subsection (1), of an individual, at any time, a property owned at that time by the individual, the spouse or common-law partner of the individual, or a partnership, an interest in which is an interest in a family farm partnership of the individual or of the individual's spouse or common-law partner, will not be considered to have been used in the course of carrying on the business of farming in Canada, unless

(a) throughout the period of at least 24 months immediately preceding that time, the property or property for which the property was substituted (in this paragraph referred to as "the property") was owned, by any one or more of

(i) the individual, or a spouse, common-law partner, child or parent of the individual,

(ii) a partnership, an interest in which is an interest in a family farm partnership of the individual or of the individual's spouse or common-law partner,

(iii) if the individual is a personal trust, the individual from whom the trust acquired the property or a spouse, common-law partner, child or parent of that individual, or

(iv) a personal trust from which the individual or a child or parent of the individual acquired the property;

(b) if paragraph (c) does not apply, either

(i) in at least two years while the property was owned by the one or more persons referred to in paragraph (a),

(A) the gross revenue of a person (in this clause referred to as the "operator") referred to in paragraph (a) from the farming business referred to in clause (B) for the period during which the property was owned by a person described in paragraph (a) exceeded the income of the operator from all other sources for that period, and

(B) the property was used principally in a farming business carried on in Canada in which an individual referred to in paragraph (a), or where the individual is a personal trust, a beneficiary of the trust, was actively engaged on a regular and continuous basis, or

(ii) throughout a period of at least 24 months while the property was owned by one or more persons or partnerships referred to in paragraph (a), the property was used by a corporation referred to in subparagraph (a)(iv) of the definition "qualified farm property" in subsection (1) or by a partnership referred to in subparagraph (a)(v) of that definition in a farming business in which an individual referred to in any of subparagraphs (a)(i) to (iii) of that definition was actively engaged on a regular and continuous basis; or

(c) if the property or property for which the property was substituted was last acquired by the individual or partnership before June 18, 1987 or after June 17, 1987 under an agreement in writing entered into before that date,

(i) in the year the property was disposed of by the individual, the property was used principally in the course of carrying on the business of farming in Canada by

(A) the individual, or a spouse, common-law partner, child or parent of the individual,

(B) a beneficiary referred to in subparagraph (a)(ii) in the definition "qualified farm property" in subsection (1) or a spouse, common-law partner, child or parent of that beneficiary,

(C) a corporation referred to in subparagraph (a)(iv) in the definition "qualified farm property" in subsection (1),

(D) a partnership referred to in subparagraph (a)(v) in the definition "qualified farm property" in subsection (1), or

(E) a personal trust from which the individual acquired the property, or

(ii) in at least five years during which the property was owned by a person described in clauses (A) to (E), the property was used principally in the course of carrying on the business of farming in Canada by

(A) the individual, or a spouse, common-law partner, child or parent of the individual,

(B) a beneficiary referred to in subparagraph (a)(ii) in the definition "qualified farm property" in subsection (1) or a spouse, common-law partner, child or parent of that beneficiary,

(C) a corporation referred to in subparagraph (a)(iv) in the definition "qualified farm property" in subsection (1),

(D) a partnership referred to in subparagraph (a)(v) in the definition "qualified farm property" in subsection (1), or

(E) a personal trust from which the individual acquired the property.

History: S. 110.6(1.3) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 17(5), applicable to dispositions of property that occur on or after May 2, 2006.

► 110.6(2) ◄

(2) Capital gains deduction — qualified farm property. In computing the taxable income for a taxation year of an individual (other than a trust) who was resident in Canada throughout the year and who disposed of qualified farm property in the year or a preceding taxation year ending after 1984, there may be deducted such amount as the individual may claim not exceeding the least of

(a) the amount determined by the formula

$$[$375{,}000 - (A + B + C + D)] \times E$$

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year that ended

(i) before 1988, or

(ii) after October 17, 2000,

B is the total of all amounts each of which is

(i) 3/4 of an amount deducted under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year that ended after 1987 and before 1990 (other than amounts deducted under this section for a taxation year in respect of an amount that was included in computing an individual's income for that year because of subparagraph 14(1)(a)(v) as that subparagraph applied for taxation years that ended before February 28, 2000), or

(ii) 3/4 of an amount deducted under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year that began after February 27, 2000 and ended before October 18, 2000,

C is 2/3 of the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under this section in computing the individual's taxable income

(i) for a preceding taxation year that ended after 1989 and before February 28, 2000, or

(ii) in respect of an amount that was included because of subparagraph 14(1)(a)(v) (as that subparagraph applied for taxation years that ended before February 28, 2000) in computing the individual's income for a taxation year that began after 1987 and ended before 1990, and

D is the product obtained when the reciprocal of the fraction determined for E that applied to the taxpayer for a preceding taxation year that began before and included February 28, 2000 or October 17, 2000 is multiplied by the amount deducted under this subsection in computing the individual's taxable income for that preceding year,

E is

(i) in the case of a taxation year that includes February 28, 2000 or October 17, 2000, the amount determined by the formula

$$2 \times (F + G)/H$$

where

F is the amount deemed by subsection 14(1.1) to be a taxable capital gain of the taxpayer for the taxation year;

G is the amount by which the amount determined in respect of the taxpayer for the year under paragraph 3(b) exceeds the amount determined for F; and

H is the total of

(A) the amount deemed by subsection 14(1.1) to be a taxable capital gain of the taxpayer for the taxation year multiplied by

(I) where that amount is determined by reference to paragraph 14(1.1)(a), the reciprocal of the fraction obtained by multiplying the fraction 3/4 by the fraction in paragraph 14(1)(b) that applies to the taxpayer for the taxation year,

(II) where that amount is determined by reference to paragraph 14(1.1)(b), and the taxation year does not end after February 27, 2000 and before October 18, 2000, 2, and

(III) where that amount is determined by reference to paragraph 14(1.1)(b), and the taxation year ends after February 27, 2000 and before October 18, 2000, 3/2, and

(B) the amount determined for G multiplied by the reciprocal of the fraction in paragraph 38(a) that applies to the taxpayer for the taxation year; and

(ii) in any other case, 1,

(b) the individual's cumulative gains limit at the end of the year,

(c) the individual's annual gains limit for the year, and

(d) the amount that would be determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph 3(b) in respect of capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in that paragraph were qualified farm properties of the individual disposed of after June 17, 1987.

History: S. 110.6(2)(a), the formula was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 31(1), applicable to taxation years that begin after March 19, 2007. S. 110.6(2)(a), the formula formerly read:

"[$250,000 – (A + B + C + D)] × E

„

S. 110.6(2)(a), the description of A was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 17(6), applicable to preceding taxation years that end after October 17, 2000. S. 110.6(2)(a), the description of A formerly read:

"A is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year that ended before 1988,"

S. 110.6(2)(d) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 17(7), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006. S. 110.6(2)(d) formerly read:

"(d) the amount that would be determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph 3(b) in respect of capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in that paragraph were qualified farm properties disposed of by the individual after 1984."

S. 110.6(2)(a) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 86(3), applicable to taxation years that end after February 27, 2000. S. 110.6(2)(a) formerly read:

"(a) the amount, if any, by which $375,000 exceeds the total of

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the individual under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year,

(ii) where the taxation year ended after 1987, 1/3 of the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year ending before 1988, and

(iii) where the taxation year ended after 1989, 1/8 of the total of

(A) all amounts deducted under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year ending before 1990 (other than amounts deducted under this section for a taxation year in respect of an amount that was included in computing the individual's income for that year because of subparagraph 14(1)(a)(v)), and

(B) the amount determined under subparagraph (ii) in respect of the individual for the year,"

See S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(15) below for the reading of s. 110.6(2)(d) when applied to the 1994 and 1995 taxation years.

S. 110.6(2)(a)(iii)(A) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 47(8), applicable to the 1990 and subsequent taxation years. S. 110.6(2)(a)(iii)(A) formerly read:

"(A) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year ending before 1990, and"

Editorial Note: Section 110.6 provides for a lifetime $500,000 exemption for capital gains realized on the disposition of qualified farm property (subsection 110.6(2)), qualified small business corporation shares (subsection 110.6(2.1)), and qualified fishing property (subsection 110.6(2.2)). Prior to February 23, 1994, capital gains realized with respect to other property also qualified for the exemption — see the history notes for details. The exemption may be claimed by Canadian resident individuals, including, in limited circumstances, trusts (see subsection 110.6(12)). A special rule in subsection 110.6(5) applies where an individual ceases to be a resident in the year.

The terms "qualified farm property", "qualified small business corporation share", and "qualified fishing property", as well as other terms, are defined in subsection 110.6(1). The definitions of "qualified farm property" and "qualified fishing property" impose a use test and a holding period test which are critical to whether or not the property qualifies for the exemption (see also subsections 110.6(1.2) and (1.3)). Although the person who claims the exemption is not required to carry on the farming business, he or she must generally be related to the person who did carry on the business. Similarly, the definition of a qualified small business corporation share requires the assets of the corporation to be used in an active business, and generally imposes a 24-month holding period test for the shares.

The exemption is limited by the individual's annual gain limit, as defined, which takes into account the capital gains realized in the current year on QFP and QSBC shares, the net capital losses claimed, and the allowable business investment losses. The exemption is also limited by the taxpayer's cumulative gains limit, as defined, which tracks the annual gains limit from prior years, the exemption previously claimed, and the taxpayer's cumulative net investment loss (investment expenses in excess of investment income). Various anti-avoidance rules also apply to restrict the exemption.

Related Sections: S. 14(1) Eligible capital property — inclusion in income from business; s. 38 Taxable capital gain and allowable capital loss; s. 39 Meaning of capital gain and capital loss; s. 110.6(4) Maximum capital gains deduction; s. 110.6(6)–(8); s. 111.1 Order of applying provisions; s. 126(5.1) Deductions for specified capital gains; s. 248(1), "amount", "individual".

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-426R Shares sold subject to an earnout agreement.

Advance Tax Rulings: ATR-28 Redemption of capital stock of family farm corporation.

Forms: T3 SK (CG); T1237; T657.

Sec. 32(15), Chap. 3, S.C. 1995

Sec. 32. [Application of s. 110.6(2)(d) and 110.6(2.1)(d) to the 1994 and 1995 taxation years.]

(15) In applying the Act to the 1994 and 1995 taxation years,

(a) paragraph 110.6(2)(d) of the Act shall be read as follows:

"(d) the amount that would be determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph 3(b) in respect of capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in that paragraph were qualified farm properties disposed of by the individual after 1984 otherwise than because of an election made under subsection (19)."

and

(b) paragraph 110.6(2.1)(d) of the Act shall be read as follows:

"(d) the amount that would be determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph 3(b) (other than an amount included in determining the amount in respect of the individual under paragraph (2)(d)) in respect of capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in paragraph 3(b) were qualified small business corporation shares disposed of by the individual after June 17, 1987 otherwise than because of an election made under subsection (19)."

► 110.6(2.1) ◄

(2.1) Capital gains deduction — qualified small business corporation shares. In computing the taxable income for a taxation year of an individual (other than a trust) who was resident in Canada throughout the year and who disposed of a share of a corporation in the year or a preceding taxation year and after June 17, 1987 that, at the time of disposition, was a qualified small business corporation share of the individual, there may be deducted such amount as the individual may claim not exceeding the least of

(a) the amount determined by the formula in paragraph (2)(a) in respect of the individual for the year,

(b) the amount, if any, by which the individual's cumulative gains limit at the end of the year exceeds the amount deducted under subsection (2) in computing the individual's taxable income for the year,

(c) the amount, if any, by which the individual's annual gains limit for the year exceeds the amount deducted under subsection (2) in computing the individual's taxable income for the year, and

(d) the amount that would be determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph 3(b) (to the extent that that amount is not included in computing the amount determined under paragraph (2)(d) or (2.2)(d) in respect of the individual) in respect of capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in paragraph 3(b) were qualified small business corporation shares of the individual disposed of after June 17, 1987.

History: S. 110.6(2.1)(d) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 17(8), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006. S. 110.6(2.1)(d) formerly read:

"(d) the amount that would be determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph 3(b) (other than an amount included in determining the amount in respect of the individual under paragraph (2)(d)) in respect of capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in paragraph 3(b) were qualified small business corporation shares disposed of by the individual after June 17, 1987."

S. 110.6(2.1)(a) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 86(4), applicable to taxation years that end after February 27, 2000. S. 110.6(2.1)(a) formerly read:

"(a) the amount, if any, by which $375,000 exceeds the total of

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the individual under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year,

(ii) where the taxation year ended after 1987, the amount determined under subparagraph (2)(a)(ii) in respect of the individual for the year, and

(iii) where the taxation year ended after 1989, the amount determined under subparagraph (2)(a)(iii) in respect of the individual for the year,"

S. 110.6(2.1)(d) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 130(1), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. S. 110.6(2.1)(d) formerly read:

"(d) the amount that would be determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph 3(b) (other than an amount included in determining the amount in respect of the individual under paragraph (2)(d)) in respect of capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in that paragraph were qualified small business corporation shares disposed of by the individual after June 17, 1987."

See S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(15) above for the reading of s. 110.6(2.1)(d) when applied to the 1994 and 1995 taxation years.

Editorial Note: To qualify for the exemption (available only to Canadian resident individuals other than trusts) the corporation must be a "small business corporation" (per subsection 248(1)) at time of disposition and the share must be a "qualified small business corporation share", which entails the corporation meeting certain requirements with respect to assets in the preceding 24 months (see definition in subsection 110.6(1) for further comments). The exemption is limited to the amount in excess of cumulative net investment losses. If ABILs have been incurred in the year or a previous year, the exemption is limited to the excess of such amounts; conversely the exemption limits future year claims. The exemption may be reduced to the extent that deductions are claimed under the former $100,000 exemption, or the qualifying farm property exemption.

Circumstances in which the exemption may be denied include where the taxpayer did not report the gain or failed to file a return within one year of its deadline (knowingly or under gross negligence — subsection 110.6(6)); where the exemption is part of a series involving a proportional butterfly or asset acquisition by a corporation or partnership at less than fair market value (subsection 110.6(7)); where the corporation issued "low-dividend preferred shares" (subsections 110.6(8) and (9)); or where a flow-through entity has allocated a qualifying gain which is disproportionately large relative to the individual's income interest (subsection 110.6(11)). A non-proportional tax deferred "spin-out" of some of the corporation's assets will generally not be available as part of a series of transactions where the exemption is claimed on a sale or other disposition of assets to an unrelated purchaser or a transaction that increases such person's interest in a corporation.

Related Sections: S. 38 Taxable capital gain and allowable capital loss; s. 39 Meaning of capital gain and capital loss; s. 48.1 Gain when small business corporation becomes public; s. 84.1 Non-arm's length sale of shares; s. 110.6(4)–(8); s. 111.1 Order of applying provisions; s. 126(5.1) Deductions for specified capital gains; s. 248(1), "small business corporation".

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-426R Shares sold subject to an earnout agreement.

Information Circulars: IC 88-2 General anti-avoidance rule — Section 245 of the Income Tax Act (para. 15; Supp. 1, paras. 3 and 4).

Advance Tax Rulings: ATR-42 Transfer of shares.

Tax Topics: No. 1881, Parallel Universe: La Survivance and the Capital Gains Exemption; No. 1879, Interaction of Subsections 110.6(2.1) and 256(9).

Tax Profile: January 2008 — Tax Ramifications of Non-Resident Purchases of Canadian Businesses; October 2007 — Will Canadian Unlimited Liability Companies Survive?; June 2006 — Tax Ramifications of Non-Resident Purchases of Canadian Businesses; July 2005 — Alberta Introduces Alberta Unlimited Liability Corporations.

Canadian Tax Foundation: Hermann, "The Capital Gains Exemption: A Comprehensive Review", 2000 Conference Report, 29:1.

Canadian Petroleum Tax Journal: A Practical Guide to the Flow-Through Share Rules, Greg Johnson, Vol. 15 No. 1 2002.
Tax Window Files: Undivided Interest in Shares, June 9, 2005, CRA Document No. 2004-0092001E5 [Undivided interest in shares could qualify for the capital gains exemption]; Capital Loss Realized by Estate, November 24, 2004, CRA Document No. 2004-0088061I7 [Capital losses on QSBC shares of an estate carried back under subsection 164(6) netted against the deceased's capital gains on QSBC shares in terminal year].

► 110.6(2.2) ◄

(2.2) Capital gains deduction — qualified fishing property. In computing the taxable income for a taxation year of an individual (other than a trust) who was resident in Canada throughout the year and who, in the year or a preceding year, disposed of a property that was, at the time of disposition, a qualified fishing property of the individual, there may be deducted the amount that the individual claims not exceeding the least of

(a) the amount determined by the formula in paragraph (2)(a) in respect of the individual for the year;

(b) the amount, if any, by which the individual's cumulative gains limit at the end of that year exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under subsection (2) or (2.1) in computing the individual's taxable income for the year;

(c) the amount, if any, by which the individual's annual gains limit for the year exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under subsection (2) or (2.1) in computing the individual's taxable income for the year; and

(d) the amount that would be determined in respect of the individual for the year under paragraph 3(b) in respect of capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in that paragraph were qualified fishing properties of the individual disposed of on or after May 2, 2006.

History: S. 110.6(2.2) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 17(9), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006.

► 110.6(2.3) ◄

(2.3) Additional capital gains deduction — taxation year that includes March 19, 2007. In computing the taxable income of an individual (other than a trust) for the individual's taxation year that includes March 19, 2007 (referred to in this subsection as the "transition year"), there may be deducted, where that individual was resident in Canada throughout the transition year and that individual disposed of in the transition year, and on or after March 19, 2007, a qualified small business corporation share of the individual, a qualified farm property of the individual, or a qualified fishing property of the individual, such amount as the individual may claim not exceeding the least of

(a) $125,000,

(b) the amount, if any, by which the individual's cumulative gains limit at the end of the transition year exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the individual under subsection (2), (2.1) or (2.2) in computing the individual's taxable income for the transition year,

(c) the amount, if any, by which the individual's annual gains limit for the transition year exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the individual under subsection (2), (2.1) or (2.2) in computing the individual's taxable income for the transition year, and

(d) the amount that would be determined in respect of the individual for the transition year under paragraph 3(b) in respect of capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in that paragraph were qualified small business corporation shares of the individual, qualified farm properties of the individual, and qualified fishing properties of the individual, disposed of by the individual on or after March 19, 2007.

History: S. 110.6(2.3) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 31(2), applicable to taxation years that end on or after March 19, 2007.

► 110.6(3) ◄

(3) Capital gains deduction — other property. [Repealed by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(3).]

History: S. 110.6(3) was repealed by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(3), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years and, in applying subsection 110.6(3) of the Act to the 1994 and 1995 taxation years, the portion of subsection 110.6(3) before paragraph (a) shall be read as follows:

"(3) In computing the taxable income for a taxation year of an individual (other than a trust) who was resident in Canada throughout the year and who disposed of property (other than property the capital gain or capital loss from the disposition of which is included in determining an amount under paragraph (2)(d) or (2.1)(d)) there may be deducted such amount as the individual claims, not exceeding the least of"

S. 110.6(3) formerly read:

"(3) Capital gains deduction — other property. In computing the taxable income for a taxation year of an individual (other than a trust) who was resident in Canada throughout the year and who disposed of property (other than a disposition of property to which subsection (2) or (2.1) applies) there may be deducted such amount as the individual may claim not exceeding the least of

(a) the amount, if any, by which $75,000 exceeds the total of

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the individual under this subsection in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year,

(ii) where the taxation year ended after 1987, 1/3 of the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under this subsection in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year ending before 1988, and

(iii) where the taxation year ended after 1989, 1/8 of the total of

(A) all amounts deducted under this subsection in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year ending before 1990 (other than amounts deducted under this subsection for a taxation year in respect of an amount that was included in computing the individual's income for that year because of subparagraph 14(1)(a)(v)), and

(B) the amount determined under subparagraph (ii) in respect of the individual for the year,

(b) the amount, if any, by which the individual's cumulative gains limit at the end of the year exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under subsection (2) or (2.1) in computing the individual's taxable income for the year, and

(c) the amount, if any, by which the individual's annual gains limit for the year exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under subsection (2) or (2.1) in computing the individual's taxable income for the year."

S. 110.6(3)(a)(iii)(A) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 47(9), applicable to the 1990 and subsequent taxation years. S. 110.6(3)(a)(iii)(A) formerly read:

"(A) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under this subsection in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year ending before 1990, and"

Related Sections: S. 14(1) Eligible capital property — inclusion in income from business; s. 38 Taxable capital gain and allowable capital loss; s. 39 Meaning of capital gain and capital loss; s. 110.6(4)–(8); s. 110.6(13) Determination under paragraph 3(b); s. 110.6(17) Order of deduction; s. 126(5.1) Deductions for specified capital gains; s. 248(1), "amount", "individual".
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-297R2 Gifts in kind to charity and others.

► 110.6(4) ◄

(4) Maximum capital gains deduction. Notwithstanding subsections (2), (2.1) and (2.2), the total amount that may be deducted under this section in computing an individual's income for a taxation year shall not exceed the total of the amount determined by the formula in paragraph 2(a) and the amount that may be deducted under subsection (2.3), in respect of the individual for the year.

History: S. 110.6(4) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 31(3), applicable to taxation years that end on or after March 19, 2007. S. 110.6(4) formerly read:

"(4) Maximum capital gains deduction. Notwithstanding subsections (2), (2.1) and (2.2), the total amount that may be deducted under this section in computing an individual's income for a taxation year shall not exceed the amount determined by the formula in paragraph (2)(a) in respect of the individual for the year."

S. 110.6(4) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 17(10), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006. S. 110.6(4) formerly read:

"(4) Maximum capital gains deduction. Notwithstanding subsection (2) and (2.1), the total amount that may be deducted under this section in computing an individual's income for a taxation year shall not exceed the amount determined by the formula in paragraph (2)(a) in respect of the individual for the year."

S. 110.6(4) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 86(5), applicable to taxation years that end after February 27, 2000. S. 110.6(4) formerly read:

"(4) Maximum capital gains deduction. Notwithstanding subsections (2) and (2.1), the total amount that may be deducted under this section in computing an individual's taxable income for a taxation year shall not exceed the amount, if any, by which $375,000 exceeds the total of

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the individual under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for a preceding taxation year,

(b) where the taxation year ended after 1987, the amount determined under subparagraph (2)(a)(ii) in respect of the individual for the year, and

(c) where the taxation year ended after 1989, the amount determined under subparagraph (2)(a)(iii) in respect of the individual for the year."

S. 110.6(4), that portion preceding paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(4), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. That part formerly read:

"(4) Maximum capital gains deduction. Notwithstanding subsections (2), (2.1) and (3), the total amount that may be deducted under this section in computing the taxable income of an individual for a taxation year shall not exceed the amount, if any, by which $375,000 exceeds the total of"

► 110.6(5) ◄

(5) Deemed resident in Canada. For the purposes of subsections (2) to (2.3), an individual is deemed to have been resident in Canada throughout a particular taxation year if

(a) the individual was resident in Canada at any time in the particular taxation year; and

(b) the individual was resident in Canada throughout the immediately preceding taxation year or throughout the immediately following taxation year.

History: S. 110.6(5), the portion before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 31(4), applicable to taxation years that end on or after March 19, 2007. S. 110.6(5), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(5) Deemed resident in Canada. For the purposes of subsections (2), (2.1) and (2.2), an individual is deemed to have been resident in Canada throughout a particular taxation year if"

S. 110.6(5) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 17(10), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006. S. 110.6(5) formerly read:

"(5) Deemed resident in Canada. Where an individual was resident in Canada at any time in a particular taxation year and throughout

(a) the immediately preceding taxation year, or

(b) the immediately following taxation year,

for the purposes of subsections (2) and (2.1) the individual shall be deemed to have been resident in Canada throughout the particular year."

S. 110.6(5), that portion following paragraph (b), was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(5), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. That part formerly read:

"for the purposes of subsections (2), (2.1) and (3) the individual shall be deemed to have been resident in Canada throughout the particular year."

Related Sections: S. 110.6(13) Determination under paragraph 3(b).

► 110.6(6) ◄

(6) Failure to report capital gain. Notwithstanding subsections (2) to (2.3), no amount may be deducted under this section in respect of a capital gain of an individual for a particular taxation year in computing the individual's taxable income for the particular taxation year, if

(a) the individual knowingly or under circumstances amounting to gross negligence

(i) fails to file the individual's return of income for the particular taxation year within one year after the taxpayer's filing-due date for the particular taxation year, or

(ii) fails to report the capital gain in the individual's return of income for the particular taxation year; and

(b) the Minister establishes the facts justifying the denial of such an amount under this section.

History: S. 110.6(6), the portion before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 31(5), applicable to taxation years that end on or after March 19, 2007. S. 110.6(6), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(6) Failure to report capital gain. Notwithstanding subsections (2), (2.1) and (2.2), no amount may be deducted under this section in respect of a capital gain of an individual for a particular taxation year in computing the individual's taxable income for the particular taxation year, if"

S. 110.6(6) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 17(10), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006. S. 110.6(6) formerly read:

"(6) Failure to report capital gain. Notwithstanding subsections (2) and (2.1), where an individual has a capital gain for a taxation year from the disposition of a capital property and knowingly or under circumstances amounting to gross negligence

(a) fails to file a return of the individual's income for the year within one year after the day on or before which the individual is required to file a return of the individual's income for the year pursuant to section 150, or

(b) fails to report the capital gain in the individual's return of income for the year required to be filed pursuant to section 150, no amount may be deducted under this section in respect of the capital gain in computing the individual's taxable income for that or any subsequent taxation year and the burden of establishing the facts justifying the denial of such an amount under this section is on the Minister."

S. 110.6(6), that portion preceding paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(6), applicable to 1996 and subsequent taxation years. That part formerly read:

"(6) Failure to report capital gain. Notwithstanding subsections (2), (2.1) and (3), where an individual has a capital gain for a taxation year from the disposition of a capital property and knowingly or under circumstances amounting to gross negligence"

Forms: T657.

► 110.6(7) ◄

(7) Deduction not permitted. Notwithstanding subsections (2) to (2.3), no amount may be deducted under this section in computing an individual's taxable income for a taxation year in respect of a capital gain of the individual for the taxation year if the capital gain is from a disposition of property which disposition is part of a series of transactions or events

(a) that includes a dividend received by a corporation to which dividend subsection 55(2) does not apply but would apply if this Act were read without reference to paragraph 55(3)(b); or

(b) in which any property is acquired by a corporation or partnership for consideration that is significantly less than the fair market value of the property at the time of acquisition (other than an acquisition as the result of an amalgamation or merger of corporations or the winding-up of a corporation or partnership or a distribution of property of a trust in satisfaction of all or part of a corporation's capital interest in the trust).

History: S. 110.6(7), the portion before paragraph (b) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 31(6), applicable to taxation years that end after May 1, 2006, except that for taxation years that end before March 19, 2007, the portion of subsection 110.6(7) before paragraph (a) shall be read as follows:

"(7) Notwithstanding subsections (2) to (2.2), no amount may be deducted under this section in computing an individual's taxable income for a taxation year in respect of a capital gain of the individual for the taxation year, if the capital gain is from a disposition of property which disposition is part of a series of transactions or events"

S. 110.6(7), the portion before paragraph (b) formerly read:

"(7) Deduction not permitted. Notwithstanding subsections (2), (2.1) and (2.2), no amount may be deducted under this section in computing an individual's taxable income for a taxation year in respect of a capital gain of the individual for the taxation year, if the capital gain is from a disposition of property which disposition is part of a series of transactions or events

(a) to which subsection 55(2) would apply if this Act were read without reference to paragraph 55(3)(b); or"

S. 110.6(7) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 17(10), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006. S. 110.6(7) formerly read:

"(7) Deduction not permitted. Notwithstanding subsections (2) and (2.1), where an individual has a capital gain for a taxation year from the disposition of property as part of a series of transactions or events

(a) to which subsection 55(2) would, but for paragraph 55(3)(b), apply, or

(b) in which any property is acquired by a corporation or partnership for consideration that is significantly less than the fair market value of the property at the time of acquisition (other than an acquisition as the result of an amalgamation or merger of corporations or the winding-up of a corporation or partnership or a distribution of property of a trust in satisfaction of all or part of a corporation's capital interest in the trust), no amount in respect of that capital gain shall be deducted under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for the year."

S. 110.6(7), that portion preceding paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(7), applicable to 1996 and subsequent taxation years. That part formerly read:

"(7) Where deduction not permitted. Notwithstanding subsections (2), (2.1) and (3), where an individual has a capital gain for a taxation year from the disposition of property as part of a series of transactions or events each of which is effected or to be effected after November 21, 1985"

► 110.6(8) ◄

(8) Deduction not permitted. Notwithstanding subsections (2) to (2.3), where an individual has a capital gain for a taxation year from the disposition of a property and it can reasonably be concluded, having regard to all the circumstances, that a significant part of the capital gain is attributable to the fact that dividends were not paid on a share (other than a prescribed share) or that dividends paid on such a share in the taxation year or in any preceding taxation year were less than 90% of the average annual rate of return on that share for that year, no amount in respect of that capital gain shall be deducted under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for the year.

History: S. 110.6(8) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 31(7), applicable to taxation years that end on or after March 19, 2007. S. 110.6(8) formerly read:

"(8) Deduction not permitted. Notwithstanding subsections (2), (2.1) and (2.2), where an individual has a capital gain for a taxation year from the disposition of a property and it can reasonably be concluded, having regard to all the circumstances, that a significant part of the capital gain is attributable to the fact that dividends were not paid on a share (other than a prescribed share) or that dividends paid on such a share in the taxation year or in any preceding taxation year were less than 90% of the average annual rate of return on that share for that year, no amount in respect of that capital gain shall be deducted under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for the year."

S. 110.6(8) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 17(10), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006. S. 110.6(8) formerly read:

"(8) Deduction not permitted. Notwithstanding subsections (2) and (2.1), where an individual has a capital gain for a taxation year from the disposition of a property and it can reasonably be concluded, having regard to all the circumstances, that a significant part of the capital gain is attributable to the fact that dividends were not paid on a share (other than a prescribed share) or that dividends paid on such a share in the year or in any preceding taxation year were less than 90% of the average annual rate of return thereon for that year, no amount in respect of that capital gain shall be deducted under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for the year."

S. 110.6(8) was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(8), applicable to 1996 and subsequent taxation years. S. 110.6(8) formerly read:

"(8) Idem. Notwithstanding subsections (2), (2.1) and (3), where an individual has a capital gain for a taxation year from the disposition, after November 21, 1985, of a property and it may reasonably be concluded, having regard to all the circumstances, that a significant part of the capital gain is attributable to the fact that dividends were not paid on a share (other than a prescribed share) of a corporation or that dividends paid on such a share in the year or in any preceding taxation year were less than 90% of the average annual rate of return thereon for that year, no amount in respect of that capital gain shall be deducted under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for the year."

Editorial Note: Subsection 110.6(8) — pertaining to "deficient dividends" — is operative to deny the capital gains exemption where it may reasonably be considered that either a significant portion of the capital gain is attributable to dividends not being paid on a share, or dividends paid on such a share were less than 90% of an amount determined by subsection 110.6(9) — based on the return a "knowledgeable and prudent investor" would expect to receive. Conceptually, at least, these provisions can potentially apply in a very wide range of circumstances, and are not explicitly premised on an intent to enlarge capital gains exemption claims. Regulation 6205 contains detailed provisions that deal with the requirements for a "prescribed share", which is exempt from the provisions. Among other things, the regulations potentially enable shares in typical freeze structures to qualify.

Related Sections: S. 110.6(9) Average annual rate of return; s. 183.1(7) Where s. 110.6(8) does not apply.

Regulations: 6205.

► 110.6(9) ◄

(9) Average annual rate of return. For the purpose of subsection (8), the average annual rate of return on a share (other than a prescribed share) of a corporation for a taxation year is the annual rate of return by way of dividends that a knowledgeable and prudent investor who purchased the share on the day it was issued would expect to receive in that year, other than the first year after the issue, in respect of the share if

(a) there was no delay or postponement of the payment of dividends and no failure to pay dividends in respect of the share;

(b) there was no variation from year to year in the amount of dividends payable in respect of the share (other than where the amount of dividends payable is expressed as an invariant percentage of or by reference to an invariant difference between the dividend expressed as a rate of interest and a generally quoted market interest rate); and

(c) the proceeds to be received by the investor on the disposition of the share are the same amount the corporation received as consideration on the issue of the share.

Regulations: 6205.

► 110.6(10) ◄

(10) Gain from extension or renewal of option. [Repealed by 1988, c. 55, s. 81(13).]

► 110.6(11) ◄

(11) Where deduction not permitted. Where it is reasonable to consider that one of the main reasons for an individual acquiring, holding or having an interest in a partnership or trust (other than an interest in a personal trust) or a share of an investment corporation, mortgage investment corporation or mutual fund corporation, or for the existence of any terms, conditions, rights or other attributes of the interest or share, is to enable the individual to receive or have allocated to the individual a percentage of any capital gain or taxable capital gain of the partnership, trust or corporation that is larger than the individual's percentage of the income of the partnership, trust or corporation, as the case may be, notwithstanding any other provision of this Act,

(a) no amount may be deducted under this section by the individual in respect of any such gain allocated or distributed to the individual after November 21, 1985; and

(b) where the individual is a trust, any such gain allocated or distributed to it after November 21, 1985 shall not be included in computing its eligible taxable capital gain (within the meaning assigned by subsection 108(1)).

► 110.6(12) ◄

(12) Trust deduction. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, a trust described in paragraph

104(4)(a) or (a.1) (other than a trust that elected under subsection 104(5.3), an alter ego trust or a joint spousal or common-law partner trust) may, in computing its taxable income for its taxation year that includes the day determined under paragraph 104(4)(a) or (a.1), as the case may be, in respect of the trust, deduct under this section an amount equal to the least of

(a) the amount, if any, by which the eligible taxable capital gains (within the meaning assigned by subsection 108(1)) of the trust for that year exceeds the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, determined under paragraph (b) or (d) of the definition "cumulative gains limit" in subsection (1) in respect of the taxpayer's spouse or common-law partner at the end of the taxation year in which the spouse or common-law partner died

exceeds

(ii) the amount if any, determined under paragraph (a) of the definition "cumulative gains limit" in subsection (1) in respect of the taxpayer's spouse or common-law partner at the end of the taxation year in which the spouse or common-law partner died,

(b) the amount, if any, that would be determined in respect of the trust for that year under paragraph 3(b) in respect of capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in that paragraph were qualified farm properties disposed of by it after 1984, qualified small business corporation shares disposed of by it after June 17, 1987 and qualified fishing properties disposed of by it on or after May 2, 2006, and

(c) the amount, if any, by which the amount determined by the formula in paragraph (2)(a) in respect of the taxpayer's spouse or common-law partner for the taxation year in which that spouse or common-law partner died exceeds the amount deducted under this section for that taxation year by that spouse or common-law partner.

History: S. 110.6(12)(b) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 17(11), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006. S. 110.6(12)(b) formerly read:

"(b) the amount, if any, that would be determined in respect of the trust for that year under paragraph 3(b) in respect of capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in that paragraph were qualified farm properties disposed of by it after 1984 and qualified small business corporation shares disposed of by it after June 17, 1987, and"

S. 110.6(12), the portion before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 86(6), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 110.6(12), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(12) Spousal trust deduction. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, a trust described in paragraph 104(4)(a) or (a.1) (other than a trust that elected under subsection 104(5.3)) may, in computing its taxable income for its taxation year that includes the day determined under paragraph 104(4)(a) or (a.1), as the case may be, in respect of the trust, deduct under this section an amount equal to the least of"

S. 110.6(12)(c) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 86(7), applicable to taxation years that end after February 27, 2000, except that the amount determined under paragraph 110.6(12)(c) in computing a trust's taxable income for its particular taxation year that includes February 28, 2000 or October 17, 2000 or began after February 28, 2000 and ended before October 17, 2000, is deemed to be equal to the amount determined under that paragraph (without reference to this subsection) multiplied by the quotient obtained when the fraction in paragraph 38(a) of the Act that applies to the trust for its particular year is divided by the fraction in paragraph 38(a) of the Act that applies to the taxpayer's spouse or common-law partner for the taxation year in which the spouse or common-law partner died. S. 110.6(12)(c) formerly read:

"(c) the amount, if any, by which $375,000 exceeds the total of

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the taxpayer's spouse or common-law partner under this section for the taxation year in which the spouse or common-law partner died or a preceding taxation year, and

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined under subparagraph (2)(a)(ii) or (iii) in respect of the taxpayer's spouse or common-law partner for the taxation year in which the spouse or common-law partner died."

S. 110.6(12)(a)(i) and (ii) were amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.4), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 110.6(12)(a)(i) and (ii) formerly read:

"(i) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, determined under paragraph (b) or (d) of the definition 'cumulative gains limit' in subsection (1) in respect of the taxpayer's spouse at the end of the taxation year in which the spouse died

exceeds

(ii) the amount if any, determined under paragraph (a) of the definition 'cumulative gains limit' in subsection (1) in respect of the taxpayer's spouse at the end of the taxation year in which the spouse died,"

S. 110.6(12)(c)(i) and (ii) were amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. , applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years, and deemed to have come into force on a day or days to be fixed by order of the Governor in Council. S. 110.6(12)(c)(i) and (ii) formerly read:

"(i) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the taxpayer's spouse under this section for the taxation year in which the spouse died or a preceding taxation year, and

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined under subparagraph (2)(a)(ii) or (iii) in respect of the taxpayer's spouse for the taxation year in which the spouse died."

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 110.6(12)(b) was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(9), applicable to taxation years that end after February 22, 1994. For its application to taxation years that end after that day and before 1997, see S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(17) below.

Sec. 32(17), Chap. 3, S.C. 1995

32. [Application of s. 110.6(12)(b) to taxation years that end after that day and before 1997.]

(17) Subsection (9) applies to taxation years that end after February 22, 1994 except that, for taxation years that end after that day and before 1997, paragraph 110.6(12)(b) shall be read as follows:

"(b) the total of

(i) the least of

(A) the amount, if any, determined in respect of the trust for that year under paragraph 3(b) in respect of capital gains and losses,

(A.1) the amount, if any, that would be determined in respect of the trust for that year under paragraph 3(b) in respect of capital gains and losses if

(I) the only properties referred to in that paragraph were properties (other than properties referred to in subparagraph (ii)) disposed of by it after 1984 and before February 23, 1994,

(II) the trust's capital gains and capital losses for the year from dispositions of non-qualifying real property of the trust were equal to its eligible real property gains and eligible real property losses, respectively, for that year from those dispositions,

(III) no amount were included under paragraph 3(b) in respect of a capital gain of the trust that resulted from an election made under subsection (19) by another trust unless the trust was a beneficiary under the other trust on February 22, 1994, and

(IV) except for the purpose of determining the trust's share of a taxable capital gain of a partnership for the partnership's fiscal period that includes February 22, 1994 or a taxable capital gain of the trust resulting from a designation made under section 104 by another trust for the other trust's taxation year that includes that day, in determining the trust's taxable capital gain for a taxation year that begins after that day from the disposition of a property (other than a qualified small business corporation share or qualified farm property), this Act were read without reference to subparagraphs 40(1)(a)(ii) and 44(1)(e)(ii), and

(B) the amount, if any, by which $75,000 exceeds the total of

(I) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under subsection (3) in computing the taxable income of the taxpayer's spouse for the taxation year in which the spouse died or a preceding taxation year, and

(II) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined under subparagraph (3)(a)(ii) or (iii) in respect of the taxpayer's spouse for the taxation year in which the spouse died, and

(ii) the amount, if any, that would be determined in respect of the trust for that year under paragraph 3(b) in respect of capital gains and losses if the only properties referred to in that paragraph were qualified farm properties disposed of by it after 1984 and qualified small business corporation shares disposed of by it after June 17, 1987; and"

S. 110.6(12)(b) formerly read:

"(b) the total of

(i) the least of

(A) the amount, if any, determined under paragraph 3(b) in respect of the trust for that year in respect of capital gains and capital losses,

(A.1) the amount, if any, that would be determined under paragraph 3(b) in respect of the trust for that year in respect of capital gains and capital losses if

(I) the only properties referred to in that paragraph were properties disposed of by it after 1984, other than properties referred to in subparagraph (ii), and

(II) the trust's capital gains and capital losses for that year from dispositions of non-qualifying real property of the trust were equal to its eligible real property gains and eligible real property losses, respectively, for that year from those dispositions, and

(B) the amount, if any, by which $75,000 exceeds the total of

(I) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the taxpayer's spouse under subsection (3) for the taxation year in which the spouse died or a preceding taxation year, and

(II) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined under subparagraph (3)(a)(ii) or (iii) in respect of the taxpayer's spouse for the taxation year in which the spouse died, and

(ii) the amount, if any, that would be determined in respect of the trust for that year under paragraph 3(b) in respect of capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in that paragraph were qualified farm properties disposed of by it after 1984 and qualified small business corporation shares disposed of by it after June 17, 1987, and"

S. 110.6(12), that portion preceding paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 47(10), applicable to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. S. 110.6(12), that portion preceding paragraph (a), formerly read:

"(12) Spousal trust deduction. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, a trust described in paragraph 104(4)(a) may, in computing its taxable income for its taxation year in which the taxpayer's spouse referred to in that paragraph died, deduct under this section an amount equal to the least of"

S. 110.6(12)(b), that portion preceding clause (B), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 47(11), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. S. 110.6(12)(b), that portion preceding clause (B), formerly read:

"(b) the total of

(i) the lesser of

(A) the amount, if any, that would be determined in respect of the trust for that year under paragraph 3(b) in respect of capital gains and capital losses if the only properties referred to in that paragraph were properties disposed of by it after 1984, other than properties referred to in subparagraph (ii), and"

Editorial Note: Subsection 110.6(12) is an exception to the general exclusions in subsections 110.6(2), (2.1) and (2.2) that otherwise would prevent trusts from claiming the capital gains exemption. Under subsection 110.6(12), the exemption may generally be claimed by a trust for the benefit of a spouse or common-law partner for the year of the trust in which the spouse or common-law partner dies. The exemption claimed by the trust cannot exceed the unused exemption of the deceased spouse or common-law partner beneficiary. The exemption is not available if the trust elected under subsection 104(5.3) or if the trust is an alter ego trust or a joint spousal or common-law partner trust.

Related Sections: S. 3(b) Net taxable capital gains; s. 39 Meaning of capital gain and capital loss; s. 54, "disposition of property"; s. 104(4) Deemed disposition by trust; s. 104(5.3) Election; s. 110.6(1), "eligible real property gain", "eligible real property loss", "non-qualifying real property"; s. 248(1), "amount", "property".
Forms: T3 SCH 4; T3 SCH 5.

► 110.6(13) ◄

(13) Determination under paragraph 3(b). For the purposes of this section, the amount determined under paragraph 3(b) in respect of an individual for a period throughout which the individual was not resident in Canada is nil.

► 110.6(14) ◄

(14) Related persons, etc. For the purposes of the definition "qualified small business corporation share" in subsection (1),

(a) a taxpayer shall be deemed to have disposed of shares that are identical properties in the order in which the taxpayer acquired them;

(b) in determining whether a corporation is a small business corporation or a Canadian-controlled private corporation at any time, a right referred to in paragraph 251(5)(b) shall not include a right under a purchase and sale agreement relating to a share of the capital stock of a corporation;

(c) a personal trust shall be deemed

(i) to be related to a person or partnership for any period throughout which the person or partnership was a beneficiary of the trust, and

(ii) in respect of shares of the capital stock of a corporation, to be related to the person from whom it acquired those shares where, at the time the trust disposed of the shares, all of the beneficiaries (other than registered charities) of the trust were related to that person or would have been so related if that person were living at that time;

(d) a partnership shall be deemed to be related to a person for any period throughout which the person was a member of the partnership;

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subsection 110.6(14) of the Act is amended by adding the following after paragraph (d):

(d.1) a person who is a member of a partnership that is a member of another partnership is deemed to be a member of the other partnership;

Applicable:

(a) To dispositions that occur after December 20, 2002; and

(b) to dispositions made by a taxpayer after 1999, if the taxpayer so elects in writing and files the election with the Minister of National Revenue on or before the taxpayer's filing-due date for the taxpayer's taxation year in which this Act is assented to.

Explanatory Note:

Related Persons, etc.

Subsection 110.6(14) of the Act provides certain rules that apply for the purposes of the definition "qualified small business corporation share" in subsection 110.6(1) and the capital gains exemption in respect of such shares. This subsection is amended to add new paragraph 110.6(14)(d.1).

New paragraph 110.6(14)(d.1) deems a person who is a member of a partnership that is a member of another partnership (a lower-tiered partnership) to be a member of the lower-tiered partnership. This amendment will permit such a taxpayer to have access to the deduction for taxable capital gains arising on the disposition of a qualified small business corporation share by the lower-tiered partnership.

This amendment applies to dispositions that occur after December 20, 2002 and, if a taxpayer so elects in writing and files the election with the Minister of National Revenue on or before the taxpayer's filing-due date for the taxpayer's taxation year in which this amendment is assented to, to dispositions made by the taxpayer after 1999.

(e) where a corporation acquires shares of a class of the capital stock of another corporation from any person, it shall be deemed in respect of those shares to be related to the person where all or substantially all the consideration received by that person from the corporation in respect of those shares was common shares of the capital stock of the corporation;

(f) shares issued after June 13, 1988 by a corporation to a particular person or partnership shall be deemed to have been owned immediately before their issue by a person who was not related to the particular person or partnership unless the shares were issued

(i) as consideration for other shares,

(ii) as part of a transaction or series of transactions in which the person or partnership disposed of property to the corporation that consisted of

(A) all or substantially all the assets used in an active business carried on by that person or the members of that partnership, or

(B) an interest in a partnership all or substantially all the assets of which were used in an active business carried on by the members of the partnership; or

(iii) as payment of a stock dividend; and

(g) where, immediately before the death of an individual, or, in the case of a deemed transfer under subsection 248(23), immediately before the time that is immediately before the death of an individual, a share would, but for paragraph (a) of the definition "qualified small business corporation share" in subsection (1), be a qualified small business corporation share of the individual, the share shall be deemed to be a qualified small business corporation share of the individual if it was a qualified small business corporation share of the individual at any time in the 12-month period immediately preceding the death of the individual.

History: S. 110.6(14)(f)(iii) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 130(2), applicable to dispositions of shares that occur after June 17, 1987.

S. 110.6(14)(c) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 81(12), applicable to the 1988 and subsequent taxation years. S. 110.6(14)(c) formerly read:

"(c) a personal trust shall be deemed to be related to a person or partnership for any period throughout which the person or partnership was a beneficiary of the trust;"

S. 110.6(14)(g) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 81(13), applicable to the 1988 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 110.6(16) Personal trust.

Tax Window Files: Capital Gains Exemption — Qualified Small Business Corporation Shares, October 18, 2004, CRA Document No. 2004-0077151E5 [Purported unfairness of 24-month ownership rule for newly issued QSBC shares when compared to exception in paragraph 110.6(14), where rule waived if unincorporated business transferred to corporation for newly issued shares]; Qualified Small Business Corporation Share — Holding Period Test, April 23, 2003, CRA Document No. 2003-0012695 [Paragraph 110.6(14)(g) exception not applicable where unincorporated business split up and assets transferred to various separate corporations]; Qualified Small Business Corporation Share — Holding Period Test, February 4, 2002, CRA Document No. 2001-0110035 [Holding period requirement in the definition of QSBC shares includes time that the individual holds shares in his self-directed RRSP, which is related to individual as per paragraph 110.6(14)(c)].

► 110.6(15) ◄

(15) Value of assets of corporations. For the purposes of the definitions "qualified small business corporation share" and "share of the capital stock of a family farm corporation" in subsection (1), the definition "share of the capital stock of a family farm corporation" in subsection 70(10) and the definition "small business corporation" in subsection 248(1),

(a) where a person (in this subsection referred to as the "insured"), whose life was insured under an insurance policy owned by a particular corporation, owned shares of the capital stock (in this subsection referred to as the "subject shares") of the particular corporation, any corporation connected with the particular corporation or with which the particular corporation is connected or any corporation connected with any such corporation or with which any such corporation is connected (within the meaning of subsection 186(4) on the assumption that the corporation referred to in this subsection was a payer corporation within the meaning of that subsection),

(i) the fair market value of the life insurance policy shall, at any time before the death of the insured, be deemed to be its cash surrender value (within the meaning assigned by subsection 148(9)) at that time, and

(ii) the total fair market value of assets (other than assets described in subparagraph (c)(i), (ii) or (iii) of the definition "qualified small business corporation share" in subsection (1), subparagraph (b)(i), (ii) or (iii) of the definition "share of the capital stock of a family farm corporation" in subsection (1) or paragraph (a), (b) or (c) of the definition "small business corporation" in subsection 248(1), as the case may be) of any of those corporations that are

(A) the proceeds, the right to receive the proceeds or attributable to the proceeds, of the life insurance policy of which the particular corporation was a beneficiary, and not in excess of the fair market value of the assets immediately after the death of the insured, shall, until the later of

(B) used, directly or indirectly, within the 24-month period beginning at the time of the death of the insured or, where written application therefor is made by the particular corporation within that period, within such longer period as the Minister considers reasonable in the circumstances, to redeem, acquire or cancel the subject shares owned by the insured immediately before the death of the insured,

(C) the redemption, acquisition or cancellation, and

(D) the day that is 60 days after the payment of the proceeds under the policy, be deemed not to exceed the cash surrender value (within the meaning assigned by subsection 148(9)) of the policy immediately before the death of the insured; and

(b) the fair market value of an asset of a particular corporation that is a share of the capital stock or indebtedness of another corporation with which the particular corporation is connected shall be deemed to be nil and, for the purpose of this paragraph, a particular corporation is connected with another corporation only where

(i) the particular corporation is connected (within the meaning assigned by paragraph (d) of the definition "qualified small business corporation share" in subsection (1)) with the other corporation, and

(ii) the other corporation is not connected (within the meaning of subsection 186(4) as determined without reference to subsection 186(2) and on the assumption that the other corporation is a payer corporation within the meaning of subsection 186(4)) with the particular corporation, except that this paragraph applies only in determining whether a share of the capital stock of another corporation with which the particular corporation is connected is a qualified small business corporation share or a share of the capital stock of a family farm corporation and in determining whether the other corporation is a small business corporation.

History: S. 110.6(15) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 50(5), applicable to dispositions occurring after 1991. S. 110.6(15) formerly read:

"(15) Life insurance policy of corporation. For the purposes of the definitions 'qualified small business corporation share' and 'share of the capital stock of a family farm corporation' in subsection (1) and the definition 'small business corporation' in subsection 248(1), where a person (in this subsection referred to as the 'insured'), whose life was insured under an insurance policy owned by a particular corporation, owned shares of the capital stock (in this subsection referred to as the 'subject shares') of the particular corporation, any corporation connected with the particular corporation or with which the particular corporation is connected or any corporation connected with any such corporation or with which any such corporation is connected (within the meaning of subsection 186(4) on the assumption that the corporation referred to in this subsection was a payer corporation within the meaning of that subsection),

(a) the fair market value of the life insurance policy shall, at any time before the death of the insured, be deemed to be its cash surrender value (within the meaning assigned by subsection 148(9)) at that time; and

(b) the total fair market value of assets (other than assets described in subparagraph (c)(i), (ii) or (iii) of the definition 'qualified small business corporation share' in subsection (1), subparagraph (b)(i), (ii) or (iii) of the definition 'share of the capital stock of a family farm corporation' in subsection (1) or paragraph (a), (b) or (c) of the definition 'small business corporation' in subsection 248(1), as the case may be) of any of those corporations that are

(i) the proceeds, the right to receive the proceeds or attributable to the proceeds, of the life insurance policy of which the particular corporation was a beneficiary, and

(ii) used, directly or indirectly, within the 24-month period beginning at the time of the death of the insured or, where written application therefor is made by the particular corporation within that period, within such longer period as the Minister considers reasonable in the circumstances, to redeem, acquire or cancel the subject shares owned by the insured immediately before the death of the insured, not in excess of the fair market value of the assets immediately after the death of the insured shall, until the later of

(iii) the redemption, acquisition or cancellation, and

(iv) the date that is 60 days after the payment of the proceeds under the policy,

be deemed not to exceed the cash surrender value (within the meaning assigned by subsection 148(9)) of the policy immediately before the death of the insured."

S. 110.6(15) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 81(14), applicable to dispositions occurring after June 17, 1987, except that, with respect to dispositions occurring before July 13, 1990, the reference to "within the 24-month period beginning at the time of the death of the insured or, where written application therefor is made by the particular corporation within that period, within such longer period" in subparagraph 110.6(15)(b)(ii), shall be read as "before July 13, 1991 or, where written application therefor is made by the particular corporation before that date, before that date".

Tax Profile: September 2004 — Review of Tax Implications of Corporate-Owned Life Insurance Buy-Sell Arrangements.

► 110.6(16) ◄

(16) Personal trust. For the purposes of the definition "qualified small business corporation share" in subsection (1) and of paragraph (14)(c), a personal trust shall be deemed to include a trust described in subsection 7(2).

History: S. 110.6(16) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 81(14), applicable to dispositions occurring after June 17, 1987.

Related Sections: S. 7(2) Securities held by trustee; s. 110.6(1), "qualified small business corporation share"; s. 110.6(14) Related persons, etc; s. 248(1) "personal trust".

► 110.6(17) ◄

(17) Order of deduction. For the purpose of clause (2)(a)(iii)(A), amounts deducted under this section in computing an individual's taxable income for a taxation year that ended before 1990 shall be deemed to have first been deducted in respect of amounts that were included in computing the individual's income under this Part for the year because of subparagraph 14(1)(a)(v) before being deducted in respect of any other amounts that were included in computing the individual's income under this Part for the year.

History: S. 110.6(17) was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(10), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. S. 110.6(17) formerly read:

"(17) Order of deduction. For the purposes of clauses (2)(a)(iii)(A) and (3)(a)(iii)(A), amounts deducted by an individual under this section in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year ending before 1990 shall be deemed to have first been deducted in respect of any amounts that were included in computing the individual's income for that year because of paragraph 14(1)(a)(v) before being deducted in respect of any other amounts that were included in computing the individual's income for that year."

S. 110.6(17) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 47(12), applicable to the 1990 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 14(1) Eligible capital property — inclusion in income from business; s. 248(1), "amount", "individual".

► 110.6(18) ◄

(18) Eligible real property gains and losses. [Repealed by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(11).]

History: S. 110.6(18) was repealed by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(11), applicable to 1996 and subsequent taxation years. S. 110.6(18) formerly read:

"(18) Eligible real property gains and losses. For the purposes of the definitions 'eligible real property gain' and 'eligible real property loss' in subsection (1),

(a) an individual shall be deemed to have disposed of identical properties in the order in which they were acquired;

(b) where paragraph 74.2(2)(b) applies for the purposes of this section to deem a property disposed of by another person to have been disposed of by an individual in a taxation year, the individual shall be deemed to have last acquired that property at the time at which the other person last acquired it and to have disposed of it at the time at which the other person disposed of it;

(c) where an individual is deemed by subsection 70(6), (9), (9.1), (9.2) or (9.3), 73(1), (3) or (4), 98(3) or (5) or 107(2) to have acquired property for an amount that is not greater than the adjusted cost base to the person or partnership from whom it was acquired, the individual shall be deemed to have acquired the property at the time it was last acquired by the person or partnership;

(d) the number of calendar months in a period shall be determined without reference to any such month that is in a taxation year of the individual or the individual's spouse for which the property in respect of which the eligible real property gain or eligible real property loss is computed was a principal residence (within the meaning assigned by section 54) of the individual or the individual's spouse; and

(e) where the eligible real property gain or eligible real property loss of an individual is computed in respect of a gain or loss from a disposition of property by a partnership, the individual shall be deemed to have last acquired the property at the time it was last acquired by the partnership and to have disposed of the property at the time it was disposed of by the partnership except that, where the individual had disposed of that property to the partnership and an election had been filed under subsection 97(2) in respect of that disposition, the individual shall be deemed to have last acquired the property at the time it was last acquired by the individual before that disposition if the amount agreed on in that election in respect of the property was not greater than the adjusted cost base to the individual of the property at the time of that disposition."

S. 110.6(18) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 47(12), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 47(1) Identical properties; s. 54, "adjusted cost base", "principal residence"; s. 70(6) Where transfer or distribution to spouse or spouse trust; s. 70(9) When subsection (9.01) applies; s. 70(9.1) When subsection (9.11) applies; s. 70(9.2) When subsection (9.21) applies; s. 70(9.3)

When subsection (9.31) applies; s. 73(1) Inter vivos transfers by individuals; s. 73(3) When subsection (3.1) applies; s. 73(4) When subsection (4.1) applies; s. 97(2) Rules where election by partners; s. 98(3) Rules applicable where partnership ceases to exist; s. 98(5) Where partnership business carried on as sole proprietorship; s. 107(2) Distribution by personal trust; s. 110.6(1), "eligible real property gain", "eligible real property loss"; s. 248(1), "adjusted cost base", "amount", "individual", "property"; s. 252(4) Extended meaning of spouse.

► 110.6(19) ◄

(19) Election for property owned on February 22, 1994. Subject to subsection (20), where an individual (other than a trust) or a personal trust (each of which is referred to in this subsection and subsections (20) to (29) as the "elector"), elects in prescribed form to have the provisions of this subsection apply in respect of

(a) a capital property (other than an interest in a trust referred to in any of paragraphs (f) to (j) of the definition "flow-through entity" in subsection 39.1(1)) owned at the end of February 22, 1994 by the elector, the property shall be deemed, except for the purposes of sections 7 and 35 and subparagraph 110(1)(d.1)(ii),

(i) to have been disposed of by the elector at that time for proceeds of disposition equal to the greater of

(A) the amount determined by the formula

A – B

where

A is the amount designated in respect of the property in the election, and

B is the amount, if any, that would, if the disposition were a disposition for the purpose of section 7 or 35, be included under that section as a result of the disposition in computing the income of the elector, and

(B) the adjusted cost base to the elector of the property immediately before the disposition, and

(ii) to have been reacquired by the elector immediately after that time at a cost equal to

(A) where the property is an interest in or a share of the capital stock of a flow-through entity (within the meaning assigned by subsection 39.1(1)) of the elector, the cost to the elector of the property immediately before the disposition referred to in subparagraph (i),

(B) where an amount would, if the disposition referred to in subparagraph (i) were a disposition for the purpose of section 7 or 35, be included under that section as a result of the disposition in computing the income of the elector, the lesser of

(I) the elector's proceeds of disposition of the property determined under subparagraph (i), and

(II) the amount determined by the formula

A – B

where

A is the amount, if any, by which the fair market value of the property at that time exceeds the amount that would, if the disposition referred to in subparagraph (i) were a disposition for the purpose of section 7 or 35, be included under that section as a result of the disposition in computing the income of the elector, and

B is the amount that would be determined by the formula in subclause (C)(II) in respect of the property if clause (C) applied to the property, and

(C) in any other case, the lesser of

(I) the designated amount, and

(II) the amount, if any, by which the fair market value of the property at that time exceeds the amount determined by the formula

A – 1.1B

where

A is the designated amount, and

B is the fair market value of the property at that time;

(b) a business carried on by the elector (otherwise than as a member of a partnership) on February 22, 1994,

(i) the amount that would be determined under subparagraph 14(1)(a)(v) at the end of that day in respect of the elector if

(A) all the eligible capital property owned at that time by the elector in respect of the business were disposed of by the elector immediately before that time for proceeds of disposition equal to the amount designated in the election in respect of the business, and

(B) the fiscal period of the business ended at that time

shall be deemed to be a taxable capital gain of the elector for the taxation year in which the fiscal period of the business that includes that time ends from the disposition of a particular property and, for the purposes of this section, the particular property shall be deemed to have been disposed of by the elector at that time, and

(ii) for the purpose of paragraph 14(3)(b), the amount of the taxable capital gain determined under subparagraph (i) shall be deemed to have been claimed, by a person who does not deal at arm's length with each person or partnership that does not deal at arm's length with the elector, as a deduction under this section in respect of a disposition at that time of the eligible capital property; and

(c) an interest owned at the end of February 22, 1994 by the elector in a trust referred to in any of paragraphs (f) to (j) of the definition "flow-through entity" in subsection 39.1(1), the elector shall be deemed to have a capital gain for the year from the disposition on February 22, 1994 of property equal to the lesser of

(i) the total of amounts designated in elections made under this subsection by the elector in respect of interests in the trust, and

(ii) 4/3 of the amount that would, if all of the trust's capital properties were disposed of at the end of February 22, 1994 for proceeds of disposition equal to their fair market value at that time and that portion of the trust's capital gains and capital losses or its net taxable capital gains, as the case may be, arising from the dispositions as can reasonably be considered to represent the elector's share thereof were allocated to or designated in respect of the elector, be the increase in the annual gains limit of the elector for the 1994 taxation year as a result of the dispositions.

History: S. 110.6(19) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(12), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years.

Editorial Note: The special election under subsection 110.6(19) was available for properties held on February 22, 1994. The provision allowed the taxpayer to trigger gain on properties held on that date in order to claim the exemption.

Related Sections: S. 53(1)(p) Adjustments to cost base — Flow-through entity, after 2004; s. 53(1)(r) Adjustments to cost base — Flow-through entity, before 2005; s. 87(2)(bb.1) Flow-through entities; s. 107(2.2) Flow-through entity; s. 144(1), "unused portion of a beneficiary's exempt capital gains balance".

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-120R6 Principal Residence; IT-379R Employees Profit Sharing Plans — Allocations to Beneficiaries.

► 110.6(20) ◄

(20) Application of subsection (19). Subsection (19) applies to a property or to a business, as the case may be, of an elector only if

(a) where the elector is an individual (other than a trust),

(i) its application to all of the properties in respect of which elections were made under that subsection by the elector or a spouse or common-law partner of the elector and to all the businesses in respect of which elections were made under that subsection by the elector

(A) would result in an increase in the amount deductible under subsection (3) in computing the taxable income of the elector or a spouse or common-law partner of the elector, and

(B) in respect of each of the 1994 and 1995 taxation years,

(I) where no part of the taxable capital gain resulting from an election by the elector is included in computing the income of a spouse or common-law partner of the elector, would not result in the amount determined under paragraph (3)(a) for the year in respect of the elector being exceeded by the lesser of the amounts determined under paragraphs (3)(b) and (c) for the year in respect of the elector, and

(II) where no part of the taxable capital gain resulting from an election by the elector is included in computing the income of the elector, would not result in the amount determined under paragraph (3)(a) for the year in respect of a spouse or common-law partner of the elector being exceeded by the lesser of the amounts determined under paragraphs (3)(b) and (c) for the year in respect of the spouse or common-law partner,

(ii) the amount designated in the election in respect of the property exceeds $^{11}/_{10}$ of its fair market value at the end of February 22, 1994, or

(iii) the amount designated in the election in respect of the business is $1.00 or exceeds $^{11}/_{10}$ of the fair market value at the end of February 22, 1994 of all the eligible capital property owned at that time by the elector in respect of the business; and

(b) where the elector is a personal trust, its application to all of the properties in respect of which an election was made under that subsection by the elector would result in

(i) an increase in the amount deemed by subsection 104(21.2) to be a taxable capital gain of an individual (other than a trust) who was a beneficiary under the trust at the end of February 22, 1994 and resident in Canada at any time in the individual's taxation year in which the trust's taxation year that includes that day ends, or

(ii) where subsection (12) applies to the trust for the trust's taxation year that includes that day, an increase in the amount deductible under that subsection in computing the trust's taxable income for that year.

History: S. 110.6(20)(a)(i) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.4), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 110.6(20)(a)(i) formerly read:

"(i) its application to all of the properties in respect of which elections were made under that subsection by the elector or a spouse of the elector and to all the businesses in respect of which elections were made under that subsection by the elector

(A) would result in an increase in the amount deductible under subsection (3) in computing the taxable income of the elector or a spouse of the elector, and

(B) in respect of each of the 1994 and 1995 taxation years,

(I) where no part of the taxable capital gain resulting from an election by the elector is included in computing the income of a spouse of the elector, would not result in the amount determined under paragraph (3)(a) for the year in respect of the elector being exceeded by the lesser of the amounts determined under paragraphs (3)(b) and (c) for the year in respect of the elector, and

(II) where no part of the taxable capital gain resulting from an election by the elector is included in computing the income of the elector, would not result in the amount determined under paragraph (3)(a) for the year in respect of a spouse of the elector being exceeded by the lesser of the amounts determined under paragraphs (3)(b) and (c) for the year in respect of the spouse,"

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 110.6(20) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(12), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years.

► 110.6(21) ◄

(21) Effect of election on non-qualifying real property. Where an elector is deemed by subsection (19) to have disposed of a non-qualifying real property,

(a) in computing the elector's taxable capital gain from the disposition, there shall be deducted the amount determined by the formula

$$0.75(A - B)$$

where

A is the elector's capital gain from the disposition, and

B is the elector's eligible real property gain from the disposition; and

(b) in determining at any time after the disposition the capital cost to the elector of the property where it is a depreciable property and the adjusted cost base to the elector of the property in any other case (other than where the property was at the end of February 22, 1994 an interest in or a share of the capital stock of a flow-through entity within the meaning assigned by subsection 39.1(1)), there shall be deducted 4/3 of the amount determined under paragraph (a) in respect of the property.

History: S. 110.6(21) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(12), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years.

► 110.6(22) ◄

(22) Adjusted cost base. Where an elector is deemed by paragraph (19)(a) to have reacquired a property, there shall be deducted in computing the adjusted cost base to the elector of the property at any time after the reacquisition the amount, if any, by which

(a) the amount determined by the formula

$$A - 1.1B$$

where

A is the amount designated in the election under subsection (19) in respect of the property, and

B is the fair market value of the property at the end of February 22, 1994

exceeds

(b) where the property is an interest in or a share of the capital stock of a flow-through entity (within the meaning assigned by subsection 39.1(1)), 4/3 of the taxable capital gain that would have resulted from the election if the amount designated in the election were equal to the fair market value of the property at the end of February 22, 1994 and, in any other case, the fair market value of the property at the end of February 22, 1994.

History: S. 110.6(22) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(12), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years.

► 110.6(23) ◄

(23) Disposition of partnership interest. Where an elector is deemed by subsection (19) to have disposed of an interest in a partnership, in computing the adjusted cost base to the elector of the interest immediately before the disposition

(a) there shall be added the amount determined by the formula

$$(A - B) \times \frac{C}{D} + E$$

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is the elector's share of the partnership's income (other than a taxable capital gain from the disposition of a property) from a source or from sources in a particular place for its fiscal period that includes February 22, 1994,

B is the total of all amounts each of which is the elector's share of the partnership's loss (other than an allowable capital loss from the disposition of a property) from a source or from sources in a particular place for that fiscal period,

C is the number of days in the period that begins the first day of that fiscal period and ends February 22, 1994,

D is the number of days in that fiscal period, and

E is 4/3 of the amount that would be determined under paragraph 3(b) in computing the elector's income for the taxation year in which that fiscal period ends if the elector had no taxable capital gains or allowable capital losses other than those arising from dispositions of property by the partnership that occurred before February 23, 1994; and

(b) there shall be deducted the amount that would be determined under paragraph (a) if the formula in that paragraph were read as

$$"(B - A) \times \frac{C}{D} - E"$$

History: S. 110.6(23) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(12), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years.

► 110.6(24) ◄

(24) Time for election. An election made under subsection (19) shall be filed with the Minister

(a) where the elector is an individual (other than a trust),

(i) if the election is in respect of a business of the elector, on or before the individual's filing-due date for the taxation year in which the fiscal period of the business that includes February 22, 1994 ends, and

(ii) in any other case, on or before the individual's balance-due day for the 1994 taxation year; and

(b) where the elector is a personal trust, on or before March 31 of the calendar year following the calendar year in which the taxation year of the trust that includes February 22, 1994 ends.

History: S. 110.6(24)(a)(i) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 21(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years. S. 110.6(24)(a)(i) formerly read:

"(i) if the election is in respect of a business of the elector, on or before the individual's balance-due day for the taxation year in which the fiscal period of the business that includes February 22, 1994 ends, and"

S. 110.6(24) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(12), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 248(1), "filing-due date".

► 110.6(25) ◄

(25) Revocation of election. Subject to subsection (28), an elector may revoke an election made under subsection (19) by filing a written notice of the revocation with the Minister before 1998.

History: S. 110.6(25) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(12), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years.

► 110.6(26) ◄

(26) Late election. Where an election made under subsection (19) is filed with the Minister after the day (referred to in this subsection and subsections (27) and (29) as the "election filing date") on or before which the election is required by subsection (24) to have been filed and on or before the day that is 2 years after the election filing date, the election shall be deemed for the purposes of this section (other than subsection (29)) to have been filed on the election filing date if an estimate of the penalty in respect of the election is paid by the elector when the election is filed with the Minister.

History: S. 110.6(26) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(12), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years.

► 110.6(27) ◄

(27) Amended election. Subject to subsection (28), an election under subsection (19) in respect of a property or a business is deemed to be amended and the election, as amended, is deemed for the purpose of this section (other than subsection (29)) to have been filed on the election filing date if

(a) an amended election in prescribed form in respect of the property or the business is filed with the Minister before 1998; and

(b) an estimate of the penalty, if any, in respect of the amended election is paid by the elector when the amended election is filed with the Minister.

History: S. 110.6(27), the portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 130(3), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years. That part formerly read:

"(27) Amended election. Subject to subsection (28), an election made under subsection (19) in respect of a property or a business shall be deemed to be amended and the election, as amended, shall be deemed to have been filed on the election filing date if"

S. 110.6(27) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(12), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years.

► 110.6(28) ◄

(28) Election that cannot be revoked or amended. An election under subsection (19) cannot be revoked or amended where the amount designated in the election exceeds $^{11}/_{10}$ of

(a) if the election is in respect of a property other than an interest in a partnership, the fair market value of the property at the end of February 22, 1994;

(b) if the election is in respect of an interest in a partnership, the greater of $1 and the fair market value of the property at the end of February 22, 1994; and

(c) if the election is in respect of a business, the greater of $1 and the fair market value at the end of February 22, 1994 of all the eligible capital property owned at that time by the elector in respect of the business.

History: S. 110.6(28) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 130(4), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years. S. 110.6(28) formerly read:

"(28) Election that cannot be revoked or amended. An election made under subsection (19) cannot be revoked or amended where the amount designated in the election exceeds $^{11}/_{10}$ of

(a) if the election is in respect of a property, the fair market value of the property at the end of February 22, 1994; and

(b) if the election is in respect of a business, the fair market value at the end of February 22, 1994 of all the eligible capital property owned at hat time by the elector in respect of the business."

S. 110.6(28) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(12), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years.

► 110.6(29) ◄

(29) Amount of penalty. The penalty in respect of an election to which subsection (26) or (27) applies is the amount determined by the formula

$$\frac{A \times B}{300}$$

where

A is the number of months each of which is a month all or part of which is during the period that begins the day after the election filing date and ends the day the election or amended election is filed with the Minister; and

B is the total of all amounts each of which is the taxable capital gain of the elector or a spouse or common-law partner of the elector that results from the application of subsection (19) to the property or the business in respect of which the election is made less, where subsection (27) applies to the election, the total of all amounts each of which would, if the Act were read without reference to subsections (20) and (27), be the taxable capital gain of the elector or a spouse or common-law partner of the elector that resulted from the application of subsection (19) to the property or the business.

History: S. 110.6(29), the description of B, was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.4), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 110.6(29), the description of B formerly read:

"B is the total of all amounts each of which is the taxable capital gain of the elector or a spouse of the elector that results from the application of subsection (19) to the property or the business in respect of which the election is made less, where subsection (27) applies to the election, the total of all amounts each of which would, if the Act were read without reference to subsections (20) and (27), be the taxable capital gain of the elector or a spouse of the elector that resulted from the application of subsection (19) to the property or the business."

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 110.6(29) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(12), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years.

► 110.6(30) ◄

(30) Unpaid balance of penalty. The Minister shall, with all due dispatch, examine each election to which subsection (26) or (27) applies, assess the penalty payable and send a notice of assessment to the elector who made the election, and the elector shall pay forthwith to the Receiver General the amount, if any, by which the penalty so assessed exceeds the total of all amounts previously paid on account of that penalty.

History: S. 110.6(30) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 32(12), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years.

► 110.6(31) ◄

(31) Conditions for the application of subsection (32). Subsection (32) applies to an individual for a taxation year that begins after March 19, 2007 if

(a) in the taxation year the individual has a taxable capital gain from the disposition, before March 19, 2007, of a qualified small business corporation share of the individual, a qualified farm property of the individual or a qualified fishing property of the individual; and

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount of a taxable capital gain of the individual described in paragraph (a) exceeds the amount that would be determined under paragraph (2)(a) in respect of the individual for the taxation year were the reference to "$375,000" in that paragraph read as a reference to "$250,000" (the amount of which excess is referred to in subsection (32) as the "denied excess").

History: S. 110.6(31) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 31(8), applicable to taxation years that end on or after March 19, 2007.

► 110.6(32) ◄

(32) Deduction denied. Notwithstanding subsections (2) to (2.3), if this subsection applies to an individual for a taxation year, no amount may be deducted under this section for the taxation year by the individual in respect of the individual's taxable capital gains for the year described in paragraph (31)(a) to the extent of the denied excess.

History: S. 110.6(32) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 31(8), applicable to taxation years that end on or after March 19, 2007.

SECTION 110.7:

► 110.7(1) ◄

(1) Residing in prescribed zone. Where, throughout a period (in this section referred to as the "qualifying period") of not less than 6 consecutive months beginning or ending in a taxation year, a taxpayer who is an individual has resided in one or more particular areas each of which is a prescribed northern zone or prescribed intermediate zone for the year and files for the year a claim in prescribed form, there may be deducted in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is the product obtained by multiplying the specified percentage for a particular area for the year in which the taxpayer so resided by an amount received, or the value of a benefit received or enjoyed, in the year by the taxpayer in respect of the taxpayer's employment in the particular area by a person with whom the taxpayer was dealing at arm's length in respect of travel expenses incurred by the taxpayer or another individual who was a member of the taxpayer's household during the part of the year in which the taxpayer resided in the particular area, to the extent that

(i) the amount received or the value of the benefit, as the case may be,

(A) does not exceed a prescribed amount in respect of the taxpayer for the period in the year in which the taxpayer resided in the particular area,

(B) is included and is not otherwise deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for the year or any other taxation year, and

(C) is not included in determining an amount deducted under subsection 118.2(1) for the year or any other taxation year,

(ii) the travel expenses were incurred in respect of trips made in the year by the taxpayer or another individual who was a member of the taxpayer's household during the part of the year in which the taxpayer resided in the particular area, and

(iii) neither the taxpayer nor a member of the taxpayer's household is at any time entitled to a reimbursement or any form of assistance (other than a reimbursement or assistance included in computing the income of the taxpayer or the member) in respect of travel expenses to which subparagraph (ii) applies; and

(b) the lesser of

(i) 20% of the taxpayer's income for the year, and

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is the product obtained by multiplying the specified percentage for a particular area for the year in which the taxpayer so resided by the total of

(A) $8.25 multiplied by the number of days in the year included in the qualifying period in which the taxpayer resided in the particular area, and

(B) $8.25 multiplied by the number of days in the year included in that portion of the qualifying period throughout which the taxpayer maintained and resided in a self-contained domestic establishment in the particular area (except any day included in computing a deduction claimed under this paragraph by another person who resided on that day in the establishment).

History: S. 110.7(1)(b)(ii)(A) and (B) were replaced by S.C. 2008, c. 28, s. 13(1), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 110.7(1)(b)(ii)(A) and (B) formerly read:

"(A) $7.50 multiplied by the number of days in the year included in the qualifying period in which the taxpayer resided in the particular area, and

(B) $7.50 multiplied by the number of days in the year included in that portion of the qualifying period throughout which the taxpayer maintained and resided in a self-contained domestic establishment in the particular area (except any day included in computing a deduction claimed under this paragraph by another person who resided on that day in the establishment)."

S. 110.7(1)(a)(iii) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 48(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 110.7(1) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 82(1). For the application see s. 82(2), c. 7, Sched. II, S.C. 1994, reproduced below. S. 110.7(1) formerly read:

"S. 110.7. Residing in prescribed area.

(1) In computing the taxable income for a taxation year of an individual who, throughout a period of not less than 6 months commencing or ending in the year, resided in an area that was a prescribed area for the year or for one of the 2 preceding taxation years and who files a claim in prescribed form with the individual's return of income for the year pursuant to section 150, there may be deducted

(a) where the area was a prescribed area for the year, 100%,

(b) where the area was not a prescribed area for the year but was a prescribed area for the immediately preceding taxation year, 2/3, and

(c) where the area was not a prescribed area for the year or the immediately preceding taxation year but was a prescribed area for the second preceding taxation year, 1/3

of such of the following amounts as are applicable:

(d) an amount received, or the value of a benefit received or enjoyed, in the year by the individual in respect of the individual's employment in the area by a person with whom the individual was dealing at arm's length in respect of travel expenses incurred by the individual, to the extent that

(i) the amount received or the value of the benefit, as the case may be,

(A) does not exceed a prescribed amount,

(B) is included and is not otherwise deducted in computing the individual's income for the year, and

(C) is not included in determining an amount deducted under subsection 118.2(1) for the year or any other taxation year, and

(ii) the travel expenses were incurred in connection with

(A) a trip made in the year for the purpose of obtaining medical services not available in the locality in which the individual resided, or

(B) not more than two trips made in the year for a purpose other than to obtain medical services not available in the locality in which the individual resided, and

(e) subject to subsection (2), the lesser of

(i) 20% of the individual's income for the year, and

(ii) the total of

(A) $450 multiplied by the quotient obtained when the number of days in the year included in that portion of the period throughout which the individual maintained and resided in a self-contained domestic establishment (except any day included in computing a deduction claimed under this paragraph by another person who resided on that day in the establishment) is divided by 30, and

(B) $225 multiplied by the amount, if any, by which

(I) the quotient obtained when the number of days in the year included in the period is divided by 30 exceeds

(II) the quotient determined under clause (A)."

Editorial Note: Individuals residing in a prescribed northern zone or a prescribed intermediate zone (see the definition in Regulation 7303.1) for a period of at least six consecutive months beginning or ending in the taxation year may enclose a Form T2222 with their tax return to claim a northern residents deduction in respect of the period. The deduction has two components.

(1) A travel deduction for travel benefits received from an arm's length employer in respect of trips for obtaining medical services not available locally or a maximum of two annual non-medical trips provided the following conditions are met: (i) the trips are taken by the individual or by members of the individual's household, and (ii) the travel benefits are included in the individual's income, are not deductible from income, are not taken into account to calculate the medical expenses tax credit, and do not exceed prescribed amounts described in Regulation 7304.

(2) A residency deduction for living expenses incurred by the individual and his or her family in the prescribed zone that would include the lesser of: (i) 20% of the individual's annual income and (ii) the total of $8.25 per day of residence in the prescribed zone, and an extra $8.25 for each day for which they resided in a self-contained domestic establishment and no other individual claimed the basic $8.25 deduction.

Residents of the prescribed northern zone may claim the full northern residents deduction while residents of the prescribed intermediate zone may claim only 50% of it. Individuals with their principal place residence located outside the prescribed zones but residing at a special work site located in one of them may not claim both the exemption in s. 6(6) and the northern residents deduction in s. 110.7(1). For a list of the various places located in each prescribed zone, see Guide T1039.

Related Sections: S. 111.1 Order of applying provisions; s. 248(1), "self-contained domestic establishment".
Regulations: 7303.1; 7304.
Forms: T2222.
Guides: RC4054 Ceiling Amounts for Housing Benefits Paid in Prescribed Zones; T4039 Northern Residents Deductions; T4130 Employers Guide to Payroll Deductions – Taxable Benefits.

Sec. 82(2), Sched. II, Chap. 7, S.C. 1994

(2) [Application of sec. 110.7 for the 1988 to 1990 taxation years.] Section 110.7, as amended by subsection (1), is applicable to the 1988 and subsequent taxation years, except that

(a) for the 1988 to 1990 taxation years,

(i) paragraph 110.7(1)(b) shall be read as follows:

"(b) subject to subsections (4) and (6), the total of all amounts each of which is the product obtained by multiplying the specified percentage for a particular area for the year in which the taxpayer so resided by the lesser of

(i) 20% of the taxpayer's income for the year, and

(ii) the total of

(A) $450 multiplied by the quotient obtained when the number of days in the year included in that portion of the qualifying period throughout which the taxpayer maintained and resided in a self-contained domestic establishment in the particular area (except any day included in computing a deduction claimed under this paragraph by another person who resided on that day in the establishment) is divided by 30, and

(B) $225 multiplied by the amount, if any, by which

(I) the quotient obtained when the number of days in the year included in the qualifying period in which the taxpayer resided in the particular area is divided by 30

exceeds

(II) the quotient determined under clause (A),"

and

(ii) section 110.7 shall be read as including the following subsections:

"(6) Subject to subsection (7), where a quotient determined under paragraph (1)(b) is not a whole number, it shall be rounded to the nearest whole number or, where it is equidistant from 2 such consecutive whole numbers, it shall be rounded to the higher thereof.

(7) Where, in a taxation year, a taxpayer resided in more than one particular area each of which is an area referred to in subsection (2) for the year, for the purpose of computing the amount deductible under subsection (1) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year, the total of all amounts each of which is a quotient determined under paragraph (1)(b) in respect of any such area for the year shall not exceed the total of such amounts that would have been obtained for the year if the taxpayer had resided in only one such area throughout the portion of the qualifying period included in the year.

(8) Where 2 or more taxpayers not dealing with each other at arm's length resided in the same self-contained domestic establishment for periods in a taxation year, for the purpose of computing the amounts deductible under subsection (1) in computing the taxable incomes of those taxpayers for the year, the total of all quotients determined for the year under clause (1)(b)(ii)(A) in respect of the establishment shall not exceed the amount that would be the quotient determined under that clause in respect of the establishment for the year if the establishment had been maintained by only one such taxpayer for the total of those periods." and

(b) for the 1988 to 1994 taxation years,

(i) the portion of subsection 110.7(1) preceding paragraph (a) thereof shall be read as follows:

"(1) Where, throughout a period (in this section referred to as the 'qualifying period') of not less than 6 consecutive months beginning or ending in a taxation year, a taxpayer who is an individual has resided in one or more particular areas each of which is a prescribed area for the year or for one of the 2 preceding taxation years or a prescribed northern zone or prescribed intermediate zone for the year, and the taxpayer files for the year a claim in prescribed form, there may be deducted in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year,"

(ii) subsection 110.7(2) shall be read as follows:

"(2) For the purpose of subsection (1), the specified percentage for a particular area for a taxation year is

(a) where the area is a prescribed area for the year or a prescribed northern zone for the year, 100%;

(b) except as otherwise provided in paragraph (a), where the area was a prescribed area for the immediately preceding taxation year, 66⅔%;

(c) except as otherwise provided in paragraph (a) or (b), where the area is a prescribed intermediate zone for the year, 50%; and

(d) except as otherwise provided in paragraph (a), (b) or (c), where the area was a prescribed area for the second preceding taxation year, 33⅓%." and

(iii) paragraph 110.7(4)(b) shall be read as follows:

"(b) can reasonably be considered to be attributable to that portion of the qualifying period that is in the year and during which the taxpayer maintained a self-contained domestic establishment as the taxpayer's principal place of residence in an area other than a prescribed area, prescribed northern zone or prescribed intermediate zone for the year."

► 110.7(2) ◄

(2) Specified percentage. For the purpose of subsection (1), the specified percentage for a particular area for a taxation year is

(a) where the area is a prescribed northern zone for the year, 100%; and

(b) where the area is a prescribed intermediate zone for the year, 50%.

History: S. 110.7(2) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 82(1), applicable to the 1988 and subsequent taxation years, but see the special application rules applicable to the 1988 to 1994 taxation years in S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 82(2) above. S. 110.7(2) formerly read:

"(2) Restriction. The amount deductible under paragraph (1)(e) shall not exceed the amount by which the total determined under that paragraph exceeds the value of, or an allowance in respect of expenses incurred by the individual referred to in subsection (1) for, the individual's board and lodging

(a) that would, but for subparagraph 6(6)(a)(i), be included in computing the individual's income for the year; and

(b) that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to that portion of the period referred to in subsection (1) during which the individual maintained a self-contained domestic establishment as the individual's principal place of residence in an area other than a prescribed area."

► 110.7(3) ◄

(3) Restriction. The total determined under paragraph (1)(a) for a taxpayer in respect of travel expenses incurred in a taxation year in respect of an individual shall not be in respect of more than 2 trips made by the individual in the year, other than trips to obtain medical services that are not available in the locality in which the taxpayer resided.

History: S. 110.7(3) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 82(1), applicable to the 1988 and subsequent taxation years. S. 110.7(3) formerly read:

"(3) Whole number. For the purposes of subparagraph (1)(e)(ii), where a quotient is not a whole number, it shall be rounded to the nearest whole number or where it is equidistant from two consecutive whole numbers, it shall be rounded to the higher thereof."

► 110.7(4) ◄

(4) Board and lodging allowances, etc. The amount determined under subparagraph (1)(b)(ii) for a particular area for a taxpayer for a taxation year shall not exceed the amount by which the amount otherwise determined under that subparagraph for the particular area for the year exceeds the value of, or an allowance in respect of expenses incurred by the taxpayer for, the taxpayer's board and lodging in the particular area (other than at a work site described in paragraph 67.1(2)(e)) that

(a) would, but for subparagraph 6(6)(a)(i), be included in computing the taxpayer's income for the year; and

(b) can reasonably be considered to be attributable to that portion of the qualifying period that is in the year and during which the taxpayer maintained a self-contained domestic establishment as the taxpayer's principal place of residence in an area other than a prescribed northern zone or a prescribed intermediate zone for the year.

History: S. 110.7(4), the portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 27(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 110.7(4), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(4) Idem. The amount determined under subparagraph (1)(b)(ii) for a particular area for a taxpayer for a taxation year shall not exceed the amount by which the amount otherwise determined under that subparagraph for the particular area for the year exceeds the value of, or an allowance in respect of expenses incurred by the taxpayer for, the taxpayer's board and lodging in the particular area that"

S. 110.7(4) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 82(1), applicable to the 1988 and subsequent taxation years. For the application of paragraph (b) to the 1988 to 1994 taxation years see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 82(2) above.

► 110.7(5) ◄

(5) Idem. Where on any day an individual resides in more than one particular area referred to in subsection (1), for the purpose of that subsection, the individual shall be deemed to reside in only one such area on that day.

History: S. 110.7(5) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 82(1), applicable to the 1988 and subsequent taxation years.

Cases: Even if the words "prescribed area" could in 1988 refer to the new concepts of "prescribed northern zone" or "prescribed intermediate zone", the taxpayers had not lived in such an area and their claims for the deduction had to be disallowed despite the fact that the Minister had allowed it in 1987. Catton et al. v. The Queen, 93 DTC 117 (T.C.C.).

SECTION 111:

► 111(1) ◄

(1) Losses deductible. For the purpose of computing the taxable income of a taxpayer for a taxation year, there may be deducted such portion as the taxpayer may claim of the taxpayer's

Related Sections: S. 2(2) Taxable income; s. 2(3) Tax payable by non-resident persons; s. 3 Income for taxation year; s. 9 Income or loss from business or property; s. 31 Loss from farming where chief source of income not farming; s. 87(2.1) Non-capital losses, etc., of predecessor corporations; s. 87(2.11) Vertical amalgamations; s. 88(1.1) Non-capital losses, etc., of subsidiary; s. 88(1.2) Net capital losses of subsidiary; s. 88(1.3) Computation of income and tax of parent; s. 89(4) GRIP addition — becoming CCPC; s. 89(5) GRIP addition — post-amalgamation; s. 89(6) GRIP addition — post-winding-up; s. 89(7) GRIP addition for 2006; s. 89(8) LRIP addition — ceasing to be CCPC; s. 89(9) LRIP addition — amalgamation; s. 89(10) LRIP addition — winding-up; s. 89(11) Election: non-CCPC; s. 96(2.2) At-risk amount; s. 111(3) Limitation on deductibility; s. 111(8) Definitions; s. 111.1 Order of applying provisions; s. 114 Individual resident in Canada for only part of year; s. 115(1) Non-resident's taxable income in Canada; s. 164(5) Effect of carryback of loss, etc. s. 256(7) Acquiring control; s. 256(8) Deemed exercise of right.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-232R3 Losses — Their deductibility in the loss year or in other years. Secondary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) — Scientific research and experimental development expenditures; IT-151R4 Scientific research and experimental development expenditures [Archived by the CRA]; IT-171R2 Non-resident individuals — Computation of taxable income earned in Canada and non-refundable tax credits [Archived by the CRA]; IT-262R2 Losses of non-residents and part-year residents; IT-302R3 Losses of a corporation — The effect that acquisitions of control, amalgamations, and windings-up have on their deductibility — After January 15, 1987; IT-322R Farm losses; IT-381R3 Trusts — Deduction of amounts paid or payable to beneficiaries and flow-through of taxable capital gains to beneficiaries; IT-474R2 Amalgamations of Canadian corporations.

Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 30, Corporate Loss Utilization Transactions.

Forms: T1A; T2 SCH 4; T3A.

► 111(1)(a) ◄

(a) Non-capital losses — non-capital losses for the 20 taxation years immediately preceding and the 3 taxation years immediately following the year;

History: S. 111(1)(a) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 57(1), applicable in respect of losses that arise in the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 111(1)(a) formerly read:

"(a) Non-capital losses — non-capital losses for the 10 taxation years immediately preceding and the 3 taxation years immediately following the year;"

S. 111(1)(a) was replaced by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 20(1), applicable in respect of losses that arise in taxation years that end after March 22, 2004. S. 111(1)(a) formerly read:

"(a) Non-capital losses — non-capital losses for the 7 taxation years immediately preceding and the 3 taxation years immediately following the year;"

Editorial Note: Historically, allowable business investment losses (ABILs) formed part of a taxpayer's non-capital loss until the expiration of the carryforward period in paragraph 111(1)(a). However, for the 2006 and subsequent taxation years, the non-capital loss carryforward period was extended from 10 years to 20 years, while the corresponding ABIL carryforward period was not extended beyond 10 years (subsection 111(8) "non-capital loss"). Therefore, ABILs remain part of a taxpayer's non-capital losses in the year in which they are sustained and in the following 10 years to the extent they are not utilized. If they are not utilized within the 10-year period, they become net capital losses subject to the indefinite carryforward period in paragraph 111(1)(b), although in such case they are only deductible against taxable capital gains (subject to the year of death rules in subsection 111(2)).

Related Sections: S. 80(3) Reductions of non-capital losses; s. 80(4) Reductions of capital losses; s. 87(2.1) Non-capital losses, etc., of predecessor corporations; s. 87(2.11) Vertical amalgamations; s. 88(1.1) Non-capital losses, etc., of subsidiary; s. 88(1.2) Net capital losses of subsidiary; s. 88(1.3) Computation of income and tax of parent; s. 111(3) Limitation on deductibility; s. 111(5) Deduction of non-capital or farm losses; s. 111(5.4) Non-capital loss; s. 111(8), "non-capital loss"; s. 111(9) Exception; s. 111(7.2) Non-capital loss of life insurer; s. 111(8) Definitions; s. 125.3(3) Acquisition of control; s. 127(9.1) Control acquired before the end of the year; s. 127(9.2) Control acquired after the end of the year; s. 152(1.1) Determination of losses; s. 152(1.2) Provisions applicable; s. 152(1.3) Determination binding; s. 186(1) Tax on assessable dividends; s. 190.1(6) Acquisition of control; s. 256(7) Acquiring control; s. 256(8) Deemed exercise of right.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-484R Business investment losses.

Information Circulars: IC 88-2 General anti-avoidance rule — Section 245 of the Income Tax Act (para. 8).

Forms: T3A.

Tax Profile: March 2004 — Loss Planning.

Tax Window Files: Consequential Assessments — Non-Capital Loss Carryover, February 7, 2006, CRA Document No. 2005-0122381E5; Bonus to Shareholder/Manager — Loss Carryback, July 21, 2004, CRA Document No. 2004-0072741R3.

► 111(1)(b) ◄

(b) Net capital losses — net capital losses for taxation years preceding and the three taxation years immediately following the year;

Editorial Note: Allowable business investment losses (ABILs) that are not utilized as non-capital losses in the year in which they are sustained or in the following 10 years become net capital losses; see the definitions of "net capital loss" and "non-capital loss" in subsection 111(8).

Related Sections: S. 3(b) Income for taxation year; s. 38 Taxable capital gain and allowable capital loss; s. 41(2) Determination of net gain; s. 80(4) Reductions of capital losses; s. 87(2.1) Non-capital losses, etc., of predecessor corporations; s. 87(2.11) Vertical amalgamations; s. 88(1.2) Net capital losses of subsidiary; s. 88(1.3) Computation of income and tax of parent; s. 104(21.3) Net taxable capital gains of trust determined; s. 110.6(1), "annual gains limit; s. 111(1.1) Net capital losses; s. 111(2) Year of death; s. 111(3) Limitation on deductibility; s. 111(4) Acquisition of control; s. 111(8) Definitions; s. 111(9) Exception; s. 126(1) Foreign tax deduction — non-business income; s. 129(3) Definition of "refundable dividend tax on hand"; s. 129(4), "aggregate investment income"; s. 152(1.1) Determination of losses; s. 152(1.2) Provisions applicable; s. 152(1.3) Determination binding; s. 164(6) Where disposition of property by legal representative of deceased taxpayer; s. 256(7) Acquiring control; s. 256(8) Deemed exercise of right.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-98R2 Investment corporations [Archived by the CRA]; IT-395R2 Foreign tax credit — Foreign-source capital gains and losses.

Forms: T3A.

Tax Window Files: Carry Back of Capital Losses by Estate, December 21, 2006, CRA Document No. 2006-0216261I7.

► 111(1)(c) ◄

(c) Restricted farm losses — restricted farm losses for the 20 taxation years immediately preceding and the 3 taxation years immediately following the year, but no amount is deductible for the year in respect of restricted farm losses except to the extent of the taxpayer's incomes for the year from all farming businesses carried on by the taxpayer;

History: S. 111(1)(c) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 57(2), applicable in respect of losses that arise in the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 111(1)(c) formerly read:

"(c) Restricted farm losses — restricted farm losses for the 10 taxation years immediately preceding and the 3 taxation years immediately following the year, but no amount is deductible for the year in respect of restricted farm losses except to the extent of the taxpayer's incomes for the year from all farming businesses carried on by the taxpayer;"

Editorial Note: "Restricted farm loss" is defined in subsection 31(1.1).

Related Sections: S. 31 Loss from farming where chief source of income not farming; s. 80(3) Reductions of non-capital losses; s. 87(2.1) Non-capital losses, etc., of predecessor corporations; s. 88(1.1) Non-capital losses, etc., of subsidiary; s. 111(3) Limitation on deductibility; s. 111(5) Deduction of non-capital or farm losses; s. 111(9) Exception; s. 152(1.1) Determination of losses; s. 152(1.2) Provisions applicable; s. 152(1.3) Determination binding; s. 256(7) Acquiring control; s. 256(8) Deemed exercise of right.

Forms: T3A.

Guides: RC4408 Farming Income and the CAIS Program Harmonized Guide.

► 111(1)(d) ◄

(d) Farm losses — farm losses for the 20 taxation years immediately preceding and the 3 taxation years immediately following the year; and

History: S. 111(1)(d) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 57(2), applicable in respect of losses that arise in the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 111(1)(d) formerly read:

"(d) Farm losses — farm losses for the 10 taxation years immediately preceding and the 3 taxation years immediately following the year; and"

Related Sections: S. 28(1) Farming or fishing business; s. 80(3) Reductions of non-capital losses; s. 87(2.1) Non-capital losses, etc., of predecessor corporations; s. 88(1.1) Non-capital losses, etc., of subsidiary; s. 111(3) Limitation on deductibility; s. 111(5) Deduction of non-capital or farm losses; s. 111(8), "farm loss"; s. 111(9) Exception; s. 152(1.1) Determination of losses; s. 152(1.2) Provisions applicable; s. 152(1.3) Determination binding; s. 186(1) Tax on assessable dividends; s. 256(7) Acquiring control; s. 256(8) Deemed exercise of right.

Forms: T3A.

Guides: RC4408 Farming Income and the CAIS Program Harmonized Guide.

► 111(1)(e) ◄

(e) Limited partnership losses — limited partnership losses in respect of a partnership for taxation years preceding the year, but no amount is deductible for the year in respect of a limited partnership loss except to the extent of the amount by which

(i) the taxpayer's at-risk amount in respect of the partnership (within the meaning assigned by subsection 96(2.2)) at the end of the last fiscal period of the partnership ending in the taxation year

exceeds

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is

(A) the amount required by subsection 127(8) in respect of the partnership to be added in computing the investment tax credit of the taxpayer for the taxation year,

(B) the taxpayer's share of any losses of the partnership for that fiscal period from a business or property, or

(C) the taxpayer's share of

(I) the foreign resource pool expenses, if any, incurred by the partnership in that fiscal period,

(II) the Canadian exploration expense, if any, incurred by the partnership in that fiscal period,

(III) the Canadian development expense, if any, incurred by the partnership in that fiscal period, and

(IV) the Canadian oil and gas property expense, if any, incurred by the partnership in that fiscal period.

History: S. 111(1)(e)(ii)(C)(I) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 87(1), applicable to taxation years that begin after 2000. S. 111(1)(e)(ii)(C)(I) formerly read:

"(I) the foreign exploration and development expenses, if any, incurred by the partnership in that fiscal period,"

Editorial Note: Limited partnership losses can be carried forward indefinitely but are subject to the taxpayer's at-risk amount in respect of the partnership that gave rise to the losses. Limited partnership losses cannot be carried back.

Related Sections: S. 53(2)(c) Amounts to be deducted — Interest in a partnership; s. 87(2.1) Non-capital losses, etc., of predecessor corporations; s. 88(1.1) Non-capital losses, etc., of subsidiary; s. 96(2.1) Limited partnership losses; s. 96(2.2) At-risk amount; s. 96(2.4) Limited partner; s. 111(3) Limitation on deductibility; s. 111(9) Exception; s. 127.52(1)(i) Adjusted taxable income determined; s. 152(1.1) Determination of losses; s. 152(1.2) Provisions applicable; s. 152(1.3) Determination binding; s. 248(1), "foreign resource pool expenses".

Tax Window Files: Limited Partnership Losses of Tier Partnership, May 14, 2004, CRA Document No. 2004-0062801E5.

► 111(1.1) ◄

(1.1) Net capital losses. Notwithstanding paragraph (1)(b), the amount that may be deducted under that paragraph in computing a taxpayer's taxable income for a particular taxation year is the total of

(a) the lesser of

(i) the amount, if any, determined under paragraph 3(b) in respect of the taxpayer for the particular year, and

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times \frac{B}{C}$$

where

A is the amount claimed under paragraph (1)(b) for the particular year by the taxpayer in respect of a net capital loss for a taxation year (in this paragraph referred to as the "loss year"),

B is the fraction that would be used for the particular year under section 38 in respect of the taxpayer if the taxpayer had a capital loss for the particular year, and

C is the fraction required to be used under section 38 in respect of the taxpayer for the loss year; and

(b) where the taxpayer is an individual, the least of

(i) $2,000,

(ii) the taxpayer's pre-1986 capital loss balance for the particular year, and

(iii) the amount, if any, by which

(A) the amount claimed under paragraph (1)(b) in respect of the taxpayer's net capital losses for the particular year

exceeds

(B) the total of the amounts in respect of the taxpayer's net capital losses that, using the formula in subparagraph (a)(ii), would be required to be claimed under paragraph (1)(b) for the particular year to produce the amount determined under paragraph (a) for the particular year.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subsection 111(1.1) of the Act is amended by striking out the word "and" at the end of paragraph (a), by adding the word "and" at the end of paragraph (b) and by adding the following after paragraph (b):

(c) the amount, if any, that the Minister determines to be reasonable in the circumstances, after considering the application of subsections 104(21.6), 130.1(4), 131(1) and 138.1(3.2) to the taxpayer for the particular year.

Applicable: To the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

Explanatory Note:

Net Capital Losses

Subsection 111(1.1) of the Act determines the amount that a taxpayer may deduct in respect of a net capital loss claimed under paragraph 111(1)(b). The 2000 Budget and the 2000 Economic Statement provided for the reduction of the capital gains inclusion rate from 3/4 to 2/3 and then to 1/2, respectively. This reduction in the inclusion rate gave rise to changes to the adjusting factors in subsection 111(1.1). An additional amendment is made to subsection 111(1.1) to permit the Minister of National Revenue to determine a reasonable amount of deduction in respect of net capital loss carryovers where the other rules in that subsection produce inappropriate results.

The amendment to subsection 111(1.1) applies to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

History: S. 111(1.1) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 83(1), applicable to the computation of taxable income for the 1985 and subsequent taxation years. S. 111(1.1) formerly read:

"(1.1) Notwithstanding paragraph (1)(b), where a taxpayer has claimed an amount under that paragraph for a particular taxation year in respect of the taxpayer's net capital losses, the amount that may be deducted under that paragraph in respect of those losses for that year is the lesser of

(a) the total of

(i) the amount, if any, determined under paragraph 3(b) in respect of the taxpayer for the particular year, and

(ii) where the taxpayer is an individual, the lesser of

(A) $2,000, and

(B) the taxpayer's pre-1986 capital loss balance for the particular year, and

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times \frac{B}{C}$$

where

A is the amount of a net capital loss for a taxation year (in this paragraph referred to as a 'loss year') claimed under paragraph (1)(b),

B is the fraction that would be used for the particular year under section 38 in respect of the taxpayer if the taxpayer had a capital loss for that year, and

C is the fraction required to be used under section 38 in respect of the taxpayer for the loss year."

Editorial Note: If a taxpayer's ordinary loss for a year would otherwise be deducted under paragraph 3(d) against the taxpayer's taxable capital gains for the year, and the taxpayer has a net capital loss carryforward available, the taxpayer can instead utilize the net capital loss carryforward to offset the taxable capital gains, which will have the effect of preserving the unused ordinary loss as a non-capital loss; see also amounts E and F in subsection 111(8) "non-capital loss", and paragraph 25 of IT-232R3 for an example of this scenario.

Related Sections: S. 3 Income for taxation year; s. 70(5) Capital property of a deceased taxpayer; s. 111(2) Year of death; s. 111(8), "non-capital loss".

► 111(2) ◄

(2) Year of death. Where a taxpayer dies in a taxation year, for the purpose of computing the taxpayer's taxable income for that year and the immediately preceding taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) paragraph (1)(b) shall be read as follows:

"(b) the taxpayer's net capital losses for all taxation years not claimed for the purpose of computing the taxpayer's taxable income for any other taxation year;"; and

(b) paragraph (1.1)(b) shall be read as follows:

"(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount claimed under paragraph (1)(b) in respect of the taxpayer's net capital losses for the particular year

exceeds the total of

(ii) all amounts in respect of the taxpayer's net capital losses that, using the formula in subparagraph (a)(ii), would be required to be claimed under paragraph (1)(b) for the particular year to produce the amount determined under paragraph (a) for the particular year, and

(iii) all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under section 110.6 in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for a taxation year, except to the extent that, where the particular year is the year in which the taxpayer died, the amount, if any, by which the amount determined under subparagraph (i) in respect of the taxpayer for the immediately preceding taxation year exceeds the amount so determined under subparagraph (ii)."

History: S. 111(2) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 83(1), applicable with respect to the computation of taxable income for the 1985 and subsequent taxation years. S. 111(2) formerly read as follows:

"(2) Where a taxpayer dies in a taxation year, for the purposes of computing the taxpayer's taxable income for that year and the immediately preceding taxation year, subsection (1.1) shall be read as follows:

'(1.1) Notwithstanding paragraph (1)(b), where a taxpayer has claimed an amount under that paragraph for a particular year in respect of the taxpayer's net capital losses, the amount that may be deducted under that paragraph in respect of those losses (to the extent they are not deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for any other taxation year) for that year is the total of

(a) an amount not exceeding the amount, if any, determined under paragraph 3(b) in respect of the taxpayer for the particular year, equal to the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times \frac{B}{C}$$

where

A is the net capital losses for a taxation year (in this paragraph referred to as a "loss year") claimed under paragraph (1)(b),

B is the fraction that would be used for the particular year under section 38 in respect of the taxpayer if the taxpayer had a capital loss for that year, and

C is the fraction required to be used under section 38 in respect of the taxpayer for the loss year, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount of the taxpayer's net capital losses claimed under paragraph (1)(b) for the particular year

exceeds the total of

(ii) the amount of the taxpayer's net capital losses claimed under paragraph (1)(b) that was determined under paragraph (a) for the particular year, and

(iii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the taxpayer under section 110.6 in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for a taxation year.'"

Editorial Note: Subsection 111(2) provides an exception to the general rule that net capital losses can only be deducted against taxable capital gains. The provision allows net capital losses, after they are utilized to offset taxable capital gains, and net of any capital gains exemption claimed for any taxation year, to be deducted against all forms of income in the year of an individual's death and the immediately preceding year.

► 111(3) ◄

(3) Limitation on deductibility. For the purposes of subsection (1),

(a) an amount in respect of a non-capital loss, restricted farm loss, farm loss or limited partnership loss, as the case may be, for a taxation year is deductible, and an amount in respect of a net capital loss for a taxation year may be claimed, in computing the taxable income of a taxpayer for a particular taxation year only to the extent that it exceeds the total of

(i) amounts deducted under this section in respect of that non-capital loss, restricted farm loss, farm loss or limited partnership loss in computing taxable income for taxation years preceding the particular taxation year,

(i.1) the amount that was claimed under paragraph (1)(b) in respect of that net capital loss for taxation years preceding the particular taxation year, and

(ii) amounts claimed in respect of that loss under paragraph 186(1)(c) for the year in which the loss was incurred or under paragraph 186(1)(d) for the particular taxation year and taxation years preceding the particular taxation year, and

(b) no amount is deductible in respect of a non-capital loss, net capital loss, restricted farm loss, farm loss or limited partnership loss, as the case may be, for a taxation year until

(i) in the case of a non-capital loss, the deductible non-capital losses,

(ii) in the case of a net capital loss, the deductible net capital losses,

(iii) in the case of a restricted farm loss, the deductible restricted farm losses,

(iv) in the case of a farm loss, the deductible farm losses, and

(v) in the case of a limited partnership loss, the deductible limited partnership losses, for preceding taxation years have been deducted.

History: S. 111(3)(a), all that portion preceding subparagraph (i), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 83(2), applicable with respect to the computation of taxable income for the 1985 and subsequent taxation years. S. 111(3)(a), all that portion preceding subparagraph (i), formerly read:

"(a) an amount in respect of a non-capital loss, net capital loss, restricted farm loss, farm loss or limited partnership loss, as the case may be, for a taxation year is deductible by a taxpayer in computing taxable income for a particular taxation year only to the extent that it exceeds the total of"

Editorial Note: The ordering rule in subsection 111(3) provides that losses of a particular category must be utilized in the order in which they arose (i.e. prior years' losses must be deducted first). However, there is no similar rule that dictates the order of years to which the losses must be carried forward or back.

Related Sections: S. 41(2) Determination of net gain; s. 46(4) Decrease in value of personal-use property of corporation, etc; s. 87(2.1) Non-capital losses, etc., of predecessor corporations; s. 88(1.1) Non-capital losses, etc., of subsidiary; s. 88(1.2) Net capital losses of subsidiary; s. 88(1.3) Computation of income and tax of parent; s. 111(8) Definitions; s. 245 General anti-avoidance rule.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-302R3 Losses of a corporation — The effect that acquisitions of control, amalgamations, and windings-up have on their deductibility — After January 15, 1987.

► 111(4) ◄

(4) Acquisition of control. Notwithstanding subsection (1), where, at any time (in this subsection referred to as "that time"), control of a corporation has been acquired by a person or group of persons

(a) no amount in respect of a net capital loss for a taxation year ending before that time is deductible in computing the corporation's taxable income for a taxation year ending after that time, and

(b) no amount in respect of a net capital loss for a taxation year ending after that time is deductible in computing the corporation's taxable income for a taxation year ending before that time, and where, at that time, the corporation neither became nor ceased to be exempt from tax under this Part on its taxable income,

(c) in computing the adjusted cost base to the corporation at and after that time of each capital property, other than a depreciable property, owned by the corporation immediately before that time, there shall be deducted the amount, if any, by which the adjusted cost base to the corporation of the property immediately before that time exceeds its fair market value immediately before that time,

(d) each amount required by paragraph (c) to be deducted in computing the adjusted cost base to the corporation of a property shall be deemed to be a capital loss of the corporation for the taxation year that ended immediately before that time from the disposition of the property,

(e) each capital property owned by the corporation immediately before that time (other than a property in respect of which an amount would, but for this paragraph, be required by paragraph (c) to be deducted in computing its adjusted cost base to the corporation or a depreciable property of a prescribed class to which, but for this paragraph, subsection (5.1) would apply) as is designated by the corporation in its return of income under this Part for the taxation year that ended immediately before that time or in a prescribed form filed with the Minister on or before the day that is 90 days after the day on which a notice of assessment of tax payable for the year or notification that no tax is payable for the year is mailed to the corporation, shall be deemed to have been disposed of by the corporation immediately before the time that is immediately before that time for proceeds of disposition equal to the lesser of

(i) the fair market value of the property immediately before that time, and

(ii) the greater of the adjusted cost base to the corporation of the property immediately before the disposition and such amount as is designated by the corporation in respect of the property, and shall be deemed to have been reacquired by it at that time at a cost equal to the proceeds of disposition thereof, except that, where the property is depreciable property of the corporation the capital cost of which to the corporation immediately before the disposition time exceeds those proceeds of disposition, for the purposes of sections 13 and 20 and any regulations made for the purpose of paragraph 20(1)(a),

(iii) the capital cost of the property to the corporation at that time shall be deemed to be the amount that was its capital cost immediately before the disposition, and

(iv) the excess shall be deemed to have been allowed to the corporation in respect of the property under regulations made for the purpose of paragraph 20(1)(a) in computing its income for taxation years ending before that time, and

(f) each amount that by virtue of paragraph (d) or (e) is a capital loss or gain of the corporation from a disposition of a property for the taxation year that ended immediately before that time shall, for the purposes of the definition "capital dividend account" in subsection 89(1), be deemed to be a capital loss or gain, as the case may be, of the corporation from the disposition of the property immediately before the time that a capital property of the corporation in respect of which paragraph (e) would be applicable would be deemed by that paragraph to have been disposed of by the corporation.

History: See the applications for s. 111(8), "exchange rate" and "foreign currency debt" and s. 111(12), enacted by S.C. 2009, c. 2, regarding a timely designation under s. 111(4)(e).

S. 111(4)(e) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 83(3), applicable to acquisitions of control occurring after July 13, 1990, other than acquisitions of control where the persons acquiring control were obliged on that day to acquire control under the terms of agreements in writing entered into on or before that day. S. 111(4)(e) formerly read as follows:

"(e) each capital property owned by the corporation immediately before that time, other than a property in respect of which an amount would, but for this paragraph, be required by paragraph (c) to be deducted in computing its adjusted cost base to the corporation, as is designated by the corporation in its return of income under this Part for the taxation year that ended immediately before that time or in a prescribed form filed with the Minister on or before the day that is 90 days after the day on which a notice of assessment of tax payable for the year or notification that no tax is payable for the year is mailed to the corporation, shall be deemed to have been disposed of by the corporation immediately before the time that is immediately before that time for proceeds of disposition equal to the greater of

(i) the adjusted cost base to the corporation of the property immediately before that time, and

(ii) the lesser of the fair market value of the property immediately before that time and such amount as is designated by the corporation in respect of the property and shall be deemed to have been reacquired by it at that time at a cost equal to the proceeds of disposition thereof, and"

Editorial Note: Subsection 111(4) ensures that net capital losses of a corporation cannot be carried forward or back after a change of control of the corporation. Similarly, accrued capital losses cannot be utilized beyond the change of control, owing to the "write-down" of cost to fair market value under paragraph 111(4)(c). This write-down will generate capital losses in the year ending immediately before the change of control (paragraph (d)). The corporation can elect under paragraph (e) to generate a deemed disposition of other capital property — for example, for the purpose of generating capital gains that can be offset by the capital losses triggered by the write-down. See subsection 111(5.1) regarding accrued terminal losses in respect of depreciable property.

Related Sections: S. 13(7)(f) Rules applicable; s. 53(2)(b.2) Amounts to be deducted — Non-depreciable capital property of a corporation; s. 53(4) Recomputation of adjusted cost base on transfers and deemed dispositions; s. 87(2.1) Non-capital losses, etc., of predecessor corporations; s. 107(1.1) Cost of capital interest in a trust; s. 111(5.1) Computation of undepreciated capital cost; s. 111(8) Definitions; s. 249(4) Year end on change of control; s. 256(7) Acquiring control; 256(8).

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-302R3 Losses of a corporation — The effect that acquisitions of control, amalgamations, and windings-up have on their deductibility — After January 15, 1987.

Forms: T2 SCH 6.

Tax Topics: No. 1798, Bumping Foreign Affiliate Shares under the February 27, 2004 Proposals.

Tax Profile: March 2009 — Sale of Businesses to Employees: The Leveraged Buy-Out — Part I; January 2008 — Tax Ramifications of Non-Resident Purchases of Canadian Businesses; June 2006 — Tax Ramifications of Non-Resident Purchases of Canadian Businesses; March 2004 — Loss Planning.

Tax Window Files: Elected Deemed Disposition of Property on Acquisition of Control, July 10, 1997, CRA Document No. 971585; Cost of Capital Interest in Trust, June 13, 1997, CRA Document No. 9706125; Disposition of Property to Loss Corporation, December 5, 1996, CRA Document No. 9639150.

► 111(5) ◄

(5) Idem. Where, at any time, control of a corporation has been acquired by a person or group of persons, no amount in respect of its non-capital loss or farm loss for a taxation year ending before that time is deductible by the corporation for a taxation year ending after that time and no amount in respect of its non-capital loss or farm loss for a taxation year ending after that time is deductible by the corporation for a taxation year ending before that time except that

(a) such portion of the corporation's non-capital loss or farm loss, as the case may be, for a taxation year ending before that time as may reasonably be regarded as its loss from carrying on a business and, where a business was carried on by the corporation in that year, such portion of the non-capital loss as may reasonably be regarded as being in respect of an amount deductible under paragraph 110(1)(k) in computing its taxable income for the year is deductible by the corporation for a particular taxation year ending after that time

(i) only if that business was carried on by the corporation for profit or with a reasonable expectation of profit throughout the particular year, and

(ii) only to the extent of the total of the corporation's income for the particular year from that business and, where properties were sold, leased, rented or developed or services rendered in the course of carrying on that business before that time, from any other business substantially all the income of which was derived from the sale, leasing, rental or development, as the case may be, of similar properties or the rendering of similar services; and

(b) such portion of the corporation's non-capital loss or farm loss, as the case may be, for a taxation year ending after that time as may reasonably be regarded as its loss from carrying on a business and, where a business was carried on by the corporation in that year, such portion of the non-capital loss as may reasonably be regarded as being in respect of an amount deductible under paragraph 110(1)(k) in computing its taxable income for the year is deductible by the corporation for a particular year ending before that time

(i) only if throughout the taxation year and in the particular year that business was carried on by the corporation for profit or with a reasonable expectation of profit, and

(ii) only to the extent of the corporation's income for the particular year from that business and, where properties were sold, leased, rented or developed or services rendered in the course of carrying on that business before that time, from any other business substantially all the income of which was derived from the sale, leasing, rental or development, as the case may be, of similar properties or the rendering of similar services.

Editorial Note: Subsection 111(5) prohibits the carryforward or carryback of non-capital losses and farm losses of a corporation after a change in the control of the corporation. An exception is made under the "streaming rules" under paragraphs (a) and (b), which can apply to allow the losses if the corporation continues to carry on the pre-change of control business for profit or with a reasonable expectation of profit, and generally to the extent of income from that business and similar businesses in the year in which the loss is claimed.

Related Sections: S. 10(11) Acquisition of control; s. 87(2.1) Non-capital losses, etc., of predecessor corporations; s. 111(8) Definitions; s. 249(4) Year end on change of control; s. 256(7) Acquiring control.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-302R3 Losses of a corporation — The effect that acquisitions of control, amalgamations, and windings-up have on their deductibility — After January 15, 1987. Secondary — IT-206R Separate businesses.

Advance Tax Rulings: ATR-7 Amalgamation involving losses and control.

Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 34, Loss Consolidation — Unanimous Shareholder Agreements; Issue No. 34, Sale of Tax Losses; Issue No. 34, Loss Consolidation — Provincial Tax; Issue No. 25, Refreshing Losses; Issue No. 16, Duha (Western) Printers Ltd. v. The Queen.

Tax Topics: No. 1490, Parent Corporation Receives Both ABIL and Subsidiary's Losses.

Tax Profile: March 2009 — Sale of Businesses to Employees: The Leveraged Buy-Out — Part I; March 2004 — Loss Planning.

Cases: The explosives division sold by the taxpayer was not a separate business, therefore, the taxpayer was not subject to recapture of capital cost allowance or an increased s. 14(1) income inclusion. Indicators of integration included centralized financing and credit management, centralized purchasing, and common research facilities. Du Pont Canada Inc. v. The Queen, 2001 DTC 5269 (F.C.A.), reversing 99 DTC 1132 (T.C.C.).

A corporation acquired a competitor for the purpose of eliminating competition and then amalgamated the two corporations to form the corporate taxpayer. The successor corporation was not entitled to deduct the predecessor corporation's losses since the successor did not continue to carry on any significant portion of the predecessor's business "for profit or with a reasonable expectation of profit", Garage Montplaisir Inc. v. The Queen, 2000 DTC 6216 (F.C.A.), affirming 96 DTC 6557 (F.C.T.D.) and 92 DTC 2317 (T.C.C.).

Although the parent company did not have de facto over both corporations, it did have de jure control, and that was sufficient to allow the non-capital losses to be transferred from one corporation to the other. Duha Printers (Western) Ltd., 98 DTC 6334 (S.C.C.), reversing 96 DTC 6323 (F.C.A.), which reversed 95 DTC 828 (T.C.C.).

Although its predecessor corporation's panels were used in the trailers sold by the taxpayer, they were not "similar" properties under the "substantially all" income test so that the taxpayer was not entitled to carryforward its predecessor's non-capital losses after their merger. Manac Inc. Corp. v. The Queen, 98 DTC 6352 (F.C.A.), affirming 97 DTC 1715 (T.C.C.).

► 111(5.1) ◄

(5.1) Computation of undepreciated capital cost. Where, at any time, control of a corporation (other than a corporation that at that time became or ceased to be exempt from tax under this Part on its taxable income) has been acquired by a person or group of persons and, if this Act were read without reference to subsection 13(24), the undepreciated capital cost to the corporation of depreciable property of a prescribed class immediately before that time would have exceeded the total of

(a) the fair market value of all the property of that class immediately before that time, and

(b) the amount in respect of property of that class otherwise allowed under regulations made under paragraph 20(1)(a) or deductible under subsection 20(16) in computing the corporation's income for the taxation year ending immediately before that time, the excess shall be deducted in computing the income of the corporation for the taxation year ending immediately before that time and shall be deemed to have been allowed in respect of property of that class under regulations made under paragraph 20(1)(a).

Editorial Note: Paragraph 111(4)(e) allows an elective "write-up" for depreciable property, generally where the fair market value of the property exceeds the cost amount of the property. The election could be advisable if any resulting recapture could be offset by the deduction in respect of accrued losses under subsection 111(5.1).

Related Sections: S. 111(4)(e) Acquisition of control; s. 249(4) Year end on change of control; s. 256(7) Acquiring control.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-302R3 Losses of a corporation — The effect that acquisitions of control, amalgamations, and windings-up have on their deductibility — After January 15, 1987.

► 111(5.2) ◄

(5.2) Computation of cumulative eligible capital. Where, at any time, control of a corporation (other than a corporation that at that time became or ceased to be exempt from tax under this Part on its taxable income) has been acquired by a person or group of persons and immediately before that time the corporation's cumulative eligible capital in respect of a business exceeded the total of

(a) 3/4 of the fair market value of the eligible capital property in respect of the business, and

(b) the amount otherwise deducted under paragraph 20(1)(b) in computing the corporation's income from the business for the taxation year ending immediately before that time, the excess shall be deducted under paragraph 20(1)(b) in computing the corporation's income from the business for the taxation year ending immediately before that time.

Related Sections: S. 249(4) Year end on change of control; s. 256(7) Acquiring control.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-302R3 Losses of a corporation — The effect that acquisitions of control, amalgamations, and windings-up have on their deductibility — After January 15, 1987.

► 111(5.3) ◄

(5.3) Doubtful debts and bad debts. Where, at any time, control of a corporation (other than a corporation that at that time became or ceased to be exempt from tax under this Part on its taxable income) has been acquired by a person or group of persons, no amount may be deducted under paragraph 20(1)(l) in computing the corporation's income for its taxation year ending immediately before that time and each amount that is the greatest amount that would, but for this subsection and subsection 26(2) of this Act and subsection 33(1) of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, have been deductible under paragraph 20(1)(l) in respect of a debt owing to the corporation immediately before that time shall be deemed to be a separate debt and shall, notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, be deducted as a bad debt under paragraph 20(1)(p) in computing the corporation's income for the year and the amount by which the debt exceeds that separate debt shall be deemed to be a separate debt incurred at the same time and under the same circumstances as the debt was incurred.

Related Sections: S. 12(1)(i) Bad debts recovered; s. 249(4) Year end on change of control; s. 256(7) Acquiring control.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-302R3 Losses of a corporation — The effect that acquisitions of control, amalgamations, and windings-up have on their deductibility — After January 15, 1987.

► 111(5.4) ◄

(5.4) Non-capital loss. Where, at any time, control of a corporation has been acquired by a person or persons, such portion of the corporation's non-capital loss for a taxation year ending before that time as

(a) was not deductible in computing the corporation's income for a taxation year ending before that time, and

(b) can reasonably be considered to be a non-capital loss of a subsidiary corporation (in this subsection referred to as the "former subsidiary corporation") from carrying on a particular business (in this subsection referred to as the "former subsidiary corporation's loss business") that was deemed by subsection 88(1.1) of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, as it read on November 12, 1981 to be the non-capital loss of the corporation for the taxation year of the corporation in which the former subsidiary corporation's loss year ended shall be deemed to be a non-capital loss of the corporation from carrying on the former subsidiary corporation's loss business.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-302R3 Losses of a corporation — The effect that acquisitions of control, amalgamations, and windings-up have on their deductibility — After January 15, 1987.

► 111(5.5) ◄

(5.5) Restriction. Where control of a corporation has been acquired by a person or group of persons and it may reasonably be considered that the main reason for the acquisition of control was to cause paragraph (4)(d) or subsection (5.1), (5.2) or (5.3) to apply with respect to the acquisition,

(a) that provision and paragraph (4)(e), and

(b) where that provision is paragraph (4)(d), paragraph (4)(c)

shall not apply with respect to the acquisition.

Tax Profile: March 2004 — Loss Planning.

► 111(6) ◄

(6) Limitation. For the purposes of this section and paragraph 53(1)(i), any loss of a taxpayer for a taxation year from a farming business shall, after the taxpayer disposes of the land used in that farming business and to the extent that the amount of the loss is required by paragraph 53(1)(i) to be added in computing the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the land immediately before the disposition, be deemed not to be a loss.

► 111(7) ◄

(7) Idem. For the purposes of this section, any loss of a taxpayer for a taxation year from a farming business shall, to the extent that the loss is included in the amount of any deduction permitted by section 101 in computing the taxpayer's income for any subsequent taxation year, be deemed not to be a loss of the taxpayer for the purpose of computing the taxpayer's taxable income for that subsequent year or any taxation year subsequent thereto.

► 111(7.1) ◄

(7.1) Effect of election by insurer under s. 138(9) in respect of 1975 taxation year. Where an insurer has made an election under subsection 138(9) in respect of its 1975 taxation year, for the purpose of determining the amount deductible in computing its taxable income for its 1977 and subsequent taxation years in respect of the non-capital loss, if any, for the 1972 and each subsequent taxation year ending before 1977, a portion of the non-capital loss for each such year equal to the lesser of

(a) the portion of the non-capital loss for the year (determined without reference to this subsection) that would be deductible in computing the insurer's taxable income for its 1977 taxation year if the insurer had sufficient income for that year, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) its 1975 branch accounting election deficiency exceeds

(ii) the total of

(A) the amount determined under subparagraph 138(4.1)(d)(ii) in respect of the insurer,

(B) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined under paragraph 13(22)(b) with respect to depreciable property of a prescribed class of the insurer, and

(C) the total of all amounts each of which is the portion determined under this subsection in respect of the non-capital loss for a taxation year after 1971 and preceding the year shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to have been deductible under this section in computing the insurer's taxable income for a taxation year ending before 1977.

Related Sections: S. 138(12) Definitions.

► 111(7.11) ◄

(7.11) Application of s. 138(12). The definitions in subsection 138(12) apply to subsection (7.1).

History: S. 111(7.11) was not part of the former Act.

► 111(7.2) ◄

(7.2) Non-capital loss of life insurer. Notwithstanding paragraph (1)(a), in the case of a life insurer the amount deductible in computing its taxable income for its 1978 and subsequent taxation years,

(a) in respect of its non-capital loss for each taxation year ending before 1977 shall be deemed to be nil; and

(b) in respect of its non-capital loss for its 1977 taxation year shall be deemed to be the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount referred to in subparagraph 138(4.2)(a)(iv)

exceeds the total of

(ii) the amount of the reserve determined for the purpose of subparagraph 138(4.2)(a)(i),

(iii) in any case where subparagraph 138(4.2)(a)(ii) applies, the total of amounts referred to in that subparagraph, and

(iv) in any case where subparagraph 138(4.2)(a)(iii) applies, the amount referred to in that subparagraph.

► 111(8) ◄

(8) Definitions. In this section,

"exchange rate" — "exchange rate" at any time in respect of a currency of a country other than Canada means the rate of exchange between that currency and Canadian currency quoted by the Bank of Canada at noon on the day that includes that time or, if that day is not a business day, on the day that immediately precedes that day, or a rate of exchange acceptable to the Minister;

History: S. 111(8), the definition "exchange rate" was added by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 30(1), applicable to any acquisition of control of a corporation that occurs

(a) after March 7, 2008, other than an acquisition of control that occurs before 2009 under the terms of an agreement made in writing on or before March 7, 2008; or

(b) after 2005, if the corporation so elects in writing and files the election with the Minister of National Revenue on or before the corporation's filing-due date for the corporation's taxation year that includes the day on which this Act is assented to [R.A. March 12, 2009].

If an election under paragraph (b) [above] is made by the corporation in respect of an acquisition of control, a designation under paragraph 111(4)(e) by the corporation for its taxation year that ended immediately before the acquisition of control is deemed to have been made in a timely manner if that designation is made on or before the corporation's filing-due date for its taxation year that includes the day on which this Act is assented to [R.A. March 12, 2009].

"farm loss" — "farm loss" of a taxpayer for a taxation year means the amount determined by the formula

A – C

where

A is the lesser of

(a) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's loss for the year from a farming or fishing business

exceeds

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's income for the year from a farming or fishing business, and

(b) the amount that would be the taxpayer's non-capital loss for the year if each of the amounts determined for C and D in the definition "non-capital loss" in this subsection were zero,

C is the total of all amounts by which the farm loss of the taxpayer for the year is required to be reduced because of section 80;

History: S. 111(8), the formula in the definition "farm loss" was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 19(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 111(8), the formula in the definition "farm loss" formerly read:

"A – B – C"

S. 111(8), the description of B in the definition "farm loss" was repealed by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 19(2), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 111(8), the description of B formerly read:

"B is the amount, if any, by which any amount specified by the taxpayer in the taxpayer's election for the year under subsection 110.4(2) exceeds the amount that would be the taxpayer's non-capital loss for the year if the amount determined for C in the definition 'non-capital loss' in this subsection were zero, and"

The formula in the definition "farm loss" in s. 111(8) was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 36(1), applicable to taxation years that end after February 21, 1994. That formula formerly read:

"A – B"

The description of C in the definition "farm loss" in s. 111(8) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 36(2), applicable to taxation years that end after February 21, 1994.

Related Sections: S. 111(1)(d) Farm losses.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-302R3 Losses of a corporation — The effect that acquisitions of control, amalgamations, and windings-up have on their deductibility — After January 15, 1987.

"foreign currency debt" — "foreign currency debt" means a debt obligation denominated in a currency of a country other than Canada;

History: S. 111(8), the definition "foreign currency debt" was added by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 30(1), applicable to any acquisition of control of a corporation that occurs

(a) after March 7, 2008, other than an acquisition of control that occurs before 2009 under the terms of an agreement made in writing on or before March 7, 2008; or

(b) after 2005, if the corporation so elects in writing and files the election with the Minister of National Revenue on or before the corporation's filing-due date for the corporation's taxation year that includes the day on which this Act is assented to [R.A. March 12, 2009].

If an election under paragraph (b) [above] is made by the corporation in respect of an acquisition of control, a designation under paragraph 111(4)(e) by the corporation for its taxation year that ended immediately before the acquisition of control is deemed to have been made in a timely manner if that designation is made on or before the corporation's filing-due date for its taxation year that includes the day on which this Act is assented to [R.A. March 12, 2009].

"net capital loss" — "net capital loss" of a taxpayer for a taxation year means the amount determined by the formula

A – B + C – D

where

A is the amount, if any, determined under subparagraph 3(b)(ii) in respect of the taxpayer for the year,

B is the lesser of the total determined under subparagraph 3(b)(i) in respect of the taxpayer for the year and the amount determined for A in respect of the taxpayer for the year,

C is the least of

(a) the amount of the allowable business investment losses of the taxpayer for the taxpayer's tenth preceding taxation year,

(b) the amount, if any, by which the amount of the non-capital loss of the taxpayer for the taxpayer's tenth preceding taxation year exceeds the total of all amounts in respect of that non-capital loss deducted in computing the taxpayer's taxable income or claimed by the taxpayer under paragraph 186(1)(c) or (d) for the year or for any preceding taxation year, and

(c) if the taxpayer is a corporation the control of which was acquired by a person or group of persons before the end of the year and after the end of the taxpayer's tenth preceding taxation year, nil, and

D is the total of all amounts by which the net capital loss of the taxpayer for the year is required to be reduced because of section 80;

History: S. 111(8), the description of C in the definition "net capital loss" was replaced by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 20(2), applicable in respect of losses that arise in taxation years that end after March 22, 2004, except that, for a taxation year of a taxpayer before the taxpayer's eighth taxation year that ends after that date, paragraph (c) of the description of C in the definition "net capital loss" in subsection 111(8) of the Act is to be read as follows:

"(c) where the taxpayer is a corporation the control of which was acquired by a person or group of persons before the end of the year and after the end of the taxpayer's seventh preceding taxation year, nil, and"

S. 111(8), the description of C in the definition "net capital loss" formerly read:

"C is the least of

(a) the amount of the allowable business investment losses of the taxpayer for the taxpayer's seventh preceding taxation year,

(b) the amount, if any, by which the amount of the non-capital loss of the taxpayer for the taxpayer's seventh preceding taxation year exceeds the total of all amounts in respect of that non-capital loss deducted in computing the taxpayer's taxable income or claimed by the taxpayer under paragraph 186(1)(c) or (d) for the year or for any preceding taxation year, and

(c) where the taxpayer is a corporation the control of which was acquired by a person or group of persons before the end of the year and after the end of the taxpayer's seventh preceding taxation year, nil, and"

The definition "net capital loss" in s. 111(8) was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 36(3), applicable to taxation years that end after February 21, 1994. That definition formerly read:

"'net capital loss' — 'net capital loss' of a taxpayer for a taxation year means the total of

(a) the amount determined by the formula

A – B

where

A is the amount, if any, determined under subparagraph 3(b)(ii) in respect of the taxpayer for the year, and

B is the total determined under subparagraph 3(b)(i) in respect of the taxpayer for the year, and

(b) the amount that is equal to the lesser of

(i) the amount of the allowable business investment losses of the taxpayer for the taxpayer's seventh preceding taxation year, and

(ii) the amount, if any, by which the amount of the non-capital loss of the taxpayer for the taxpayer's seventh preceding taxation year exceeds the total of amounts in respect of that non-capital loss deducted by the taxpayer in computing the taxpayer's taxable income or claimed by the taxpayer under paragraph 186(1)(c) or (d) for the year or for any preceding taxation year except that where the taxpayer is a corporation the control of which was acquired by a person or group of persons before the end of the year and after the end of the taxpayer's seventh preceding taxation year, the amount determined under this paragraph in respect of the taxpayer for the year shall be deemed to be nil;"

Related Sections: S. 111(1)(b) Net capital losses.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-302R3 Losses of a corporation — The effect that acquisitions of control, amalgamations, and windings-up have on their deductibility — After January 15, 1987.

"non-capital loss" — "non-capital loss" of a taxpayer for a taxation year means, at any time, the amount determined by the formula

(A + B) – (D + D.1 + D.2)

where

A is the amount determined by the formula

E – F

where

E is the total of all amounts each of which is (a) the taxpayer's loss for the year from an office, employment, business or property, (b) an amount deducted under paragraph (1)(b) or section 110.6, or deductible under any of paragraphs 110(1)(d) to (d.3), (f), (g), (j) and (k), section 112 and subsections 113(1) and 138(6), in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year, or (c) if that time is before the taxpayer's eleventh following taxation year, the taxpayer's allowable business investment loss for the year, and

Pending Amendment

Interest Deductibility — October 31, 2003

The description of E in the definition "non-capital loss" in subsection 111(8) of the Act is replaced by the following:

E is the total of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's loss for the year from a source that is an office, employment, business or property, the taxpayer's allowable business investment loss for the year, an amount deducted under paragraph (1)(b) or section 110.6 in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year or an amount that may be deducted under any of paragraphs 110(1)(d) to (d.3), (f), (g), (j) and (k), section 112 and subsections 113(1) and 138(6) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year, and Applicable: To taxation years that begin after 2004.

Explanatory Note:

Paragraph 3(d) and Description of "E" in the Definition of "Non-Capital Loss" in Subsection 111(8)

Both of these changes [the amendments to paragraph 3(d) and the description of "E" in the definition of "non-capital loss" in subsection 111(8)] are consequential amendments to proposed new subsection 3.1(1) of the Act, and clarify that it is only losses that are from a source that may be deducted in computing a taxpayer's income or considered to be non-capital losses under subsection 111(8) of the Act.

[Editorial Note: This amendment is part of the amendments released October 31, 2003 concerning the deductibility of interest and other expenses. Please refer to the notes accompanying proposed section 3.1.]

F is the amount determined under paragraph 3(c) in respect of the taxpayer for the year,

B is the amount, if any, determined in respect of the taxpayer for the year under section 110.5 or subparagraph 115(1)(a)(vii),

D is the amount that would be the taxpayer's farm loss for the year if the amount determined for B in the definition "farm loss" in this subsection were zero,

D.1 is the total of all amounts deducted under subsection (10) in respect of the taxpayer for the year, and

D.2 is the total of all amounts by which the non-capital loss of the taxpayer for the year is required to be reduced because of section 80;

History: S. 111(8), the portion of the definition "non-capital loss" in subsection 111(8) of the Act before the description of F was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 57(3), applicable in respect of losses that arise in the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 111(8), the portion of the definition "non-capital loss" in subsection 111(8) of the Act before the description of F formerly read:

"'non-capital loss' — 'non-capital loss' of a taxpayer for a taxation year means the amount determined by the formula

(A + B) - (D + D.1 + D.2)

where

A is the amount determined by the formula

E – F

where

E is the total of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's loss for the year from an office, employment, business or property, the taxpayer's allowable business investment loss for the year, an amount deducted under paragraph (1)(b) or section 110.6 in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year or an amount that may be deducted under any of paragraphs 110(1)(d) to (d.3), (f), (g), (j) and (k), section 112 and subsections 113(1) and 138(6) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year, and"

S. 111(8), the description of E in the definition "non-capital loss" was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 34(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years and, notwithstanding subsections 152(4) to (5) of the Act, any assessment of a taxpayer's tax, interest or penalty for any taxation year shall be made that is necessary to give effect to the amendment to the description of E in the definition "non-capital loss" in subsection 111(8). S. 111(8), the description of E in the definition "non-capital loss" formerly read:

"E is the total of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's loss for the year from an office, employment, business or property, the taxpayer's allowable business investment loss for the year, an amount deducted under paragraph (1)(b) or section 110.6 in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year or an amount that may be deducted under any of paragraphs 110(1)(d) to (d.3), (f), (j) and (k), section 112 and subsections 113(1) and 138(6) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year, and"

S. 111(8), the description of B in the definition "non-capital loss" was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 87(3), applicable after June 27, 1999. S. 111(8), the description of B in the definition "non-capital loss" formerly read:

"B is the amount, if any, determined in respect of the taxpayer for the year under section 110.5,"

S. 111(8), the description of E in the definition "non-capital loss" was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 87(2), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 111(8), the description of E in the definition "non-capital loss" formerly read:

"E is the total of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's loss for the year from an office, employment, business or property, the taxpayer's allowable business investment loss for the year, an amount deducted under paragraph (1)(b) or section 110.6 in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year or an amount that may be deducted under paragraph 110(1)(d), (d.1), (d.2), (d.3), (f), (j) or (k), section 112 or subsection 113(1) or 138(6) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year"

S. 111(8), the description of C in the definition "non-capital loss" was repealed by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 19(4), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 111(8), the description of C in the definition "non-capital loss" formerly read:

"C is any amount specified by the taxpayer in the taxpayer's election for the year under subsection 110.4(2),"

S. 111(8), the first formula in the definition "non-capital loss" was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 19(3), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 111(8), the first formula in the definition "non-capital loss" formerly read:

"(A + B) – (C + D + D.1 + D.2)"

The first formula in the definition "non-capital loss" in s. 111(8) was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 36(4), applicable to taxation years that end after February 21, 1994. That formula formerly read:

"(A + B) – (C + D + D.1)"

The description of D.2 in the definition "non-capital loss" in s. 111(8) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 36(5), applicable to taxation years that end after February 21, 1994.

The description of E in the definition of "non-capital loss" in s. 111(8) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 49(1), applicable to the 1991 and subsequent taxation years. The description of E formerly read:

"E is the total of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's loss for the year from an office, employment, business or property, the taxpayer's allowable business investment loss for the year, an amount deducted under section 110.6 or an amount deductible under paragraph 110(1)(d), (d.1), (d.2), (d.3), (f), (j) or (k), section 112 or subsection 113(1) or 138(6) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year, and"

The first formula in the definition of "non-capital loss" in s. 111(8) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VI, s. 5(1), applicable to amounts received after 1991. It formerly read:

"(A + B) – (C + D)"

The description of D.1 in the definition of "non-capital loss" in s. 111(8) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VI, s. 5(1.1), applicable to amounts received after 1991.

Related Sections: S. 3 Income for taxation year; s. 9(2) Loss; s. 38 Taxable capital gain and allowable capital loss; s. 111(1)(a) Non-capital losses. s. 248(1), "allowable business investment loss".

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-232R3 Losses — Their Deductibility in the Loss Year or in Other Years; IT-302R3 Losses of a corporation — The effect that acquisitions of control, amalgamations, and windings-up have on their deductibility — After January 15, 1987; IT-484R2 Business investment losses.

"pre-1986 capital loss balance" — "pre-1986 capital loss balance" of an individual for a particular taxation year means the amount determined by the formula

$$(A + B) - (C + D + E + E.1)$$

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined by the formula

$$F - G$$

where

F is the individual's net capital loss for a taxation year ending before 1985, and

G is the total of all amounts claimed under this section by the individual in respect of that loss in computing the individual's taxable income for taxation years preceding the particular taxation year, and

B is the amount determined by the formula

$$H - I$$

where

H is the lesser of

(a) the amount of the individual's net capital loss for the 1985 taxation year, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which the amount determined under subparagraph 3(e)(ii) of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, in respect of the individual for the 1985 taxation year exceeds the amount deductible by reason of paragraph 3(e) of that Act in computing the individual's taxable income for the 1985 taxation year, and

I is the total of all amounts claimed under this section by the individual in respect of the individual's net capital loss for the 1985 taxation year in computing the individual's taxable income for taxation years preceding the particular taxation year,

C is the total of all amounts deducted under section 110.6 in computing the individual's taxable income for taxation years that end before 1988 or after October 17, 2000,

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The description of C in the definition "pre-1986 capital loss balance" in subsection 111(8) of the Act is replaced by the following:

C is the total of all amounts deducted under section 110.6 in computing the individual's taxable income for taxation years that ended before 1988 or begin after October 17, 2000,

Applicable: To the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

Explanatory Note:

Definitions

Subsection 111(8) of the Act contains definitions that apply for the purposes of section 111.

"pre-1986 capital loss balance"

An individual's "pre-1986 capital loss balance" for a taxation year is relevant for the purpose of paragraph 111(1.1)(b) and represents the individual's unused pre-1986 capital losses that the individual can deduct, to a maximum of $2,000 per year, from income other than capital gains of the individual. The reference in the description of C in the definition to "taxation years that end before 1988 or after October 17, 2000" is corrected to refer to "taxation years that end before 1988 or begin after October 17, 2000". The amended definition is applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

D is 3/4 of the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under section 110.6 in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, preceding the particular year, that

(a) ended after 1987 and before 1990, or

(b) began after February 27, 2000 and ended before October 18, 2000,

E is 2/3 of the total of all amounts deducted under section 110.6 in computing the individual's taxable income for taxation years, preceding the particular year, that ended after 1989 and before February 28, 2000, and

E.1 is the amount determined by the formula

$$J \times (0.5/K)$$

where

J is the amount deducted by the individual under section 110.6 for a taxation year of the individual, preceding the particular year, that includes February 28, 2000 or October 17, 2000, and

K is the fraction in paragraph 38(a) that applies to the individual for the individual's taxation year referred to in the description of J.

History: S. 111(8), the portion of the definition "pre-1986 capital loss balance" after the description of B was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 87(5), applicable to taxation years that end after February 27, 2000. S. 111(8), the portion of the definition "pre-1986 capital loss balance" after the description of B formerly read:

"C is the total of all amounts deducted under section 110.6 in computing the individual's taxable income for taxation years preceding 1988,

D is 3/4 of the total of all the amounts deducted under section 110.6 in computing the individual's taxable income for taxation years preceding the particular year and ending after 1987 and before 1990, and

E is 2/3 of the total of all the amounts deducted under section 110.6 in computing the individual's taxable income for taxation years preceding the particular year and ending after 1989."

S. 111(8), the first formula in the definition "pre-1986 capital loss balance" was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 87(4), applicable to taxation years that end after February 27, 2000. S. 111(8), the first formula in the definition "pre-1986 capital loss balance" formerly read:

"(A + B) – (C + D + E)"

The description of G in the definition of "pre-1986 capital loss balance" in s. 111(8) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 83(4), applicable to the computation of taxable income for the 1985 and subsequent taxation years. It formerly read:

"G is the total of all amounts deducted by the individual under this section in respect of that loss in computing the individual's taxable income for taxation years preceding the particular taxation year,"

The description of I in the definition of "pre-1986 capital loss balance" in s. 111(8) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 83(5), applicable to the computation of taxable income for the 1985 and subsequent taxation years. It formerly read:

"I is the total of all amounts deducted by the individual under this section in respect of the individual's net capital loss for the 1985 taxation year in computing the individual's taxable income for taxation years preceding the particular taxation year,"

► 111(9) ◄

(9) Exception. In this section, a taxpayer's non-capital loss, net capital loss, restricted farm loss, farm loss and limited partnership loss for a taxation year during which the taxpayer was not resident in Canada shall be determined as if

(a) in the part of the year throughout which the taxpayer was non-resident, if section 114 applies to the taxpayer in respect of the year, and the taxpayer had no income other than income described in any of subparagraphs 115(1)(a)(i) to (vi), the taxpayer's only taxable capital gains, allowable capital losses and allowable business investment losses were from dispositions of taxable Canadian property (other than treaty-protected property) and the taxpayer's only other losses were losses from the duties of an office or employment performed by the taxpayer in Canada and businesses (other than treaty-protected businesses) carried on by the taxpayer in Canada.

(b) throughout the year, in any other case,

History: S. 111(9)(a) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 87(6), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 111(9)(a) formerly read:

"(a) throughout the portion of the year referred to in paragraph 114(b), where section 114 applies to the taxpayer in respect of the year, and"

S. 111(9), the portion after paragraph (b), was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 28(1), applicable for the purpose of computing taxable income and taxable income earned in Canada for the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 111(9), the portion after paragraph (b) formerly read:

"the taxpayer had no income other than income described in subparagraphs 115(1)(a)(i) to (vi), the taxpayer's only taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses were taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses from the disposition of taxable Canadian property and the taxpayer's only losses were allowable business investment losses and losses from duties of an office or employment performed by the taxpayer in Canada and businesses carried on by the taxpayer in Canada."

The portion of subsection 111(9) of the Act after paragraph (b) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 49(2), applicable to the 1991 and subsequent taxation years and with respect to the computation of taxable income and taxable income earned in Canada for those years. It formerly read:

"the taxpayer had no income other than income described in subparagraphs 115(1)(a)(i) to (vi), the taxpayer's only taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses were taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses from the disposition of taxable Canadian property and the taxpayer's only losses were losses from businesses carried on by the taxpayer in Canada."

Related Sections: S. 2(3) Tax payable by non-resident persons; s. 111(1)(a) Non-capital losses; s. 111(1)(b) Net capital losses; s. 111(1)(c) Restricted farm losses; s. 111(1)(d) Farm losses; s. 111(1)(e) Limited partnership losses; s. 248(1), "taxable Canadian property", "treaty-protected business", "treaty-protected property".

Tax Window Files: Losses of Non-resident, July 2, 2003, CRA Document No. 2003-0007967; Losses — Treaty-Protected Business, January 8, 2001, CRA Document No. 1999-0008185.

► 111(10) ◄

(10) Fuel tax rebate loss abatement. Where in a particular taxation year a taxpayer received an amount (in this subsection referred to as a "rebate") as a fuel tax rebate under subsection 68.4(2) or (3.1) of the Excise Tax Act, in computing the taxpayer's non-capital loss for a taxation year (in this subsection referred to as the "loss year") that is one of the 7 taxation years preceding the particular year, there shall be deducted the lesser of

(a) the amount determined by the formula

$$10(A - B) - C$$

where

A is the total of all rebates received by the taxpayer in the particular year,

B is the total of all amounts, in respect of rebates received by the taxpayer in the particular year, repaid by the taxpayer under subsection 68.4(7) of that Act, and

C is the total of all amounts, in respect of rebates received in the particular year, deducted under this subsection in computing the taxpayer's non-capital losses for other taxation years; and

(b) such amount as the taxpayer claims, not exceeding the portion of the taxpayer's non-capital loss for the loss year (determined without reference to this subsection) that would be deductible in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the particular year if the taxpayer had sufficient income for the particular year from businesses carried on by the taxpayer in the particular year.

History: S. 111(10), the portion before paragraph (b), was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 26, s. 84(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years. That part formerly read:

"(10) Fuel tax rebate loss abatement. Where, in a particular taxation year, a taxpayer received an amount (in this subsection referred to as a 'rebate') as a fuel tax rebate under subsection 68.4(2) of the Excise Tax Act, in computing the amount of the taxpayer's non-capital loss for a taxation year (in this subsection referred to as the 'loss year') that is one of the 7 taxation years preceding the particular year, there shall be deducted the lesser of

(a) the amount, if any, by which

(i) 10 times the amount, if any, by which

(A) the total of all rebates received by the taxpayer in the particular year

exceeds

(B) the total of all amounts, in respect of rebates received by the taxpayer in the particular year, repaid by the taxpayer under subsection 8.4(7) of that Act

exceeds

(ii) the total of all amounts, in respect of rebates received in the particular year, deducted under this subsection in computing the taxpayer's non-capital losses for other taxation years, and"

S. 111(10) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VI, s. 5(2), applicable with respect to amounts received after 1991. S. 111(10) was s. 111(9) in the former Act.

► 111(11) ◄

(11) Fuel tax rebate — partnerships. Where a taxpayer was a member of a partnership at any time in a fiscal period of the partnership during which it received a fuel tax rebate under subsection 68.4(2), (3) or (3.1) of the Excise Tax Act, the taxpayer is deemed

(a) to have received at that time as a rebate under subsection 68.4(2), (3) or (3.1), as the case may be, of that Act an amount equal to that proportion of the amount of the rebate received by the partnership that the member's share of the partnership's income or loss for that fiscal period is of the whole of that income or loss, determined without reference to any rebate under section 68.4 of that Act; and

(b) to have paid as a repayment under subsection 68.4(7) of that Act an amount equal to that proportion of all amounts repaid under subsection 68.4(7) of that Act in respect of the rebate that the member's share of the partnership's income or loss for that fiscal period is of the whole of that income or loss, determined without reference to any rebate under section 68.4 of that Act.

History: S. 111(11), the portion before paragraph (b), was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 26, s. 84(2), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years. That part formerly read:

"(11) Idem — partnerships. Where a taxpayer was a member of a partnership at any time in a fiscal period during which the partnership received a fuel tax rebate under subsection 68.4(2) or (3) of the Excise Tax Act, the taxpayer is deemed

(a) to have received at that time as a rebate under subsection 68.4(2) or (3), as the case may be, of that Act an amount equal to that proportion of the amount of the rebate received by the partnership that the member's share of the partnership's income or loss for that fiscal period is of the whole of that income or loss, determined without reference to any rebate under section 68.4 of that Act; and"

S. 111(11) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VI, s. 5(2), applicable with respect to amounts received after 1991. S. 111(11) was s. 111(10) in the former Act.

► 111(12) ◄

(12) Foreign currency debt on acquisition of control. For the purposes of subsection (4), if at any time a corporation owes a foreign currency debt in respect of which the corporation would have had, if the foreign currency debt had been repaid at that time, a capital loss or gain, the corporation is deemed to own at the time (in this subsection referred to as the "measurement time") that is immediately before that time a property

(a) the adjusted cost base of which at the measurement time is the amount determined by the formula

$$A + B - C$$

where

A is the amount of principal owed by the corporation under the foreign currency debt at the measurement time, calculated, for greater certainty, using the exchange rate applicable at the measurement time,

B is the portion of any gain, previously recognized in respect of the foreign currency debt because of this section, that is reasonably attributable to the amount described in A, and

C is the portion of any capital loss previously recognized in respect of the foreign currency debt because of this section, that is reasonably attributable to the amount described in A; and (b) the fair market value of which is the amount that would be the amount of the principal owed by the corporation under the foreign currency debt at the measurement time if that amount were calculated using the exchange rate applicable at the time of the original borrowing.

History: S. 111(12) was added by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 30(2), applicable to any acquisition of control of a corporation that occurs

(a) after March 7, 2008, other than an acquisition of control that occurs before 2009 under the terms of an agreement made in writing on or before March 7, 2008; or

(b) after 2005, if the corporation so elects in writing and files the election with the Minister of National Revenue on or before the corporation's filing-due date for the corporation's taxation year that includes the day on which this Act is assented to [R.A. March 12, 2009].

If an election under paragraph (b) [above] is made by the corporation in respect of an acquisition of control, a designation under paragraph 111(4)(e) by the corporation for its taxation year that ended immediately before the acquisition of control is deemed to have been made in a timely manner if that designation is made on or before the corporation's filing-due date for its taxation year that includes the day on which this Act is assented to [R.A. March 12, 2009].

Editorial Note: Subsection 111(12) provides that a foreign currency debt owed by a corporation at any time that would otherwise generate a capital gain or loss if repaid at that time — namely, a foreign currency capital gain or loss — is deemed to a property owned by the corporation for the purposes of the accrued loss write-down rules of subsection 111(4) that apply upon an acquisition of control of the corporation. Accordingly, a foreign currency debt with an accrued loss will be subject to the write-down rule, and the loss will be realized by the corporation in its taxation year ending immediately before the acquisition of control. Note that the election in paragraph 111(4)(e) can apply to a foreign currency debt obligation of the corporation with an accrued foreign exchange gain immediately before the acquisition of control.

Related Sections: S. 40(10) Application; s. 40(11) Gain or loss on foreign currency debt; s. 111(4) Acquisition of control; s. 111(8), "exchange rate", "foreign currency debt".

SECTION 111.1: Order of applying provisions.

In computing an individual's taxable income for a taxation year, the provisions of this Division shall be applied in the following order: sections 110, 110.2, 111, 110.6 and 110.7.

History: S. 111.1 was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 20(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years.

"S. 111.1. Order of applying provisions. In computing the taxable income of an individual for a taxation year, the provisions of this Division shall be applied in the following order: subsection 110.4(2) and sections 110, 111, 110.6 and 110.7."

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-523 Order of provisions applicable in computing an individual's taxable income and tax payable. Secondary — IT-232R3 Losses — Their deductibility in the loss year or in other years.

Advance Tax Rulings: ATR-27 Exchange and acquisition of interests in capital properties through rollovers and winding-up ("Butterfly"); ATR-32 Roll-over of fixed assets from Opco into Holdco.

SECTION 112:

► 112(1) ◄

(1) Deduction of taxable dividends received by corporation resident in Canada. Where a corporation in a taxation year has received a taxable dividend from

(a) a taxable Canadian corporation, or

(b) a corporation resident in Canada (other than a non-resident-owned investment corporation or a corporation exempt from tax under this Part) and controlled by it, an amount equal to the dividend may be deducted from the income of the receiving corporation for the year for the purpose of computing its taxable income.

Related Sections: S. 112(2.1) Where no deduction permitted; s. 112(2.2) Guaranteed shares; s. 138(6) Deduction for dividends from taxable corporations; s. 186(1) Tax on assessable dividends; s. 192(1) Corporation to pay tax.
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-98R2 Investment corporations [Archived by the CRA]; IT-232R3 Losses — Their deductibility in the loss year or in other years; IT-269R4 Part IV tax on taxable dividends received by a private corporation or a subject corporation; IT-524 Trusts — Flow-through of taxable dividends to a beneficiary — After 1987.
Information Circulars: IC 88-2 General anti-avoidance rule — Section 245 of the Income Tax Act (para. 13).
Advance Tax Rulings: ATR-16 Inter-company dividends and interest expense; ATR-18 Term preferred shares; ATR-27 Exchange and acquisition of interests in capital properties through rollovers and winding-up ("Butterfly"); ATR-32 Roll-over of fixed assets from Opco into Holdco; ATR-35 Partitioning of assets to get specific ownership — "Butterfly"; ATR-58 Divisive reorganization.
Tax Profile: October 2004 — Taxation of Dividends: A Survey in the Context of Private Corporations and Their Shareholders.

► 112(2) ◄

(2) Dividends received from non-resident corporation. Where a taxpayer that is a corporation has, in a taxation year, received a dividend from a corporation (other than a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer) that was taxable under subsection 2(3) for the year and that has, throughout the period from June 18, 1971 to the time when the dividend was received, carried on a business in Canada through a permanent establishment as defined by regulation, an amount equal to that proportion of the dividend that the paying corporation's taxable income earned in Canada for the immediately preceding year is of the whole of the amount that its taxable income for that year would have been if it had been resident in Canada throughout that year, may be deducted from the income of the receiving corporation for the taxation year for the purpose of computing its taxable income.

Related Sections: S. 55(2) Deemed proceeds or capital gain; s. 95(1), "foreign affiliate"; s. 112(2.1) Where no deduction permitted; s. 112(2.2) Guaranteed shares; s. 247(1) Transfer pricing — definitions.
Regulations: Part LI; 400(2); 8201.

► 112(2.1) ◄

(2.1) Where no deduction permitted. No deduction may be made under subsection (1) or (2) in computing the taxable income of a specified financial institution in respect of a dividend received by it on a share that was, at the time the dividend was paid, a term preferred share, other than a dividend paid on a share of the capital stock of a corporation that was not acquired in the ordinary course of the business carried on by the institution, and for the purposes of this subsection, where a restricted financial institution received the dividend on a share of the capital stock of a mutual fund corporation or an investment corporation at any time after that mutual fund corporation or investment corporation has elected pursuant to subsection 131(10) not to be a restricted financial institution, the share shall be deemed to be a term preferred share acquired in the ordinary course of business.

Editorial Note: This provision, which may deny normal deductions for intercorporate dividends, applies to a specified financial institution ("SFI") which acquires a term preferred share (both terms being defined in subsection 248(1)) outside the ordinary course of business. An SFI includes a corporation whose principal business is arm's length money lending and/or purchasing of debt obligations, as well as related corporations. Because of this surprisingly wide definition, it may be necessary to rely on the outside-the-ordinary-course-of-business exception, a concept on which there has been comparatively little authority in Canadian tax law.

Related Sections: S. 191(4) Deemed dividends; s. 248(1), "amount", "term preferred share"; s. 248(14) Related corporations; s. 258(2) Deemed dividend on term preferred share.
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-52R4 Income bonds and income debentures [Archived by the CRA].
Advance Tax Rulings: ATR-10 Issue of term preferred shares; ATR-16 Inter-company dividends and interest expense; ATR-18 Term preferred shares.
Tax Profile: October 2004 — Taxation of Dividends: A Survey in the Context of Private Corporations and Their Shareholders.
Canadian Tax Foundation: Moskowitz, "The Preferred Share Rules: Yes, They Can Apply to You!", 1997 Conference Report, 9:1.
Cases: The taxpayer acquired preferred shares that included the right to convert to common shares at a ratio determined at the time of conversion. The conversion right did not constitute a "form of guarantee, security or similar indemnity or covenant". Therefore the shares were not "term preferred shares" and the taxpayer was entitled to deduct the dividends received thereon. The Queen v. Citibank Canada, 2002 DTC 6876 (F.C.A.), affirming 2001 DTC 111 (T.C.C.).

The taxpayer's philosophy had been to acquire investments in ordinary shares in order to perform what it saw to be its role as an active partner in the management of a limited number of development businesses. The term preferred shares in issue were acquired upon the conversion of its original debenture holding. This was an exceptional situation not occurring within the "ordinary course" of its business. Société d'Investissement Desjardins v. M.N.R., 91 DTC 373 (T.C.C.), 393.

► 112(2.2) ◄

(2.2) Guaranteed shares. No deduction may be made under subsection (1), (2) or 138(6) in computing the taxable income of a particular corporation in respect of a dividend received on a share of the capital stock of a corporation that was issued after 8:00 p.m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, June 18, 1987 where

(a) a person or partnership (in this subsection and subsection (2.21) referred to as the "guarantor") that is a specified financial institution or a specified person in relation to any such institution, but that is not the issuer of the share or an individual other than a trust, is, at or immediately before the time the dividend is paid, obligated, either absolutely or contingently and either immediately or in the future, to effect any undertaking (in this subsection and subsections (2.21) and (2.22) referred to as a "guarantee agreement"), including any guarantee, covenant or agreement to purchase or repurchase the share and including the lending of funds to or the placing of amounts on deposit with, or on behalf of, the particular corporation or any specified person in relation to the particular corporation given to ensure that

(i) any loss that the particular corporation or a specified person in relation to the particular corporation may sustain by reason of the ownership, holding or disposition of the share or any other property is limited in any respect, or

(ii) the particular corporation or a specified person in relation to the particular corporation will derive earnings by reason of the ownership, holding or disposition of the share or any other property, and (b) the guarantee agreement was given as part of a transaction or event or a series of transactions or events that included the issuance of the share.

History: S. 112(2.2) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 88(1), applicable in respect of dividends received after 1998. S. 112(2.2) formerly read:

"(2.2) Idem. No deduction may be made under subsection (1), (2) or 138(6) in computing the taxable income of a particular corporation in respect of a dividend received on a share of the capital stock of a corporation that was issued after 8:00 p.m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, June 18, 1987 where a person or partnership (other than the issuer of the share or an individual other than a trust) that is a specified financial institution or a specified person in relation to any such institution was, at or immediately before the time the dividend was paid, obligated, either absolutely or contingently and either immediately or in the future, to effect any undertaking (in this subsection referred to as a 'guarantee agreement'), including any guarantee, covenant or agreement to purchase or repurchase the share and including the lending of funds to or the placing of amounts on deposit with, or on behalf of, the particular corporation or any specified person in relation to the particular corporation given to ensure that

(a) any loss that the particular corporation or a specified person in relation to the particular corporation may sustain by reason of the ownership, holding or disposition of the share or any other property is limited in any respect, or

(b) the particular corporation or a specified person in relation to the particular corporation will derive earnings by reason of the ownership, holding or disposition of the share or any other property, and the guarantee agreement was given as part of a transaction or event or a series of transactions or events that included the issuance of the share, except that this subsection does not apply to a dividend received on

(c) a share that was at the time the dividend was received a share described in paragraph (e) of the definition 'term preferred share' in subsection 248(1) during the applicable time period referred to in that paragraph,

(d) a grandfathered share, a taxable preferred share issued before December 16, 1987 or a prescribed share, or

(e) a taxable preferred share issued after December 15, 1987 and of a class of the capital stock of a corporation that is listed on a prescribed stock exchange where all guarantee agreements in respect of the share were given by the issuer of the share, by one or more persons that would be related to the issuer if this Act were read without reference to paragraph 251(5)(b) or by the issuer and one or more such persons unless at the time the dividend is received the shareholder or the shareholder and specified persons in relation to the shareholder receive dividends in respect of more than 10 per cent of the issued and outstanding shares to which the guarantee agreement applies,

and for the purposes of this subsection

(f) where a guarantee agreement in respect of a share is given at any particular time after 8:00 p.m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, June 18, 1987, otherwise than pursuant to a written arrangement to do so entered into before 8:00 p.m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, June 18, 1987, the share shall be deemed to have been issued at the particular time and the guarantee agreement shall be deemed to have been given as part of a series of transactions that included the issuance of the share, and

(g) 'specified person' has the meaning assigned by paragraph (h) of the definition 'taxable preferred share' in subsection 248(1)."

Editorial Note: This provision, which may deny normal deductions for intercorporate dividends, applies where, as part of the series of transactions involving the issuance of shares, a specified financial institution ("SFI") or a "specified person" in relation thereto enters into certain arrangements (referred to as "guarantee agreements") to ensure earnings or limit losses in respect thereof. An SFI, per subsection 248(1), includes a corporation whose principal business is arm's length money lending and/or purchasing of debt obligations, as well as related corporations. "Specified person" (per paragraph (h) of the taxable preferred share definition in subsection 248(1)) includes a person who is non-arm's length with the SFI or with certain associated partnerships or trusts. An exclusion will apply where the share and guarantee agreement are acquired/given in the ordinary course of business and the issuer is related to the particular corporation.

Related Sections: S. 84(4.3) Deemed dividend on guaranteed share; s. 87(4.2) Exchanged shares — amalgamations after November 27, 1986; s. 112(2.21) Exceptions; s. 112(2.22) Interpretation; s. 187.1 Definition of "excepted dividend"; s. 191(1), "private holding corporation"; s. 248(1), "amount"; "specified financial institution"; s. 248(10) Series of transactions; s. 248(14) Related corporations; s. 258(3) Deemed interest on preferred shares; s. 258(5) Deemed interest on certain shares.

Regulations: 3200; 6201(3); 6201(8).

Advance Tax Rulings: ATR-16 Inter-company dividends and interest expense.

Tax Profile: October 2004 — Taxation of Dividends: A Survey in the Context of Private Corporations and Their Shareholders.

► 112(2.21) ◄

(2.21) Exceptions. Subsection (2.2) does not apply to a dividend received by a particular corporation on

(a) a share that is at the time the dividend is received a share described in paragraph (e) of the definition "term preferred share" in subsection 248(1);

(b) a grandfathered share, a taxable preferred share issued before December 16, 1987 or a prescribed share;

(c) a taxable preferred share issued after December 15, 1987 and of a class of the capital stock of a corporation that is listed on a designated stock exchange where all guarantee agreements in respect of the share were given by one or more of the issuer of the share and persons that are related (otherwise than because of a right referred to in paragraph 251(5)(b)) to the issuer unless, at the time the dividend is paid to the particular corporation, dividends in respect of more than 10 per cent of the issued and outstanding shares to which the guarantee agreement applies are paid to the particular corporation or the particular corporation and specified persons in relation to the particular corporation; or

(d) a share

(i) that was not acquired by the particular corporation in the ordinary course of its business,

(ii) in respect of which the guarantee agreement was not given in the ordinary course of the guarantor's business, and

(iii) the issuer of which is, at the time the dividend is paid, related (otherwise than because of a right referred to in paragraph 251(5)(b)) to both the particular corporation and the guarantor.

History: S. 112(2.21)(c) was amended by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 68(2), by replacing "prescribed stock exchange" with "designated stock exchange", applicable on and after December 14, 2007 [the day on which this Act is assented to].

S. 112(2.21) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 88(1), applicable in respect of dividends received after 1998.

Related Sections: S. 248(1), "grandfathered share".

► 112(2.22) ◄

(2.22) Interpretation. For the purposes of subsections (2.2) and (2.21),

(a) where a guarantee agreement in respect of a share is given at any particular time after 8:00 p.m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, June 18, 1987, otherwise than under a written arrangement to do so entered into before 8:00 p.m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, June 18, 1987, the share is deemed to have been issued at the particular time and the guarantee agreement is deemed to have been given as part of a series of transactions that included the issuance of the share; and

(b) "specified person" has the meaning assigned by paragraph (h) of the definition "taxable preferred share" in subsection 248(1).

History: S. 112(2.22) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 88(1), applicable in respect of dividends received after 1998.

► 112(2.3) ◄

(2.3) Idem. No deduction may be made under subsection (1) or (2) or 138(6) in computing the taxable income of a particular corporation in respect of a dividend received on a share of the capital stock of a corporation as part of a dividend rental arrangement of the particular corporation.

Editorial Note: This provision, which may deny normal deductions for intercorporate dividends, applies to a "dividend rental arrangement". Per subsection 248(1), this includes an arrangement where it can reasonably be considered that the main reason for entering into the arrangement was to enable the person to receive a dividend, and under the arrangement someone other than that person bears the risk of loss or enjoys the opportunity for gain or profit with respect to the share in any material respect. This surprisingly wide definition can potentially apply to many situations where there is short-lived ownership of a share on which dividends are received.

Related Sections: S. 248(1), "dividend rental arrangement".
Tax Profile: October 2004 — Taxation of Dividends: A Survey in the Context of Private Corporations and Their Shareholders.

► 112(2.4) ◄

(2.4) Where no deduction permitted. No deduction may be made under subsection (1) or (2) or subsection 138(6) in computing the taxable income of a particular corporation in respect of a dividend received on a share (in this subsection referred to as the "subject share"), other than an exempt share, of the capital stock of another corporation where

(a) any person or partnership was obligated, either absolutely or contingently, to effect an undertaking, including any guarantee, covenant or agreement to purchase or repurchase the subject share, under which an investor is entitled, either immediately or in the future, to receive or obtain any amount or benefit for the purpose of reducing the impact, in whole or in part, of any loss that an investor may sustain by virtue of the ownership, holding or disposition of the subject share, and any property is used, in whole or in part, either directly or indirectly in any manner whatever, to secure the undertaking; or

(b) the consideration for which the subject share was issued or any other property received, either directly or indirectly, by an issuer from an investor, or any property substituted therefor, is or includes

(i) an obligation of an investor to make payments that are required to be included, in whole or in part, in computing the income of the issuer, other than an obligation of a corporation that, immediately before the subject share was issued, would be related to the corporation that issued the subject share if this Act were read without reference to paragraph 251(5)(b), or

(ii) any right to receive payments that are required to be included, in whole or in part, in computing the income of the issuer where that right is held on condition that it or property substituted therefor may revert or pass to an investor or a person or partnership to be determined by an investor, where that obligation or right was acquired by the issuer as part of a transaction or event or a series of transactions or events that included the issuance or acquisition of the subject share, or a share for which the subject share was substituted.

History: Subparagraph 112(2.4)(b)(i) of the Act was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 84(1), applicable after 5:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, November 27, 1986. Subparagraph 112(2.4)(b)(i) formerly read:

"(i) an obligation of an investor to make payments that are required to be included, in whole or in part, in computing the income of the issuer, other than an obligation of a corporation, that immediately before the subject share was issued, would be related to the corporation that issued the subject share if this Act were read without reference to paragraph 251(5)(b), or"

Editorial Note: This provision, which may deny normal deductions for intercorporate dividends, is directed against arrangements designed to protect share investments in corporations with undeducted balances (e.g., where an investor corporation injects investment income into a "Lossco", and expects to receive tax-free dividends on shares taken back from the Lossco/issuer). It is therefore reminiscent of subsection 69(11).

The provision may apply where the investor may be entitled to obtain an amount or benefit from the issuer or a third party for the purpose of reducing the impact of any loss that it may sustain from the shares (including any guarantee, covenant or agreement to purchase the share), and the undertaking is secured (see paragraph (a)). Alternatively, subsection 112(2.4) may apply where (as part of the series involving the issuance or acquisition of the share or substituted share) consideration for the share includes either an obligation of an investor to make payments included in the issuer's income, or the right to receive payments included in the issuer's income with reversionary rights relating to the investor (see paragraph (b)).

Per 112(2.5), the denial will apply only where the share was issued in a transaction that enabled any corporation (usually the issuer) to earn "investment income" or "substituted" income, and as a result, the taxes of the corporation were lower than if this were its only income (e.g., it did not have loss balances).

Related Sections: S. 69(11) Deemed proceeds of disposition; s. 112(2.5)–s. 112(2.9); s. 258(5) Deemed interest on certain shares.
Tax Profile: October 2004 — Taxation of Dividends: A Survey in the Context of Private Corporations and Their Shareholders.

► 112(2.5) ◄

(2.5) Application of s. (2.4). Subsection (2.4) applies only in respect of a dividend on a share where, having regard to all the circumstances, it may reasonably be considered that the share was issued or acquired as part of a transaction or event or a series of transactions or events that enabled any corporation to earn investment income, or any income substituted therefor, and, as a result, the amount of its taxes payable under this Act for a taxation year is less than the amount that its taxes payable under this Act would be for the year if that investment income were the only income of the corporation for the year and all other taxation years and no amount were deductible under subsections 127(5) and 127.2(1) in computing its taxes payable under this Act.

► 112(2.6) ◄

(2.6) Definitions. For the purposes of this subsection and subsection (2.4),

"exempt share" — "exempt share" means

(a) a prescribed share,

(b) a share of the capital stock of a corporation issued before 5:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, November 27, 1986, other than a share held at that time

(i) by the issuer, or

(ii) by any person or partnership where the issuer may become entitled to receive any amount after that time by way of subscription proceeds or contribution of capital with respect to that share pursuant to an agreement made before that time, or

(c) a share that was, at the time the dividend referred to in subsection (2.4) was received, a share described in paragraph (e) of the definition "term preferred share" in subsection 248(1) during the applicable period referred to in that paragraph;

History: S. 112(2.6), the definition of "exempt share", was amended to add paragraph (c), by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 51(1), applicable after December 21, 1992.

"investor" — "investor" means the particular corporation referred to in subsection (2.4) and a person with whom that corporation does not deal at arm's length and any partnership or trust of which that corporation, or a person with whom that corporation does not deal at arm's length, is a member or beneficiary, but does not include the other corporation referred to in that subsection;

"issuer" — "issuer" means the other corporation referred to in subsection (2.4) and a person with whom that corporation does not deal at arm's length and any partnership or trust of which that corporation, or a person with whom that corporation does not deal at arm's length, is a member or beneficiary, but does not include the particular corporation referred to in that subsection.

► 112(2.7) ◄

(2.7) Change in agreement or condition. For the purposes of the definition "exempt share" in subsection (2.6), where at any time after 5:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, November 27, 1986 the terms or conditions of a share of the capital stock of a corporation have been changed or any agreement in respect of the share has been changed or entered into by the corporation, the share shall be deemed to have been issued at that time.

► 112(2.8) ◄

(2.8) Loss sustained by investor. For the purposes of paragraph (2.4)(a), any loss that an investor may sustain by virtue of the ownership, holding or disposition of the subject share referred to in that paragraph shall be deemed to include any loss with respect to an obligation or share that was issued or acquired as part of a transaction or event or a series of transactions or events that included the issuance or acquisition of the subject share, or a share for which the subject share was substituted.

► 112(2.9) ◄

(2.9) Related corporations. For the purposes of subparagraph (2.4)(b)(i), where it may reasonably be considered having regard to all the circumstances that a corporation has become related to any other corporation for the purpose of avoiding any limitation on the deduction of a dividend under subsection (1), (2) or 138(6), the corporation shall be deemed not to be related to the other corporation.

Advance Tax Rulings: ATR-58 Divisive reorganization.

► 112(3) ◄

(3) Loss on share that is capital property. Subject to subsections (5.5) and (5.6), the amount of any loss of a taxpayer (other than a trust) from the disposition of a share that is capital property of the taxpayer (other than a share that is property of a partnership) is deemed to be the amount of the loss determined without reference to this subsection minus,

(a) where the taxpayer is an individual, the lesser of

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is a dividend received by the taxpayer on the share in respect of which an election was made under subsection 83(2) where subsection 83(2.1) does not deem the dividend to be a taxable dividend, and

(ii) the loss determined without reference to this subsection minus all taxable dividends received by the taxpayer on the share; and

(b) where the taxpayer is a corporation, the total of all amounts received by the taxpayer on the share each of which is

(i) a taxable dividend, to the extent of the amount of the dividend that was deductible under this section or subsection 115(1) or 138(6) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada for any taxation year,

(ii) a dividend in respect of which an election was made under subsection 83(2) where subsection 83(2.1) does not deem the dividend to be a taxable dividend, or

(iii) a life insurance capital dividend.

History: Subsections 112(3) to (3.32) were amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(1). Under S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(11), as subsequently amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 251(1), effective for the 2000 and subsequent taxation years, subsections 112(3) to (3.32) apply to dispositions that occur after April 26, 1995 other than

(a) a disposition that occurs pursuant to an agreement in writing made before April 27, 1995;

(b) a disposition of a share of the capital stock of a corporation that is made to the corporation if

(i) on April 26, 1995 the share was owned by an individual (other than a trust) or by a particular trust under which an individual (other than a trust) was a beneficiary,

(ii) on April 26, 1995 a corporation, or a partnership of which a corporation is a member, was a beneficiary of a life insurance policy that insured the life of the individual or the individual's spouse,

(iii) it was reasonable to conclude on April 26, 1995 that a main purpose of the life insurance policy was to fund, directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, a redemption, acquisition or cancellation of the share by the corporation that issued the share, and

(iv) the disposition is made by

(A) the individual or the individual's spouse or common-law partner,

(B) the estate of the individual or of the individual's spouse or common-law partner within the estate's first taxation year,

(C) the particular trust where it is a post-1971 spousal or common-law partner trust or a trust described in paragraph 104(4)(a.1) of the Income Tax Act, the individual's spouse or common-law partner, as the case may be, is the beneficiary referred to in subparagraph (i) and the disposition occurs before the end of the trust's third taxation year that begins after the death of the individual's spouse or common-law partner, as the case may be, or

(D) a trust described in paragraph 73(1.01)(c) of that Act created by the individual, or a trust described in paragraph 70(6)(b) of that Act created by the individual's will in respect of the individual's spouse or common-law partner, before the end of the trust's third taxation year that begins after the death of the individual or the individual's spouse or common-law partner, as the case may be;

(c) a disposition of a share of the capital stock of a corporation owned by an individual on April 26, 1995 that was made by the individual's estate before 1997;

(d) a disposition of a share of the capital stock of a corporation owned by an estate on April 26, 1995, the first taxation year of which ended after that day, that was made by the estate before 1997; or

(e) a disposition of a share of the capital stock of a corporation owned by an individual on April 26, 1995 where the individual is a trust described in paragraph 104(4)(a) or (a.1) of the Act in respect of a spouse, that was made by the trust after the spouse's death and before 1997.

Subsection 131(12) of S.C. 1998, c. 19 provides the following: For the purposes of paragraph (11)(b) [(b) above] and this subsection, a share of the capital stock of a corporation acquired in exchange for another share in a transaction to which section 51, 85, 86 or 87 of the Act applies is deemed to be the same share as the other share.

Subsection 251(2) of S.C. 2001, c. 17 provides that:

(a) In respect of the 1998 and 1999 taxation years, where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998 or 1999 taxation year jointly elect under section 144 of the Modernization of Benefits and Obligations Act [S.C. 2000, c. 12] to have sections 130 to 142 of that Act apply, if applicable, to the 1998 or 1999 taxation year, subparagraph 131(11)(b)(iv) of the Income Tax Amendments Act, 1997 [S.C. 1998, c. 19], reproduced above, shall be read as follows for the applicable year:

"(iv) the disposition is made by

(A) the individual or the individual's spouse or common-law partner,

(B) the estate of the individual or of the individual's spouse or common-law partner within the estate's first taxation year,

(C) the particular trust where it is a trust described in paragraph 104(4)(a) or (a.1) of the Income Tax Act in respect of a spouse or common-law partner, the spouse or common-law partner is the beneficiary referred to in subparagraph (i) and the disposition occurs before the end of the trust's third taxation year that begins after the death of the spouse or common-law partner, or

(D) a trust described in paragraph 73(1)(c) of that Act created by the individual in respect of the individual's spouse or common-law partner, or a trust described in paragraph 70(6)(b) of that Act created by the individual's will in respect of the individual's spouse or common-law partner, before the end of the trust's third taxation year that begins after the death of the spouse or common-law partner;"

(b) In respect of the 2000 taxation year, where a joint election has not been filed by the taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the year 2000 to have sections 130 to 142 of the Modernization of Benefits and Obligations Act [S.C. 2000, c. 12] apply to the year 2000, subparagraph 131(11)(b)(iv) of the Income Tax Amendments Act, 1997 [S.C. 1998, c. 19], reproduced above, shall be read as follows for that year, namely;

"(iv) the disposition is made by

(A) the individual or the individual's spouse,

(B) the estate of the individual or of the individual's spouse within the estate's first taxation year,

(C) the particular trust where it is a post-1971 spousal or common-law partner trust or a trust described in paragraph 104(4)(a.1) of the Income Tax Act, the individual or the individual's spouse, as the case may be, is the beneficiary referred to in subparagraph (i) and the disposition occurs before the end of the trust's third taxation year that begins after the death of the individual or the individual's spouse, as the case may be, or

(D) a trust described in paragraph 73(1.01)(c) of that Act created by the individual, or a trust described in paragraph 70(6)(b) of that Act created by the individual's will in respect of the individual's spouse, before the end of the trust's third taxation year that begins after the death of the individual or the individual's spouse, as the case may be;"

Subsection 131(11) of S.C. 1998, c. 19, reproduced above, formerly read as follows:

"(a) a disposition that occurs pursuant to an agreement in writing made before April 27, 1995;

(b) a disposition of a share of the capital stock of a corporation that is made to the corporation if

(i) on April 26, 1995 the share was owned by an individual (other than a trust) or by a particular trust under which an individual (other than a trust) was a beneficiary,

(ii) on April 26, 1995 a corporation, or a partnership of which a corporation is a member, was a beneficiary of a life insurance policy that insured the life of the individual or the individual's spouse,

(iii) it was reasonable to conclude on April 26, 1995 that a main purpose of the life insurance policy was to fund, directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, a redemption, acquisition or cancellation of the share by the corporation that issued the share, and

(iv) the disposition is made by

(A) the individual or the individual's spouse,

(B) the estate of the individual or of the individual's spouse within the estate's first taxation year,

(C) the particular trust where it is a trust described in paragraph 104(4)(a) or (a.1) of the Act in respect of a spouse, the spouse is the beneficiary referred to in subparagraph (i) and the disposition occurs before the end of the trust's third taxation year that begins after the spouse's death, or

(D) a trust described in paragraph 73(1)(c) of the Act created by the individual in respect of the individual's spouse, or a trust described in paragraph 70(6)(b) of the Act created by the individual's will in respect of the individual's spouse, before the end of the trust's third taxation year that begins after the spouse's death;

(c) a disposition of a share of the capital stock of a corporation owned by an individual on April 26, 1995 that was made by the individual's estate before 1997;

(d) a disposition of a share of the capital stock of a corporation owned by an estate on April 26, 1995, the first taxation year of which ended after that day, that was made by the estate before 1997; or

(e) a disposition of a share of the capital stock of a corporation owned by an individual on April 26, 1995 where the individual is a trust described in paragraph 104(4)(a) or (a.1) of the Act in respect of a spouse, that was made by the trust after the spouse's death and before 1997."

S. 112(3) formerly read:

"(3) Loss on share that is capital property. Subject to subsections (5.5) and (5.6), where a corporation owns a share that is a capital property and receives a taxable dividend, a capital dividend or a life insurance capital dividend in respect of that share, the amount of any loss of the corporation arising from transactions with reference to the share on which the dividend was received shall, unless it is established by the corporation that

(a) the corporation owned the share 365 days or longer before the loss was sustained, and

(b) the corporation and persons with whom the corporation was not dealing at arm's length did not, at the time the dividend was received, own in the aggregate more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received,

be deemed to be the amount of that loss otherwise determined, minus the total of all amounts each of which is an amount received by the corporation in respect of

(c) a taxable dividend on the share to the extent that the amount of the dividend was deductible from the corporation's income for any taxation year by virtue of this section or subsection 138(6) and was not an amount on which the corporation was required to pay tax under Part VII of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, as it read on March 31, 1977,

(d) a capital dividend on the share, or

(e) a life insurance capital dividend on the share."

S. 112(3), the portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 56(1), applicable to dispositions occurring after October 30, 1994. That part formerly read:

"(3) Loss on share that is capital property. Where a corporation owns a share that is a capital property and receives a taxable dividend, a capital dividend or a life insurance capital dividend in respect of that share, the amount of any loss of the corporation arising from transactions with reference to the share on which the dividend was received shall, unless it is established by the corporation that"

Editorial Note: Subsection 112(3) is a stop-loss rule which may deny a portion of a capital loss on the disposition of a share of a corporation by a natural person (i.e., an individual other than a trust, to which separate provisions apply), or by a corporation, as a result of the receipt of tax-advantaged dividends (including by virtue of deemed dividends on a share redemption, which may trigger the loss itself).

In the case of a natural person, the loss is reduced by the total amount of capital dividends received on the share (more precisely, a dividend on which a capital dividend election has been made including excessive elections, but not including a separate taxable dividend per a subsection 184(3) election or a would-be capital dividend subject to the capital dividend anti-avoidance rules in subsection 83(2.1)). However, the amount subject to the stop-loss is reduced if the loss otherwise determined, less taxable dividends received on the share, is less than this amount; in other words, taxable dividends can enlarge the loss that can be claimed (paragraph 112(3)(a)).

In the case of a corporation, the capital loss on a disposition of a share in another corporation is reduced by: (i) tax-free intercorporate dividends (e.g., dividends deductible under section 112, but not under section 113); (ii) capital dividends (as described above); and (iii) life insurance capital dividends received on the share (paragraph 112(3)(b)).

Dividends which would otherwise enlarge the disallowed loss are ignored in computing the amount of the denied losses, per a "5/365 exception" (per subsection 112(3.01)), which applies if the dividend was received when the shareholder and non-arm's length persons did not own more than 5% of the shares of any class (or series) in the corporation, and the shares were owned throughout the 365-day period before the disposition (subsection 112(3.01)). This means that the stop-loss rules will not apply if a taxpayer and non-arm's length persons did not hold more than 5% of the class (or series) of shares, if held for the 365 day period.

Subsection 112(7) preserves the continuity of the stop-loss rules through specified reorganizations; subsection 112(6) contains some definitions relevant to section 112.

Fairly similar stop-loss rules apply to shares held by partnerships (subsection 112(3.1)), trusts (subsections 112(3.2)–(3.32)), shares that are not capital property (subsections 112(4)–(4.22)) and shares held by financial institutions (subsections 112(5)–(5.6)). Where a shareholder and the corporation redeeming its shares are affiliated immediately afterward, subsection 40(3.6) potentially applies as well; while the denied loss per this provision is added to the cost base of the shareholder per paragraph 53(1)(f.2), this is calculated after the effect of subsection 112(3).

Related Sections: S. 40(1) Gains and losses; s. 40(3.6) Loss on shares; s. 40(3.7) Losses of non-resident; s. 53(1)(f) Adjustments to cost base — Substituted property; s. 53(1)(f.2) Adjustments to cost base — Denied loss on transfer of shares to corporation; s. 54, "capital property"; s. 83(2) Capital dividend; s. 83(2.1) Capital dividend — anti-avoidance rule; s. 87(2)(x) Taxable dividends; s. 89(1), "capital dividend account"; s. 112(3.01) Loss on share that is capital property — excluded dividends; s. 112(3.1) Loss on share held by partnership; s. 112(3.2) Loss on share held by trust; s. 112(3.3) Loss on share held by trust — special cases; s. 112(3.31) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(3.32) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(4) Loss on share that is not capital property; s. 112(4.01) Loss on share that is not capital property — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.1) Fair market value of shares held as inventory; s. 112(4.11) Fair market value of shares held as inventory — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.2) Loss on share held by trust; s. 112(4.21) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends;

s. 112(4.22) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(5) Disposition of share by financial institution; s. 112(5.1) Share held for less than one year; s. 112(5.2) Adjustment re dividends; s. 112(5.21) Subsection (5.2) — excluded dividends; s. 112(5.3) Adjustment not applicable; s. 112(5.4) Deemed dispositions; s. 112(5.5) Stop-loss rules not applicable; s. 112(5.6) Stop-loss rules restricted; s. 112(6) Meaning of certain expressions; s. 112(7) Rules where shares exchanged; s. 115(1) Non-resident's taxable income in Canada; s. 138(6) Deduction for dividends from taxable corporations; s. 248(6) "Class" of shares issued in series; s. 251 Arm's length.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-328R3 Losses on shares from which dividends have been received.

Advance Tax Rulings: ATR-58 Divisive reorganization.

Tax Profile: October 2004 — Taxation of Dividends: A Survey in the Context of Private Corporations and Their Shareholders; May 2004 — The Stop-Loss Rules.

Canadian Tax Foundation: Suarez, "The Capital Property Dividend Stop-Loss Rules, in Corporate Tax Planning feature", 2005 Canadian Tax Journal, No. 1; 269; Everett and Ireland, "Impact of the Proposed New Stop-Loss Rules", 1997 Conference Report, 17:1; Burpee, "The New Stop-Loss Rules: Grandfathered Shares", 1998 Canadian Tax Journal, No. 3, 678.

► 112(3.01) ◄

(3.01) Loss on share that is capital property — excluded dividends. A dividend shall not be included in the total determined under subparagraph (3)(a)(i) or paragraph (3)(b) where the taxpayer establishes that

(a) it was received when the taxpayer and persons with whom the taxpayer was not dealing at arm's length did not own in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received; and

(b) it was received on a share that the taxpayer owned throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition.

History: S. 112(3.01) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(1). Please see the history note following s. 112(3) for the application.

Editorial Note: See the editorial note to subsection 112(3).

Related Sections: S. 112(3.11) Loss on share held by partnership — excluded dividends; s. 112(3.31) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(3.32) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.01) Loss on share that is not capital property — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.11) Fair market value of shares held as inventory — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.21) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.22) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(5.21) Subsection (5.2) — excluded dividends; s. 251 Arm's length.

► 112(3.1) ◄

(3.1) Loss on share held by partnership. Subject to subsections (5.5) and (5.6), where a taxpayer (other than a partnership or a mutual fund trust) is a member of a partnership, the taxpayer's share of any loss of the partnership from the disposition of a share that is held by a particular partnership as capital property is deemed to be that share of the loss determined without reference to this subsection minus,

(a) where the taxpayer is an individual, the lesser of

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is a dividend received by the taxpayer on the share in respect of which an election was made under subsection 83(2) where subsection 83(2.1) does not deem the dividend to be a taxable dividend, and

(ii) that share of the loss determined without reference to this subsection minus all taxable dividends received by the taxpayer on the share;

(b) where the taxpayer is a corporation, the total of all amounts received by the taxpayer on the share each of which is

(i) a taxable dividend, to the extent of the amount of the dividend that was deductible under this section or subsection 115(1) or 138(6) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada for any taxation year,

(ii) a dividend in respect of which an election was made under subsection 83(2) where subsection 83(2.1) does not deem the dividend to be a taxable dividend, or

(iii) a life insurance capital dividend; and

(c) where the taxpayer is a trust, the total of all amounts each of which is

(i) a taxable dividend, or

(ii) a life insurance capital dividend

received on the share and designated under subsection 104(19) or (20) by the trust in respect of a beneficiary that was a corporation, partnership or trust.

History: S. 112(3.1) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(1). Please see the history note following s. 112(3) for the application.

S. 112(3.1) formerly read:

"(3.1) Loss on share that is capital property of partnership. Subject to subsections (5.5) and (5.6), where a corporation is a member of a partnership and the corporation receives a taxable dividend, a capital dividend or a life insurance capital dividend in respect of a share that is a capital property of the partnership, the corporation's share of any loss of the partnership arising with respect to the share on which the dividend was received shall, unless it is established by the corporation that

(a) the partnership held the share 365 days or longer before the loss was sustained, and

(b) the partnership, the corporation and persons with whom the corporation was not dealing at arm's length did not, at the time the dividend was received, hold in the aggregate more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received,

be deemed to be the amount of that loss otherwise determined, minus the total of all amounts each of which is an amount received by the corporation in respect of

(c) a taxable dividend on the share to the extent that the amount of the dividend was deductible from the corporation's income for any taxation year by virtue of this section or subsection 138(6) and was not an amount on which the corporation was required to pay tax under Part VII of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, as it read on March 31, 1977,

(d) a capital dividend on the share, or

(e) a life insurance capital dividend on the share."

S. 112(3.1), the portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 56(2), applicable to dispositions occurring after October 30, 1994. That part formerly read:

"(3.1) Idem. Where a corporation is a member of a partnership and the corporation receives a taxable dividend, a capital dividend or a life insurance capital dividend in respect of a share that is a capital property of the partnership, the corporation's share of any loss of the partnership arising with respect to the share on which the dividend was received shall, unless it is established by the corporation that"

Editorial Note: This provision may deny a portion of a capital loss from the disposition of a share held by a partnership in respect of taxpayers (other than partnerships and mutual fund trusts) who are partners. The determination of the amount of the denied loss is made at the partner level, including through multiple-tier partnerships. The loss is based on the partner's share of the loss, less the following amounts:

- In the case of an individual, including a trust, the total amount of capital dividends received on the share (more precisely, a dividend on which a capital dividend election has been made, including excessive elections, but not including a separate taxable dividend per a subsection 184(3) election or a would-be capital dividend subject to the capital dividend anti-avoidance rules in subsection 83(2.1)). However, the amount subject to the stop-loss is reduced if the individual's share of the loss otherwise determined, less taxable dividends received on the share, is less than this amount; in other words, taxable dividends can enlarge the loss that can be claimed (paragraph 112(3.1)(a)).
- In the case of a corporation: (i) tax-free intercorporate dividends (e.g., dividends deductible under section 112, but not under section 113); (ii) capital dividends (as described above); and (iii) life insurance capital dividends received on the share (paragraph 112(3.1)(b)).
- Where the partner is a trust, the loss will be further reduced by the total amounts of taxable or life insurance capital dividends designated by the trust to flow through to a beneficiary that is a corporation, partnership or trust (paragraph 112(3)(c)). (There is an exception in the last two cases where the dividend is established to be ultimately received by a natural person (see subsection 112(3.12)).

As is the case with subsection 112(3), dividends which would otherwise enlarge the disallowed loss are ignored under a "5/365 exception": very basically, if holdings of a class (or series) of shares do not exceed 5% at the time received, and the shares were held throughout the 365-day period before the disposition — see subsection 112(3.11).

Clause 53(2)(c)(i)(C) reduces the ACB of a partnership interest to include the disallowed loss per subsection 112(3.1). Subsection 100(4) is a complimentary provision which reduces the loss from the disposition of a partnership interest by the amount by which the partner's share of the partnership's loss in respect of a share held by the partnership would have been reduced under subsection 112(3.1) (on the assumption that the partnership's year had ended immediately before the time of disposition and the partnership had disposed of the shares immediately before the end of the fiscal period).

Related Sections: S. 40(1) General rules; s. 53(2)(c)(i)(C) Amounts to be deducted — interest in a partnership; s. 100(4) Loss re interest in partnership; s. 104(20) Designation in respect of non-taxable dividends; s. 112(3) Loss on share that is capital property; s. 112(3.11) Loss on share held by partnership — excluded dividends; s. 112(3.12) Loss on share held by partnership — excluded dividends; s. 112(4) Loss on share that is not capital property; s. 112(6) Meaning of certain expressions; s. 112(7) Rules where shares exchanged; s. 251 Arm's length.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-328R3 Losses on shares from which dividends have been received.

Canadian Tax Foundation: Suarez, "The Capital Property Dividend Stop-Loss Rules, in Corporate Tax Planning feature", 2005 Canadian Tax Journal, No. 1, 269.

► 112(3.11) ◄

(3.11) Loss on share held by partnership — excluded dividends. A dividend shall not be included in the total determined under subparagraph (3.1)(a)(i) or paragraph (3.1)(b) or (c) where the taxpayer establishes that

(a) it was received when the particular partnership, the taxpayer and persons with whom the taxpayer was not dealing at arm's length did not hold in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received; and

(b) it was received on a share that the particular partnership held throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition.

History: S. 112(3.11) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(1). Please see the history note following s. 112(3) for the application.

► 112(3.12) ◄

(3.12) Loss on share held by partnership — excluded dividends. A taxable dividend received on a share and designated under subsection 104(19) by a particular trust in respect of a beneficiary that was a partnership or trust shall not be included in the total determined under paragraph (3.1)(c) where the particular trust establishes that the dividend was received by an individual (other than a trust).

History: S. 112(3.12) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(1). Please see the history note following s. 112(3) for the application.

► 112(3.2) ◄

(3.2) Loss on share held by trust. Subject to subsections (5.5) and (5.6), the amount of any loss of a trust (other than a mutual fund trust) from the disposition of a share of the capital stock of a corporation that is capital property of the trust is deemed to be the amount of the loss determined without reference to this subsection minus the total of

(a) the amount, if any, by which the lesser of

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is a dividend received by the trust on the share in respect of which an election was made under subsection 83(2) where subsection 83(2.1) does not deem the dividend to be a taxable dividend, and

(ii) the loss determined without reference to this subsection minus the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of a taxable dividend

(A) received by the trust on the share,

(B) received on the share and designated under subsection 104(19) by the trust in respect of a beneficiary who is an individual (other than a trust), or

(C) received on the share and designated under subsection 104(19) by the trust in respect of a beneficiary that was a corporation, partnership or another trust where the trust establishes that

(I) it owned the share throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition, and

(II) the dividend was received while the trust, the beneficiary and persons not dealing at arm's length with the beneficiary owned in total less than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received

exceeds

(iii) where the trust is an individual's estate, the share was acquired as a consequence of the individual's death and the disposition occurs during the trust's first taxation year, ½ of the lesser of

(A) the loss determined without reference to this subsection, and

(B) the individual's capital gain from the disposition of the share immediately before the individual's death, and

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is

(i) a taxable dividend, or

(ii) a life insurance capital dividend

received on the share and designated under subsection 104(19) or (20) by the trust in respect of a beneficiary that was a corporation, partnership or trust.

History: S. 112(3.2)(a)(iii) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 88(2), by replacing the reference to the fraction "1/4" with a reference to the fraction "1/2", applicable to dispositions that occur after February 27, 2000 except that, for dispositions that occurred before October 18, 2000, the reference to the fraction "1/2" in subparagraph 112(3.2)(a)(iii) shall be read as a reference to the fraction "1/3".

S. 112(3.2) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(1). Please see the history note following s. 112(3) for the application.

S. 112(3.2) formerly read:

"(3.2) Loss on share that is capital property of trust. Subject to subsections (5.5) and (5.6), where a corporation is a beneficiary of a trust (other than a prescribed trust) that owns a share that is capital property and the corporation receives a taxable dividend in respect of that share pursuant to a designation under subsection 104(19) or the trust has made a designation under subsection 104(20) in respect of the corporation for a capital dividend or a life insurance capital dividend on that share, the amount of any loss of the trust arising with respect to the share on which the dividend was subject to a designation shall, unless it is established by the corporation that

(a) the trust owned the share 365 days or longer before the loss was sustained, and

(b) the trust, the corporation and persons with whom the corporation was not dealing at arm's length did not, at the time the dividend was received, own in the aggregate more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received,

be deemed to be the amount of that loss otherwise determined, minus the total of all amounts each of which is a taxable dividend, a capital dividend or a life insurance capital dividend in respect of that share that was designated under subsection 104(19) or (20) in respect of a beneficiary that was a corporation."

S. 112(3.2), the portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 56(3), applicable to dispositions occurring after October 30, 1994. That part formerly read:

"(3.2) Idem. Where a corporation is a beneficiary of a trust (other than a prescribed trust) that owns a share that is capital property and the corporation receives a taxable dividend in respect of that share pursuant to a designation under subsection 104(19) or the trust has made a designation under subsection 104(20) in respect of the corporation for a capital dividend or a life insurance capital dividend on that share, the amount of any loss of the trust arising with respect to the share on which the dividend was subject to a designation shall, unless it is established by the corporation that"

Editorial Note: Subsection 112(3.2) is a stop-loss rule which may deny a portion of a capital loss on the disposition of a share in a corporation by a trust (including an estate, but not a mutual fund trust) as a result of the receipt of tax-advantaged dividends (including by virtue of deemed dividends on a redemption which may trigger the loss itself).

The loss is reduced to the extent of dividends received by the trust on which a capital dividend election has been made (paragraph 112(3.2)(a)(i) — see also editorial note to subsection 112(3)). A lesser reduction will apply if the loss otherwise determined, less qualifying taxable dividends received by the trust (see below), is less than this amount; in other words, qualifying taxable dividends may enlarge the loss that can be claimed (paragraph 112(3.2)(a)(ii)). However, the amount of the loss will be reduced further by the total amounts of taxable or life insurance capital dividends designated by the trust in respect of a beneficiary that is a corporation, partnership or trust — see paragraph 112(3.2)(b) (certain exceptions apply — see subsection 112(3.32)). As is the case for subsection 112(3), dividends which would otherwise enlarge the disallowed loss are ignored under a "5/365 exception": very basically, if holdings do not exceed 5% of a class (or series) of shares at the time of the dividend, and the shares were held throughout the 365 day period before the disposition — see subsection 112(3.31). Paragraphs 107(1)(c) and (d) provide somewhat similar stop-loss rules in respect of dispositions of capital interests in trusts at a loss. (The "qualifying taxable dividends" referred to above are those: received and taxed in the trust; designated to a beneficiary who is a natural person; or designated to a beneficiary that is a corporation, partnership or trust and a "5/365 exception" is met (in the last case, there is no exception if dividends are ultimately received by a natural person (clause 112(3.2)(a)(ii)(C)).)

In the case of an individual's estate, there is a "safe harbour" rule where the share is acquired as a consequence of the individual's death and the disposition occurs during the estate's first taxation year, whereby the amount of the disallowed loss determined under paragraph 112(3.2)(a) will be reduced, based on one-half of the lesser of the loss otherwise determined, or the terminal-period gain (subparagraph 112(3.2)(a)(iii)). This usually means that the full amount of the loss may be applied against the terminal period gain as long as the amount of the capital dividend received by the estate does not exceed these limits; accordingly, there should be an equal amount of taxable and capital dividends to avoid the denial of losses.

These stop-loss rules are subject to grandfathering provisions which can be found in the "History" after subsection 112(3). These exceptions may apply to qualifying corporate-owned insurance structures, so that there would be no stop-loss on the capital dividend account generated on the death of the insured individual. In simplistic terms, "Branch (a)" of the grandfathering rules may apply where the shares in question are disposed of to a corporation pursuant to an agreement in writing between the taxpayer and the corporation, entered into before April 27th, 1995; "Branch (b)" may apply where the corporation was a beneficiary under a life insurance policy on April 26th, 1995 and it is reasonable to conclude that a main purpose of the life insurance was to fund a redemption, acquisition or cancellation of the share by the corporation that issued the share. For further discussion, see CRA Technical News No. 12 (February 11, 1998).

Where a shareholder and the corporation redeeming its shares are affiliated immediately afterward, subsection 40(3.6) potentially applies as well; however, in the case of an estate which triggers a loss to be applied to a terminal period return under subsection 164(6), subsection 40(3.61) may override subsection 40(3.6), to the extent of the loss so applied.

Related Sections: S. 40(1) General rules; s. 40(3.6) Loss on shares; s. 40(3.61) Exception — estate loss carried back; S. 40(3.7) Losses of non-resident; s. 53(1)(f) Adjustments to cost base — Substituted property; s. 53(1)(f.2) Adjustments to cost base — Denied loss on transfer of shares to corporation; s. 70(5) Capital property of a deceased taxpayer; s. 83(2) Capital dividend; s. 83(2.1) Capital dividend — anti-avoidance rule; s. 87(2)(x) Taxable dividends; s. 107(1)(c) and (d) Disposition by taxpayer of capital interest; s. 107.4(3)(b)(ii) Tax consequences of qualifying dispositions; s. 112(3.3) Loss on share held by trust — special cases; s. 112(3.31) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(3.32) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(4) Loss on share that is not capital property; s. 112(4.01) Loss on share that is not capital property — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.1) Fair market value of shares held as inventory; s. 112(4.11) Fair market value of shares held as inventory — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.2) Loss on share held by trust; s. 112(4.21) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.22) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends. s. 112(5) Disposition of share by financial institution; s. 112(5.1) Share held for less than one year; s. 112(5.2) Adjustment re dividends; s. 112(5.21) Subsection (5.2) — excluded dividends; s. 112(5.3) Adjustment not applicable; s. 112(5.4) Deemed dispositions; s. 112(5.5) Stop-loss rules not applicable; s. 112(5.6) Stop-loss rules restricted; s. 112(6) Meaning of certain expressions; s. 112(7) Rules where shares exchanged; s. 164(6) Where disposition of property by legal representative of deceased taxpayer; s. 251 Arm's length.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-328R3 Losses on shares from which dividends have been received.

Tax Topics: No. 1690, Estate Planning In The 21st Century; No. 1682, Life Insurance: Exploring the Corporate Edge — Part II; No. 1681, Life Insurance: Exploring the Corporate Edge — Part I; No. 1582, Estate Planning in the 21st Century.

Tax Profile: September 2004 — Review of Tax Implications of Corporate-Owned Life Insurance Buy-Sell Arrangements.

Canadian Tax Foundation: Suarez, "The Capital Property Dividend Stop-Loss Rules, in Corporate Tax Planning feature", 2005 Canadian Tax Journal, No. 1; 269; Sibson, "Private Companies", 2001 Annual Conference, 5:1; Cuperfain, "Got Me Those Capital Gain, High Dividend Tax, Stop-loss Rules, Estate Planning Blues", 2001 Canadian Tax Journal, No. 3, 764.

► 112(3.3) ◄

(3.3) Loss on share held by trust — special cases. Notwithstanding subsection (3.2), where a trust has at any time acquired a share of the capital stock of a corporation because of subsection 104(4), the amount of any loss of the trust from a disposition after that time is deemed to be the amount of the loss determined without reference to subsection (3.2) and this subsection minus the total of

(a) the amount, if any, by which the lesser of

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is a dividend received after that time by the trust on the share in respect of which an election was made under subsection 83(2) where subsection 83(2.1) does not deem the dividend to be a taxable dividend, and

(ii) the loss determined without reference to subsection (3.2) and this subsection minus the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of a taxable dividend

(A) received by the trust on the share after that time,

(B) received on the share after that time and designated under subsection 104(19) by the trust in respect of a beneficiary who is an individual (other than a trust), or

(C) received on the share after that time and designated under subsection 104(19) by the trust in respect of a beneficiary that was a corporation, partnership or another trust where the trust establishes that

(I) it owned the share throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition, and

(II) the dividend was received when the trust, the beneficiary and persons not dealing at arm's length with the beneficiary owned in total less than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received

exceeds

(iii) ½ of the lesser of

(A) the loss from the disposition, determined without reference to subsection (3.2) and this subsection, and

(B) the trust's capital gain from the disposition immediately before that time of the share because of subsection 104(4), and

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is a taxable dividend received on the share after that time and designated under subsection 104(19) by the trust in respect of a beneficiary that was a corporation, partnership or trust.

History: S. 112(3.3)(a)(iii) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 88(3), by replacing the reference to the fraction "1/4" with a reference to the fraction "1/2", applicable to dispositions that occur after February 27, 2000 except that, for dispositions that occurred before October 18, 2000, the reference to the fraction "1/2" in subparagraph (3.3)(a)(iii) of the Act shall be read as a reference to the fraction "1/3".

S. 112(3.3) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(1). Please see the history note following s. 112(3) for the application.

Editorial Note: Subsection 112(3.3) is a variation of the stop-loss rule in subsection 112(3.2) applying to a trust (including an estate), which applies where there has previously been a deemed disposition/acquisition by the trust under subsection 104(4), generally on the death of a spouse who was the beneficiary under a spouse trust or by virtue of the 21st anniversary of a trust. The provision is similar to subsection 112(3.2), a notable exception being that dividends are relevant in the determination of the denied losses only after the time of the deemed acquisition.

Like subsection 112(3.2), the provision also contains a "50% safe-harbour" rule which is based on one-half of the lesser of the loss otherwise determined and the capital gain pursuant to subsection 104(4). Subject to the foregoing, the post-deemed-disposition capital loss from a redemption or other disposition by the trust can be applied (including within the normal three-year carryback period) to the trust's year in which the deemed disposition occurs. However, in order to obtain the loss, the shares in question must remain in the trust or estate, rather than being distributed to beneficiaries.

Where a shareholder and the corporation redeeming its shares are affiliated immediately afterward, subsection 40(3.6) potentially applies as well; while the denied loss per this provision is added to the cost base of the shareholder per paragraph 53(1)(f.2), it appears that this is calculated after the effect of subsection 112(3.3). (Where there is a deemed disposition by virtue of subsection 104(4), subsection 40(3.61) does not override subsection 40(3.6).)

Related Sections: S. 40(1) General rules; s. 40(3.6) Loss on shares; s. 40(3.61) Exception — estate loss carried back; s. 40(3.7) Losses of non-resident; s. 53(1)(f) Adjustments to cost base — Substituted property; s. 53(1)(f.2) Adjustments to cost base — Denied loss on transfer of shares to corporation; s. 70(6) Where transfer or distribution to spouse or spouse trust; s. 73(1.01)(c) Qualifying transfers; s. 83(2) Capital dividend; s. 83(2.1) Capital dividend — anti-avoidance rule; s. 87(2)(x) Taxable dividends; s. 104(4) Deemed disposition by trust; s. 107.4(3)(b)(ii) Tax consequences of qualifying dispositions; s. 112(3.2) Loss on share held by trust; s. 112(3.31) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(3.32) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(4) Loss on share that is not capital property; s. 112(4.01) Loss on share that is not capital property — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.1) Fair market value of shares held as inventory; s. 112(4.11) Fair market value of shares held as inventory — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.2) Loss on share held by trust; s. 112(4.21) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.22) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(5) Disposition of share by financial institution; s. 112(5.1) Share held for less than one year; s. 112(5.2) Adjustment re dividends; s. 112(5.21) Subsection (5.2) — excluded dividends; s. 112(5.3) Adjustment not applicable; s. 112(5.4) Deemed dispositions; s. 112(5.5) Stop-loss rules not applicable; s. 112(5.6) Stop-loss rules restricted; s. 112(6) Meaning of certain expressions; s. 112(7) Rules where shares exchanged; s. 251 Arm's length.

Tax Topics: No. 1690, Estate Planning In The 21st Century.

► 112(3.31) ◄

(3.31) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends. No dividend received by a trust shall be included under subparagraph (3.2)(a)(i) or (b)(ii) or (3.3)(a)(i) where the trust establishes that the dividend

(a) was received,

(i) in any case where the dividend was designated under subsection 104(19) or (20) by the trust, when the trust, the beneficiary and persons with whom the beneficiary was not dealing at arm's length did not own in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received, or

(ii) in any other case, when the trust and persons with whom the trust was not dealing at arm's length did not own in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received, and

(b) was received on a share that the trust owned throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition.

History: S. 112(3.31) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(1). Please see the history note following s. 112(3) for the application.

Editorial Note: Subsections 112(3.31) and (3.32) contain variations of the (beneficial) "5/365 exception" applicable to the stop-loss rules pertaining to trusts (subsections 112(3.2) and (3.3)). Subsection 112(3.31) applies to capital dividends and life insurance capital dividends, which would otherwise enlarge the denied loss. Where such dividends have flowed-though to beneficiaries (under subsection 104(19) or (20)) they won't count in enlarging the amount of the stopped-loss if received when the trust, the beneficiary, and persons not at arm's length with the beneficiary did not own more than 5% of the shares of any class (or series) in the corporation; if dividends are not flowed out, only the trust and persons not at arm's length with the trust are relevant in determining the 5% threshold (paragraph 112(3.31)(a)). However, to qualify for the exception, the trust must own the shares throughout the 365-day period before the disposition (paragraph 112(3.31)(b)).

Subsection 112(3.32) applies to taxable dividends flowed out to a beneficiary that is a corporation, trust or partnership, which would otherwise enlarge the disallowed loss under paragraph 112(3.2)(b) or (3.3)(b). Such dividends will be ignored where it is established that the dividend was ultimately received by a natural person, or the dividend was received when the trust, beneficiary and persons not at arm's length with the beneficiary did not own more than 5% of any class (or series) of shares (paragraph 112(3.32)(a)). However, to qualify for the exception, the trust must own the shares throughout the 365-day period before the disposition (paragraph 112(3.32)(b)).

Related Sections: S. 112(3.01) Loss on share that is capital property — excluded dividends; s. 112(3.11) Loss on share held by partnership — excluded dividends; s. 112(3.32) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.01) Loss on share that is not capital property — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.11) Fair market value of shares held as inventory — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.21) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.22) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(5.21) Subsection (5.2) — excluded dividends; s. 251 Arm's length.

► 112(3.32) ◄

(3.32) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends. No taxable dividend received on the share and designated under subsection 104(19) by the trust in respect of a beneficiary that was a corporation, partnership or trust shall be included under paragraph (3.2)(b) or (3.3)(b) where the trust establishes that the dividend was received by an individual (other than a trust), or

(a) was received when the trust, the beneficiary and persons with whom the beneficiary was not dealing at arm's length did not own in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received; and

(b) was received on a share that the trust owned throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition.

History: S. 112(3.32) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(1). Please see the history note following s. 112(3) for the application.

Editorial Note: See the editorial note to subsection 112(3.31).

Related Sections: S. 112(3.01) Loss on share that is capital property — excluded dividends; s. 112(3.11) Loss on share held by partnership — excluded dividends; s. 112(3.31) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.01) Loss on share that is not capital property — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.11) Fair market value of shares held as inventory — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.21) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.22) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(5.21) Subsection (5.2) — excluded dividends; s. 251 Arm's length.

► 112(4) ◄

(4) Loss on share that is not capital property. Subject to subsections (5.5) and (5.6), the amount of any loss of a taxpayer (other than a trust) from the disposition of a share of the capital stock of a corporation that is property (other than capital property) of the taxpayer is deemed to be the amount of the loss determined without reference to this subsection minus,

(a) where the taxpayer is an individual and the corporation is resident in Canada, the total of all dividends received by the individual on the share;

(b) where the taxpayer is a partnership, the total of all dividends received by the partnership on the share; and

(c) where the taxpayer is a corporation, the total of all amounts received by the taxpayer on the share each of which is

(i) a taxable dividend, to the extent of the amount of the dividend that was deductible under this section, section 113 or subsection 115(1) or 138(6) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada for any taxation year, or

(ii) a dividend (other than a taxable dividend).

History: S. 112(4) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(1), applicable to dispositions that occur after April 26, 1995. S. 112(4) formerly read:

"(4) Loss on share that is not capital property. Subject to subsections (5.5) and (5.6), where a taxpayer owns a share that is not a capital property and receives a dividend in respect of that share, the amount of any loss of the taxpayer arising from transactions with reference to the share on which the dividend was received shall, unless it is established by the taxpayer that

(a) the taxpayer owned the share 365 days or longer before the loss was sustained, and

(b) the taxpayer and persons with whom the taxpayer was not dealing at arm's length, did not, at the time the dividend was received, own in the aggregate more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received,

be deemed to be the amount of that loss otherwise determined, minus

(c) where the taxpayer is an individual and the corporation is a taxable Canadian corporation, the total of all amounts each of which is a dividend (other than a capital gains dividend within the meaning assigned by subsection 131(1)) on the share received by the taxpayer,

(d) where the taxpayer is a corporation, the total of all amounts each of which is

(i) a taxable dividend, to the extent of the amount thereof that was deductible under this section or subsection 115(1) or 138(6) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada for any taxation year, or

(ii) a dividend (other than a taxable dividend or a dividend deemed by subsection 131(1) to be a capital gains dividend), on the share received by the taxpayer, and

(e) in any other case, nil."

S. 112(4), the portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 56(4), applicable to dispositions occurring after October 30, 1994. That part formerly read:

"(4) Loss on share that is not capital property. Where a taxpayer owns a share that is not a capital property and receives a dividend in respect of that share, the amount of any loss of the taxpayer arising from transactions with reference to the share on which the dividend was received shall, unless it is established by the taxpayer that"

S. 112(4)(d)(ii) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 51(2), applicable to the determination of losses arising in the 1990 and subsequent taxation years and, where a taxpayer elected under subsection 84(6) of An Act to amend the Income Tax Act, the Canada Pension Plan, the Cultural Property Export and Import Act, the Income Tax Conventions Interpretation Act, the Tax Court of Canada Act, the Unemployment Insurance Act, the Canada-Newfoundland Atlantic Accord Implementation Act, the Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Resources Accord Implementation Act and certain related Acts, being chapter 49 of the Statutes of Canada, 1991, in the taxpayer's 1985 to 1989 taxation years, in which case, notwithstanding subsections 152(4) to (5) of the Income Tax Act, such assessments and determinations in respect of the taxpayer's 1985 to 1989 taxation years shall be made as are necessary to give effect to subparagraph 112(4)(d)(ii).

S. 112(4)(d)(ii) formerly read:

"(ii) a dividend, other than a taxable dividend,"

The application provision of S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 84(2) below was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 159, which reads "where an election or request referred to" in the application provision (below) "was made before December 11, 1993, the election or request will be deemed to have been made before 1992".

The portion of s. 112(4) of the Act after paragraph (b) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 84(2), applicable to the determination of losses arising

(a) in the 1990 and subsequent taxation years, and

(b) where a taxpayer so elected by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in writing before 1992, in the taxpayer's 1985 to 1989 taxation years, in which case, notwithstanding subsections 152(4) to (5) of the Act, such assessments of tax, interest and penalties shall be made as are necessary to give effect to the election, except that subsection 112(4) of the Act does not apply to the amount of a dividend received by a taxpayer on which the taxpayer was required to pay tax under Part VII of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, as it read on March 31, 1977.

S. 112(4), the portion after paragraph (b), formerly read:

"be deemed to be the amount of that loss otherwise determined, minus the total of all amounts received by the taxpayer in respect of dividends (other than capital gains dividends within the meaning assigned by subsection 131(1)) on the share to the extent that the amounts of those dividends were not amounts on which the taxpayer was required to pay tax under Part VII of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, as it read on March 31, 1977."

Editorial Note: Subsection 112(4) is a stop-loss rule which applies to a share that is not capital property, if held by a taxpayer other than a trust. For an individual, the loss will be reduced by all dividends received, taxable or otherwise, from the corporation, if resident in Canada. For a partnership, the loss is reduced by all dividends received, taxable or otherwise. (Note that the loss restriction is made at the partnership level; this differs from the stop-loss rule applying to shares which are capital property — see subsection 112(3.1).) For a corporation, the loss is reduced by dividends which are deductible in computing taxable income (e.g., under section 112 or 113) as well as non-taxable dividends. A "5/365 exception" for dividends applies by virtue of 112(4.01). However, for non-capital property, the 365-day hold requirement may often not be met.

For rules applicable to trusts that hold shares that are not capital property, see subsections 112(4.2)–(4.22). To prevent the avoidance of these rules through the application of the lower of cost and market rule, subsections 112(4.1) and (4.11) impose rules similar to the foregoing applicable to shares held as inventory, i.e., for the purpose of section 10, which adds the amount of dividends specified in subsection 112(4.1) to the value of shares held as closing inventory, so as to eliminate the recognition of accrued losses to the extent attributable to such dividends.

Related Sections: S. 54, "capital property"; s. 87(2)(x) Taxable dividends; s. 107(1)(d) Disposition by taxpayer of capital interest; s. 112(4.01) Loss on share that is not capital property — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.1) Fair market value of shares held as inventory; s. 112(4.11) Fair market value of shares held as inventory — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.2) Loss on share held by trust; s. 112(4.21) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.22) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(5) Disposition of share by financial institution; s. 112(5.1) Share held for less than one year; s. 112(5.2) Adjustment re dividends; s. 112(5.21) Subsection (5.2) — excluded dividends; s. 112(5.3) Adjustment not applicable; s. 112(5.4) Deemed dispositions; s. 112(5.5) Stop-loss rules not applicable; s. 112(5.6) Stop-loss rules restricted; s. 112(6) Meaning of certain expressions; s. 112(7) Rules where shares exchanged; s. 251 Arm's length.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-328R3 Losses on shares from which dividends have been received.

► 112(4.01) ◄

(4.01) Loss on share that is not capital property — excluded dividends. A dividend shall not be included in the total determined under paragraph (4)(a), (b) or (c) where the taxpayer establishes that

(a) it was received when the taxpayer and persons with whom the taxpayer was not dealing at arm's length did not own in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received; and

(b) it was received on a share that the taxpayer owned throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition.

History: S. 112(4.01) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(1), applicable to dispositions that occur after April 26, 1995.

► 112(4.1) ◄

(4.1) Fair market value of shares held as inventory. For the purpose of section 10, the fair market value at any time of a share of the capital stock of a corporation is deemed to be equal to the fair market value of the share at that time, plus

(a) where the shareholder is a corporation, the total of all amounts received by the shareholder on the share before that time each of which is

(i) a taxable dividend, to the extent of the amount of the dividend that was deductible under this section, section 113 or subsection 115(1) or 138(6) in computing the shareholder's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada for any taxation year, or

(ii) a dividend (other than a taxable dividend);

(b) where the shareholder is a partnership, the total of all amounts each of which is a dividend received by the shareholder on the share before that time; and

(c) where the shareholder is an individual and the corporation is resident in Canada, the total of all amounts each of which is a dividend received by the shareholder on the share before that time (or, where the shareholder is a trust, that would have been so received if this Act were read without reference to subsection 104(19)).

History: S. 112(4.1) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(1), applicable to taxation years that end after April 26, 1995. S. 112(4.1) formerly read:

"(4.1) Fair market value of share that is not capital property. Where a taxpayer (other than a prescribed trust) or partnership (in this subsection referred to as the 'holder') holds a share that is not a capital property and a dividend is received in respect of that share, for the purpose of subsection 10(1) and any regulations made under that subsection, the fair market value of the share at any particular time after November 12, 1981 shall, unless it is established by the holder that

(a) the holder held the share 365 days or longer before the particular time, and

(b) the holder and persons with whom the holder was not dealing at arm's length did not, at the time the dividend was received, hold in the aggregate more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received, be deemed to be an amount equal to the fair market value of that share at the particular time otherwise determined, plus

(c) where the holder is an individual and the corporation is a taxable Canadian corporation, the total of all amounts each of which is a dividend (other than a capital gains dividend within the meaning assigned by subsection 131(1)) on the share received before the particular time by the holder or that would have been so received if this Act were read without reference to subsection 104(19),

(d) where the holder is a corporation, the total of all amounts each of which is

(i) a taxable dividend, to the extent of the amount thereof that was deductible under this section, section 113 or subsection 115(1) or 138(6) in computing the holder's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada for any taxation year, or

(ii) a dividend (other than a taxable dividend or a dividend deemed by subsection 131(1) to be a capital gains dividend), on the share received before the particular time by the holder,

(e) where the holder is a partnership, the total of all amounts each of which is a dividend (other than a capital gains dividend within the meaning assigned by subsection 131(1) on the share received before the particular time by the holder, and

(f) in any other case, nil."

S. 112(4.1)(d)(ii) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 51(3), applicable to the 1990 and subsequent taxation years and, where a taxpayer elected under subsection 84(7) of An Act to amend the Income Tax Act, the Canada Pension Plan, the Cultural Property Export and Import Act, the Income Tax Conventions Interpretation Act, the Tax Court of Canada Act, the Unemployment Insurance Act, the Canada-Newfoundland Atlantic Accord Implementation Act, the Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Resources Accord Implementation Act and certain related Acts, being chapter 49 of the Statutes of Canada, 1991, to the taxpayer's 1985 to 1989 taxation years, in which case, notwithstanding subsections 152(4) to (5) of the Income Tax Act, such assessments and determinations in respect of the taxpayer's 1985 to 1989 taxation years shall be made as are necessary to give effect to subparagraph 112(4.1)(d)(ii).

S. 112(4.1)(d)(ii) formerly read:

"(ii) a dividend, other than a taxable dividend,"

The application provision of S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 84(3) below was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 159, which reads "where an election or request referred to" in the application provision (below) "was made before December 11, 1993, the election or request will be deemed to have been made before 1992".

The portion of s. 112(4.1) of the Act after paragraph (b) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 84(3), applicable

(a) to the 1990 and subsequent taxation years, and

(b) where a taxpayer so elected by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in writing before 1992, to the taxpayer's 1985 to 1989 taxation years, in which case, notwithstanding subsections 152(4) to (5) of the Act, such assessments of tax, interest and penalties shall be made as are necessary to give effect to the election, except that subsection 112(4.1) of the Act does not apply to the amount of a dividend received by a holder on which the holder was required to pay tax under Part VII of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, as it read on March 31, 1977.

The portion of s. 112(4.1) after paragraph (b) formerly read:

"be deemed to be the total of the fair market value of the share at the particular time otherwise determined and all amounts received before the particular time by the holder in respect of dividends (other than capital gains dividends within the meaning assigned by subsection 131(1)) on the share determined as if this Act were read without reference to subsection 104(19)."

Editorial Note: See the editorial note to subsection 112(4).

Related Sections: S. 54, "capital property".

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-328R3 Losses on shares from which dividends have been received.

► 112(4.11) ◄

(4.11) Fair market value of shares held as inventory — excluded dividends. A dividend shall not be included in the total determined under paragraph (4.1)(a), (b) or (c) where the shareholder establishes that

(a) it was received while the shareholder and persons with whom the shareholder was not dealing at arm's length did not hold in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received; and

(b) it was received on a share that the shareholder held throughout the 365-day period that ended at the time referred to in subsection (4.1).

History: S. 112(4.11) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(1), applicable to taxation years that end after April 26, 1995.

► 112(4.2) ◄

(4.2) Loss on share held by trust. Subject to subsections (5.5) and (5.6), the amount of any loss of a trust from the disposition of a share that is property (other than capital property) of the trust is deemed to be the amount of the loss determined without reference to this subsection minus

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is a dividend received by the trust on the share, to the extent that the amount was not designated under subsection 104(20) in respect of a beneficiary of the trust; and

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is a dividend received on the share that was designated under subsection 104(19) or (20) by the trust in respect of a beneficiary of the trust.

History: S. 112(4.2) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(1), applicable to dispositions that occur after April 26, 1995. S. 112(4.2) formerly read:

"(4.2) Loss on share that is not capital property of partnership. Subject to subsections (5.5) and (5.6), where a taxpayer is a member of a partnership and the taxpayer receives a dividend in respect of a share that is not a capital property of the partnership, the taxpayer's share of any loss of the partnership arising with respect to the share on which the dividend was received shall, unless it is established by the taxpayer that

(a) the partnership held the share 365 days or longer before the loss was sustained, and

(b) the partnership, the taxpayer and persons with whom the taxpayer was not dealing at arm's length did not, at the time the dividend was received, hold in the aggregate more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received,

be deemed to be the amount of that loss otherwise determined, minus

(c) where the taxpayer is an individual and the corporation is a taxable Canadian corporation, the total of all amounts each of which is a dividend (other than a capital gains dividend within the meaning assigned by subsection 131(1)) on the share received by the taxpayer,

(d) where the taxpayer is a corporation, the total of all amounts each of which is

(i) a taxable dividend, to the extent of the amount thereof that was deductible under this section or subsection 115(1) or 138(6) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada for any taxation year, or

(ii) a dividend (other than a taxable dividend or a dividend deemed by subsection 131(1) to be a capital gains dividend),

on the share received by the taxpayer, and

(e) in any other case, nil."

S. 112(4.2), the portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 56(5), applicable to dispositions occurring after October 30, 1994. That part formerly read:

"(4.2) Where no deduction permitted. Where a taxpayer is a member of a partnership and the taxpayer receives a dividend in respect of a share that is not a capital property of the partnership, the taxpayer's share of any loss of the partnership arising with respect to the share on which the dividend was received shall, unless it is established by the taxpayer that"

S. 112(4.2)(d)(ii) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 51(4), applicable to the determination of losses arising in the 1990 and subsequent taxation years and, where a taxpayer elected under subsection 84(6) of An Act to amend the Income Tax Act, the Canada Pension Plan, the Cultural Property Export and Import Act, the Income Tax Conventions Interpretation Act, the Tax Court of Canada Act, the Unemployment Insurance Act, the Canada-Newfoundland Atlantic Accord Implementation Act, the Canada-Nova Scotia Offshore Petroleum Resources Accord Implementation Act and certain related Acts, being chapter 49 of the Statutes of Canada, 1991, in the taxpayer's 1985 to 1989 taxation years, in which case, notwithstanding subsections 152(4) to (5) of the Income Tax Act, such assessments and determinations in respect of the taxpayer's 1985 to 1989 taxation years shall be made as are necessary to give effect to subparagraph 112(4.2)(d)(ii).

The application provision of S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 84(4) below was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 159, which reads "where an election or request referred to" in the application provision (below) "was made before December 11, 1993, the election or request will be deemed to have been made before 1992".

S. 112(4.2), that portion following paragraph (b), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 84(4), applicable with respect to the determination of losses arising:

(a) in the 1990 and subsequent taxation years, and

(b) where a taxpayer so elected by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in writing before 1992, in the taxpayer's 1985 to 1989 taxation years, in which case, notwithstanding subsections 152(4) to (5) of the Act, such assessments of tax, interest and penalties shall be made as are necessary to give effect to the election, except that subsection 112(4.2) of the Act does not apply to the amount of a dividend received by a taxpayer on which the taxpayer was required to pay tax under Part VII of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, as it read on March 31, 1977.

S. 112(4.2), that portion following paragraph (b), formerly read as follows: "be deemed to be the amount of the loss otherwise determined, minus the total of all amounts each of which is an amount received by the taxpayer in respect of

(c) a dividend (other than capital gains dividends within the meaning assigned by subsection 131(1)) on the share to the extent that the amount of that dividend was not an amount on which the taxpayer was required to pay tax under Part VII of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, as it read on March 31, 1977."

Editorial Note: Subsection 112(4.2) is a stop-loss rule which applies to a share that is not capital property held by a trust (including an estate). The loss is reduced by all dividends (whether or not taxable) either if taxable to the trust or flowed-through to beneficiaries. A "5/365 exemption" applies to dividends received — very basically, if holdings do not exceed 5% of a class (or series) of shares at the time, and the shares were held throughout the 365-day period before the disposition — see subsections 112(4.21) and (4.22). Subsections 112(4.1) and (4.11) impose similar rules applicable to shares held as inventory — see the editorial note to subsection 112(4).

Related Sections: S. 107(1)(c) and (d) Disposition by taxpayer of capital interest; s. 112(4) Loss on share that is not capital property; s. 112(4.21) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.22) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 251 Arm's length.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-328R3 Losses on shares from which dividends have been received.

► 112(4.21) ◄

(4.21) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends. A dividend shall not be included in the total determined under paragraph (4.2)(a) where the taxpayer establishes that

(a) it was received when the trust and persons with whom the trust was not dealing at arm's length did not own in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received; and

(b) it was received on a share that the trust owned throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition.

History: S. 112(4.21) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(1), applicable to dispositions that occur after April 26, 1995.

► 112(4.22) ◄

(4.22) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends. A dividend shall not be included in the total determined under paragraph (4.2)(b) where the taxpayer establishes that

(a) it was received when the trust, the beneficiary and persons with whom the beneficiary was not dealing at arm's length did not own in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received; and

(b) it was received on a share that the trust owned throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition.

History: S. 112(4.22) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(1), applicable to dispositions that occur after April 26, 1995.

► 112(4.3) ◄

(4.3) Loss on share that is not capital property of trust. [Repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(2).]

History: S. 112(4.3) was repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(2), applicable to dispositions that occur after April 26, 1995. S. 112(4.3) formerly read:

"(4.3) Loss on share that is not capital property of trust. Subject to subsections (5.5) and (5.6), where a taxpayer is a beneficiary of a trust (other than a prescribed trust) that owns a share that is not capital property and the taxpayer receives a taxable dividend in respect of that share pursuant to a designation under subsection 104(19) or the trust has made a designation under subsection 104(20) in respect of the taxpayer for a dividend other than a taxable dividend on that share, the amount of any loss of the trust arising with respect to the share on which the dividend was subject to a designation shall, unless it is established by the taxpayer that

(a) the trust owned the share 365 days or longer before the loss was sustained, and

(b) the trust, the taxpayer and persons with whom the taxpayer was not dealing at arm's length did not, at the time the dividend was received, own in the aggregate more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received,

be deemed to be the amount of that loss otherwise determined, minus the total of all amounts each of which is a dividend (other than a capital gains dividend within the meaning assigned by subsection 131(1)) in respect of that share that was designated under subsection 104(19) or (20) in respect of the taxpayer."

S. 112(4.3), the portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 56(6), applicable to dispositions occurring after October 30, 1994. That part formerly read:

"(4.3) Idem. Where a taxpayer is a beneficiary of a trust (other than a prescribed trust) that owns a share that is not capital property and the taxpayer receives a taxable dividend in respect of that share pursuant to a designation under subsection 104(19) or the trust has made a designation under subsection 104(20) in respect of the taxpayer for a dividend other than a taxable dividend on that share, the amount of any loss of the trust arising with respect to the share on which the dividend was subject to a designation shall, unless it is established by the taxpayer that"

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-328R3 Losses on shares from which dividends have been received.

► 112(5) ◄

(5) Disposition of share by financial institution. Subsection (5.2) applies to the disposition of a share by a taxpayer in a taxation year where

(a) the taxpayer is a financial institution in the year;

(b) the share is a mark-to-market property for the year; and

(c) the taxpayer received a dividend on the share at a time when the taxpayer and persons with whom the taxpayer was not dealing at arm's length held in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received.

History: S. 112(5) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 56(7), applicable to dispositions in taxation years that begin after October 1994.

► 112(5.1) ◄

(5.1) Share held for less than one year. Subsection (5.2) applies to the disposition of a share by a taxpayer in a taxation year where

(a) the disposition is an actual disposition;

(b) the taxpayer did not hold the share throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition; and

(c) the share was a mark-to-market property of the taxpayer for a taxation year that begins after October 1994 and in which the taxpayer was a financial institution.

History: S. 112(5.1)(b) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(3), applicable to dispositions that occur after April 26, 1995. S. 112(5.1)(b) formerly read:

"(b) the taxpayer held the share for less than 365 days; and"

S. 112(5.1) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 56(7), applicable to dispositions in taxation years that begin after October 1994.

► 112(5.2) ◄

(5.2) Adjustment re dividends. Subject to subsection (5.3), where subsection (5) or (5.1) provides that this subsection applies to the disposition of a share by a taxpayer at any time, the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition shall be deemed to be the amount determined by the formula

$$A + B - (C - D)$$

where

A is the taxpayer's proceeds determined without reference to this subsection,

B is the lesser of

(a) the loss, if any, from the disposition of the share that would be determined before the application of this subsection if the cost of the share to any taxpayer were determined without reference to

(i) paragraphs 87(2)(e.2) and (e.4), 88(1)(c), 138(11.5)(e) and 142.5(2)(b),

(ii) subsection 85(1), where the provisions of that subsection are required by paragraph 138(11.5)(e) to be applied, and

(iii) paragraph 142.6(1)(d), and

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is

(i) where the taxpayer is a corporation, a taxable dividend received by the taxpayer on the share, to the extent of the amount that was deductible under this section or subsection 115(1) or 138(6) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada for any taxation year,

(ii) where the taxpayer is a partnership, a taxable dividend received by the taxpayer on the share, to the extent of the amount that was deductible under this section or subsection 115(1) or 138(6) in computing the taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada for any taxation year of members of the partnership,

(iii) where the taxpayer is a trust, an amount designated under subsection 104(19) in respect of a taxable dividend on the share, or

(iv) a dividend (other than a taxable dividend) received by the taxpayer on the share,

C is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount by which

(a) the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition on a deemed disposition of the share before that time were increased because of this subsection,

(b) where the taxpayer is a corporation or trust, a loss of the taxpayer on a deemed disposition of the share before that time was reduced because of subsection (3), (3.2), (4) or (4.2), or

(c) where the taxpayer is a partnership, a loss of a member of the partnership on a deemed disposition of the share before that time was reduced because of subsection (3.1) or (4.2), and

D is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount by which the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition on a deemed disposition of the share before that time were decreased because of this subsection.

History: S. 112(5.2), subparagraph (b)(iv) of the description of B, was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(4), applicable to dispositions that occur after April 26, 1995. Subparagraph (b)(iv) of the description of B formerly read:

"(iv) a dividend (other than a taxable dividend or a dividend deemed by subsection 131(1) to be a capital gains dividend) received by the taxpayer on the share,"

S. 112(5.2), paragraph (b) of the description of C, was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(5), applicable to dispositions that occur after April 26, 1995. Paragraph (b) of the description of C formerly read:

"(b) where the taxpayer is a corporation or trust, a loss of the taxpayer on a deemed disposition of the share before that time was reduced because of subsection (3), (3.2), (4) or (4.3), or"

S. 112(5.2) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 56(7), applicable to dispositions in taxation years that begin after October 1994.

► 112(5.21) ◄

(5.21) Subsection (5.2) — excluded dividends. A dividend shall not be included in the total determined under paragraph (b) of the description of B in subsection (5.2) unless

(a) the dividend was received when the taxpayer and persons with whom the taxpayer did not deal at arm's length held in total more than 5% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation from which the dividend was received; or

(b) the share was not held by the taxpayer throughout the 365-day period that ended immediately before the disposition.

History: S. 112(5.21) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(6), applicable to dispositions that occur after April 26, 1995.

Related Sections: S. 112(3.01) Loss on share that is capital property — excluded dividends; s. 112(3.11) Loss on share held by partnership — excluded dividends; s. 112(3.31) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(3.32) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.01) Loss on share that is not capital property — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.11) Fair market value of shares held as inventory — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.21) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends; s. 112(4.22) Loss on share held by trust — excluded dividends.

► 112(5.3) ◄

(5.3) Adjustment not applicable. For the purpose of determining the cost of a share to a taxpayer on a deemed reacquisition of the share after a deemed disposition of the share, the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition shall be determined without regard to subsection (5.2).

History: S. 112(5.3) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 56(7), applicable to dispositions in taxation years that begin after October 1994.

► 112(5.4) ◄

(5.4) Deemed dispositions. Where a taxpayer disposes of a share at any time,

(a) for the purpose of determining whether subsection (5.2) applies to the disposition, the conditions in subsections (5) and (5.1) shall be applied without regard to a deemed disposition and reacquisition of the share before that time; and

(b) total amounts under subsection (5.2) in respect of the disposition shall be determined from the time when the taxpayer actually acquired the share.

History: S. 112(5.4) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 56(7), applicable to dispositions in taxation years that begin after October 1994.

► 112(5.5) ◄

(5.5) Stop-loss rules not applicable. Subsections (3) to (4) and (4.2) do not apply to the disposition of a share by a taxpayer in a taxation year that begins after October 1994 where

(a) the share is a mark-to-market property for the year and the taxpayer is a financial institution in the year; or

(b) subsection (5.2) applies to the disposition.

History: S. 112(5.5), the portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(7), applicable to dispositions that occur after April 26, 1995. That part formerly read:

"(5.5) Stop-loss rules not applicable. Subsections (3) to (4), (4.2) and (4.3) do not apply to the disposition of a share by a taxpayer in a taxation year that begins after October 1994 where"

S. 112(5.5) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 56(7), applicable to dispositions in taxation years that begin after October 1994.

► 112(5.6) ◄

(5.6) Stop-loss rules restricted. In determining whether any of subsections (3) to (4) and (4.2) apply to reduce a loss of a taxpayer from the disposition of a share, this Act shall be read without reference to paragraphs (3.01)(b) and (3.11)(b), subclauses (3.2)(a)(ii)(C)(I) and (3.3)(a)(ii)(C)(I) and paragraphs (3.31)(b), (3.32)(b), (4.01)(b), (4.21)(b) and (4.22)(b) where

(a) the disposition occurs

(i) because of subsection 142.5(2) in a taxation year that includes October 31, 1994, or

(ii) because of paragraph 142.6(1)(b) after October 30, 1994; or

(b) the share was a mark-to-market property of the taxpayer for a taxation year that begins after October 1994 in which the taxpayer was a financial institution.

History: S. 112(5.6), the portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(8), applicable to dispositions that occur after April 26, 1995. That part formerly read:

"(5.6) Stop-loss rules restricted. In determining whether any of subsections (3) to (4), (4.2) and (4.3) apply to the disposition of a share by a taxpayer, each of those subsections shall be read without reference to paragraph (a) of the subsection where"

S. 112(5.6) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 56(7), applicable to dispositions occurring after October 30, 1994.

► 112(6) ◄

(6) Meaning of certain expressions. For the purposes of this section,

(a) "dividend" and "taxable dividend" do not include a capital gains dividend (within the meaning assigned by subsection 131(1)) or any dividend received by a taxpayer on which the taxpayer was required to pay tax under Part VII of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, as it read on March 31, 1977;

(b) one corporation is controlled by another corporation if more than 50% of its issued share capital (having full voting rights under all circumstances) belongs to the other corporation, to persons with whom the other corporation does not deal at arm's length, or to the other corporation and persons with whom the other corporation does not deal at arm's length; and

(c) "financial institution" and "mark-to-market property" have the meanings assigned by subsection 142.2(1).

History: S. 112(6)(a) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(9), applicable after April 26, 1995. S. 112(6)(a) formerly read:

"(a) 'taxable dividend' does not include a capital gains dividend within the meaning assigned by subsection 131(1);"

S. 112(6)(c) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 56(8), applicable to taxation years that begin after October 1994.

Editorial Note: This provision provides for the meaning of certain expressions in section 112. In particular, a dividend or taxable dividend does not include a capital gains dividend or dividend from designated surplus.

Related Sections: S. 131(1) Election re capital gains dividend; s. 251(1) Arm's length.

► 112(7) ◄

(7) Rules where shares exchanged. Where a share (in this subsection referred to as the "new share") has been acquired in exchange for another share (in this subsection referred to as the "old share") in a transaction to which section 51, 85.1, 86 or 87 applies, for the purposes of the application of any of subsections (3) to (3.32) in respect of a disposition of the new share, the new share is deemed to be the same share as the old share, except that

(a) any dividend received on the old share is deemed for those purposes to have been received on the new share only to the extent of the proportion of the dividend that

(i) the shareholder's adjusted cost base of the new share immediately after the exchange

is of

(ii) the shareholder's adjusted cost base of all new shares immediately after the exchange acquired in exchange for the old share; and

(b) the amount, if any, by which a loss from the disposition of the new share is reduced because of the application of this subsection shall not exceed the proportion of the shareholder's adjusted cost base of the old share immediately before the exchange that

(i) the shareholder's adjusted cost base of the new share immediately after the exchange

is of

(ii) the shareholder's adjusted cost base of all new shares, immediately after the exchange, acquired in exchange for the old share.

History: S. 112(7) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 131(10), applicable to dispositions that occur after April 26, 1995. S. 112(7) formerly read:

"(7) Rules where shares exchanged. Where at a particular time a share (in this subsection referred to as the 'new share') has been acquired by a corporation, partnership or trust (in this subsection referred to as the 'holder') in exchange for another share (in this subsection referred to as the 'old share') by means of a transaction to which section 51, 85.1, 86 or 87 applies, any reference in subsection (3), (3.1) or (3.2) to a share shall be deemed to include a reference to the new share and the old share as though they were the same share, except that the total of the amounts to be deducted from a loss otherwise determined on any new share of the holder, in respect of dividends received, or designated by the holder, in respect of the share, shall be deemed to be the total of (a) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount that would be determined under subsection (3), (3.1) or (3.2) in respect of a taxable dividend, a capital dividend or a life insurance capital dividend received or designated by the holder in respect of the new share only, and

(b) the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times \frac{B}{C}$$

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount determined in respect of an old share exchanged by the holder at the particular time equal to the lesser of

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is received or designated by the holder in respect of a taxable dividend, a capital dividend or a life insurance capital dividend on the old share, and

(ii) the adjusted cost base to the holder of the old share immediately before the particular time,

B is the adjusted cost base to the holder of the new share immediately after the exchange, and

C is the adjusted cost base to the holder of all new shares immediately after the exchange, to the extent that those amounts were not amounts on which the holder was required to pay tax under Part VII of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, as it read on March 31, 1977."

Paragraph 112(7)(b) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 51(5), applicable to losses arising in the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. Paragraph 112(7)(b) formerly read:

"(b) that proportion of the total of all amounts each of which is an amount received or designated by the holder in respect of a taxable dividend, a capital dividend or a life insurance capital dividend on all the old shares exchanged at the particular time that

(i) the adjusted cost base to the holder of the new share immediately after the exchange

is of

(ii) the adjusted cost base to the holder of all new shares immediately after the exchange"

Editorial Note: Subsection 112(7) provides continuity of the stop-loss rules in subsections 112(3) to (3.2) through reorganizations (conversions, share exchanges, capital reorganizations and amalgamations) by deeming "new" shares received on such a reorganization to be the "old" shares. Dividends received on the old shares therefore carry over (paragraph 112(7)(a)), as does the cost base of the old shares (paragraph 112(7)(b)), both pro-rated based on ACB of shares. The provision also applies to preserve the grandfathering rules in respect of corporate-owned life insurance notwithstanding such reorganizations (i.e., in determining whether the taxpayer owned the share on April 26th, 1995 and whether a main purpose of life insurance policy was intended to fund a redemption — see the editorial note to subsection 112(3.2)).

Related Sections: S. 112(3) Loss on share that is capital property; s. 112(3.1) Loss on share held by partnership; s. 112(3.2) Loss on share held by trust.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-328R3 Losses on shares from which dividends have been received.

SECTION 113:

► 113(1) ◄

(1) Deduction in respect of dividend received from foreign affiliate. Where in a taxation year a corporation resident in Canada has received a dividend on a share owned by it of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation, there may be deducted from the income for the year of the corporation for the purpose of computing its taxable income for the year, an amount equal to the total of

(a) an amount equal to such portion of the dividend as is prescribed to have been paid out of the exempt surplus, as defined by regulation (in this Part referred to as "exempt surplus") of the affiliate,

(b) an amount equal to the lesser of

(i) the product obtained when the foreign tax prescribed to be applicable to such portion of the dividend as is prescribed to have been paid out of the taxable surplus, as defined by regulation (in this Part referred to as "taxable surplus") of the affiliate is multiplied by the amount by which

(A) the relevant tax factor

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 1 — Foreign Investment Entities and Non-Resident Trusts — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Clause 113(1)(b)(i)(A) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(A) the corporation's relevant tax factor for the year

Applicable: After 2000.

Explanatory Note: Subsection 113(1) of the Act permits a resident corporation to deduct specified amounts in respect of dividends received from a foreign affiliate out of the exempt, taxable and pre-acquisition surplus of the foreign affiliate. The amounts so deductible are determined largely with reference to Part LIX of the Income Tax Regulations. The deductions under paragraphs 113(1)(b) and (c) with regard to dividends out of taxable surplus are also determined with reference to the resident corporation's "relevant tax factor".

Subsection 113(1) is amended to explicitly link the "relevant tax factor" to the resident corporation receiving the dividends and the taxation year in which the dividends are received.

This amendment applies after 2000.

exceeds

(B) one, and

(ii) that portion of the dividend,

(c) an amount equal to the lesser of

(i) the product obtained when

(A) the non-business-income tax paid by the corporation applicable to such portion of the dividend as is prescribed to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the affiliate is multiplied by

(B) the relevant tax factor, and

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 1 — Foreign Investment Entities and Non-Resident Trusts — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Clause 113(1)(c)(i)(B) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(B) the corporation's relevant tax factor for the year, and

Applicable: After 2000.

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the amendment to clause 113(1)(b)(i)(A).

(ii) the amount by which such portion of the dividend as is prescribed to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the affiliate exceeds the deduction in respect thereof referred to in paragraph (b), and

(d) an amount equal to such portion of the dividend as is prescribed to have been paid out of the pre-acquisition surplus of the affiliate, and for the purposes of this subsection and subdivision i of Division B, the corporation may make such elections as may be prescribed.

Related Sections: S. 93(3) Exempt dividends; s. 95(1) Foreign affiliate; s. 111(8) Definitions; s. 125(6) Corporate partnerships; s. 126(7) Definitions; s. 143(1) Communal organizations; s. 186(1) Tax on assessable dividends.
Regulations: 5900(1), (2); 5907.
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-98R2 Investment corporations [Archived by the CRA]; IT-232R3 Non-capital losses, net capital losses, restricted farm losses, farm losses and limited partnership losses — Their composition and deductibility in computing taxable income; IT-269R4 Part IV tax on taxable dividends received by a private corporation or a subject corporation.
Information Circulars: IC 77-9R Books, records and other requirements for taxpayers having foreign affiliates.
Tax Topics: No. 1930, Budget 2009 Provides Initial Response to Final Report Issued by the Advisory Panel on Canada's System of International Taxation.
Tax Profile: January 2009 — Enhancing Canada's International Tax Advantage; June 2008 — International Tax Planning for the Owner-Manager; July 2008 — International Tax Planning for the Owner-Manager; April 2008 — International Tax Planning for the Owner-Manager; May 2007 — Impact of 2007 Federal Budget on Cross-Border Transactions; February 2007 — U.S. Limited Liability Companies — The Good, the Bad and the Ugly; September 2006 — Canadian Acquisition of U.S. Real Estate; February 2006 — Foreign Source Income: Outbound Structures and Foreign Tax Credit Planning — Part II; December 2004 — Taxation of Dividends: A Survey in the Context of Private Corporations and Their Shareholders — Part 2; April 2001 — Canada-U.S. Hybrids.
Canadian Tax Foundation: Minassian and Selby, "Computation of Surplus Accounts", 2002 Conference Report, 43:1.
Canadian Petroleum Tax Journal: Foreign Affiliate Surplus: Got Enough?, Talakshi and Samuel, Vol. 18 No. 1 2005; High Tech in the Oil Patch: Planning Considerations For Transferring Technology Offshore, Derek A. Kurrant, Vol. 13 No. 1 2000.

► 113(2) ◄

(2) Additional deduction. Where, at any particular time in a taxation year ending after 1975, a corporation resident in Canada has received a dividend on a share owned by it at the end of its 1975 taxation year of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation, there may be deducted from the income for the year of the corporation for the purpose of computing its taxable income for the year, an amount in respect of the dividend equal to the lesser of

(a) the amount, if any, by which the amount of the dividend so received exceeds the total of

(i) the deduction in respect of the dividend permitted by subsection 91(5) in computing the corporation's income for the year, and

(ii) the deduction in respect of the dividend permitted by subsection (1) from the income for the year of the corporation for the purpose of computing its taxable income, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the adjusted cost base to the corporation of the share at the end of its 1975 taxation year

exceeds the total of

(ii) [Repealed by 1979, c. 5, s. 37(1).]

(iii) such amounts in respect of dividends received by the corporation on the share after the end of its 1975 taxation year and before the particular time as are deductible under paragraph (1)(d) in computing the taxable income of the corporation for taxation years ending after 1975,

(iii.1) the total of all amounts received by the corporation on the share after the end of its 1975 taxation year and before the particular time on a reduction of the paid-up capital of the foreign affiliate in respect of the share, and

(iv) the total of all amounts deducted under this subsection in respect of dividends received by the corporation on the share before the particular time.

Related Sections: S. 92(1) Adjusted cost base of share of foreign affiliate; s. 92(3) Computation of adjusted cost base; s. 113(1) Deduction in respect of dividend received from foreign affiliate.
Tax Profile: December 2004 — Taxation of Dividends: A Survey in the Context of Private Corporations and Their Shareholders — Part 2.

► 113(3) ◄

(3) Definitions. In this section,

"non-business-income tax" — "non-business-income tax" paid by a taxpayer has the meaning assigned by subsection 126(7);

"relevant tax factor" — "relevant tax factor" has the meaning assigned by subsection 95(1).

► 113(4) ◄

(4) Portion of dividend deemed paid out of exempt surplus. Such portion of any dividend received at any time in a taxation year by a corporation resident in Canada on a share owned by it of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation, that was received after the 1971 taxation year of the affiliate and before the affiliate's 1976 taxation year, as exceeds the amount deductible in respect of the dividend under paragraph (1)(d) in computing the corporation's taxable income for the year shall, for the purposes of paragraph (1)(a), be deemed to be the portion of the dividend prescribed to have been paid out of the exempt surplus of the affiliate.

Related Sections: S. 95(1)(b) Foreign affiliate; s. 113(1) Deduction in respect of dividend received from foreign affiliate.
Regulations: 5900.
Cases: Considering the distinction between "listed" and "unlisted" countries and the fact that Puerto Rico had to be taken as being distinct from the U.S., a tax exemption received by the taxpayer's foreign affiliate from the Puerto Rican government was an "export incentive" so that its dividends did not qualify for the deduction under s. 113(1)(a). The Queen v. Old HW-GW Ltd., 93 DTC 5199 (F.C.A.), reversing 91 DTC 5327 (F.C.T.D.).

► 113(5) ◄

(5) Limitation on foreign accrual tax where treaty. [Repealed by 1974-75-76, c. 26, s. 73(4).]

► 113(6) ◄

(6) Construction of other provisions. [Repealed by 1974-75-76, c. 26, s. 73(4).]

► 113(7) ◄

(7) Meaning of "foreign accrual tax applicable". [Repealed by 1974-75-76, c. 26, s. 73(4).]

SECTION 114: Individual resident in Canada for only part of year.

Notwithstanding subsection 2(2), the taxable income for a taxation year of an individual who is resident in Canada throughout part of the year and non-resident throughout another part of the year is the amount, if any, by which

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 1 — Foreign Investment Entities and Non-Resident Trusts — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of section 114 of the Act before paragraph (a) is replaced by the following:

SECTION 114: Individual resident in Canada for only part of year.

Notwithstanding subsection 2(2) and subject to subsection 94.2(5), the taxable income for a taxation year of an individual who is resident in Canada throughout part of the year and non-resident throughout another part of the year is the amount, if any, by which Applicable: To taxation years that begin after 2006, except that section 114 also applies to a taxation year of a taxpayer that begins before 2007 if sections 94.1 to 94.4 apply to that taxation year of the taxpayer.

Explanatory Note: Section 114 of the Act provides rules for computing the taxable income of an individual who is resident in Canada for a period or periods in a taxation year, and is non-resident for the rest of the year.

Section 114 is amended so that it is subject to paragraph 94.2(5)(c), a rule that applies in connection with a participating interest, in a foreign investment entity, in respect of which the mark-to-market regime under section 94.2 applies to a taxpayer. Paragraph 94.2(5)(c) is, however, only relevant to an individual who ceases to be, and later becomes, resident in Canada in the same taxation year. For further information, see the commentary on new subsection 94.2(5).

This amendment applies to taxation years that begin after 2006.

(a) the amount that would be the individual's income for the year if the individual had no income or losses, for the part of the year throughout which the individual was non-resident, other than

(i) income or losses described in paragraphs 115(1)(a) to (c), and

(ii) income that would have been included in the individual's taxable income earned in Canada for the year under subparagraph 115(1)(a)(v) if the part of the year throughout which the individual was non-resident were the whole taxation year,

exceeds the total of

(b) the deductions permitted by subsection 111(1) and, to the extent that they relate to amounts included in computing the amount determined under paragraph (a), the deductions permitted by any of paragraphs 110(1)(d) to (d.2) and (f), and

(c) any other deduction permitted for the purpose of computing taxable income to the extent that

(i) it can reasonably be considered to be applicable to the part of the year throughout which the individual was resident in Canada, or

(ii) if all or substantially all of the individual's income for the part of the year throughout which the individual was non-resident is included in the amount determined under paragraph (a), it can reasonably be considered to be applicable to that part of the year.

History: S. 114 was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 89(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 114 formerly read:

"S. 114. Individual resident in Canada for only part of year. Notwithstanding subsection 2(2), where an individual is resident in Canada throughout part of a taxation year, and throughout another part of the year is non-resident, the individual's taxable income for the year is the amount, if any, by which the total of

(a) the individual's income for the period or periods in the year throughout which the individual is resident in Canada, computed without regard to section 61.2 and as though that period or those periods were the whole taxation year, and

(b) the amount that would be the individual's taxable income earned in Canada for the year if at no time in the year the individual had been resident in Canada, computed as though the part of the year that is not in the period or periods referred to in paragraph (a) were the whole taxation year,

exceeds

(c) the total of

(i) such of the deductions permitted for the purpose of computing taxable income as can reasonably be considered wholly applicable, and

(ii) such part of any other of those deductions as can reasonably be considered applicable to the period or periods referred to in paragraph (a), except that the total of all amounts included in computing the total determined under paragraph (c) and all amounts deducted because of paragraphs 115(1)(d) to (f) in respect of the individual for the year shall not exceed the total of the amounts that would have been deductible in computing the individual's taxable income for the year had the individual been resident in Canada throughout the year."

S. 114(a) was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 37(1), applicable to taxation years that end after February 21, 1994. S. 114(a) formerly read:

"(a) the individual's income for the period or periods in the year throughout which the individual is resident in Canada, computed as though that period or those periods were the whole taxation year, and"

Section 114, that portion before paragraph (b), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 52(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years, except that, where a taxpayer so elects by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in writing before the end of the sixth month after the month in which this Act is assented to (June 15, 1994), the portion preceding paragraph 114(b) does not apply to the taxpayer's 1992 taxation year. Section 114, that portion before paragraph (b), formerly read:

"S. 114. Notwithstanding subsection 2(2), where an individual is resident in Canada during part of a taxation year, and during some other part of the year is not resident in Canada, is not employed in Canada and is not carrying on business in Canada, for the purposes of this Part, the individual's taxable income for the year is the amount, if any, by which the total of

(a) the individual's income for the period or periods in the year throughout which the individual is resident in Canada, is employed in Canada or is carrying on business in Canada, computed as though that period or those periods were the whole taxation year and as though any disposition of property deemed by subsection 48(1) to have been made because the individual ceased to be resident in Canada were made in that period or those periods, and"

S. 114 of the Act was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 85(1), applicable to the 1988 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 114 formerly read:

"S. 114. Individual resident in Canada during only part of year. Notwithstanding subsection 2(2), where an individual was resident in Canada during part of a taxation year, and during some other part of the year was not resident in Canada, was not employed in Canada and was not carrying on business in Canada, for the purpose of this Part, the individual's taxable income for the taxation year is the total of

(a) the individual's income for the period or periods in the year throughout which the individual was resident in Canada, was employed in Canada or was carrying on business in Canada, computed as though that period or those periods were the whole taxation year and as though any disposition of property deemed by subsection 48(1) to have been made by reason of the individual having ceased to be resident in Canada were made in the period or periods, and

(b) the amount that would be the individual's taxable income earned in Canada for the year if at no time in the year the individual had been resident in Canada, computed as though the portion of the year that is not in the period or periods referred to in paragraph (a) were the whole taxation year, minus the total of such of the deductions permitted for the purpose of computing taxable income as may reasonably be considered wholly applicable to the period or periods referred to in paragraph (a) and of such part of any other of those deductions as may reasonably be considered applicable to the period or periods."

Related Sections: S. 2(2) Taxable income; s. 8(10) Certificate of employer; s. 28(4) Non-resident; s. 111(8) Definitions; s. 120(3) Definition of "the individual's income for the year"; s. 122.3 Deduction from tax payable where employment out of Canada; s. 126(1) Foreign tax deduction — non-business income; s. 126(2) Foreign tax deduction — business income; s. 126(3) Employees of international organizations; s. 248(1), "amount", "business", "individual", "property", "taxable income earned in Canada"; s. 249 Definition of "taxation year"; s. 255 Canada.

Regulations: 2606; 2606(2).

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-262R2 Losses of non-residents and part-year residents. Secondary — IT-420R3 Non-residents — Income earned in Canada; IT-497R4 Overseas employment tax credit.

Tax Profile: December 2008 — Tax Planning for Emigration from Canada to the United States.

Cases: Days before emigrating from Canada, the taxpayers executed a departure trade designed to create a $1.7 million interest deduction. Since the interest was payable one day after they became non-residents, it couldn't be deducted under s. 114(a). It wasn't deductible under s. 114(c) either since the phrase, "any other deduction permitted for the purpose of computing taxable income" is restricted to Division C deductions, which excludes a s. 20(1)(c) interest deduction. Grant et al. v. The Queen, 2007 DTC 5351 (F.C.A.), affirming 2006 DTC 3071 (T.C.C.).

A taxpayer was not resident in Canada for a certain period although his family was temporarily resident there, and although he visited them on several occasions. Kallos v. M.N.R., (T.R.B.) 72 DTC 1099. Similarly, a taxpayer living in France for 246 days while training for a position with a Canadian subsidiary was held resident in Canada. Queen v. Reeder, 75 DTC 5160 (F.C.T.D.), reversing 75 DTC 17 (T.R.B.).

Guides: T4055 Newcomers to Canada; T4056 Emigrants and Income Tax.

SECTION 114.1: Application of s. 115(2). [Repealed by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 89(1).]

History: S. 114.1 was repealed by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 89(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 114.1 formerly read:

"S. 114.1. Application of s. 115(2). In applying section 115 for the purposes of section 114, the references in paragraphs 115(2)(b), (b.1) and (c) to 'who had, in any previous year, ceased to be resident in Canada' shall be read as references to 'who has, in the year, or had, in any previous year, ceased to be resident in Canada'."

Regulations: Part I.

SECTION 114.2: Deductions in separate returns.

Where a separate return of income with respect to a taxpayer is filed under subsection 70(2), 104(23) or 150(4) for a particular period and another return of income under this Part with respect to the taxpayer is filed for a period ending in the calendar year in which the particular period ends, for the purpose of computing the taxable income under this Part of the taxpayer in those returns, the total of all deductions claimed in all those returns under section 110 shall not exceed the total that could be deducted under that section for the year with respect to the taxpayer if no separate returns were filed under subsections 70(2), 104(23) and 150(4).

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-326R3 Returns of deceased persons as "another person". Secondary — IT-212R3 Income of deceased persons — Rights or things.

DIVISION D — Taxable Income Earned in Canada by Non-Residents

SECTION 115:

► 115(1) ◄

(1) Non-resident's taxable income in Canada. For the purposes of this Act, the taxable income earned in Canada for a taxation year of a person who at no time in the year is resident in Canada is the amount, if any, by which the amount that would be the non-resident person's income for the year under section 3 if

(a) the non-resident person had no income other than

(i) incomes from the duties of offices and employments performed by the non-resident person in Canada and, if the person was resident in Canada at the time the person performed the duties, outside Canada,

(ii) incomes from businesses carried on by the non-resident person in Canada which, in the case of the Canadian banking business of an authorized foreign bank, is, subject to this Part, the profit from that business computed using the bank's branch financial statements (within the meaning assigned by subsection 20.2(1),

(iii) taxable capital gains from dispositions described in paragraph (b),

(iii.1) the amount by which the amount required by paragraph 59(3.2)(c) to be included in computing the non-resident person's income for the year exceeds any portion of that amount that was included in computing the non-resident person's income from a business carried on by the non-resident person in Canada,

(iii.2) amounts required by section 13 to be included in computing the non-resident person's income for the year in respect of dispositions of properties to the extent that those amounts were not included in computing the non-resident person's income from a business carried on by the non-resident person in Canada,

(iii.21) the total of all amounts, each of which is an amount included under subparagraph 56(1)(r)(v) or section 56.3 in computing the non-resident person's income for the year,

(iii.3) in any case where, in the year, the non-resident person carried on a business in Canada described in any of paragraphs (a) to (g) of the definition "principal-business corporation" in subsection 66(15), all amounts in respect of a Canadian resource property that would be required to be included in computing the non-resident person's income for the year under this Part if the non-resident person were resident in Canada at any time in the year, to the extent that those amounts are not included in computing the non-resident person's income by virtue of subparagraph (ii) or (iii.1),

(iv) the amount, if any, by which any amount required by subsection 106(2) to be included in computing the non-resident person's income for the year as proceeds of the disposition of an income interest in a trust resident in Canada exceeds the amount in respect of that income interest that would, if the non-resident person had been resident in Canada throughout the year, be deductible under subsection 106(1) in computing the non-resident person's income for the year,

(iv.1) the amount, if any, by which any amount required by subsection 96(1.2) to be included in computing the non-resident person's income for the year as proceeds of the disposition of a right to a share of the income or loss under an agreement referred to in paragraph 96(1.1)(a) exceeds the amount in respect of that right that would, if the non-resident person had been resident in Canada throughout the year, be deductible under subsection 96(1.3) in computing the non-resident person's income for the year,

(v) in the case of a non-resident person described in subsection (2), the total determined under paragraph (2)(e) in respect of the non-resident person,

(vi) the amount that would have been required to be included in computing the non-resident person's income in respect of a life insurance policy in Canada by virtue of subsection 148(1) or (1.1) if the non-resident person had been resident in Canada throughout the year, and

(vii) in the case of an authorized foreign bank, the amount claimed by the bank to the extent that the inclusion of the amount in income

(A) increases any amount deductible by the bank under subsection 126(1) for the year, and

(B) does not increase an amount deductible by the bank under section 127 for the year,

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 1 — Foreign Investment Entities and Non-Resident Trusts — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subparagraph 115(1)(a)(vii) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(vii) in the case of an authorized foreign bank,

(A) the amount claimed by the bank to the extent that the inclusion of the amount in income

(I) increases any amount deductible by the bank under subsection 126(1) for the year, and

(II) does not increase an amount deductible by the bank under section 127 for the year, and

(B) all amounts required by paragraph 12(1)(k) to be included in computing the bank's income, except to the extent that

(I) subparagraph (ii) or clause (A) applies to those amounts, or

(II) those amounts are in respect of a business of the bank that is not its Canadian banking business,

Applicable: To taxation years that begin after July 18, 2005.

Explanatory Note: Section 115 of the Act determines the amount of a non-resident person's income that is subject to tax under Part I of the Act. This amount is referred to as the non-resident's "taxable income earned in Canada". Subsection 115(1) provides general rules to be applied in calculating a non-resident's "taxable income earned in Canada". Paragraphs 115(1)(a) to (c) set out special assumptions that are applied in computing the taxable income earned in Canada of a non-resident taxpayer. Subparagraph 115(1)(a)(vii) includes in the taxable income earned in Canada of an authorized foreign bank the amount claimed by the bank to the extent that the inclusion increases the bank's usable foreign tax credit under subsection 126(1) but does not increase any amount deductible by the bank under section 127.

Subparagraph 115(1)(a)(vii) of the Act is amended so that, in computing the taxable income earned in Canada of an authorized foreign bank, there must also be included amounts (not otherwise included in computing its taxable income earned in Canada) that are required by paragraph 12(1)(k) to be included in computing the bank's income, but only to the extent that the income is earned in its Canadian banking business.

This amendment is made in conjunction with paragraph 94.1(2)(t), which ensures that an authorized foreign bank is subject to the FIE rules in respect of participating interests held by it in a FIE.

This amendment applies to taxation years that begin after July 18, 2005.

(b) the only taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses referred to in paragraph 3(b) were taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses from dispositions, other than dispositions deemed under subsection 218.3(2), of taxable Canadian properties (other than treaty-protected properties), and

(b.1) [Repealed by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 90(4).]

(c) the only losses for the year referred to in paragraph 3(d) were losses from duties of an office or employment performed by the person in Canada and businesses (other than treaty-protected businesses) carried on by the person in Canada and allowable business investment losses in respect of property any gain from the disposition of which would, because of this subsection, be included in computing the person's taxable income earned in Canada,

exceeds the total of

(d) the deductions permitted by subsection 111(1) and, to the extent that they relate to amounts included in computing the amount determined under any of paragraphs (a) to (c), the deductions permitted by any of paragraphs 110(1)(d) to (d.2) and (f) and subsection 110.1(1),

(d.1) [Repealed by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 29(2).]

(e) the deductions permitted by any of subsections 112(1) and (2) and 138(6) in respect of a dividend received by the non-resident person, to the extent that the dividend is included in computing the non-resident person's taxable income earned in Canada for the year,

(e.1) the deduction permitted by subsection (4.1), and

(f) where all or substantially all of the non-resident person's income for the year is included in computing the non-resident person's taxable income earned in Canada for the year, such of the other deductions permitted for the purpose of computing taxable income as may reasonably be considered wholly applicable.

Department of Finance Comfort Letter
[Follow-up to Earlier Letters on Modifications to Proposed S. 88(3)]

March 19, 2009

Dear XXXX

Subject: Subsection 88(3) of the Income Tax Act

I am writing in response to your letter of February 13, 2009 concerning subsection 88(3) of the Income Tax Act (Act).

August 16, 2005 and April 12, 2006 letters

Firstly, in your letter you have asked for confirmation of the Department's intention to recommend to the Minister of Finance certain amendments to subsection 88(3) of the Act (the "88(3) Modifications") as described in letters dated August 16, 2005 and April 12, 2006 (the "Earlier Letters") from Mr. Brian Ernewein.

As you know, it was stated in the 2007 Budget documents, and confirmed in the 2008 Budget documents, that previously released proposals (the "2004 FA proposals") in respect of the taxation of income from foreign affiliates would be reviewed and evaluated in view of the international tax measures announced in the 2007 Budget. Certain of these 2004 FA proposals, as modified to take into account some of the 2007 Budget measures, were enacted by Bill C-28 that received Royal Assent on December 14, 2007. Certain other portions of these 2004 FA proposals were enacted by the Budget Implementation Act, 2009, which received Royal Assent on March 12, 2009. Furthermore, in the 2009 Budget documents, it was stated that the Government will consider the recommendations of the Advisory Panel on Canada's System of International Taxation that relate to foreign affiliates before proceeding with the remaining 2004 FA Proposals, as modified to take into account consultations and deliberations since their release.

The review, evaluation and consideration referred to in the 2007, 2008 and 2009 Budget documents is still in progress in respect of the remaining 2004 FA proposals. Accordingly, it is possible that further changes may be made in this area of the tax law. However, we would in that event recommend to the Minister of Finance that any further changes to the 88(3) Modifications incorporate appropriate transitional provisions to ensure that the changes do not impair any beneficial effect of those modifications for the period up to any announcement of revisions to those modifications.

"Relevant cost amount"

Secondly, in your letter you have asked for clarification of the intended meaning of the expression "relevant cost amount" as used in the Earlier Letters. As you have noted, the recommendations to the Minister of Finance set out in those letters include a recommendation to amend the Act such that a taxpayer resident in Canada (a "Canadian taxpayer") may elect in respect of a qualifying liquidation and dissolution of a foreign affiliate of the Canadian taxpayer (an "Elected QLAD") that the foreign affiliate be considered to have disposed of each of its properties for proceeds equal to the greater of the "relevant cost amount" to the foreign affiliate of each such property and such amount chosen by the Canadian taxpayer, in a further election, not exceeding the fair market value of the property. In those letters, the relevant cost amount is described as being "essentially the amount that would generally result in no gain or loss to the foreign affiliate in respect of the Canadian taxpayer in respect of the distribution of the distributed property".

In the example set out in your letter, at the time of an Elected QLAD, the foreign affiliate owns non-depreciable capital property that is non-treaty-protected taxable Canadian property ("TCP"), having an adjusted cost base of $10 and a fair market value of $100. In your example, you assume that the $90 of appreciation (pre-acquisition gain) occurred at a time when no person or partnership that held the property was a "specified person or partnership" in respect of the Canadian taxpayer (within the meaning of that term in subsection 95(1) of the Act). Thus, you argue that, for the purposes of the foreign accrual property income ("FAPI") rules in the Act, the foreign affiliate's proceeds of disposition of the property could be $100, without triggering a capital gain under paragraph 95(2)(f) of the Act, because that paragraph, in conjunction with paragraph 95(2)(f.1), would exclude the pre-acquisition gain from the computation of the capital gain. You therefore suggest that, in this context, the relevant cost amount as described in the Earlier Letters would be $100.

On the other hand, for the purposes of determining the foreign affiliate's taxable income earned in Canada under subsection 115(1) of the Act, under your example, you conclude that the foreign affiliate will realize a capital gain to the extent that the foreign affiliate's proceeds of disposition of the property exceed $10. You therefore suggest that, in this context, the relevant cost amount as described in the Earlier Letters would be $10.

In light of these conflicting results, you have asked us to provide clarification as to the determination of the relevant cost amount of non-depreciable capital property that is non-treaty-protected TCP .

Let us first offer some general clarifying comments as to our intentions with respect to the concept of "relevant cost amount". This concept is meant to be tied directly to the so-called "carve-out" rule in paragraph 95(2)(f.1) of the Act. Thus, where a Canadian taxpayer acquires shares of a foreign affiliate from an arm's length party and that affiliate holds appreciated property, the fair market value of the property at the time of acquisition should generally be the affiliate's relevant cost amount as that is the amount of proceeds of disposition that it could receive for the property without causing it to have a FAPI gain or loss, after taking into account the carve-out rule. Thus, generally the relevant cost amount of the appreciated property would be $100, using the figures in your example.

However, in the more specific context of an Elected QLAD where the property of the foreign affiliate is non-treaty-protected TCP and thus is relevant from both a FAPI and a section 115 perspective, it is important that the proceeds of disposition of property distributed to the Canadian taxpayer be the same for all Canadian tax purposes given that those proceeds will also be the cost to the Canadian taxpayer of that property going forward. It is also possible that certain Canadian taxpayers, in these circumstances, may wish their affiliates to realize gains for section 115 purposes, but rely on the carve-out rule to reduce or eliminate their FAPI inclusion.

On the basis of the foregoing, we are prepared to recommend to the Minister of Finance that, in the context of an Elected QLAD under the 88(3) Modifications, the Canadian taxpayer and the foreign affiliate be entitled to jointly elect that the relevant cost amount of a property that is non-treaty-protected TCP be the amount that causes no gain or loss in the computation of the affiliate's taxable income earned in Canada under section 115. This would mean that if, in your example, that election were made, the foreign affiliate's proceeds of disposition would be $10 such that the affiliate would have no gain for section 115 purposes. Furthermore, if that election were made, a similar result would obtain for FAPI purposes as paragraph 95(2)(f) would produce no gain, without the need to rely on the carve-out rule in paragraph 95(2)(f.1), and thus the Canadian taxpayer would have no FAPI inclusion. As a result, under the 88(3) Modifications, the Canadian taxpayer's cost of the property would be $10 for its future income tax determinations made under the Act.

While I cannot offer any assurance that either the Minister of Finance or Parliament will agree with our recommendations, I hope that this statement of our intentions is helpful to you. As stated above, it should also be kept in mind that if the 88(3) Modifications are further revised, it is possible that the recommendation herein may only apply for the period up to any announcement of any such revisions.

Thank you for writing.

Yours sincerely,

Gerard Lalonde
Director,
Tax Legislation Division
Tax Policy Branch

History: S. 115(1)(a)(iii.21) was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 31(1), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 115(1)(a)(iii.21) formerly read:

"(iii.21) the amount, if any, included under section 56.3 in computing the non-resident person's income for the year,"

S. 115(1)(b) was replaced by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 21(1), applicable after 2004. S. 115(1)(b) formerly read:

"(b) the only taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses referred to in paragraph 3(b) were taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses from dispositions of taxable Canadian properties (other than treaty-protected properties), and"

S. 115(1)(a)(i) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 90(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years except that, if an individual who ceased at any time after 1992 and before October 2, 1996 to be resident in Canada elects under subsection 124(1) in respect of that cessation of residence, subparagraph 115(1)(a)(i) of the Act applies to income received by the individual after that cessation of residence. S. 115(1)(a)(i) formerly read:

"(i) incomes from the duties of offices and employments performed by the non-resident person in Canada,"

S. 115(1)(a)(ii) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 90(2), applicable after June 27, 1999. S. 115(1)(a)(ii) formerly read:

"(ii) incomes from businesses carried on by the non-resident person in Canada,"

S. 115(1)(a)(vii) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 90(3), applicable after June 27, 1999.

Ss. 115(1)(b) and (b.1) were amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 90(4), applicable after October 1, 1996 except that, in its application to dispositions that occurred before the 1998 taxation year, paragraph 115(1)(b) of the Act shall be read as follows:

"(b) the only taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses referred to in paragraph 3(b) were taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses from dispositions of taxable Canadian properties, and"

Ss. 115(1)(b) and (b.1) formerly read:

"(b) the only taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses referred to in paragraph 3(b) were taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses from dispositions at any time in the year of property or an interest therein (in this Act referred to as 'taxable Canadian property') that was

(i) real property situated in Canada,

(ii) a capital property used by the non-resident person in carrying on a business in Canada, other than

(A) property used in carrying on an insurance business, and

(B) ships and aircraft used principally in international traffic and personal property pertaining to their operation if the country in which the non-resident person is resident grants substantially similar relief for the year to persons resident in Canada,

(iii) where the non-resident person is an insurer, any capital property that is its designated insurance property for the year,

(iv) a share of the capital stock of a corporation (other than a mutual fund corporation) resident in Canada that is not listed on a prescribed stock exchange,

(v) a share of the capital stock of a non-resident corporation that is not listed on a prescribed stock exchange where, at any particular time during the 12-month period that ends at that time,

(A) the fair market value of all of the properties of the corporation each of which was

(I) a taxable Canadian property,

(II) a Canadian resource property,

(III) a timber resource property,

(IV) an income interest in a trust resident in Canada, or

(V) an interest in or option in respect of a property described in any of subclauses (II) to (IV), whether or not the property exists, was more than 50% of the fair market value of all of its properties, and

(B) more than 50% of the fair market value of the share is derived directly or indirectly from one or any combination of

(I) real property situated in Canada,

(II) Canadian resource properties, and

(III) timber resource properties,

(vi) a share otherwise described in subparagraph (iv) or (v) that is listed on a prescribed stock exchange, or a share of the capital stock of a mutual fund corporation, if, at any time during the 5-year period that ends at that time, the non-resident person, persons with whom the non-resident person did not deal at arm's length, or the non-resident person together with all such persons owned 25% or more of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation that issued the share,

(vii) an interest in a partnership where, at any particular time during the 12-month period that ends at that time, the fair market value of all of the properties of the partnership each of which was

(A) a taxable Canadian property,

(B) a Canadian resource property,

(C) a timber resource property,

(D) an income interest in a trust resident in Canada, or

(E) an interest in or option in respect of a property described in clauses (B) to (D), whether or not that property exists, was more than 50% of the fair market value of all of its properties,

(viii) a capital interest in a trust (other than a unit trust) resident in Canada,

(ix) a unit of a unit trust (other than a mutual fund trust) resident in Canada,

(x) a unit of a mutual fund trust if, at any particular time during the 5-year period that ends at that time, not less than 25% of the issued units of the trust belonged to the non-resident person, to persons with whom the non-resident person did not deal at arm's length, or to the non-resident person and persons with whom the non-resident person did not deal at arm's length,

(xi) an interest in a non-resident trust where, at any particular time during the 12-month period that ends at that time,

(A) the fair market value of all of the properties of the trust each of which was
(I) a taxable Canadian property,
(II) a Canadian resource property,
(III) a timber resource property,
(IV) an income interest in a trust resident in Canada, or
(V) an interest in or option in respect of a property described in subclauses (II) to (IV), whether or not the property exists, was more than 50% of the fair market value of all of its properties, and
(B) more than 50% of the fair market value of the interest is derived directly or indirectly from one or any combination of
(I) real property situated in Canada,
(II) Canadian resource properties, and
(III) timber resource properties, or
(xii) a property deemed by any provision of this Act to be taxable Canadian property, but does not include a share of the capital stock of a non-resident-owned investment corporation if, on the first day of the year, the corporation did not own taxable Canadian property, Canadian resource property, timber resource property nor an income interest in a trust resident in Canada,

(b.1) notwithstanding paragraph (b), the taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses referred to in paragraph 3(b) did not include taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses from dispositions at any time in the year of taxable Canadian property that was treaty-protected property of the non-resident at that time, and"

S. 115(1)(d) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 90(5), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 115(1)(d) formerly read:

"(d) the deductions permitted by subsection 111(1) and, to the extent that they relate to amounts included in computing the amount determined under any of paragraphs (a) to (c), the deductions permitted by any of paragraphs 110(1)(d), (d.1), (d.2) and (f) and subsection 110.1(1),"

S. 115(1)(e.1) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 90(6), applicable to taxation years that begin after February 27, 2000.

S. 115(1)(b.1) was added, paragraphs (c), (d) and (e) were amended, and paragraph (d.1) was repealed, by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 29(2), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 115(1)(c) to (e) formerly read:

"(c) the only losses for the year referred to in paragraph 3(d) were losses from duties of an office or employment performed by the person in Canada and businesses carried on by the person in Canada and allowable business investment losses in respect of property any gain from the disposition of which would, because of this subsection, be included in computing the person's taxable income earned in Canada,

minus the total of

(d) the deductions permitted by paragraphs 110(1)(d), (d.1), (d.2) and (f) and subsection 110.1(1),

(d.1) the deductions permitted by subsections 112(1) and (2) and 138(6), to the extent that a dividend or portion thereof has been included in computing the non-resident person's taxable income earned in Canada,

(e) such of the deductions from income permitted by section 111 as may reasonably be considered to be applicable to the duties of an office or employment performed by the non-resident person in Canada, a business carried on by the non-resident person in Canada or a disposition of property, any profit or gain on which would have been required by this subsection to be included in computing the non-resident person's taxable income earned in Canada, and"

S. 115(1), the portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 29(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 115(1), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"S. 115. Non-resident's taxable income in Canada.

(1) For the purposes of this Act, the taxable income earned in Canada for a taxation year of a person who at no time in the year is resident in Canada is the amount of the non-resident person's income for the year that would be determined under section 3 if"

S. 115(1)(b) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 132(1), applicable after April 26, 1995, except in respect of the disposition of a property before 1996

(a) to a person who was obliged on April 26, 1995 to acquire the property pursuant to the terms of an agreement in writing made on or before that day (and, for this purpose, a person shall be considered not to be obliged to acquire property where the person can be excused from the obligation if there is a change to the Act or if there is an adverse assessment under the Act), or

(b) pursuant to a prospectus or similar document filed with the relevant securities authority before April 27, 1995.

S. 115(1)(b) formerly read:

"(b) the only taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses referred to in paragraph 3(b) were taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses from dispositions of property each of which was a disposition of property or an interest therein (in this Act referred to as a 'taxable Canadian property') that was
(i) real property situated in Canada,
(ii) any capital property used by the non-resident person in carrying on a business (other than an insurance business) in Canada,
(ii.1) where the non-resident person is an insurer, any capital property that is its designated insurance property for the year,
(iii) a share of the capital stock of a corporation resident in Canada (other than a public corporation),
(iv) a share of the capital stock of a public corporation if at any time during such part of the period of 5 years immediately preceding the disposition thereof as is after 1971, not less than 25% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation belonged to the non-resident person, to persons with whom the non-resident person did not deal at arm's length, or to the non-resident person and persons with whom the non-resident person did not deal at arm's length,
(v) an interest in a partnership, if, at any time during the 12 months immediately preceding the disposition thereof, the fair market value of such of the partnership property as was, at that time,
(A) a Canadian resource property,
(B) a timber resource property,
(C) an income interest in a trust resident in Canada, or
(D) any other property described in this paragraph was not less than 50% of the total of
(E) the fair market value at that time of all of the partnership property, and
(F) the amount of any money of the partnership on hand at that time,
(vi) a capital interest in a trust (other than a unit trust) resident in Canada,
(vii) a unit of a unit trust (other than a mutual fund trust) resident in Canada,
(viii) a unit of a mutual fund trust, if at any time during such part of the period of 5 years immediately preceding the disposition thereof as is after 1971, not less than 25% of the issued units of the trust belonged to the non-resident person, to persons with whom the non-resident person did not deal at arm's length, or to the non-resident person and persons with whom the non-resident person did not deal at arm's length, or
(ix) any other property deemed by any provision of this Act to be taxable Canadian property, but not including a share of the capital stock of a non-resident-owned investment corporation, if, on the first day of the taxation year of the corporation in which the disposition was made, the corporation did not own any property that was property referred to in clauses (v)(A) to (D), and"

S. 115(1)(b)(ii.1) was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 23(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years. S. 115(1)(b)(ii.1) formerly read:

"(ii.1) where the non-resident person is an insurer, any capital property that is property used by it in the year in, or held by it in the year in the course of, carrying on an insurance business in Canada,"

S. 115(1)(a)(iii.21) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 21, s. 38(1), applicable to taxation years that end after February 21, 1994.

S. 115(1)(c) of the Act was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 50(1), applicable to the 1991 and subsequent taxation years. S. 115(1)(c) formerly read:

"(c) the only losses referred to in paragraph 3(d) were losses from businesses carried on by the non-resident person in Canada,"

S. 115(1)(d) of the Act was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 86(1), applicable to the 1988 and subsequent taxation years. S. 115(1)(d) formerly read:

"(d) the deductions permitted by paragraphs 110(1)(d), (d.1), (d.2), (f) and (i) and subsection 110.1(1),"

S. 115(1)(d.1) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 86(2), applicable to the 1983 and subsequent taxation years.

Editorial Note: A non-resident's taxable income earned in Canada may be exempt or reduced by an income tax treaty (see also paragraph 110(1)(f)). Most forms of Canadian-sourced passive investment income received by a non-resident (including interest, dividends, royalties and rent that is income from property) do not constitute taxable income earned in Canada, and are instead subject to Part XIII withholding tax.

Related Sections: S. 13(21) Definitions; s. 38 Taxable capital gain and allowable capital loss; s. 39(1)(c) Meaning of capital gain and capital loss; s. 40(9) Additions to taxable Canadian property; s. 116(1) Disposition by non-resident person of certain property; s. 116(3) Notice to Minister; s. 116(5) Liability of purchaser; s. 141(5) Exclusion from taxable Canadian property; s. 216 Alternatives re rents and timber royalties; s. 217 Alternative re Canadian benefits; s. 248(1), "business", "disposition", "employment", "office", "property", "taxable income earned in Canada", "treaty-protected business", "treaty-protected property"; s. 250 Person deemed resident; s. 251(1) Arm's length; s. 255 Canada.

Regulations: Part VIII; Part XXVI.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-171R2 Non-resident individuals — Computation of taxable income earned in Canada and non-refundable tax credits [Archived by the CRA]; IT-176R2 Taxable Canadian property — Interests in and options on real property and shares; IT-262R2 Losses of non-residents and part-year residents; IT-420R3 Non-residents — Income earned in Canada. Secondary — IT-81R Partnerships — Income of non-resident partners; IT-150R2 Acquisition from a non-resident of certain property on death or mortgage foreclosure or by virtue of a deemed disposition [Archived by the CRA]; IT-168R3 Athletes and players employed by football, hockey and similar clubs; IT-393R2 Election re tax on rents and timber royalties — Non-residents; IT-434R Rental of real property by individual; IT-451R Deemed disposition and acquisition on ceasing to be or becoming resident in Canada; IT-465R Non-resident beneficiaries of trusts.

Information Circulars: IC 72-17R5 Procedures concerning the disposition of taxable Canadian property by non-residents of Canada — Section 116; IC 88-2 General anti-avoidance rule — Section 245 of the Income Tax Act.

Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 35, Treaty Residence — Resident of Convenience; Issue No. 18, Dudney v. The Queen.

Forms: T2Sch97; T1248; T2061A.

Guides: T4058 Non-Residents and Income Tax.

Tax Profile: August 2007 — Professionals and Other Service Providers Beware — A Canadian Trap.

Canadian Tax Foundation: Raizenne and Nikolakakis, "Taxable Canadian Property", 1996 Conference Report, Vol. 2, 46:1.

Canadian Petroleum Tax Journal: Taxable Canadian Property, Tony Van Rooyen, Vol. 13 No. 1 2000.

Cases: Rental income derived by a non-resident from a single family dwelling in Canada was income from property and not income from a business. There was no merit in the taxpayer's argument that inconsistency existed between the Minister's assessments under s. 155 and Part XIII. The onus was on the taxpayer to demonstrate that these two assessments cover the same income and he failed to do so. Gupta v. The Queen, 2000 DTC 6326 (F.C.A.), affirming 99 DTC 224 (T.C.C.).

A U.S. resident performing services in Canada under contract was not subject to Canadian tax under Article XIV of the Convention because he did not have a "fixed base" in Canada. The expression "fixed base" is to be given a liberal interpretation. However, there is little difference in meaning between a "fixed base" and a "permanent establishment". Dudney v. The Queen, 2000 DTC 6169 (F.C.A.), affirming 99 DTC 147 (T.C.C.).

Since the capital gain from the deemed disposition by a U.S. resident of an Ontario cottage first began to accrue on Valuation Day, its exempt portion under the Canada-U.S. Convention could not take into account any months prior to December 31, 1971. A. G. of Canada v. Estate of W.F. Kubicek, 97 DTC 5454 (F.C.A.), reversing 97 DTC 1551 (T.C.C.).

A non-resident was precluded under ss. 115(1)(c) and (e) from deducting the rental loss he had not incurred "from carrying on a business in Canada" when he was merely collecting rental income from a passive investment in a condominium and was performing the activities of a simple owner. Matlas v. The Queen, 94 DTC 1591 (T.C.C.).

Although the taxpayer was a non-resident of Canada, he was not entitled to the protection of article 15(1) of the Canada–U.K. Tax Convention, since the amounts in issue — (i) money realized from the exercise of share purchase option rights under an executive share option plan he had while employed in Canada and (ii) director's fees received in Canada — did not fall within the purview of the expression "salaries, wages, and other remuneration" appearing in that article. Hale v. The Queen, 92 DTC 6473 (F.C.A.), affirming 90 DTC 6481 (F.C.T.D.).

► 115(2) ◄

(2) Idem. Where, in a taxation year, a non-resident person was

(a) a student in full-time attendance at an educational institution in Canada that is a university, college or other educational institution providing courses at a post-secondary school level in Canada,

(b) a student attending, or a teacher teaching at, an educational institution outside Canada that is a university, college or other educational institution providing courses at a post-secondary school level, who in any preceding taxation year ceased to be resident in Canada in the course of or subsequent to moving to attend or to teach at the institution,

(b.1) an individual who in any preceding taxation year ceased to be resident in Canada in the course of or subsequent to moving to carry on research or any similar work under a grant received by the individual to enable the individual to carry on the research or work,

(c) an individual

(i) who had, in any previous year, ceased to be resident in Canada,

(ii) who received, in the taxation year, salary or wages or other remuneration in respect of an office or employment that was paid to the individual directly or indirectly by a person resident in Canada, and

(iii) who was, under an agreement or a convention with one or more countries that has the force of law in Canada, entitled to an exemption from an income tax otherwise payable in any of those countries in respect of the salary or wages or other remuneration, or

(c.1) a person who received in the year an amount, under a contract, that was or will be deductible in computing the income of a taxpayer subject to tax under this Part and the amount can, irrespective of when the contract was entered into or the form or legal effect of the contract, reasonably be regarded as having been received, in whole or in part,

(i) as consideration or partial consideration for entering into a contract of service or an agreement to perform a service where any such service is to be performed in Canada, or for undertaking not to enter into such a contract or agreement with another party, or

(ii) as remuneration or partial remuneration from the duties of an office or employment or as compensation or partial compensation for services to be performed in Canada, the following rules apply:

(d) for the purposes of subsection 2(3) the non-resident person shall be deemed to have been employed in Canada in the year,

(e) for the purposes of subparagraph (1)(a)(v), the total determined under this paragraph in respect of the non-resident person is the total of

(i) any remuneration in respect of an office or employment that was paid to the non-resident person directly or indirectly by a person resident in Canada and was received by the non-resident person in the year, except to the extent that the remuneration is attributable to the duties of an office or employment performed by the non-resident person anywhere outside Canada and

(A) is subject to an income or profits tax imposed by the government of a country other than Canada, or

(B) is paid in connection with the selling of property, the negotiating of contracts or the rendering of services for the non-resident person's employer, or a foreign affiliate of the employer, or any other person with whom the employer does not deal at arm's length, in the ordinary course of a business carried on by the employer, that foreign affiliate or that person,

(ii) amounts that would be required by paragraph 56(1)(n) or (o) to be included in computing the non-resident person's income for the year if the non-resident person were resident in Canada throughout the year and the reference in the applicable paragraph to "received by the taxpayer in the year" were read as a reference to "received by the taxpayer in the year from a source in Canada",

(iii) [Repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 5(2).]

(iv) amounts that would be required by paragraph 56(1)(q) to be included in computing the non-resident person's income for the year if the non-resident person were resident in Canada throughout the year, and

(v) amounts described in paragraph (c.1) received by the non-resident person in the year, except to the extent that they are otherwise required to be included in computing the non-resident person's taxable income earned in Canada for the year, and

(f) there may be deducted in computing the taxable income of the non-resident person for the year the amount that would be deductible in computing the non-resident person's income for the year by virtue of section 62 if

(i) the definition "eligible relocation" in subsection 248(1) were read without reference to subparagraph (a)(i) of that definition, and

(ii) the amounts described in subparagraph 62(1)(c)(ii) were the amounts described in subparagraph (e)(ii) of this subsection.

(iii) [Repealed by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 29(4).]

History: Ss. 115(2)(b) and (b.1) were amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 90(7), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. Ss. 115(2)(b) and (b.1) formerly read:

"(b) a student attending, or a teacher teaching at, an educational institution outside Canada that is a university, college or other educational institution providing courses at a post-secondary school level, who had, in any previous year, ceased to be resident in Canada in the course of or subsequent to moving to attend or to teach at, as the case may be, that institution,

(b.1) an individual who had, in any previous year, ceased to be resident in Canada in the course of or subsequent to moving to carry on research or any similar work under a grant received by the individual to enable the individual to carry on that research or work,"

S. 115(2)(c) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 29(3), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 115(2)(c) formerly read:

"(c) an individual who had, in any previous year, ceased to be resident in Canada and who was, in the taxation year, in receipt of remuneration in respect of an office or employment that was paid to the individual directly or indirectly by a person resident in Canada, or"

S. 115(2)(f)(i) and (ii) were amended, and subparagraph (iii) was repealed, by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 29(4), applicable after 1997. They formerly read:

"(i) that section were read without reference to paragraph 62(1)(a),

(ii) that section were applicable in computing the taxable income of non-resident persons, and

(iii) the amounts described in subparagraph 62(1)(f)(ii) were the amounts described in subparagraph (e)(ii) of this subsection."

S. 115(2)(e)(iii) was repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 5(2), applicable with respect to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. S. 115(2)(e)(iii) formerly read:

"(iii) amounts that would be required by subsection 56(5) to be included in computing the non-resident person's income for the year if the non-resident person were resident in Canada throughout the year,"

S. 115(2)(e)(iii) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 5(1), applicable to the 1990 and subsequent taxation years. S. 115(2)(e)(iii) formerly read:

"(iii) amounts that would be required by subsection 56(5) of this Act or subsection 56(8) of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, to be included in computing the non-resident person's income for the year if the non-resident person were resident in Canada throughout the year,"

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-161R3 Non-residents — Exemption from tax deductions at source on employment income. Secondary — IT-75R4 Scholarships, fellowships, bursaries, prizes, research grants and financial assistance; IT-178R3 (Consolid.) Moving expenses.
Regulations: 104; Part XXVI.
Cases: A bursary of $14,749 granted by McGill University to a Chinese student who had entered Canada on a visitor's visa but had applied for and received a landed immigrant status sometime in 1990 after his marriage to a Canadian was included in his income for 1990 and was not tax exempt under the Tax Agreement with China since his presence in Canada was no longer a temporary one. Li v. The Queen, 94 DTC 6059 (F.C.A.).

► 115(2.1) ◄

(2.1) Non-resident actors. Notwithstanding subsection (1), where a non-resident person is liable to tax under subsection 212(5.1), or would if this Act were read without reference to subsection 212(5.2) be so liable, in respect of an amount paid, credited or provided in a particular taxation year, the amount shall not be included in computing the non-resident person's taxable income earned in Canada for any taxation year unless a valid election is made under subsection 216.1(1) in respect of the non-resident person for the particular year.

History: S. 115(2.1) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 90(8), applicable in respect of amounts paid, credited or provided after 2000.

► 115(2.2) ◄

(2.2) Deferred payment by actor's corporation. Where a corporation is liable to tax under subsection 212(5.1) in respect of a corporation payment (within the meaning assigned by subsection 212(5.2)) made in a taxation year in respect of an actor and, in a subsequent year, the corporation makes an actor payment (within the meaning assigned by subsection 212(5.2)) to or for the benefit of the actor, the amount of the actor payment is not deductible in computing the income of the corporation for any taxation year and is not included in computing the taxable income earned in Canada of the actor for any taxation year.

History: S. 115(2.2) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 90(8), applicable in respect of amounts paid, credited or provided after 2000.

► 115(2.3) ◄

(2.3) Non-resident persons — 2010 Olympic and Paralympic Winter Games. Notwithstanding subsection (1), no amount is to be included in computing the taxable income earned in Canada for any taxation year of a non-resident person, in respect of any amount paid or payable to that person in respect of activities performed in Canada by that person in connection with the 2010 Olympic Winter Games or the 2010 Paralympic Winter Games, after 2009 and before April 2010, if that person is

(a) an athlete who represents a country other than Canada;

(b) a member of an officially registered support staff associated with a team from a country other than Canada;

(c) a person who serves as a games official;

(d) the International Olympic Committee;

(e) the International Paralympic Committee;

(f) an international sports federation that is a member of the General Association of International Sports Federations;

(g) an accredited foreign media organization; or

(h) an individual, other than a trust, who is an employee, an officer or a member of a person described in any one or more of paragraphs (a) to (g), or who provides services under contract with one or more persons described in those paragraphs.

History: S. 115(2.3) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 32, in force on Royal Assent, December 14, 2007.

► 115(3) ◄

(3) Property deemed to include interests and options. [Repealed by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 90(9).]

History: S. 115(3) was repealed by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 90(9), applicable after October 1, 1996. S. 115(3) formerly read:

"(3) Property deemed to include interests and options. For the purpose of this section, a property described in subparagraphs (1)(b)(i) to (xii) is deemed to include any interest therein or option in respect thereof, whether or not such property is in existence."

S. 115(3) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 132(2), applicable after April 26, 1995, except in respect of the disposition of a property before 1996

(a) to a person who was obliged on April 26, 1995 to acquire the property pursuant to the terms of an agreement in writing made on or before that day (and, for this purpose, a person shall be considered not to be obliged to acquire property where the person can be excused from the obligation if there is a change to the Act or if there is an adverse assessment under the Act), or

(b) pursuant to a prospectus or similar document filed with the relevant securities authority before April 27, 1995. S. 115(3) formerly read:

"(3) For the purpose of this section, a property described in subparagraphs (1)(b)(i) to (ix) shall be deemed to include any interest therein or option in respect thereof, whether or not such property is in existence."

S. 115(3) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 86(3), applicable after July 13, 1990. S. 115(3) formerly read:

"(3) Property deemed to include option. For the purposes of this section, a property described in subparagraphs (1)(b)(i) to (ix) shall be deemed to include an option in respect of such a property whether or not the property is in existence."

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-176R2 Taxable Canadian property — Interests in and options on real property and shares.

► 115(4) ◄

(4) Non-resident's income from Canadian resource property. Where a non-resident person ceases at any particular time in a taxation year to carry on such of the businesses described in any of paragraphs (a) to (g) of the definition "principal business corporation" in subsection 66(15) as were carried on by the non-resident person immediately before that time at one or more fixed places of business in Canada and either does not commence after that time and during the year to carry on any business so described at a fixed place of business in Canada or disposes of Canadian resource property at any time in the year during which the non-resident person was not carrying on any business so described at a fixed place of business in Canada, the following rules apply:

(a) the taxation year of the non-resident person that would otherwise have included the particular time shall be deemed to have ended at that time and a new taxation year shall be deemed to have commenced immediately thereafter;

(b) the non-resident person or any partnership of which the non-resident person was a member immediately after the particular time shall be deemed, for the purpose only of computing the non-resident person's income earned in Canada for the taxation year that is deemed to have ended, to have disposed immediately before the particular time of each Canadian resource property that was owned by the non-resident person or by the partnership immediately after the particular time and to have received therefor immediately before the particular time proceeds of disposition equal to the fair market value thereof at the particular time; and

(c) the non-resident person or any partnership of which the non-resident person was a member immediately after the particular time shall be deemed, for the purpose only of computing the non-resident person's income earned in Canada for a taxation year commencing after the particular time, to have reacquired immediately after the particular time, at a cost equal to the amount deemed by paragraph (b) to have been received by the non-resident person or the partnership as the proceeds of disposition therefor, each property deemed by that paragraph to have been disposed of.

Related Sections: S. 66.2(7) Exception; s. 66.4(7) Exception; s. 115(5) Interpretation of "partnership".

Regulations: Part XXVI.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-125R4 Disposition of resource properties.

► 115(4.1) ◄

(4.1) Foreign resource pool expenses. Where a taxpayer ceases at any time after February 27, 2000 to be resident in Canada, a particular taxation year of the taxpayer ends after that time and the taxpayer was non-resident throughout the period (in this subsection referred to as the "non-resident period") that begins at that time and ends at the end of the particular year,

(a) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income earned in Canada for the particular year, there may be deducted each amount that would be permitted to be deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for the particular year under subsection 66(4) or 66.21(4) if

(i) subsection 66(4) were read without reference to the words "who is resident throughout a taxation year in Canada" and as if the amount determined under subparagraph 66(4)(b)(ii) were nil, and

(ii) subsection 66.21(4) were read without reference to the words "throughout which the taxpayer is resident in Canada" and as if the amounts determined under subparagraph 66.21(4)(a)(ii) and paragraph 66.21(4)(b) were nil; and

(b) an amount deducted under this subsection in computing the taxpayer's taxable income earned in Canada for the particular year is deemed, for the purpose of applying subsection 66(4) or 66.21(4), as the case may be, to a subsequent taxation year, to have been deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for the particular year.

History: S. 115(4.1) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 90(10), applicable to taxation years that begin after February 27, 2000.

► 115(5) ◄

(5) Interpretation of "partnership". For the purposes of subsection (4), "partnership" does not include a prescribed partnership.

Related Sections: S. 2(2) Taxable income; s. 4(1) Income or loss from a source or from sources in a place; s. 38, "allowable capital losses", "taxable capital gains"; s. 54, "capital property"; s. 89(1), "public corporation"; s. 102 Definition of "Canadian partnership"; s. 104(1) Reference to trust or estate; s. 108(1), "capital interest", "income interest"; s. 108(2) When trust is a unit trust; s. 115(1) Non-resident's taxable income in Canada; s. 120(3) Definition of "the individual's income for the year"; s. 132(6) Meaning of "mutual fund trust"; s. 248(1), "amount", "business", "corporation", "employment", "individual", "non-resident", "office", "property", "taxable Canadian property"; s. 249 Definition of "taxation year"; s. 255 Canada.

► 115(6) ◄

(6) Application of s. 138(12). The definitions in subsection 138(12) apply to this section.

History: S. 115(6) was not part of the former Act.

SECTION 115.1:

► 115.1(1) ◄

(1) Competent authority agreements. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, where the Minister and another person have, under a provision contained in a tax convention or agreement with another country that has the force of law in Canada, entered into an agreement with respect to the taxation of the other person, all determinations made in accordance with the terms and conditions of the agreement shall be deemed to be in accordance with this Act.

History: S. 115.1 was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 51(1), applicable after 1984. S. 115.1 formerly read:

"S. 115.1. Disposition of property by non-resident person. Where a non-resident person or partnership (in this section referred to as 'the vendor') has in a taxation year disposed of property to another person or partnership (in this section referred to as 'the purchaser') and

(a) the Minister has agreed, pursuant to a prescribed tax treaty provision, to defer the taxation in Canada of the gain or income in respect of the disposition, and

(b) the vendor and the purchaser jointly so elect in prescribed form and within the prescribed time in accordance with terms and conditions satisfactory to the Minister, notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, the following rules apply:

(c) the amount that the vendor, the purchaser and the Minister have agreed on in respect of the property shall be deemed to be the vendor's proceeds of disposition of the property and the purchaser's cost of the property,

(d) where the property was, at the time of its disposition, depreciable property of a prescribed class to the vendor and the vendor's capital cost of the property immediately before the disposition exceeds the agreed amount in respect of the property, for the purposes of sections 13 and 20 and any regulations made under paragraph 20(1)(a),

(i) the capital cost of the property to the purchaser shall be deemed to be the amount that was the capital cost thereof to the vendor immediately before the disposition, and

(ii) the excess shall be deemed to have been allowed to the purchaser in respect of the property under regulations made under paragraph 20(1)(a) in computing income for taxation years ending before the acquisition by the purchaser of the property, and

(e) where the property was, at the time of its disposition, a capital property, a Canadian resource property, a foreign resource property, an eligible capital property or an inventory to the vendor, that property shall be deemed to be such a property of the purchaser and the purchaser shall be deemed to have acquired that property and used it for the same purposes as that for which the property was used by the vendor immediately before that time."

Related Sections: S. 255 Canada.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-173R2 Capital gains derived in Canada by residents of the United States; IT-270R3 Foreign tax credit.

Canadian Petroleum Tax Journal: Taxable Canadian Property, Tony Van Rooyen, Vol. 13 No. 1 2000.

► 115.1(2) ◄

(2) Transfer of rights and obligations. Where rights and obligations under an agreement described in subsection (1) have been transferred to another person with the concurrence of the Minister, that other person shall be deemed, for the purpose of subsection (1), to have entered into the agreement with the Minister.

History: S. 115.1(2) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 51(1), applicable after 1984.

Information Circulars: IC 71-17R5 Guidance on competent authority assistance under Canada's tax conventions.

Non-Residents with Canadian Investment Service Providers

SECTION 115.2:

► 115.2(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. The definitions in this subsection apply in this section.

History: S. 115.2(1) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 21(1), applicable to taxation years that end after 1998.

"Canadian investor" — "Canadian investor", at any time in respect of a non-resident person, means a person that the non-resident person knows, or ought to know after reasonable inquiry, is at that time resident in Canada.

History: S. 115.2(1), the definition "Canadian investor" was added by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 35(4), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years except that, in applying the definition "Canadian investor", as enacted by that subsection, to taxation years that end after 1998 and before 2002, that definition shall be read as follows:

" 'Canadian investor', at any time in respect of a qualified non-resident, means

(a) a person that the non-resident knows, or ought to know after reasonable inquiry, is at that time resident in Canada; and

(b) a partnership that the non-resident knows, or ought to know after reasonable inquiry, has a member that is at that time resident in Canada."

"Canadian service provider" — "Canadian service provider" means a corporation resident in Canada, a trust resident in Canada or a Canadian partnership.

History: S. 115.2(1), the definition "Canadian service provider" was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 21(1), applicable to taxation years that end after 1998.

Related Sections: S. 102 Definition of "Canadian partnership".

"designated investment services" — "designated investment services" provided to a person or partnership means any one or more of the services described in the following paragraphs:

(a) investment management and advice with respect to qualified investments, regardless of whether the manager has discretionary authority to buy or sell;

(b) purchasing and selling qualified investments, exercising rights incidental to the ownership of qualified investments such as voting, conversion and exchange, and entering into and executing agreements with respect to such purchasing and selling and the exercising of such rights;

(c) investment administration services, such as receiving, delivering and having custody of investments, calculating and reporting investment values, receiving subscription amounts from, and paying distributions and proceeds of disposition to, investors in and beneficiaries of the person or partnership, record keeping, accounting and reporting to the person or partnership and its investors and beneficiaries; and

(d) in the case of a corporation, trust or partnership the only undertaking of which is the investing of its funds in qualified investments, marketing investments in the corporation, trust or partnership to non-resident investors.

History: S. 115.2(1), the definition "designated investment services" was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 35(2), applicable to the 2002 and subsequent taxation years. S. 115.2(1), the definition "designated investment services" formerly read:

" 'designated investment services' — 'designated investment services' provided to a qualified non-resident means any one or more of the services described in the following paragraphs:

(a) investment management and advice with respect to qualified investments, regardless of whether the manager has discretionary authority to buy or sell;

(b) purchasing and selling qualified investments, exercising rights incidental to the ownership of qualified investments such as voting, conversion and exchange, and entering into and executing agreements with respect to such purchasing and selling and the exercising of such rights;

(c) investment administration services, such as receiving, delivering and having custody of investments, calculating and reporting investment values, receiving subscription amounts from, and paying distributions and proceeds of disposition to, investors in and beneficiaries of the qualified non-resident, record keeping, accounting and reporting to the qualified non-resident and its investors and beneficiaries; and

(d) if the qualified non-resident is a corporation, trust or partnership the only undertaking of which is the investing of its funds in qualified investments, marketing investments in the qualified non-resident to non-resident investors."

S. 115.2(1), the definition "designated investment services" was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 21(1), applicable to taxation years that end after 1998.

"promoter" — "promoter" of a corporation, trust or partnership means a particular person or partnership that initiates or directs the founding, organization or substantial reorganization of the corporation, trust or partnership, and a person or partnership that is affiliated with the particular person or partnership.

History: S. 115.2(1), the definition "promoter" was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 35(2), applicable to the 2002 and subsequent taxation years. S. 115.2(1), the definition "promoter" formerly read:

"'promoter' — 'promoter' of a qualified non-resident that is a corporation, trust or partnership means a person or partnership that initiates or directs the founding, organization or substantial reorganization of the non-resident, or a person or partnership affiliated with such a person or partnership."

S. 115.2(1), the definition "promoter" was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 21(1), applicable to taxation years that end after 1998.

"qualified investment" — "qualified investment" of a person or partnership means

(a) a share of the capital stock of a corporation, or an interest in a partnership, trust, entity, fund or organization, other than a share or an interest

(i) that is either

(A) not listed on a designated stock exchange, or

(B) listed on a designated stock exchange, if the person or partnership, together with all persons with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length, owns 25% or more of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation or of the total value of interests in the partnership, entity, trust, fund or organization, as the case may be, and

(ii) of which more than 50% of the fair market value is derived from one or more of

(A) real property situated in Canada,

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 3 — Amendments Relating to Bijuralism — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Clause (a)(ii)(A) of the definition "qualified investment" in subsection 115.2(1) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(A) real or immovable property situated in Canada,

Applicable: Royal Assent.

Explanatory Note: [See the Explanatory Note re amendments related to bijuralism following the amendment to paragraph 12(1)(o).]

(B) Canadian resource property, and

(C) timber resource property;

(b) indebtedness;

(c) annuities;

(d) commodities or commodities futures purchased or sold, directly or indirectly in any manner whatever, on a commodities or commodities futures exchange;

(e) currency; and

(f) options, interests, rights and forward and futures agreements in respect of property described in any of paragraphs (a) to (e) or this paragraph, and agreements under which obligations are derived from interest rates, from the price of property described in any of those paragraphs, from payments made in respect of such a property by its issuer to holders of the property, or from an index reflecting a composite measure of such rates, prices or payments, whether or not the agreement creates any rights in or obligations regarding the referenced property itself.

History: S. 115.2(1), clauses (a)(i)(A) and (B) of the definition "qualified investment" were amended by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 68(2), by replacing "prescribed stock exchange" with "designated stock exchange", applicable on and after December 14, 2007 [the day on which this Act is assented to].

S. 115.2(1), the portion of the definition "qualified investment" before subparagraph (a)(ii) was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 35(3), applicable to the 2002 and subsequent taxation years. S. 115.2(1), the portion of the definition "qualified investment" before subparagraph (a)(ii) formerly read:

"'qualified investment' — 'qualified investment' of a qualified non-resident means

(a) a share of the capital stock of a corporation, or an interest in a partnership, trust, entity, fund or organization, other than a share or an interest

(i) that is either

(A) not listed on a prescribed stock exchange, or

(B) listed on a prescribed stock exchange, if the qualified non-resident, together with all persons with whom the non-resident does not deal at arm's length, owns 25% or more of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation or of the total value of interests in the partnership, entity, trust, fund or organization, as the case may be, and"

S. 115.2(1), the definition "qualified investment" was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 21(1), applicable to taxation years that end after 1998.

Related Sections: S. 13(21), "timber resource property"; s. 66(15), "Canadian resource property"; s. 248(1), "annuity".

Regulations: S. 3200; s. 3201.

"qualified non-resident" — [Repealed by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 35(1).]

History: S. 115.2(1), the definition "qualified non-resident" was repealed by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 35(1), applicable to the 2002 and subsequent taxation years. S. 115.2(1), the definition "qualified non-resident" formerly read:

"'qualified non-resident' — 'qualified non-resident' means a non-resident person or a partnership no member of which is resident in Canada."

S. 115.2(1), the definition "qualified non-resident" was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 21(1), applicable to taxation years that end after 1998.

► 115.2(2) ◄

(2) Not carrying on business in Canada. For the purposes of subsection 115(1) and Part XIV, a non-resident person is not considered to be carrying on business in Canada at any particular time solely because of the provision to the person, or to a partnership of which the person is a member, at the particular time of designated investment services by a Canadian service provider if

(a) in the case of services provided to a non-resident individual other than a trust, the individual is not affiliated at the particular time with the Canadian service provider;

(b) in the case of services provided to a non-resident person that is a corporation or trust,

(i) the person has not, before the particular time, directly or through its agents,

(A) directed any promotion of investments in itself principally at Canadian investors, or

(B) sold an investment in itself that is outstanding at the particular time to a person who was a Canadian investor at the time of the sale and who is a Canadian investor at the particular time,

(ii) the person has not, before the particular time, directly or through its agents, filed any document with a public authority in Canada in accordance with the securities legislation of Canada or of any province in order to permit the distribution of interests in the person to persons resident in Canada, and

(iii) when the particular time is more than one year after the time at which the person was created, the total of the fair market value, at the particular time, of investments in the person that are beneficially owned by persons and partnerships (other than a designated entity in respect of the Canadian service provider) that are affiliated with the Canadian service provider does not exceed 25% of the fair market value, at the particular time, of all investments in the person; and

(c) in the case of services provided to a partnership of which the non-resident person is a member,

(i) the particular time is not more than one year after the partnership was formed, or

(ii) the total of the fair market value, at the particular time, of investments in the partnership that are beneficially owned by persons and partnerships (other than a designated entity in respect of the Canadian service provider) that are affiliated with the Canadian service provider does not exceed 25% of the fair market value, at the particular time, of all investments in the partnership.

Department of Finance Comfort Letter
[Application of Definition of "Taxable Canadian Property" to Non-Resident Partnerships]

April 28, 2008

Dear XXXX

I am writing in response to your correspondence of January 2 and 16, 2008 in which you express a number of concerns, as summarized below, in respect of section 115.2 of the Income Tax Act (Act).

Services Causing a Partnership Interest to be Taxable Canadian Property

As you know, section 115.2 is an interpretive rule for the purposes of subsection 115(1) and Part XIV of the Act; it ensures that, if certain conditions are met, the provision of designated investment services by a Canadian service provider to a non-resident person does not by itself cause the non-resident person to be considered to be carrying on business in Canada.

You are concerned that the interpretive rule in section 115.2 applies only for the purposes of subsection 115(1) and Part XIV of the Act and not for the purposes of applying the definition "taxable Canadian property" in subsection 248(1) of the Act. In particular, you are concerned that the receipt of Canadian investment management services by a non-resident partnership may still result in the partnership being considered, for the purposes of applying the "taxable Canadian property" definition, to be carrying on business in Canada and that an interest in the partnership would therefore, because of the combined effect of paragraphs (b) and (g) of the definition "taxable Canadian property", be considered taxable Canadian property.

In your view, this result is not appropriate from a tax policy viewpoint. We agree with you and, therefore, we are prepared to recommend to the Minister of Finance that subsection 115.2(2) of the Act be amended to ensure that, if the condition in paragraph (c) of the subsection is met (which paragraph requires that the time of the provision of the designated investment services to the partnership by the Canadian service provider be not more than one year after the partnership was formed and that the condition in subparagraph 115.2(2)(c)(ii) placing a 25 percent limit on investments held in the partnership by persons who are affiliated with the Canadian service provider be satisfied), property of a partnership shall, for the purposes of determining whether the non-resident's partnership interest in the partnership is "taxable Canadian property" as defined in subsection 248(1) of the Act, not be considered to be used or held by the partnership in a business carried on in Canada. We will recommend that this amendment be made applicable for taxation years that end after 2007.

Partnership information returns

Similarly, you are concerned that the interpretive rule in section 115.2 may not apply for the purposes of section 229 of the Income Tax Regulations (Regulations), which requires members of a partnership that carries on business in Canada to file information returns. You are, therefore, concerned that non-resident members of a partnership who are entitled to benefit from the protection of section 115.2 may nonetheless be required to file a partnership information return in Canada solely because of the provision of designated investment services to the partnership by a Canadian service provider.

You suggest that amendments be made to eliminate the requirement for non-resident members of a partnership to make a partnership information return for a partnership in respect of which section 115.2 applies. You argue that such a change would be consistent with the purpose of section 115.2; that it would be consistent with the comfort letter dated November 26, 2002 and signed by Mr. Brian Ernewein in which he indicated the intention of this Division to recommend to the Minister a change to section 115.2 to broaden that section such that it applies also for the purpose of the filing requirements of a corporation under section 150 of the Act; and that it would reduce the administrative burden and costs incurred in respect of the preparation of partnership information returns.

While we are in general agreement with the substance of your request, I should note that in one important respect your analysis seems to misinterpret the policy basis of section 115.2. You imply that, because this provision applies in respect of a partnership, the partnership is not carrying on business in Canada, and therefore its members should be excused from having to file information returns. In fact, section 115.2 provides only the assurance that the activities it describes do not in themselves cause a non-resident to carry on business in Canada. A given person or partnership may be the beneficiary of the section and still, as a result of its other activities, be carrying on business in Canada.

That said, we agree that expanding the application of section 115.2 of the Act such that it applies for the purpose of section 229 of the Regulations is consistent with the general policy intent of section 115.2: i.e., to ensure that the use of a Canadian service provider does not, by itself, cause non-residents to be treated as though they are carrying on business in Canada. Accordingly, we are prepared to recommend to the Minister that subsection 115.2(2) of the Act be amended so that it applies also for the purposes of section 229 of the Regulations. We will recommend that this amendment be made applicable for taxation years that end after 2007.

Marketing partnership interests to Canadian residents

Paragraph (d) of the definition "designated investment services" in subsection 115.2(1) applies in the case of a corporation, trust, or partnership the only undertaking of which is the investing of its funds in qualified investments; it includes, in designated investment services, the marketing of investments in the corporation, trust or partnership to non-resident investors. You argue that the scope of paragraph (d) is too narrow in that section 115.2 offers protection to non-resident members of a partnership regardless of whether the partnership has a combination of Canadian resident and non-resident members, yet paragraph (d) requires that the Canadian service provider not market investments in the partnership to Canadian residents. You also argue that such a requirement hinders the ability of Canadian asset managers to compete internationally. You therefore propose that paragraph (d) of the definition "designated investment services" in subsection 115.2(1) be broadened to permit Canadian service providers to market investments in the partnership to Canadian residents. We understand your concern; however, we are not prepared to recommend any change at this time. We will keep this matter under consideration.

While we cannot offer any assurance that either the Minister of Finance or Parliament will agree with our recommendations in respect of the first two matters, we hope that this statement of our intentions is helpful.

Thank you for writing.

Yours sincerely,
Gerard Lalonde
Director
Tax Legislation Division
Tax Policy Branch

Department of Finance Comfort Letter [Filing Requirements Under Section 115.2]

November 26, 2002

I am writing further to your letter of August 20, 2002 and your discussions with Ryan Hall, of this Division, concerning section 115.2 of the Income Tax Act. In particular, you ask that the section, which currently applies only for the purposes of subsection 115(1) and Part XIV of the Act, be broadened to apply also for the purposes of the corporate filing requirements under section 150 of the Act.

As you know, section 115.2 is an interpretive rule which ensures that, provided certain conditions are met, the receipt of Canadian investment management services does not by itself cause a non-resident person to be considered to be carrying on business in Canada. (However, it should be noted that the section does not protect from Canadian taxation non-residents who for other reasons would be considered to be earning income from carrying on business in Canada.)

You explain that a non-resident corporation that is entitled to benefit from the protection of section 115.2 may in some cases be required to file a return in Canada solely because of the provision of designated investment services to the non-resident by a Canadian investment manager. Technical Interpretation 2001-0089875, a copy of which you attached to your letter and to which you refer, makes it clear that section 253 will deem a non-resident to be carrying on business in Canada if, for example, the non-resident carries on business outside Canada and receives designated investment services from a Canadian investment manager. Unlike section 115.2, section 253 applies for the purposes of the Act, and, as a result, the non-resident in the example would be required to file a return in Canada under section 150, which requires corporations to file returns if at any time in the year they carry on business in Canada.

You suggest that the filing requirement deters non-resident investment, and that this result is inconsistent with the policy behind section 115.2. While we are not in a position to judge its effect on non-resident investors, we recognize that the requirement adds another step and cost to non-residents who wish to invest through a Canadian investment manager. It is worth noting that the requirement to file under section 150 does not necessarily mean that a corporation entitled to benefit from the protection of section 115.2 will be taxed as if it were carrying on business in Canada. Rather, the corporation is being treated for filing purposes as if it were carrying on business in Canada. That said, expanding the application of section 115.2 to apply for the purposes of section 150 would appear to be consistent with the general policy intent of the section 115.2: to ensure that the use of a Canadian investment manager does not, by itself, cause non-residents to be treated as though they are carrying on business in Canada.

We are therefore prepared to recommend amendments to the Act along the foregoing lines. As you suggest, we will recommend that these amendments be made effective as of the original effective date of section 115.2, namely for taxation years that end after 1998.

Of course, we cannot offer any assurance that either the Minister of Finance or Parliament will agree with the recommendations that we intend to make in this regard. Nonetheless, we trust that this statement of our position is helpful.

Yours sincerely,
Brian Ernewein
Director
Tax Legislation Division
Tax Policy Branch

Department of Finance Comfort Letter [Application of Paragraph 115.2(2)(c) to Non-Residents Who Are Members of a Partnership]

June 4, 2002

Dear XXXX

I am writing further to discussions you and your colleague, XXXX, have had with Ryan Hall of this Division and your letter of April 8, 2002, in which you raise a concern about the application of paragraph 115.2(2)(c) of the Income Tax Act to non-resident persons who are members of a partnership of which residents of Canada are also members, and you request that certain amendments be made to address this concern.

As you know, section 115.2 is an interpretive rule which ensures that, provided certain conditions are met, the receipt of Canadian investment management services does not by itself cause a non-resident person to be considered to be carrying on business in Canada. (However, it should be noted that the section does not protect from Canadian taxation non-residents who for other reasons would be considered to be earning income from carrying on business in Canada.)

This section was recently amended so that it applies to all non-resident persons, including those who are members of a partnership of which one or more members are resident in Canada. As a result, the rule no longer applies to partnerships per se, but rather to the partners themselves. Paragraph 115.2(2)(c) sets out the circumstances under which the rule applies where investment services are not directly provided to non-residents but to a partnership, of which the non-residents are members.

Your concern is that the restriction in subparagraph 115.2(2)(c)(ii), which places a 25% limit on investments held in a partnership by persons who are affiliated with the Canadian service provider, may in some cases lead to consequences which are inconsistent with the Government's stated policy objectives.

You note in your letter that the explanatory notes for the amendments to section 115.2 explain that the restrictions found in subparagraphs 115.2(2)(c)(i) and (ii) are comparable to those found in subparagraph 115.2(2)(b)(iii), but you express the view that these two restrictions are not analogous. Although we consider the mechanics of the provisions to be comparable, it would appear that the two rules differ substantively: paragraph (b) applies to limit investments in non-residents (in that paragraph, corporations and trusts) to which subsection 115.2(2) applies whereas paragraph (c) does not operate to restrict investments in non-residents who benefit from that subsection, but rather in partnerships of which they are members.

The underlying policy for the investment restrictions in subsection 115.2(2) is to ensure that a reasonable measure of independence exists between non-resident persons who benefit from section 115.2 and their service providers. Making section 115.2 available in those cases where a non-resident is a member of a partnership, of which 25% of the investments are held by persons and partnerships which are affiliated with a service provider but not with the non-resident, would not appear to compromise this policy objective. In short, it seems that the limitation found in paragraph (c) may not be an accurate proxy for gauging the level of independence between any given non-resident and a service provider who supplies investment services to a partnership of which the non-resident is a member.

Given the foregoing, the Government's policy objectives — both to treat partnerships as flow-through entities for the purposes of section 115.2 and to ensure a reasonable measure of independence exists between non-resident persons who avail themselves of the benefit of this section and their service providers — would likely be met by replacing the restriction found in paragraph (c) with a limitation that better relates to the measure of independence vis-à-vis a non-resident person and a service provider who provides investment services to a partnership of which the non-resident is a member.

We therefore intend to recommend two things: that subsection 115.2(2) be amended so that a non-resident who is a member of a partnership which receives investment services will not be denied the benefit of section 115.2 because other persons or partnerships, which are affiliated with the service provider but not with the non-resident, hold more than 25% of the fair market value of the interests in the partnership; and that, in keeping with the principle of applying section 115.2 at the partner rather than at the partnership level, the 25% investment limit apply to the non-resident partners themselves. We are prepared to recommend that these amendments apply to the 2002 and subsequent taxation years, if the non-resident so chooses.

Of course, we cannot offer any assurance that either the Minister of Finance or Parliament will agree with the recommendation that we intend to make in this regard. Nonetheless, we trust that this statement of our position is helpful.

Your sincerely,

Brian Ernewein
Director
Tax Legislation Division
Tax Policy Branch

History: S. 115.2(2) was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 35(5), applicable to the 2002 and subsequent taxation years. S. 115.2(2) formerly read:

"(2) Not carrying on business in Canada. For the purposes of subsection 115(1) and Part XIV, a qualified non-resident is not considered to be carrying on business in Canada at any particular time solely because of the provision to the non-resident at the particular time of designated investment services by a Canadian service provider if

(a) in the case of a non-resident who is an individual other than a trust, the non-resident is not affiliated at the particular time with the Canadian service provider; and

(b) in the case of a non-resident that is a corporation, trust or partnership,

(i) the non-resident has not, before the particular time, directly or through its agents, directed any promotion of investments in itself principally at, or sold such investments to, persons that the non-resident knew or ought to have known after reasonable enquiry were resident in Canada or partnerships that the non-resident knew or ought to have known after reasonable enquiry had members that were resident in Canada,

(ii) the non-resident has not, before the particular time, directly or through its agents, filed any document with a public authority in Canada in accordance with the securities legislation of Canada or of any province in order to permit the distribution of interests in the non-resident to persons resident in Canada, and

(iii) when the particular time is more than one year after the time at which the non-resident was created, the total of the fair market value, at the particular time, of investments in the non-resident that are beneficially owned by persons and partnerships (other than a designated entity in respect of the Canadian service provider) that are affiliated with the Canadian service provider does not exceed 25% of the fair market value, at the particular time, of all investments in the non-resident."

The application of subparagraph 115.2(2)(b)(i) was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 35(9), as follows:

In applying subparagraph 115.2(2)(b)(i) of the Act, as enacted by subsection 21(1) of the Income Tax Amendments Act, 1999, chapter 19 of the Statutes of Canada, 2000, to taxation years that end after 1998 and before 2002, that subparagraph shall be read as follows:

"(i) the non-resident has not, before the particular time, directly or through its agents,

(A) directed any promotion of investments in itself principally at Canadian investors, or

(B) sold an investment in itself that is outstanding at the particular time to a person who was a Canadian investor at the time of the sale and who is a Canadian investor at the particular time,"

S. 115.2(2) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 21(1), applicable to taxation years that end after 1998.

Related Sections: S. 115.2(3) Interpretation; s. 251.1(1) Definition of "affiliated persons"; s. 251.1(2) Affiliation where amalgamation or merger; s. 251.1(3) Definitions; s. 251.1(4) Interpretation.

► 115.2(3) ◄

(3) Interpretation. For the purpose of subparagraph (2)(b)(iii) and this subsection,

(a) the fair market value of an investment in a corporation, trust or partnership shall be determined without regard to any voting rights attaching to that investment; and

(b) a person or partnership is, at a particular time, a designated entity in respect of a Canadian service provider if the total of the fair market value at the particular time, of investments in the entity that are beneficially owned by persons and partnerships (other than another designated entity in respect of the Canadian service provider) that are affiliated with the Canadian service provider does not exceed 25% of the fair market value, at the particular time, of all investments in the entity.

History: S. 115.2(3) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 21(1), applicable to taxation years that end after 1998.

► 115.2(4) ◄

(4) Transfer pricing. For the purpose of section 247, where subsection (2) applies in respect of services provided to a person that is a corporation or trust or to a partnership, if the Canadian service provider referred to in that subsection does not deal at arm's length with the promoter of the person or of the partnership, the service provider is deemed not to deal at arm's length with the person or partnership.

History: S. 115.2(4) was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 35(6), applicable to the 2002 and subsequent taxation years. S. 115.2(4) formerly read:

"(4) Transfer pricing. For the purpose of section 247, where subsection (2) applies to a qualified non-resident, if the Canadian service provider referred to in that subsection does not deal at arm's length with the promoter of the qualified non-resident; the service provider is deemed not to deal at arm's length with the non-resident."

S. 115.2(4) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 21(1), applicable to taxation years that end after 1998.

SECTION 116:

► 116(1) ◄

(1) Disposition by non-resident person of certain property. If a non-resident person proposes to dispose of any taxable Canadian property (other than property described in subsection (5.2) and excluded property) the non-resident person may, at any time before the disposition, send to the Minister a notice setting out

(a) the name and address of the person to whom he proposes to dispose of the property (in this section referred to as the "proposed purchaser");

(b) a description of the property sufficient to identify it;

(c) the estimated amount of the proceeds of disposition to be received by the non-resident person for the property; and

(d) the amount of the adjusted cost base to the non-resident person of the property at the time of the sending of the notice.

Department of Finance Comfort Letter [Mutual Fund Merger Rules]

February 14, 2006

Dear XXXX,

I am writing in response to your letter of January 31, 2006 requesting that we recommend several technical amendments to the mutual fund merger rules in section 132.2 of the Income Tax Act (the "Act"). These rules are already the subject of extensive proposed amendments, and all section references in this letter refer to the proposed legislation released in draft on July 18, 2005.

1. Timing

You note that there appears to be an inconsistency in the time periods referred to in the definition of "qualifying exchange" in subsection 132.2(1) and in the preamble of paragraph 132.2(3)(g). The definition of "qualifying exchange" requires that all or substantially all of the shares or units of the Transferor (as defined in section 132.2 of the Act) be disposed of to the Transferor within 60 days after the "transfer time", which is defined to be the time when all or substantially all of the property of the Transferor is transferred to the Transferee (as defined in section 132.2 of the Act). The preamble to paragraph 132.2(3)(g) requires that the exchange of shares or units of the Transferor back to the Transferor in exchange for units of the Transferee occur on a tax-deferred basis only if the exchange takes place within 60 days after the day that includes the transfer time.

You have requested that the Act be amended to clarify that the two 60-day periods start at the same time. We note that the time period in paragraph 132.2(3)(f) also refers to an event within 60 days after the day that includes the transfer time. We can confirm that in both instances it was not intended by the addition of the words "the day that includes" to refer to a commencement date on the day following the day that includes the transfer time; rather it has always been intended that the commencement date be the day that includes the transfer time.

To clarify that all of the references to a 60-day period in section 132.2 are intended to refer to the same time period, and that the period is to commence on the day that includes the transfer time, we intend to recommend to the Minister of Finance that the references to "the day that includes" in paragraphs 132.2(3)(f) and (g) be deleted. We will also recommend that these changes be applicable to qualifying exchanges that occur after 1998 — the date that the proposed amendments that include the addition of the words "the day that includes" are proposed to come into effect.

2. Application of Section 116

You have noted that there is a concern that where a Transferor acquires its own shares or units in exchange for units of a Transferee in the course of a qualifying exchange, section 116 of the Act may apply to impose a reporting and withholding obligation. Section 116 generally applies when a non-resident person disposes of taxable Canadian property that is not excluded property. If the Transferor is a mutual fund trust or a mutual fund corporation at the time of the exchange by a non-resident unitholder or shareholder of the Transferor, the shares or units of the Transferor that the unitholder disposes of will generally not be taxable Canadian property at that time and therefore section 116 would not be applicable. However, your concern arises because paragraph 132.2(3)(n) deems the Transferor not to be a mutual fund corporation or a mutual fund trust, as the case may be, for its taxation years beginning after the transfer time. Pursuant to paragraph 132.2(3)(b), the first taxation year of the Transferor after the transfer time begins immediately after the "acquisition time". Given that the Act provides that the exchange may occur within 60 days after the transfer time, it is possible that the exchange will occur after the acquisition time — generally the time that the Transferee is treated as having acquired the property (other than depreciable property) transferred to it by the Transferor — and thus that the shares or units of the Transferor will be taxable Canadian property.

From a policy perspective it is not intended that the exchange of units or shares of a Transferor for units of the Transferee by a non-resident in the course of a qualifying exchange should be subject to section 116. As a result, we are prepared to recommend that the Act be amended to ensure that such a transaction is not subject to section 116. Given that this is an unintended technical deficiency in the Act, we will recommend that the amendment be applicable to qualifying exchanges that occur after June 1994, the date the mutual fund merger rules were introduced.

3. Application of Part XIII.2

You have also noted that there is a concern that where a Transferor acquires its own shares or units in exchange for units of a Transferee in the course of a qualifying exchange, Part XIII.2 of the Act may apply to impose a 15% tax. Unlike the discussion above, the concern arises only if the exchange occurs prior to the acquisition time, when the Transferor is a mutual fund trust or a mutual fund corporation. In general, Part XIII.2 will apply only if the units or shares of the Transferor are listed on a prescribed stock exchange and their value is primarily attributable to real property in Canada, Canadian resource property or timber resource property. If the units or shares meet those conditions, a 15% tax will apply to any amount that is paid or credited to a non-resident investor that is not otherwise subject to tax under Part I or Part XIII.2.

From a policy perspective it is not intended that the exchange of units or shares of a Transferor for units of the Transferee by a non-resident in the course of a qualifying exchange should be subject to Part XIII.2. As a result, we are prepared to recommend that the Act be amended to ensure that such a transaction is not subject to Part XIII.2. We will recommend that the amendment be applicable to qualifying exchanges that occur after 2004, the date Part XIII.2 was introduced.

In conclusion, we will recommend to the Minister of Finance that the Act be amended as discussed above to clarify the commencement of the 60-day period and to clarify that the exchange of units or shares of a Transferor for units of the Transferee by a non-resident in the course of a qualifying exchange is not subject to section 116 or Part XIII.2.

While we cannot offer any assurance that the Minister or Parliament will agree with our recommendation in this regard, I hope that this statement of our position is helpful to you.

Yours sincerely,

Brian Ernewein
Director
Tax Legislation Division
Tax Policy Branch

History: S. 116(1), the portion before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 91(1), applicable after October 1, 1996. S. 116(1), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"S. 116. Disposition by non-resident person of certain property.

(1) Where a non-resident person proposes to dispose of any property that would, if the non-resident person disposed of it, be taxable Canadian property of that person (other than property described in subsection (5.2) and excluded property) the non-resident person may, at any time before the disposition, send to the Minister a notice setting out"

S. 116(1), that portion preceding paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 133(1), applicable after April 26, 1995. That portion formerly read:

"(1) Where a non-resident person proposes to dispose of any property that would, if the non-resident person disposed of it, be taxable Canadian property of that person (other than depreciable property or excluded property), the non-resident person may, at any time before the disposition, send to the Minister a notice setting out"

Editorial Note: Non-resident vendors of taxable Canadian property (other than property described in subsection 116(5.2) or excluded property as defined in subsection 116(6)) have two options under section 116. First, they may file a prescribed form with the CRA before the disposition under subsection 116(1), and upon paying the 25% tax on the estimated gain (or providing adequate security), will be issued the certificate under subsection (2). Alternatively, they may file a prescribed form within 10 days after the disposition under subsection 116(3), and upon paying the 25% tax on the actual gain (or providing adequate security), will be issued the certificate under subsection (4). (The subsection 116(3) filing is not required if the subsection 116(1) route was chosen, generally if the estimated gain was equal to or greater than the actual gain.) Failure to obtain the certificate will normally result in the purchaser being liable to pay the tax on behalf of the non-resident vendor under subsection 116(5) and being entitled to withhold such amount from the purchase price of the property. If the capital gain is treaty-exempt, the CRA will normally waive the requirement that the tax be paid or the security provided; see paragraphs 25 to 29 of Information Circular 72-17R5. For transfers of taxable Canadian property to a corporation under the rollover provisions of section 85, see paragraphs 31 and 32 of the same circular. See subsections 116(5.2) and (5.3) for similar provisions dealing with a non-resident's disposition of a life insurance policy in Canada, a Canadian resource property, land inventory in Canada, a timber resource property, or a depreciable property that is a taxable Canadian property.

Related Sections: S. 115(1)(b) Non-resident's taxable income in Canada; s. 227(9) Penalty; s. 248(1), "taxable Canadian property".

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-150R2 Acquisition from a non-resident of certain property on death or mortgage foreclosure or by virtue of a deemed disposition [Archived by the CRA]. Secondary — IT-474R2 Amalgamations of Canadian corporations.

Information Circulars: IC 72-17R5 Procedures concerning the disposition of taxable Canadian property by non-residents of Canada — Section 116.

Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 38, Anti-Discrimination Provisions.

Forms: T2 SCH 97; T1248; T1261; T2062; T2062A; T2062A SCH 1.

Guides: T4058 Non-Residents and Income Tax.

Tax Topics: No. 1911, Estate Distributions to Non-Residents; No. 1870, CRA Reverts to Its Original Position in IT-474R2; No. 1869, Happy New Year! How the CRA Has Lengthened the Wait Time for Section 116 Clearance Certificates; No. 1802, Non-Resident Partners and Canadian Real Estate; No. 1779, Application of Section 116 to Distributions by Canadian Resident Trusts to Non-Resident Beneficiaries; No. 1576, CCRA's Comments on Section 116 Issues.

Tax Profile: February 2009 — Section 116 Certificates — New Legislation Enacted; January 2009 — Enhancing Canada's International Tax Advantage; November 2008 — 2008 Cross-Border Developments in Canada; August 2008 — Fifth Protocol to the Canada–U.S. Tax Convention; A Canadian Perspective; January 2008 — Tax Ramifications of Non-Resident Purchases of Canadian Businesses; December 2007 — Non-Resident Investment in Canadian Real Estate; November 2007 — Section 116 Certificates — A Canadian Nightmare; May 2007 — Why Canada Should End Roadblock to Foreign Private Equity; December 2005 — Sales of Shares of Real Estate Companies by a Non-Resident of Canada — Canadian Tax Consequences; June 2000 — Exchangeable Shares.

Canadian Petroleum Tax Journal: Taxable Canadian Property, Tony Van Rooyen, Vol. 13 No. 1 2000.

Tax Window Files: Deemed Disposition of Property By Non-Resident, June 13, 2005, CRA Document No. 2005-0113981E5 [Section 116 certificate not required for conversion by non-resident of personal-use property to income-earning property if subsection 45(2) or (3) election made; if no election, deemed disposition and certificate required]; Distribution of Property by Non-Resident Estate, February 1, 2005, CRA Document No. 2004-0083201E5 [Section 116 certificate required for distribution of taxable Canadian property from non-resident trust to non-resident beneficiary]; Application of Section 116 Where Rollover Applies, October 11, 2002, CRA Document No. 2002-0156945 [Section 116 certificate required where a rollover provision, such as section 51, 85 or 85.1, applies to disposition of taxable Canadian property]; Section 116 — Disposition of Interest In Trust, October 5, 2001, CRA Document No. 2001-0093155 [Section 116 certificate required when Canadian resident trust distributes property to non-resident beneficiary in satisfaction of capital interest in trust (resulting in disposition of the capital interest)].

Cases: The non-resident taxpayer sold its shares of a Canadian corporation and the purchaser paid $5,350,603 to the Receiver General in escrow under s. 116. The taxpayer's assessment (and refund) was delayed by a GAAR audit. The taxpayer's application for an order of mandamus requiring such assessment together with the release of the $5,350,603 was dismissed because the GAAR audit constituted "special circumstances" justifying the Minister's delay in issuing the assessment. Merlis Investments Limited v. The Queen, 2000 DTC 6634 (F.C.T.D.).

► 116(2) ◄

(2) Certificate in respect of proposed disposition. Where a non resident person who has sent to the Minister a notice under subsection (1) in respect of a proposed disposition of any property has

(a) paid to the Receiver General, as or on account of tax under this Part payable by the non-resident person for the year, 25% of the amount, if any, by which the estimated amount set out in the notice in accordance with paragraph (1)(c) exceeds the amount set out in the notice in accordance with paragraph (1)(d), or

(b) furnished the Minister with security acceptable to the Minister in respect of the proposed disposition of the property,

the Minister shall forthwith issue to the non-resident person and the proposed purchaser a certificate in prescribed form in respect of the proposed disposition, fixing therein an amount (in this section referred to as the "certificate limit") equal to the estimated amount set out in the notice in accordance with paragraph (1)(c).

History: S. 116(2) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 91(2), by replacing the reference to the percentage "33 1/3%" with a reference to the percentage "25%", applicable to taxation years that end after February 27, 2000 except that, for a taxation year that ended after February 27, 2000 and before October 18, 2000, the reference in subsection 116(2) of the Act to the percentage "25%" shall be read as a reference to the percentage "30%".

Tax Profile: June 2000 — Exchangeable Shares.

► 116(3) ◄

(3) Notice to Minister. Every non-resident person who in a taxation year disposes of any taxable Canadian property of that person (other than property described in subsection (5.2) and excluded property) shall, not later than 10 days after the disposition, send to the Minister, by registered mail, a notice setting out

(a) the name and address of the person to whom the non-resident person disposed of the property (in this section referred to as the "purchaser"),

(b) a description of the property sufficient to identify it, and

(c) a statement of the proceeds of disposition of the property and the amount of its adjusted cost base to the non-resident person immediately before the disposition, unless the non-resident person has, at any time before the disposition, sent to the Minister a notice under subsection (1) in respect of any proposed disposition of that property and

(d) the purchaser was the proposed purchaser referred to in that notice,

(e) the estimated amount set out in that notice in accordance with paragraph (1)(c) is equal to or greater than the proceeds of disposition of the property, and

(f) the amount set out in that notice in accordance with paragraph (1)(d) does not exceed the adjusted cost base to the non-resident person of the property immediately before the disposition.

History: S. 116(3), that portion preceding paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 133(2), applicable after April 26, 1995. S. 116(3) formerly read:

"(3) Notice to Minister. Every non-resident person who in a taxation year has made a disposition of any taxable Canadian property of that person (other than depreciable property or excluded property) shall, not later than 10 days after the day on which the disposition was made, send to the Minister, by registered mail, a notice setting out"

Related Sections: S. 54, "adjusted cost base", "proceeds of disposition"; s. 238(1) Offences and punishment.

Information Circulars: IC 72-17R5 Procedures concerning the disposition of taxable Canadian property by non-residents of Canada — Section 116.

Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 38, Anti-Discrimination Provisions.

Forms: T2062; T2062A; T2062A SCH 1.

Tax Topics: No. 1911, Estate Distributions to Non-Residents.

Tax Profile: February 2009 — Section 116 Certificates — New Legislation Enacted; January 2009 — Enhancing Canada's International Tax Advantage; November 2008 — 2008 Cross-Border Developments in Canada; August 2008 — Fifth Protocol to the Canada–U.S. Tax Convention: A Canadian Perspective; December 2007 — Non-Resident Investment in Canadian Real Estate; November 2007 — Section 116 Certificates — A Canadian Nightmare; December 2005 — Sales of Shares of Real Estate Companies by a Non-Resident of Canada — Canadian Tax Consequences; June 2000 — Exchangeable Shares.

Tax Window Files: Deemed Disposition of Property By Non-Resident, June 13, 2005, CRA Document No. 2005-0113981E5 [Section 116 certificate not required for conversion by non-resident of personal-use property to income-earning property if subsection 45(2) or (3) election made; if no election, deemed disposition and certificate required]; Distribution of Property by Non-Resident Estate, February 1, 2005, CRA Document No. 2004-0083201E5 [Section 116 certificate required for distribution of taxable Canadian property from non-resident trust to non-resident beneficiary]; Application of Section 116 Where Rollover Applies, October 11, 2002, CRA Document No. 2002-0156945 [Section 116 certificate required where a rollover provision, such as section 51, 85 or 85.1, applies to disposition of taxable Canadian property]; Section 116 — Disposition of Interest In Trust, October 5, 2001, CRA Document No. 2001-0093155 [Section 116 certificate required when Canadian resident trust distributes property to non-resident beneficiary in satisfaction of capital interest in trust (resulting in disposition of the capital interest)].

► 116(4) ◄

(4) Certificate in respect of property disposed of. Where a non-resident person who has sent to the Minister a notice under subsection (3) in respect of a disposition of any property has

(a) paid to the Receiver General, as or on account of tax under this Part payable by the non-resident person for the year, 25% of the amount, if any, by which the proceeds of disposition of the property exceed the adjusted cost base to the non-resident person of the property immediately before the disposition, or

(b) furnished the Minister with security acceptable to the Minister in respect of the disposition of the property,

the Minister shall forthwith issue to the non-resident person and the purchaser a certificate in prescribed form in respect of the disposition.

History: S. 116(4) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 91(2), by replacing the reference to the percentage "33 1/3%" with a reference to the percentage

"25%", applicable to taxation years that end after February 27, 2000 except that, for a taxation year that ended after February 27, 2000 and before October 18, 2000, the reference in subsection 116(4) of the Act to the percentage "25%" shall be read as a reference to the percentage "30%".

Information Circulars: IC 72-17R5 Procedures concerning the disposition of taxable Canadian property by non-residents of Canada — Section 116.
Tax Profile: June 2000 — Exchangeable Shares.
Cases: Furnishing the Minister with security did not constitute the actual payment of tax. King v. M.N.R., 91 DTC 651 (T.C.C.).

► 116(5) ◄

(5) Liability of purchaser. Where in a taxation year a purchaser has acquired from a non-resident person any taxable Canadian property (other than depreciable property or excluded property) of the non-resident person, the purchaser, unless

(a) after reasonable inquiry the purchaser had no reason to believe that the non-resident person was not resident in Canada,

(a.1) subsection (5.01) applies to the acquisition, or

(b) a certificate under subsection (4) has been issued to the purchaser by the Minister in respect of the property, is liable to pay, and shall remit to the Receiver General within 30 days after the end of the month in which the purchaser acquired the property, as tax under this Part for the year on behalf of the non-resident person, 25% of the amount, if any, by which

(c) the cost to the purchaser of the property so acquired

exceeds

(d) the certificate limit fixed by the certificate, if any, issued under subsection (2) in respect of the disposition of the property by the non-resident person to the purchaser, and is entitled to deduct or withhold from any amount paid or credited by the purchaser to the non-resident person or otherwise recover from the non-resident person any amount paid by the purchaser as such a tax.

History: S. 116(5)(a.1) was added by S.C. 2008, c. 28, s. 14(1), applicable in respect of dispositions of property that occur after 2008.

S. 116(5) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 91(2), by replacing the reference to the percentage "33 1/3%" with a reference to the percentage "25%", applicable to taxation years that end after February 27, 2000 except that, for a taxation year that ended after February 27, 2000 and before October 18, 2000, the reference in subsection 116(5) of the Act to the percentage "25%" shall be read as a reference to the percentage "30%".

Related Sections: S. 227(9) Penalty.
Information Circulars: IC 72-17R5 Procedures concerning the disposition of taxable Canadian property by non-residents of Canada — Section 116.
Tax Topics: No. 1892, Proposed Changes to Section 116 of the Income Tax Act; No. 1779, Application of Section 116 to Distributions by Canadian Resident Trusts to Non-Resident Beneficiaries.
Tax Profile: June 2000 — Exchangeable Shares.

► 116(5.01) ◄

(5.01) Treaty-protected property. This subsection applies to the acquisition of a property by a person (referred to in this subsection as the "purchaser") from a non-resident person if

(a) the purchaser concludes after reasonable inquiry that the non-resident person is, under a tax treaty that Canada has with a particular country, resident in the particular country;

(b) the property would be treaty-protected property of the non-resident person if the non-resident person were, under the tax treaty referred to in paragraph (a), resident in the particular country; and

(c) the purchaser provides notice under subsection (5.02) in respect of the acquisition.

History: S. 116(5.01) was added by S.C. 2008, c. 28, s. 14(2), applicable in respect of dispositions of property that occur after 2008.
Editorial Note: Effective after 2008, a purchaser will not be required to remit 25% of the purchase price to the Receiver General if subsection 116(5.01) applies to the acquisition of taxable Canadian property. Subsection 116(5.01) applies to such acquisition if (a) the purchaser concludes after reasonable inquiry that the vendor is resident in a treaty jurisdiction; (b) the property would be treaty-protected property of the non-resident person if the non-resident person were resident in the treaty jurisdiction; and (c) the purchaser provides notice under subsection 116(5.02). There is currently no guidance about what will constitute a reasonable inquiry as to whether the vendor is resident in a country with which Canada has a tax treaty. There is no reasonable inquiry defense for the determination of whether the property is treaty-protected property. This means that if the purchaser incorrectly concludes that the property is treaty-protected property, the purchaser would be liable for the 25% tax. In most cases, it is unlikely that an arm's length purchaser would be able to verify that the property is treaty-protected property. As such, it is doubtful that an arm's length purchaser would be willing to assume this risk and therefore, would most likely withhold the 25% tax. It is expected that subsection 116(5.01) will significantly reduce the number of applications for section 116 clearance certificates for transfers of taxable Canadian property between non-arm's length parties but that the effect on the number of applications between arm's length parties will be minimal.

► 116(5.02) ◄

(5.02) Notice by purchaser in respect of an acquisition of property. A person (referred to in this subsection as the "purchaser") who acquires property from a non-resident person provides notice under this subsection in respect of the acquisition if the purchaser sends to the Minister, on or before the day that is 30 days after the date of the acquisition, a notice setting out

(a) the date of the acquisition;

(b) the name and address of the non-resident person;

(c) a description of the property sufficient to identify it;

(d) the amount paid or payable, as the case may be, by the purchaser for the property; and

(e) the name of the country with which Canada has concluded a tax treaty under which the property is a treaty-protected property for the purposes of subsection (5.01) or (6.1), as the case may be.

History: S. 116(5.02) was added by S.C. 2008, c. 28, s. 14(2), applicable in respect of dispositions of property that occur after 2008.

► 116(5.1) ◄

(5.1) Gifts, etc. If a non-resident person has disposed of or proposes to dispose of a life insurance policy in Canada, a Canadian resource property or a taxable Canadian property other than

(a) excluded property, or

(b) property that has been transferred or distributed on or after the non-resident person's death and as a consequence thereof to any person by way of gift inter vivos or to a person with whom the non-resident person was not dealing at arm's length for no proceeds of disposition or for proceeds of disposition less than the fair market value of the property at the time the non-resident person so disposed of it or proposes to dispose of it, as the case may be, the following rules apply:

(c) the reference in paragraph (1)(c) to "the proceeds of disposition to be received by the non-resident person for the property" shall be read as a reference to "the fair market value of the property at the time the non-resident person proposes to dispose of it";

(d) the references in subsections (3) and (4) to "the proceeds of disposition of the property" shall be read as references to "the fair market value of the property immediately before the disposition",

(e) the references in subsection (5) to "the cost to the purchaser of the property so acquired" shall be read as references to "the fair market value of the property at the time it was so acquired", and

(f) the reference in subsection (5.3) to "the amount payable by the taxpayer for the property so acquired" shall be read as a reference to "the fair market value of the property at the time it was so acquired".

History: S. 116(5.1), the portion before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 91(3), applicable after October 1, 1996. S. 116(5.1), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(5.1) Idem. Where a non-resident person has disposed of or proposes to dispose of a life insurance policy in Canada, a Canadian resource property or any property that is or would, if the non-resident person disposed of it, be taxable Canadian property of the non-resident person other than"

Editorial Note: Subsection 116(5.1) provides special rules for inter vivos gifts and non-arm's length transactions which take place at less than fair market value. Where the property is a life insurance policy in Canada, a Canadian resource property or any taxable Canadian property, the transferor is required to report the fair market value of the property rather than the actual proceeds of disposition and the liability for taxes payable under subsection 116(4) or 116(5) is based on the fair market value of the property and not the actual proceeds of disposition. These rules do not apply when the property transferred is excluded property as defined in subsection 116(6) or where property is transferred or distributed on or as a consequence of a person's death.

Related Sections: S. 54, "proceeds of disposition"; s. 248(1), "non-resident", "taxable Canadian property"; s. 251(1) Arm's length.

Forms: T2062B; T2062B SCH 1.

► 116(5.2) ◄

(5.2) Certificates for dispositions. If a non-resident person has, in respect of a disposition or proposed disposition to a taxpayer in a taxation year of property (other than excluded property) that is a life insurance policy in Canada, a Canadian resource property, a property (other than capital property) that is real property situated in Canada, a timber resource property, depreciable property that is a taxable Canadian property or any interest in or option in respect of a property to which this subsection applies (whether or not that property exists),

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of subsection 116(5.2) of the Act before paragraph (a) is replaced by the following:

(5.2) Certificates for dispositions. If a non-resident person has, in respect of a disposition, or a proposed disposition, in a taxation year to a taxpayer of property (other than excluded property) that is a life insurance policy in Canada, a Canadian resource property, a property (other than capital property) that is real property, or an immovable, situated in Canada, a timber resource property, depreciable property that is a taxable Canadian property, eligible capital property that is a taxable Canadian property or any interest in, or for civil law any right in, or any option in respect of, a property to which this subsection applies (whether or not that property exists), Applicable: After December 23, 1998.

Explanatory Note: Section 116 of the Act sets out rules that apply when a non-resident person disposes of any of certain types of property. Subsection 116(5.2) allows a non-resident vendor to obtain what is commonly known as a "clearance certificate" in respect of the disposition or proposed disposition of, among other things, depreciable property that is a taxable Canadian property. Subsection 116(5.2) is amended to include among the types of property to which it applies eligible capital property that is a taxable Canadian property. This amendment applies after December 23, 1998, which is when the definition "taxable Canadian property" in subsection 248(1) of the Act first included eligible capital property used in carrying on a business in Canada.

(a) paid to the Receiver General, as or on account of tax under this Part payable by the non-resident person for the year, such amount as is acceptable to the Minister in respect of the disposition or proposed disposition of the property, or the Minister shall forthwith issue to the non-resident person and to the taxpayer a certificate in prescribed form in respect of the disposition or proposed disposition fixing therein an amount equal to the proceeds of disposition, proposed proceeds of disposition or such other amount as is reasonable in the circumstances.

(b) furnished the Minister with security acceptable to the Minister in respect of the disposition or proposed disposition of the property,

History: S. 116(5.2), the portion before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 91(4), applicable after October 1, 1996. S. 116(5.2), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(5.2) Certificates for dispositions. Where a non-resident person has, in respect of a disposition or proposed disposition to a taxpayer in a taxation year of property (other than excluded property) that is a life insurance policy in Canada, a Canadian resource property, a property (other than capital property) that is real property situated in Canada, a timber resource property, depreciable property that is or would, if the non-resident person disposed of it, be a taxable Canadian property of the non-resident person or any interest in, or option in respect of, a property to which this subsection applies (whether or not the property exists),"

S. 116(5.2), that portion preceding paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 133(3), applicable to dispositions that occur after 1996. That portion formerly read:

"(5.2) Where a non-resident person has, in respect of a disposition or proposed disposition to a taxpayer in a taxation year of a life insurance policy in Canada of the non-resident person, a Canadian resource property of the non-resident person, a property (other than capital property) that is real property situated in Canada of the non-resident person (including any interest therein or option in respect thereof, whether or not the property is in existence), a timber resource property of the non-resident person or any interest therein or option in respect thereof, or depreciable property that is or would, if the non-resident person disposed of it, be a taxable Canadian property of the non-resident person,"

S. 116(5.2), all that portion preceding paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 87(1), applicable with respect to dispositions occurring after February 20, 1990, other than dispositions under agreements in writing entered into before February 21, 1990. S. 116(5.2), all that portion preceding paragraph (a), formerly read as follows:

"(5.2) Certificate for dispositions. Where a non-resident person has, in respect of a disposition or proposed disposition to a taxpayer in a taxation year of a life insurance policy in Canada of the non-resident person, a Canadian resource property of the non-resident person or depreciable property that is or would, if the non-resident person disposed of it, be taxable Canadian property of the non-resident person,"

Forms: T2062B.

► 116(5.3) ◄

(5.3) Liability of purchaser in certain cases. Where in a taxation year a taxpayer has acquired from a non-resident person property referred to in subsection (5.2),

(a) the taxpayer, unless subsection (5.01) applies to the acquisition or unless after reasonable inquiry the taxpayer had no reason to believe that the non-resident person was not resident in Canada, is liable to pay, as tax under this Part for the year on behalf of the non-resident person, 50% of the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount payable by the taxpayer for the property so acquired

exceeds

(ii) the amount fixed in the certificate, if any, issued under subsection (5.2) in respect of the disposition of the property by the non-resident person to the taxpayer and is entitled to deduct or withhold from any amount paid or credited by the taxpayer to the non-resident person or to otherwise recover from the non-resident person any amount paid by the taxpayer as such a tax; and (b) the taxpayer shall, within 30 days after the end of the month in which the taxpayer acquired the property, remit to the Receiver General the tax for which the taxpayer is liable under paragraph (a).

History: S. 116(5.3)(a), the portion before subparagraph (i) was replaced by S.C. 2008, c. 28, s. 14(3), applicable in respect of dispositions of property that occur after 2008. S. 116(5.3)(a), the portion before subparagraph (i) formerly read:

"(a) the taxpayer, unless after reasonable inquiry the taxpayer had no reason to believe that the non-resident person was not resident in Canada, is liable to pay, as tax under this Part for the year on behalf of the non-resident person, 50% of the amount, if any, by which"

Information Circulars: IC 72-17R5 Procedures concerning the disposition of taxable Canadian property by non-residents of Canada — Section 116.
Tax Topics: No. 1892, Proposed Changes to Section 116 of the Income Tax Act

► 116(5.4) ◄

(5.4) Presumption. Where there has been a disposition by a non-resident of a life insurance policy in Canada by virtue of subsection 148(2) or any of paragraphs (a) to (c) and (e) of the definition "disposition" in subsection 148(9), the insurer under the policy shall, for the purposes of subsections (5.2) and (5.3) be deemed to be the taxpayer who acquired the property for an amount equal to the proceeds of disposition as determined under section 148.

► 116(6) ◄

(6) Definition of "excluded property". For the purposes of this section, "excluded property" of a non-resident person means

(a) a property that is a taxable Canadian property solely because a provision of this Act deems it to be a taxable Canadian property;

(a.1) a property (other than real property situated in Canada, a Canadian resource property or a timber resource property) that is described in an inventory of a business carried on in Canada by the person;

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 3 — Amendments Relating to Bijuralism — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Paragraph 116(6)(a.1) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(a.1) a property (other than real or immovable property situated in Canada, a Canadian resource property or a timber resource property) that is described in an inventory of a business carried on in Canada by the person;

Applicable: Royal Assent.

Explanatory Note: [See the Explanatory Note re amendments related to bijuralism following the amendment to paragraph 12(1)(o).]

(b) a security that is

(i) listed on a recognized stock exchange, and

(ii) either

(A) a share of the capital stock of a corporation, or

(B) SIFT wind-up entity equity;

(c) a unit of a mutual fund trust;

(d) a bond, debenture, bill, note, mortgage, hypothecary claim or similar obligation;

(e) property of a non-resident insurer that

(i) is licensed or otherwise authorized under the laws of Canada or a province to carry on an insurance business in Canada,

(ii) carries on an insurance business, within the meaning of subsection 138(1) of the Act, in Canada;

(f) property of an authorized foreign bank that is used or held in the course of the bank's Canadian banking business;

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Paragraph 116(6)(f) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(f) property of an authorized foreign bank that carries on a Canadian banking business;

Applicable: After June 27, 1999.

Explanatory Note:

Excluded Property — Authorized Foreign Banks

Subsection 116(6) of the Act defines "excluded property" for the purposes of section 116 of the Act. Paragraph 116(6)(f) defines the "excluded property" of an authorized foreign bank.

Paragraph 116(6)(f) currently treats as an excluded property any property of an authorized foreign bank that is used or held in the bank's "Canadian banking business" (defined in subsection 248(1) of the Act). The paragraph is amended to treat as excluded property all of the property of an authorized foreign bank that carries on a Canadian banking business. As a result, the treatment of authorized foreign banks will in this respect be comparable to the treatment of non-resident insurers.

This amendment applies to dispositions that occur after June 27, 1999.

(g) an option in respect of property referred to in any of paragraphs (a) to (f) whether or not such property is in existence;

(h) an interest in property referred to in any of paragraphs (a) to (g); and

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 3 — Amendments Relating to Bijuralism — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Paragraph 116(6)(h) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(h) an interest, or for civil law a right, in property referred to in any of paragraphs (a) to (g).

Applicable: Royal Assent.

Explanatory Note: [See the Explanatory Note re amendments related to bijuralism following the amendment to paragraph 12(1)(o).]

(i) a property that is, at the time of its disposition, a treaty-exempt property of the person.

History: S. 116(6)(b) was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 32(1), applicable after July 14, 2008. S. 116(6)(b) formerly read:

"(b) a share of a class of shares of the capital stock of a corporation that is listed on a recognized stock exchange;"

S. 116(6)(i) was added by S.C. 2008, c. 28, s. 14(4), applicable in respect of dispositions of property that occur after 2008.

S. 116(6)(b) was amended by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 33(1), by replacing "prescribed stock exchange" with "recognized stock exchange", applicable on and after December 14, 2007.

Ss. 116(6)(a) and (b) were amended, and paragraph (a.1) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 91(5). Ss. 116(6)(a) and (a.1) are applicable after October 1, 1996. Ss. 116(6)(b) is applicable after June 27, 1999. Ss. 116(6)(a) and (b) formerly read:

"(a) property described in subparagraph 115(1)(b)(xii);

(b) a share of a class of the capital stock of a corporation that is listed on a prescribed stock exchange, or an interest in the share;"

S. 116(6)(d) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 212, applicable on Royal Assent, June 14, 2001. S. 116(6)(d) formerly read:

"(d) a bond, debenture, bill, note, mortgage or similar obligation;"

S. 116(6)(e) was amended, and paragraphs (f), (g) and (h) were added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 91(6), applicable after June 27, 1999. S. 116(6)(e) formerly read:

"(e) any other property that is prescribed to be excluded property."

S. 116(6), paragraphs (a) and (b), were amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 133(4), applicable after April 26, 1995, except in respect of the disposition of a property before 1996

(a) to a person who was obliged on April 26, 1995 to acquire the property pursuant to the terms of an agreement in writing made on or before that day (and, for the purpose of this paragraph, a person shall be considered not to be obliged to acquire property where the person can be excused from the obligation if there is a change to the Act or if there is an adverse assessment under the Act); or

(b) pursuant to a prospectus or similar document filed with the relevant securities authority before April 27, 1995. Paragraphs (a) and (b) formerly read:

"(a) property described in subparagraph 115(1)(b)(ix);

(b) a share of the capital stock of a public corporation, or an interest therein;"

Related Sections: S. 54, "adjusted cost base"; s. 248(1), "non-resident", "property", "taxable Canadian property"; s. 249 Definition of "taxation year"; s. 255 Canada.

Regulations: 810.

Tax Topics: No. 1892, Proposed Changes to Section 116 of the Income Tax Act.

Tax Profile: November 2008 — 2008 Cross-Border Developments in Canada.

► 116(6.1) ◄

(6.1) Treaty-exempt property. For the purpose of subsection (6), a property is a treaty-exempt property of a non-resident person, at the time of the non-resident person's disposition of the property to another person (referred to in this subsection as the "purchaser"), if

(a) it is, at that time, a treaty-protected property of the non-resident person; and

(b) where the purchaser and the non-resident person are related at that time, the purchaser provides notice under subsection (5.02) in respect of the disposition.

History: S. 116(6.1) was added by S.C. 2008, c. 28, s. 14(5), applicable in respect of dispositions of property that occur after 2008.

Editorial Note: Subsection 116(6.1), effective beginning after 2008, provides that property is a "treaty-exempt property" of a non-resident person if it is a "treaty-protected property" (defined in subsection 248(1)) of the non-resident person. Where the vendor and the purchaser are related, a property will be a treaty-exempt property if it is a "treaty-protected property" and the purchaser provides notice under subsection (5.02) in respect of the disposition.

► 116(7) ◄

(7) Application of s. 138(12). The definitions in subsection 138(12) apply to this section.

History: S. 116(7) was added in the revised Act.

DIVISION E — Computation of Tax
Subdivision a — Rules Applicable to Individuals

SECTION 117:

► 117(1) ◄

(1) Tax payable under this Part. For the purposes of this Division, except section 120 (other than subparagraph (a)(ii) of the definition "tax otherwise payable under this Part" in subsection 120(4)), tax payable under this Part, tax otherwise payable under this Part and tax under this Part shall be computed as if this Part were read without reference to Division E.1.

History: S. 117(1) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 22(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to the 1998 and 1999 taxation years, the reference to "subparagraph (a)(ii)" in subsection 117(1) of the Act shall be read as a reference to "paragraph (b)". S. 117(1) formerly read:

"(1) For the purposes of this Division, except section 120 (other than paragraph (b) of the definition 'tax otherwise payable under this Part' in subsection 120(4)) and section 120.1 (other than subsection 120.1(2)), tax payable under this Part, tax otherwise payable under this Part and tax under this Part shall be computed as if this Part were read without reference to Division E.1."

► 117(2) ◄

(2) Rates for taxation years after 2008. The tax payable under this Part by an individual on the individual's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada, as the case may be (in this subdivision referred to as the "amount taxable") for a taxation year is

(a) 15% of the amount taxable, if the amount taxable is equal to or less than the amount determined for the taxation year in respect of $40,726;

(b) if the amount taxable is greater than $40,726 and is equal to or less than $81,452, the maximum amount determinable in respect of the taxation year under paragraph (a), plus 22% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds $40,726 for the year;

(c) if the amount taxable is greater than $81,452, but is equal to or less than $126,264, the maximum amount determinable in respect of the taxation year under paragraph (b), plus 26% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds $81,452 for the year; and

(d) if the amount taxable is greater than $126,264, the maximum amount determinable in respect of the taxation year under paragraph (c), plus 29% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds $126,264 for the year.

CRA Press Release

2.5% Indexation Factor for 2009

See CRA Fact Sheet, dated December 8, 2008, that is reproduced following subsection 117.1(1). This release announces a 2.5% indexation factor applicable for 2009 tax bracket thresholds, personal amounts and other amounts relating to non-refundable credits, as well as the refundable medical expense supplement and Old Age Security repayment threshold. Increases to the Canada Child Tax Benefit (including the National Child Benefit supplement and the Child Disability Benefit) and the Goods and Services Tax Credit will take effect as of July 1, 2009.

History: S. 117(2) was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 33(1), applicable to the 2009 and subsequent taxation years. S. 117(2) formerly read:

"(2) Rates for taxation years after 2006. The tax payable under this Part by an individual on the individual's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada, as the case may be (in this subdivision referred to as the "amount taxable") for a taxation year is

(a) 15% of the amount taxable, if the amount taxable is equal to or less than the amount determined for the taxation year in respect of $36,378;

(b) if the amount taxable is greater than the amount determined for the year in respect of $36,378 and is equal to or less than the amount determined for the year in respect of $72,756, the amount determined in respect of the taxation year under paragraph (a) plus 22% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds the amount determined in respect of $36,378 for the year;

(c) if the amount taxable is greater than the amount determined for the year in respect of $72,756, but is equal to or less than the amount determined for the year in respect of $118,285, the total of the amounts determined in respect of the taxation year under paragraphs (a) and (b) plus 26% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds the amount determined in respect of $72,756; and

(d) if the amount taxable is greater than the amount that would be determined for the year in respect of $118,285, the total of the amounts determined in respect of the taxation year under paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) plus 29% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds the amount determined in respect of $118,285."

S. 117(2)(a) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 179(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 117(2)(a) formerly read:

"(a) 15.5% of the amount taxable, if the amount taxable is equal to or less than the amount determined for the taxation year in respect of $36,378;"

S. 117(2)(c) and (d) were replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 18(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 117(2)(c) and (d) formerly read:

"(c) if the amount taxable is greater than the amount determined for the year in respect of $72,756, but is equal to or less than the amount determined for the year in respect of $118,825, the total of the amounts determined in respect of the taxation year under paragraphs (a) and (b) plus 26% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds the amount determined in respect of $72,756; and

(d) if the amount taxable is greater than the amount that would be determined for the year in respect of $118,825, the total of the amounts determined in respect of the taxation year under paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) plus 29% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds the amount determined in respect of $118,825."

S. 117(2) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 58(3), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 117(2) formerly read:

"(2) Rates for the 2006 taxation year. The tax payable under this Part by an individual on the individual's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada, as the case may be (in this subdivision referred to as the "amount taxable") for the 2006 taxation year is

(a) 15.25% of the amount taxable, if the amount taxable is equal to or less than $36,378;

(b) $5,548 plus 22% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds $36,378, if the amount taxable is greater than $36,378 and is equal to or less than $72,756;

(c) $13,551 plus 26% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds $72,756 if the amount taxable is greater than $72,756 and is equal to or less than $118,285; and

(d) $25,388 plus 29% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds $118,285, if the amount taxable is greater than $118,285."

S. 117(2) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 58(2), applicable to the 2006 taxation year. S. 117(2) formerly read:

"(2) Rates for the 2005 taxation year. The tax payable under this Part by an individual on the individual's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada, as the case may be (in this subdivision referred to as the "amount taxable") for the 2005 taxation year is

(a) 15% of the amount taxable, if the amount taxable is equal to or less than $35,595;

(b) $5,339 plus 22% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds $35,595, if the amount taxable is greater than $35,595 and is equal to or less than $71,190;

(c) $13,170 plus 26% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds $71,190, if the amount taxable is greater than $71,190 and is equal to or less than $115,739; and

(d) $24,753 plus 29% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds $115,739, if the amount taxable is greater than $115,739."

S. 117(2) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 58(1), applicable to the 2005 taxation year. S. 117(2) formerly read:

"(2) Rates for years after 2000. The tax payable under this Part by an individual on the individual's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada, as the case may be, (in this subdivision referred to as the 'amount taxable') for a taxation year is

(a) 16% of the amount taxable, if the amount taxable does not exceed $30,754;

(b) $4,921 plus 22% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds $30,754, if the amount taxable exceeds $30,754 and does not exceed $61,509;

(b.1) $11,687 plus 26% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds $61,509, if the amount taxable exceeds $61,509 and does not exceed $100,000; and

(c) $21,695 plus 29% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds $100,000, if the amount taxable exceeds $100,000."

S. 117(2) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 92(2), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 117(2) formerly read:

"(2) Rate for 2000. The tax payable under this Part by an individual on the individual's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada, as the case may be, (in this subdivision referred to as the 'amount taxable') for the 2000 taxation year is

(a) 17% of the amount taxable, if the amount taxable does not exceed $30,004;

(b) $5,101 plus 25% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds $30,004, if the amount taxable exceeds $30,004 and does not exceed $60,009; and

(c) $12,602 plus 29% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds $60,009, if the amount taxable exceeds $60,009."

S. 117(2) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 92(1), applicable to the 2000 taxation year. S. 117(2) formerly read:

"(2) 1988 and subsequent taxation years rates. The tax payable under this Part by an individual on the individual's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada, as the case may be, (in this subdivision referred to as the 'amount taxable') for the 1988 and subsequent taxation years is

(a) 17% of the amount taxable if the amount taxable does not exceed $27,500;

(b) $4,675 plus 26% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds $27,500 if the amount taxable exceeds $27,500 and does not exceed $55,000; and

(c) $11,825 plus 29% of the amount by which the amount taxable exceeds $55,000."

Related Sections: S. 117.1(1) Tax payable under this Part.
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-519R2 (Consolid.) Medical expense and disability tax credits and attendant care expense deduction.

► 117(2.1) ◄

(2.1) Tax payable — WITB advance payment. The tax payable under this Part on the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, as computed under subsection (2), is deemed to be the total of the amount otherwise computed under that subsection and, except for the purposes of sections 118 to 118.9, 120.2, 121, 122.3 and subdivision c, the total of all amounts received by the individual in respect of the taxation year under subsection 122.7(7).

History: S. 117(2.1) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 34(1), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years.

Editorial Note: The working income tax benefit (WITB) advance payments received by a taxpayer for a taxation year are deemed under s. 117(2.1) to be included in the individual's tax payable for the year. The individual is required to file a tax return for the year, and to pay interest on the tax payable on the advance payments. For example, if the individual ceases to qualify for a WITB after having filed an application with the CRA, he or she may have to refund and to pay interest on a portion of those advance payments. The advance payments are not part of the tax payable for the purpose of calculating the minimum tax carryover and most tax credits claimed on the tax return.

Related Sections: S. 150(1) Filing returns of income — general rule s. 150(1.1)(b)(i) Exception; s. 161(1) Interest.
Guides: RC4227 Working Income Tax Benefit.

► 117(3) ◄

(3) Minimum thresholds for 2004. Each of the amounts of $30,754, $61,509 and $100,000 referred to in subsection (2) is deemed, for the purposes of applying subsection (2) to the 2004 taxation year, to be the greater of

(a) the amount that would be used for the 2004 taxation year if this section were read without reference to this subsection; and

(b) in the case of

(i) the amount of $30,754, $35,000,

(ii) the amount of $61,509, $70,000, and

(iii) the amount of $100,000, $113,804.

History: S. 117(3) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 92(2), applicable on Royal Assent. S. 117(3) was previously repealed by the former Act.

(4)–(5.1) [Repealed by 1985, c. 45, s. 62(1).]

► 117(5.2) ◄

(5.2) 1982 and subsequent taxation years rates. [Repealed by 1988, c. 55, s. 90(3).]

► 117(6) ◄

(6) Special table. [Repealed by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 22(2).]

History: S. 117(6) was repealed by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 22(2), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 117(6) formerly read:

"(6) Special table. An individual (other than an individual of a prescribed class) whose amount taxable for a taxation year does not exceed a prescribed amount may use a table prepared for that year in accordance with prescribed rules in computing the amount of the individual's tax payable under Part I.1 and the amount that, but for prescribed provisions of this Act, would be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year."

Regulations: 2500; 2501.

► 117(7) ◄

(7) Notch provision. [Repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 6(1).]

History: S. 117(7) was repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 6(1), applicable with respect to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. S. 117(7) formerly read:

"(7) Notch provision. Where the tax otherwise payable under this Part for a taxation year by an individual is greater than the total of

(a) the tax that would be so payable if, in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year, the individual could deduct under section 118.2 payments described in that section made in respect of a person who, had the person's income for the year been nil, would have been a dependant in respect of whom the individual could have deducted an amount under section 118 in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year, and

(b) 68% of the amount by which the income for the year of the person referred to in paragraph (a) exceeds $6,000, the tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year may be reduced to that total."

Related Sections: S. 12(4) Interest from investment contract; s. 248(1), "amount", "individual", "prescribed", "taxable income earned in Canada".
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-519R2 (Consolid.) Medical expense and disability tax credits and attendant care expense deduction.

Annual Adjustment of Deductions and Other Amounts

SECTION 117.1:

► 117.1(1) ◄

(1) Annual adjustment. The amount of $1,000 referred to in the formula in paragraph 8(1)(s), each of the amounts expressed in dollars in subparagraph 6(1)(b)(v.1), subsection 117(2), the description of B in subsection 118(1), subsection 118(2), paragraph (a) of the description of B in subsection 118(10), subsection 118.01(2), the descriptions of C and F in subsection 118.2(1), subsections 118.3(1), 122.5(3) and 122.51(1) and (2), the amounts of $500 and $1,000 referred to in the description of A, and the amounts of $9,500 and $14,500 referred to in the description of B, in the formula in subsection 122.7(2), the amount of $250 referred to in the description of C, and the amounts of $12,833 and $21,167 referred to in the description of D, in the formula in subsection 122.7(3), and each of the amounts expressed in dollars in Part I.2 in relation to tax payable under this Part or Part I.2 for a taxation year shall be adjusted so that the amount to be used under those provisions for the year is the total of

(a) the amount that would, but for subsection (3), be the amount to be used under those provisions for the preceding taxation year, and

(b) the product obtained by multiplying

(i) the amount referred to in paragraph (a)

by

(ii) the amount, adjusted in such manner as may be prescribed and rounded to the nearest one-thousandth, or, where the result obtained is equidistant from two consecutive one-thousandths, to the higher thereof, that is determined by the formula

$$(A/B) - 1$$

where

A is the Consumer Price Index for the 12 month period that ended on September 30 next before that year, and

B is the Consumer Price Index for the 12 month period immediately preceding the period mentioned in the description of A.

CRA Press Release
2.5% Indexation Factor for 2009

[Reproduced below is a CRA Fact Sheet, released on December 8, 2008, that sets out a 2.5% indexation factor for various figures relating to personal income tax, including the 2009 income tax thresholds, personal credit amounts, the Canada Child Tax Benefit and the Goods and Services Tax Credit. After the release of this Fact Sheet, the 2009 Federal Budget legislation (S.C. 2009, c. 2) increased the basic personal amount, the spouse or common-law partner amount, and the eligible dependant amount to $10,320, increased the age credit amount to $6,408, and increased the two lowest personal income tax brackets to $40,726 and 81,452, respectively, all for 2009. The chart below has been revised by CCH to reflect these increased amounts.]

Each year, certain personal income tax amounts are indexed to inflation using the Consumer Price Index data, as reported by Statistics Canada.

Increases to tax bracket thresholds, amounts relating to non-refundable credits, and most other amounts will take effect on January 1, 2009. However, increases to the Canada Child Tax Benefit (including the National Child Benefit Supplement and the Child Disability Benefit) and the goods and services tax credit will take effect on July 1, 2009, to coincide with the beginning of the program year for payment of these benefits.

The following chart compares the indexed amounts for the 2008 and 2009 tax years. It reflects an indexation increase of 2.5% for 2008.

	2009 ($)	2008 ($)
Tax Bracket Thresholds
Taxable income above which the 22% bracket begins	[40,726]	37,885
Taxable income above which the 26% bracket begins	[81,452]	75,769
Taxable income above which the 29% bracket begins	126,264	123,184
Amounts relating to non-refundable tax credits
Basic personal amount (See footnote below)	[10,320]	9,600
Age amount	[6,408]	5,276
Net income threshold	32,312	31,524
Spouse or common-law partner amount (maximum) (See footnote below)	[10,320]	9,600
Amount for an eligible dependant (maximum) (See footnote below)	[10,320]	9,600
Amount for children under age 18 (maximum per child)	2,089	2,038
Canada employment amount (maximum)	1,044	1,019
Infirm dependant amount (maximum per dependant)	4,198	4,095
Net income threshold	5,956	5,811
Caregiver amount (maximum per dependant)	4,198	4,095
Net income threshold	14,336	13,986
Disability amount	7,196	7,021
Supplement for children with disabilities (maximum)	4,198	4,095
Threshold relating to allowable child care and attendant care expenses	2,459	2,399
Adoption expenses (maximum per adoption)	10,909	10,643
Medical expense tax credit — 3% of net income ceiling	2,011	1,962
Refundable medical expense supplement
Maximum supplement	1,067	1,041
Minimum earnings threshold	3,116	3,040
Family net income threshold	23,633	23,057
Old Age Security repayment threshold	66,335	64,718
Certain board and lodging allowances paid to players on sports teams or members of recreation programs
Income exclusion (maximum per month)	313	306
Tradesperson's tools deduction
Threshold amount relating to cost of eligible tools	1,044	1,019
Goods and Services Tax Credit
Adult maximum	248	242
Child maximum	130	127
Single supplement	130	127
Phase-in threshold for the single supplement	8,047	7,851
Family net income at which credit begins to phase out	32,312	31,524
Canada Child Tax Benefit
Base benefit	1,340	1,307
Additional benefit for third child	93	91
Family net income at which base benefit begins to phase out	38,832	37,885
National Child Benefit (NCB) Supplement
First child	2,076	2,025
Second child	1,837	1,792
Third child	1,747	1,704
Family net income at which NCB supplement begins to phase out	21,816	21,287
Family net income at which NCB supplement phase-out is complete	38,832	37,885
Child Disability Benefit
Maximum benefit	2,455	2,395
Family net income at which benefit begins to phase out	38,832	37,885
Child Special Allowance (CSA)
CSA base amount	3,416	3,332

Note:

Under changes announced on October 30, 2007, in the 2007 Economic Statement, the basic personal amount, the maximum spouse or common-law partner amount, and the maximum amount for an eligible dependant were increased to $9,600 for the 2007 and 2008 tax years, and [pursuant to the 2009 Federal Budget, are further increased to $10,320 for 2009].

As announced in the 2007 Federal Budget, the net income threshold has been eliminated for the 2007 and subsequent tax years. The spouse or common-law partner amount and the amount for an eligible dependant are calculated by subtracting the net income of the spouse or common-law partner or the dependant, as applicable, from the maximum amount ([pursuant to the 2009 Federal Budget, $10,320 for 2009], $9,600 for 2007 and 2008).

History: S. 117.1(1), the portion before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 35(1), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 117.1(1), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"S. 117.1. (1) Annual adjustment (indexing). The amount of $1,000 referred to in the formula in paragraph 8(1)(s) and each of the amounts expressed in dollars in subparagraph 6(1)(b)(v.1), subsection 117(2), the description of B in subsection 118(1), subsection 118(2), paragraph (a) of the description of B in subsection 118(10), subsection 118.01(2), the descriptions of C and F in subsection 118.2(1), subsections 118.3(1), 122.5(3) and 122.51(1) and (2) and Part I.2 in relation to tax payable under this Part or Part I.2 for a taxation year shall be adjusted so that the amount to be used under those provisions for the year is the total of"

S. 117.1(1), the portion before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 16, s. 4, in force on June 22, 2007. The reference to subparagraph 6(1)(b)(v.1) applies to taxation years that end after June 22, 2007. The references to paragraph 8(1)(s) and subsection 118(10) apply to 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 117.1(1), the portion before paragraph (a) was to have read:

"S. 117.1. (1) Annual adjustment (indexing). The amount of $1,000 referred to in the formula in paragraph 8(1)(s) and each of the amounts expressed in dollars in subsection 117(2), the description of B in subsection 118(1), subsection 118(2), paragraph (a) of the description of B in subsection 118(10), subsection 118.01(2), the descriptions of C and F in subsection 118.2(1), subsections 118.3(1), 122.5(3) and 122.51(1) and (2) and Part I.2 in relation to tax payable under this Part or Part I.2 for a taxation year shall be adjusted so that the amount to be used under those provisions for the year is the total of"

S. 117.1(1), the portion before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 19(1), scheduled to be applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years, replaced as noted above before it became applicable. S. 117.1(1), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"S. 117.1. (1) Annual adjustment (indexing). Each of the amounts expressed in dollars in subsection 117(2), the description of B in subsection 118(1), subsections 118(2) and 118.01(2), the descriptions of C and F in subsection 118.2(1), subsections 118.3(1), 122.5(3) and 122.51(1) and (2) and Part I.2 in relation to tax payable under this Part or Part I.2 for a taxation year shall be adjusted so that the amount to be used under those provisions for the year is the total of"

S. 117.1(1), the portion before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 59(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 117.1(1), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"S. 117.1. (1) Annual adjustment. Each of the amounts expressed in dollars in subsection 117(2), the description of B in subsection 118(1), subsection 118(2), the descriptions of C and F in subsection 118.2(1), subsections 118.3(1), 122.5(3) and 122.51(1) and (2) and Part I.2 in relation to tax payable under this Part or Part I.2 for a taxation year shall be adjusted so that the amount to be used under those provisions for the year is the total of"

S. 117.1(1), the portion before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 22(1), applicable to the 2004 and subsequent taxation years. S. 117.1(1), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"S. 117.1. (1) Annual adjustment. Each of the amounts expressed in dollars in subsection 117(2), the description of B in subsection 118(1), subsections 118(2), 118.2(1), 118.3(1), 122.5(3) and 122.51(1) and (2) and Part I.2 in relation to tax payable under this Part or Part I.2 for a taxation year shall be adjusted so that the amount to be used under those provisions for the year is the total of"

S. 117.1(1), the portion before subparagraph (d)(ii) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 23(1), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 117.1(1), the portion before subparagraph (d)(ii) formerly read:

"(1) Each of

(a) the amount of $6,456 referred to in clause (a)(ii)(B) of the definition 'preferred beneficiary' in subsection 108(1) in relation to a beneficiary's income (computed without reference to subsection 104(14)) for a taxation year,

(b) the amounts expressed in dollars in subsection 117(2), paragraphs (b.1) to (d) of the description of B in subsection 118(1), subsections 118(2), 118.2(1) and 118.3(1) and Part I.2 in relation to tax payable under this Part or Part I.2 for a taxation year,

(b.1) the amounts of $5,000 and $6,000 referred to in subsection (2) and paragraphs (a) and (b) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) in relation to tax payable under this Part for a taxation year, and

(b.2) the amounts expressed in dollars in subsections 122.5(3) and 122.51(1) and (2) in relation to tax payable under this Part for a taxation year shall be adjusted so that the amount to be used under those provisions for the year is the total of

(c) the amount that would, but for subsection (3), be the amount to be used under those provisions for the immediately preceding taxation year, and

(d) the product obtained by multiplying

(i) the amount referred to in paragraph (c)

by"

The formula in s. 117.1(1) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 14, s. 37, applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. The formula in s. 117.1(1) formerly read:

"

$$\frac{A}{B} - 1.03$$

"

S. 117.1(1)(b) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 30(1), applicable

(a) to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years for amounts referred to in paragraph (b.1) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) of the Act; and

(b) to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years for amounts referred to in paragraph (c.1) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) of the Act, as enacted by subsection 31(2). S. 117.1(1)(b) formerly read:

"(b) the amounts expressed in dollars in subsection 117(2), paragraphs (c) and (d) of the description of B in subsection 118(1), subsections 118(2), 118.2(1) and 118.3(1) and Part I.2 in relation to tax payable under this Part or Part I.2 for a taxation year,"

S. 117.1(1), the portion before paragraph (c) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 21(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years except that, in applying paragraph 117.1(1)(b.2) of the Act to the 1997 taxation year, the reference in that paragraph to "subsections 122.5(3) and 122.51(1) and (2)" shall be read as "subsection 122.5(3)". That portion formerly read:

"S. 117.1. Annual adjustment.

(1) Each of

(a) the amounts of $5,000 and $6,000 referred to in subsection (2) and paragraphs (a) and (b) of the description of B in subsection 118(1),

(a.1) the amounts expressed in dollars in subsection 122.5(3), and

(b) the amounts expressed in dollars in subsection 117(2), paragraphs (c) and (d) of the description of B in subsection 118(1), subsections 118(2), 118.2(1) and 118.3(1) and Part I.2

shall be adjusted, for each taxation year after 1996 for amounts referred to in paragraph (d) of the description of B in subsection 118(1), for each taxation year after 1990 for amounts referred to in subsection 122.5(3) and for each taxation year after 1988 in any other case, so that the amount to be used under those provisions for the year is an amount equal to the total of"

Sec. 21(3), Chap. 19, 1998

(3) For the purpose of paragraph 117.1(1)(c) of the Act, the amount to be used under clause (a)(ii)(B) of the definition "preferred beneficiary" in subsection 108(1) of the Act, as enacted by subsection 19(1), in relation to income for the 1996 taxation year is deemed to be $6,456.

S. 117.1(1)(a) was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 24(1), applicable April 25, 1997. S. 117.1(1)(a) formerly read:

"(a) the amounts of $5,000 and $6,000 referred to in subsection (2) and paragraphs 118(1)(a) and (b),"

S. 117.1(1), the portion after paragraph (b) and before paragraph (c), was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 24(2), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. That part formerly read:

"shall be adjusted, for each taxation year after 1990 for amounts referred to in subsection 122.5(3) and for each taxation year after 1988 in any other case, so that the amount to be used under those provisions for the year is an amount equal to the total of"

S. 117.1(1)(b) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 22(1), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. S. 117.1(1)(b) formerly read:

"(b) the amounts expressed in dollars in subsection 117(2), paragraphs (c) and (d) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) and subsections 118(2), 118.2(1), 118.3(1) and 180.2(1)"

S. 117.1(1)(b) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 7(1), applicable with respect to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. S. 117.1(1)(b) formerly read:

"(b) the amounts expressed in dollars in subsections 117(2) and (7), paragraphs 118(1)(c) and (d) and subsections 118(2), 118.2(1), 118.3(1), 122.2(1), 164.1(1) and 180.2(1)"

Related Sections: S. 117.1(4) Consumer Price Index; s. 249(1) Definition of "taxation year".

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-513R Personal tax credits; IT-519R2 (Consolid.) Medical expense and disability tax credits and attendant care expense deduction.

► 117.1(1.1) ◄

(1.1) Adjustment of certain amounts. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, for the purpose of making the adjustment provided under subsection (1) for the 2000 taxation year, the amounts used for the 1999 taxation year

(a) in respect of the amounts of $6,000, $5,000 and $500 referred to in paragraphs (a), (b,) and (c) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) and the amount of $625 referred to in subparagraph 180.2(4)(a)(ii) are deemed to be $7,131, $6,055, $606 and $665, respectively; and

(b) in respect of the amounts of $6,456 and $4,103 referred to in paragraph (d) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) are deemed to be $7,131 and $4,778, respectively.

History: S. 117.1(1.1) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 14, s. 37(2), applicable to the 2000 taxation year. S. 117.1(1.1) was previously repealed by S.C. 1988, c. 55.

► 117.1(2) ◄

(2) Idem. [Repealed by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 23(2).]

History: S. 117.1(2) was repealed by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 23(2), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years. S. 117.1(2) formerly read:

"(2) Idem. The amount of $500 referred to in subparagraphs (a)(ii) and (b)(iv) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) shall be adjusted for each taxation year after 1988 so that the amount to be used under those subparagraphs for the year is the amount determined by the formula

$$\frac{1}{2} \times ($6{,}000 - $5{,}000)$$

"

S. 117.1(2) was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 24(3), applicable April 25, 1997. S. 117.1(2) formerly read:

"(2) Idem. The amount of $500 referred to in subparagraphs 118(1)(a)(ii) and (b)(iv) shall be adjusted for each taxation year after 1988 so that the amount to be used under those subparagraphs for the year is the amount determined by the formula

$$\frac{1}{2} \times ($6{,}000 - $5{,}000)$$

"

Related Sections: S. 117.1(1) Annual adjustment (indexing).

► 117.1(3) ◄

(3) Rounding. Where an amount referred to in this section, when adjusted as provided in this section, is not a multiple of one dollar, it shall be rounded to the nearest multiple of one dollar or, where it is equidistant from two such consecutive multiples, to the higher thereof.

► 117.1(4) ◄

(4) Consumer Price Index. In this section, the Consumer Price Index for any 12 month period is the result arrived at by

(a) aggregating the Consumer Price Index for Canada, as published by Statistics Canada under the authority of the Statistics Act, adjusted in such manner as is prescribed, for each month in that period;

(b) dividing the aggregate obtained under paragraph (a) by twelve; and

(c) rounding the result obtained under paragraph (b) to the nearest one-thousandth or, where the result obtained is equidistant from two consecutive one-thousandths, to the higher thereof.

History: S. 117.1(4)(a) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 14, s. 37(3), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 117.1(4)(a) formerly read:

"(a) aggregating the Consumer Price Index, as published by Statistics Canada under the authority of the Statistics Act, adjusted in such manner as may be prescribed, for each month in that period;"

► 117.1(5) ◄

(5) Idem. [Repealed by 1986, c. 6, s. 65(5).]

► 117.1(6) ◄

(6) Rounding of amounts. [Repealed by 1988, c. 55, s. 91(1).]

► 117.1(7) ◄

(7) Determination of "Consumer Price Index for a 12 month period". [Repealed by 1988, c. 55, s. 91(1).]

► 117.1(7.1) ◄

(7.1) Annual adjustment of amounts expressed in dollars. [Repealed by 1985, c. 45, s. 63(3).]

► 117.1(8) ◄

(8) Limitation. [Repealed by 1986, c. 6, s. 65(7).]

SECTION 118:

► 118(1) ◄

(1) Personal credits. For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year, there may be deducted an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year, and

B is the total of,

Related Sections: S. 117 Tax payable under this Part; s. 117.1(1) Annual adjustment (indexing); s. 248(1), "amount", "appropriate percentage", "self-contained domestic establishment"; s. 249 Definition of "taxation year".

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-513R Personal tax credits. Secondary — IT-171R2 Non-resident individuals — Computation of taxable income earned in Canada and non-refundable tax credits [Archived by the CRA]; IT-295R4 Taxable dividends received after 1987 by a spouse; IT-394R2 Preferred Beneficiary Election; IT-495R3 Child care expenses; IT-515R2 Education tax credit; IT-516R2 Tuition tax credit; IT-519R2 (Consolid.) Medical expense and disability tax credits and attendant care expense deduction.

Information Circulars: IC 07-1 Taxpayer Relief Provisions.

Forms: TD1; TD1-WS.

Cases: Although s. 118(1) provides a greater benefit to a tax-paying couple with a child cohabiting common-law than to a married couple, such benefit cannot be characterized as discrimination based on religion. Nor could the inequality in benefit be said to have arisen simply by reason of the taxpayer's marital status. A finding of discrimination under s. 15 of the Charter requires the existence of a discrete and insular minority and it was not possible in the context of s. 118(1) to define the discrete and insular minority in terms of women. Schachtschneider v. The Queen, 93 DTC 5298 (F.C.A.).

► 118(1)(a) ◄

(a) Married or common-law partnership status — in the case of an individual who at any time in the year is a married person or a person who is in a common-law partnership who supports the individual's spouse or common-law partner and is not living separate and apart from the spouse or common-law partner by reason of a breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership, an amount equal to the total of

(i) $10,320, and

(ii) the amount determined by the formula

$$$10{,}320 - C$$

where

C is the income of the individual's spouse or common-law partner for the year or, where the individual and the individual's spouse or common-law partner are living separate and apart at the end of the year because of a breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership, the spouse's or common-law partner's income for the year while married to, or in a common-law partnership with, the individual and not so separated,

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The description of C in subparagraph (a)(ii) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) of the English version of the Act is replaced by the following:

Editorial Note: Paragraph 118(1)(a) was amended by Bill C-52 (S.C. 2007, c. 29) to eliminate the net income threshold described in variable C for the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. See also 118(3.2) for the amount used to calculate the credit for 2007–2009.

C is the greater of $606 and the income of the individual's spouse or common-law partner for the year or, where the individual and the individual's spouse or common-law partner are living separate and apart at the end of the year because of a breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership, the spouse's or common-law partner's income for the year while married or in a common-law partnership and not so separated,

Applicable: To the 2001 and subsequent taxation years except that, if a taxpayer and a person have jointly elected under section 144 of the Modernization of Benefits and Obligations Act, in respect of the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation years, the description of C in subparagraph (a)(ii) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) applies to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years. Editorial Note: A coordinating amendment in Bill C-52 (S.C. 2007, c. 29) provides that if former Bill C-10 receives Royal Assent, this amendment is deemed to have come into force before the amendment to paragraph (a) of the description of B in s. 118(1) contained in Bill C-52 (S.C. 2007, c. 29).

Explanatory Note:

Married Status

Paragraph 118(1)(a) of the Act deals with the tax credit to persons who are married or in a common-law partnership. In 2000, the Act was amended to include common-law partners, but some provisions, including the English version of paragraph 118(1)(a), were overlooked. This paragraph is therefore amended to correct this omission. The amendment applies, in general, to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. However, it may apply as of 1998 if the common-law partners jointly choose to be deemed as such, beginning in that year, for the purposes of the application of the Act.

CRA Press Release

2.5% Indexation Factor for 2009

See CRA Fact Sheet, dated December 8, 2008, that is reproduced following subsection 117.1(1). This release announces a 2.5% indexation factor applicable for 2009 tax bracket thresholds, personal amounts and other amounts relating to non-refundable credits, as well as the refundable medical expense supplement and Old Age Security repayment threshold. Increases to the Canada Child Tax Benefit (including the National Child Benefit supplement and the Child Disability Benefit) and the Goods and Services Tax Credit will take effect as of July 1, 2009.

History: S. 118(1), the portion of paragraph (a) of the description of B before the description of C was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 34(1), applicable to the 2009 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(1), the portion of paragraph (a) of the description of B before the description of C formerly read:

"(a) Married or common-law partnership status — in the case of an individual who at any time in the year is a married person or a person who is in a common-law partnership who supports the individual's spouse or common-law partner and is not living separate and apart from the spouse or common-law partner by reason of a breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership, an amount equal to the total of

(i) $7,131, and

(ii) the amount determined by the formula

$6,055 – C

where"

S. 118(1), the description of C in subparagraph (a)(ii) of the description of B was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 34(2), applicable to the 2009 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(1), the description of C in subparagraph (a)(ii) of the description of B formerly read:

"C is the income of the individual's spouse or common-law partner for the year or, where the individual and the individual's spouse or common-law partner are living separate and apart at the end of the year because of a breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership, the spouse's income for the year while married to, or in a common-law partnership with, the individual and not so separated,"

S. 118(1), paragraph (a) of the description of B was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 9(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(1), paragraph (a) of the description of B formerly read:

"(a) Married status — in the case of an individual who at any time in the year is a married person or a person who is in a common-law partnership who supports the individual's spouse or common-law partner and is not living separate and apart from the spouse or common-law partner by reason of a breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership, an amount equal to the total of

(i) $7,131, and

(ii) the amount determined by the formula

$6,055 – (C – $606)

where

C is the greater of $606 and the income of the individual's spouse or common-law partner for the year or, where the individual and the individual's spouse or common-law partner are living separate and apart at the end of the year because of a breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership, the spouse's income for the year while married or in a common-law partnership and not so separated,"

S. 118(1), paragraph (a) of the description of B was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.5), 9(g), 11(a) and 13(b), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118(1), paragraph (a) of the description of B formerly read:

"(a) Married status — in the case of an individual who at any time in the year is a married person who supports the individual's spouse and is not living separate and apart from the spouse by reason of a breakdown of their marriage, an amount equal to the total of

(i) $7,131, and

(ii) the amount determined by the formula

$6,055 – (C – $606)

where

C is the greater of $606 and the income of the individual's spouse for the year or, where the individual and the individual's spouse are living separate and apart at the end of the year because of a breakdown of their marriage, the spouse's income for the year while married and not so separated,"

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118(1)(a), subparagraphs (i) and (ii) of the description of B were amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s 24(1), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years except that, in their application to the 1999 taxation year, the references to "$7,131", "$6,055", "$606" and "$4,778" in subparagraphs (a)(i) and (ii) and (b)(iii) and (iv) and paragraphs (c) and (d) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) of the Act, shall be read as references to "$6,794", "$5,718", "$572" and "$4,441", respectively. S. 118(1)(a), subparagraphs (i) and (ii) of the description of B formerly read:

"(i) $6,000, and

(ii) an amount determined by the formula

$5,000 – (C – $500)

where

C is the greater of $500 and the income of the individual's spouse for the year or, where the individual and the individual's spouse are living separate and apart at the end of the year by reason of a breakdown of their marriage, the spouse's income for the year while married and not so separated,"

S. 118(1), the portion of paragraph (a) of the description of B before subparagraph (i), was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 25(2), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years. That part formerly read:

"(a) Married status — in the case of an individual who at any time in the year is a married person who supports the individual's spouse, an amount equal to the total of"

Related Sections: S. 60(b) Support; s. 60(c) Pension income reallocation; s. 82(3) Dividends received by spouse or common-law partner; s. 118(3.1) Additions to personal credits — basic personal amount; s. 118(3.2) Additions to personal credits — spouse or common-law partner or wholly dependent person; s. 118(4) Limitations re s. (1); s. 118(5) Support; s. 118(5.1) Where subsection (5) does not apply; s. 248(1), "common-law partner", and "common-law partnership".

Cases: Prior to 1993, common-law spouses were not considered married for purposes of the Income Tax Act. See No. 673 v. M.N.R., 60 DTC 21 (T.A.B.); Schapira v. M.N.R., 66 DTC 157 (T.A.B.); and Sokil v. M.N.R., 68 DTC 314 (T.A.B.).

► 118(1)(b) ◄

(b) Wholly dependent person — in the case of an individual who does not claim a deduction for the year because of paragraph (a) and who, at any time in the year,

(i) is

(A) a person who is unmarried and who does not live in a common-law partnership, or

(B) a person who is married or in a common-law partnership, who neither supported nor lived with their spouse or common law-partner and who is not supported by that spouse or common-law partner, and

(ii) whether alone or jointly with one or more other persons, maintains a self-contained domestic establishment (in which the individual lives) and actually supports in that establishment a person who, at that time, is

(A) except in the case of a child of the individual, resident in Canada,

(B) wholly dependent for support on the individual, or the individual and the other person or persons, as the case may be,

(C) related to the individual, and

(D) except in the case of a parent or grandparent of the individual, either under 18 years of age or so dependent by reason of mental or physical infirmity, an amount equal to the total of

(iii) $10,320, and

(iv) the amount determined by the formula

$$$10,320 - D$$

where

D is the dependent person's income for the year,

CRA Press Release

2.5% Indexation Factor for 2009

See CRA Fact Sheet, dated December 8, 2008, that is reproduced following subsection 117.1(1). This release announces a 2.5% indexation factor applicable for 2009 tax bracket thresholds, personal amounts and other amounts relating to non-refundable credits, as well as the refundable medical expense supplement and Old Age Security repayment threshold. Increases to the Canada Child Tax Benefit (including the National Child Benefit supplement and the Child Disability Benefit) and the Goods and Services Tax Credit will take effect as of July 1, 2009.

History: S. 118(1), subparagraphs (b)(iii) and (iv) of the description of B were replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 34(4), applicable to the 2009 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(1), subparagraphs (b)(iii) and (iv) of the description of B formerly read:

"(iii) $7,131, and

(iv) the amount determined by the formula

$$$6,055 - D$$

where

D is the dependent person's income for the year,"

S. 118(1)(b), subparagraph (iv) of the description of B was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 9(3), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(1)(b), subparagraph (iv) of the description of B formerly read:

"(iv) the amount determined by the formula

$$$6,055 - (D - $606)$$

where

D is the greater of $606 and the dependent person's income for the year,"

S. 118(1)(b), subparagraphs (iii) and (iv) of the description of B were amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 24(2), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years except that, in their application to the 1999 taxation year, the references to "$7,131", "$6,055", "$606" and "$4,778" in subparagraphs (a)(i) and (ii) and (b)(iii) and (iv) and paragraphs (c) and (d) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) of the Act, shall be read as references to "$6,794", "$5,718", "$572" and "$4,441", respectively.

"(iii) $6,000, and

(iv) an amount determined by the formula

$$$5,000 - (D - $500)$$

where

D is the greater of $500 and the income for the year of the dependent person,"

S. 118(1)(b)(i) of the description of B was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, s. 131(1), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118(1)(b)(i) of the description of B formerly read:

"(i) is an unmarried person or a married person who neither supported nor lived with the married person's spouse and is not supported by the spouse, and"

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118(1), the portion of paragraph (b) of the description of B before subparagraph (i), was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 25(3), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years. That part formerly read:

"(b) Wholly dependent person — in the case of an individual not entitled to a deduction by reason of paragraph (a) who, at any time in the year,"

Related Sections: S. 118(1)(e) Additional amount; s. 118(3.1) Additions to personal credits — basic personal amount; s. 118(3.2) Additions to personal credits — spouse or common-law partner or wholly dependent person; s. 118(4) Limitations re s. (1); s. 118(5) Support; s. 118(5.1) Where subsection (5) does not apply; s. 248(1), "self-contained domestic establishment"; s. 252(1) Extended meaning of "child"; s. 252(2) Relationships.

Forms: T1 SCH 5.

► 118(1)(b.1) ◄

(b.1) Child amount — where

(i) a child of the individual ordinarily resides throughout the taxation year with the individual together with another parent of the child, $2,000 for each such child who is under the age of 18 years at the end of the taxation year, or

(ii) except where subparagraph (i) applies, the individual may deduct an amount under paragraph (b) in respect of the individual's child who is under the age of 18 years at the end of the taxation year, or could deduct such an amount in respect of that child if paragraph 118(4)(a) did not apply to the individual for the taxation year and if the child had no income for the year, $2,000 for each such child.

CRA Press Release

2.5% Indexation Factor for 2009

See CRA Fact Sheet, dated December 8, 2008, that is reproduced following subsection 117.1(1). This release announces a 2.5% indexation factor applicable for 2009 tax bracket thresholds, personal amounts and other amounts relating to non-refundable credits, as well as the refundable medical expense supplement and Old Age Security repayment threshold. Increases to the Canada Child Tax Benefit (including the National Child Benefit supplement and the Child Disability Benefit) and the Goods and Services Tax Credit will take effect as of July 1, 2009.

History: S. 118(1), subparagraph (b.1)(ii) of the description of B was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 36(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(1), subparagraph (b.1)(ii) of the description of B formerly read:

"(ii) except where subparagraph (i) applies, the individual may deduct an amount under paragraph (b) in respect of the individual's child who is under the age of 18 years at the end of the taxation year, or could deduct such an amount in respect of that child if paragraph 118(4)(a) did not apply to the individual for the taxation year, $2,000 for each such child,"

S. 118(1), paragraph (b.1) of the description of B was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 9(4), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118(1), paragraph (b.1) of the description of B was repealed by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 24(4), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(1), paragraph (b.1) of the description of B formerly read:

"(b.1) Supplementary amount — for each individual (other than a trust), 1/2 of the amount, if any, by which the total of

(i) $500, and

(ii) if an amount is deducted under paragraph (a) or (b) by the individual for the year in respect of another individual (or would be so deducted if the other individual had no income for the year), the lesser of

(A) $500, and

(B) the amount, if any, by which

(I) the total of $500 and the amount used under paragraph (c) for the year

exceeds

(II) the other individual's income for the year or, where the other individual is the individual's spouse and both persons are living separate and apart at the end of the year by reason of a breakdown of their marriage, the other individual's income for the year while married and not so separated

exceeds

(iii) 4% of the amount, if any, by which

(A) the individual's income for the year

exceeds

(B) the total of $500, the amount used under paragraph (c) for the year and, if subparagraph (ii) applies for the year to the individual, the amount determined under clause (ii)(B) for the year,"

[Please note that where an election is made under the Transitional Provision for S.C. 2000, c. 12, described below, references to spouse, marriage, and married are to be read as spouse or common-law partner, marriage or common-law partnership and married or in a common-law partnership.]

S. 118.1(1), the portion of paragraph (b.1) of the description of B before subparagraph (i) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 24(3), applicable to the 1999 taxation year. S. 118.1(1), the portion of paragraph (b.1) of the description of B before subparagraph (i) formerly read:

"(b.1) Supplementary amount — for each individual (other than a trust), the amount, if any, by which the total of"

S. 118(1), paragraph (b.1) of the description of B, was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.5), 10(b) and 11(a), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118(1), paragraph (b.1) of the description of B, formerly read:

"(b.1) Supplementary amount — for each individual (other than a trust), the amount, if any, by which the total of

(i) $500, and

(ii) if an amount is deducted under paragraph (a) or (b) by the individual for the year in respect of another individual (or would be so deducted if the other individual had no income for the year), the lesser of

(A) 1/2 of $500, and

(B) the amount, if any, by which

(I) the total of $500 and the amount used under paragraph (c) for the year

exceeds

(II) the other individual's income for the year or, where the other individual is the individual's spouse and both persons are living separate and apart at the end of the year by reason of a breakdown of their marriage, the other individual's income for the year while married and not so separated

exceeds

(iii) 4% of the amount, if any, by which

(A) the individual's income for the year

exceeds

(B) the total of $500, the amount used under paragraph (c) for the year and, if subparagraph (ii) applies for the year to the individual, the amount determined under clause (ii)(B) for the year,"

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118(1), paragraph (b.1) of the description of B, was added by S.C 1999, c. 22, s. 31(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to the 1998 taxation year, the reference to "the amount" in the portion of paragraph (b.1) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) of the Act before subparagraph (i), as enacted by subsection (1), shall be read as a reference to "50% of the amount".

Editorial Note: The non-refundable Child Tax Credit is based on $2,000 (indexed after 2007, see s. 117.1(1)) per child calculated by reference to the lowest marginal tax rate for the taxation year. There is no earnings-based clawback or reduction. The credit can be claimed by either parent where the child resides with both parents and in other circumstances, can be claimed by that parent entitled to claim the dependent person credit for the taxation year. Unused tax credits are transferable by a parent to the parent's spouse or common-law partner.

Related Sections: S. 117.1(1) Annual adjustment (indexing); s. 118(3.1) Additions to personal credits — basic personal amount; s. 118(4) Limitations re s. (1); s. 118(5) Support; s. 118(5.1) Where subsection (5) does not apply; s. 118.8 Transfer of unused credits to spouse or common-law partner. s. 118(9.1) Child tax credit.

► 118(1)(c) ◄

(c) Single status — except in the case of an individual entitled to a deduction because of paragraph (a) or (b), $10,320,

CRA Press Release

2.5% Indexation Factor for 2009

See CRA Fact Sheet, dated December 8, 2008, that is reproduced following subsection 117.1(1). This release announces a 2.5% indexation factor applicable for 2009 tax bracket thresholds, personal amounts and other amounts relating to non-refundable credits, as well as the refundable medical expense supplement and Old Age Security repayment threshold. Increases to the Canada Child Tax Benefit (including the National Child Benefit supplement and the Child Disability Benefit) and the Goods and Services Tax Credit will take effect as of July 1, 2009.

History: S. 118(1), paragraph (c) of the description of B was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 34(5), applicable to the 2009 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(1), paragraph (c) of the description of B formerly read:

"(c) Single status — except in the case of an individual entitled to a deduction because of paragraph (a) or (b), $7,131,"

S. 118(1), paragraph (c) of the description of B, was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 24(5), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years except that, in their application to the 1999 taxation year, the references to "$7,131", "$6,055", "$606" and "$4,778" in subparagraphs (a)(i) and (ii) and (b)(iii) and (iv) and paragraphs (c) and (d) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) of the Act, shall be read as references to "$6,794", "$5,718", "$572" and "$4,441", respectively. S. 118(1), paragraph (c) of the description of B formerly read:

"(c) Single status — except in the case of an individual entitled to a deduction by reason of paragraph (a) or (b), $6,000,"

S. 118(1), paragraph (c) of the description of B, was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 25(4) to remove the word "and" at the end of the paragraph, applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 118(3.1) Additions to personal credits — basic personal amount.

► 118(1)(c.1) ◄

(c.1) In-home care of relative — in the case of an individual who, at any time in the year alone or jointly with one or more persons, maintains a self-contained domestic establishment which is the ordinary place of residence of the individual and of a particular person

(i) who has attained the age of 18 years before that time,

(ii) who is

(A) the individual's child or grandchild, or

(B) resident in Canada and is the parent, grandparent, brother, sister, aunt, uncle, nephew or niece of the individual or of the individual's spouse or common-law partner, and

(iii) who is

(A) the individual's parent or grandparent and has attained the age of 65 years before that time, or

(B) dependent on the individual because of the particular person's mental or physical infirmity,

the amount determined by the formula

$15,453 – D.1

where

D.1 is the greater of $11,953 and the particular person's income for the year,

CRA Press Release

2.5% Indexation Factor for 2009

See CRA Fact Sheet, dated December 8, 2008, that is reproduced following subsection 117.1(1). This release announces a 2.5% indexation factor applicable for 2009 tax bracket thresholds, personal amounts and other amounts relating to non-refundable credits, as well as the refundable medical expense supplement and Old Age Security repayment threshold. Increases to the Canada Child Tax Benefit (including the National Child Benefit supplement and the Child Disability Benefit) and the Goods and Services Tax Credit will take effect as of July 1, 2009.

History: S. 118(1)(c.1) after subparagraph (iii) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 93(2), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(1)(c.1), the portion after subparagraph (iii) formerly read:

"the amount determined by the formula

$13,853 – D.1

where

D.1is the greater of $11,500 and the particular person's income for the year,"

S. 118(1), clause (c.1)(ii)(B) of the description of B was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 93(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years, except that clause (c.1)(ii)(B) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) of the Act shall be read without reference to "or common-law partner" for any taxation year that ends before 2001 unless a valid election is made by the taxpayer under section 144 of the Modernization of Benefits and Obligations Act, that that Act apply to the taxpayer in respect of one or more taxation years that includes the year. S. 118(1), clause (c.1)(ii)(B) of the description of B formerly read:

"(B) resident in Canada and is the individual's parent, grandparent, brother, sister, aunt, uncle, nephew or niece, and"

S. 118(1), paragraph (c.1) of the description of B, was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 31(2), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 118(1)(e) Additional amount; s. 118(4) Limitations re s. (1); s. 248(1), "self-contained domestic establishment".

Forms: T1 SCH 5.

► 118(1)(d) ◄

(d) Dependants — for each dependant of the individual for the year who

(i) attained the age of 18 years before the end of the year, and

(ii) was dependent on the individual because of mental or physical infirmity,

the amount determined by the formula

$8,466 – E

where

E is the greater of $4,966 and the dependant's income for the year, and

CRA Press Release

2.5% Indexation Factor for 2009

See CRA Fact Sheet, dated December 8, 2008, that is reproduced following subsection 117.1(1). This release announces a 2.5% indexation factor applicable for 2009 tax bracket thresholds, personal amounts and other amounts relating to non-refundable credits, as well as the refundable medical expense supplement and Old Age Security repayment threshold. Increases to the Canada Child Tax Benefit (including the National Child Benefit supplement and the Child Disability Benefit) and the Goods and Services Tax Credit will take effect as of July 1, 2009.

History: S. 118(1), the portion of paragraph (d) of the description of B after subparagraph (ii) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 93(3), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(1), the portion of paragraph (d) of the description of B after subparagraph (ii) formerly read:

"the amount determined by the formula

$7,131 – E

where

E is the greater of $4,778 and the dependant's income for the year, and"

S. 118(1), the portion of paragraph (d) of the description of B after subparagraph (ii) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 24(6), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years except that, in their application to the 1999 taxation year, the references to "$7,131", "$6,055", "$606" and "$4,778" in subparagraphs (a)(i) and (ii) and (b)(iii) and (iv) and paragraphs (c) and (d) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) of the Act, shall be read as references to "$6,794", "$5,718", "$572" and "$4,441", respectively. S. 118(1), the portion of paragraph (d) of the description of B after subparagraph (ii) formerly read:

"the amount determined by the formula

$6,456 - E

where

E is the greater of $4,103 and the income for the year of the dependant, and"

S. 118(1), the portion of paragraph (d) of the description of B after subparagraph (ii), was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 25(5), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. That part formerly read:

"an amount determined by the formula

$1,471 – (E – $2,500)

where

E is the greater of $2,500 and the income for the year of the dependant."

S. 118(1)(d) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 8(1), applicable with respect to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(1)(d) formerly read:

"(d) Dependants — for each dependant of the individual for the year, an amount equal to

(i) if the dependant was under the age of 18 years at any time in the year, an amount determined by the formula

$388 – (E – $2,500)

where

E is the greater of $2,500 and the income for the year of the dependant, except that where the individual has more than 2 such dependants for the year, the reference to the amount '$388' in the formula under this subparagraph shall, in respect of all but 2 of those dependants, be read as twice that amount, and

(ii) in the case of a person dependent on the individual by reason of mental or physical infirmity and to whom subparagraph (i) does not apply, an amount determined by the formula

$1,471 – (F – $2,500)

where

F is the greater of $2,500 and the income for the year of the dependant."

Related Sections: S. 118(1)(e) Additional amount; s. 118(4) Limitations re s. (1); s. 118(5) Support; s. 118(6) Definition of dependant; s. 252(1) Extended meaning of "child"; s. 252(2) Relationships.

Forms: T1 SCH 5.

Cases: The age limit for the dependant credit was held not to constitute discrimination based on age, contrary to subsection 15(1) of the Charter. Mercier v. M.N.R., 97 DTC 5081 (F.C.T.D.), reversing 92 DTC 1693 (T.C.C.).

► 118(1)(e) ◄

(e) Additional amount — in the case of an individual entitled to a deduction in respect of a person because of paragraph (b) and who would also be entitled, but for paragraph (4)(c), to a deduction because of paragraph (c.1) or (d) in respect of the person, the amount by which the amount that would be determined under paragraph (c.1) or (d), as the case may be, exceeds the amount determined under paragraph (b) in respect of the person.

History: S. 118(1), paragraph (e) of the description of B, was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 31(3), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(1), paragraph (e) of the description of B, formerly read:

"(e) Infirm dependant — in the case of an individual entitled to a deduction in respect of a person because of paragraph (b) and who would also be entitled, but for paragraph (4)(c), to a deduction because of paragraph (d) in respect of the same person, the amount by which the amount that would be determined under paragraph (d) in respect of the person exceeds the amount determined under paragraph (b) in respect of the person."

S. 118(1), paragraph (e) in the description of B, was added by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 25(6), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 118(6) Definition of dependant.

► 118(2) ◄

(2) Age credit. For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part for a taxation year by an individual who, before the end of the year, has attained the age of 65 years, there may be deducted the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times ($6{,}408 - B)$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year; and

B is 15% of the amount, if any, by which the individual's income for the year would exceed $25,921 if no amount were included in respect of a gain from a disposition of property to which section 79 applies in computing that income.

CRA Press Release

2.5% Indexation Factor for 2009

See CRA Fact Sheet, dated December 8, 2008, that is reproduced following subsection 117.1(1). This release announces a 2.5% indexation factor applicable for 2009 tax bracket thresholds, personal amounts and other amounts relating to non-refundable credits, as well as the refundable medical expense supplement and Old Age Security repayment threshold. Increases to the Canada Child Tax Benefit (including the National Child Benefit supplement and the Child Disability Benefit) and the Goods and Services Tax Credit will take effect as of July 1, 2009.

History: The formula in s. 118(2) was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 34(6), applicable to the 2009 and subsequent taxation years. The formula in s. 118(2) formerly read:

"A × ($5,066 – B)

"

S. 118(2), the formula was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 9(5), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(2), the formula formerly read:

"

$$A \times ($3{,}236 - B)$$

"

S. 118(2), the description of B, was amended by S.C. 1998 c. 19, s. 134(1), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years except that, notwithstanding section 117.1 of the Act, the value of B in subsection 118(2) of the Act shall, for the 1994 taxation year, be determined as the lesser of $1,741 and 7.5% of the amount, if any, by which the individual's income for the year would exceed $25,921 if no amount were included in respect of a gain from a disposition of property to which section 79 of the Act applies in computing that income. The description of B formerly read:

"B is 15% of the amount, if any, by which the individual's income for the year exceeds $25,921."

S. 118(2) was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 33(1), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years except that, notwithstanding section 117.1, the value of B in subsection 118(2), shall, for the 1994 taxation year, be determined as the lesser of $1,741 and 7.5% of the amount, if any, by which the individual's income for the year exceeds $25,921.

S. 118(2) formerly read:

"(2) Age credit. For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part for a taxation year by an individual who, before the end of the year, has attained the age of 65 years, there may be deducted an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times $3{,}236$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year."

Related Sections: S. 117.1(1) Annual adjustment (indexing); s. 118.8 Transfer of unused credits to spouse or common-law partner.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-513R Personal tax credits.

Information Circulars: IC 07-1 Taxpayer Relief Provisions.

Cases: While the legislation established legal distinctions based on age, the legal distinctions were not discriminatory within the context of the test laid down by the Supreme Court of Canada in Andrews v. The Law Society of British Columbia, [1989] 1 S.C.R. 143. Tiberio et al. v. M.N.R., 91 DTC 17 (T.C.C.).

► 118(3) ◄

(3) Pension credit. For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year, there may be deducted an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year; and

B is the lesser of $2,000 and the eligible pension income of the individual for the taxation year.

History: S. 118(3), the description of B was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 9(6), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(3), the description of B formerly read:

"B is the lesser of $2,000 and

(a) where the individual has attained the age of 65 years before the end of the year, the pension income received by the individual in the year, and

(b) where the individual has not attained the age of 65 years before the end of the year, the qualified pension income received by the individual in the year."

S. 118(3), the portion of the description of B before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 20(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118(3), the portion of the description of B before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"B is the lesser of $1,000 and"

S. 118(3) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 52(1), applicable after the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(3) formerly read:

"(3) Pension credit. For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year, there may be deducted,

(a) where the individual has attained the age of 65 years before the end of the year, an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year, and

B is the lesser of $1,000 and the pension income received by the individual in the year; and

(b) where the individual (other than an individual referred to in paragraph (a)) has before the end of the year

(i) attained the age of 60 years,

(ii) received a disability pension or survivor's pension under the Canada Pension Plan or under a provincial pension plan as defined in section 3 of that Act, or

(iii) not attained the age of 60 years, and has not deducted in computing the individual's income for the year an amount under paragraph 60(j) (other than in respect of an amount included in computing the individual's income pursuant to subsection 147(10), which amount was received in satisfaction of all the individual's rights and entitlements under a deferred profit sharing plan),

an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year, and

B is the lesser of $1,000 and the qualified pension income received by the individual in the year."

Related Sections: S. 60.03(2) Effect of pension income split; s. 104(27) Pension benefits; s. 118(7) Definitions; s. 118(8) Interpretation; s. 118.8 Transfer of unused credits to spouse or common-law partner; s. 248(1), "amount", "individual".

Regulations: 7800(1).

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-517R Pension tax credit [Archived by the CRA].

► 118(3.1) ◄

(3.1) Additions to personal credits — basic personal amount. [Repealed by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 34(7).]

History: S. 118(3.1) was repealed by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 34(7), applicable to the 2009 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(3.1) formerly read:

"(3.1) Additions to personal credits — basic personal amount. The amount of $7,131 referred to in paragraphs (a) to (c) of the description of B in subsection (1) (in this subsection referred to as the "particular amount") that is to be used for the purpose of determining the amount of that description is

(a) for the 2005 taxation year, to be replaced by $8,648;

(b) for the 2006 taxation year, to be replaced by $8,839, except that, for the purpose of determining the particular amount for the 2007 taxation year, the particular amount for 2006 is deemed to be $8,639;

(c) for the 2007 and 2008 taxation years, to be replaced by $9,600;

(d) for the 2009 taxation year, to be replaced by $10,100; and

(e) for each of the 2010 and subsequent taxation years, to be replaced by the amount that is the amount that would be determined for that description for those years in respect of the particular amount by applying section 117.1 (without reference to subsection 117.1(3)) to the amount determined under this subsection in respect of the amount for the immediately preceding taxation year.

(f) [Repealed.]"

S. 118(3.1)(c) to (e) were replaced, and paragraph (f) was repealed, by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 180(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(3.1)(c) to (f) formerly read:

"(c) for the 2007 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the total of $100 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that taxation year in respect of the particular amount by applying section 117.1 (without reference to subsection 117.1(3)) to the amount of $8,639 as deemed under paragraph (b);

(d) for the 2008 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the total of $200 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that taxation year in respect of the particular amount by applying section 117.1 (without reference to subsection 117.1(3)) to the amount determined under paragraph (c);

(e) for the 2009 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the greater of

(i) the total of $600 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that taxation year in respect of the particular amount by applying section 117.1 (without reference to subsection 117.1(3)) to the amount determined under paragraph (d), and

(ii) $10,000; and

(f) for each of the 2010 and subsequent taxation years, to be replaced by the amount that is the amount that would be determined for that description for those years in respect of the particular amount by applying section 117.1 (without reference to subsection 117.1(3)) to the amount determined under this subsection in respect of the amount for the immediately preceding taxation year."

S. 118(3.1) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 60(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118(3.1) formerly read:

"(3.1) Additions to personal credits — basic personal amount. The amount of $7,131 referred to in paragraphs (a) to (c) of the description of B in subsection (1) (in this subsection referred to as the 'particular amount') that is to be used for the purpose of determining the amount of that description is

(a) for the 2006 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the total of $100 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that year in respect of the particular amount if this section were read without reference to this subsection;

(b) for the 2007 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the total of $100 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that year in respect of the particular amount by applying subsection 117.1(1) to the amount determined under paragraph (a);

(c) for the 2008 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the total of $400 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that year in respect of the particular amount by applying subsection 117.1(1) to the amount determined under paragraph (b);

(d) for the 2009 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the greater of

(i) the amount that is the total of $600 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that year in respect of the particular amount by applying subsection 117.1(1) to the amount determined under paragraph (c), and

(ii) $10,000; and

(e) for the 2010 and subsequent taxation years, to be replaced by the amount that is the amount that would be determined for that description for those years in respect of the particular amount by applying subsection 117.1(1) to the amount determined under paragraph (d)."

S. 118(3.1) was replaced by S.C. 2005, c. 30, s. 5, applicable on Royal Assent, June 29, 2005. S. 118(3.1) formerly read:

"(3.1) Minimum amounts for 2004. Each of the amounts of $7,131, $6,055 and $606 referred to in paragraphs (a) to (c) of the description of B in subsection (1) is deemed, for the 2004 taxation year, to be the greater of

(a) the amount in respect thereof that would be used for that year if this section were read without reference to this subsection; and

(b) in the case of

(i) the amounts of $7,131, $8,000,

(ii) the amounts of $6,055, $6,800, and

(iii) the amounts of $606, $680."

S. 118(3.1) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 93(4), applicable on Royal Assent, June 14, 2001.

Related Sections: S. 117.1(1) Annual adjustment (indexing).

► 118(3.2) ◄

(3.2) Additions to personal credits — spouse or common-law partner or wholly dependent person. [Repealed by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 34(7).]

History: S. 118(3.2) was repealed by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 34(7), applicable to the 2009 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(3.2) formerly read:

"(3.2) Additions to personal credits — spouse or common-law partner or wholly dependent person. The amount of $6,055 referred to in subparagraphs (a)(ii) and (b)(iv) of the description of B in subsection (1) (in this subsection referred to as the "particular amount") that is to be used for the purpose of determining the amount of that description is

(a) for the 2005 taxation year, to be replaced by $7,344;

(b) for the 2006 taxation year, to be replaced by $7,505, except that, for the purpose of determining the particular amount for the 2007 taxation year, the particular amount for 2006 is deemed to be $7,335;

(c) for the 2007 and 2008 taxation years, to be replaced by $9,600;

(d) for the 2009 taxation year, to be replaced by $10,100; and

(e) for each of the 2010 and subsequent taxation years, to be replaced by the amount that is the amount that would be determined for that description for those years in respect of the particular amount by applying section 117.1 (without reference to subsection 117.1(3)) to the amount determined under this subsection in respect of the amount for the immediately preceding taxation year.

(f) [Repealed.]"

S. 118(3.2)(c) to (e) were replaced, and paragraph (f) was repealed, by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 180(2), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(3.2)(c) to (f) formerly read:

"(c) for the 2007 taxation year, to be replaced by $8,929;

(d) for the 2008 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the total of $200 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that taxation year in respect of the particular amount by applying section 117.1 (without reference to subsection 117.1(3)) to the amount determined under paragraph (c);

(e) for the 2009 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the greater of

(i) the total of $600 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that taxation year in respect of the particular amount by applying section 117.1 (without reference to subsection 117.1(3)) to the amount determined under paragraph (d), and

(ii) $10,000; and

(f) for each of the 2010 and subsequent taxation years, to be replaced by the amount determined for that description for that taxation year in respect of the particular amount by applying section 117.1 (without reference to subsection 117.1(3)) to the amount determined for that description for the immediately preceding taxation year in respect of the particular amount."

S. 118(3.2)(c) to (e) were replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 9(7), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(3.2)(c) to (f) formerly read:

"(c) for the 2007 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the total of $85 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that taxation year in respect of the particular amount by applying section 117.1 (without reference to subsection 117.1(3)) to the amount of $7,335 as deemed under paragraph (b);

(d) for the 2008 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the total of $170 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that taxation year in respect of the particular amount by applying section 117.1 (without reference to subsection 117.1(3)) to the amount determined under paragraph (c);

(e) for the 2009 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the greater of

(i) the total of $510 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that taxation year in respect of the particular amount by applying section 117.1 (without reference to subsection 117.1(3)) to the amount determined under paragraph (d), and

(ii) $8,500; and"

S. 118(3.2) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 60(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(3.2) formerly read:

"(3.2) Additions to personal credits — spouse or common-law partner or wholly dependent person. The amount of $6,055 referred to in subparagraphs (a)(ii) and (b)(iv) of the description of B in subsection (1) (in this subsection referred to as the 'particular amount') that is to be used for the purpose of determining the amount of that description is

(a) for the 2006 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the total of $85 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that year in respect of the particular amount if this section were read without reference to this subsection;

(b) for the 2007 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the total of $85 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that year in respect of the particular amount by applying subsection 117.1(1) to the amount determined under paragraph (a);

(c) for the 2008 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the total of $340 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that year in respect of the particular amount by applying subsection 117.1(1) to the amount determined under paragraph (b);

(d) for the 2009 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the greater of

(i) the amount that is the total of $510 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that year in respect of the particular amount by applying subsection 117.1(1) to the amount determined under paragraph (c), and

(ii) $8,500; and

(e) for the 2010 and subsequent taxation years, to be replaced by the amount that is the amount that would be determined for that description for those years in respect of the particular amount by applying subsection 117.1(1) to the amount determined under paragraph (d)."

S. 118(3.2) was added by S.C. 2005, c. 30, s. 5, applicable on Royal Assent, June 29, 2005.

► 118(3.3) ◄

(3.3) Additions to personal credits — net income threshold. [Repealed by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 9(8).]

History: S. 118(3.3) was repealed by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 9(8), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(3.3) formerly read:

"(3.3) Additions to personal credits — net income threshold. The amount of $606 referred to in subparagraphs (a)(ii) and (b)(iv) of the description of B in subsection (1) (in this subsection referred to as the "particular amount") that is to be used for the purpose of determining the amount of that description is

(a) for the 2005 taxation year, to be replaced by $734;

(b) for the 2006 taxation year, to be replaced by $751, except that, for the purpose of determining the particular amount for the 2007 taxation year, the particular amount for 2006 is deemed to be $734;

(c) for the 2007 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the total of $8.50 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that taxation year in respect of the particular amount by applying section 117.1 (without reference to subsection 117.1(3)) to the amount of $734 as deemed under paragraph (b);

(d) for the 2008 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the total of $17.00 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that taxation year in respect of the particular amount by applying section 117.1 (without reference to subsection 117.1(3)) to the amount determined under paragraph (c);

(e) for the 2009 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the greater of

(i) the total of $51.00 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that taxation year in respect of the particular amount by applying section 117.1 (without reference to subsection 117.1(3)) to the amount determined under paragraph (d); and

(ii) $850; and

(f) for each of the 2010 and subsequent taxation years, to be replaced by the amount determined for that description for that taxation year in respect of the particular amount by applying section 117.1 (without reference to subsection 117.1(3)) to the amount determined for that description for the immediately preceding taxation year in respect of the particular amount."

S. 118(3.3) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 60(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(3.3) formerly read:

"(3.3) Additions to personal credits — net income threshold. The amount of $606 referred to in subparagraphs (a)(ii) and (b)(iv) of the description of B in subsection (1) (in this subsection referred to as the 'particular amount') that is to be used for the purpose of determining the amount of that description is

(a) for the 2006 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the total of $8.50 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that year in respect of the particular amount if this section were read without reference to this subsection;

(b) for the 2007 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the total of $8.50 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that year in respect of the particular amount by applying subsection 117.1(1) to the amount determined under paragraph (a);

(c) for the 2008 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the total of $34 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that year in respect of the particular amount by applying subsection 117.1(1) to the amount determined under paragraph (b);

(d) for the 2009 taxation year, to be replaced by the amount that is the greater of

(i) the amount that is the total of $51 and the amount that would be determined for that description for that year in respect of the particular amount by applying subsection 117.1(1) to the amount determined under paragraph (c), and

(ii) $850; and

(e) for the 2010 and subsequent taxation years, to be replaced by the amount that is the amount that would be determined for that description for those years in respect of the particular amount by applying subsection 117.1(1) to the amount determined under paragraph (d)."

S. 118(3.3) was added by S.C. 2005, c. 30, s. 5, applicable on Royal Assent, June 29, 2005.

► 118(4) ◄

(4) Limitations re s. (1). For the purposes of subsection (1), the following rules apply:

(a) no amount may be deducted under subsection (1) because of paragraphs (a) and (b) of the description of B in subsection (1) by an individual in a taxation year for more than one other person;

(a.1) no amount may be deducted under subsection (1) because of paragraph (b) of the description of B in subsection (1) by an individual for a taxation year for a person in respect of whom an amount is deducted because of paragraph (a) of that description by another individual for the year if, throughout the year, the person and that other individual are married to each other or in a common-law partnership with each other and are not living separate and apart because of a breakdown of their marriage or the common-law partnership, as the case may be;

(b) not more than one individual is entitled to a deduction under subsection (1) because of paragraph (b) or (b.1) of the description of B in that subsection for a taxation year in respect of the same person or the same domestic establishment and where two or more individuals otherwise entitled to such a deduction fail to agree as to the individual by whom the deduction may be made, no such deduction for the year shall be allowed to either or any of them;

(c) where an individual is entitled to a deduction under subsection (1) because of paragraph (b) of the description of B in subsection (1) for a taxation year in respect of any person, no amount may be deducted because of paragraph (c.1) or (d) of that description by any individual for the year in respect of the person;

(d) where an individual is entitled to a deduction under subsection (1) because of paragraph (c.1) of the description of B in subsection (1) for a taxation year in respect of any person, the person is deemed not to be a dependant of any individual for the year for the purpose of paragraph (d) of that description; and

(e) where more than one individual is entitled to a deduction under subsection (1) because of paragraph (c.1) or (d) of the description of B in subsection (1) for a taxation year in respect of the same person,

(i) the total of all amounts so deductible for the year shall not exceed the maximum amount that would be so deductible for the year by any one of those individuals for that person if that individual were the only individual entitled to deduct an amount for the year because of that paragraph for that person, and

(ii) if the individuals cannot agree as to what portion of the amount each can so deduct, the Minister may fix the portions.

History: S. 118(4)(b) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 9(9), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(4)(b) formerly read:

"(b) not more than one individual is entitled to a deduction under subsection (1) because of paragraph (b) of the description of B in subsection (1) for a taxation year in respect of the same person or the same domestic establishment and where two or more individuals otherwise entitled to such a deduction fail to agree as to the individual by whom the deduction may be made, no such deduction for the year shall be allowed to either or any of them;"

S. 118(4)(a.1) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, s. 131(3), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118(4)(a.1) formerly read:

"(a.1) no amount may be deducted under subsection (1) because of paragraph (b) of the description of B in subsection (1) by an individual for a taxation year for a person in respect of whom an amount is deducted because of paragraph (a) of that description by another individual for the year if, throughout the year, the person and that other individual are married to each other and are not living separate and apart because of a breakdown of their marriage;"

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118(4)(c) and (e) were amended, and paragraph (d) was added, by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 31(5), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(4)(c) and (e) formerly read:

"(c) where an individual is entitled to a deduction under subsection (1) because of paragraph (b) of the description of B in subsection (1) for any person described therein, the person shall be deemed not to be a dependant for the year for the purposes of paragraph (1)(d); and

(e) where more than one individual is, in respect of a taxation year, entitled to deduct an amount under subsection (1) because of paragraph (d) of the description of B in subsection (1) for the same dependant, the total of all amounts so deductible for the year shall not exceed the maximum amount that would be deductible by reason of that paragraph for the year by any one of those individuals for that dependant if that individual were the only individual entitled to deduct an amount for the year by reason of that paragraph for that dependant and, where the individuals cannot agree as to what portion of the amount each can so deduct, the Minister may fix the portions."

S. 118(4)(a.1) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 31(4), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118(4) was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 25(7), applicable April 25, 1997. S. 118(4) formerly read:

"(4) Limitations re s. (1). For the purposes of subsection (1), the following rules apply:

(a) no amount may be deducted under subsection (1) by reason of paragraphs (1)(a) and (b) by an individual in a taxation year for more than one other person;

(b) not more than one individual is entitled to a deduction under subsection (1) by reason of paragraph (1)(b) for a taxation year in respect of the same person or the same domestic establishment and where two or more individuals otherwise entitled to such a deduction fail to agree as to the individual by whom the deduction may be made, no such deduction for the year shall be allowed to either or any of them;

(c) where an individual is entitled to a deduction under subsection (1) by reason of paragraph (1)(b) for any person described therein, the person shall be deemed not to be a dependant for the year for the purposes of paragraph (1)(d); and

(d) [Repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, S. 8(2).]

(e) where more than one individual is, in respect of a taxation year, entitled to deduct an amount under subsection (1) by reason of paragraph (1)(d) for the same dependant, the total of all amounts so deductible for the year shall not exceed the maximum amount that would be deductible by reason of that paragraph for the year by any one of those individuals for that dependant if that individual were the only individual entitled to deduct an amount for the year by reason of that paragraph for that dependant and, where the individuals cannot agree as to what portion of the amount each can so deduct, the Minister may fix the portions."

S. 118(4)(d) was repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 8(2), applicable with respect to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(4)(d) formerly read:

"(d) no amount may be deducted under subsection (1) by reason of paragraph (1)(d) by an individual for a taxation year for a person in respect of whom an allowance referred to in subsection 56(5) has been paid in the year, except to the extent of the proportion of the allowance paid in the year in respect of the person that has been included in computing the individual's income for the year; and"

Related Sections: S. 118(1)(e) Additional amount; s. 118(6) Definition of dependant; s. 248(1), "common-law partner", "common-law partnership".
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-513R Personal tax credits.

► 118(5) ◄

(5) Support. No amount may be deducted under subsection (1) in computing an individual's tax payable under this Part for a taxation year in respect of a person where the individual is required to pay a support amount (within the meaning assigned by subsection 56.1(4)) to the individual's spouse or common-law partner or former spouse or common-law partner in respect of the person and the individual

(a) lives separate and apart from the spouse or common-law partner or former spouse or common-law partner throughout the year because of the breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership; or

(b) claims a deduction for the year because of section 60 in respect of a support amount paid to the spouse or common-law partner or former spouse or common-law partner.

History: S. 118(5), the portion before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 243, applicable to the 2001 and following taxation years. If a taxpayer and a person have jointly elected pursuant to section 144 of the Modernization of Benefits and Obligations Act [See Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000, reproduced below.], in respect of the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation years, the portion of s. 118(5) before paragraph (a) applies to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.S. 118(5), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(5) Support. No amount may be deducted under subsection (1) in computing an individual's tax payable under this Part for a taxation year in respect of a person where the individual is required to pay a support amount (as defined in subsection 56.1(4)) to the individual's spouse or former spouse in respect of the person and the individual"

S. 118(5)(a) and (b) were amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 2(f) and 9(g), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118(5)(a) and (b) formerly read:

"(a) lives separate and apart from the spouse or former spouse throughout the year because of the breakdown of their marriage; or

(b) claims a deduction for the year because of section 60 in respect of a support amount paid to the spouse or former spouse."

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118(5) was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 25(8), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(5) formerly read:

"(5) Alimony and maintenance. Where an individual in computing the individual's income for a taxation year is entitled to a deduction under paragraph 60(b), (c) or (c.1) in respect of a payment for the maintenance of a spouse or child, the spouse or child shall, for the purposes of this section (other than the definition 'qualified pension income' in subsection (7)) be deemed not to be the spouse or child of the individual."

Related Sections: s. 248(1), "common-law partner", "common-law partnership".
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-513R Personal tax credits; IT-530R Support payments.
Information Circulars: IC 07-1 Taxpayer Relief Provisions.

► 118(5.1) ◄

(5.1) Where subsection (5) does not apply. Where, if this Act were read without reference to this subsection, solely because of the application of subsection (5), no individual is entitled to a deduction under paragraph (b) or (b.1) of the description of B in subsection (1) for a taxation year in respect of a child, subsection (5) shall not apply in respect of that child for that taxation year.

History: S. 118(5.1) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 36(2), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

Editorial Note: A taxpayer required to pay a support amount for a former spouse/common-law partner or child is not allowed under subsection 118(5) to claim a personal tax credit for them in a particular taxation year if he/she also claims a deduction for the payment in that year or lives separately from that former spouse/common-law partner throughout the year due to a breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership. If both parents pay a support amount for their child, one of them will be allowed under subsection 118(5.1) to claim a wholly dependent person or child tax credit in respect of that child. Before the adoption of that provision, neither parent was allowed under subsection 118(5) to claim the credit.

► 118(6) ◄

(6) Definition of dependant. For the purposes of paragraphs (d) and (e) of the description of B in subsection (1) and paragraph (4)(e), "dependant" of an individual for a taxation year means a person who at any time in the year is dependent on the individual for support and is

(a) the child or grandchild of the individual or of the individual's spouse or common-law partner; or

(b) the parent, grandparent, brother, sister, uncle, aunt, niece or nephew, if resident in Canada at any time in the year, of the individual or of the individual's spouse or common-law partner.

History: S. 118(6)(a) and (b) were amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.5), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118(6)(a) and (b) formerly read:

"(a) the child or grandchild of the individual or of the individual's spouse; or

(b) the parent, grandparent, brother, sister, uncle, aunt, niece or nephew, if resident in Canada at any time in the year, of the individual or of the individual's spouse."

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118(6), the portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 25(9), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. That part formerly read:

"(6) Definition of 'dependant' For the purposes of paragraphs (1)(d) and (4)(e), 'dependant' of an individual for a taxation year means a person who at any time in the year is dependent on the individual for support and is"

Related Sections: S. 248(1), "common-law partner", "common-law partnership".

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-394R2 Preferred beneficiary election; IT-513R Personal tax credits.

► 118(7) ◄

(7) Definitions. Subject to subsections (8) and (8.1), for the purposes of this subsection and subsection (3),

History: S. 118(7), the portion before the definitions was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 9(10), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(7), the portion before the definitions formerly read:

"(7) Definitions. Subject to subsection (8), for the purposes of subsection (3),"

"eligible pension income" — "eligible pension income" of an individual for a taxation year means

(a) if the individual has attained the age of 65 years before the end of the taxation year, the pension income received by the individual in the taxation year, and

(b) if the individual has not attained the age of 65 years before the end of the taxation year, the qualified pension income received by the individual in the taxation year;

History: S. 118(7), the definition "eligible pension income" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 9(11), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

"pension income" — "pension income" received by an individual in a taxation year means the total of

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount included in computing the individual's income for the year that is

(i) a payment in respect of a life annuity out of or under a superannuation or pension plan,

(ii) an annuity payment under a registered retirement savings plan, under an "amended plan" as referred to in subsection 146(12) or under an annuity in respect of which an amount is included in computing the individual's income by reason of paragraph 56(1)(d.2),

(iii) a payment out of or under a registered retirement income fund or under an "amended fund" as referred to in subsection 146.3(11),

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Paragraph (a) of the definition "pension income" in subsection 118(7) of the Act is amended by adding the following after subparagraph (iii):

(iii.1) a payment (other than a payment described in subparagraph (i)) payable on a periodic basis under a money purchase provision (within the meaning assigned by subsection 147.1(1)) of a registered pension plan,

Applicable: To the 2004 and subsequent taxation years.

Explanatory Note:

Pension Credit

"pension income"

Section 118 of the Act provides for a number of credits that are deductible in computing the tax payable by an individual, including the pension credit in subsection 118(3). The pension credit available to a taxpayer who is 65 years of age or older is based on the taxpayer's "pension income", as defined in subsection 118(7). Pension income includes lifetime annuity payments under a pension plan and payments under a registered retirement income fund (RRIF).

The definition "pension income" is amended to add periodic payments under a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan (RPP), to the extent that such payments are not already included. This amendment is consequential on amendments to section 8506 of the Regulations, the purpose of which is to allow money purchase RPPs to provide members with retirement benefits that are payable in the same manner as is permitted under a RRIF. Since these benefits would not be considered to be lifetime annuity payments, it is necessary to ensure that they qualify for the purpose of the pension credit.

This amendment applies to the 2004 and subsequent taxation years.

(iv) an annuity payment under a deferred profit sharing plan or under a "revoked plan" as referred to in subsection 147(15),

(v) a payment described in subparagraph 147(2)(k)(v), or

(vi) the amount by which an annuity payment included in computing the individual's income for the year by reason of paragraph 56(1)(d) exceeds the capital element of that payment as determined or established under paragraph 60(a), and

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount included in computing the individual's income for the year by reason of section 12.2 of this Act or paragraph 56(1)(d.1) of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952;

"qualified pension income" — "qualified pension income" received by an individual in a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which is an amount included in computing the individual's income for the year and described in

(a) subparagraph (a)(i) of the definition "pension income" in this subsection, or

(b) any of subparagraphs (a)(ii) to (vi) or paragraph (b) of the definition "pension income" in this subsection received by the individual as a consequence of the death of a spouse or common-law partner of the individual.

History: S. 118(7), paragraph (b) of the definition "qualified pension income", was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.5), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118(7), paragraph (b) of the definition "qualified pension income" formerly read:

"(b) any of subparagraphs (a)(ii) to (vi) or paragraph (b) of the definition 'pension income' in this subsection received by the individual as a consequence of the death of a spouse of the individual."

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118(7), paragraph (b) of the definition of "qualified pension income" was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 52(2), applicable after 1992. S. 118(7), the definition of "qualified pension income", paragraph (b) formerly read:

"(b) any of subparagraphs (a)(ii) to (vi) or paragraph (b) of the definition 'pension income' in this subsection received by the individual as a consequence of the death of the spouse (within the meaning assigned by subsection 146(1.1)) of the individual."

Related Sections: S. 104(27) Pension benefits; s. 248(1), "common-law partner", "individual".
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-517R Pension tax credit [Archived by the CRA].

► 118(8) ◄

(8) Interpretation. For the purposes of subsection (7), "pension income" and "qualified pension income" received by an individual in a taxation year do not include any amount that is

(a) the amount of a pension or supplement under the Old Age Security Act or of any similar payment under a law of a province;

(b) the amount of a benefit under the Canada Pension Plan or under a provincial pension plan as defined in section 3 of that Act;

(c) a death benefit;

(d) the amount, if any, by which

(i) an amount required to be included in computing the individual's income for the year

exceeds

(ii) the amount, if any, by which the amount referred to in subparagraph (i) exceeds the total of all amounts deducted (other than under paragraph 60(c)) by the individual for the year in respect of that amount;

(e) a payment received out of or under a salary deferral arrangement, a retirement compensation arrangement, an employee benefit plan, an employee trust or a prescribed provincial pension plan; or

(f) a payment (other than a payment under the Judges Act or the Lieutenant Governors Superannuation Act) received out of or under an unfunded supplemental plan or arrangement, being a plan or arrangement where

(i) the payment was in respect of services rendered to an employer by the individual or the individual's spouse or common-law partner or former spouse or common-law partner as an employee, and

(ii) the plan or arrangement would have been a retirement compensation arrangement or an employee benefit plan had the employer made a contribution in respect of the payment to a trust governed by the plan or arrangement.

History: S. 118(8), the portion before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 9(12), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(8), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(8) Interpretation. For the purposes of subsection (3), 'pension income' and 'qualified pension income' received by an individual do not include any amount that is"

S. 118(8)(d) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 9(13), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(8)(d) formerly read:

"(d) the amount, if any, by which

(i) an amount required to be included in computing the individual's income for the year

exceeds

(ii) the amount, if any, by which the amount referred to in subparagraph (i) exceeds the total of all amounts deducted by the individual for the year in respect of that amount; or"

S. 118(8)(f) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 9(14), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-517R Pension tax credit.
Regulations: 7800(1).

► 118(8.1) ◄

(8.1) Bridging benefits. For the purposes of subsection (7), a payment in respect of a life annuity under a superannuation or pension plan is deemed to include a payment in respect of bridging benefits, being benefits payable under a registered pension plan on a periodic basis and not less frequently than annually to an individual where

(a) the individual or the individual's spouse or common-law partner or former spouse or common-law partner was a member (as defined in subsection 147.1(1)) of the registered pension plan;

(b) the benefits are payable for a period ending no later than the end of the month following the month in which the member attains 65 years of age or would have attained that age if the member had survived to that day; and

(c) the amount (expressed on an annualized basis) of the benefits payable to the individual for a calendar year does not exceed the total of the maximum amount of benefits payable for that year under Part I of the Old Age Security Act and the maximum amount of benefits (other than disability, death or survivor benefits) payable for that year under either the Canada Pension Plan or a provincial pension plan as defined in section 3 of that Act.

History: S. 118(8.1) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 9(15), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

► 118(9) ◄

(9) Rounding. [Repealed by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 34(7).]

History: S. 118(9) was repealed by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 34(7), applicable to the 2009 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(9) formerly read:

"(9) Rounding. If an amount determined under any of paragraphs (3.1)(a) to (f) and (3.2)(a) to (f) is not a multiple of one dollar, it shall be rounded to the nearest multiple of one dollar or, where it is equidistant from two such consecutive multiples, to the greater multiple."

S. 118(9) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 9(15), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(9) formerly read:

"(9) Rounding. If an amount determined under any of paragraphs (3.1)(a) to (f), (3.2)(a) to (f) and (3.3)(a) to (f) is not a multiple of one dollar, it shall be rounded to the nearest multiple of one dollar or, where it is equidistant from two such consecutive multiples, to the greater multiple."

S. 118(9) was added by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 60(2), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 67.1(1) Expenses for food, etc; s. 117.1(1) Annual adjustment (indexing).

► 118(9.1) ◄

(9.1) Child tax credit. For greater certainty, in the case of a child who in a taxation year is born, adopted or dies, the reference to "throughout the taxation year" in subparagraph 118(1)(b.1)(i) is to be read as a reference to "throughout the portion of the taxation year that is after the child's birth or adoption or before the child's death".

History: S. 118(9.1) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 9(15), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

► 118(10) ◄

(10) Canada Employment Credit. For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year, there may be deducted the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the taxation year; and

B is the lesser of

(a) $1,000, and

(b) the total of all amounts, each of which is an amount included in computing the individual's income for the taxation year from an office or employment or an amount included in the taxpayer's income for the taxation year because of subparagraph 56(1)(r)(v).

CRA Press Release

2.5% Indexation Factor for 2009

See CRA Fact Sheet, dated December 8, 2008, that is reproduced following subsection 117.1(1). This release announces a 2.5% indexation factor applicable for 2009 tax bracket thresholds, personal amounts and other amounts relating to non-refundable credits, as well as the refundable medical expense supplement and Old Age Security repayment threshold. Increases to the Canada Child Tax Benefit (including the National Child Benefit supplement and the Child Disability Benefit) and the Goods and Services Tax Credit will take effect as of July 1, 2009.

History: S. 118(10), paragraph (b) of the description of B was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 34(8), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118(10), paragraph (b) of the description of B formerly read:

"(b) the amount that would be the individual's income for the taxation year from all offices and employments if this Act were read without reference to section 8."

S. 118(10) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 20(2), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years, except that in its application to the 2006 taxation year, the reference to "$1,000" in paragraph (a) in the description of B in subsection 118(10) shall be read as a reference to "$250".

2009 Federal Budget Resolution

Home Renovation Tax Credit

(4) That the Act be modified consequential on the introduction of the Home Renovations Tax Credit in accordance with proposals described in the budget documents tabled by the Minister of Finance in the House of Commons on January 27, 2009.

Editorial Comment: One of the pre-budget ideas floated by the Minister of Finance was a tax credit for individual taxpayers who renovate their homes. Quebec's recent announcement of a similar tax credit seemed to support the possibility that the Federal Budget would contain this type of measure in order to help stimulate the economy.

Those predictors turned out to be accurate, as the Budget includes a temporary Home Renovation Tax Credit (HRTC) which permits individuals to claim a 15% non-refundable tax credit for eligible expenditures made in respect of eligible dwellings. The maximum credit is $1,350 and will apply to expenditures that are greater than $1,000, but do not exceed $10,000.

The restrictions applicable to claiming the HRTC are very specific. First, the HRTC will only apply for expenditures for work performed, or goods acquired, after January 27, 2009 and before February 1, 2010. However, the HRTC may not be claimed in respect of work performed or expenditures incurred under a contract that was entered into before January 28, 2009. The HRTC will be available to be claimed only in an individual's 2009 tax return.

Secondly, the HRTC is limited to one per family. This means that family members will be subject to a single limit based on their pooled expenditures. A family is considered to include an individual, the individual's spouse or common-law partner and children who are under 18 years of age. To the extent that an individual is unable to utilize the entire HRTC, the unused portion may be used by other family members. Where two or more families share ownership of an eligible dwelling, each family will be entitled to claim its own HRTC, as if the family owned the dwelling alone.

Thirdly, in order to claim the HRTC, the dwelling must be eligible to be a principal residence (within the meaning of section 54 the Act) of the individual or of one or more of the individual's other family members. For condominiums and co-operative housing corporations, an individual's share of eligible expenditures incurred in respect of common areas will also qualify for the HRTC. Where an individual earns business or rental income from part of his or her principal residence, expenditures that relate to common areas or that benefit the housing unit as a whole will qualify as eligible expenditures for HRTC purposes, subject to limits established under existing CRA administrative practices which apply when determining how business or rental income and expenditures are allocated between personal use and income-earning use.

Fourthly, the types of expenditures that will qualify for HRTCs will be subject to a variety of restrictions. Eligible expenditures must be incurred in relation to renovations or alterations of an eligible dwelling that are of an enduring nature and are integral to the eligible dwelling. This test would exclude expenditures for routine repairs and maintenance. Furthermore, financing costs of a renovation are specifically excluded. Eligible expenditures include building materials, fixtures, equipment rentals, permits, labour and professional services.

The Budget documents indicate that a taxpayer's entitlements to a HRTC will not be affected by other tax credits, grants or other programs including the medical expense tax credit program. Finally, the Budget briefly describes taxpayer compliance issues relating to the HRTC. To support a taxpayer's claims for HRTCs, eligible expenditures must be supported by receipts and expenditures will not be eligible in circumstances where goods or services are provided by a person not dealing at arm's length with the individual unless that person is registered for GST/HST purposes.

2009 Federal Budget Resolution

First-Time Home Buyer's Tax Credit

(6) That the Act be modified consequential on the introduction of the First-Time Home Buyer's Tax Credit in accordance with proposals described in the budget documents tabled by the Minister of Finance in the House of Commons on January 27, 2009.

Editorial Comment: One of the budget measures designed to stimulate the economy through the housing market is the First-Time Home Buyers' Tax Credit (the "FTHBC"). The FTHBC is a new non-refundable tax credit based on an amount of $5,000 and will be available to first-time home buyers who complete a purchase of a home after January 27, 2009. The FTHBC will be calculated by reference to the lowest personal income tax rate for the year and can be claimed for the taxation year in which the home is acquired.

An individual will be considered a first-time home buyer if neither the individual nor the individual's spouse or common-law partner owned and lived in another home in the calendar year of the home purchase or in any of the four preceding calendar years. A qualifying home is one that is currently eligible for the Home Buyers' Plan that the individual or individual's spouse or common-law partner intends to occupy as the principal place of residence not later than one year after its acquisition. It is interesting to compare this with the Ontario land transfer tax refund for first-time home buyers, which contains notable differences. For instance, to qualify for the Ontario land transfer tax refund for first-time home buyers, the purchaser cannot have previously owned a home, or had any ownership interest in a home, anywhere in the world, at any time. Therefore, a person who qualifies for the FTHBC may not qualify for the Ontario land transfer tax refund for first-time home buyers.

The FTHBC will also be available with respect to purchases made for the benefit of individuals entitled to the disability tax credit (a "DTC eligible person"), if the purchase was made to enable the DTC eligible person to live in a home better suited to his or her personal needs. In order to claim the FTHBC, the home must be intended to be the principal residence of the DTC eligible person within one year after acquisition.

The individual acquiring the home, or the individual's spouse or common-law partner can claim the FTHBC. An ownership interest in the particular home for which the FTHBC is claimed must be registered in the applicable provincial land registration system.

Any unused portion of the FTHBC relating to an individual can be claimed by such individual's spouse or common-law partner. A home jointly acquired by two individuals will only create one full FTHBC.

SECTION 118.01: [Adoption expense tax credit].

► 118.01(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. The following definitions apply in this section.

"adoption period" — "adoption period", in respect of an eligible child of an individual, means the period that

(a) begins at the earlier of the time that the eligible child's adoption file is opened with a provincial ministry responsible for adoption (or with an adoption agency licensed by a provincial government) and the time, if any, that an application related to the adoption is made to a Canadian court; and

(b) ends at the later of the time an adoption order is issued by, or recognized by, a government in Canada in respect of that child, and the time that the child first begins to reside permanently with the individual.

History: S. 118.01(1), the definition "adoption period" was added by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 61(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

"eligible adoption expense" — "eligible adoption expense", in respect of an eligible child of an individual, means an amount paid for expenses incurred during the adoption period in respect of the adoption of that child, including

(a) fees paid to an adoption agency licensed by a provincial government;

(b) court costs and legal and administrative expenses related to an adoption order in respect of that child;

(c) reasonable and necessary travel and living expenses of that child and the adoptive parents;

(d) document translation fees;

(e) mandatory fees paid to a foreign institution;

(f) mandatory expenses paid in respect of the immigration of that child; and

(g) any other reasonable expenses related to the adoption required by a provincial government or an adoption agency licensed by a provincial government.

History: S. 118.01(1), the definition "eligible adoption expense" was added by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 61(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

"eligible child" — "eligible child", of an individual, means a child who has not attained the age of 18 years at the time that an adoption order is issued or recognized by a government in Canada in respect of the adoption of that child by that individual.

History: S. 118.01(1), the definition "eligible child" was added by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 61(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

► 118.01(2) ◄

(2) Adoption expense tax credit. For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for the taxation year that includes the end of the adoption period in respect of an eligible child of the individual, there may be deducted the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the taxation year; and

B is the lesser of

(a) $10,000, and

(b) the amount determined by the formula

$$C - D$$

where

C is the total of all eligible adoption expenses in respect of the eligible child, and

D is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of a reimbursement or any other form of assistance (other than an amount that is included in computing the individual's income and that is not deductible in computing the individual's taxable income) that any individual is or was entitled to receive in respect of an amount included in computing the value of C.

CRA Press Release

2.5% Indexation Factor for 2009

See CRA Fact Sheet, dated December 8, 2008, that is reproduced following subsection 117.1(1). This release announces a 2.5% indexation factor applicable for 2009 tax bracket thresholds, personal amounts and other amounts relating to non-refundable credits, as well as the refundable medical expense supplement and Old Age Security repayment threshold. Increases to the Canada Child Tax Benefit (including the National Child Benefit supplement and the Child Disability Benefit) and the Goods and Services Tax Credit will take effect as of July 1, 2009.

History: S. 118.01(2) was added by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 61(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

► 118.01(3) ◄

(3) Apportionment of credit. Where more than one individual is entitled to a deduction under this section for a taxation year in respect of the adoption of an eligible child, the total of all amounts so deductible shall not exceed the maximum amount that would be so deductible for the year by any one of those individuals for that child if that individual were the only individual entitled to deduct an amount for the year under this section, and if the individuals cannot agree as to what portion of the amount each can so deduct, the Minister may fix the portions.

History: S. 118.01(3) was added by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 61(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

SECTION 118.02: [Transit pass tax credit].

► 118.02(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. The following definitions apply in this section.

"eligible electronic payment card" — "eligible electronic payment card" means an electronic payment card that is

(a) used by an individual for at least 32 one-way trips, between the place of origin of the trip and its termination, during an uninterrupted period not exceeding 31 days, and

(b) issued by or on behalf of a qualified Canadian transit organization, which organization records and receipts the cost and usage of the electronic payment card and identifies the right, of the individual who is the holder or owner of such a card, to use public commuter transit services of that qualified Canadian transit organization.

History: S. 118.02(1), the definition "eligible electronic payment card" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 37(2), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

"eligible public transit pass" — "eligible public transit pass" means a document

(a) issued by or on behalf of a qualified Canadian transit organization; and

(b) identifying the right of an individual who is the holder or owner of the document to use public commuter transit services of that qualified Canadian transit organization

(i) on an unlimited number of occasions and on any day on which the public commuter transit services are offered during an uninterrupted period of at least 28 days, or

(ii) on an unlimited number of occasions during an uninterrupted period of at least five consecutive days, if the combination of that document and one or more other such documents gives the right to the individual to use those public commuter transit services on at least 20 days in a 28-day period.

History: S. 118.02(1), paragraph (b) of the definition "eligible public transit pass" was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 37(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.02(1), paragraph (b) of the definition "eligible public transit pass" formerly read:

"(b) identifying the right of an individual who is the holder or owner of the document to use public commuter transit services of that qualified Canadian transit organization on an unlimited number of occasions and on any day on which the public commuter transit services are offered during an uninterrupted period of at least 28 days."

S. 118.02(1), the definition "eligible public transit pass" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 21(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years, in respect of the use of public commuter transit services after June 2006.

"public commuter transit services" — "public commuter transit services" means services offered to the general public, ordinarily for a period of at least five days per week, of transporting individuals, from a place in Canada to another place in Canada, by means of bus, ferry, subway, train or tram, and in respect of which it can reasonably be expected that those individuals would return daily to the place of their departure.

History: S. 118.02(1), the definition "public commuter transit services" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 21(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years, in respect of the use of public commuter transit services after June 2006.

"qualified Canadian transit organization" — "qualified Canadian transit organization" means a person authorised, under a law of Canada or a province, to carry on in Canada a business that is the provision of public commuter transit services, which is carried on through a permanent establishment in Canada.

History: S. 118.02(1), the definition "qualified Canadian transit organization" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 21(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years, in respect of the use of public commuter transit services after June 2006.

"qualifying relation" — "qualifying relation" of an individual for a taxation year means a person who is (a) the individual's spouse or common-law partner at any time in the taxation year; or

(b) a child of the individual who has not, during the taxation year, attained the age of 19 years.

History: S. 118.02(1), the definition "qualifying relation" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 21(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years, in respect of the use of public commuter transit services after June 2006.

► 118.02(2) ◄

(2) Transit pass tax credit. For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year, there may be deducted the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the taxation year; and

B is the amount determined by the formula

$$C - D$$

where

C is the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of the cost of an eligible public transit pass or of an eligible electronic payment card, attributable to the use of public commuter transit services in the taxation year by the individual or by a person who is in the taxation year a qualifying relation of the individual, and

D is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of a reimbursement, allowance or any other form of assistance that any person is or was entitled to receive in respect of an amount included in computing the value of C (other than an amount that is included in computing the income for any taxation year of that person and that is not deductible in computing the taxable income of that person).

History: S. 118.02(2), the description of C was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 37(3), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.02(2), the description of C formerly read:

"C is the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of the cost of an eligible public transit pass attributable to the use of public commuter transit services in the taxation year by the individual or by a person who is in the taxation year a qualifying relation of the individual, and"

S. 118.02(2) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 21(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years, in respect of the use of public commuter transit services after June 2006.

► 118.02(3) ◄

(3) Apportionment of credit. If more than one individual is entitled to a deduction under this section for a taxation year in respect of an eligible public transit pass or of an eligible electronic payment card, the total of all amounts so deductible shall not exceed the maximum amount that would be so deductible for the year by any one of those individuals for that eligible public transit pass or eligible electronic payment card if that individual were the only individual entitled to deduct an amount for the year under this section, and if the individuals cannot agree as to what portion of the amount each can so deduct, the Minister may fix the portions.

History: S. 118.02(3) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 37(4), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.02(3) formerly read:

"(3) Apportionment of credit. If more than one individual is entitled to a deduction under this section for a taxation year in respect of an eligible public transit pass, the total of all amounts so deductible shall not exceed the maximum amount that would be so deductible for the year by any one of those individuals for that eligible public transit pass if that individual were the only individual entitled to deduct an amount for the year under this section, and if the individuals cannot agree as to what portion of the amount each can so deduct, the Minister may fix the portions."

S. 118.02(3) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 21(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years, in respect of the use of public commuter transit services after June 2006.

SECTION 118.03: [Child fitness tax credit].

► 118.03(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. The following definitions apply in this section.

"eligible fitness expense" — "eligible fitness expense" in respect of a qualifying child of an individual for a taxation year means the amount of a fee paid to a qualifying entity (other than an amount paid to a person that is, at the time the amount is paid, the individual's spouse or common-law partner or another individual who is under 18 years of age) to the extent that the fee is attributable to the cost of registration or membership of the qualifying child in a prescribed program of physical activity and, for the purposes of this section, that cost

(a) includes the cost to the qualifying entity of the program in respect of its administration, instruction, rental of required facilities, and uniforms and equipment that are not available to be acquired by a participant in the program for an amount less than their fair market value at the time, if any, they are so acquired; and

(b) does not include

(i) the cost of accommodation, travel, food or beverages, or

(ii) any amount deductible under section 63 in computing any person's income for any taxation year.

History: S. 118.03(1), the portion of the definition "eligible fitness expense" before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 38(2), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.03(1), the portion of the definition "eligible fitness expense" before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"'eligible fitness expense' — 'eligible fitness expense' in respect of a qualifying child of an individual for a taxation year means the amount of a fee paid to a qualifying entity (other than an amount paid to a qualifying entity that is, at the time the amount is paid, the individual's spouse or common-law partner or another individual who is under 18 years of age) to the extent that the fee is attributable to the cost of registration or membership of the qualifying child in a program of prescribed physical activity and, for the purposes of this section, that cost"

S. 118.03(1), the definition "eligible fitness expense" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 21(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

Regulations: 9400.

"qualifying child" — "qualifying child" of an individual for a taxation year means a child of the individual who is, at the beginning of the taxation year,

(a) under 16 years of age; or

(b) in the case where an amount is deductible under section 118.3 in computing any person's tax payable under this Part for the taxation year in respect of that child, under 18 years of age.

History: S. 118.03(1), the definition "qualifying child" was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 38(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.03(1), the definition "qualifying child" formerly read:

"'qualifying child' — 'qualifying child' of an individual for a taxation year means a child of the individual who had not, before the taxation year, attained the age of 16 years."

S. 118.03(1), the definition "qualifying child" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 21(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

"qualifying entity" — "qualifying entity" means a person or partnership that offers one or more prescribed programs of physical activity.

History: S. 118.03(1), the definition "qualifying entity" was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 38(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.03(1), the definition "qualifying entity" formerly read:

"'qualifying entity' — 'qualifying entity' means a person or partnership that offers one or more programs of prescribed physical activity."

S. 118.03(1), the definition "qualifying entity" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 21(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

► 118.03(2) ◄

(2) Child fitness tax credit. For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year, there may be deducted the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the taxation year; and

B is the total of all amounts each of which is, in respect of a qualifying child of the individual for the taxation year, the lesser of $500 and the amount determined by the formula

$$C - D$$

where

C is total of all amounts each of which is an amount paid in the taxation year by the individual, or by the individual's spouse or common law partner, that is an eligible fitness expense in respect of the qualifying child of the individual, and

D is the total of all amounts that any person is or was entitled to receive, each of which relates to an amount included in computing the value of C in respect of the qualifying child that is the amount of a reimbursement, allowance or any other form of assistance (other than an amount that is included in computing the income for any taxation year of that person and that is not deductible in computing the taxable income of that person).

History: S. 118.03(2) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 21(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

Regulations: 9400.

► 118.03(2.1) ◄

(2.1) Child fitness tax credit — child with disability. For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year there may be deducted in respect of a qualifying child of the individual an amount equal to $500 multiplied by the appropriate percentage for the taxation year if

(a) the amount referred to in the description of B in subsection (2) is $100 or more; and

(b) an amount is deductible in respect of the qualifying child under section 118.3 in computing any person's tax payable under this Part for the taxation year.

History: S. 118.03(2.1) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 38(3), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

► 118.03(3) ◄

(3) Apportionment of credit. If more than one individual is entitled to a deduction under this section for a taxation year in respect of a qualifying child, the total of all amounts so deductible shall not exceed the maximum amount that would be so deductible for the year by any one of those individuals in respect of that qualifying child if that individual were the only individual entitled to deduct an amount for the year under this section in respect of that qualifying child, and if the individuals cannot agree as to what portion of the amount each can so deduct, the Minister may fix the portions.

History: S. 118.03(3) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 21(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

SECTION 118.1: [Charitable gifts].

► 118.1(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. In this section,

Editorial Note: The 2003 Federal Budget set out proposals to amend the Income Tax Act to limit the tax benefits that arise from charitable donations made within tax shelters, and to address the issue of charitable donation arrangements that use limited-recourse debt. The Department of Finance released draft legislation on December 5, 2003 to amend the rules in these areas. This legislation was included in former Bill C-10, income Tax Amendments Act, 2006, which ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved in September 2008. If the government is to proceed with these proposals, legislation will have to be reintroduced in a future bill. See proposed subsections 143.2(6.1) and 248(30) to (41), as well as the proposed amendments to subsections 127(3) and 143.2(13) and the definition of "gifting arrangement" in subsection 237.1(1).

Related Sections: S. 110.1(1) Deduction for gifts.
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-407R4 (Consolid.) Dispositions of cultural property to designated Canadian institutions.
Registered Charities Newsletters: No. 16, Donations of items of a speculative value.
Tax Topics: No. 1654, Tax Shelters — Past, Present and Future.

"total charitable gifts" — "total charitable gifts" of an individual for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which is the fair market value of a gift (other than a gift the fair market value of which is included in the total Crown gifts, the total cultural gifts or the total ecological gifts of the individual for the year) made by the individual in the year or in any of the 5 immediately preceding taxation years (other than in a year for which a deduction under subsection 110(2) was claimed in computing the individual's taxable income) to

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of the definition "total charitable gifts" in subsection 118.1(1) of the Act before paragraph (a) is replaced by the following:

"total charitable gifts" — "total charitable gifts", in respect of an individual for a taxation year, means the total of all amounts each of which is the eligible amount of a gift (other than a gift described in the definition "total Crown gifts", "total cultural gifts" or "total ecological gifts") made by the individual in the year or in any of the five preceding taxation years (other than in a year for which a deduction under subsection 110(2) was claimed in computing the individual's taxable income) to

Applicable: To gifts made after December 20, 2002.

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the amendment to the definition "total ecological gifts" in subsection 118.1(1).

(a) a registered charity,

(b) a registered Canadian amateur athletic association,

(c) a housing corporation resident in Canada and exempt from tax under this Part because of paragraph 149(1)(i),

(d) a Canadian municipality,

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Paragraph (d) of the definition "total charitable gifts" in subsection 118.1(1) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(d) a municipality in Canada,

(d.1) a municipal or public body performing a function of government in Canada,

Applicable: To gifts made after May 8, 2000.

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the amendment to the definition "total ecological gifts" in subsection 118.1(1).

(e) the United Nations or an agency thereof,

(f) a university outside Canada that is prescribed to be a university the student body of which ordinarily includes students from Canada,

(g) a charitable organization outside Canada to which Her Majesty in right of Canada has made a gift during the individual's taxation year or the 12 months immediately preceding that taxation year, or

(g.1) Her Majesty in right of Canada or a province,

to the extent that those amounts were

(h) not deducted in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year ending before 1988, and

(i) not included in determining an amount that was deducted under this section in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for a preceding taxation year;

Sec. 6, Chap. 30, S.C. 2005

Sec. 6. [Re Donations for Tsunami Relief.] For the purpose of applying section 118.1 of the Act, a gift made by an individual after 2004 and before January 12, 2005 is deemed to have been made by the individual in the individual's 2004 taxation year and not in the individual's 2005 taxation year if

(a) the individual claims an amount under subsection 118.1(3) of the Act in respect of the gift for the individual's 2004 taxation year;

(b) the gift was made to a registered charity listed under the International Humanitarian Assistance program of the Canadian International Development Agency;

(c) the individual directed the charity to apply the gift to the tsunami relief effort; and

(d) the gift was in the form of cash or was transferred by way of cheque, credit card or money order.

History: S. 118.1(1), paragraph (g.1) of the definition "total charitable gifts" was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 22(1), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1996.

S. 118.1(1), that portion of the definition "total charitable gifts" before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 23(1), applicable to gifts made after February 27, 1995. That portion formerly read:

" 'total charitable gifts' — 'total charitable gifts' of an individual for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which is the fair market value of a gift (other than a gift the fair market value of which is included in the total Crown gifts or the total cultural gifts of the individual for the year, or would have been so included for a preceding taxation year if this section had applied to that preceding year) made by the individual in the year or in any of the 5 immediately preceding taxation years (other than in a year for which a deduction under subsection 110(2) was claimed in computing the individual's taxable income) to"

Related Sections: S. 143(3.1) Election in respect of gifts.
Regulations: 3501(1.1); 3503; Schedule VIII.
Information Circulars: IC 75-23 Tuition fees and charitable donations paid to privately supported secular and religious schools; IC 84-3R5 Gifts to certain charitable organizations outside Canada.
Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 17, Loan of property as a gift.
Registered Charities Newsletters: No. 27, Planned giving: annuities, life insurance and charitable remainder trusts; No. 22, Rent-free accommodations; No. 22, Property won through a lottery; No. 22, Donate-a-car programs; No. 18, Did you know?; No. 14, Gifts by direct designation; No. 9, What is a Donor Benefit?; No. 9, How Do You Establish the Value of Gifts in Kind?; No. 8, Receipts for golf tournaments and gifts of art; No. 7, Fundraising auctions and fundraising golf tournaments; No. 7, Canadian charities and their U.S. donors; No. 6sr, Can registered charities issue donation tax receipts for tuition fees?; No. 4, Issuing receipts for gifts of art; No. 3, Gifts of property other than cash; No. 1, Donation of services.
Tax Profile: December 2005 — Fair Market Value — What the Appraiser Thinks Doesn't Matter.

"total Crown gifts" — "total Crown gifts" of an individual for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which is the fair market value of a gift (other than a gift the fair market value of which is included in the total cultural gifts or the total ecological gifts of the individual for the year) made by the individual in the year or in any of the 5 immediately preceding taxation years to Her Majesty in right of Canada or a province, to the extent that those amounts were

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of the definition "total Crown gifts" in subsection 118.1(1) of the Act before paragraph (a) is replaced by the following:

"total Crown gifts" — "total Crown gifts", in respect of an individual for a taxation year, means the total of all amounts each of which is the eligible amount of a gift (other than a gift described in the definition "total cultural gifts" or "total ecological gifts") made by the individual in the year or in any of the five preceding taxation years to Her Majesty in right of Canada or of a province, to the extent that those amounts were

Applicable: To gifts made after December 20, 2002.

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the amendment to the definition "total ecological gifts" in subsection 118.1(1).

(a) not deducted in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year ending before 1988,

(b) not included in determining an amount that was deducted under this section in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for a preceding taxation year; and

(c) in respect of gifts made before February 19, 1997 or under agreements in writing made before that day;

History: S. 118.1(1), paragraph (c) of the definition "total Crown gifts" was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 22(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1996.

S. 118.1(1), that portion of the definition "total Crown gifts" before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 23(2), applicable to gifts made after February 27, 1995. That portion formerly read:

" 'total Crown gifts' — 'total Crown gifts' of an individual for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which is the fair market value of a gift (other than a gift the fair market value of which is included in the total cultural gifts of the individual for the year, or would have been so included for a preceding taxation year if this section had applied to that preceding year) made by the individual in the year or in any of the 5 immediately preceding taxation years to Her Majesty in right of Canada or a province, to the extent that those amounts were"

Related Sections: S. 143(3.1) Election in respect of gifts.
Regulations: 3501(1.1).

"total cultural gifts" — "total cultural gifts" of an individual for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which is the fair market value of a gift

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of the definition "total cultural gifts" in subsection 118.1(1) of the Act before paragraph (a) is replaced by the following:

"total cultural gifts" — "total cultural gifts", in respect of an individual for a taxation year, means the total of all amounts each of which is the eligible amount of a gift

Applicable: To gifts made after December 20, 2002.

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the amendment to the definition "total ecological gifts" in subsection 118.1(1).

(a) of an object that the Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board has determined meets the criteria set out in paragraphs 29(3)(b) and (c) of the Cultural Property Export and Import Act, and

(b) that was made by the individual in the year or in any of the 5 immediately preceding taxation years to an institution or a public authority in Canada that was, at the time the gift was made, designated under subsection 32(2) of the Cultural Property Export and Import Act either generally or for a specified purpose related to that object, to the extent that those amounts were

(c) not deducted in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year ending before 1988, and

(d) not included in determining an amount that was deducted under this section in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for a preceding taxation year;

Related Sections: S. 143(3.1) Election in respect of gifts.
Regulations: 3501(1.1).

"total ecological gifts" — "total ecological gifts" of an individual for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which is the fair market value of a gift (other than a gift the fair market value of which is included in the total cultural gifts of the individual for the year) of land, including a servitude for the use and benefit of a dominant land, a covenant or an easement, the fair market value of which is certified by the Minister of the Environment and that is certified by

that Minister, or a person designated by that Minister, to be ecologically sensitive land, the conservation and protection of which is, in the opinion of that Minister, or that person, important to the preservation of Canada's environmental heritage, which gift was made by the individual in the year or in any of the five immediately preceding taxation years to

(a) Her Majesty in right of Canada or a province or a municipality in Canada, or

(b) a registered charity one of the main purposes of which is, in the opinion of the Minister of the Environment, the conservation and protection of Canada's environmental heritage, and that is approved by that Minister, or that person, in respect of that gift, to the extent that those amounts were not included in determining an amount that was deducted under this section in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for a preceding taxation year;

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The definition "total ecological gifts" in subsection 118.1(1) of the Act is replaced by the following:

"total ecological gifts" — "total ecological gifts", in respect of an individual for a taxation year, means the total of all amounts each of which is the eligible amount of a gift (other than a gift described in the definition "total cultural gifts") of land (including a covenant or an easement to which land is subject or, in the case of land in the Province of Quebec, a real servitude) if

(a) the fair market value of the gift is certified by the Minister of the Environment,

(b) the land is certified by that Minister, or by a person designated by that Minister, to be ecologically sensitive land, the conservation and protection of which is, in the opinion of that Minister or the designated person, important to the preservation of Canada's environmental heritage, and

(c) the gift was made by the individual in the year or in any of the five preceding taxation years to

(i) Her Majesty in right of Canada or of a province,

(ii) a municipality in Canada,

(iii) a municipal or public body performing a function of government in Canada, or

(iv) a registered charity one of the main purposes of which is, in the opinion of that Minister, the conservation and protection of Canada's environmental heritage, and that is approved by that Minister or the designated person in respect of the gift, to the extent that those amounts were not included in determining an amount that was deducted under this section in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for a preceding taxation year;

Applicable: To gifts made after December 20, 2002. In addition, for gifts made after May 8, 2000 but before December 21, 2002, paragraph (a) of the definition "total ecological gifts" in subsection 118.1(1) is to be read as follows:

"(a) Her Majesty in right of Canada or of a province, a municipality in Canada or a municipal or public body performing a function of government in Canada, or"

Explanatory Note: Section 118.1 of the Act provides for a charitable donations tax credit to individuals in respect of gifts made to registered charities and to certain other entities. Section 118.1 is amended to expand the entities referred to in this section to include municipal or public bodies performing a function of government in Canada. This amendment is in response to the Quebec Court of Appeal decision in Tawich Development Corporation v. Deputy Minister of Revenue of Quebec, 2001 D.T.C. 5144. For additional information, see the commentary to paragraph 149(1)(d.5).

The amendments to section 118.1, described below, are made consequential to the addition of new subsections 248(30) to (39) of the Act. Generally, those subsections clarify the circumstances under which a transfer of property will be considered a gift notwithstanding that the donor may be entitled to receive an advantage or benefit in respect of the property. New subsection 248(31) generally provides that the "eligible amount" of the gift is the excess of the fair market value of a property transferred by way of gift over the value of the advantage or benefit, if any, to which the transferor is entitled. For additional information, see the commentary to new subsections 248(30) to (39).

Definitions

Subsection 118.1(1) of the Act provides definitions of the terms "total charitable gifts", "total Crown gifts", "total cultural gifts" and "total ecological gifts". These definitions apply for the purpose of the tax credit available under subsection 118.1(3) of the Act to individuals who make such gifts. The amount of a gift that is eligible for a tax credit is, generally, the fair market value of the property disposed of by the individual in the making of the gift.

The definitions "total charitable gifts", "total Crown gifts", "total cultural gifts" and "total ecological gifts" in subsection 118.1(1) are amended, as a consequence of the addition of new subsection 248(31) of the Act, to provide that the amount that qualifies for the credit under subsection 118.1(3) is the "eligible amount" of a gift.

In addition, the definition of "total charitable gifts" and the definition of "total ecological gifts" in subsection 118.1(1) are expanded to include a gift to a municipal or public body performing a function of government in Canada.

The definition "total ecological gifts" is also amended to clarify its application to "real servitudes" under the Civil Code of Quebec.

Variable B in the formula in the definition of "total gifts" in subsection 118.1(1) generally provides that 100% of a taxable capital gain that results from a gift is included in the annual income limit that applies to gifts. This is an enhancement of the 75% income limit that generally applies to other types of income. Variable B is amended as a consequence of the addition of new subsection 248(31) of the Act, to ensure that the enhanced income limit only applies to the portion of a taxable capital gain that relates to the eligible amount of a gift.

The amendments to subsection 118.1(1) apply in respect of gifts made after December 20, 2002, except that the amendments to paragraph (d.1) of the definition of "total charitable gifts" and paragraph (c) of the definition of "total ecological gifts" apply in respect of gifts made after May 8, 2000.

History: S. 118.1(1), the portion of the definition "total ecological gifts" before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 94(1), applicable in respect of gifts made, or proposed to be made, after February 27, 2000. S. 118.1(1), the portion of the definition "total ecological gifts" before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"'total ecological gifts' — 'total ecological gifts' of an individual for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which is the fair market value of a gift (other than a gift the fair market value of which is included in the total cultural gifts of the individual for the year) of land, including a servitude for the use and benefit of a dominant land, a covenant or an easement, that is certified by the Minister of the Environment, or a person designated by that Minister, to be ecologically sensitive land, the conservation and protection of which is, in the opinion of that Minister, or that person, important to the preservation of Canada's environmental heritage, which gift was made by the individual in the year or in any of the 5 immediately preceding taxation years to"

S. 118.1(1), paragraph (a) of the definition "total ecological gifts" was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 22(3), applicable to gifts made after February 18, 1997. S. 118.1(1), paragraph (a) of the definition "total ecological gifts" formerly read:

"(a) a Canadian municipality, or"

S. 118.1(1), the definition "total ecological gifts", was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 23(4), applicable to gifts made after February 27, 1995.

Related Sections: S. 143(3.1) Election in respect of gifts; s. 207.31 Tax payable by recipient of an ecological gift; s. 207.4(1) Return and payment of tax.

Registered Charities Newsletters: No. 22, Ecological gifts.

"total gifts" — "total gifts" of an individual for a taxation year means the total of

(a) the least of

(i) the individual's total charitable gifts for the year,

(ii) the individual's income for the year where the individual dies in the year or in the following taxation year, and

(iii) in any other case, the lesser of the individual's income for the year and the amount determined by the formula

$$0.75A + 0.25 (B + C + D - E)$$

where

A is the individual's income for the year,

B is the total of all amounts each of which is a taxable capital gain of the individual for the year from a disposition that is the making of a gift made by the individual in the year, which gift is included in the individual's total charitable gifts for the year,

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The description of B in subparagraph (a)(iii) of the definition "total gifts" in subsection 118.1(1) of the Act is replaced by the following:

B is the total of all amounts, each of which is that proportion of the individual's taxable capital gain for the taxation year in respect of a gift made by the individual in the taxation year (in respect of which gift an eligible amount is included in the individual's total charitable gifts for the taxation year) that the eligible amount of the gift is of the individual's proceeds of disposition in respect of the gift,

Applicable: To gifts made after December 20, 2002.

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the amendment to the definition "total ecological gifts" in subsection 118.1(1).

C is the total of all amounts each of which is a taxable capital gain of the individual for the year, because of subsection 40(1.01), from a disposition of a property in a preceding taxation year,

D is the total of all amounts each of which is determined in respect of the individual's depreciable property of a prescribed class and equal to the lesser of

(A) the amount included under subsection 13(1) in respect of the class in computing the individual's income for the year, and

(B) the total of all amounts each of which is determined in respect of a disposition that is the making of a gift of property of the class made by the individual in the year that is included in the individual's total charitable gifts for the year and equal to the lesser of

(I) the proceeds of disposition of the property minus any outlays and expenses to the extent that they were made or incurred by the individual for the purpose of making the disposition, and

(II) the capital cost to the individual of the property, and

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Clause (B) in the description of D in subparagraph (a)(iii) of the definition "total gifts" in subsection 118.1(1) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(B) the total of all amounts each of which is determined in respect of a disposition that is the making of a gift of property of the class made by the individual in the year (in respect of which gift an eligible amount is included in the individual's total charitable gifts for the taxation year) equal to the lesser of

(I) that proportion, of the amount by which the proceeds of disposition of the property exceed any outlays and expenses, to the extent that they were made or incurred by the individual for the purpose of making the disposition, that the eligible amount of the gift is of the individual's proceeds of disposition in respect of the gift, and

(II) that proportion, of the capital cost to the individual of the property, that the eligible amount of the gift is of the individual's proceeds of disposition in respect of the gift, and

Applicable: To gifts made after December 20, 2002.

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the amendment to the definition "total ecological gifts" in subsection 118.1(1).

E is the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of an amount deducted under section 110.6 in computing the individual's taxable income for the year that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of a gift referred to in the description of B or C,

(b) the individual's total Crown gifts for the year,

(c) the individual's total cultural gifts for the year, and

(d) the individual's total ecological gifts for the year.

History: S. 118.1(1), subparagraph (a)(iii) of the definition "total gifts", was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 23(4), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1996. S. 118.1(1), subparagraph (a)(iii) of the definition "total gifts" formerly read:

"(iii) in any other case, the amount determined by the formula

0.5(A + B – C)

where

A is the individual's income for the year,

B is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of a taxable capital gain from a gift of property made by the individual in the year to a donee described in the definition 'total charitable gifts', and

C is the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of an amount deducted under section 110.6 in computing the individual's taxable income for the year that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of a gift of capital property made by the individual in the year to a donee described in the definition 'total charitable gifts',"

S. 118.1(1), paragraph (a) of the definition "total gifts", was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 26(1), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years and, where an individual dies in 1996, to the individual's 1995 taxation year. That part formerly read:

"(a) the lesser of

(i) the individual's total charitable gifts for the year, and

(ii) 1/5 of the individual's income for the year,"

S. 118.1(1), paragraph (d) of the definition "total gifts", was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 23(3), applicable to gifts made after February 27, 1995.

S. 118.1(1) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 88(1), applicable after December 11, 1988. S. 118.1(1) formerly read as follows:

"(1) In this section

'total charitable gifts' — 'total charitable gifts' of an individual for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of a gift made by the individual in the year or in one of the 5 immediately preceding taxation years to

(a) a registered charity,

(b) a registered Canadian amateur athletic association,

(c) a housing corporation resident in Canada and exempt from tax under this Part by paragraph 149(1)(i),

(d) a Canadian municipality,

(e) the United Nations or an agency thereof,

(f) a university outside Canada prescribed to be a university the student body of which ordinarily includes students from Canada, or

(g) a charitable organization outside Canada to which Her Majesty in right of Canada has made a gift during the individual's taxation year or the 12 months immediately preceding that taxation year, to the extent that the amounts of those gifts have been neither

(h) deducted in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year preceding 1988, nor

(i) used in determining an amount that has been deducted under this section in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for a preceding taxation year, but, where the individual has claimed a deduction under subsection 110(2) in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year, does not include the amount of any gift made in that year;

'total Crown gifts' — 'total Crown gifts' of an individual for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of a gift made by the individual in the year or in one of the 5 immediately preceding taxation years to Her Majesty in right of Canada or to Her Majesty in right of a province, to the extent that the amounts of those gifts have been neither

(a) deducted in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year preceding 1988, nor

(b) used in determining an amount that has been deducted under this section in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for a preceding taxation year;

'total cultural gifts' — 'total cultural gifts' of an individual for a taxation year means the total of all values each of which is the value of a gift

(a) of an object that the Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board has determined meets all the criteria set out in paragraphs 29(3)(b) and (c) of the Cultural Property Export and Import Act,

(b) that neither is included in the total charitable gifts or the total Crown gifts of the individual for the year, nor would have been so included in a preceding taxation year had this section been applicable to that preceding year, and

(c) that was made by the individual in the year or in one of the 5 immediately preceding taxation years to an institution or public authority in Canada that was, at the time the gift was made, designated under subsection 32(2) of the Cultural Property Export and Import Act either generally or for a purpose related to the object referred to in paragraph (a) to the extent that the values of those gifts have been neither

(d) deducted in computing the individual's taxable income for a taxation year preceding 1988, nor

(e) used in determining an amount that has been deducted under this section in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for a preceding taxation year;

'total gifts' — 'total gifts' of an individual for a taxation year means the total of

(a) the lesser of

(i) the individual's total charitable gifts for the year, and

(ii) 1/5 of the individual's income for the year computed without reference to subsection 137(2),

(b) the individual's total Crown gifts for the year, and

(c) the individual's total cultural gifts for the year."

Related Sections: S. 110.1(1) Deduction for gifts; s. 118.1(2) Proof of gift; s. 118.1(5) Gift by will; s. 118.1(6) Gift of capital property; s. 118.1(7) Gifts of art; s. 118.1(9) Commuter's charitable donations; s. 127.52(1)(d) Adjusted taxable income determined; s. 149.1(6.4) National arts service organizations; s. 207.31 Tax payable by recipient of an ecological gift; s. 248, "amount", "individual", "registered Canadian amateur athletic association", "registered charity", "taxable income".

Regulations: Part XXXV; Sched. VIII; 3503.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-110R3 Deductible gifts and official donation receipts; IT-297R2 Gifts in kind to charity and others. Secondary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) — Scientific research and experimental development expenditures; IT-151R4 Scientific research and experimental development expenditures [Archived by the CRA]; IT-171R2 Non-resident individuals — Computation of taxable income earned in Canada and non-refundable tax credits [Archived by the CRA]; IT-226R Gift to a charity of a residual interest in real property or an equitable interest in a trust; IT-288R2 Gifts of capital properties to a charity and others; IT-407R4 (Consolid.) Dispositions of cultural property to designated Canadian institutions; IT-504R2 (Consolid.) Visual artists and writers.

Information Circulars: IC 84-3R5 Gifts to certain charitable organizations outside Canada.

Advance Tax Rulings: ATR-63 Donations to agents of the Crown.

Registered Charities Newsletters: No. 6SR, Canadian charities and their U.S. donors.

► 118.1(2) ◄

(2) Proof of gift. A gift shall not be included in the total charitable gifts, total Crown gifts, total cultural gifts or total ecological gifts of an individual unless the making of the gift is proven by filing with the Minister

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of subsection 118.1(2) of the Act before paragraph (a) is replaced by the following:

(2) Proof of gift. An eligible amount of a gift shall not be included in the total charitable gifts, total Crown gifts, total cultural gifts or total ecological gifts of an individual unless the making of the gift is evidenced by filing with the Minister

Applicable: To gifts made after December 20, 2002.

Explanatory Note:

Proof of Gift

Subsection 118.1(2) of the Act provides that an amount in respect of a gift by an individual may not be included in the amount eligible for a tax credit under subsection 118.1(3) unless the gift is evidenced by a receipt containing prescribed information. Subsection 118.1(2) is amended concurrently with subsection 118.1(1), to refer to the "eligible amount" of a gift.

It is proposed that subsections 3501(1), (1.1) and (6) of the Regulations be amended to provide that every official receipt issued by a registered organization in respect of a gift contain, in addition to the information already prescribed, the amount of the advantage, if any, and the eligible amount of the gift.

For additional details, see the commentary to new subsections 248(31) and (32) of the Act regarding the eligible amount and the amount of the advantage in respect of a gift.

The amendments to subsection 118.1(2) of the Act and subsections 3501(1), (1.1) and (6) of the Regulations are to be effective in respect of gifts made after December 20, 2002.

(a) a receipt for the gift that contains prescribed information;

(b) in the case of a gift described in the definition "total cultural gifts" in subsection (1), the certificate issued under subsection 33(1) of the Cultural Property Export and Import Act; and

(c) in the case of a gift described in the definition "total ecological gifts" in subsection (1), both certificates referred to in that definition.

History: S. 118.1(2) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 94(2), applicable in respect of gifts made, or proposed to be made, after February 27, 2000 except that subsection 118.1(2) of the Act shall be read without reference to paragraph 118.1(2)(b) in respect of gifts made before December 21, 2000. S. 118.1(2) formerly read:

"(2) Proof of gift. A gift shall not be included in the total charitable gifts, total Crown gifts, total cultural gifts or total ecological gifts of an individual unless the making of the gift is proven by filing with the Minister a receipt therefor that contains prescribed information."

S. 118.1(2) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 23(5), applicable to gifts made after February 27, 1995. S. 118.1(2) formerly read:

"(2) Proof of gift. A gift shall not be included in the total charitable gifts, total Crown gifts or total cultural gifts of an individual unless the making of the gift is proven by filing with the Minister a receipt therefor that contains prescribed information."

Related Sections: S. 118.1(1) Definitions.
Regulations: 3501(1).
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-407R4 (Consolid.) Dispositions of cultural property to designated Canadian institutions.
Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 26, Proposed Guidelines on Split Receipting.
Registered Charities Newsletters: No. 31, Reminders; No. 31, Top 3 Compliance Issues; No. 31, Split Receipting; No. 31, Questions and Answers — Correcting Errors and Making Changes; No. 29, Valuating donations; No. 27, Receipts — Who is the donor?; No. 23, New requirements for official donation receipts; No. 23, Golf tournaments; No. 18, Did you know?; No. 17, Questions and Answers on Split Receipting; No. 14, Business Number (BN) and donation receipts; No. 11, Audit of Tax Preparer Lands Registered Charities and Executive Director in Hot Water; No. 8, Receipts for golf tournaments and gifts of art; No. 6, The "art" of issuing official donation receipts; No. 4, Issuing receipts for gifts of art; No. 2, Issuing official donation receipts where there are prizes; No. 1, Donation of services.

► 118.1(2.1) ◄

(2.1) Ordering. For the purposes of determining the total charitable gifts, total Crown gifts, total cultural gifts and total ecological gifts of an individual for a taxation year, no amount in respect of a gift described in any of the definitions of those expressions and made in a particular taxation year shall be considered to have been included in determining an amount that was deducted under this section in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for a taxation year until amounts in respect of such gifts made in taxation years preceding the particular year that can be so considered are so considered.

History: S. 118.1(2.1) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 22(5), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1996.

Related Sections: S. 110.1(1.1) Limitation on deductibility.
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-407R4 (Consolid.) Dispositions of cultural property to designated Canadian institutions.

► 118.1(3) ◄

(3) Deduction by individuals for gifts. For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year, there may be deducted such amount as the individual claims not exceeding the amount determined by the formula

$$(A \times B) + [C \times (D - B)]$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year;

B is the lesser of $200 and the individual's total gifts for the year;

C is the highest percentage referred to in subsection 117(2) that applies in determining tax that might be payable under this Part for the year; and

D is the individual's total gifts for the year.

Sec. 6, Chap. 30, S.C. 2005

Sec. 6. [Re Donations for Tsunami Relief.] For the purpose of applying section 118.1 of the Act, a gift made by an individual after 2004 and before January 12, 2005 is deemed to have been made by the individual in the individual's 2004 taxation year and not in the individual's 2005 taxation year if

(a) the individual claims an amount under subsection 118.1(3) of the Act in respect of the gift for the individual's 2004 taxation year;

(b) the gift was made to a registered charity listed under the International Humanitarian Assistance program of the Canadian International Development Agency;

(c) the individual directed the charity to apply the gift to the tsunami relief effort; and

(d) the gift was in the form of cash or was transferred by way of cheque, credit card or money order.

History: S. 118.1(3) was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 34(1), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.1(3) formerly read:

"(3) Deduction by individuals for gifts. For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year, there may be deducted such amount as the individual may claim not exceeding an amount determined by the formula

$$(A \times B) + [C \times (D - B)]$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year;

B is the lesser of $250 and the individual's total gifts for the year;

C is the highest percentage referred to in subsection 117(2) that is applicable in determining tax that might be payable under this Part for the year; and

D is the individual's total gifts for the year."

Related Sections: S. 37(5) Where no deduction allowed under ss. 110.1 and 118.1; s. 110(2) Charitable gifts.
Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-226R Gift to a charity of a residual interest in real property or an equitable interest in a trust. Secondary — IT-407R4 (Consolid.) Dispositions of cultural property to designated Canadian institutions.
Information Circulars: IC 75-23 Tuition fees and charitable donations paid to privately supported secular and religious schools; IC 07-1 Taxpayer Relief Provisions.
Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 26, Proposed Guidelines on Split-Receipting.
Forms: T1 SCH 9.
Guides: RC4142 Tax Advantages of Donating to Charity; P113 Gifts and Income tax.
Registered Charities Newsletters: No. 29, Tax shelter gifting arrangements; No. 23, Volunteering services is not a gift; No. 14, Gifts by direct designation.
Tax Profile: April 2004 — The Battle of the Art Donation Cases Continues; May 2002 — Update on Charitable Giving.
Canadian Tax Foundation: Ball and Dietrich, "Rewards for the Generous: A Review of Recent Tax Changes for Charitable Donations", 1998 Canadian Tax Journal, No. 2, 415.
Cases: The taxpayers each purchased a group of limited edition prints, donated them to charities and received donation receipts for approximately three times the purchase price. Since the prints were acquired and donated in groups, FMV should be determined on a group basis and was equal to the highest price that the art vendor charged for each group of prints. A.G. of Canada v. Nash et al., 2005 DTC 5696 (F.C.A.), reversing 2004 DTC 3391, 2004 DTC 3328 and 2004 DTC 3360 (T.C.C.).

The taxpayer arranged for the owner of an art gallery to purchase works of art in his name, and to donate them to charitable organizations in return for a tax receipt. The taxpayer never saw or took possession of the art. The taxpayer was denied a charitable donations tax credit because the supporting documentation was inadequate. The taxpayer had failed to prove that he was the owner of the works in issue, that he had donated them, or that the values shown in the receipts represented true fair market values. Chabot v. The Queen, 2002 DTC 6708 (F.C.A.), affirming in the main 2000 DTC 1795 (T.C.C.).

Taxpayers entitled to credit for donation of art to registered charitable organizations even though the taxpayers never had physical possession of the art. However, the taxpayers had demonstrated gross negligence by obtaining receipts for the art showing the value to be four times fair market value. Côté et al. v. The Queen, 99 DTC 72 (T.C.C.)

Payments made to the Canadian Ski Association, a registered amateur athletic association, were not true "gifts". The donor believed he was paying for his daughter's ski training. He, therefore, did not have the animus donandi or liberal intent to make the gift without expecting to receive a benefit in return. Dr. Burns v. The Queen, 90 DTC 6335 (F.C.A.), affirming 88 DTC 6101 (F.C.T.D.).

The taxpayer could not deduct contributions to religious schools which were attended by his children. Although the schools were registered charities and although the taxpayer was not bound to pay tuition fees, financial contribution was expected where possible and the taxpayer was well aware of this. The Queen v. McBurney, 85 DTC 5433 (F.C.A.), reversing 84 DTC 6494 (F.C.T.D.). See also Bleeker Stereo and Television Ltd. v. M.N.R., 84 DTC 1761 (T.C.C.).

The maximum must be calculated on total income received, even where the taxpayer was permitted to report a reduced amount because he had two fiscal periods in the same taxation year. The Queen v. Goodman, 75 DTC 5022 (F.C.T.D.).

The cash surrender value of a life insurance policy designating a university as beneficiary was held to qualify as a charitable donation. Konrad v. M.N.R., 75 DTC 199 (T.R.B.).

Since the Act specifically speaks about charitable organizations in Canada, no deduction could be allowed with respect of a gift sent direct to England for flood relief. Merrill v. M.N.R., 55 DTC 421 (T.A.B.).

► 118.1(4) ◄

(4) Gift in year of death. Subject to subsection (13), a gift made by an individual in the particular taxation year in which the individual dies (including, for greater certainty, a gift otherwise deemed by subsection (5), (5.2), (5.3), (7), (7.1), (13) or (15) to have been so made) is deemed, for the purpose of this section other than this subsection, to have been made by the individual in the preceding taxation year, and not in the particular year, to the extent that an amount in respect of the gift is not deducted in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the particular year.

History: S. 118.1(4) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 94(3), applicable in respect of deaths that occur after 1998. S. 118.1(4) formerly read:

"(4) Gift in year of death. Subject to subsection (13), a gift made by an individual in the particular taxation year in which the individual dies (including, for greater certainty, a gift otherwise deemed by subsection (5), (13) or (15) to have been so made) is deemed, for the purpose of this section other than this subsection, to have been made by the individual in the immediately preceding taxation year, and not in the particular year, to the extent that an amount in respect of the gift is not deducted in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the particular year."

Sec. 94(13), Chap. 17, S.C. 2001

(13) For taxation years before 2000, subsection 118.1(4) of the Act shall be read without reference to subsections 118.1(7) and (7.1) of the Act except that, where a taxpayer or a taxpayer's legal representative notifies the Minister of National Revenue in writing before 2002 of the intention of the taxpayer or the taxpayer's legal representative that this subsection apply in respect of a gift made after 1996 and before 2000, subsection 118.1(4) of the Act applies to the taxation year in which the gift was made and shall be read, in respect of the 1996 to 1998 taxation years, without reference to subsections 118.1(5.2) and (5.3) of the Act.

S. 118.1(4) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 22(6), applicable to gifts made after July 1997. S. 118.1(4) formerly read:

"(4) Time of gift. For the purposes of this section, a gift made by an individual in the taxation year in which the individual dies shall be deemed to have been made by the individual in the immediately preceding taxation year to the extent that an amount in respect thereof is not deducted in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the taxation year in which the individual dies."

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-288R2 Gifts of capital properties to a charity and others; IT-407R4 (Consolid.) Dispositions of cultural property to designated Canadian institutions.

► 118.1(5) ◄

(5) Gift by will. Subject to subsection (13), where an individual by the individual's will makes a gift, the gift is, for the purpose of this section, deemed to have been made by the individual immediately before the individual died.

History: S. 118.1(5) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 22(6), applicable to gifts made after July 1997. S. 118.1(5) formerly read:

"(5) Gift by will. Where an individual by the individual's will makes a gift to a donee described in subsection (1), the gift shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to have been made by the individual in the taxation year in which the individual dies."

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-226R Gift to a charity of a residual interest in real property or an equitable interest in a trust; IT-407R4 (Consolid.) Dispositions of cultural property to designated Canadian institutions.

Registered Charities Newsletters: No. 27, Gift of residue of an estate can qualify as a "gift by the individual's will"; No. 11, What is deferred giving?.

Canadian Tax Foundation: Ball and Dietrich, "Bequests and Estate Planning", 1999 Canadian Tax Journal, No. 4, 995.

► 118.1(5.1) ◄

(5.1) Direct designation — insurance proceeds. Subsection (5.2) applies to an individual in respect of a life insurance policy where

(a) the policy is a life insurance policy under which, immediately before the individual's death, the individual's life was insured;

(b) a transfer of money, or a transfer by means of a negotiable instrument, is made as a consequence of the individual's death and solely because of the obligations under the policy, from an insurer to a qualified donee (other than a transfer the amount of which is not included in computing the income of the individual or the individual's estate for any taxation year but would have been included in computing the income of the individual or the individual's estate for a taxation year if the transfer had been made to the individual's legal representative for the benefit of the individual's estate and this Act were read without reference to subsection 70(3));

(c) immediately before the individual's death,

(i) the individual's consent would have been required to change the recipient of the transfer described in paragraph (b), and

(ii) the donee was neither a policyholder under the policy, nor an assignee of the individual's interest under the policy; and

(d) the transfer occurs within the 36 month period that begins at the time of the death (or, where written application to extend the period has been made to the Minister by the individual's legal representative, within such longer period as the Minister considers reasonable in the circumstances).

History: S. 118.1(5.1) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 94(4), applicable in respect of deaths that occur after 1998.

Registered Charities Newsletters: No. 27, Planned giving: annuities, life insurance and charitable remainder trusts; No. 15, Gifts by direct designation; No. 11, What is deferred giving?.

Tax Profile: May 2002 — Update on Charitable Giving.

► 118.1(5.2) ◄

(5.2) Deemed gift — subsection (5.1). Where this subsection applies,

(a) for the purpose of this section (other than subsection (5.1) and this paragraph) and section 149.1, the transfer described in subsection (5.1) is deemed to be a gift made, immediately before the individual's death, by the individual to the qualified donee referred to in subsection (5.1); and

(b) the fair market value of the gift is deemed to be the fair market value, at the time of the individual's death, of the right to that transfer (determined without reference to any risk of default with regard to obligations of the insurer).

History: S. 118.1(5.2)(a) was replaced by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 23(1), applicable in respect of deaths that occur after 1998. S. 118.1(5.2)(a) formerly read:

"(a) for the purpose of this section (other than subsection (5.1) and this paragraph), the transfer described in subsection (5.1) is deemed to be a gift made, immediately before the individual's death, by the individual to the qualified donee referred to in subsection (5.1); and"

S. 118.1(5.2) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 94(4), applicable in respect of deaths that occur after 1998.

Registered Charities Newsletters: No. 27, Planned giving: annuities, life insurance and charitable remainder trusts; No. 15, Gifts by direct designation.

► 118.1(5.3) ◄

(5.3) Direct designation — RRSPs, RRIFs and TFSAs. If as a consequence of an individual's death, a transfer of money, or a transfer by means of a negotiable instrument, is made, from an arrangement (other than an arrangement of which a licensed annuities provider is the issuer or carrier) that is a registered retirement savings plan or registered retirement income fund or that was, immediately before the individual's death, a TFSA to a qualified donee, solely because of the donee's interest or, for civil law, a right as a beneficiary under the arrangement, the individual was the annuitant under, or the holder of, the arrangement immediately before the individual's death and the transfer occurs within the 36-month period that begins at the time of the death (or, where written application to extend the period has been made to the Minister by the individual's legal representative, within such longer period as the Minister considers reasonable in the circumstances),

(a) for the purposes of this section (other than this paragraph) and section 149.1, the transfer is deemed to be a gift made, immediately before the individual's death, by the individual to the donee; and

(b) the fair market value of the gift is deemed to be the fair market value, at the time of the individual's death, of the right to the transfer (determined without reference to any risk of default with regard to the obligations of the issuer or carrier of the arrangement).

History: S. 118.1(5.3), the portion before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 35(1), applicable to the 2009 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.1(5.3), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(5.3) Direct designation — RRSPs, RRIFs and TFSAs. If as a consequence of an individual's death, a transfer of money, or a transfer by means of a negotiable instrument, is made, from an arrangement that is a registered retirement savings plan, registered retirement income fund or TFSA (other than an arrangement of which a licensed annuities provider is the issuer or carrier) to a qualified donee, solely because of the donee's interest or, for civil law, a right as a beneficiary under the arrangement, the individual was the annuitant under, or the holder of, the arrangement immediately before the individual's death and the transfer occurs within the 36-month period that begins at the time of the death (or, where written application to extend the period has been made to the Minister by the individual's legal representative, within such longer period as the Minister considers reasonable in the circumstances),"

S. 118.1(5.3) was replaced by S.C. 2008, c. 28, s. 15(1), applicable to the 2009 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.1(5.3) formerly read:

"(5.3) Direct designation — RRSPs and RRIFs. Where as a consequence of an individual's death, a transfer of money, or a transfer by means of a negotiable instrument, is made, from a registered retirement savings plan or registered retirement income fund (other than a plan or fund of which a licensed annuities provider is the issuer or carrier, as the case may be) to a qualified donee, solely because of the donee's interest as a beneficiary under the plan or fund, the individual was the annuitant (within the meaning assigned by subsection 146(1) or 146.3(1)) under the plan or fund immediately before the individual's death and the transfer occurs within the 36-month period that begins at the time of the death (or, where written application to extend the period has been made to the Minister by the individual's legal representative, within such longer period as the Minister considers reasonable in the circumstances),

(a) for the purposes of this section (other than this paragraph) and section 149.1, the transfer is deemed to be a gift made, immediately before the individual's death, by the individual to the donee; and

(b) the fair market value of the gift is deemed to be the fair market value, at the time of the individual's death, of the right to the transfer (determined without reference to any risk of default with regard to the obligations of the issuer of the plan or the carrier of the fund)."

S. 118.1(5.3)(a) was replaced by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 23(2), applicable in respect of deaths that occur after 1998. S. 118.1(5.3)(a) formerly read:

"(a) for the purposes of this section (other than this paragraph), the transfer is deemed to be a gift made, immediately before the individual's death, by the individual to the donee; and"

S. 118.1(5.3) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 94(4), applicable in respect of deaths that occur after 1998.

Registered Charities Newsletters: No. 15, Gifts by direct designation.

► 118.1(6) ◄

(6) Gift of capital property. Where, at any time, whether by the individual's will or otherwise, an individual makes a gift of

(a) capital property to a donee described in the definition "total charitable gifts", "total Crown gifts" or "total ecological gifts" in subsection (1), or

(b) in the case of an individual who is a non-resident person, real property situated in Canada to a prescribed donee who provides an undertaking, in a form satisfactory to the Minister, to the effect that the property will be held for use in the public interest, and the fair market value of the property otherwise determined at that time exceeds its adjusted cost base to the individual, such amount, not greater than the fair market value and not less than the adjusted cost base to the individual of the property at that time, as the individual or the individual's legal representative designates in the individual's return of income under section 150 for the year in which the gift is made is, if the making of the gift is proven by filing with the Minister a receipt containing prescribed information, deemed to be the individual's proceeds of disposition of the property and, for the purposes of subsection (1), the fair market value of the gift made by the individual.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subsection 118.1(6) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(5.4) Where subsection (6) applies. Subsection (6) applies in circumstances where

(a) an individual

(i) makes a gift (by the individual's will or otherwise) at any time of capital property to a donee described in the definition "total charitable gifts", "total Crown gifts" or "total ecological gifts" in subsection (1), or

(ii) who is non-resident, makes a gift (by the individual's will or otherwise) at any time of real or immovable property situated in Canada to a prescribed donee who provides an undertaking, in a form satisfactory to the Minister, to the effect that the property will be held for use in the public interest; and

(b) the fair market value of the property otherwise determined at that time exceeds

(i) in the case of depreciable property of a prescribed class, the lesser of the undepreciated capital cost of that class at the end of the taxation year of the individual that includes that time (determined without reference to proceeds of disposition designated in respect of the property under subsection (6)) and the adjusted cost base to the individual of the property immediately before that time, and

(ii) in any other case, the adjusted cost base to the individual of the property immediately before that time.

(6) Gifts of capital property. If this subsection applies in respect of a gift by an individual of property, and the individual or the individual's legal representative designates an amount in respect of the gift in the individual's return of income under section 150 for the year in which the gift is made, the amount so designated is deemed to be the individual's proceeds of disposition of the property and, for the purpose of subsection 248(31), the fair market value of the gift, but the amount so designated may not exceed the fair market value of the property otherwise determined and may not be less than the greater of

(a) in the case of a gift made after December 20, 2002, the amount of the advantage, if any, in respect of the gift, and

(b) the amount determined under subparagraph (5.4)(b)(i) or (ii), as the case may be, in respect of the property.

Applicable: To gifts made after 1999 except that, for gifts made after 1999 but before December 21, 2002, the reference to "subsection 248(31)" in subsection 118.1(6) shall be read as a reference to "subsection (1)".

Explanatory Note:

Gift of Capital Property

Subsection 118.1(6) of the Act provides that, if an individual donates capital property to a charity, the individual may designate a value between the adjusted cost base and the fair market value of the donated property to be treated both as the proceeds of disposition for the purpose of calculating the individual's capital gain and the amount of the gift for the purpose of calculating the tax credit allowed for charitable donations under subsection 118.1(3) of the Act.

Subsection 118.1(6) is restructured as new subsection 118.1(5.4) and revised subsection 118.1(6). New subsection 118.1(5.4) describes the circumstances under which amended subsection 118.1(6), which remain generally unchanged, will apply. However, where the property is depreciable property, subsection 118.1(5.4) includes those situations where the actual value of the gifted property is between the undepreciated capital cost of that class at the end of the taxation year of the individual and the fair market value of the gifted property.

Amended subsection 118.1(6) provides for the amount that may be designated by the individual. As with the former provision, the amount designated is deemed to be the individual's proceeds of disposition of the gift. The provision also continues to provide that the amount designated is treated as the fair market value of the property transferred by way of gift. However, under the amended version, this is for the purpose of new subsection 248(31) of the Act (changed from subsection 118.1(1) of the Act). New subsection 248(31) generally provides that the "eligible amount" of the gift is the excess of the fair market value of a property transferred by way of gift over the value of the advantage or benefit, if any, to which the transferor is entitled. The "eligible amount" is relevant to the determination of the tax credit deductible by the individual under subsection 118.1(3).

Finally, amended subsection 118.1(6) effectively allows an individual to reduce the amount of recaptured depreciation that might otherwise be calculated in respect of a gift of depreciable property, with a corresponding reduction to the eligible amount deductible in respect of the gift under subsection 118.1(6). However, the designated amount may not be lower than the amount of any actual proceeds of disposition in respect of the property (or, more specifically, the amount of the advantage in respect of the gift, as defined under new subsection 248(32) of the Act).

In particular, the amount designated by the individual in respect of the property transferred may not exceed the fair market value of the property otherwise determined, and may not be less than the greater of

- the amount of the advantage, if any, in respect of the gift, and
- the adjusted cost base of the property or, if the property is depreciable property of the individual, the undepreciated capital cost of the class of the property at the end of the individual's taxation year (determined without reference to the proceeds of disposition designated in respect of the property).

Subsections 118.1(5.4) and (6) (as amended) generally apply in respect of gifts made after 1999. For additional details regarding the eligible amount and the amount of the advantage in respect of a gift, see the commentary to new subsections 248(31) and (32).

Example

Mr. Adams transfers a rental property with a fair market value of $200,000 to a registered charity, in exchange for proceeds of disposition of $95,000. The original cost to Mr. Adams when he purchased the property in 1985 was $65,000. The rental property is the only depreciable property in its class, with an undepreciated capital cost balance before the transfer of $45,000.

Assuming that the transfer qualifies as a gift (see the commentary to subsections 248(30) to (32)), Mr. Adams may designate any amount between $95,000 and $200,000 as the proceeds of disposition for the gift. Mr. Adams could have designated an amount as low $45,000, if he had received a lesser amount in actual proceeds from the charity.

Mr. Adams decides to designate $150,000 as its proceeds of disposition. The taxable gain to Mr. Adams on the transfer can therefore be allocated as follows:

Designated proceeds		$150,000
Adjusted cost base (original cost)	65,000	65,000
Capital Gain		85,000
Taxable Capital Gain		42,500
Undepreciated Capital Cost	45,000
Recaptured depreciation		20,000
Total Income Inclusion		$ 62,500

The eligible amount of the gift is calculated as follows:

Designated proceeds	$150,000
Amount of advantage (consideration)	95,000
Eligible amount of the gift	55,000

History: S. 118.1(6), the portion after paragraph (b) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 94(5), applicable in respect of gifts made after February 27, 1995. S. 118.1(6), the portion after paragraph (b) formerly read:

"and the fair market value of the property at that time exceeds its adjusted cost base to the individual, such amount, not greater than the fair market value and not less than the adjusted cost base to the individual of the property at that time, as the individual or the individual's legal representative designates in the individual's return of income under section 150 for the year in which the gift is made shall, if the making of the gift is proven by filing with the Minister a receipt containing prescribed information, be deemed to be the individual's proceeds of disposition of the property and, for the purposes of subsection (1), the fair market value of the gift made by the individual."

S. 118.1(6)(a) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 23(6), applicable to gifts made after February 27, 1995. S. 118.1(6)(a) formerly read:

"(a) capital property to a donee described in the definition 'total charitable gifts' or 'total Crown gifts' in subsection (1), or"

S. 118.1(6), the portion following paragraph (b), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 53(1), applicable to gifts made after December 11, 1988. That part formerly read:

"and the fair market value of the property at that time exceeds its adjusted cost base to the individual, such amount, not greater than the fair market value and not less than the adjusted cost base to the individual of the property at that time, as is designated by the individual, or the individual's legal representative in the individual's return of income under section 150 for the year in which the gift is made shall, if the making of the gift is proven by filing with the Minister a receipt containing prescribed information, be deemed to be the individual's proceeds of disposition of the property and the amount of the gift made by the individual."

Related Sections: S. 54, "proceeds of disposition"; s. 248(1), "adjusted cost base", "amount", "individual", "property".

Regulations: 3501(1), (1.1); 3504.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-288R2 Gifts of capital properties to a charity and others. Secondary — IT-226R Gift to a charity of a residual interest in real property or an equitable interest in a trust; IT-504R2 (Consolid.) Visual artists and writers.

Registered Charities Newsletters: No. 12, Valuing Gifts of Public Securities; No. 3, Gifts of property other than cash.

► 118.1(7) ◄

(7) Gifts of art. Except where subsection (7.1) applies, where at any time, whether by the individual's will or otherwise, an individual makes a gift described in the definition "total charitable gifts" or "total Crown gifts" in subsection (1) of a work of art that was

(a) created by the individual and that is property in the individual's inventory, or

(b) acquired under circumstances where subsection 70(3) applied,

and at that time the fair market value of the work of art exceeds its cost amount to the individual, the following rules apply:

(c) where the gift is made as a consequence of the death of the individual, the gift is deemed to have been made immediately before the death, and

(d) the amount, not greater than that fair market value at the time the gift is made and not less than the cost amount of the property to the individual, that is designated in the individual's return of income under section 150 for the year in which the gift is made is, if the making of the gift is proven by filing with the Minister a receipt containing prescribed information, deemed to be the individual's proceeds of disposition of the work of art and, for the purposes of subsection (1), the fair market value of the gift made by the individual.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Paragraph 118.1(7)(d) of the English version of the Act is replaced by the following:

(d) the amount that the individual or the individual's legal representative designates in the individual's return of income under section 150 for the year in which the gift is made is deemed to be the individual's proceeds of disposition of the work of art and, for the purpose of subsection 248(31), the fair market value of the work of art, but the amount so designated may not exceed the fair market value otherwise determined of the work of art and may not be less than the greater of

(i) the amount of the advantage, if any, in respect of the gift, and

(ii) the cost amount to the individual of the work of art.

Applicable: To gifts made after December 20, 2002.

Explanatory Note:

Gifts of Art

Subsection 118.1(7) of the Act provides that, if an artist donates artwork created by the artist and held in the artist's inventory, the artist may designate a value between the cost amount and the fair market value of the artwork to be treated both as the proceeds of disposition for the purpose of calculating the artist's income and the amount of the gift for the purpose of calculating the tax credit allowed for charitable donations under subsection 118.1(3) of the Act.

If the artwork is certified as a cultural gift, as described in subsection 118.1(1) of the Act, subsection 118.1(7.1) of the Act applies instead of subsection 118.1(7). Under subsection 118.1(7.1), the artist is treated as having received proceeds of disposition equal to the cost amount to the artist of the work of art for the purpose of calculating the artist's income, but the fair market value of the artwork is not affected. This means that the artist is entitled to a credit based on the value of the donation, but that the artist recognizes neither a profit nor a loss on the disposition of the work of art in computing income from a business for income tax purposes.

Paragraphs 118.1(7)(d) and (7.1)(d) are amended consequential to the addition of subsections 248(31) and (32) of the Act. Amended paragraph 118.1(7.1)(d) generally provides that the artist's proceeds of disposition from a gift of cultural property that was created by the artist and held as inventory may not be lower than the amount of any actual proceeds of disposition in respect of the property (or, more specifically, the amount of the advantage in respect of the gift, as defined under new subsection 248(32)). In particular, the amount that may be designated by the artist must be the greater of the cost amount of the work of art and the amount of the advantage in respect of the gift. As a result, the artist will have business income from the disposition if the amount of the advantage in respect of the gift exceeds the cost amount to the artist of the work of art.

For gifts from an artist's inventory that are not certified cultural property, amended paragraph 118.1(7)(d) provides that the amount designated in the artist's return of income is deemed to be the artist's proceeds of disposition. The provision also continues to provide that the amount designated is treated as the fair market value of the property transferred by way of gift. However, under the amended version, this is for the purpose of new subsection 248(31) (changed from subsection 118.1(1)). New subsection 248(31) generally provides that the "eligible amount" of the gift is the excess of the fair market value of a property transferred by way of gift over the value of the advantage or benefit, if any, to which the transferor is entitled. The "eligible amount" is relevant to the determination of the tax credit deductible by the individual under subsection 118.1(3).

The amount designated in the artist's return of income in respect of the property transferred may not exceed the fair market value of the property otherwise determined, and may not be less than the greater of

- the amount of the advantage, if any, in respect of the gift, and
- the cost amount to the artist of the work of art.

As a result, the artist will have business income from the disposition to the extent that the amount of the advantage in respect of the gift (or some other amount designated in the artist's return of income, if greater) exceeds the cost amount to the artist of the work of art.

For additional details regarding the eligible amount and the amount of the advantage in respect of a gift, see the commentary to new subsections 248(31) and (32) of the Act.

The amendments to paragraphs 118.1(7)(d) and (7.1)(d) apply in respect of gifts made after December 20, 2002.

History: S. 118.1(7) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 94(6), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years and, where a taxpayer or a taxpayer's legal representative notifies the Minister of National Revenue in writing before 2002 of the intention of the taxpayer or the taxpayer's legal representative that this subsection apply in respect of a gift made after 1996 and before 2000, subsection 118.1(7) applies to the taxation year in which the gift was made and, where paragraph 118.1(7)(d) of the Act applies, the amount designated in the notice in respect of the gift is deemed to have been validly designated for the purposes of that paragraph in the taxpayer's return of income for the year in which the gift was made. S. 118.1(7) formerly read:

"(7) Gifts of art. Except where subsection (7.1) applies, where at any time, whether by the individual's will or otherwise, an individual makes a gift of a work of art that was created by the individual and that is property in the individual's inventory to a donee described in the definition 'total charitable gifts' or 'total Crown gifts' in subsection (1) and at that time the fair market value of the work of art exceeds its cost amount to the individual, such amount, not greater than that fair market value and not less than that cost amount, as is designated in the individual's return of income under section 150 for the year in which the gift is made shall, if the making of the gift is proven by filing with the Minister a receipt containing prescribed information, be deemed to be the individual's proceeds of disposition of the work of art and, for the purposes of subsection (1), the fair market value of the gift made by the individual."

S. 118.1(7) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 88(2), applicable with respect to gifts made after 1990. S. 118.1(7) formerly read:

"(7) Gifts of art. Where at any time after 1984, whether by the individual's will or otherwise, an individual makes a gift of a work of art created by the individual that is property in the individual's inventory to a donee described in the definition 'total charitable gifts' or 'total Crown gifts' in subsection (1), and the fair market value of the work of art at that time exceeds its cost amount to the individual, such amount, not greater than the fair market value and not less than the cost amount to the individual of the work of art at that time, as is designated by the individual or the individual's legal representative in the individual's return of income under section 150 for the year in which the gift is made shall, if the making of the gift is proven by filing with the Minister a receipt containing prescribed information, be deemed to be the individual's proceeds of disposition of the work of art and the amount of the gift made by the individual."

Related Sections: S. 118.1(7.1) Gifts of cultural property.
Regulations: 3501(1).
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-288R2 Gifts of capital properties to a charity and others; IT-504R2 (Consolid.) Visual artists and writers.
Tax Profile: May 2002 — Update on Charitable Giving.
Registered Charities Newsletters: No. 6, The "art" of issuing official donation receipts; No. 4, Issuing receipts for gifts of art; No. 3, Gifts of property other than cash.

► 118.1(7.1) ◄

(7.1) Gifts of cultural property. Where at any particular time, whether by the individual's will or otherwise, an individual makes a gift described in the definition "total cultural gifts" in subsection (1) of a work of art that was

(a) created by the individual and that is property in the individual's inventory, or

(b) acquired under circumstances where subsection 70(3) applied,

and at that time the fair market value of the work of art exceeds its cost amount to the individual, the following rules apply:

(c) where the gift is made as a consequence of the death of the individual, the individual is deemed to have made the gift immediately before the death, and

(d) the individual is deemed to have received at the particular time proceeds of disposition in respect of the gift equal to its cost amount to the individual at that time.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Paragraph 118.1(7.1)(d) of the English version of the Act is replaced by the following:

(d) the individual is deemed to have received at the particular time proceeds of disposition in respect of the work of art equal to the greater of its cost amount to the individual at that time and the amount of the advantage, if any, in respect of the gift.

Applicable: To gifts made after December 20, 2002.

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the amendment to paragraph 118.1(7)(d).

History: S. 118.1(7.1) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 94(6), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years and, where a taxpayer or a taxpayer's legal representative notifies the Minister of National Revenue in writing before 2002 of the intention of the taxpayer or the taxpayer's legal representative that this subsection apply in respect of a gift made after 1996 and before 2000, subsection 118.1(7.1) applies to the taxation year in which the gift was made and, where paragraph 118.1(7)(d) of the Act applies, the amount designated in the notice in respect of the gift is deemed to have been validly designated for the purposes of that paragraph in the taxpayer's return of income for the year in which the gift was made. S. 118.1(7.1) formerly read:

"(7.1) Gifts of cultural property. Where at any time, whether by the individual's will or otherwise, an individual makes a gift described in the definition 'total cultural gifts' in subsection (1) of a work of art that was created by the individual and that is property in the individual's inventory, the individual shall, if the making of the gift is proven by filing with the Minister a receipt containing prescribed information, be deemed to have received proceeds of disposition in respect of the gift at that time equal to its cost amount to the individual at that time."

S. 118.1(7.1) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 88(2), applicable with respect to gifts made after 1990.

Related Sections: S. 110.1(1)(c) Gifts to institutions; s. 118.1(7) Gifts of art.
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-407R4 (Consolid.) Dispositions of cultural property to designated Canadian institutions.

► 118.1(8) ◄

(8) Gifts made by partnership. Where an individual is, at the end of a fiscal period of a partnership, a member of the partnership, the individual's share of any amount that would, if the partnership were a person, be a gift made by the partnership to any donee shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to be a gift made by the individual to that donee in the individual's taxation year in which the fiscal period of the partnership ends.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subsection 118.1(8) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(8) Gifts made by partnership. If at the end of a fiscal period of a partnership an individual is a member of the partnership, the individual's share of any amount that would, if the partnership were a person, be the eligible amount of a gift made by the partnership to any donee is, for the purpose of this section, deemed to be the eligible amount of a gift made to that donee by the individual in the individual's taxation year in which the fiscal period of the partnership ends.

Applicable: To gifts made after December 20, 2002.

Explanatory Note:

Gifts Made by Partnership

Subsection 118.1(8) of the Act allows the attribution of gifts made by a partnership to its individual members, according to each member's share in the partnership. Subsection 118.1(8) is amended consequential to the addition of new subsection 248(31) of the Act, to refer to the "eligible amount" of a gift made because of an individual's membership in a partnership.

The amendment applies in respect of gifts made by a partnership after December 20, 2002.

► 118.1(9) ◄

(9) Commuter's charitable donations. Where throughout a taxation year an individual resided in Canada near the boundary between Canada and the United States, if

(a) the individual commuted to the individual's principal place of employment or business in the United States, and

(b) the individual's chief source of income for the year was that employment or business, a gift made by the individual in the year to a religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational organization created or organized in or under the laws of the United States that would be allowed as a deduction under the United States Internal Revenue Code shall, for the purpose of the definition "total charitable gifts" in subsection (1), be deemed to have been made to a registered charity.

► 118.1(10) ◄

(10) Determination of fair market value. For the purposes of paragraph 110.1(1)(c) and the definition "total cultural gifts" in subsection (1), the fair market value of an object is deemed to be the fair market value determined by the Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board.

History: S. 118.1(10) was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 38, s. 3, effective July 12, 1996. S. 118.1(10) formerly read:

"(10) Determination of fair market value. For the purposes of paragraph 110.1(1)(c) and the definition 'total cultural gifts' in subsection (1), the fair market value of an object shall be determined by the Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board."

S. 118.1(10) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 88(3), applicable with respect to gifts made after February 20, 1990.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-407R4 (Consolid.) Dispositions of Cultural Property to Designated Canadian Institutions.

► 118.1(10.1) ◄

(10.1) Determination of fair market value. For the purposes of subparagraph 69(1)(b)(ii), subsection 70(5) and sections 110.1, 207.31 and this section, where at any time the Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board or the Minister of the Environment determines or redetermines an amount to be the fair market value of a property that is the subject of a gift described in paragraph 110.1(1)(a), or in the definition "total charitable gifts" in subsection (1), made by a taxpayer within the two-year period that begins at that time, an amount equal to the last amount so determined or redetermined within the period is deemed to be the fair market value of the gift at the time the gift was made and, subject to subsections (6), (7), (7.1) and 110.1(3), to be the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition of the gift.

History: S. 110.1(10.1) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 94(7), applicable in respect of gifts made, or proposed to be made, after February 27, 2000. S. 110.1(10.1) formerly read:

"(10.1) Determination of fair market value. For the purposes of subparagraph 69(1)(b)(ii), subsection 70(5), section 110.1 and this section, where at any time the Canadian Cultural Property Export Review Board determines or redetermines an amount to be the fair market value of a property that is the subject of a gift described in paragraph 110.1(1)(a) or in the definition 'total charitable gifts' in subsection (1) made by a taxpayer within the two-year period that begins at that time, the last amount so determined or redetermined within the period is deemed to be the fair market value of the property at the time the gift was made and, subject to subsection 110.1(3) and subsections (6) and (7), to be the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition of the property."

S. 118.1(10.1) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 32(1), applicable to determinations and redeterminations made after February 23, 1998.

► 118.1(10.2) ◄

(10.2) Request for determination by the Minister of the Environment. Where a person disposes or proposes to dispose of a property that would, if the disposition were made and the certificates described in paragraph 110.1(1)(d) or in the definition "total ecological gifts" in subsection (1) were issued by the Minister of the Environment, be a gift described in those provisions, the person may request, by notice in writing to that Minister, a determination of the fair market value of the property.

History: S. 118.1(10.2) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 94(7), applicable in respect of gifts made, or proposed to be made, after February 27, 2000.

► 118.1(10.3) ◄

(10.3) Duty of Minister of the Environment. In response to a request made under subsection (10.2), the Minister of the Environment shall with all due dispatch make a determination in accordance with subsection (12) or 110.1(5), as the case may be, of the fair market value of the property referred to in that request and give notice of the determination in writing to the person who has disposed of, or who proposes to dispose of, the property, except that no such determination shall be made if the request is received by that Minister after three years after the end of the person's taxation year in which the disposition occurred.

History: S. 118.1(10.3) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 94(7), applicable in respect of gifts made, or proposed to be made, after February 27, 2000.

► 118.1(10.4) ◄

(10.4) Ecological gifts — redetermination. Where the Minister of the Environment has, under subsection (10.3), notified a person of the amount determined by that Minister to be the fair market value of a property in respect of its disposition or proposed disposition,

(a) that Minister shall, on receipt of a written request made by the person on or before the day that is 90 days after the day that the person was so notified of the first such determination, with all due dispatch confirm or redetermine the fair market value;

(b) that Minister may, on that Minister's own initiative, at any time redetermine the fair market value;

(c) that Minister shall in either case notify the person in writing of that Minister's confirmation or redetermination; and

(d) any such redetermination is deemed to replace all preceding determinations and redeterminations of the fair market value of that property from the time at which the first such determination was made.

History: S. 118.1(10.4) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 94(7), applicable in respect of gifts made, or proposed to be made, after February 27, 2000.

► 118.1(10.5) ◄

(10.5) Certificate of Fair Market Value. Where the Minister of the Environment determines under subsection (10.3) the fair market value of a property, or redetermines that value under subsection (10.4), and the property has been disposed of to a qualified donee described in paragraph 110.1(1)(d) or in the definition "total ecological gifts" in subsection (1), that Minister shall issue to the person who made the disposition a certificate that states the fair market value of the property so determined or redetermined and, where more than one certificate has been so issued, the last certificate is deemed to replace all preceding certificates from the time at which the first certificate was issued.

History: S. 118.1(10.5) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 94(7), applicable in respect of gifts made, or proposed to be made, after February 27, 2000.

► 118.1(11) ◄

(11) Assessments. Notwithstanding subsections 152(4) to (5), such assessments or reassessments of a taxpayer's tax, interest or penalties payable under this Act for any taxation year shall be made as are necessary to give effect

(a) to a certificate issued under subsection 33(1) of the Cultural Property Export and Import Act or to a decision of a court resulting from an appeal made pursuant to section 33.1 of that Act; or

(b) to a certificate issued under subsection (10.5) or to a decision of a court resulting from an appeal made pursuant to subsection 169(1.1).

History: S. 118.1(11) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 94(8), applicable in respect of gifts made, or proposed to be made, after February 27, 2000. S. 118.1(11) formerly read:

"(11) Assessments. Notwithstanding subsections 152(4) to (5), such assessments or reassessments of a taxpayer's tax, interest or penalties payable under this Act for any taxation year shall be made as are necessary to give effect to a certificate issued under subsection 33(1) of the Cultural Property Export and Import Act or to a decision of a court resulting from an appeal made pursuant to section 33.1 of that Act."

S. 118.1(11) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 38, s. 3, effective July 12, 1996.

► 118.1(12) ◄

(12) Ecological gifts. For the purposes of applying subparagraph 69(1)(b)(ii), subsection 70(5), this section and section 207.31 in respect of a gift described in the definition "total ecological gifts" in subsection (1) that is made by an individual, the amount that is the fair market value (or, for the purpose of subsection (6), the fair market value otherwise determined) of the gift at the time the gift was made and, subject to subsection (6), the individual's proceeds of disposition of the gift, is deemed to be the amount determined by the Minister of the Environment to be

(a) where the gift is land, the fair market value of the gift; or

(b) where the gift is a servitude, covenant or easement to which land is subject, the greater of

(i) the fair market value otherwise determined of the gift, and

(ii) the amount by which the fair market value of the land is reduced as a result of the making of the gift.

History: S. 118.1(12) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 94(10), applicable in respect of gifts made, or proposed to be made, after February 27, 2000. S. 118.1(12) formerly read:

"(12) Ecological gifts. For the purpose of applying subparagraph 69(1)(b)(ii), subsection 70(5), section 207.31 and this section in respect of a gift described in the definition 'total ecological gifts' in subsection (1) that is made by a taxpayer and that is a servitude, covenant or easement to which land is subject, the greater of

(a) the fair market value otherwise determined of the gift, and

(b) the amount by which the fair market value of the land is reduced as a result of the making of the gift is deemed to be the fair market value (or, for the purpose of subsection (6), the fair market value otherwise determined) of the gift at the time the gift was made and, subject to subsection (6), to be the taxpayer's proceeds of disposition of the gift."

S. 118.1(12) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 94(9), applicable in respect of gifts made after February 27, 1995 and before February 28, 2000. S. 118.1(12) formerly read:

"(12) Ecological gifts. For the purposes of section 207.31 and the definition 'total ecological gifts' in subsection (1), the fair market value of a gift of a servitude, a covenant or an easement to which land is subject is deemed to be the greater of its fair market value otherwise determined and the amount by which the fair market value of the land is reduced as a result of the making of the gift."

S. 118.1(12) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 22(7), applicable to gifts made after February 27, 1995.

Related Sections: S. 110.1(5) Ecological gifts.

► 118.1(13) ◄

(13) Non-qualifying securities. For the purpose of this section (other than this subsection), where at any particular time an individual makes a gift (including a gift that, but for this subsection and subsection (4), would be deemed by subsection (5) to be made at the particular time) of a non-qualifying security of the individual and the gift is not an excepted gift,

(a) except for the purpose of applying subsection (6) to determine the individual's proceeds of disposition of the security, the gift is deemed not to have been made;

(b) if the security ceases to be a non-qualifying security of the individual at a subsequent time that is within 60 months after the particular time and the donee has not disposed of the security at or before the subsequent time, the individual is deemed to have made a gift to the donee of property at the subsequent time and the fair market value of that gift is deemed to be the lesser of the fair market value of the security at the subsequent time and the amount of the gift made at the particular time that would, but for this subsection, have been included in the individual's total charitable gifts or total Crown gifts for a taxation year;

(c) if the security is disposed of by the donee within 60 months after the particular time and paragraph (b) does not apply to the security, the individual is deemed to have made a gift to the donee of property at the time of the disposition and the fair market value of that gift is deemed to be the lesser of the fair market value of any consideration (other than a non-qualifying security of the individual or a property that would be a non-qualifying security of the individual if the individual were alive at that time) received by the donee for the disposition and the amount of the gift made at the particular time that would, but for this subsection, have been included in the individual's total charitable gifts or total Crown gifts for a taxation year; and

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Paragraphs 118.1(13)(b) and (c) of the Act are replaced by the following:

(b) if the security ceases to be a non-qualifying security of the individual at a subsequent time that is within 60 months after the particular time and the donee has not disposed of the security at or before the subsequent time, the individual is deemed to have made a gift to the donee of property at the subsequent time and the fair market value of that property is deemed to be the lesser of the fair market value of the security at the subsequent time and the fair market value of the security at the particular time that would, if this Act were read without reference to this subsection, have been included in calculating the individual's total charitable gifts or total Crown gifts for a taxation year;

(c) if the security is disposed of by the donee within 60 months after the particular time and paragraph (b) does not apply to the security, the individual is deemed to have made a gift to the donee of property at the time of the disposition and the fair market value of that property is deemed to be the lesser of the fair market value of any consideration (other than a non-qualifying security of the individual or a property that would be a non-qualifying security of the individual if the individual were alive at that time) received by the donee for the disposition and the fair market value of the security at the particular time that would, if this Act were read without reference to this subsection, have been included in calculating the individual's total charitable gifts or total Crown gifts for a taxation year; and

Applicable: To gifts made after December 20, 2002.

Explanatory Note: ► (13) ◄

Non-qualifying Securities

Subsection 118.1(13) of the Act provides that, if an individual makes a gift of a "non-qualifying security" (defined in subsection 118.1(18) of the Act), that gift will be ignored for the purpose of the charitable donations tax credit.

Paragraphs 118.1(13)(b) and (c) concern the amount to be included in a taxpayer's "total charitable gifts" or "total Crown gifts" (defined in subsection 118.1(1) of the Act) for the taxation year in which a security ceases to be a "non-qualifying security" or the donee disposes of a non-qualifying security. If either of these events occurs within five years of the actual donation of the non-qualifying security by a taxpayer, the taxpayer will be treated as having made a gift at that later time. The fair market value of this deemed gift is considered to be the lesser of two amounts. The first amount is the fair market value of the security at the time that it was actually donated. (Note that this amount may have been designated by the taxpayer as a lower amount than the actual fair market value if an election were made under subsection 118.1(6) of the Act for the taxation year of the actual donation.) The second amount is

- if the security ceased at the later time to be a non-qualifying security, the fair market value of the security at that later time, or
- if the security was disposed of by the donee at that later time, the fair market value of the consideration received by the donee.

Amendments to paragraphs 118.1(13)(b) and (c) are to provide language complementary to the amendment of the definitions "total charitable gifts" and "total Crown gifts" in subsection 118.1(1). The amendments apply to gifts actually made after December 20, 2002.

(d) a designation under subsection (6) or 110.1(3) in respect of the gift made at the particular time may be made in the individual's return of income for the year that includes the subsequent time referred to in paragraph (b) or the time of the disposition referred to in paragraph (c).

History: S. 118.1(13) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 22(7), applicable to gifts made after July 1997.

Related Sections: S. 110.1(6) Non-qualifying securities.

► 118.1(14) ◄

(14) Exchanged security. Where a share (in this subsection referred to as the "new share") that is a non-qualifying security of an individual has been acquired by a donee referred to in subsection (13) in exchange for another share (in this subsection referred to as the "original share") that is a non-qualifying security of the individual by means of a transaction to which section 51, subparagraphs 85.1(1)(a)(i) and (ii) or section 86 or 87 applies, the new share is deemed for the purposes of this subsection and subsection (13) to be the same share as the original share.

History: S. 118.1(14) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 22(7), applicable to gifts made after July 1997.

Related Sections: S. 110.1(6) Non-qualifying securities.

► 118.1(14.1) ◄

(14.1) Exchange of beneficial interest in trust. Where a donee disposes of a beneficial interest in a trust that is a non-qualifying security of an individual in circumstances where paragraph (13)(c) would, but for this subsection, apply in respect of the disposition, and in respect of which the donee receives no consideration other than other non-qualifying securities of the individual, for the purpose of subsection (13) the gift referred to in that subsection is to be read as a reference to a gift of those other non-qualifying securities.

History: S. 118.1(14.1) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 39(1), applicable in respect of gifts made on or after March 19, 2007.

► 118.1(15) ◄

(15) Death of donor. If, but for this subsection, an individual would be deemed by subsection (13) to have made a gift after the individual's death, for the purpose of this section the individual is deemed to have made the gift in the taxation year in which the individual died, except that the amount of interest payable under any provision of this Act is the amount that it would be if this subsection did not apply to the gift.

History: S. 118.(15) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 22(7), applicable to gifts made after July 1997.

► 118.1(16) ◄

(16) Loanbacks. For the purpose of this section, where

(a) at any particular time an individual makes a gift of property,

(b) if the property is a non-qualifying security of the individual, the gift is an excepted gift, and

(c) within 60 months after the particular time

(i) the donee holds a non-qualifying security of the individual that was acquired by the donee after the time that is 60 months before the particular time, or

(ii) the individual or any person or partnership with which the individual does not deal at arm's length uses property of the donee under an agreement that was made or modified after the time that is 60 months before the particular time, and the property was not used in the carrying on of the donee's charitable activities, the fair market value of the gift is deemed to be that value otherwise determined minus the total of all amounts each of which is the fair market value of the consideration given by the donee to so acquire a non-qualifying security so held or the fair market value of such a property so used, as the case may be.

History: S. 118.1(16)(c)(ii) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 39(2), applicable in respect of gifts made on or after March 19, 2007. S. 118.1(16)(c)(ii) formerly read:

"(ii) where the individual and the donee do not deal at arm's length with each other,

(A) the individual or any person or partnership with which the individual does not deal at arm's length uses property of the donee under an agreement that was made or modified after the time that is 60 months before the particular time, and

(B) the property was not used in the carrying on of the donee's charitable activities,"

S. 118.1(16) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 22(7), applicable where

(a) a non-qualifying security referred to in subparagraph 118.1(16)(c)(i) of the Act is acquired after July 1997; or (b) property referred to in subparagraph 118.1(16)(c)(ii) of the Act has begun to be used after July 1997.

Related Sections: S. 110.1(6) Non-qualifying securities.

► 118.1(17) ◄

(17) Ordering rule. For the purpose of applying subsection (16) to determine the fair market value of a gift made at any time by a taxpayer, the fair market value of consideration given to acquire property described in subparagraph (16)(c)(i) or of property described in subparagraph (16)(c)(ii) is deemed to be that value otherwise determined minus any portion of it that has been applied under that subsection to reduce the fair market value of another gift made before that time by the taxpayer.

History: S. 118.1(17) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 31, s. 136, applicable on Royal Assent, June 17, 1999. S. 118.1(17) formerly read:

"(17) Ordering rule. For the purpose of applying subsection (16) to determine the fair market value of a gift made at any time by a taxpayer, the fair market value of consideration given to acquire property described in subparagraph (16)(b)(i) or of property described in subparagraph (16)(b)(ii) is deemed to be that value otherwise determined minus any portion of it that has been applied under that subsection to reduce the fair market value of another gift made before that time by the taxpayer."

S. 118.1(17) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 22(7), applicable after July 1997.

Related Sections: S. 110.1(6) Non-qualifying securities.

► 118.1(18) ◄

(18) Non-qualifying security defined. For the purposes of this section, "non-qualifying security" of an individual at any time means

(a) an obligation (other than an obligation of a financial institution to repay an amount deposited with the institution or an obligation listed on a designated stock exchange) of the individual or the individual's estate or of any person or partnership with which the individual or the estate does not deal at arm's length immediately after that time;

(b) a share (other than a share listed on a designated stock exchange) of the capital stock of a corporation with which the individual or the estate or, where the individual is a trust, a person affiliated with the trust, does not deal at arm's length immediately after that time;

(b.1) a beneficial interest of the individual or the estate in a trust that

(i) immediately after that time is affiliated with the individual or the estate, or

(ii) holds, immediately after that time, a non-qualifying security of the individual or estate, or held, at or before that time, a share described in paragraph (b) that is, after that time, held by the donee; or

(c) any other security (other than a security listed on a designated stock exchange) issued by the individual or the estate or by any person or partnership with which the individual or the estate does not deal at arm's length (or, in the case where the person is a trust, with which the individual or estate is affiliated) immediately after that time.

History: S. 118.1(18)(a) was amended by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 68(2), by replacing "prescribed stock exchange" with "designated stock exchange", applicable on and after December 14, 2007.

S. 118.1(18)(b) and (c) were replaced, and paragraph (b.1) was added, by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 39(3), applicable in respect of gifts made on or after March 19, 2007, except that in applying subsection 118.1(18), before December 14, 2007, the references to "designated stock exchange" in that subsection shall be read as references to "prescribed stock exchange". S. 118.1(18)(b) and (c) formerly read:

"(b) a share (other than a share listed on a prescribed stock exchange) of the capital stock of a corporation with which the individual or the estate does not deal at arm's length immediately after that time; or

(c) any other security (other than a security listed on a prescribed stock exchange) issued by the individual or the estate or by any person or partnership with which the individual or the estate does not deal at arm's length immediately after that time."

S. 118.1(18) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 22(7), applicable after July 1997.

Related Sections: S. 110.1(6) Non-qualifying securities.

► 118.1(19) ◄

(19) Excepted gift. For the purposes of this section, a gift made by a taxpayer is an excepted gift if

(a) the security is a share;

(b) the donee is not a private foundation;

(c) the taxpayer deals at arm's length with the donee; and

(d) where the donee is a charitable organization or a public foundation, the taxpayer deals at arm's length with each director, trustee, officer and like official of the donee.

History: S. 118.1(19) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 22(7), applicable to gifts made after July 1997.

Related Sections: S. 110.1(6) Non-qualifying securities.

► 118.1(20) ◄

(20) Financial institution defined. For the purpose of subsection (18), "financial institution" means a corporation that is

(a) a member of the Canadian Payments Association; or

(b) a credit union that is a shareholder or member of a body corporate or organization that is a central for the purposes of the Canadian Payments Association Act.

History: S. 118.1(20) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 22(7), applicable after July 1997.

Related Sections: S. 110.1(6) Non-qualifying securities.

Sec. 33, Chap. 22, 1999

For the purposes of the Act, if

(a) a taxpayer made a gift at any particular time before February 1998, and after the end of a taxation year that ended after November 15, 1997 and before 1998, that would be deductible under section 110.1 or 118.1 of the Act in computing the taxpayer's taxable income or tax payable under Part I of the Act for the year if it were made immediately before the end of the year,

(b) the gift was a gift of tangible property (other than real property) or a gift by cash, cheque, credit card or money order,

(c) the gift was not made

(i) through a payroll deduction, or

(ii) where the taxpayer died after 1997, by the taxpayer's will, and

(d) the taxpayer so elects in the taxpayer's return of income under the Act for the year or by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in writing before 1999, the taxpayer is deemed to have made the gift and, in the case of a gift of tangible property, to have disposed of the property immediately before the end of the taxpayer's taxation year that ended before 1998 and not to have done so at the particular time.

SECTION 118.2:

► 118.2(1) ◄

(1) Medical expense credit. For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year, there may be deducted the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times [(B - C) + D]$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the taxation year;

B is the total of the individual's medical expenses in respect of the individual, the individual's spouse, the individual's common-law partner or a child of the individual who has not attained the age of 18 years before the end of the taxation year

(a) that are evidenced by receipts filed with the Minister,

(b) that were not included in determining an amount under this subsection, section 64 or subsection 122.51(2), for a preceding taxation year,

(c) that are not included in determining an amount under this subsection, section 64 or subsection 122.51(2), by any other taxpayer for any taxation year, and

(d) that were paid by the individual or the individual's legal representative within any period of 12 months that ends in the taxation year or, if those expenses were in respect of a person (including the individual) who died in the taxation year, within any period of 24 months that includes the day of the person's death;

C is the lesser of $1,813 and 3% of the individual's income for the taxation year; and

D is the total of all amounts each of which is, in respect of a dependant of the individual (within the meaning assigned by subsection 118(6), other than a child of the individual who has not attained the age of 18 years before the end of the taxation year), the lesser of $10,000 and the amount determined by the formula

E – F

where

E is the total of the individual's medical expenses in respect of the dependant

(a) that are evidenced by receipts filed with the Minister,

(b) that were not included in determining an amount under this subsection, or subsection 122.51(2), in respect of the individual for a preceding taxation year,

(c) that are not included in determining an amount under this subsection, or subsection 122.51(2), by any other taxpayer for any taxation year, and

(d) that were paid by the individual or the individual's legal representative within the period referred to in paragraph (d) of the description of B; and

F is the lesser of $1,813 and 3% of the dependant's income for the taxation year.

CRA Press Release

2.5% Indexation Factor for 2009

See CRA Fact Sheet, dated December 8, 2008, that is reproduced following subsection 117.1(1). This release announces a 2.5% indexation factor applicable for 2009 tax bracket thresholds, personal amounts and other amounts relating to non-refundable credits, as well as the refundable medical expense supplement and Old Age Security repayment threshold. Increases to the Canada Child Tax Benefit (including the National Child Benefit supplement and the Child Disability Benefit) and the Goods and Services Tax Credit will take effect as of July 1, 2009.

History: S. 118.2(1), the portion of the description of D before the formula was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 62(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.2(1), the portion of the description of D before the formula formerly read:

"D is the total of all amounts each of which is, in respect of a dependant of the individual (within the meaning assigned by subsection 118(6), other than a child of the individual who has not attained the age of 18 years before the end of the taxation year), the lesser of $5,000 and the amount determined by the formula"

S. 118.2(1) was replaced by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 24(1), applicable to the 2004 and subsequent taxation years.

For the 2001 to 2003 taxation years, the description of B in subsection 118.2(1) of the Act is to be read as follows:

"B is the total of the individual's medical expenses

(a) that are evidenced by receipts filed with the Minister,

(b) that were not included in determining an amount under this subsection or subsection 122.51(2) for a preceding taxation year, and

(c) that were paid by the individual or the individual's legal representative within any period of 12 months that ends in the taxation year or, if those expenses were in respect of a person (including the individual) who died in the taxation year, within any period of 24 months that includes the day of the person's death;"

S. 118.2(1) formerly read:

"S. 118.2. (1) Medical expense credit For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year, there may be deducted an amount determined by the formula

A(B – C) – D

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year;

B is the total of the individual's medical expenses that are proven by filing receipts therefor with the Minister, that were not included in determining an amount under this subsection or subsection 122.51(2) for a preceding taxation year and that were paid by either the individual or the individual's legal representative,

(a) where the individual died in the year, within any period of 24 months that includes the day of death, and

(b) in any other case, within any period of 12 months ending in the year;

C is the lesser of $1,500 and 3% of the individual's income for the year; and

D is 68% of the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, by which (a) the income for the year of a person (other than the individual and the individual's spouse or common-law partner) in respect of whom an amount is included in computing the individual's deduction under this section for the year

exceeds

(b) the amount used under paragraph (c) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) for the year."

S. 118.2(1), paragraph (b) of the description of D was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 25(1), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to the 1999 taxation year, paragraph (b) of the description of D in subsection 118.2(1) of the Act shall be read as follows:

"(b) $7,044."

S. 118.2(1), paragraph (b) of the description of D formerly read:

"(b) the total of $500 and the amount used under paragraph (c) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) for the year."

S. 118.2(1), paragraph (a) of the description of D, was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.6), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118.2(1), paragraph (a) of the description of D formerly read:

"(a) the income for the year of a person (other than the individual and the individual's spouse) in respect of whom an amount is included in computing the individual's deduction under this section for the year"

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.2(1), paragraph (b) of the description of D was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 34(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.2(1), paragraph (b) of the description of D formerly read:

"(b) the amount used under paragraph (c) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) for the year."

S. 118.2(1), the description of B was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 23(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.2(1), the description of B formerly read:

"B is the total of the individual's medical expenses that are proven by filing receipts therefor with the Minister, that were not included in determining a deduction for medical expenses for a preceding taxation year and that were paid by either the individual or the individual's legal representative,"

S. 118.2(1) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 9(1), applicable with respect to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.2(1) formerly read:

"S. 118.2. Medical expense credit

(1) For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year, there may be deducted an amount determined by the formula

A × (B – C)

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year;

B is the total of the individual's medical expenses that are proven by filing receipts therefor with the Minister, that were not included in determining a deduction for medical expenses for a preceding taxation year and that were paid by either the individual or the individual's legal representative,

(a) where the individual died in the year, within any period of 24 months that includes the day of death, and

(b) in any other case, within any period of 12 months ending in the year; and

C is the lesser of $1,500 and 3% of the individual's income for the year."

Related Sections: S. 117.1(1) Annual adjustment (indexing); s. 118.2(2) Medical expenses; s. 118.2(3) Deemed medical expense; s. 118.3(2) Dependant having impairment; s. 118.4(1) Nature of impairment; s. 118.4(2) Reference to medical practitioners, etc.; s. 248(1), "individual".

Regulations: 5700; 5701.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-519R2 (Consolid.) Medical expense and disability tax credits and attendant care expense deduction. Secondary — IT-171R2 Non-resident individuals — Computation of taxable income earned in Canada and non-refundable tax credits [Archived by the CRA].

Cases: The taxpayer was denied medical expense tax credits for his disabled son in relation to: a trip to certain wheelchair games in which his son participated; the purchase price of a van; and books, compact discs, videos, toys, computer equipment and entertainment. Weeks v. The Queen, 2001 DTC 5035 (F.C.A.), affirming 99 DTC 397 (T.C.C.).

The cost of special fixtures placed in a bathroom in order to accommodate a wheelchair was deductible as a medical expense. Rankin v. M.N.R., 81 DTC 306 (T.R.B.).

► 118.2(2) ◄

(2) Medical expenses. For the purposes of subsection (1), a medical expense of an individual is an amount paid

(a) to a medical practitioner, dentist or nurse or a public or licensed private hospital in respect of medical or dental services provided to a person (in this subsection referred to as the "patient") who is the individual, the individual's spouse or common-law partner or a dependant of the individual (within the meaning assigned by subsection 118(6)) in the taxation year in which the expense was incurred;

(b) as remuneration for one full-time attendant (other than a person who, at the time the remuneration is paid, is the individual's spouse or common-law partner or is under 18 years of age) on, or for the full-time care in a nursing home of, the patient in respect of whom an amount would, but for paragraph 118.3(1)(c), be deductible under section 118.3 in computing a taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for the taxation year in which the expense was incurred;

(b.1) as remuneration for attendant care provided in Canada to the patient if

(i) the patient is a person in respect of whom an amount may be deducted under section 118.3 in computing a taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for the taxation year in which the expense was incurred,

(ii) no part of the remuneration is included in computing a deduction claimed in respect of the patient under section 63 or 64 or paragraph (b), (b.2), (c), (d) or (e) for any taxation year,

(iii) at the time the remuneration is paid, the attendant is neither the individual's spouse or common-law partner nor under 18 years of age, and to the extent that the total of amounts so paid does not exceed $10,000 (or $20,000 if the individual dies in the year);

(iv) each receipt filed with the Minister to prove payment of the remuneration was issued by the payee and contains, where the payee is an individual, that individual's Social Insurance Number,

(b.2) as remuneration for the patient's care or supervision provided in a group home in Canada maintained and operated exclusively for the benefit of individuals who have a severe and prolonged impairment, if

(i) because of the patient's impairment, the patient is a person in respect of whom an amount may be deducted under section 118.3 in computing a taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for the taxation year in which the expense is incurred,

(ii) no part of the remuneration is included in computing a deduction claimed in respect of the patient under section 63 or 64 or paragraph (b), (b.1), (c), (d) or (e) for any taxation year, and

(iii) each receipt filed with the Minister to prove payment of the remuneration was issued by the payee and contains, where the payee is an individual, that individual's Social Insurance Number;

(c) as remuneration for one full-time attendant on the patient in a self-contained domestic establishment in which the patient lives, if

(i) the patient is, and has been certified by a medical practitioner to be, a person who, by reason of mental or physical infirmity, is and is likely to be for a long-continued period of indefinite duration dependent on others for the patient's personal needs and care and who, as a result thereof, requires a full-time attendant,

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subparagraph 118.2(2)(c)(i) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(i) the patient is, and has been certified in writing by a medical practitioner to be, a person who, by reason of mental or physical infirmity, is and is likely to be for a long-continued period of indefinite duration dependent on others for the patient's personal needs and care and who, as a result, requires a full-time attendant,

Applicable: To certifications made after December 20, 2002.

Explanatory Note: The eligibility of certain expenses to the medical expense tax credit is conditional on a medical practitioner's certification. Paragraphs 118.2(2)(c), (d), (e), (g), and (h) are amended to clarify that such a certification has to be in writing. These amendments apply after December 20, 2002.

(ii) at the time the remuneration is paid, the attendant is neither the individual's spouse or common-law partner nor under 18 years of age, and

(iii) each receipt filed with the Minister to prove payment of the remuneration was issued by the payee and contains, where the payee is an individual, that individual's Social Insurance Number;

(d) for the full-time care in a nursing home of the patient, who has been certified by a medical practitioner to be a person who, by reason of lack of normal mental capacity, is and in the foreseeable future will continue to be dependent on others for the patient's personal needs and care;

(e) for the care, or the care and training, at a school, institution or other place of the patient, who has been certified by an appropriately qualified person to be a person who, by reason of a physical or mental handicap, requires the equipment, facilities or personnel specially provided by that school, institution or other place for the care, or the care and training, of individuals suffering from the handicap suffered by the patient;

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Paragraphs 118.2(2)(d) and (e) of the Act are replaced by the following:

(d) for the full-time care in a nursing home of the patient, who has been certified in writing by a medical practitioner to be a person who, by reason of lack of normal mental capacity, is and in the foreseeable future will continue to be dependent on others for the patient's personal needs and care;

(e) for the care, or the care and training, at a school, an institution or another place of the patient, who has been certified in writing by an appropriately qualified person to be a person who, by reason of a physical or mental handicap, requires the equipment, facilities or personnel specially provided by that school, institution or other place for the care, or the care and training, of individuals suffering from the handicap suffered by the patient;

Applicable: To certifications made after December 20, 2002.

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the amendment to subparagraph 118.2(2)(c)(i).

(f) for transportation by ambulance to or from a public or licensed private hospital for the patient;

(g) to a person engaged in the business of providing transportation services, to the extent that the payment is made for the transportation of

(i) the patient, and

(ii) one individual who accompanied the patient, where the patient was, and has been certified by a medical practitioner to be, incapable of travelling without the assistance of an attendant

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subparagraph 118.2(2)(g)(ii) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(ii) one individual who accompanied the patient, where the patient was, and has been certified in writing by a medical practitioner to be, incapable of travelling without the assistance of an attendant

Applicable: To certifications made after December 20, 2002.

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the amendment to subparagraph 118.2(2)(c)(i).

from the locality where the patient dwells to a place, not less than 40 kilometres from that locality, where medical services are normally provided, or from that place to that locality, if

(iii) substantially equivalent medical services are not available in that locality,

(iv) the route travelled by the patient is, having regard to the circumstances, a reasonably direct route, and

(v) the patient travels to that place to obtain medical services for himself or herself and it is reasonable, having regard to the circumstances, for the patient to travel to that place to obtain those services;

(h) for reasonable travel expenses (other than expenses described in paragraph (g)) incurred in respect of the patient and, where the patient was, and has been certified by a medical practitioner to be, incapable of travelling without the assistance of an attendant, in respect of one individual who accompanied the patient, to obtain medical services in a place that is not less than 80 kilometres from the locality where the patient dwells if the circumstances described in subparagraphs (g)(iii), (iv) and (v) apply;

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Paragraph 118.2(2)(h) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(h) for reasonable travel expenses (other than expenses described in paragraph (g)) incurred in respect of the patient and, where the patient was, and has been certified in writing by a medical practitioner to be, incapable of travelling without the assistance of an attendant, in respect of one individual who accompanied the patient, to obtain medical services in a place that is not less than 80 km from the locality where the patient dwells if the circumstances described in subparagraphs (g)(iii) to (v) apply;

Applicable: To certifications made after December 20, 2002.

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the amendment to subparagraph 118.2(2)(c)(i).

(i) for, or in respect of, an artificial limb, an iron lung, a rocking bed for poliomyelitis victims, a wheel chair, crutches, a spinal brace, a brace for a limb, an iliostomy or colostomy pad, a truss for hernia, an artificial eye, a laryngeal speaking aid, an aid to hearing, an artificial kidney machine, phototherapy equipment for the treatment of psoriasis or other skin disorders, or an oxygen concentrator, for the patient;

(l.1) for or in respect of diapers, disposable briefs, catheters, catheter trays, tubing or other products required by the patient by reason of incontinence caused by illness, injury or affliction;

(j) for eye glasses or other devices for the treatment or correction of a defect of vision of the patient as prescribed by a medical practitioner or optometrist;

(k) for an oxygen tent or other equipment necessary to administer oxygen or for insulin, oxygen, liver extract injectible for pernicious anaemia or vitamin B12 for pernicious anaemia, for use by the patient as prescribed by a medical practitioner;

(l) on behalf of the patient who is blind or profoundly deaf or has severe autism, severe epilepsy or a severe and prolonged impairment that markedly restricts the use of the patient's arms or legs,

(i) for an animal specially trained to assist the patient in coping with the impairment and provided by a person or organization one of whose main purposes is such training of animals,

(ii) for the care and maintenance of such an animal, including food and veterinary care,

(iii) for reasonable travel expenses of the patient incurred for the purpose of attending a school, institution or other facility that trains, in the handling of such animals, individuals who are so impaired, and

(iv) for reasonable board and lodging expenses of the patient incurred for the purpose of the patient's full-time attendance at a school, institution or other facility referred to in subparagraph (iii);

(l.1) on behalf of the patient who requires a bone marrow or organ transplant,

(i) for reasonable expenses (other than expenses described in subparagraph (ii)), including legal fees and insurance premiums, to locate a compatible donor and to arrange for the transplant, and

(ii) for reasonable travel, board and lodging expenses (other than expenses described in paragraphs (g) and (h)) of the donor (and one other person who accompanies the donor) and the patient (and one other person who accompanies the patient) incurred in respect of the transplant;

(l.2) for reasonable expenses relating to renovations or alterations to a dwelling of the patient who lacks normal physical development or has a severe and prolonged mobility impairment, to enable the patient to gain access to, or to be mobile or functional within, the dwelling, provided that such expenses

(i) are not of a type that would typically be expected to increase the value of the dwelling, and

(ii) are of a type that would not normally be incurred by persons who have normal physical development or who do not have a severe and prolonged mobility impairment;

(l.21) for reasonable expenses relating to the construction of the principal place of residence of the patient who lacks normal physical development or has a severe and prolonged mobility impairment, that can reasonably be considered to be incremental costs incurred to enable the patient to gain access to, or to be mobile or functional within, the patient's principal place of residence, provided that such expenses

(i) are not of a type that would typically be expected to increase the value of the dwelling, and

(ii) are of a type that would not normally be incurred by persons who have normal physical development or who do not have a severe and prolonged mobility impairment;

(l.3) for reasonable expenses relating to rehabilitative therapy, including training in lip reading and sign language, incurred to adjust for the patient's hearing or speech loss;

(l.4) on behalf of the patient who has a speech or hearing impairment, for sign language interpretation services or real-time captioning services, to the extent that the payment is made to a person in the business of providing such services;

(l.41) on behalf of the patient who has a mental or physical impairment, for note-taking services, if

(i) the patient has been certified in writing by a medical practitioner to be a person who, because of that impairment, requires such services, and

(ii) the payment is made to a person in the business of providing such services;

(l.42) on behalf of the patient who has a physical impairment, for the cost of voice recognition software, if the patient has been certified in writing by a medical practitioner to be a person who, because of that impairment, requires that software;

(l.43) on behalf of the patient who is blind or has a severe learning disability, for reading services, if

(i) the patient has been certified in writing by a medical practitioner to be a person who, because of that impairment, requires such services, and

(ii) the payment is made to a person in the business of providing such services;

(l.44) on behalf of the patient who is blind and profoundly deaf, for deaf-blind intervening services, if the payment is made to a person in the business of providing those services;

(l.5) for reasonable moving expenses (within the meaning of subsection 62(3), but not including any expense deducted under section 62 for any taxation year) of the patient, who lacks normal physical development or has a severe and prolonged mobility impairment, incurred for the purpose of the patient's move to a dwelling that is more accessible by the patient or in which the patient is more mobile or functional, if the total of the expenses claimed under this paragraph by all persons in respect of the move does not exceed $2,000;

(l.6) for reasonable expenses relating to alterations to the driveway of the principal place of residence of the patient who has a severe and prolonged mobility impairment, to facilitate the patient's access to a bus;

(l.7) for a van that, at the time of its acquisition or within 6 months after that time, has been adapted for the transportation of the patient who requires the use of a wheelchair, to the extent of the lesser of $5,000 and 20% of the amount by which

(i) the amount paid for the acquisition of the van exceeds

(ii) the portion, if any, of the amount referred to in subparagraph (i) that is included because of paragraph (m) in computing the individ ual's deduction under this section for any taxation year;

(l.8) for reasonable expenses (other than amounts paid to a person who was at the time of the payment the individual's spouse or common-law partner or a person under 18 years of age) to train the individual, or a person related to the individual, if the training relates to the mental or physical infirmity of a person who

(i) is related to the individual, and

(ii) is a member of the individual's household or is dependent on the individual for support;

(l.9) as remuneration for therapy provided to the patient because of the patient's severe and prolonged impairment, if

(i) because of the patient's impairment, an amount may be deducted under section 118.3 in computing a taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for the taxation year in which the remuneration is paid,

(ii) the therapy is prescribed by, and administered under the general supervision of,

(A) a medical doctor or a psychologist, in the case of mental impairment, and

(B) a medical doctor or an occupational therapist, in the case of a physical impairment,

(iii) at the time the remuneration is paid, the payee is neither the individual's spouse nor an individual who is under 18 years of age, and

(iv) each receipt filed with the Minister to prove payment of the remuneration was issued by the payee and contains, where the payee is an individual, that individual's Social Insurance Number;

(l.91) as remuneration for tutoring services that are rendered to, and are supplementary to the primary education of, the patient who

(i) has a learning disability or a mental impairment, and

(ii) has been certified in writing by a medical practitioner to be a person who, because of that disability or impairment, requires those services, if the payment is made to a person ordinarily engaged in the business of providing such services to individuals who are not related to the payee;

(m) for any device or equipment for use by the patient that

(i) is of a prescribed kind,

(ii) is prescribed by a medical practitioner,

(iii) is not described in any other paragraph of this subsection, and

(iv) meets such conditions as are prescribed as to its use or the reason for its acquisition; to the extent that the amount so paid does not exceed the amount, if any, prescribed in respect of the device or equipment;

(n) for

(i) drugs, medicaments or other preparations or substances (other than those described in paragraph (k))

(A) that are manufactured, sold or represented for use in the diagnosis, treatment or prevention of a disease, disorder or abnormal physical state, or its symptoms, or in restoring, correcting or modifying an organic function,

(B) that can lawfully be acquired for use by the patient only if prescribed by a medical practitioner or dentist, and

(C) the purchase of which is recorded by a pharmacist, or

(ii) drugs, medicaments or other preparations or substances that are prescribed by regulation;

(o) for laboratory, radiological or other diagnostic procedures or services together with necessary interpretations, for maintaining health, preventing disease or assisting in the diagnosis or treatment of any injury, illness or disability, for the patient as prescribed by a medical practitioner or dentist;

(p) to a person authorized under the laws of a province to carry on the business of a dental mechanic, for the making or repairing of an upper or lower denture, or for the taking of impressions, bite registrations and insertions in respect of the making, producing, constructing and furnishing of an upper or lower denture, for the patient;

(q) as a premium, contribution or other consideration under a private health services plan in respect of one or more of the individual, the individual's spouse or common-law partner and any member of the individual's household with whom the individual is connected by blood relationship, marriage, common-law partnership or adoption, except to the extent that the premium, contribution or consideration is deducted under subsection 20.01(1) in computing an individual's income from a business for any taxation year;

(r) on behalf of the patient who has celiac disease, the incremental cost of acquiring gluten-free food products as compared to the cost of comparable non-gluten-free food products, if the patient has been certified in writing by a medical practitioner to be a person who, because of that disease, requires a gluten-free diet;

(s) for drugs obtained under Health Canada's Special Access Programme in accordance with sections C.08.010 and C.08.011 of the Food and Drug Regulations and purchased for use by the patient;

(t) for medical devices obtained under Health Canada's Special Access Programme in accordance with Part 2 of the Medical Devices Regulations and purchased for use by the patient; or

(u) on behalf of the patient who is authorized to possess marihuana for medical purposes under the Marihuana Medical Access Regulations or section 56 of the Controlled Drugs and Substances Act, for

(i) the cost of medical marihuana or marihuana seeds purchased from Health Canada, or

(ii) the cost of marihuana purchased from an individual who possesses, on behalf of that patient, a designated-person production license to produce marihuana under the Marihuana Medical Access Regulations or an exemption for cultivation or production under section 56 of the Controlled Drugs and Substances Act.

History: S. 118.2(2)(l), the portion before subparagraph (i) was replaced by S.C. 2008, c. 28, s. 16(1), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.2(2)(l), the portion before subparagraph (i) formerly read:

"(l) on behalf of the patient who is blind or profoundly deaf or has a severe and prolonged impairment that markedly restricts the use of the patient's arms or legs,"

S. 118.2(2)(n) was replaced by S.C. 2008, c. 28, s. 16(2), applicable to expenses incurred after February 26, 2008. S. 118.2(2)(n) formerly read:

"(n) for drugs, medicaments or other preparations or substances (other than those described in paragraph (k)) manufactured, sold or represented for use in the diagnosis, treatment or prevention of a disease, disorder, abnormal physical state, or the symptoms thereof or in restoring, correcting or modifying an organic function, purchased for use by the patient as prescribed by a medical practitioner or dentist and as recorded by a pharmacist;"

S. 118.2(2)(i) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 62(2), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.2(2)(i) formerly read:

"(i) for or in respect of an artificial limb, iron lung, rocking bed for poliomyelitis victims, wheel chair, crutches, spinal brace, brace for a limb, ileostomy or colostomy pad, truss for hernia, artificial eye, laryngeal speaking aid, aid to hearing or artificial kidney machine, for the patient;"

S. 118.2(2)(l.2) and (l.21) were replaced by S.C. 2006, s. 4, s. 62(3), applicable to expenses incurred after February 22, 2005.

S. 118.2(2)(l.2) and (l.21) formerly read:

"(l.2) for reasonable expenses relating to renovations or alterations to a dwelling of the patient who lacks normal physical development or has a severe and prolonged mobility impairment, to enable the patient to gain access to, or to be mobile or functional within, the dwelling;

(l.21) for reasonable expenses, relating to the construction of the principal place of residence of the patient who lacks normal physical development or has a severe and prolonged mobility impairment, that can reasonably be considered to be incremental costs incurred to enable the patient to gain access to, or to be mobile or functional within, the patient's principal place of residence;"

S. 118.2(2)(l.43) and (l.44) were added by S.C. 2006, s. 4, s. 62(4), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.2(2)(s), (t) and (u) were added by S.C. 2006, s. 4, s. 62(5), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.2(2)(l.4) was replaced, and paragraphs (l.41) and (l.42) were added, by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 73(1), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.1(2)(l.4) formerly read:

"(l.4) on behalf of the patient who has a speech or hearing impairment, for sign language interpretation services, to the extent that the payment is made to a person engaged in the business of providing such services;"

S. 118.2(2)(r) was added by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 73(2), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.2(2)(l.21) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 95(1), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.2(2)(q) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 244, applicable to the 2001 and following taxation years. If a taxpayer and a person have jointly elected pursuant to section 144 of the Modernization of Benefits and Obligations Act [See Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000, reproduced below.], in respect of the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation years, s. 118.2(2)(q) applies to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.2(2)(q) formerly read:

"(q) as a premium, contribution or other consideration under a private health services plan in respect of one or more of the individual, the individual's spouse or common-law partner and any member of the individual's household with whom the individual is connected by blood relationship, marriage or adoption, except to the extent that the premium, contribution or consideration is deducted under subsection 20.01(1) in computing an individual's income from a business for any taxation year."

S. 118.2(2)(a) and (b) were amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.6), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118.2(2)(a) and (b) formerly read:

"(a) to a medical practitioner, dentist or nurse or a public or licensed private hospital in respect of medical or dental services provided to a person (in this subsection referred to as the 'patient') who is the individual, the individual's spouse or a dependant of the individual (within the meaning assigned by subsection 118(6)) in the taxation year in which the expense was incurred;

(b) as remuneration for one full-time attendant (other than a person who, at the time the remuneration is paid, is the individual's spouse or is under 18 years of age) on, or for the full-time care in a nursing home of, the patient in respect of whom an amount would, but for paragraph 118.3(1)(c), be deductible under section 118.3 in computing a taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for the taxation year in which the expense was incurred;"

S. 118.2(2)(b.1)(iii) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.6), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118.2(2)(b.1)(iii) formerly read:

"(iii) at the time the remuneration is paid, the attendant is neither the individual's spouse nor under 18 years of age, and"

S. 118.2(2)(c)(ii) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.6), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118.2(2)(c)(ii) formerly read:

"(ii) at the time the remuneration is paid, the attendant is neither the individual's spouse nor under 18 years of age, and"

S. 118.2(2)(l.8) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. , applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118.2(2)(l.8) formerly read:

"(l.8) for reasonable expenses (other than amounts paid to a person who was at the time of the payment the individual's spouse or a person under 18 years of age) to train the individual, or a person related to the individual, if the training relates to the mental or physical infirmity of a person who

(i) is related to the individual, and

(ii) is a member of the individual's household or is dependent on the individual for support;"

S. 118.2(2)(q) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.6), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118.2(2)(q) formerly read:

"(q) as a premium, contribution or other consideration under a private health services plan in respect of one or more of the individual, the individual's spouse and any member of the individual's household with whom the individual is connected by blood relationship, marriage or adoption, except to the extent that the premium, contribution or consideration is deducted under subsection 20.01(1) in computing an individual's income from a business for any taxation year."

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.2(2)(b.2) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 25(3), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.2(2)(b.1)(ii) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 25(2), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.2(2)(b.1)(ii) formerly read:

"(ii) no amount is included under section 63 or 64 or paragraph (b), (c), (d) or (e) in computing a deduction claimed in respect of the patient for the taxation year in which the remuneration was paid,"

S. 118.2(2)(l.9) and (l.91) were added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 25(4), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.2(2)(q) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 34(3), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.2(2)(q) formerly read:

"(q) as a premium, contribution or other consideration to a private health services plan in respect of one or more of the individual, the individual's spouse and any member of the individual's household with whom the individual is connected by blood relationship, marriage or adoption."

S. 118.2(2)(l.8) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 34(2), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.2(2), the portion after subparagraph (b.1)(iv), was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 23(1.1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.2(2), the portion after subparagraph (b.1)(iv) formerly read:

"to the extent that the total of amounts so paid does not exceed $5,000 (or $10,000 where the individual died in the year);"

S. 118.2(2)(l.4) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 23(2), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.2(2)(l.5) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 23(2), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.2(2)(l.6) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 23(2), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.2(2)(l.7) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 23(2), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.2(2)(m), the portion after subparagraph (iv), was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 23(3), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.2(2)(l.3) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 54(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.2(2)(a) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 9(2), applicable with respect to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.2(2)(a) formerly read:

"(a) to a medical practitioner, dentist or nurse or a public or licensed private hospital in respect of medical or dental services provided to a person (in this subsection referred to as the 'patient') who is the individual, the individual's spouse or any dependant in respect of whom the individual may deduct an amount under section 118 from tax payable under this Part by the individual for the taxation year in which the expense was incurred;"

S. 118.2(2)(b) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 89(1), applicable with respect to expenses incurred after 1990. S. 118.2(2)(b) formerly read:

"(b) as remuneration for one full-time attendant on, or for the full-time care in a nursing home of, the patient who has a severe and prolonged mental or physical impairment that has been certified as such in prescribed form by a medical practitioner or, where the impairment is an impairment of sight, by a medical practitioner or an optometrist;"

S. 118.2(2)(b.1) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 89(1), applicable with respect to expenses incurred after 1990.

S. 118.2(2)(c)(ii) and (iii) were amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 89(2), applicable with respect to expenses incurred after 1990. S. 118(2)(c)(ii) and (iii) formerly read:

"(ii) the attendant is not

(A) a person in respect of whom the individual or the individual's spouse deducts an amount under section 118 from tax payable under this Part by the individual for the taxation year in which the remuneration is paid, or

(B) at the time the remuneration is paid, under 18 years of age and connected with the individual or the individual's spouse by blood relationship, marriage or adoption, and

(iii) each receipt filed with the Minister to prove payment of the remuneration contains the Social Insurance Number of the person who issued the receipt;"

S. 118.2(2)(h) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 89(3), applicable to the 1988 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.2(2)(h) formerly read:

"(h) for reasonable travel expenses (other than expenses described in paragraph (g)) incurred in respect of the patient (who was, and has been certified by a medical practitioner to be, incapable of travelling without the assistance of an attendant) and one individual who accompanied the patient to obtain medical services in a place that is not less than 80 kilometres from the locality where the patient dwells if the circumstances described in subparagraphs (g)(iii) to (v) apply;"

S. 118.2(2)(i) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 89(4), applicable with respect to expenses incurred after 1990. S. 118.2(2)(i) formerly read:

"(i) for or in respect of an artificial limb, iron lung, rocking bed for poliomyelitis victims, wheel chair, crutches, spinal brace, brace for a limb, iliostomy or colostomy pad, cloth diapers or disposable briefs for use by persons who are incontinent by reason of illness, injury or affliction, truss for hernia, artificial eye, laryngeal speaking aid, aid to hearing or artificial kidney machine for the patient;"

S. 118.2(2)(i.1) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 89(4), applicable to with respect to expenses incurred after 1990.

S. 118.2(2)(l) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 89(5), applicable with respect to expenses incurred after 1990. S. 118.2(2)(l) formerly read:

"(l) on behalf of the patient who is totally blind or profoundly deaf,

(i) for a dog trained to guide or assist a blind or deaf person and provided by a person or organization one of whose main purposes is the training of such dogs,

(ii) for the care and maintenance of such a dog, including food and veterinarian care,

(iii) for reasonable travel expenses of the patient incurred in travelling to and from a school, institution or other place that trains blind or deaf persons in the handling of such dogs, and

(iv) for reasonable board and lodging expenses of the patient incurred while the patient is required to live away from the patient's ordinary place of residence because the patient is in full-time attendance at a school, institution or other place that trains blind or deaf persons in the handling of such dogs;"

S. 118.2(2)(l.2) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 89(7), applicable with respect to expenses incurred after 1990. S. 118.2(2)(l.2) formerly read:

"(l.2) for reasonable expenses relating to modifications to a dwelling of the patient, who lacks normal physical development or is necessarily confined to a wheelchair for a long-continued period of indefinite duration, to enable the patient to be mobile and functional within the dwelling;"

S. 118.2(2)(m) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 89(8), applicable on Royal Assent, December 17, 1991. S. 118.2(2)(m) formerly read:

"(m) for any device or equipment, not described in any other paragraph of this subsection, of a prescribed kind, for use by the patient as prescribed by a medical practitioner;"

Related Sections: S. 6(1)(a) Value of benefits; s. 18(1)(a) General limitation; s. 20(1)(qq) Disability-related modifications to buildings; s. 20(1)(rr) Disability-related equipment; s. 20.01(1) PHSP premiums; s. 63(3), "child care expense"; s. 64 Disability supports deduction; s. 110.7(3) Restriction; s. 118.2(4) Deemed payment of medical expenses; s. 248(1), "private health services plan"; s. 251(6) Blood relationship, etc.

Regulations: 5700; 5701.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-519R2 (Consolid.) Medical expense and disability tax credits and attendant care expense deduction; Secondary — IT-339R2 Meaning of "private health services plan"; IT-495R3 Child care expenses.

Information Circulars: IC 82-2R2 Social insurance number legislation that relates to the preparation of information slips.

Forms: T929.

Tax Topics: No. 1714, Committee Report Concerning Tax Credits for Disabled Individuals; No. 1624, Attendant Care in a Retirement Home.

Canadian Tax Foundation: Katz, "Tax Assistance for the Disabled", 1999 Canadian Tax Journal, No. 3, 663.

Tax Window Files: Attendant Care, September 25, 2003, CRA Document No. 2003-0030965 [A resident of a retirement home may be able to claim a portion of the amount paid to the retirement home as attendant care under paragraph 118.2(2)(b.1)].

Cases: The taxpayer wasn't entitled to a medical expense credit for the cost of natural dietary supplements and vitamins that had been prescribed by a physician, but not "recorded by a pharmacist". Wilson v. The Queen, 2006 DTC 2157 (T.C.C.).

A credit for nursing home costs was denied because the certificates that were issued were too vague. They did not specify: that the patient lacked normal mental capacity; the mental or physical handicap from which the patient was suffering; or the equipment, facilities or personnel that the patient required. The Queen v. The Estate of Harry Title, 2001 DTC 5236 (F.C.A.), reversing 2000 DTC 1991 (T.C.C.).

An air conditioner had been "designed to assist a crippled individual in walking" within the meaning of regulation 5700(i), and its cost was therefore deductible as a medical expense when it had been developed in a medical context in order to lower body temperature and thereby assist in the restoration of mobility. Brown v. The Queen, 95 DTC 5126 (F.C.T.D.), reversing 89 DTC 1 (T.C.C.).

► 118.2(3) ◄

(3) Deemed medical expense. For the purposes of subsection (1),

(a) any amount included in computing an individual's income for a taxation year from an office or employment in respect of a medical expense described in subsection (2) paid or provided by an employer at a particular time shall be deemed to be a medical expense paid by the individual at that time; and

(b) there shall not be included as a medical expense of an individual any expense to the extent that

(i) the individual,

(ii) the person referred to in subsection (2) as the patient,

(iii) any person related to a person referred to in subparagraph (i) or (ii), or

(iv) the legal representative of any person referred to in any of subparagraphs (i) to (iii) is entitled to be reimbursed for the expense, except to the extent that the amount of the reimbursement is required to be included in computing income and is not deductible in computing taxable income.

History: S. 118.2(3)(b) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 23(4), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.2(3)(b) formerly read:

"(b) there shall not be included as a medical expense of an individual any expense for which the individual, the person referred to in subsection (2) as the patient or the legal representative of either of them has been or is entitled to be reimbursed, except to the extent that the amount thereof is required to be included in computing income under this Part and cannot be deducted in computing taxable income."

S. 118.2(3)(b) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 54(2), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.2(3)(b) formerly read:

"(b) there shall not be included as a medical expense of an individual any expense for which the individual or the individual's legal representative has been or is entitled to be reimbursed, except to the extent that its amount is required to be included in computing the individual's income under this Part."

Related Sections: S. 248(1), "amount", "individual".
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary—IT-339R2 Meaning of "private health service plan".

► 118.2(4) ◄

(4) Deemed payment of medical expenses. Where, in circumstances in which a person engaged in the business of providing transportation services is not readily available, an individual makes use of a vehicle for a purpose described in paragraph (2)(g), the individual or the individual's legal representative shall be deemed to have paid to a person engaged in the business of providing transportation services, in respect of the operation of the vehicle, such amount as is reasonable in the circumstances.

SECTION 118.3:

► 118.3(1) ◄

(1) Credit for mental or physical impairment. Where

(a) an individual has one or more severe and prolonged impairments in physical or mental functions,

(a.1) the effects of the impairment or impairments are such that the individual's ability to perform more than one basic activity of daily living is significantly restricted where the cumulative effect of those restrictions is equivalent to having a marked restriction in the ability to perform a basic activity of daily living or are such that the individual's ability to perform a basic activity of daily living is markedly restricted or would be markedly restricted but for therapy that

(i) is essential to sustain a vital function of the individual,

(ii) is required to be administered at least three times each week for a total duration averaging not less than 14 hours a week, and

(iii) cannot reasonably be expected to be of significant benefit to persons who are not so impaired,

(a.2) in the case of an impairment in physical or mental functions the effects of which are such that the individual's ability to perform a single basic activity of daily living is markedly restricted or would be so restricted but for therapy referred to in paragraph (a.1), a medical practitioner has certified in prescribed form that the impairment is a severe and prolonged impairment in physical or mental functions the effects of which are such that the individual's ability to perform a basic activity of daily living is markedly restricted or would be markedly restricted, but for therapy referred to in paragraph (a.1), where the medical practitioner is a medical doctor or, in the case of

(i) a sight impairment, an optometrist,

(ii) a speech impairment, a speech-language pathologist,

(iii) a hearing impairment, an audiologist,

(iv) an impairment with respect to an individual's ability in feeding or dressing themself, an occupational therapist,

(v) an impairment with respect to an individual's ability in walking, an occupational therapist, or after February 22, 2005, a physiotherapist, and

(vi) an impairment with respect to an individual's ability in mental functions necessary for everyday life, a psychologist,

(a.3) in the case of one or more impairments in physical or mental functions the effects of which are such that the individual's ability to perform more than one basic activity of daily living is significantly restricted, a medical practitioner has certified in prescribed form that the impairment or impairments are severe and prolonged impairments in physical or mental functions the effects of which are such that the individual's ability to perform more than one basic activity of daily living is significantly restricted and that the cumulative effect of those restrictions is equivalent to having a marked restriction in the ability to perform a single basic activity of daily living, where the medical practitioner is, in the case of

(i) an impairment with respect to the individual's ability in feeding or dressing themself, or in walking, a medical doctor or an occupational therapist, and

(ii) in the case of any other impairment, a medical doctor,

(b) the individual has filed for a taxation year with the Minister the certificate described in paragraph (a.2) or (a.3), and

(c) no amount in respect of remuneration for an attendant or care in a nursing home, in respect of the individual, is included in calculating a deduction under section 118.2 (otherwise than because of paragraph 118.2(2)(b.1)) for the year by the individual or by any other person, there may be deducted in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times (B + C)$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year,

B is $6,000, and

C is

(a) where the individual has not attained the age of 18 years before the end of the year, the amount, if any, by which

(i) $3,500

exceeds

(ii) the amount, if any, by which

(A) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount paid in the year for the care or supervision of the individual and included in computing a deduction under section 63, 64 or 118.2 for a taxation year

exceeds

(B) $2,050, and

(b) in any other case, zero.

CRA Press Release

2.5% Indexation Factor for 2009

See CRA Fact Sheet, dated December 8, 2008, that is reproduced following subsection 117.1(1). This release announces a 2.5% indexation factor applicable for 2009 tax bracket thresholds, personal amounts and other amounts relating to non-refundable credits, as well as the refundable medical expense supplement and Old Age Security repayment threshold. Increases to the Canada Child Tax Benefit (including the National Child Benefit supplement and the Child Disability Benefit) and the Goods and Services Tax Credit will take effect as of July 1, 2009.

History: S. 118.3(1)(b) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 22(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.3(1)(b) formerly read:

"(b) the individual has filed for a taxation year with the Minister the certificate described in paragraph (a.2), and"

S. 118.3(1)(a) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 63(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.3(1)(a) formerly read:

"(a) an individual has a severe and prolonged mental or physical impairment,"

S. 118.3(1), the portion of paragraph (a.1) before subparagraph (i), was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 63(2), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.3(1), the portion of paragraph (a.1) before subparagraph (i), formerly read:

"(a.1) the effects of the impairment are such that the individual's ability to perform a basic activity of daily living is markedly restricted or would be markedly restricted but for therapy that"

S. 118.3(1)(a.2) was replaced and paragraph (a.3) was added by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 63(3), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.3(1)(a.2) formerly read:

"(a.2) in the case of

(i) a sight impairment, a medical doctor or an optometrist,

(i.1) a speech impairment, a medical doctor or a speech-language pathologist,

(ii) a hearing impairment, a medical doctor or an audiologist,

(iii) an impairment with respect to an individual's ability in feeding or dressing themself, or in walking, a medical doctor or an occupational therapist,

(iv) an impairment with respect to an individual's ability in perceiving, thinking and remembering, a medical doctor or a psychologist, and

(v) an impairment not referred to in any of subparagraphs (i) to (iv), a medical doctor has certified in prescribed form that the impairment is a severe and prolonged mental or physical impairment the effects of which are such that the individual's ability to perform a basic activity of daily living is markedly restricted or would be markedly restricted but for therapy referred to in paragraph (a.1),"

S. 118.3(1)(a.2)(iii) was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 74(1), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.3(1)(a.2)(iii) formerly read:

"(iii) an impairment with respect to an individual's ability in feeding and dressing themself, or in walking, a medical doctor or an occupational therapist,"

S. 118.3(1)(a.1) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 96(2), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.3(1)(a.1) formerly read:

"(a.1) the effects of the impairment are such that the individual's ability to perform a basic activity of daily living is markedly restricted,"

S. 118.3(1)(a.2)(i.1) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 96(4), applicable to certifications made after October 17, 2000.

S. 118.3(1)(a.2), the portion after subparagraph (v) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 96(5), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.3(1)(a.2), the portion after subparagraph (v) formerly read:

"has certified in prescribed form that the impairment is a severe and prolonged mental or physical impairment the effects of which are such that the individual's ability to perform a basic activity of daily living is markedly restricted,"

S. 118.3(1), the portion after paragraph (c) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 96(6), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years except that, in applying [the portion of subsection 118.3(1) after paragraph (c)] to the 2000 taxation year, the references to "$6,000", "$3,500" and "$2,050" in the descriptions of B and C in the formula in subsection 118.3(1) of the Act shall be read as references to "$4,293", "$2,941" and "$2,000", respectively. S. 118.3(1), the portion after paragraph (c) formerly read:

"for the purposes of computing the tax payable under this Part by the individual for the year, there may be deducted an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times $4,118$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year."

S. 118.3(1)(a.2)(iii) was amended, and subparagraphs (iv) and (v) were added, by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 35(1), applicable to certifications made after February 24, 1998. S. 118.3(1)(a.2)(iii) formerly read:

"(iii) an impairment not referred to in subparagraph (i) or (ii), a medical doctor"

S. 118.3(1)(a.2) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 24(1), applicable to certifications made after February 18, 1997. S. 118.3(1)(a.2) formerly read:

"(a.2) a medical doctor, or where the impairment is an impairment of sight, a medical doctor or an optometrist, has certified in prescribed form that the individual has a severe and prolonged mental or physical impairment the effects of which are such that the individual's ability to perform a basic activity of daily living is markedly restricted,"

S. 118.3(1) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 90(1), applicable to the 1991 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.3(1) formerly read:

"(1) Where

(a) an individual has a severe and prolonged mental or physical impairment that has been certified as such in prescribed form by a medical practitioner or, where the impairment is an impairment of sight, by a medical practitioner or an optometrist,

(b) the individual has filed for a taxation year with the Minister the certificate described in paragraph (a), and

(c) no amount in respect of remuneration for an attendant, or care in a nursing home, by reason of the mental or physical impairment of the individual is included in calculating a deduction under subsection 118.2(1) for the year by the individual or by any other person, for the purposes of computing the tax payable under this Part by the individual for the year, there may be deducted an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times $3,236$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year."

Related Sections: S. 6(16) Disability-related employment benefits; s. 108(1), "prefèrred beneficiary"; s. 117.1(1) Annual adjustment (indexing); s. 118.2(2)(b) Medical expenses; s. 118.2(2)(b.1) Medical expenses; s. 118.2(2)(b.2) Medical expenses; s. 118.2(2)(l.9)) Medical expenses; s. 118.3(2) Dependant having impairment; s. 118.4(1) Nature of impairment; s. 118.4(2) Reference to medical practitioners, etc.; s. 118.6(3) Students eligible for the disability tax credit; s. 118.8 Transfer of unused credits to spouse or common-law partner; s. 118.91 Part-year residents; s. 118.93 Credits in separate returns; s. 118.94 Tax payable by non-residents (credits restricted); s. 146.01(1), "specified disabled person"; s. 146.1(2)(g.1)(i)(B) Conditions for registration; s. 248(1), "individual".

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-519R2 (Consolid.) Medical expense and disability tax credits and attendant care expense deduction. Secondary — IT-171R2 Non-resident individuals — Computation of taxable income earned in Canada and non-refundable tax credits [Archived by the CRA]; IT-394R2 Preferred beneficiary election; IT-495R3 Child care expenses; IT-515R2 Education tax credit; IT-516R2 Tuition tax credit.

Information Circulars: IC 07-1 Taxpayer Relief Provisions.

Forms: T2201.

Guides: RC4064 Information Concerning People with Disabilities.

Tax Topics: No. 1714, Committee Report Concerning Tax Credits for Disabled Individuals; No. 1707, Claiming the Disability Tax Credit; No. 1610, The Continuing Saga of the Disability Tax Credit; No. 1594, Government's Response to Committee Report on the Disability Tax Credit; No. 1571, Continuing Discussions on the Disability Tax Credit.

Canadian Tax Foundation: Katz, "Tax Assistance for the Disabled", 1999 Canadian Tax Journal, No. 3, 663.

Cases: When the taxpayer suffered from a brain dysfunction following exposure to toxic substances, the Tax Court was not obliged to accept her doctor's statement that she had no difficulties performing three of her basic activities. Thomas v. The Queen, 97 DTC 5024 (F.C.A.).

► 118.3(1.1) ◄

(1.1) Time spent on therapy. For the purpose of paragraph 118.3(1)(a.1), in determining whether therapy is required to be administered at least three times each week for a total duration averaging not less than an average of 14 hours a week, the time spent on administering therapy

(a) includes only time spent on activities that require the individual to take time away from normal everyday activities in order to receive the therapy;

(b) in the case of therapy that requires a regular dosage of medication that is required to be adjusted on a daily basis, includes (subject to paragraph (d)) time spent on activities that are directly related to the determination of the dosage of the medication;

(c) in the case of a child who is unable to perform the activities related to the administration of the therapy as a result of the child's age, includes the time, if any, spent by the child's primary caregivers performing or supervising those activities for the child; and (d) does not include time spent on activities related to dietary or exercise restrictions or regimes (even if those restrictions or regimes are a factor in determining the daily dosage of medication), travel time, medical appointments, shopping for medication or recuperation after therapy.

History: S. 118.3(1.1) was added by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 63(4), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

► 118.3(2) ◄

(2) Dependant having impairment. Where

(a) an individual has, in respect of a person (other than a person in respect of whom the person's spouse or common-law partner deducts for a taxation year an amount under section 118 or 118.8) who is resident in Canada at any time in the year and who is entitled to deduct an amount under subsection (1) for the year,

(i) claimed for the year a deduction under subsection 118(1) because of

(A) paragraph (b) of the description of B in that subsection, or

(B) paragraph (c.1) or (d) of that description where the person is a parent, grandparent, child, grandchild, brother, sister, aunt, uncle, nephew or niece of the individual, or of the individual's spouse or common-law partner, or

(ii) could have claimed for the year a deduction referred to in subparagraph (i) in respect of the person if

(A) the person had no income for the year and had attained the age of 18 years before the end of the year, and

(B) in the case of a deduction referred to in clause (i)(A), the individual were not married or not in a common-law partnership, and

(b) no amount in respect of remuneration for an attendant, or care in a nursing home, because of that person's mental or physical impairment, is included in calculating a deduction under section 118.2 (otherwise than under paragraph 118.2(2)(b.1)) for the year by the individual or by any other person, there may be deducted, for the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by the individual for the year, the amount, if any, by which

(c) the amount deductible under subsection (1) in computing that person's tax payable under this Part for the year

exceeds

(d) the amount of that person's tax payable under this Part for the year computed before any deductions under this Division (other than sections 118 and 118.7).

History: S. 118.3(2)(a)(i)(B) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 96(7), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.3(2)(a)(i)(B) formerly read:

"(B) paragraph (c.1) or (d) of that description where the person is the individual's parent, grandparent, child or grandchild, or"

S. 118.3(2)(a), the portion before subparagraph (i), was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.6), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118.3(2)(a), the portion before subparagraph (i) formerly read:

"(a) an individual has, in respect of a person (other than a person in respect of whom the person's spouse deducts for a taxation year an amount under section 118 or 118.8) who is resident in Canada at any time in the year and who is entitled to deduct an amount under subsection (1) for the year,"

S. 118.3(2)(a)(ii)(B) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, s. 132, applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118.3(2)(a)(ii)(B) formerly read:

"(B) in the case of a deduction referred to in clause (i)(A), the individual were not married, and"

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.3(2)(a) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 35(2), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.3(2)(a) formerly read:

"(a) an individual has, in respect of a person (other than a person in respect of whom the person's spouse deducts for the year an amount under section 118 or 118.8) who is resident in Canada at any time in a taxation year and who is entitled to deduct an amount under subsection (1) for the year, claimed for the year a deduction under subsection 118(1) because of

(i) paragraph (b) of the description of B in subsection 118(1),or

(ii) paragraph (d) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) where that person is the individual's child or grandchild, or, where that person is the individual's parent, grandparent, child or grandchild, could have claimed such a deduction if the individual were not married and that person had no income for the year and had attained the age of 18 years before the end of the year, and"

Ss. 118.3(2)(a)(i) and (ii) were amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 27(1), applicable April 25, 1997. Those subparagraphs formerly read:

"(i) paragraph 118(1)(b), or

(ii) paragraph 118(1)(d) where that person is the individual's child or grandchild,"

S. 118.3(2)(a), that portion after subparagraph (ii), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 53(1), applicable to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.3(2)(a), that portion after subparagraph (ii), formerly read:

"or, where that person is the individual's parent, grandparent, child or grandchild, could have claimed such a deduction if the individual were not married and that person had no income for the year, and"

S. 118.3(2)(b) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 55(1), applicable to the 1991 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.3(2)(b) formerly read:

"(b) no amount in respect of remuneration for an attendant, or care in a nursing home, by reason of that person's mental or physical impairment, is included in calculating a deduction under subsection 118.2(1) for the year by the individual or by any other person,"

S. 118.3(2)(a), all that portion preceding subparagraph (i), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 90(2), applicable to the 1988 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.3(2)(a), all that portion preceding subparagraph (i), formerly read:

"(a) an individual has, in respect of a person who is resident in Canada at any time in a taxation year and who is entitled to deduct an amount under subsection (1) for the year, claimed for the year a deduction under subsection 118(1) by reason of"

► 118.3(3) ◄

(3) Partial dependency. Where more than one individual is entitled to deduct an amount under subsection (2) for a taxation year in respect of the same person, the total of all amounts so deductible for the year shall not exceed the maximum amount that would be deductible under that subsection for the year by an individual in respect of that person if that individual were the only individual entitled to deduct an amount under that subsection in respect of that person, and where the individuals cannot agree as to what portion of the amount each can deduct, the Minister may fix the portions.

Cases: A taxpayer deducted child support payments under s. 60. He also sought to deduct the "equivalent-to-married" amount for one child and the "dependant's disability deduction" for another. The children were deemed not to be children of the taxpayer since he had taken deductions under s. 60(b), (c) or (c.1) for the support payments made for them. Gifford v. M.N.R., 91 DTC 953 (T.C.C.).

► 118.3(4) ◄

(4) Additional information. Where a claim under this section or under section 118.8 is made in respect of an individual's impairment

(a) if the Minister requests in writing information with respect to the individual's impairment, its effects on the individual and, where applicable, the therapy referred to in paragraph (1)(a.1) that is required to be administered, from any person referred to in subsection (1) or (2) or section 118.8 in connection with such a claim, that person shall provide the information so requested to the Minister in writing; and

(b) if the information referred to in paragraph (a) is provided by a person referred to in paragraph (1)(a.2), the information so provided is deemed to be included in a certificate in prescribed form.

History: S. 118.3(4) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 96(8), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.3(4) formerly read:

"(4) Department of Human Resources Development The Minister may obtain the advice of the Department of Human Resources Development as to whether an individual in respect of whom an amount has been claimed under subsection (1) or (2) has a severe and prolonged impairment, the effects of which are such that the individual's ability to perform a basic activity of daily living is markedly restricted, and any person referred to in subsection (1) or (2) shall, on request in writing by that Department for information with respect to an individual's impairment and its effects on the individual, provide the information so requested."

S. 118.3(4) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 11, s. 97(1), by replacing the term "Department of National Health and Welfare" with the term "Department of Human Resources Development", effective July 12, 1996.

S. 118.3(4) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 90(3), applicable to the 1991 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 162(7) Failure to comply.

SECTION 118.4:

► 118.4(1) ◄

(1) Nature of impairment. For the purposes of subsection 6(16), sections 118.2 and 118.3 and this subsection,

(a) an impairment is prolonged where it has lasted, or can reasonably be expected to last, for a continuous period of at least 12 months;

(b) an individual's ability to perform a basic activity of daily living is markedly restricted only where all or substantially all of the time, even with therapy and the use of appropriate devices and medication, the individual is blind or is unable (or requires an inordinate amount of time) to perform a basic activity of daily living;

(b.1) an individual is considered to have the equivalent of a marked restriction in a basic activity of daily living only where all or substantially all of the time, even with therapy and the use of appropriate devices and medication, the individual's ability to perform more than one basic activity of daily living (including for this purpose, the ability to see) is significantly restricted, and the cumulative effect of those restrictions is tantamount to the individual's ability to perform a basic activity of daily living being markedly restricted;

(c) a basic activity of daily living in relation to an individual means

(i) mental functions necessary for everyday life,

(ii) feeding oneself or dressing oneself,

(iii) speaking so as to be understood, in a quiet setting, by another person familiar with the individual,

(iv) hearing so as to understand, in a quiet setting, another person familiar with the individual,

(v) eliminating (bowel or bladder functions), or

(vi) walking;

(c.1) mental functions necessary for everyday life include

(i) memory,

(ii) problem solving, goal-setting and judgement (taken together), and

(iii) adaptive functioning;

(d) for greater certainty, no other activity, including working, housekeeping or a social or recreational activity, shall be considered as a basic activity of daily living;

(e) feeding oneself does not include

(i) any of the activities of identifying, finding, shopping for or otherwise procuring food, or

(ii) the activity of preparing food to the extent that the time associated with the activity would not have been necessary in the absence of a dietary restriction or regime; and

(f) dressing oneself does not include any of the activities of identifying, finding, shopping for or otherwise procuring clothing.

History: S. 118.4(1)(b.1) was added by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 64(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.4(1)(c)(i) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 64(2), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.4(1)(c)(i) formerly read:

"(i) perceiving, thinking and remembering,"

S. 118.4(1)(c.1) was added by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 64(3), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.4(1)(c)(ii) was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 75(1), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.4(1)(c)(ii) formerly read:

"(ii) feeding and dressing oneself,"

Ss. 118.4(1)(e) and (f) were added by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 75(2), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.4(1) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 91(1), applicable to the 1991 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.4(1) formerly read:

"(1) For the purposes of sections 63, 118.2 and 118.3,

(a) a person shall be considered to have a severe and prolonged impairment only if by reason thereof the person is markedly restricted in the person's activities of daily living and the impairment has lasted or can reasonably be expected to last for a continuous period of at least 12 months; and

(b) the Minister may obtain the advice of the Department of National Health and Welfare as to whether a person has a severe and prolonged impairment."

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-519R2 (Consolid.) Medical expense and disability tax credits and attendant care expense deduction. Secondary — IT-171R2 Non-resident individuals — Computation of taxable income earned in Canada and non-refundable tax credits [Archived by the CRA].

Forms: T2201.

Guides: RC4064 Information Concerning People with Disabilities.

Tax Topics: No. 1707, Claiming the Disability Tax Credit; No. 1571, Continuing Discussions on the Disability Tax Credit.

Cases: A taxpayer's ability to walk, dress and feed himself was markedly restricted due to a congenital condition diagnosed as spinal epiphyseal dysplasia and a tax credit was allowed when he required canes, rail, wheelchairs and therapeutic exercise prior to dressing. Johnston v. The Queen, 98 DTC 6169 (F.C.A.), reversing 97 DTC 3272 (T.C.C.).

A taxpayer who required a half-hour or more to dress and, when walking, had to stop and take time every 100 metres because of chronic back pain was entitled to claim a physical impairment tax credit because he was taking an "inordinate amount of time" to perform a basic activity of daily living. Conner v. The Queen, 95 DTC 198 (T.C.C.).

► 118.4(2) ◄

(2) Reference to medical practitioners, etc. For the purposes of sections 63, 64, 118.2, 118.3 and 118.6, a reference to an audiologist, dentist, medical doctor, medical practitioner, nurse, occupational therapist, optometrist, pharmacist, physiotherapist, psychologist, or speech-language pathologist is a reference to a person authorized to practise as such,

(a) where the reference is used in respect of a service rendered to a taxpayer, pursuant to the laws of the jurisdiction in which the service is rendered;

(b) where the reference is used in respect of a certificate issued by the person in respect of a taxpayer, pursuant to the laws of the jurisdiction in which the taxpayer resides or of a province; and

(c) where the reference is used in respect of a prescription issued by the person for property to be provided to or for the use of a taxpayer, pursuant to the laws of the jurisdiction in which the taxpayer resides, of a province or of the jurisdiction in which the property is provided.

History: S. 118.4(2), the portion before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2006, s. 64(4), applicable to the 2004 and subsequent taxation years, except that in its application before February 23, 2005, the portion of subsection 118.4(2) before paragraph (a), is to be read as follows:

"(2) For the purposes of sections 63, 64, 118.2, 118.3 and 118.6, a reference to an audiologist, dentist, medical doctor, medical practitioner, nurse, occupational therapist, optometrist, pharmacist, psychologist or speech-language pathologist is a reference to a person authorized to practise as such,"

S. 118.4(2), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(2) Reference to medical practitioners, etc. For the purposes of sections 63, 118.2, 118.3 and 118.6, a reference to an audiologist, dentist, medical doctor, medical practitioner, nurse, occupational therapist, optometrist, pharmacist, psychologist or speech-language pathologist is a reference to a person authorized to practise as such,"

S. 118.4(2), the portion before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 97(1), applicable to certifications made after October 17, 2000. S. 118.4(2), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(2) Reference to medical practitioners, etc. For the purposes of sections 63, 118.2, 118.3 and 118.6, a reference to an audiologist, dentist, medical doctor, medical practitioner, nurse, occupational therapist, optometrist, pharmacist or psychologist is a reference to a person authorized to practise as such,"

S. 118.4(2), the portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 36(1), applicable after February 24, 1998. S. 118.4(2), the portion before paragraph (a), formerly read:

"(2) References to medical practitioners, etc. For the purposes of sections 63, 118.2 and 118.3, a reference to an audiologist, dentist, medical doctor, medical practitioner, nurse, optometrist or pharmacist is a reference to a person authorized to practice as such"

S. 118.4(2), the portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 25(1), applicable to taxation years that end after November 1991 except that, in applying subsection 118.4(2) of the Act before February 19, 1997, the reference in that subsection 118.4(2) to "an audiologist," shall be read as a reference to "a". S. 118.4(2), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(2) References to medical practitioners, etc. For the purposes of sections 63, 118.2 and 118.3, a reference to a medical practitioner, dentist, pharmacist, nurse or optometrist is a reference to a person authorized to practice as such,"

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-519R2 (Consolid.) Medical expense and disability tax credits.

SECTION 118.5:

► 118.5(1) ◄

(1) Tuition credit. For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year, there may be deducted,

(a) where the individual was during the year a student enrolled at an educational institution in Canada that is

(i) a university, college or other educational institution providing courses at a post-secondary school level, or

(ii) certified by the Minister of Human Resources and Skills Development to be an educational institution providing courses, other than courses designed for university credit, that furnish a person with skills for, or improve a person's skills in, an occupation,

an amount equal to the product obtained when the appropriate percentage for the year is multiplied by the amount of any fees for the individual's tuition paid in respect of the year to the educational institution if the total of those fees exceeds $100, except to the extent that those fees

(ii.1) are paid to an educational institution described in subparagraph (i) in respect of courses that are not at the post-secondary school level,

(ii.2) are paid to an educational institution described in subparagraph (ii) if

(A) the individual had not attained the age of 16 years before the end of the year, or

(B) the purpose of the individual's enrolment at the institution cannot reasonably be regarded as being to provide the individual with skills, or to improve the individual's skills, in an occupation,

(iii) are paid on the individual's behalf by the individual's employer and are not included in computing the individual's income,

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subparagraph 118.5(1)(a)(iii) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(iii) are paid on behalf of, or reimbursed to, the individual by the individual's employer and the amount paid or reimbursed is not included in the individual's income,

Applicable: Royal Assent.

Explanatory Note: Subsection 118.5(1) of the Act provides a tax credit in respect of tuition fees paid to certain educational institutions. Subparagraph 118.5(1)(a)(iii) provides that an amount paid on behalf of an individual by the individual's employer is not eligible for the credit unless the amount is required to be included in computing the individual's income. Subparagraph 118.5(1)(a)(iii) is amended, applicable on Royal Assent, to clarify that an amount paid by the individual, for which the individual is reimbursed by the individual's employer, is also not eligible for the credit unless the reimbursement is required to be included in computing the individual's income.

(iii.1) are fees in respect of which the individual is or was entitled to receive a reimbursement or any form of assistance under a program of Her Majesty in right of Canada or a province designed to facilitate the entry or re-entry of workers into the labour force, where the amount of the reimbursement or assistance is not included in computing the individual's income,

(iv) were included as part of an allowance received by the individual's parent on the individual's behalf from an employer and are not included in computing the income of the parent by reason of subparagraph 6(1)(b)(ix), or

(v) are paid on the individual's behalf, or are fees in respect of which the individual is or was entitled to receive a reimbursement, under a program of Her Majesty in right of Canada designed to assist athletes, where the payment or reimbursement is not included in computing the individual's income;

(b) where the individual was during the year a student in full-time attendance at a university outside Canada in a course leading to a degree, an amount equal to the product obtained when the appropriate percentage for the year is multiplied by the amount of any fees for the individual's tuition paid in respect of the year to the university, except any such fees

(i) paid in respect of a course of less than 13 consecutive weeks duration,

(ii) paid on the individual's behalf by the individual's employer to the extent that the amount of the fees is not included in computing the individual's income, or

(iii) paid on the individual's behalf by the employer of the individual's parent, to the extent that the amount of the fees is not included in computing the income of the parent by reason of subparagraph 6(1)(b)(ix); and

(c) where the individual resided throughout the year in Canada near the boundary between Canada and the United States if the individual

(i) was at any time in the year a student enrolled at an educational institution in the United States that is a university, college or other educational institution providing courses at a post-secondary school level, and

(ii) commuted to that educational institution in the United States,

an amount equal to the product obtained when the appropriate percentage for the year is multiplied by the amount of any fees for the individual's tuition paid in respect of the year to the educational institution if the total of those fees exceeds $100, except to the extent that those fees

(iii) are paid on the individual's behalf by the individual's employer and are not included in computing the individual's income,

(iv) were included as part of an allowance received by the individual's parent on the individual's behalf from an employer and are not included in computing the income of the parent by reason of subparagraph 6(1)(b)(ix).

History: S. 118.5(1)(a)(ii) was amended by S.C. 2005, c. 34, s. 80, by replacing "Minister of Human Resources Development" with "Minister of Human Resources and Skills Development", in force on October 5, 2005.

S. 118.5(1)(a)(v) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 135(1), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.5(1)(a)(ii) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 11, s. 95, by replacing the term "Minister of Employment and Immigration" with the term "Minister of Human Resources Development", effective July 12, 1996.

That portion of s. 118.5(1)(a) following subparagraph (ii) and preceding subparagraph (iii) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 56(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. That portion of s. 118.5(1)(a) following subparagraph (ii) and preceding subparagraph (iii) formerly read:

"an amount equal to the product obtained when the appropriate percentage for the year is multiplied by the amount of any fees for the individual's tuition paid in respect of the year to the educational institution if those fees exceed $100, except to the extent that those fees".

S. 118.5(1)(a)(iii.1) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 92(1), applicable to the 1988 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 118.5(2) Application to deemed residents; s. 118.8 Transfer of unused credits to spouse or common-law partner; s. 118.9 Transfer to parent or grandparent; s. 248(1), "amount", "individual".

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-516R2 Tuition tax credit. Secondary — IT-75R4 Scholarships, fellowships, bursaries, prizes, research grants and financial assistance; IT-171R2 Non-resident individuals — Computation of taxable income earned in Canada and non-refundable tax credits [Archived by the CRA]; IT-470R (Consolid.) Employees' fringe benefits.

Information Circulars: IC 75-23 Tuition fees and charitable donations paid to privately supported secular and religious schools.

Forms: TL11A; TL11B; T1 SCH 11; T2202A; TL11C.

Guides: P105 Students and Income Tax.

Cases: The taxpayer's 14-year old son was enrolled at a music school for piano and music theory classes. His music courses were at a post-secondary level, since he was beyond the level which was equivalent to a Grade 12 high school credit. The taxpayer was entitled to the tuition fee tax credit. The student's age is only relevant for courses described in s. 118.5(1)(a)(ii) and not for courses described in s. 118.5(1)(a)(i). Tarkowski v. The Queen, 2007 DTC 1555 (T.C.C.).

The taxpayer was enrolled in an online degree program at a U.S. university. Her online participation constituted full-time "attendance" within the meaning of s. 118.5(1)(b) and she was entitled to the tuition fee tax credit. McGrath v. The Queen, 2007 DTC 894 (T.C.C.).

► 118.5(2) ◄

(2) Application to deemed residents. Where an individual is deemed by section 250 to be resident in Canada throughout all or part of a taxation year, in applying subsection (1) in respect of the individual for the period when the individual is so deemed to be resident in Canada, paragraph (1)(a) shall be read without reference to the words "in Canada".

Forms: TL11D.

Cases: Pierrefonds, Quebec lacked the element of proximity, contiguity or vicinity to the Canada–U.S. border zone contemplated by the word "near". Van de Water v. M.N.R., (T.C.C.) 91 DTC 276.

► 118.5(3) ◄

(3) Inclusion of ancillary fees and charges. For the purpose of this section, "fees for an individual's tuition" includes ancillary fees and charges that are paid

(a) to an educational institution referred to in subparagraph (1)(a)(i), and

(b) in respect of the individual's enrolment at the institution in a program at a post-secondary school level,

but does not include

(c) any fee or charge to the extent that it is levied in respect of

(i) a student association,

(ii) property to be acquired by students,

(iii) services not ordinarily provided at educational institutions in Canada that offer courses at a post-secondary school level,

(iv) the provision of financial assistance to students, except to the extent that, if the reference in paragraph 56(1)(n) to "$500" were read as a reference to "nil", the amount of the assistance would be required to be included in computing the income, and not be deductible in computing the taxable income, of the students to whom the assistance is provided, or

(v) the construction, renovation or maintenance of any building or facility, except to the extent that the building or facility is owned by the institution and used to provide

(A) courses at the post-secondary school level, or

(B) services for which, if fees or charges in respect of the services were required to be paid by all students of the institution, the fees or charges would be included because of this subsection in the fees for an individual's tuition, and

(d) any fee or charge for a taxation year that, but for this paragraph, would be included because of this subsection in the fees for the individual's tuition and that is not required to be paid by

(i) all of the institution's full-time students, where the individual is a full-time student at the institution, and

(ii) all of the institution's part-time students, where the individual is a part-time student at the institution, to the extent that the total for the year of all such fees and charges paid in respect of the individual's enrolment at the institution exceeds $250.

History: S. 118.5(3) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 26(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years.

SECTION 118.6: [Education tax credit].

► 118.6(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. For the purposes of sections 63 and 64 and this subdivision,

History: S. 118.6(1), the portion before the definition "designated educational institution" was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 98(1), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.6(1), the portion before the definition "designated educational institution" formerly read:

"S. 118.6. Education tax credit.

(1) Definitions. For the purposes of section 63 and this subdivision,"

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-495R3 Child care expenses.

"designated educational institution" — "designated educational institution" means

(a) an educational institution in Canada that is

(i) a university, college or other educational institution designated by the Lieutenant Governor in Council of a province as a specified educational institution under the Canada Student Loans Act, designated by an appropriate authority under the Canada Student Financial Assistance Act, or designated by the Minister of Higher Education and Science of the Province of Quebec for the purposes of An Act respecting financial assistance for students of the Province of Quebec, or

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subparagraph (a)(i) of the definition "designated educational institution" in subsection 118.6(1) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(i) a university, college or other educational institution designated by the lieutenant governor in council of a province as a specified educational institution under the Canada Student Loans Act, designated by an appropriate authority under the Canada Student Financial Assistance Act, or designated by the Minister of Education of the Province of Quebec for the purposes of An Act respecting financial assistance for education expenses, R.S.Q, c. A-13.3, or

Applicable: To the 1998 and subsequent taxation years.

Explanatory Note:

Definitions

Subsection 118.6(1) of the Act defines the expression "designated educational institution", which is relevant for the purposes of the child care expense and attendant care expense deductions and the tuition fee and education tax credits. Generally speaking, a designated educational institution is an institution that provides post-secondary education, an institution certified by the Minister of Human Resources Development that furnishes or improves skills in an occupation, or a foreign university. This amendment to subparagraph (a)(i) of that definition, applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years, is consequential on the change in the name of the Quebec statute under which financial assistance is provided to students as well as the change in the name of the responsible Quebec ministry.

(ii) certified by the Minister of Human Resources and Skills Development to be an educational institution providing courses, other than courses designed for university credit, that furnish a person with skills for, or improve a person's skills in, an occupation,

(b) a university outside Canada at which the individual referred to in subsection (2) was enrolled in a course, of not less than 13 consecutive weeks duration, leading to a degree, or

(c) if the individual referred to in subsection (2) resided, throughout the year referred to in that subsection, in Canada near the boundary between Canada and the United States, an educational institution in the United States to which the individual commuted that is a university, college or other educational institution providing courses at a post-secondary school level;

History: S. 118.6(1), subparagraph (a)(ii) of the definition "designated educational institution" was amended by S.C. 2005, c. 34, s. 80, by replacing "Minister of Human Resources Development" with "Minister of Human Resources and Skills Development", in force on October 5, 2005.

S. 118.6(1), the portion before the definition "designated educational institution" was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 37(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.6(1), the portion before the definition "designated educational institution" formerly read:

"S. 118.6. [Education tax credit].

(1) Definitions. For the purposes of this subdivision,"

S. 118.6(1), subparagraph (a)(ii) of the definition "designated educational institution" was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 11, s. 95, by replacing the term "Minister of Employment and Immigration" with the term "Minister of Human Resources Development", effective July 12, 1996.

S. 118.6(1), subparagraph (a)(i) of the definition "designated educational institution" was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 28, s. 28(1), effective on Royal Assent, June 23, 1994. S. 118.6(1), subparagraph (a)(i) of the definition "designated educational institution" formerly read:

"(i) a university, college or other educational institution designated by the Lieutenant Governor in Council of a province as a specified educational institution under the Canada Student Loans Act or designated by the Minister of Higher Education and Science of the Province of Quebec for the purposes of An Act respecting financial assistance for students of the Province of Quebec, or"

Related Sections: S. 146.02(1), "qualifying educational program"; s. 146.1(1), "post-secondary educational institution".

Cases: The London School of Economics and Political Science is a "university outside Canada" since it forms part of the University of London and is permitted to grant degrees of the University of London. Schedule VIII of the Income Tax Regulations is not relevant since s. 118.6(1) does not require universities to be prescribed. Shea v. The Queen, 2008 DTC 3376 (T.C.C.).

"qualifying educational program" — "qualifying educational program" means a program of not less than three consecutive weeks duration that provides that each student taking the program spend not less than ten hours per week on courses or work in the program and, in respect of a program at an institution described in the definition "designated educational institution" (other than an institution described in subparagraph (a)(ii) of that definition), that is a program at a post-secondary school level but, in relation to any particular student, does not include a program if the student receives, from a person with whom the student is dealing at arm's length, any allowance, benefit, grant or reimbursement for expenses in respect of the program other than

(a) an amount received by the student as or on account of a scholarship, fellowship or bursary, or a prize for achievement in a field of endeavour ordinarily carried on by the student,

(b) a benefit, if any, received by the student because of a loan made to the student in accordance with the requirements of the Canada Student Loans Act or An Act respecting financial assistance for education expenses, R.S.Q., c. A-13.3, or because of financial assistance given to the student in accordance with the requirements of the Canada Student Financial Assistance Act, or

(c) an amount that is received by the student in the year under a program referred to in subparagraph 56(1)(r)(ii) or (iii), a program established under the authority of the Department of Human Resources and Skills Development Act or a prescribed program;

History: S. 118.6(1), the definition "qualifying educational program", was amended by S.C. 2005, c. 34, s. 81, by replacing "Department of Human Resources Development Act" with "Department of Human Resources and Skills Development Act", in force on October 5, 2005.

S. 118.6(1), the definition "qualifying educational program", was replaced by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 25(1), applicable to the 2004 and subsequent taxation years.

For the 1998 to 2003 taxation years, subparagraph (a)(ii) of the definition "qualifying educational program" in subsection 118.6(1) of the Act is to be read as follows:

"(ii) a benefit, if any, received by the student because of a loan made to the student in accordance with the requirements of the Canada Student Loans Act or An Act respecting financial assistance for education expenses, R.S.Q., c. A-13.3, or because of financial assistance given to the student in accordance with the requirements of the Canada Student Financial Assistance Act, or"

S. 118.6(1), the definition "qualifying educational program" formerly read:

" 'qualifying educational program' — 'qualifying educational program' means a program of not less than 3 consecutive weeks duration that provides that each student taking the program spend not less than 10 hours per week on courses or work in the program and, in respect of a program at an institution described in the definition 'designated educational institution' (other than an institution described in subparagraph (a)(ii) thereof), that is a program at a post-secondary school level but, in relation to any particular student, does not include any such program

(a) if the student receives, from a person with whom the student is dealing at arm's length, any allowance, benefit, grant or reimbursement for expenses in respect of the program other than

(i) an amount received by the student as or on account of a scholarship, fellowship or bursary, or a prize for achievement in a field of endeavour ordinarily carried on by the student,

(ii) a benefit, if any, received by the student by reason of a loan made to the student in accordance with the requirements of the Canada Student Loans Act or An Act respecting financial assistance for students of the Province of Quebec, or by reason of financial assistance given to the student in accordance with the requirements of the Canada Student Financial Assistance Act, or

(iii) an amount that is received by the student in the year under a program referred to in subparagraph 56(1)(r)(ii) or (iii), a program established under the authority of the Department of Human Resources Development Act or a prescribed program, or

(b) if the program is taken by the student

(i) during a period in respect of which the student receives income from an office or employment, and

(ii) in connection with, or as part of the duties of, that office or employment."

S. 118.6(1), subparagraph (a)(iii) of the definition "qualifying educational program", was added by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 36(1), applicable to the 2002 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.6(1), subparagraph (a)(ii) of the definition "qualifying educational program", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 28, s. 28(1), effective on Royal Assent, June 23, 1994. S. 118.6(1), subparagraph (a)(ii) of the definition "qualifying educational program" formerly read:

"(ii) a benefit, if any, received by the student by reason of a loan made to the student in accordance with the requirements of the Canada Student Loans Act or An Act respecting financial assistance for students of the Province of Quebec, or"

S. 118.6(1), that part preceding the definition "designated educational institution", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 93(1), applicable after June 1990. S. 118.6(1), that part preceding the definition "designated educational institution", formerly read as follows:

"(1) For the purposes of this section,"

S. 118.6(1), all that portion of the definition "qualifying educational program" preceding paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 93(2), applicable to the 1991 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.6(1), all that portion of the definition "qualifying educational program" preceding paragraph (a), formerly read:

" 'qualifying educational program' — 'qualifying educational program' means a program of not less than 3 consecutive weeks duration that provides that each student taking the program spend not less than 10 hours per week on courses or work in the program and, in respect of a program at an institution described in subparagraph (a)(i) of the definition 'designated educational institution' in this subsection, that is a program at a post-secondary school level but, in relation to any particular student, does not include any such program"

Related Sections: S. 146.02(1), "qualifying educational program"; s. 146.1(1), "qualifying educational program".

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-515R2 Education tax credit. Secondary — IT-171R2 Non-resident individuals — Computation of taxable income earned in Canada and non-refundable tax credits [Archived by the CRA].

"specified educational program" — "specified educational program" means a program that would be a qualifying educational program if the definition "qualifying educational program" were read without reference to the words "that provides that each student taking the program spend not less than 10 hours per week on courses or work in the program".

History: S. 118.6(1), the definition "specified educational program" was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 37(2), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years.

► 118.6(2) ◄

(2) Education credit. There may be deducted in computing an individual's tax payable under this Part for a taxation year the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year; and

B is the total of the products obtained when

(a) $400 is multiplied by the number of months in the year during which the individual is enrolled in a qualifying educational program as a full-time student at a designated educational institution, and

(b) $120 is multiplied by the number of months in the year (other than months described in paragraph (a)), each of which is a month during which the individual is enrolled at a designated educational institution in a specified educational program that provides that each student in the program spend not less than 12 hours in the month on courses in the program,

if the enrolment is proven by filing with the Minister a certificate in prescribed form issued by the designated educational institution and containing prescribed information and, in respect of a designated educational institution described in subparagraph (a)(ii) of the definition "designated educational institution" in subsection (1), the individual has attained the age of 16 years before the end of the year and is enrolled in the program to obtain skills for, or improve the individual's skills in, an occupation.

History: S. 118.6(2), paragraphs (a) and (b) of the description of B were amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 98(2), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.6(2), paragraphs (a) and (b) of the description of B formerly read:

"(a) $200 is multiplied by the number of months in the year during which the individual is enrolled in a qualifying educational program as a full-time student at a designated educational institution, and

(b) $60 is multiplied by the number of months in the year (other than months described in paragraph (a)), each of which is a month during which the individual is enrolled at a designated educational institution in a specified educational program that provides that each student in the program spend not less than 12 hours in the month on courses in the program,"

S. 118.6(2), the portion after the description of B was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 98(3), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.6(2), the portion after the description of B formerly read:

"if the enrolment is proved by filing with the Minister a certificate in prescribed form issued by the designated educational institution and containing prescribed information and, in respect of a designated educational institution described in subparagraph (a)(ii) of the definition 'designated educational institution' in subsection (1), the individual is enrolled in the program to obtain skills for, or improve the individual's skills in, an occupation."

S. 118.6(2) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 37(3), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.6(2) formerly read:

"(2) Education credit. For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year, there may be deducted an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times $200 \times B$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year, and

B is the number of months in the year during which the individual is enrolled in a qualifying educational program as a full-time student at a designated educational institution,if the enrolment is proven by filing with the Minister a certificate in prescribed form issued by the designated educational institution and containing prescribed information and, in respect of a designated educational institution described in subparagraph (a)(ii) of the definition 'designated educational institution' in subsection (1), the student is enrolled in the program to obtain skills for, or improve the student's skills in, an occupation."

The formula in s. 118.6(2) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 27(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years except that, for the 1997 taxation year, the reference to "$200" in the formula in subsection 118.6(2) of the Act shall be read as a reference to "$150". The formula in s. 118.6(2) formerly read:

"A × $100 × B"

The formula in s. 118.6(2) was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 28(1), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. That formula formerly read:

"A × $80 × B"

The formula in S. 118.6(2) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, S. 57(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. That formula formerly read:

"A × $60 × B"

S. 118.6(2), the description of B, was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 93(3), applicable to the 1991 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.6(2), the description of B, formerly read:

"B is the number of months in the year during which the individual is a student in full-time attendance at a designated educational institution and enrolled in a qualifying educational program at the institution,"

Related Sections: S. 63(2) Income exceeding income of supporting person; s. 118.8 Transfer of unused credits to spouse or common-law partner; s. 118.9 Transfer to parent or grandparent; s. 146.02(1), "repayment period".

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-515R2 Education tax credit.

Forms: T1 SCH 11; T2202; T2202A.

Guides: P105 Students and Income Tax.

► 118.6(2.1) ◄

(2.1) Post-secondary textbook credit. If an amount may be deducted under subsection (2) in computing the individual's tax payable for a taxation year, there may be deducted in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year; and

B is the total of the products obtained when

(a) $65 is multiplied by the number of months referred to in paragraph (a) of the description of B in subsection (2), and

(b) $20 is multiplied by the number of months referred to in paragraph (b) of that description.

History: S. 118.6(2.1) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 23(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

► 118.6(3) ◄

(3) Students eligible for the disability tax credit. In calculating the amount deductible under subsection (2) or (2.1), the reference in subsection (2) to "full-time student" is to be read as "student" if

(a) an amount may be deducted under section 118.3 in respect of the individual for the year; or

(b) the individual has in the year a mental or physical impairment the effects of which on the individual have been certified in writing, to be such that the individual cannot reasonably be expected to be enrolled as a full-time student while so impaired, by a medical doctor or, where the impairment is

(i) an impairment of sight, by a medical doctor or an optometrist,

(i.1) a speech impairment, by a medical doctor or a speech-language pathologist,

(ii) a hearing impairment, by a medical doctor or an audiologist,

(iii) an impairment with respect to the individual's ability in feeding or dressing themself, by a medical doctor or an occupational therapist,

(iii.1) an impairment with respect to the individual's ability in walking, by a medical doctor, an occupational therapist or a physiotherapist, or

(iv) an impairment with respect to the individual's ability in mental functions necessary for everyday life (within the meaning assigned by paragraph 118.4(1)(c.1)), by a medical doctor or a psychologist.

History: S. 118.6(3), the portion before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 23(2), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.6(3), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(3) Disabled students. In calculating the amount deductible under subsection (2) in computing an individual's tax payable under this Part for a taxation year, the reference in that subsection to 'full-time student' shall be read as 'student' if either"

S. 118.6(3)(b)(iii) was replaced, and subparagraph (iii.1) was added, by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 23(3), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years in respect of certifications made by a physiotherapist after February 22, 2005.

S. 118.6(3)(b)(iii) formerly read:

"(iii) an impairment with respect to the individual's ability in feeding or dressing themself, or in walking, by a medical doctor or an occupational therapist, or"

S. 118.6(3)(b)(iv) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 23(5), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.6(3)(b)(iv) formerly read:

"(iv) an impairment with respect to the individual's ability in perceiving, thinking and remembering, by a medical doctor or a psychologist."

S. 118.6(3)(b)(i.1) was added by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 76(1), applicable in respect of certifications made after October 17, 2000.

S. 118.6(3)(b)(iii) was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 76(3), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.6(3)(b)(iii) formerly read:

"(iii) an impairment with respect to the individual's ability in feeding and dressing themself, or in walking, by a medical doctor or an occupational therapist, or"

S. 118.6(3) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 37(4), applicable to certifications made

(a) after February 18, 1997, in the case of a hearing impairment referred to in subparagraph 118.6(3)(b)(ii) of the Act; and

(b) after February 24, 1998, in any other case. S. 118.6(3) formerly read:

"(3) Application of s. (2) to disabled individuals. In calculating the amount deductible under subsection (2) in computing the tax payable under this Part for a taxation year by an individual

(a) in respect of whom an amount may be deducted under section 118.3 for the year, or

(b) who has in the year a mental or physical impairment, if a medical doctor or, where the impairment is an impairment of sight, a medical doctor or an optometrist, has certified in writing that the effects of the impairment on the individual are such that the individual cannot reasonably be expected to be enroled as a full-time student while so impaired, the reference in that subsection to 'full-time student' shall be read as 'student'."

S. 118.6(3) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 57(2), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 146.02(1), "full-time student"; s. 248(1), "amount", "individual".

SECTION 118.61:

► 118.61(1) ◄

(1) Unused tuition, textbook and education tax credits. In this section, an individual's unused tuition, textbook and education tax credits at the end of a taxation year is the amount determined by the formula

$$A + (B - C) - (D + E)$$

where

A is the amount determined under this subsection in respect of the individual at the end of the preceding taxation year;

B is the total of all amounts each of which may be deducted under section 118.5 or 118.6 in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year;

C is the lesser of the value of B and the amount that would be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under this Division (other than an amount deductible under this section and any of sections 118, 118.01, 118.02, 118.03, 118.3 and 118.7);

D is the amount that the individual may deduct under subsection (2) for the year; and

E is the tuition, textbook and education tax credits transferred for the year by the individual to the individual's spouse, common-law partner, parent or grandparent.

History: S. 118.61(1) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 24(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years except that in its application to the 2006 taxation year, the description of C in subsection 118.61(1) is to be read without its reference to section 118.03.

S. 118.61(1) formerly read:

"S. 118.61. (1) Unused tuition and education tax credits. In this section, an individual's unused tuition and education tax credits at the end of a taxation year is the amount determined by the formula

$$A + (B - C) - (D + E)$$

where

A is the individual's unused tuition and education tax credits at the end of the preceding taxation year;

B is the total of all amounts each of which may be deducted under section 118.5 or 118.6 in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year;

C is the lesser of the value of B and the amount that would be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under this Division (other than an amount deductible under this section and any of sections 118, 118.01, 118.3 and 118.7);

D is the amount that the individual may deduct under subsection (2) for the year; and

E is the tuition and education tax credits transferred for the year by the individual to the individual's spouse, common-law partner, parent or grandparent."

S. 118.61(1), the description of C was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 65(1), applicable to the 2002 and subsequent taxation years except that, for taxation years that are after 2001 and before 2005, the description of C in subsection 118.61(1) shall be read as follows:

"C is the lesser of the value of B and the amount that would be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under this Division (other than an amount deductible under this section and any of sections 118, 118.3 and 118.7);"

S. 118.61(1), the description of C formerly read:

"C is the lesser of the value of B and the amount that would be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under any of sections 118.1, 118.2, 118.5, 118.6, 118.62, 118.8, 118.9 and 121;"

S. 118.61(1), the description of C was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 99(1), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.61(1), the description of C formerly read:

"C is the lesser of the value of B and the amount that would be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under section 118.5 or 118.6;"

S. 118.61(1), the description of E was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 8(d), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118.61(1), the description of E formerly read:

"E is the tuition and education tax credits transferred for the year by the individual to the individual's spouse, parent or grandparent."

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

► 118.61(2) ◄

(2) Deduction of carryforward. For the purpose of computing an individual's tax payable under this Part for a taxation year, there may be deducted the lesser of

(a) the amount determined under subsection (1) in respect of the individual at the end of the preceding taxation year, and

(b) the amount that would be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under this Division (other than an amount deductible under this section and any of sections 118, 118.01, 118.02, 118.03, 118.3 and 118.7).

History: S. 118.61(2)(a) and (b) were replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 24(2), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years except that in its application to the 2006 taxation year, paragraph 118.61(2)(b) is to be read without its reference to section 118.03.

S. 118.61(2)(a) and (b) formerly read:

"(a) the individual's unused tuition and education tax credits at the end of the preceding taxation year, and

(b) the amount that would be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under this Division (other than an amount deductible under this section and any of sections 118, 118.01, 118.3 and 118.7)."

S. 118.61(2)(b) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 65(2), applicable to the 2002 and subsequent taxation years except that, for taxation years that are after 2001 and before 2005, paragraph 118.61(2)(b) shall be read as follows:

"(b) the amount that would be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under this Division (other than an amount deductible under this section and any of sections 118, 118.3 and 118.7)."

S. 118.61(2)(b) formerly read:

"(b) the amount that would be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under any of sections 118.1, 118.2, 118.5, 118.6, 118.62, 118.8, 118.9 and 121."

S. 118.61(2)(b) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 99(2), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.61(2)(b) formerly read:

"(b) the amount that would be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under section 118.5 or 118.6 or this section."

S. 118.61 was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 28(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years.

► 118.61(3) ◄

(3) Unused tuition and education tax credits at the end of 2000. [Repealed by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 24(3).]

History: S. 118.61(3) was repealed by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 24(3), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.61(3) formerly read:

"(3) Unused tuition and education tax credits at the end of 2000. For the purpose of determining the amount that may be deducted under subsection (2) in computing an individual's tax payable for a taxation year that begins after 2000, the individual's unused tuition fee and education tax credits at the end of the individual's 2000 taxation year is deemed to be $^{16}/_{17}$ of the amount that would be the individual's unused tuition and education tax credits at the end of that year if this section were read without reference to this subsection."

S. 118.61(3) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 99(3), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years.

► 118.61(4) ◄

(4) Change of appropriate percentage. For the purpose of determining the amount that may be deducted under subsection (2) or 118.6(2.1) in computing an individual's tax payable for a taxation year, in circumstances where the appropriate percentage for the taxation year is different from the appropriate percentage for the preceding taxation year, the individual's unused tuition, textbook and education tax credits at the end of the preceding taxation year is deemed to be the amount determined by the formula

$$A/B \times C$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the current taxation year;

B is the appropriate percentage for the preceding taxation year; and

C is the amount that would be the individual's unused tuition, textbook and education tax credits at the end of the preceding taxation year if this section were read without reference to this subsection.

History: S. 118.61(4) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 24(4), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years, except that for the 2005 and 2006 taxation years, the references to "unused tuition, textbook and education tax credits" in subsection 118.61(4) are to be read as references to "unused tuition and education tax credits".

S. 118.61(4) formerly read:

"(4) Change of appropriate percentage. For the purpose of determining the amount that may be deducted under subsection (2) in computing an individual's tax payable for a taxation year, in circumstances where the appropriate percentage for the taxation year is different from the appropriate percentage for the preceding taxation year, the individual's unused tuition fee and education tax credit at the end of the preceding taxation year is deemed to be the amount determined by the formula

$$A/B \times C$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the current taxation year;

B is the appropriate percentage for the preceding taxation year; and

C is the amount that would be the individual's unused tuition and education tax credits at the end of the preceding taxation year if this section were read without reference to this subsection."

S. 118.61(4) was added by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 65(3), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

SECTION 118.62: Credit for interest on student loan.

For the purpose of computing an individual's tax payable under this Part for a taxation year, there may be deducted the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year; and

B is the total of all amounts (other than any amount paid on account of or in satisfaction of a judgement) each of which is an amount of interest paid in the year (or in any of the five preceding taxation years that are after 1997, to the extent that it was not included in computing a deduction under this section for any other taxation year) by the individual or a person related to the individual on a loan made to, or other amount owing by, the individual under the Canada Student Loans Act, the Canada Student Financial Assistance Act or a law of a province governing the granting of financial assistance to students at the post-secondary school level.

History: S. 118.62 was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 38(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 118.91 Part-year residents; s. 118.92 Ordering of credits; s. 118.95 Credits in year of bankruptcy.

Guides: P105 Students and Income Tax.

SECTION 118.7: Credit for UI [EI] premium and CPP contribution.

For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year, there may be deducted an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year; and

B is the total of

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount payable by the individual as an employee's premium for the year under the Employment Insurance Act, not exceeding the maximum amount of such premiums payable by the individual for the year under that Act,

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount payable by the individual for the year as an employee's contribution under the Canada Pension Plan or under a provincial pension plan defined in section 3 of that Act, not exceeding the maximum amount of such contributions payable by the individual for the year under the plan, and

(c) the amount by which

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount payable by the individual in respect of self-employed earnings for the year as a contribution under the Canada Pension Plan or under a provincial pension plan within the meaning assigned by section 3 of that Act (not exceeding the maximum amount of such contributions payable by the individual for the year under the plan)

exceeds

(ii) the amount deductible under paragraph 60(e) in computing the individual's income for the year.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Section 118.7 of the Act is replaced by the following:

SECTION 118.7: Credit for EI and QPIP premiums and CPP contributions.

For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year, there may be deducted an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year; and

B is the total of

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount payable by the individual as an employee's premium for the year under the Employment Insurance Act, not exceeding the maximum amount of such premiums payable by the individual for the year under that Act,

(a.1) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount payable by the individual as an employee's premium for the year under the Act respecting parental insurance, R.S.Q., c. A-29.011, not exceeding the maximum amount of such premiums payable by the individual for the year under that Act,

(a.2) the amount, if any, by which the total of all amounts each of which is an amount payable by the individual in respect of self-employed earnings for the year as a premium under the Act respecting parental insurance, R.S.Q., c. A-29.011, (not exceeding the maximum amount of such premiums payable by the individual for the year under that Act) exceeds the amount deductible under paragraph 60(g) in computing the individual's income for the year,

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount payable by the individual for the year as an employee's contribution under the Canada Pension Plan or under a provincial pension plan defined in section 3 of that Act, not exceeding the maximum amount of such contributions payable by the individual for the year under the plan, and

(c) the amount by which

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount payable by the individual in respect of self-employed earnings for the year as a contribution under the Canada Pension Plan or under a provincial pension plan within the meaning assigned by section 3 of that Act (not exceeding the maximum amount of such contributions payable by the individual for the year under the plan)

exceeds

(ii) the amount deductible under paragraph 60(e) in computing the individual's income for the year.

Applicable: To the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

Explanatory Note: Section 118.7 of the Act provides the formula for calculating an individual's tax credit in respect of CPP/QPP contributions and employment insurance premiums. Section 118.7 is amended, consequential to the introduction of the new Quebec Parental Insurance Plan(QPIP) on January 1, 2006, to provide for a tax credit in respect of premiums paid under that Plan. The marginal note is also amended to add a reference to the QPIP. This amendment applies to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

History: S. 118.7, paragraph (c) of the description of B was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 100(1), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.7, paragraph (c) of the description of B formerly read:

"(c) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount payable by the individual in respect of self-employed earnings for the year as a contribution under the Canada Pension Plan or under a provincial pension plan as defined in section 3 of that Act, not exceeding the maximum amount of such contributions payable by the individual for the year under the plan."

S. 118.7(a) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 23, s. 187, by replacing the expression "Unemployment Insurance Act" with the expression "Employment Insurance Act", effective June 30, 1996.

Related Sections: S. 8(1)(l.1) C.P.P. contributions and E.I. premiums.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary – IT-171R2 Non-resident individuals — Computation of taxable income earned in Canada and non-refundable tax credits [Archived by the CRA]; IT-515R2 Education tax credit; IT-516R2 Tuition tax credit; IT-519R2 (Consolid.) Medical expense and disability tax credits and attendant care expense deduction.

Information Circulars: IC 07-1 Taxpayer Relief Provisions.

Forms: T2204.

SECTION 118.8: Transfer of unused credits to spouse or common-law partner.

For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part for a taxation year by an individual who, at any time in the year, is a married person or a person who is in a common-law partnership (other than an individual who, by reason of a breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership, is living separate and apart from the individual's spouse or common-law partner at the end of the year and for a period of 90 days commencing in the year), there may be deducted an amount determined by the formula

$$A + B - C$$

where

A is the tuition, textbook and education tax credits transferred for the year by the spouse or common-law partner to the individual;

B is the total of all amounts each of which is deductible under subsection 118(1), because of paragraph (b.1) of the description of B in that subsection, or subsection 118(2) or (3) or 118.3(1) in computing the spouse's or common-law partner's tax payable under this Part for the year; and

C is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the amount that would be the spouse's or common-law partner's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under this Division (other than an amount deductible under subsection 118(1) because of paragraph (c) of the description of B in that subsection or under section 118.61 or 118.7)

exceeds

(b) the lesser of

(i) the total of all amounts that may be deducted under section 118.5 or 118.6 in computing the spouse's or common-law partner's tax payable under this Part for the year, and

(ii) the amount that would be the spouse's or common-law partner's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under this Division (other than an amount deductible under section 118, 118.01, 118.02, 118.03, 118.3, 118.61 or 118.7).

History: S. 118.8, the description of B was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 10(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.8, the description of B formerly read:

"B is the total of all amounts each of which is deductible under subsection 118(2) or (3) or 118.3(1) in computing the spouse's or common-law partner's tax payable under this Part for the year; and"

S. 118.8, the description of A was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 25(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.8, the description of A formerly read:

"A is the tuition and education tax credits transferred for the year by the spouse or common-law partner to the individual;"

S. 118.8, subparagraph (b)(ii) of the description of C was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 25(2), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years except that

(a) in its application to the 2005 taxation year, subparagraph (b)(ii) of the description of C in section 118.8 is to be read without its reference to section 118.02; and

(b) in its application to the 2005 and 2006 taxation years, subparagraph (b)(ii) of the description of C in section 118.8 is to be read without its reference to section 118.03.

S. 118.8, subparagraph (b)(ii) of the description of C formerly read:

"(ii) the amount that would be the spouse's or common-law partner's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under this Division (other than an amount deductible under section 118, 118.3, 118.61 or 118.7)."

S. 118.8, the portion before the formula, was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, s. 133, applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118.8, the portion before the formula formerly read:

"S. 118.8. Transfer of unused credits to spouse. For the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part for a taxation year by an individual who, at any time in the year, is a married person (other than an individual who, by reason of a breakdown of their marriage, is living separate and apart from the individual's spouse at the end of the year and for a period of 90 days commencing in the year), there may be deducted an amount determined by the formula"

S. 118.8, the description of A, was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.8), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118.8, the description of A, formerly read:

"A is the tuition and education tax credits transferred for the year by the spouse to the individual;"

S. 118.8, the descriptions of B and C were amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 7(g), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118.8, the descriptions of B and C formerly read:

"B is the total of all amounts each of which is deductible under subsection 118(2) or (3) or 118.3(1) in computing the spouse's tax payable under this Part for the year; and

C is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the amount that would be the spouse's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under this Division (other than an amount deductible under subsection 118(1) because of paragraph (c) of the description of B in that subsection or under section 118.61 or 118.7) exceeds

(b) the lesser of

(i) the total of all amounts that may be deducted under section 118.5 or 118.6 in computing the spouse's tax payable under this Part for the year, and

(ii) the amount that would be the spouse's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under this Division (other than an amount deductible under section 118, 118.3, 118.61 or 118.7)."

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.8, paragraph (a) of the description of C was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 26(1), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.8, paragraph (a) of the description of C formerly read:

"(a) the amount that would be the spouse's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under this Division (other than an amount deductible under subsection 118(1) because of paragraph (b.1) or (c) of the description of B in that subsection or under section 118.61 or 118.7)"

S. 118.8, paragraph (a) of the description of C, was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 39(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.8, paragraph (a) of the description of C formerly read:

"(a) the amount that would be the spouse's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under this Division (other than an amount deductible under subsection 118(1) because of paragraph (c) of the description of B in that subsection or under section 118.61 or 118.7)"

S. 118.8, the description of C was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 29(2), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.8, the description of C formerly read:

"C is the spouse's tax payable under this Part for the year computed before any deductions under this Division (other than a deduction under subsection 118(1) because of paragraph (c) of the description of B in that subsection or under section 118.7)."

S. 118.8, the description of A was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 29(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.8, the description of A formerly read:

"A is the lesser of $850 and the total of all amounts each of which is deductible under section 118.5 or 118.6 in computing the spouse's tax payable under this Part for the year;"

S. 118.8, the descriptions of A, B, and C, were amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 29(1), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. Those parts formerly read:

"A is the lesser of $680 and the total of all amounts that the individual's spouse may deduct under section 118.5 or 118.6 for the year;

B is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount that the individual's spouse may deduct for the year under subsection 118(2) or (3) or 118.3(1); and

C is the amount of the individual's spouse's tax payable under this Part for the year computed before any deductions under this Division (other than a deduction under subsection 118(1) by reason of paragraph 118(1)(c) or under section 118.7)."

S. 118.8, the description of "A", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 58(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.8, the description of "A", formerly read:

"A is the lesser of $600 and the total of all amounts each of which is an amount that the individual's spouse may deduct for the year under section 118.5 or 118.6;"

Related Sections: S. 248(1), "amount", "common-law partner", "individual".

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-171R2 Non-resident individuals — Computation of taxable income earned in Canada and non-refundable tax credits [Archived by the CRA]; IT-470R (Consolid.) Employees' fringe benefits; IT-513R Personal tax credits; IT-515R2 Education tax credit; IT-516R2 Tuition tax credit; IT-517R Pension tax credit [Archived by the CRA]; IT-519R2 (Consolid.) Medical expense and disability tax credits and attendant care expense deduction.

SECTION 118.81: Tuition, textbook and education tax credits transferred.

In this subdivision, the tuition, textbook and education tax credits transferred for a taxation year by a person to an individual is the lesser of

(a) the amount determined by the formula

$$A - B$$

where

A is the lesser of

(i) the total of all amounts that may be deducted under section 118.5 or 118.6 in computing the person's tax payable under this Part for the year, and

(ii) the amount determined by the formula

$$C \times D$$

where

C is the appropriate percentage for the taxation year, and

D is $5,000;

B is the amount that would be the person's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under this Division (other than an amount deductible under any of sections 118, 118.01, 118.02, 118.03, 118.3, 118.61 and 118.7), and (b) the amount for the year that the person designates in writing for the purpose of section 118.8 or 118.9.

History: S. 118.81, the portion before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 26(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.81, the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"S. 118.81. Tuition and education tax credits transferred. In this subdivision, the tuition and education tax credits transferred for a taxation year by a person to an individual is the lesser of"

S. 118.81, the description of B was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 26(2), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to the 2006 taxation year, the description of B in paragraph 118.81(a) is to be read without its reference to section 118.03.

S. 118.81, the description of B formerly read:

"B is the amount that would be the person's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under this Division (other than an amount deductible under any of sections 118, 118.01, 118.3, 118.61 and 118.7), and"

S. 118.81(a), subparagraph (ii) of the description of A was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 66(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.81(a), subparagraph (ii) of the description of A formerly read:

"(ii) $800, and"

S. 118.81(a), the description of B was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 66(2), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.81(a), the description of B formerly read:

"B is the amount that would be the person's tax payable under this Part for the year if no amount were deductible under this Division (other than an amount deductible under section 118, 118.3, 118.61 or 118.7), and"

S. 118.81(a), subparagraph (ii) of the description of A was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 101(1), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.81(a), subparagraph (ii) of the description of A formerly read:

"(ii) $850, and"

S. 118.81 was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 30(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years.

SECTION 118.9: Transfer to parent or grandparent.

If for a taxation year a parent or grandparent of an individual (other than an individual in respect of whom the individual's spouse or common-law partner deducts an amount under section 118 or 118.8 for the year) is the only person designated in writing by the individual for the year for the purpose of this section, there may be deducted in computing the tax payable under this Part for the year by the parent or grandparent, as the case may be, the tuition, textbook and education tax credits transferred for the year by the individual to the parent or grandparent, as the case may be.

History: S. 118.9 was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 27(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.9 formerly read:

"S. 118.9. Transfer to parent or grandparent. Where for a taxation year a parent or grandparent of an individual (other than an individual in respect of whom the individual's spouse or common-law partner deducts an amount under section 118 or 118.8 for the year) is the only person designated in writing by the individual for the year for the purpose of this section, there may be deducted in computing the tax payable under this Part for the year by the parent or grandparent, as the case may be, the tuition and education tax credits transferred for the year by the individual to the parent or grandparent, as the case may be."

S. 118.9 was replaced by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.9), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 118.9 formerly read:

"S. 118.9. Transfer to parent or grandparent. Where for a taxation year a parent or grandparent of an individual (other than an individual in respect of whom the individual's spouse deducts an amount under section 118 or 118.8 for the year) is the only person designated in writing by the individual for the year for the purpose of this section, there may be deducted in computing the tax payable under this Part for the year by the parent or grandparent, as the case may be, the tuition and education tax credits transferred for the year by the individual to the parent or grandparent, as the case may be."

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.9 was replaced by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 30(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.9 formerly read:

"S. 118.9. Transfers to supporting person.

(1) Where the parent or grandparent of an individual (other than an individual in respect of whom the individual's spouse deducts an amount under section 118 or 118.8 for the year) files with the Minister for a taxation year a prescribed form containing prescribed information, there may be deducted in computing the tax payable by the parent or grandparent, as the case may be, under this Part for the year an amount determined by the formula

A – B

where

A is the lesser of $850 and the total of all amounts each of which is deductible under section 118.5 or 118.6 in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year; and

B is the amount of the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year computed before any deductions under this Division (other than sections 118, 118.3 and 118.7).

(2) Only one claim per student. Where in computing his or her tax payable under this Part for a taxation year a parent or grandparent of an individual has deducted an amount under section 118 in respect of the individual, that parent or grandparent, as the case may be, is the only person entitled to deduct an amount for the year under subsection (1) in respect of the individual and in any other case only such one of the parents and grandparents of the individual as is designated for the year in writing by the individual is entitled to make such a deduction for the year."

S. 118.9(1), the description of A, was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 30(1), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. That part formerly read:

"A is the lesser of $680 and the total of all amounts that the individual may deduct under section 118.5 or 118.6 for the year; and"

S. 118.9(1), the description of "A", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 59(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.9(1), the description of "A", formerly read:

"A is the lesser of

(a) $600, and

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount that the individual may deduct under section 118.6 for the year or an amount that the individual would have been entitled to deduct under subsection 118.5(1) for the year if the reference in paragraph 118.5(1)(a) to 'the amount of any fees for the individual's tuition paid in respect of the year to the educational institution' were read as a reference to 'that portion of the individual's fees paid in respect of the year that can reasonably be considered to have been paid in respect of a qualifying educational program of an educational institution described in subparagraph (a)(i) of the definition "designated educational institution" in subsection 118.6(1)'; and"

S. 118.9(1), the description of "A" was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 94(1), applicable to fees relating to periods after June 1990. The description formerly read:

"A is the lesser of $600 and the total of all amounts each of which is an amount the individual may deduct for the year under section 118.5 or 118.6; and"

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-171R2 Non-resident individuals — Computation of taxable income earned in Canada and non-refundable tax credits [Archived by the CRA]; IT-470R (Consolid.) Employees' fringe benefits; IT-515R2 Education tax credit; IT-516R2 Tuition tax credit.

SECTION 118.91: Part-year residents.

Notwithstanding sections 118 to 118.9, where an individual is resident in Canada throughout part of a taxation year and throughout another part of the year is non-resident, for the purpose of computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year,

(a) the amount deductible for the year under each such provision in respect of the part of the year that is not included in the period or periods referred to in paragraph (b) shall be computed as though such part were the whole taxation year; and

(b) the individual shall be allowed only

(i) such of the deductions permitted under subsections 118(3), (10) and 118.6(2.1) and sections 118.01, 118.02, 118.03, 118.1, 118.2, 118.5, 118.6, 118.62 and 118.7 as can reasonably be considered wholly applicable, and

(ii) such part of the deductions permitted under sections 118 (other than subsection 118(3)), 118.3,118.8 and 118.9 as can reasonably be considered applicable to the period or periods in the year throughout which the individual is resident in Canada, computed as though that period or those periods were the whole taxation year, except that the amount deductible for the year by the individual under each such provision shall not exceed the amount that would have been deductible under that provision had the individual been resident in Canada throughout the year.

History: S. 118.91(b)(i) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 28(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to the 2006 taxation year, subparagraph 118.91(b)(i) is to be read without its reference to section 118.03.

S. 118.91(b)(i) formerly read:

"(i) such of the deductions permitted under subsection 118(3) and sections 118.01, 118.1, 118.2, 118.5, 118.6, 118.62 and 118.7 as can reasonably be considered wholly applicable, and"

S. 118.91(b)(i) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 67(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.91(b)(i) formerly read:

"(i) such of the deductions permitted under subsection 118(3) and sections 118.1, 118.2, 118.5, 118.6, 118.62 and 118.7 as can reasonably be considered wholly applicable, and"

S. 118.91(b)(i) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 40(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.91(b)(i) formerly read:

"(i) such of the deductions permitted under subsection 118(3) and sections 118.1, 118.2, 118.5, 118.6 and 118.7 as can reasonably be considered wholly applicable, and"

S. 118.91, that portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 55(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years except that, where a taxpayer elects in accordance with the application provision to section 114 provided by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 52(2), the amendment to the portion does not apply to the taxpayer's 1992 taxation year. S. 118.91, that portion before paragraph (a), formerly read:

"S. 118.91. 'Part-year residents'. Notwithstanding the provisions of sections 118 to 118.9, where an individual is resident in Canada throughout part of a taxation year and throughout some other part of the year is not resident in Canada, is not employed in Canada and is not carrying on business in Canada, for the purpose of computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year,"

S. 118.91, that portion of paragraph (b) after subparagraph (ii), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 55(2), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years except that, where a taxpayer elects in accordance with the application provision to section 114 provided by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 52(2), the amendment to the portion does not apply to the taxpayer's 1992 taxation year. S. 118.91(b), that portion after subparagraph (ii), formerly read:

"to the period or periods in the year throughout which the individual is resident in Canada, is employed in Canada or is carrying on business in Canada, computed as though the period or periods were the whole taxation year,"

S. 118.91 was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 95(1), applicable to the 1988 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.91 formerly read:

"S. 118.91. 'Individual resident in Canada for part of the year'. Notwithstanding sections 118 to 118.9, where an individual is resident in Canada during part of a taxation year and during some other part of the year is not resident in Canada, is not employed in Canada and is not carrying on business in Canada, unless all or substantially all of the individual's income for the year is included in computing the individual's taxable income for the year, no amounts may be deducted under those sections for the purpose of computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year except the total of

(a) the deductions permitted under sections 118.1, 118.2, 118.5, 118.6 and 118.7 to taxpayers resident in Canada throughout the year for the purpose of computing tax payable under this Part for the year that may reasonably be considered wholly applicable to the individual for the period or periods in the year throughout which the individual is resident in Canada, employed in Canada or carrying on business in Canada, and

(b) such part of the deductions permitted under sections 118, 118.3, 118.8 and 118.9 to taxpayers resident in Canada throughout the year for the purpose of computing tax payable under this Part for the year as may reasonably be considered applicable to the individual for the period or periods referred to in paragraph (a)."

SECTION 118.92: Ordering of credits.

In computing an individual's tax payable under this Part, the following provisions shall be applied in the following order: subsections 118(1) and (2), section 118.7, subsections 118(3) and (10) and sections 118.01, 118.02, 118.03, 118.3, 118.61, 118.5, 118.6, 118.9, 118.8, 118.2, 118.1, 118.62 and 121.

History: S. 118.92 was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 29(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to the 2006 taxation year, section 118.92 is to be read without its reference to section 118.03.

S. 118.92 formerly read:

"S. 118.92. Ordering of credits. In computing an individual's tax payable under this Part, the following provisions shall be applied in the following order: subsections 118(1) and (2), section 118.7, subsection 118(3) and sections 118.01, 118.3, 118.61, 118.5, 118.6, 118.9, 118.8, 118.2, 118.1, 118.62 and 121."

S. 118.92 was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 68(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.92 formerly read:

"S. 118.92. Ordering of credits. In computing an individual's tax payable under this Part, the following provisions shall be applied in the following order: subsections 118(1) and (2), section 118.7, subsection 118(3) and sections 118.3, 118.61, 118.5, 118.6, 118.9, 118.8, 118.2, 118.1, 118.62 and 121."

S. 118.92 was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 41(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.92 formerly read:

"S. 118.92. Ordering of credits. In computing an individual's tax payable under this Part, the following provisions shall be applied in the following order: subsections 118(1) and (2), section 118.7, subsection 118(3) and sections 118.3, 118.61, 118.5, 118.6, 118.9, 118.8, 118.2, 118.1 and 121."

S. 118.92 was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 31(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.92 formerly read:

"S. 118.92. Ordering of credits. In computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual the following provisions shall be applied in the following order: subsections 118(1) and (2), section 118.7, subsection 118(3) and sections 118.3, 118.5, 118.6, 118.9, 118.8, 118.2, 118.1 and 121."

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-523 Order of provisions applicable in computing an individual's taxable income and tax payable.

SECTION 118.93: Credits in separate returns.

If a separate return of income with respect to a taxpayer is filed under subsection 70(2), 104(23) or 150(4) for a particular period and another return of income under this Part with respect to the taxpayer is filed for a period ending in the calendar year in which the particular period ends, for the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by the taxpayer in those returns, the total of all deductions claimed in all those returns under any of subsections 118(3) and (10) and sections 118.01 to 118.7 and 118.9 shall not exceed the total that could be deducted under those provisions for the year with respect to the taxpayer if no separate returns were filed under any of subsections 70(2), 104(23) and 150(4).

History: S. 118.93 was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 29(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.93 formerly read:

"S. 118.93. Credits in separate returns. Where a separate return of income with respect to a taxpayer is filed under subsection 70(2), 104(23) or 150(4) for a particular period and another return of income under this Part with respect to the taxpayer is filed for a period ending in the calendar year in which the particular period ends, for the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by the taxpayer in those returns, the total of all deductions claimed in all those returns under any of subsection 118(3) and sections 118.01 to 118.7 and 118.9 shall not exceed the total that could be deducted under those provisions for the year with respect to the taxpayer if no separate returns were filed under subsections 70(2), 104(23) and 150(4)."

S. 118.93 was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 68(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.93 formerly read:

"S. 118.93. Credits in separate returns. Where a separate return of income with respect to a taxpayer is filed under subsection 70(2), 104(23) or 150(4) for a particular period and another return of income under this Part with respect to the taxpayer is filed for a period ending in the calendar year in which the particular period ends, for the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part by the taxpayer in those returns, the total of all deductions claimed in all those returns under any of subsection 118(3) and sections 118.1 to 118.7 and 118.9 shall not exceed the total that could be deducted under those provisions for the year with respect to the taxpayer if no separate returns were filed under subsections 70(2), 104(23) and 150(4)."

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-326R3 Returns of deceased persons as "another person". Secondary — IT-517R Pension tax credit [Archived by the CRA].

SECTION 118.94: Tax payable by non-residents (credits restricted).

Sections 118, 118.01, 118.02, 118.03 and 118.2, subsections 118.3(2) and (3) and sections 118.6, 118.8 and 118.9 do not apply for the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part for a taxation year by an individual who at no time in the year is resident in Canada unless all or substantially all of the individual's income for the year is included in computing the individual's taxable income earned in Canada for the year.

History: S. 118.94 was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 29(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to the 2006 taxation year, section 118.94 is to be read without its reference to section 118.03.

S. 118.94 formerly read:

"S. 118.94. Tax payable by non-residents (credits restricted). Sections 118, 118.01 and 118.2, subsections 118.3(2) and (3) and sections 118.6, 118.8 and 118.9 do not apply for the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part for a taxation year by an individual who at no time in the year is resident in Canada unless all or substantially all of the individual's income for the year is included in computing the individual's taxable income earned in Canada for the year."

S. 118.94 was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 68(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.94 formerly read:

"S. 118.94. Tax payable by non-resident. Sections 118 and 118.2, subsections 118.3(2) and (3) and sections 118.6, 118.8 and 118.9 do not apply for the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part for a taxation year by an individual who at no time in the year is resident in Canada unless all or substantially all of the individual's income for the year is included in computing the individual's taxable income earned in Canada for the year."

S. 118.94 was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 96(1), applicable to the 1988 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.94 formerly read:

"S. 118.94. 'Computing tax payable by a non-resident individual'. Sections 118 and 118.2, subsections 118.3(2) and (3) and sections 118.5 to 118.9 do not apply for the purpose of computing the tax payable under this Part for a taxation year by an individual who at no time in the year is resident in Canada, except that, where all or substantially all of the individual's income for the year is included in computing the individual's taxable income earned in Canada for the year, for the purpose of computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year there may be deducted the amounts that would have been deductible under those provisions for the purpose of computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year had the individual been resident in Canada throughout the year."

Related Sections: S. 115(1) Non-resident's taxable income in Canada; s. 118.94 Tax payable by non-residents (credits restricted); s. 217 Alternative re Canadian benefits; s. 248, "amount", "individual", "non-resident", "taxable income earned in Canada"; s. 255 Canada.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-171R2 Non-resident individuals — Computation of taxable income earned in Canada and non-refundable tax credits [Archived by the CRA].

SECTION 118.95: Credits in year of bankruptcy.

Notwithstanding sections 118 to 118.9, for the purpose of computing an individual's tax payable under this Part for a taxation year that ends in a calendar year in which the individual becomes bankrupt, the individual shall be allowed only

(a) such of the deductions as the individual is entitled to under subsections 118(3) and (10) and sections 118.01, 118.02, 118.03, 118.1, 118.2, 118.5, 118.6, 118.62 and 118.7 as can reasonably be considered wholly applicable to the taxation year, and

(b) such part of the deductions as the individual is entitled to under sections 118 (other than subsection 118(3)), 118.3, 118.8 and 118.9 as can reasonably be considered applicable to the taxation year, except that the total of the amounts so deductible for all taxation years of the individual in the calendar year under any of those provisions shall not exceed the amount that would have been deductible under that provision in respect of the calendar year if the individual had not become bankrupt.

History: S. 118.95(a) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 30(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to the 2006 taxation year, paragraph 118.95(a) is to be read without its reference to section 118.03.

S. 118.95(a) formerly read:

"(a) such of the deductions as the individual is entitled to under subsection 118(3) and sections 118.01, 118.1, 118.2, 118.5, 118.6, 118.62 and 118.7 as can reasonably be considered wholly applicable to the taxation year, and"

S. 118.95(a) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 69(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 118.95(a) formerly read:

"(a) such of the deductions as the individual is entitled to under subsection 118(3) and sections 118.1, 118.2, 118.5, 118.6, 118.62 and 118.7 as can reasonably be considered wholly applicable to the taxation year, and"

S. 118.95(a) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 42(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 118.95(a) formerly read:

"(a) such of the deductions as the individual is entitled to under subsection 118(3) and sections 118.1, 118.2, 118.5, 118.6 and 118.7 as can reasonably be considered wholly applicable to the taxation year, and"

S. 118.95 was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 136(1), applicable to bankruptcies that occur after April 26, 1995.

Related Sections: S. 120.2(4) Where subsection (1) does not apply; s. 122.5(7) Effect of bankruptcy; s. 122.61(3.1) Effect of bankruptcy; s. 127.1(1) Refundable investment tax credit; s. 128(2) Where individual bankrupt; s. 248(1), "bankrupt".

SECTION 119: Former resident — credit for tax paid.

If at any particular time an individual was deemed by subsection 128.1(4) to have disposed of a capital property that was a taxable Canadian property of the individual throughout the period that began at the particular time and that ends at the first time, after the particular time, at which the individual disposes of the property, there may be deducted in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the taxation year that includes the particular time the lesser of

(a) that proportion of the individual's tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part (within the meaning assigned by paragraph (a) of the definition "tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part" in subsection 126(7)) that

(i) the individual's taxable capital gain from the disposition of the property at the particular time

is of

(ii) the amount determined under paragraph 114(a) in respect of the individual for the year, and

(b) that proportion of the individual's tax payable under Part XIII in respect of dividends received during the period by the individual in respect of the property and amounts deemed under Part XIII to have been paid during the period to the individual as dividends from corporations resident in Canada, to the extent that the amounts can reasonably be considered to relate to the property, that

(i) the amount by which the individual's loss from the disposition of the property at the end of the period is reduced by subsection 40(3.7)

is of

(ii) the total amount of those dividends.

Department of Finance Comfort Letter [Section 119 Credit for Taxpayer Who Paid Minimum Tax]

December 7, 2004

Dear XXXX

I am responding to your letter dated October 1, 2004 regarding the effective date of proposed amendments concerning the determination of alternative minimum tax (AMT) and the ability of an individual to claim a credit under section 119 of the Income Tax Act (the "Act"). Section 119 allows for a tax credit to alleviate the overlap of tax resulting from a subsection 128.1(4) deemed disposition of a capital property and the Part XIII tax on dividends that reduce the taxpayer's loss on that property.

As you know, I have indicated that I am prepared to recommend an amendment to the Act so that a taxpayer who has paid AMT for the year of emigration is not barred from claiming a section 119 credit. In addition, I have indicated that I am prepared to recommend an amendment that would prevent a taxpayer from being reassessed and subjected to AMT for the year of departure from Canada due solely to the application of a section 119 credit to that year. I proposed that these amendments apply to an individual's 2002 and subsequent taxation years.

In your letter you request that the proposed amendments have effect from 1997 in order to provide relief to the individual on whose behalf you contacted us. Following further review of the policy considerations behind these proposed amendments, I believe there is justification for a retroactive application date that corresponds with the inception of the section 119 credit. Therefore, I am prepared to recommend that the proposed amendments affect dispositions after December 23, 1998 by individuals who ceased to be resident in Canada after October 1, 1996.

As I am sure you know, I cannot offer any assurance that either the Minister of Finance or Parliament will agree with the recommendation that we intend to make in this regard. Nonetheless, I hope that this statement of our position is helpful.

Yours sincerely,

Brian Ernewein
Director
Tax Legislation Division
Tax Policy Branch

Department of Finance Comfort Letter [Section 119 — Tax Credit and Alternative Minimum Tax]

September 9, 2004

Dear XXXX

I am responding to your letter dated March 3, 2004 to Mr. Lawrence Purdy of this Division regarding the interaction of the income tax rules relating to the determination of alternative minimum tax ("AMT"), and the ability of an individual to claim a credit under section 119 of the Income Tax Act (the "Act").

As you know, the purpose behind section 119 is to alleviate a situation where a taxpayer would be subject to taxation both on a gain arising as a result of the section 128.1 deemed disposition of shares held by the taxpayer on emigration from Canada, and on any subsequent dividends the taxpayer received on these shares and in respect of which Part XIII tax was withheld. Although the Act does not allow the taxpayer who has received dividends to claim a capital loss on the subsequent disposition of these shares, the payment of Part XIII tax can be seen as a substitute for the Part I tax paid on the gain. Section 119 therefore allows a credit to offset the potential double taxation. The credit is limited to the lesser of two amounts: that portion of the Part XIII tax paid that the denied loss is of the dividends received; and the amount of tax liability resulting from the deemed gain on the taxpayer's departure from Canada.

In your letter you describe a situation in which your client is being reassessed for the client's year of departure due to the client claiming a section 119 credit. My understanding of your client's situation is as follows. When your client emigrated from Canada your client incurred a tax liability because of the deemed disposition of assets owned by your client, which included shares.

Subsequent to departure your client received dividends on these shares, for which Part XIII withholding tax was paid. Upon disposition of the shares, any loss that may have resulted was not available to your client due to the stop loss rules contained in subsection 40(3.7). However, your client did claim a section 119 credit and requested that the credit be applied against the tax liability arising on the gain on the shares that was triggered in the year of emigration.

You advise that the Canada Revenue Agency (the "CRA") has since notified your client that the client's emigration year tax return is now being reassessed to apply AMT. This is because the section 119 credit as applied to that year has reduced your client's tax payable for the year to a level at which AMT applies. In your view, this negates the purpose of the section 119 credit, as your client is faced with double taxation, since part of the AMT represents tax on the gain from the deemed disposition on departure. You request that we recommend an amendment to the Act, so as to allow your client the ability to claim a full section 119 credit without this claim causing the AMT rules to apply.

Again as I am sure you know, the purpose to the AMT rules is to ensure that individual taxpayers who have significant income pay at least a minimum amount of tax in any particular year. These rules generally speaking recalculate a taxpayer's tax payable by redetermining the taxpayer's income for the year. Essentially the taxpayer adds back to their income what are generally known as "preferences" or deductions that the taxpayer is entitled to. If the amount of AMT determined is greater than the amount of regular Part I tax payable then the taxpayer is liable for the AMT amount.

The interaction between AMT, regular Part I tax and section 119 credits is complex. And it seems to me that there are two potential situations when a difficulty could result. The first situation is one in which the taxpayer was assessed AMT for the year of departure, and subsequently attempts to claim a section 119 credit for that year. It is my understanding that the CRA has advised you that the current rules would not allow the taxpayer in this situation to claim such a credit. Although the purpose of AMT is to ensure an individual pays a minimum amount of tax, I agree with you that, in policy terms, a taxpayer should not be restricted from claiming a section 119 credit merely because the taxpayer was subject to AMT. To do so could result in the potential for double taxation that section 119 is designed to avoid.

The second situation in which a difficulty could arise is the situation your client appears to be facing. In this second instance, the taxpayer was assessed regular Part I tax for the year of departure. In claiming a section 119 credit for that year, the taxpayer is then reassessed because the section 119 credit reduces the regular Part I tax payable to an amount below the tax payable under the AMT rules. The taxpayer is then assessed the higher AMT tax payable for that year. In this situation too, I see no reason in policy terms why a taxpayer should be made subject to AMT simply because the taxpayer claimed a section 119 credit.

This being the case, I am prepared to recommend an amendment to the Income Tax Act so that a taxpayer that has paid AMT for the taxpayer year of emigration is not barred from claiming a section 119 credit. In addition, I am willing to recommend an amendment that would prevent a taxpayer from being reassessed and subjected to AMT for the year of departure from Canada due solely to the application of a section 119 credit to that year.

I note in your letter that you request this amendment be retroactive to the effective date for the application of section 119, which was to dispositions that occurred after December 23, 1998 for individuals that departed Canada after October 1, 1996. We do not normally recommend that changes such as this be made on such a markedly retroactive basis, since both taxpayers and the Government need to be able to rely at any particular time on the law as it exists at that time. Exceptionally, however, we do recommend linking a relieving change to the transaction or circumstance that makes the Government aware of the need for the change. In this case, it is our understanding that this fact situation applies to your client's 2002 taxation year and therefore we are willing to recommend that this change apply to an individual's 2002 and subsequent taxation years.

I cannot offer any assurance that either the Minister of Finance or Parliament will agree with the recommendation that we intend to make in this regard. Nonetheless, I hope that this statement of our position is helpful. Thank you for bringing this issue to our attention.

Yours sincerely,

Brian Ernewein
Director
Tax Legislation Division
Tax Policy Branch

History: S. 119 was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 102(2), applicable to dispositions after December 23, 1998 by individuals who cease to be resident in Canada after October 1, 1996.

S. 119 was repealed by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 102(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years. S. 119 formerly read:

"S. 119. Averaging for farmers and fishermen.

(1) Where an individual's chief source of income has been farming or fishing for a taxation year (in this section referred to as the 'year of averaging') and the 4 immediately preceding years for which the individual has filed returns of income as required by this Part (in this section referred to as the 'preceding years'), if the individual, on or before the day on or before which the individual was required to file a return of the individual's income for the year of averaging, or on or before the day on or before which the individual would have been required to file such a return if any tax had been payable by the individual for the year of averaging, files with the Minister an election in prescribed form, the tax payable under this Part for the year of averaging is an amount determined by the following rules:

(a) ascertain the amount, if any, remaining after deducting from the income for each year of the averaging period (which, in this section, means the year of averaging and the preceding years) all deductions permitted for that year by Division C, except the deductions permitted by section 110.4 of this Act or section 109 of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, or any amount in respect of a loss for the 3 years immediately following the year of averaging or any amount in respect of a loss deducted under this paragraph from income for a preceding taxation year in the averaging period,

(b) determine the amount (in this section referred to as the 'average gross income') equal to 1/5 of the amount by which

(i) the total of the amounts determined under paragraph (a) for the years in the averaging period,

exceeds

(ii) the total of the amounts that would be deductible in respect of the losses for the taxation years in the averaging period in computing the taxable income for the year immediately following the year of averaging if the individual's income from the same business for that year were the total of the amounts determined under paragraph (a) for the years in the averaging period,

(c) determine the amount (in this section referred to as the 'average net income') for each year in the averaging period equal to the average gross income minus the deductions permitted for that year by section 109 of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952,

(d) determine the amount (in this section referred to as the 'average tax') for each year in the averaging period equal to the tax that would be payable under this Part for the year if the taxable income for the year were the average net income for the year and no amount were deductible under subsection 127(5) for the year,

(e) determine the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of the average taxes as determined under paragraph (d)

exceeds

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under subsection 127(5) in computing the tax payable for the preceding years other than any amount deemed by subsection 127.1(3) to have been so deducted,

(f) where

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount deemed by subsection 120(2) to have been paid on account of tax under this Part for a preceding year in the averaging period,

exceeds

(ii) the amount that would be determined under subparagraph (i) if the taxable income for each preceding year were the average net income for that year, add to the amount, if any, determined under paragraph (e) the amount of that excess,

(g) where paragraph (f) does not apply, deduct from the amount, if any, determined under paragraph (e) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount determined under subparagraph (f)(ii)

exceeds

(ii) the amount determined under subparagraph (f)(i), and

(h) deduct from the amount resulting from the application of paragraph (f) or (g), as the case may be, the total of the taxes payable under this Part for the preceding years computed without reference to section 120.2, and the remainder, if any, obtained under paragraph (h) is the tax payable under this Part for the year of averaging and no further deduction may be made therefrom under any other provision of this Part except subsection 127(5).

(2) Refunds. Where this section is applicable to the computation of an individual's tax for a taxation year, the amount, if any, by which the total of

(a) the total of taxes payable under this Part for the preceding years, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount determined under subparagraph (1)(f)(ii)

exceeds

(ii) the amount determined under subparagraph (1)(f)(i)

exceeds the total of

(c) the amount, if any, determined under paragraph (1)(e), and

(d) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount determined under subparagraph (1)(f)(i)

exceeds

(ii) the amount determined under subparagraph (1)(f)(ii)

shall be deemed to be an overpayment made when the notice of assessment for the year of averaging was mailed.

(3) Assessment. The provisions of this Part relating to the assessment of tax, interest and penalties apply with such modifications as the circumstances require to an assessment whereby, for the purposes of this section, it is determined by the Minister that no tax is payable under this Part for the year of averaging or that an overpayment has been made as described in subsection (2).

(4) Where s. (1) election null. An election under subsection (1) is a nullity unless the earliest of the 'preceding years' ended before 1988 and is one of the 6 years immediately preceding the year of averaging.

(5) Revocation of election. An election filed under subsection (1) may be revoked by the individual

(a) at any time before the Minister has first assessed the individual's tax for the year of averaging; or

(b) during the 30 day period immediately following any assessment by the Minister of the individual's tax for the year of averaging.

(6) Limitation as to election. No election may be filed under this section by a taxpayer for a taxation year if

(a) the averaging period resulting from the election would include a year that was included in an averaging period resulting from a previous election by the taxpayer under this section that has not been revoked under subsection (5); or

(b) an amount has been added or deducted under section 110.4 in computing the taxable income of the taxpayer for the year or any other year of the averaging period.

(7) Rents or trust income from farming or fishing. For the purposes of subsection (1),

(a) rents dependent on the lessee's gross production in the course of farming or fishing, and

(b) income from a trust or estate to the extent that it can reasonably be regarded as having been derived from farming or fishing, shall be deemed to be income from farming or fishing.

(8) Losses. Any amount in respect of a loss deducted in making a calculation under paragraph (1)(a) and any amount in respect of a loss described in subparagraph (1)(b)(ii) shall, for the purpose of computing taxable income for taxation years following the year of averaging, be deemed to have been deducted in respect of that loss in computing taxable income for a taxation year preceding the year for which the loss was determined.

(9) Investment tax credit. Where this section is applicable to the computation of an individual's tax payable for a taxation year, the amount, if any, by which

(a) the amount described in subparagraph (1)(e)(ii)

exceeds

(b) the amount described in subparagraph (1)(e)(i) shall be added in computing the individual's investment tax credit at the end of that year, and paragraph 12(1)(t) and subsections 13(7.1) and 53(2) shall not apply to any amount deducted under subsection 127(5) for that year, or any subsequent taxation year, that may reasonably be attributed to the amount added under this subsection.

(10) Idem. Notwithstanding the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection 127(9), where a taxpayer has filed an election under subsection (1) for a year of averaging, in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of any of the preceding years, there shall not be included any amount in respect of property acquired, or an expenditure made, in or after the year of averaging."

Related Sections: S. 38 Taxable capital gain and allowable capital loss; s. 152(6) Reassessment where certain deductions claimed; s. 212(2) Tax on dividends; s. 248(1), "taxable Canadian property".

Tax Profile: December 2008 — Tax Planning for Emigration from Canada to the United States; November 2004 — Finance to Fix Technical Problem with Section 119.

Cases: (Applies to former reading of section 119 — Averaging for farmers and fishermen)

The averaging period did not include a year in which no tax was payable since s. 119(1) established the averaging period to be the current year of averaging and the "4 immediately preceding years for which he has filed returns of income as required by this Part". These words must be interpreted as meaning or referring to returns that have tax payable. Martens v. M.N.R., 90 DTC 1873 (T.C.C.).

Farming was held to be a taxpayer's chief source of income, even though for several years he received a salary from a company which he had formed to operate and manage his farming activities. The Court considered evidence which showed that the whole direction of the taxpayer's financial and physical activities over the years had been toward farming as a sole occupation and probable chief source of income in the future. Wilfley v. The Queen, 74 DTC 6422 (F.C.T.D.).

A farmer, who also owned an interest in a business, sought to average his income. In the period chosen for averaging, his farm income, in the aggregate, exceeded his business income. The Minister refused to permit the averaging on the ground that the taxpayer's income was not from farming alone. In allowing the appeal, the Board ruled that a taxpayer could have two or more sources of income. It was a question of fact to determine which was the chief source of income. Lawrence v. M.N.R., 54 DTC 138 (T.A.B.). See also Short v. M.N.R., 64 DTC 120 (T.A.B.).

SECTION 120:

► 120(1) ◄

(1) Income not earned in a province. There shall be added to the tax otherwise payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year the amount that bears the same relation to 48% of the tax otherwise payable under this Part by the individual for the year that

(a) the individual's income for the year, other than the individual's income earned in the year in a province, bears to

(b) the individual's income for the year.

History: S. 120(1), the portion before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 103(1), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 120(1), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"S. 120. Income not earned in a province.

(1) There shall be added to the tax otherwise payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year an amount that bears the same relation to 52% of the tax otherwise payable under this Part by the individual for the year that"

Related Sections: S. 120(3) Definition of "the individual's income for the year"; s. 120(4) Definitions; s. 127.5 Obligation to pay minimum tax.
Regulations: Part XXVI.
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-434R Rental of real property by individual.

► 120(2) ◄

(2) Amount deemed paid in prescribed manner. Each individual is deemed to have paid, in prescribed manner and on prescribed dates, on account of the individual's tax under this Part for a taxation year an amount that bears the same relation to 3% of the tax otherwise payable under this Part by the individual for the year that

(a) the individual's income earned in the year in a province that, on January 1, 1973, was a province providing schooling allowances within the meaning of the Youth Allowances Act, chapter Y-1 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1970,

bears to

(b) the individual's income for the year.

Related Sections: S. 120(2.1) Averaging for farmers and fishermen; s. 120(3) Definition of "the individual's income for the year".
Regulations: 6401.
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-434R Rental of real property by individual.
Cases: Taxpayer's income from U.S. partnership constituted income from a business in respect of which the deduction as abatement for provincial taxes did not apply. The taxpayer met all the criteria of reg. 2601(2): she resided in Quebec on the last day of the taxation year and she received income from a business that had a permanent establishment outside the province. Hollinger v. M.N.R., 74 DTC 6604 (F.C.A.), affirming 73 DTC 5003 (F.C.T.D.).

► 120(2.1) ◄

(2.1) Idem. [Repealed by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 103(2).]

History: S. 120(2.1) was repealed by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 103(2), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. S. 120(2.1) formerly read:

"(2.1) Idem. Where section 119 is applicable to the computation of an individual's tax for a taxation year (referred to in that section as the 'year of averaging'), notwithstanding subsection (2), the amount deemed by that subsection to have been paid on account of the individual's tax under this Part for the year shall be equal to the amount that would be determined under that subsection if the reference therein to 'the tax otherwise payable under this Part by the individual for the year' were read as a reference to 'the amount that would be the tax otherwise payable under this Part by the individual if the individual's taxable income for the year were the individual's average net income (within the meaning of paragraph 119(1)(d)) for the year'."

► 120(2.2) ◄

(2.2) Amount deemed paid. An individual is deemed to have paid on the last day of a taxation year, on account of the individual's tax under this Part for the year, an amount equal to the individual's income tax payable for the year to an Aboriginal government pursuant to a law of that government made in accordance with a tax sharing agreement between that government and the Government of Canada.

History: S. 120(2.2) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 27(1), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years.

► 120(3) ◄

(3) Definition of "the individual's income for the year". For the purpose of this section, "the individual's income for the year" means

(a) if section 114 applies to the individual in respect of the year, the amount determined under paragraph 114(a) in respect of the individual for the year;

(b) if the individual was non-resident throughout the year, the individual's taxable income earned in Canada for the year determined without reference to paragraphs 115(1)(d) to (f);

(c) in the case of an individual who is a specified individual in relation to the year, the individual's income for the year computed without reference to paragraph 20(1)(ww); and

(d) in the case of a SIFT trust, the amount, if any, by which its income for the year determined without reference to this paragraph exceeds its taxable SIFT trust distributions (as defined in subsection 122(3)) for the year.

History: S. 120(3)(d) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 11(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

Ss. 120(3)(a) and (b) were amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 103(3), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years except that, for taxation years that end before 2000, paragraph 120(3)(a) of the Act shall be read as follows:

"(a) if section 114 applies to the individual in respect of the year, the amount determined under paragraph 114(a) in respect of the individual for the year; and"

For taxation years that end before 2000, paragraph 120(3)(b) of the Act shall be read as follows:

"(b) if the individual was non-resident throughout the year, the individual's taxable income earned in Canada for the year determined without reference to paragraphs 115(1)(d) to (f)."

Ss. 120(3)(a) and (b) formerly read:

"(a) in the case of an individual to whom section 114 applies who was resident in Canada during part of the year and during some other part of the year was not resident in Canada, the amount that would be determined under that section to be the individual's taxable income for the year if that section were read without reference to the words following paragraph 114(b);

(b) in the case of an individual to whom section 115 applies who was not resident in Canada at any time in the taxation year, the amount that would be determined under Division D to be the individual's taxable income for the year if subsection 115(1) were read without reference to the words following paragraph 115(1)(c); and"

S. 120(3)(c) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 27(3), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 120(3), the portion before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 27(2), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 120(3), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(3) Definition of 'the individual's income for the year'. In subsections (1) and (2), 'the individual's income for the year' means"

Related Sections: S. 120.4(1), "specified individual"; s. 122.1(1), "SIFT trust".

► 120(3.1) ◄

(3.1) Additional deduction from tax. [Repealed by 1986, c. 6, s. 66(1).]

► 120(4) ◄

(4) Definitions. In this section,

"income earned in the year in a province" — "income earned in the year in a province" means amounts determined under rules prescribed for the purpose of regulations made on the recommendation of the Minister of Finance;

Regulations: 2600–2607.
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-434R Rental of real property by individual.

"province" — [Repealed by 1980-81-82-83, c. 48, s. 66(2).]

"tax otherwise payable under this Part" — "tax otherwise payable under this Part" by an individual for a taxation year means the total of

(a) the greater of

(i) the individual's minimum amount for the year determined under section 127.51, and

(ii) the amount that, but for this section, would be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year if this Part were read without reference to

(A) subsection 117(2.1), section 119, subsection 120.4(2) and sections 126, 127, 127.4 and 127.41, and

(B) where the individual is a specified individual in relation to the year, section 121 in its application to dividends included in computing the individual's split income for the year, and

(b) where the individual is a specified individual in relation to the year, the amount, if any, by which

(i) 29% of the individual's split income for the year exceeds

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount that may be deducted under section 121 and that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of a dividend included in computing the individual's split income for the year.

History: S. 120(4), clause (a)(ii)(A) of the definition "tax otherwise payable under this Part" was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 40(1), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 120(4), clause (a)(ii)(A) of the definition "tax otherwise payable under this Part" formerly read:

"(A) section 119, subsection 120.4(2) and sections 126, 127, 127.4 and 127.41, and"

S. 120(4), clause (a)(ii)(A) of the definition "tax otherwise payable under this Part" was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 103(4), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to taxation years that end before 2000, subsection (4) shall be read as follows:

"(4) Paragraph (b) of the definition 'tax otherwise payable under this Part' in subsection 120(4) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(b) the amount that, but for this section and subsection 117(6), would be the tax payable under this Part by the individual for the year if this Part were read without reference to any of sections 119, 126, 127 and 127.4."

S. 120(4), clause (a)(ii)(A) of the definition "tax otherwise payable under this Part" formerly read:

"(A) subsection 120.4(2) and sections 126, 127, 127.4 and 127.41, and"

S. 120(4), the definition "tax otherwise payable under this part" was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 27(4), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 120(4), the definition "tax otherwise payable under this part" formerly read:

"'tax otherwise payable under this Part' — 'tax otherwise payable under this Part' for an individual for a taxation year means the greater of

(a) the amount, if any, by which the total of

(i) the individual's minimum amount for the year determined under section 127.51, and

(ii) any amount required under subsection 120.1(2) to be added to the tax payable by the individual for the year under this Part, exceeds any amount that may be deducted under subsection 120.1(1) from the tax payable by the individual for the year under this Part, and

(b) the amount that, but for this section and subsection 117(6), would be the tax payable under this Part by the individual for the year if this Part were read without reference to any of sections 126, 127 and 127.4."

S. 120(4), paragraph (b) of the definition "tax otherwise payable under this Part" was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 43(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 120(4), paragraph (b) of the definition "tax otherwise payable under this Part" formerly read:

"(b) the amount that, but for this section and subsection 117(6), would be the tax payable under this Part by the individual for the year if the individual were not entitled to any deduction under any of sections 126, 127, 127.2 and 127.4."

Related Sections: S. 2(2) Taxable income; s. 248(1), "amount", "individual", "prescribed", "province", "regulation"; ITAR s. 40(1) Payments out of pension funds, etc.; s. 40(2) Employee not resident in Canada; s. 40(3) Determination of amount of payment.

SECTION 120.1: Forward averaging credit. [Repealed by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 28(1).]

History: S. 120.1 was repealed by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 28(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 120.1(1) formerly read:

"S. 120.1. Forward averaging credit

(1) There may be deducted from the amount that would, but for this section, be the tax otherwise payable under this Part (other than the tax payable with respect to a return of income referred to in subsection 110.4(5)) by an individual for a taxation year an amount equal to the product obtained when

(a) the amount specified in the individual's election for the year under subsection 110.4(2) and, where the individual's legal representative has filed on the individual's behalf an election under subsection (2) for the year, the individual's accumulated averaging amount at the end of the year is multiplied by

(b) the percentage referred to in paragraph 117(2)(c).

(2) Year of death. Where an individual dies in a taxation year before 1998 (and is resident in Canada at the time of death) and the individual's legal representative files with the individual's return of income (other than a return of income referred to in subsection 110.4(5)) for the year an election in prescribed form on or before the day on or before which the return is required to be filed, there shall be added to the amount that would, but for this section, be the individual's tax payable for the year under this Part with respect to the return of income an amount equal to the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of the taxes that would have been payable by the individual under this Part for the three immediately preceding taxation years if the individual's taxable income otherwise determined for each of those years were increased by 1/3 of the individual's accumulated averaging amount at the end of the year in which the individual died and if this Part were read without reference to sections 119 to 127.3

exceeds

(b) the total of the taxes that would have been payable by the individual under this Part for the three immediately preceding taxation years if this Part were read without reference to sections 119 to 127.3.

(3) Deduction and additions. Each amount deducted or added under subsection (1) or (2) in computing the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year shall, notwithstanding those subsections, be equal to the total of

(a) the amount that would, but for this subsection, be determined for the year under subsection (1) or (2), as the case may be, and

(b) an amount equal to that proportion of 52% of the amount referred to in paragraph (a) that

(i) the individual's income for the year, other than the individual's income earned in the year in a province,

is of

(ii) the individual's income for the year.

(4) Presumption. Where the amount deductible by an individual under subsection (1) exceeds the amount that would, but for that subsection, be the individual's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year, the excess shall be deemed to be an amount paid by the individual, on the day the individual was required to file the election under subsection 110.4(2), on account of the individual's tax for the year under this Part.

(5) Reduction. Notwithstanding subsection (4), the amount of the excess referred to in that subsection shall be reduced by an amount equal to that proportion of 16.5% of the amount of the excess that

(a) the individual's income earned in the year in a province that, on January 1, 1973, was a province providing schooling allowances (within the meaning of the Youth Allowances Act, chapter Y-1 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1970)

is of

(b) the individual's income for the year.

(6) Individual not resident. Where an individual was not resident in Canada throughout the taxation years referred to in paragraph (2)(b), the amount determined under that paragraph shall be equal to the amount that would have been so determined if the individual had been resident in Canada throughout those years and the individual's incomes for those years had been from sources in Canada.

(7) Application. This section does not apply to an individual described in subsection (6) unless the individual's legal representatives have, on or before the day on or before which they were required to file the individual's return of income under this Part for the taxation year in which the individual died (or would have been required to file such a return had tax been payable by the individual under this Part for the year), filed a return of the individual's income for each of the three taxation years referred to in paragraph (2)(b) in the same form and containing the same information as the return that the individual, or legal representatives, would have been required to file under this Part if the individual had been resident in Canada throughout each of those three years and if tax had been payable by the individual under this Part for each of those three years.

(8) Amount required to be included. Where an amount is required by virtue of this section to be included in computing the individual's tax otherwise payable under this Part for a taxation year, the references in subsection 120(1) and section 121 of this Act and subsection 120(3.1) of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, to 'the tax otherwise payable under this Part' shall be read as references to 'the amount that would, but for section 120.1, be the tax otherwise payable under this Part'."

S. 120.1(3)(b), that portion preceding subparagraph (i), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 97(1), applicable to the 1989 and subsequent taxation years, except that, for the 1989 taxation year, the reference to "52%" in paragraph 120.1(3)(b) shall be read as a reference to "49.5%". S. 120.1(3)(b), that portion preceding subparagraph (i), formerly read:

"(b) an amount equal to that proportion of 47% of the amount referred to in paragraph (a) that"

Related Sections: S. 110.4 Forward averaging; s. 127.5 Obligation to pay minimum tax.

SECTION 120.2:

► 120.2(1) ◄

(1) Minimum tax carry-over. There may be deducted from the amount that, but for this section, section 120 and subsection 120.4(2), would be an individual's tax payable under this Part for a particular taxation year such amount as the individual claims not exceeding the lesser of

(a) the portion of the total of the individual's additional taxes determined under subsection (3) for the 7 taxation years immediately preceding the particular year that was not deducted in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for a taxation year preceding the particular year, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount that, but for this section, section 120 and subsection 120.4(2), would be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the particular year if the individual were not entitled to any deduction under any of sections 126, 127 and 127.4

exceeds

(ii) the individual's minimum amount for the particular year determined under section 127.51.

History: S. 120.2(1)(b)(i) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 29(2), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 120.2(1)(b)(i) formerly read:

"(i) the amount that, but for this section, subsection 117(6), sections 120 and 120.1, would be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the particular year if the individual were not entitled to any deduction under any of sections 126, 127 and 127.2 to 127.4"

S. 120.2(1), the portion before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 29(1), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 120.2(1), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(1) There may be deducted from the amount that, but for this section and sections 120 and 120.1, would be the tax payable under this Part by an individual for a particular taxation year such amount as the individual may claim not exceeding the lesser of"

► 120.2(2) ◄

(2) Death of individual. [Repealed by 1988, c. 55, s. 95(1).]

► 120.2(3) ◄

(3) Additional tax determined. For the purposes of subsection (1), additional tax of an individual for a taxation year is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the individual's minimum amount for the year determined under section 127.51

exceeds the total of

(b) the amount that, but for section 120 and subsection 120.4(2), would be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year if the individual were not entitled to any deduction under any of sections 126, 127 and 127.4, and

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Paragraph 120.2(3)(b) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(b) the amount that, if this Act were read without reference to section 120, would be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year if the individual were not entitled to any deduction under any of sections 126, 127 and 127.4, and

Applicable: To the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

Explanatory Note: Section 120.2 of the Act allows an individual to apply additional taxes, imposed for a given year under the minimum tax in section 127.5 of the Act, against the individual's ordinary Part I tax liability for following years. Paragraph 120.2(3)(b) is amended to remove the reference in that paragraph to subsection 120.4(2). This amendment ensures that an individual's additional tax in respect of the minimum tax does not include the special 29% tax imposed under section 120.4 on certain passive income of minors.

This amendment applies to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

(c) that proportion of the amount, if any, by which

(i) the individual's special foreign tax credit for the year determined under section 127.54

exceeds

(ii) the total of all amounts deductible under section 126 from the individual's tax for the year that

(iii) the amount of the individual's foreign taxes for the year within the meaning assigned by subsection 127.54(1)

is of

(iv) the amount that would be the individual's foreign taxes for the year within the meaning assigned by subsection 127.54(1) if the definition "foreign taxes" in that subsection were read without reference to "2/3 of".

History: S. 120.2(3)(b) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 29(3), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 120.2(3)(b) formerly read:

"(b) the amount that, but for subsection 117(6) and sections 120 and 120.1, would be the tax payable by the individual under this Part for the year if the individual were not entitled to any deduction under any of sections 126, 127 and 127.2 to 127.4, and"

► 120.2(4) ◄

(4) Where subsection (1) does not apply. Subsection (1) does not apply in respect of an individual's return of income filed under subsection 70(2), paragraph 104(23)(d) or 128(2)(f) or subsection 150(4).

History: S. 120.4(4) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 104(1), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. S. 120.4(4) formerly read:

"(4) Where s. (1) does not apply. Subsection (1) does not apply in respect of (a) an individual's return of income filed under subsection 70(2), paragraph 104(23)(d) or 128(2)(f) or subsection 150(4); or

(b) a taxation year of an individual in respect of which the individual has made an election under section 119."

S. 120.2(4)(a was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 137(1), applicable to taxation years that begin after April 26, 1995. S. 120.2(4)(a) formerly read:

"(a) a return of income of an individual filed under subsection 70(2), paragraph 104(23)(d) or 128(2)(e) or subsection 150(4); or"

SECTION 120.3: CPP/QPP disability benefits [and other CPP/QPP benefits] for previous years.

There shall be added in computing an individual's tax payable under this Part for a particular taxation year the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the amount that would have been the tax payable under this Part by the individual for a preceding taxation year if that portion of any amount not included in computing the individual's income for the particular year because of subsection 56(8) and that relates to the preceding year had been included in computing the individual's income for the preceding year

exceeds

(b) the tax payable under this Part by the individual for the preceding year.

History: S. 120.3 was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, S. 98(1), applicable to the 1990 and subsequent taxation years.

Lump-sum Payments

SECTION 120.31:

► 120.31(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. The definitions in subsection 110.2(1) apply in this section.

History: S. 120.31(1) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 30(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years and, notwithstanding subsections 152(4) to (5) of the Act, any assessment of an individual's tax payable under the Act for any taxation year that ended before 1999 shall be made as is necessary to take into account the application of that section 120.31.

► 120.31(2) ◄

(2) Addition to tax payable. There shall be added in computing an individual's tax payable under this Part for a particular taxation year the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the individual's notional tax payable for an eligible taxation year to which a specified portion of a qualifying amount received by the individual relates and in respect of which an amount is deducted under section 110.2 in computing the individual's taxable income for the particular year

exceeds

(b) the individual's tax payable under this Part for the eligible taxation year.

History: S. 120.31(2) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 30(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years and, notwithstanding subsections 152(4) to (5) of the Act, any assessment of an individual's tax payable under the Act for any taxation year that ended before 1999 shall be made as is necessary to take into account the application of that section 120.31.

► 120.31(3) ◄

(3) Notional tax payable. For the purpose of subsection (2), an individual's notional tax payable for an eligible taxation year, calculated for the purpose of computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for a taxation year (in this subsection referred to as "the year of receipt") in which the individual received a qualifying amount, is the total of

(a) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount that would be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the eligible taxation year if the total of all amounts, each of which is the specified portion, in relation to the eligible taxation year, of a qualifying amount received by the individual before the end of the year of receipt, were added in computing the individual's taxable income for the eligible taxation year

exceeds

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount, in respect of a qualifying amount received by the individual before the year of receipt, that was included because of this paragraph in computing the individual's notional tax payable under this Part for the eligible taxation year, and

(b) where the eligible taxation year ended before the taxation year preceding the year of receipt, an amount equal to the amount that would be calculated as interest payable on the amount determined under paragraph (a) if it were so calculated

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of paragraph 120.31(3)(b) of the Act before subparagraph (i) is replaced by the following:

(b) if the eligible taxation year ended before the taxation year preceding the year of receipt, an amount equal to the amount that would be calculated as interest payable on the amount, if any, by which the amount determined under paragraph (a) in respect of the eligible taxation year exceeds the taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for that year, if the amount that would be calculated as interest payable on that excess were calculated

Applicable: To the 1995 and subsequent taxation years.

Explanatory Note: Section 120.31 of the Act provides for the calculation of the tax payable on certain lump-sum payments. The amount of the tax is equal to the total of the additional taxes that would be payable for each relevant taxation year if the portion of the lump-sum payment that relates to that preceding year were added to the individual's taxable income for that year.

A notional amount of interest (using the rate of interest on tax refunds applicable to the relevant period) is added to the additional tax to take into account the fact that the calculation of the tax on the lump-sum payment should reflect not only the additional tax that would have been payable had the payment been received on an on-going basis, but also the fact that this additional tax was not paid during those preceding years.

The amendment to paragraph 120.31(3)(b) clarifies that the notional amount of interest is calculated on the amount of the additional tax for each relevant previous year and not on the whole tax payable for that year. This amendment applies to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years.

(i) for the period that began on May 1 of the year following the eligible taxation year and that ended immediately before the year of receipt, and

(ii) at the prescribed rate that is applicable for the purpose of subsection 164(3) with respect to the period.

History: S. 120.31(3) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 30(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years and, notwithstanding subsections 152(4) to (5) of the Act, any assessment of an individual's tax payable under the Act for any taxation year that ended before 1999 shall be made as is necessary to take into account the application of that section 120.31.

Cases: The full amount of a lump sum settlement was included in income in the year of receipt since applying sections 110.2 and 120.31 would result in greater tax owing than the tax owing by bringing the full amount into income in the one year. Milliken v. The Queen, 2002 DTC 1510 (T.C.C.).

Tax on Split Income

SECTION 120.4: [Kiddie tax].

► 120.4(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. The definitions in this subsection apply in this section.

History: S. 120.4(1) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s 30(1), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 74.5(13) Exception from attribution rules.
Tax Profile: February 2003 — Kiddie Tax-Proposed Amendment.
Canadian Tax Foundation: Donnelly, Magee, and Young, "Income Splitting and the New Kiddie Tax: Major Changes for Minor Children", 2000 Canadian Tax Journal, No. 4, 979.

"excluded amount" — "excluded amount", in respect of an individual for a taxation year, means an amount that is the income from a property acquired by or for the benefit of the individual as a consequence of the death of (a) a parent of the individual; or

(b) any person, if the individual is

(i) enrolled as a full-time student during the year at a post-secondary educational institution (as defined in subsection 146.1(1)), or

(ii) an individual in respect of whom an amount may be deducted under section 118.3 in computing a taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for the year.

History: S. 120.4(1), the definition "excluded amount" was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s 30(1), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

"specified individual" — "specified individual", in relation to a taxation year, means an individual who

(a) had not attained the age of 17 years before the year;

(b) at no time in the year was non-resident; and

(c) has a parent who is resident in Canada at any time in the year.

History: S. 120.4(1), the definition "specified individual" was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s 30(1), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

"split income" — "split income", of a specified individual for a taxation year, means the total of all amounts (other than excluded amounts) each of which is

(a) an amount required to be included in computing the individual's income for the year

(i) in respect of taxable dividends received by the individual in respect of shares of the capital stock of a corporation (other than shares of a class listed on a designated stock exchange or shares of the capital stock of a mutual fund corporation), or

(ii) because of the application of section 15 in respect of the ownership by any person of shares of the capital stock of a corporation (other than shares of a class listed on a designated stock exchange),

(b) a portion of an amount included because of the application of paragraph 96(1)(f) in computing the individual's income for the year, to the extent that the portion

(i) is not included in an amount described in paragraph (a), and

(ii) can reasonably be considered to be income derived from the provision of goods or services by a partnership or trust to or in support of a business carried on by

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of subparagraph (b)(ii) of the definition "split income" in subsection 120.4(1) of the English version of the Act before clause (A) is replaced by the following:

(ii) can reasonably be considered to be income derived from the provision of property or services by a partnership or trust to, or in support of, a business carried on by

Applicable: In computing split income of a specified individual for taxation years that begin after December 20, 2002, other than in computing an amount included in that income that is from a trust or partnership for a taxation year or fiscal period of the trust or partnership that began before December 21, 2002.

Explanatory Note: Section 120.4 of the Act provides a special 29% tax applicable to certain passive income of individuals under the age of 18. These tax on split income rules were first proposed in the 1999 Budget Plan. At the time, the Government indicated that it "would monitor the effectiveness of this targeted measure, and may take appropriate action if new income-splitting techniques develop".

Subsection 120.4(1) — Definitions

"split income"

The expression "split income" describes the type of income to which this measure applies.

Among other things, split income of an individual includes all amounts (other than excluded amounts) required to be included in the individual's income in respect of partnership or trust income if the source of the income is the provision of goods or services by the partnership or trust to, or in support of, a business carried on by

- a person who is related to the individual,
- a corporation of which a person who is related to the individual is a specified shareholder, or
- a professional corporation of which a person related to the individual is a shareholder.

The phrase "goods or services" in the English version of subparagraph (b)(ii) and clause (c)(ii)(C) in the definition "split income" is replaced by the phrase "property or services". This ensures that the split income rules will apply to income from property, such as rental income. This change applies in computing the split income of a specified individual for taxation years that begin after December 20, 2002, other than in computing an amount included in that income that is from a trust or partnership for a fiscal period or taxation year of the trust or partnership that began before December 21, 2002. Also see the commentary to subsection 160(1.2) of the Act, which is amended consequential to this amendment.

(A) a person who is related to the individual at any time in the year,

(B) a corporation of which a person who is related to the individual is a specified shareholder at any time in the year, or

(C) a professional corporation of which a person related to the individual is a shareholder at any time in the year, or

(c) a portion of an amount included because of the application of subsection 104(13) or 105(2) in respect of a trust (other than a mutual fund trust) in computing the individual's income for the year, to the extent that the portion

(i) is not included in an amount described in paragraph (a), and

(ii) can reasonably be considered

(A) to be in respect of taxable dividends received in respect of shares of the capital stock of a corporation (other than shares of a class listed on a designated stock exchange or shares of the capital stock of a mutual fund corporation),

(B) to arise because of the application of section 15 in respect of the ownership by any person of shares of the capital stock of a corporation (other than shares of a class listed on a designated stock exchange), or

(C) to be income derived from the provision of goods or services by a partnership or trust to or in support of a business carried on by

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of clause (c)(ii)(C) of the definition "split income" in subsection 120.4(1) of the English version of the Act before subclause (I) is replaced by the following:

(C) to be income derived from the provision of property or services by a partnership or trust to, or in support of, a business carried on by

Applicable: In computing split income of a specified individual for taxation years that begin after December 20, 2002, other than in computing an amount included in that income that is from a trust or partnership for a taxation year or fiscal period of the trust or partnership that began before December 21, 2002.

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the amendment to the portion of subparagraph (b)(ii) of the definition "split income" in subsection 120.4(1) before clause (A).

(I) a person who is related to the individual at any time in the year,

(II) a corporation of which a person who is related to the individual is a specified shareholder at any time in the year, or

(III) a professional corporation of which a person related to the individual is a shareholder at any time in the year.

History: S. 120.4(1), subparagraphs (a)(i) and (ii) and clauses (c)(ii)(A) and (B) of the definition "split income" were amended by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 68(2), by replacing "prescribed stock exchange" with "designated stock exchange", applicable on and after December 14, 2007 [the day on which this Act is assented to].

S. 120.4(1), the definition "split income" was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s 30(1), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 20(1)(ww) Split income; s. 74.4(2)(g) Transfers and loans to corporations; s. 89(1), "taxable dividend".

► 120.4(2) ◄

(2) Tax on split income. There shall be added to a specified individual's tax payable under this Part for a taxation year 29% of the individual's split income for the year.

History: S. 120.4(2) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s 30(1), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

Editorial Note: The "kiddie tax" imposes tax at the highest marginal tax rate (29%) on "split income", as defined in subsection 120.4(1), and is aimed at individuals who have not reached the age of 18 in the year (see the definition of "specified individual" in subsection 120.4(1)). Split income of a specified individual includes:

(a) taxable dividends and other shareholder benefits on unlisted shares of Canadian and foreign companies (this, of course, is intended to eliminate dividend splitting for private corporations);

(b) income from a partnership that can reasonably be considered to be income derived from the provision of property or services by a partnership or trust to or in support of a business carried on by:

(A) a person who is related to the individual at any time of the year,

(B) a corporation of which a person who is related to the individual is a specified shareholder at any time in the year, or

(C) a professional corporation of which a person related to the individual is a shareholder at any time in the year;

(c) income from a trust in respect of items mentioned in (a) or the provision of property or services by a partnership or trust by the persons mentioned in (b) (A) – (C).

Apart from the foreign tax credit, there are no deductions from split income, such as the basic personal exemption. "Excluded amounts" — certain income from property acquired as a consequence of death — are excluded from split income, per subsection 120.4(1). Amounts included in a child's split income are deducted from regular Part I income (paragraph 20(1)(ww)) and are excluded from various attribution rules under the Act (see subsections 56(5), 74.5(13) and paragraph 74.4(2)(g)). Parents may have joint and several liability for tax on split income, per subsection 160(1.2).

Generally (other than as mentioned above), there is no "relationship" requirement, such as the specified individual being a child or grandchild, nor is there an exception for minors who actually run the business independently of adults.

Obviously, the kiddie tax is targeted toward incorporated business (as well as professionals with management structures, e.g., where a minor receives income from a partnership or trust which renders services to a firm in which the minor's relative is a member). However, there is no across-the-board clamp down on income splitting. For example, it is still possible to have investments owned by children in order to split capital gains on portfolio investments. Nor is income from employment or personal services of a minor subject to the kiddie tax. However, other provisions, notably the "attribution rules" (e.g., subsection 74.1(2)) may be applicable.

Related Sections: S. 20(1)(ww) Split income; s. 56(5) Exception for split income; s. 74.4(2)(g) Transfers and loans to corporations; s. 74.5(13) Exception from attribution rules; s. 89(1), "taxable dividend"; s. 104(1), "trust"; s. 108(5) Interpretation; s. 120.2(1) Minimum tax carry-over; s. 127.5 Obligation to pay minimum tax; s. 131(8), "mutual fund corporation"; s. 132(6), "mutual fund trust"; s. 132(7), "mutual fund trust"; s. 146.1(1), "post-secondary educational institution"; s. 160(1.2) Joint liability — tax on split income; s. 248(1), "mutual fund corporation", "mutual fund trust", "professional corporation", "specified shareholder", "trust"; s. 248(3), "trust"; s. 248(8), "consequence of the death"; s. 248(29), "prescribed stock exchange"; s. 252(2), "parent". (See also the "attribution rules", including sections 74.1 Transfers and loans to spouse; s. 74.2 Gain or loss deemed that of lender or transferor; s. 74.3 Transfers or loans to a trust; s. 74.4 Transfers and loans to corporations; s. 74.5 Transfers for fair market consideration; s. 75(2) Trusts).

Forms: T1206.

Tax Profile: February 2008 — Income Splitting A–Z

► 120.4(3) ◄

(3) Tax payable by a specified individual. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, where an individual is a specified individual in relation to a taxation year, the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year shall not be less than the amount by which

(a) the amount added under subsection (2) to the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year

exceeds

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount that

(i) may be deducted under section 121 or 126 in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year, and

(ii) can reasonably be considered to be in respect of an amount included in computing the individual's split income for the year.

History: S. 120.4(3) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s 30(1), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

SECTION 121: Deduction for taxable dividends.

There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year the total of

(a) 2/3 of the amount, if any, that is required by subparagraph 82(1)(b)(i) to be included in computing the individual's income for the year; and

(b) the product of the amount, if any, that is required by subparagraph 82(1)(b)(ii) to be included in computing the individual's income for the year multiplied by

(i) for the 2009 taxation year, 11/18,

(ii) for the 2010 taxation year, 10/17,

(iii) for the 2011 taxation year, 13/23, and

(iv) for taxation years after 2011, 6/11.

Editorial Note: See the editorial note under subsection 82(1).

History: S. 121(b) was replaced by S.C. 2008, c. 28, s. 17(1), applicable to the 2009 and subsequent taxation years. S. 121(b) formerly read:

"(b) 11/18 of the amount, if any, that is required by subparagraph 82(1)(b)(ii) to be included in computing the individual's income for the year."

S. 121 was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 48(1), applicable to dividends paid after 2005.

S. 121 formerly read:

"S. 121. Deduction for taxable dividends. There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable under this Part by an individual for a taxation year 2/3 of any amount that is required by paragraph 82(1)(b) to be included in computing the individual's income for the year."

Related Sections: S. 56(8) CPP/QPP and UCCB benefits for previous years; s. 82(2) Certain dividends received by taxpayer; s. 89(1), "taxable dividends"; s. 126(7) Definitions; s. 248(1), "amount", "individual"; ITAR s. 40(1) Payments out of pension funds, etc.; 40(2) Employee not resident in Canada.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-379R Employees Profit Sharing Plan — Allocations to Beneficiaries; IT-67R3 Taxable dividends from corporations resident in Canada; IT-295R4 Taxable dividends received after 1987 by a spouse; IT-524 Trusts — Flow-through of taxable dividends to a beneficiary — After 1987.

Tax Topics: No. 1809, New Tax on Income Trusts and Public Partnerships, Trick or treat — a taxing announcement.

Tax Profile: October 2006 — New Rules for the Taxation of Dividends.

SECTION 122:

► 122(1) ◄

(1) Tax payable by inter vivos trust. Notwithstanding section 117, the tax payable under this Part for a taxation year by an inter vivos trust is the total of

(a) 29% of its amount taxable for the taxation year, and

(b) if the trust is a SIFT trust for the taxation year, the positive or negative amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B$$

where

A is the positive or negative decimal fraction determined by the formula

$$C + D - E$$

where

C is the net corporate income tax rate in respect of the SIFT trust for the taxation year,

D is the provincial SIFT tax rate of the SIFT trust for the taxation year, and

E is the decimal fraction equivalent of the percentage rate of tax provided in paragraph (a) for the taxation year, and

B is the SIFT trust's taxable SIFT trust distributions for the taxation year.

History: S. 122(1), the description of D was replaced by S.C. 2008, c. 28, s. 18(1), applicable to the 2009 and subsequent taxation years, except that it also applies for a SIFT trust's earlier taxation year if the definition "provincial SIFT tax rate" in subsection 248(1), applies to that earlier taxation year. S. 122(1), the description of D formerly read:

"D is the provincial SIFT tax factor for the taxation year, and"

S. 122(1) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 12(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006. S. 122(1) formerly read:

"S. 122. (1) Tax payable by inter vivos trust. Notwithstanding section 117, the tax payable under this Part by an inter vivos trust on its amount taxable for a taxation year shall be 29% of its amount taxable for the year."

Related Sections: S. 104(1) Reference to trust or estate; s. 104(6) Deduction in computing income of trust; s. 104(16) SIFT deemed dividend; s. 108(1), "beneficiary", "inter vivos trust"; s. 122.1(1), "SIFT trust"; s. 132(6) Meaning of "mutual fund trust"; s. 146.1(11) Trust deemed to be inter vivos trust; s. 248(1), "active business", "net corporate income tax rate", "property", "provincial tax factor", "provincial SIFT tax rate".

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-83R3 Non-profit organizations — Taxation of income from property; IT-406R2 Tax payable by an inter vivos trust.

Tax Profile: September 2007 — U.S. and Canadian Tax Considerations in Acquiring Canadian Income Trusts; June 2007 — Canadian Income Trusts for Sale; January 2007 — Canadian Income Trusts — Guidance on Normal Growth Released; December 2006 — Major Changes to the Taxation of Income Trusts and Certain Flow-Through Entities.

► 122(1.1) ◄

(1.1) Deductions not permitted. No deduction may be made under section 118 in computing the tax payable by a trust for a taxation year.

► 122(2) ◄

(2) Where s. (1) does not apply. Subsection (1) is not applicable for a taxation year of an inter vivos trust other than a mutual fund trust if the trust

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 1 — Foreign Investment Entities and Non-Resident Trusts — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of subsection 122(2) of the Act before paragraph (a) is replaced by the following:

(2) Where subsection (1) does not apply. Subsection (1) does not apply for a taxation year of an inter vivos trust that is not a mutual fund trust and that

Applicable: To trust taxation years that begin after 2002.

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the addition of paragraph 122(2)(d.1).

(a) was established before June 18, 1971;

(b) was resident in Canada on June 18, 1971 and without interruption thereafter until the end of the year;

(c) did not carry on any active business in the year;

(d) has not received any property by way of gift since June 18, 1971;

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 1 — Foreign Investment Entities and Non-Resident Trusts — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subsection 122(2) of the Act is amended by adding the following after paragraph (d):

(d.1) was not a trust to which a contribution (as defined by section 94 as it reads for trust taxation years that begin in 2007) was made after June 22, 2000;

Applicable: To trust taxation years that begin after 2002.

Explanatory Note: Subsection 122(1) of the Act provides that, instead of graduated income tax rates, inter vivos trusts are generally subject to top marginal rates of income tax on their undistributed income. Subsection 122(2), which does not apply to mutual fund trusts, permits graduated income tax rates for certain inter vivos trusts established before June 18, 1971. One of the conditions for an inter vivos trust continuing to qualify for graduated income tax rates is that it not receive any gifts after June 18, 1971.

The opening words of subsection 122(2) are amended to modernize the language and to clarify its intended scope.

Paragraph 122(2)(d.1) is introduced so that the graduated income tax rates cease to apply to a trust in the event that, after June 22, 2000, a "contribution" is made to the trust. For this purpose, the expression "contribution" is defined in new section 94.

This amendment applies to trust taxation years that begin after 2002.

(e) has not, after June 18, 1971, incurred

(i) any debt, or

(ii) any other obligation to pay an amount, to, or guaranteed by, any person with whom any beneficiary of the trust was not dealing at arm's length, and

(f) has not received any property after December 17, 1999, where

(i) the property was received as a result of a transfer from another trust,

(ii) subsection (1) applied to a taxation year of the other trust that began before the property was so received, and

(iii) no change in the beneficial ownership of the property resulted from the transfer.

History: S. 122(2)(f) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 122(2), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 104(1) Reference to trust or estate; s. 108(1), "inter vivos trust", "trust"; s. 132(6) Meaning of "mutual fund trust".
Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-406R2 Tax payable by an inter vivos trust.

► 122(3) ◄

(3) Definitions. The following definitions apply in this section.

"non-deductible distributions amount" — "non-deductible distributions amount" for a taxation year has the meaning assigned by subsection 104(16).

History: S. 122(3), the definition "non-deductible distributions amount" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 12(2), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

"taxable SIFT trust distributions" — "taxable SIFT trust distributions", of a SIFT trust for a taxation year, means the lesser of

(a) its amount taxable for the taxation year, and

(b) the amount determined by the formula

$$A/(1 - (B + C))$$

where

A is its non-deductible distributions amount for the taxation year,

B is the net corporate income tax rate in respect of the SIFT trust for the taxation year, and

C is the provincial SIFT tax rate of the SIFT trust for the taxation year.

History: S. 122(3), the description of C in the definition "taxable SIFT trust distributions" was replaced by S.C. 2008, c. 28, s. 18(2), applicable to the 2009 and subsequent taxation years, except that it also applies for a SIFT trust's earlier taxation year if the definition "provincial SIFT tax rate" in subsection 248(1), applies to that earlier taxation year. S. 122(3), the description of C in the definition "taxable SIFT trust distributions" formerly read: "C is the provincial SIFT tax factor for the taxation year."

S. 122(3), the definition "taxable SIFT trust distributions" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 12(2), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

SECTION 122.1: [Specified Investment Flow-Through ("SIFT") Trust].

► 122.1(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. The following definitions apply in this section and in sections 104 and 122.

Tax Profile: May 2007 — Income Trusts and REIT Update.
Canadian Tax Foundation: Sherman and Freeman, "The Gift of SIFT", 2007 Conference Report, 14:1.
Canadian Petroleum Tax Journal: The Sift Rules: An Oil & Gas Perspective, Hegedus, Vol. 20 No. 1 2007.

"entity" — "entity" means a corporation, trust or partnership.

History: S. 122.1(1), the definition "entity" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 13(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

"equity" — "equity", of an entity, means

(a) if the entity is a corporation, a share of the capital stock of the corporation;

(b) if the entity is a trust, an income or capital interest in the trust;

(c) if the entity is a partnership, an interest as a member of the partnership;

(d) a liability of the entity (and, for purposes of the definition "publicly-traded liability" in this section, a security of the entity that is a liability of another entity) if

(i) the liability is convertible into, or exchangeable for, equity of the entity or of another entity, or

(ii) any amount paid or payable in respect of the liability is contingent or dependent on the use of or production from property, or is computed by reference to revenue, profit, cash flow, commodity price or any other similar criterion or by reference to dividends paid or payable to shareholders of any class of shares of the capital stock of a corporation, or to income or capital paid or payable to any member of a partnership or beneficiary under a trust; and

(e) a right to, or to acquire, anything described in this paragraph and any of paragraphs (a) to (d).

History: S. 122.1(1), the definition "equity" was added by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 36(8), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

"equity value" — "equity value", of an entity at any time, means the total fair market value at that time of

(a) if the entity is a corporation, all of the issued and outstanding shares of the capital stock of the corporation;

(b) if the entity is a trust, all of the income or capital interests in the trust; or

(c) if the entity is a partnership, all of the interests in the partnership.

History: S. 122.1(1), the definition "equity value" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 13(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

"excluded subsidiary entity" — "excluded subsidiary entity", for a taxation year, means an entity none of the equity of which is at any time in the taxation year

(a) listed or traded on a stock exchange or other public market; nor

(b) held by any person or partnership other than

(i) a real estate investment trust,

(ii) a taxable Canadian corporation,

(iii) a SIFT trust (determined without reference to subsection (2)),

(iv) a SIFT partnership (determined without reference to subsection 197(8)), or

(v) an excluded subsidiary entity for the taxation year.

History: S. 122.1(1), the definition "excluded subsidiary entity" was added by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 36(8), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

"investment" — "investment", in a trust or partnership,

(a) means

(i) a property that is a security of the trust or partnership, or

(ii) a right which may reasonably be considered to replicate a return on, or the value of, a security of the trust or partnership; but

(b) does not include

(i) an unaffiliated publicly-traded liability of the trust or partnership, nor

(ii) regulated innovative capital.

History: S. 122.1(1), the definition "investment" was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 36(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006. S. 122.1(1), the definition "investment" formerly read:

"investment" — 'investment', in a trust or partnership, means

(a) a property that is a security of the trust or partnership; or

(b) a right which may reasonably be considered to replicate a return on, or the value of, a security of the trust or partnership."

S. 122.1(1), the definition "investment" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 13(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

"non-portfolio earnings" — "non-portfolio earnings", of a SIFT trust for a taxation year, means the total of

(a) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is the SIFT trust's income for the taxation year from a business carried on by it in Canada or from a non-portfolio property, other than income that is a taxable dividend received by the SIFT trust,

exceeds

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is the SIFT trust's loss for the taxation year from a business carried on by it in Canada or from a non-portfolio property, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of

(A) all taxable capital gains of the SIFT trust from dispositions of non-portfolio properties during the taxation year, and

(B) one-half of the total of all amounts each of which is deemed under subsection 131(1) to be a capital gain of the SIFT trust for the taxation year in respect of a non-portfolio property of the SIFT trust for the taxation year

exceeds

(ii) the total of the allowable capital losses of the SIFT trust for the taxation year from dispositions of non-portfolio properties during the taxation year.

History: S. 122.1(1), the definition "non-portfolio earnings" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 13(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

Related Sections: S. 104(6) Deduction in computing income of trust; s. 104(16) SIFT deemed dividend; s. 122(1) Tax payable by inter vivos trust; s. 197(1), "non-portfolio earnings".

Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 38, Definition of "Non-Portfolio Earnings" in Subsection 122.1(1).

"non-portfolio property" — "non-portfolio property" of a trust or partnership for a taxation year means a property, held by the trust or partnership at any time in the taxation year, that is

(a) a security of a subject entity (other than a portfolio investment entity), if at that time the trust or partnership holds

(i) securities of the subject entity that have a total fair market value that is greater than 10% of the equity value of the subject entity, or

(ii) securities of the subject entity that, together with all of the securities that the trust or partnership holds of entities affiliated with the subject entity, have a total fair market value that is greater than 50% of the equity value of the trust or partnership;

(b) a Canadian real, immovable or resource property, if at any time in the taxation year the total fair market value of all properties held by the trust or partnership that are Canadian real, immovable or resource properties is greater than 50% of the equity value of the trust or partnership; or

(c) a property that the trust or partnership, or a person or partnership with whom the trust or partnership does not deal at arm's length, uses at that time in the course of carrying on a business in Canada.

History: S. 122.1(1), the portion of paragraph (a) before subparagraph (i) of the definition "non-portfolio property" was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 36(2), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006. S. 122.1(1), the portion of paragraph (a) before subparagraph (i) of the definition "non-portfolio property" formerly read:

"(a) a security of a subject entity, if at that time the trust or partnership holds"

S. 122.1(1), the definition "non-portfolio property" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 13(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

Related Sections: S. 248(1), "Canadian real, immovable or resource property".

"portfolio investment entity" — "portfolio investment entity" at any time means an entity that does not at that time hold any non-portfolio property.

History: S. 122.1(1), the definition "portfolio investment entity" was added by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 36(8), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

"publicly-traded liability" — "publicly-traded liability", of an entity, means a liability that is a security of the entity, that is not equity of the entity and that is listed or traded on a stock exchange or other public market.

History: S. 122.1(1), the definition "publicly-traded liability" was added by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 36(8), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

"public market" — "public market" includes any trading system or other organized facility on which securities that are qualified for public distribution are listed or traded, but does not include a facility that is operated solely to carry out the issuance of a security or its redemption, acquisition or cancellation by its issuer.

History: S. 122.1(1), the definition "public market" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 13(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

"qualified REIT property" — "qualified REIT property" of a trust means a property, held by the trust, that is (a) a real or immovable property;

(b) a security of a subject entity, if the entity derives all or substantially all of its revenues from maintaining, improving, leasing or managing real or immovable properties that are capital properties of the trust or of an entity of which the trust holds a share or an interest, including real or immovable properties that the trust, or an entity of which the trust holds a share or an interest, holds together with one or more other persons or partnerships;

(c) a security of a subject entity, if the entity holds no property other than

(i) legal title to real or immovable property of the trust or of another subject entity all of the securities of which are held by the trust (including real or immovable property that the trust or the other subject entity holds together with one or more other persons or partnerships), and

(ii) property described in paragraph (d); or

(d) ancillary to the earning by the trust of the amounts described in subparagraphs (b)(i) and (iii) of the definition "real estate investment trust".

History: S. 122.1(1), paragraph (a) of the definition "qualified REIT property" was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 36(3), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006. S. 122.1(1), paragraph (a) of the definition "qualified REIT property" formerly read:

"(a) a real or immovable property situated in Canada;"

S. 122.1(1), subparagraph (c)(i) of the definition "qualified REIT property" was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 36(4), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006. S. 122.1(1), paragraph (a) of the definition "qualified REIT property" formerly read:

"(i) legal title to real or immovable property of the trust (including real or immovable property that the trust holds together with one or more other persons or partnerships), and"

S. 122.1(1), the definition "qualified REIT property" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 13(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

"real estate investment trust" — "real estate investment trust", for a taxation year, means a trust that is resident in Canada throughout the taxation year, if

(a) the trust at no time in the taxation year holds any non-portfolio property other than qualified REIT properties;

(b) not less than 95% of the trust's revenues for the taxation year are derived from one or more of the following:

(i) rent from real or immovable properties,

(ii) interest,

(iii) capital gains from dispositions of real or immovable properties,

(iv) dividends, and

(v) royalties;

(c) not less than 75% of the trust's revenues for the taxation year are derived from one or more of the following:

(i) rent from real or immovable properties,

(ii) interest from mortgages, or hypothecs, on real or immovable properties, and

(iii) capital gains from dispositions of real or immovable properties; and

(d) at each time in the taxation year an amount, that is equal to 75% or more of the equity value of the trust at that time, is the amount that is the total fair market value of all properties held by the trust each of which is real or immovable property, indebtedness of a Canadian corporation represented by a bankers' acceptance, property described by either paragraph (a) or (b) of the definition "qualified investment" in section 204, or a deposit with a credit union.

History: S. 122.1(1), paragraphs (c) and (d) of the definition "real estate investment trust" were replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 36(5), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006. S. 122.1(1), paragraphs (c) and (d) of the definition "real estate investment trust" formerly read:

"(c) not less than 75% of the trust's revenues for the taxation year are derived from one or more of the following:

(i) rent from real or immovable properties, to the extent that it is derived from real or immovable properties situated in Canada,

(ii) interest from mortgages, or hypothecs, on real or immovable properties situated in Canada, and

(iii) capital gains from dispositions of real or immovable properties situated in Canada; and

(d) at no time in the taxation year is the total fair market value of all properties held by the trust, each of which is a real or immovable property situated in Canada, cash, or a property described in paragraph (a) of the definition 'fully exempt interest' in subsection 212(3), less than 75% of the equity value of the trust at that time."

S. 122.1(1), paragraph (d) of the definition "real estate investment trust" was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 41(1), applicable after 2007. S. 122.1(1), paragraph (d) of the definition "real estate investment trust" formerly read:

"(d) at no time in the taxation year is the total fair market value of all properties held by the trust, each of which is a real or immovable property situated in Canada, cash, or a property described in clause 212(1)(b)(ii)(C), less than 75% of the equity value of the trust at that time."

S. 122.1(1), the definition "real estate investment trust" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 13(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 38, SIFT Entities — Definition of "Real Estate Investment Trust" in Section 122.1.
Tax Topics: No. 1867-68, 2007 Canadian Tax Foundation Annual Conference CRA Round Table.

"real or immovable property" — "real or immovable property", of a taxpayer,

(a) includes

(i) a security held by the taxpayer, if the security is a security of a trust that satisfies (or of any other entity that would, if it were a trust, satisfy) the conditions set out in paragraphs (a) to (d) of the definition "real estate investment trust", or

(ii) an interest in real property or a real right in immovables (other than a right to a rental or royalty described in paragraph (d) or (e) of the definition "Canadian resource property" in subsection 66(15)); but

(b) does not include any depreciable property, other than

(i) a property included, otherwise than by an election permitted by regulation, in Class 1, 3 or 31 of Schedule II to the Income Tax Regulations,

(ii) a property ancillary to the ownership or utilization of a property described in subparagraph (i), or

(iii) a lease in, or a leasehold interest in respect of, land or property described in subparagraph (i).

History: S. 122.1(1), the definition "real or immovable property" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 13(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

"regulated innovative capital" — "regulated innovative capital" means equity of a trust, where

(a) since November 2006, the equity has been authorized, by the Superintendent of Financial Institutions or by a provincial regulatory authority having powers similar to those of the Superintendent, as Tier 1 or Tier 2 capital of a financial institution (as defined by subsection 181(1));

(b) the terms and conditions of the equity have not changed after August 1, 2008;

(c) the trust has not issued any equity after October 31, 2006; and

(d) the trust does not hold any non-portfolio property other than

(i) liabilities of the financial institution, and

(ii) shares of the capital stock of the financial institution that were acquired by the trust for the sole purpose of satisfying a right to require the trust to accept, as demanded by a holder of the equity, the surrender of the equity.

History: S. 122.1(1), the definition "regulated innovative capital" was added by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 36(8), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

"rent from real or immovable properties" — "rent from real or immovable properties"

(a) includes

(i) rent or similar payments for the use of, or right to use, real or immovable properties,

(ii) payment for services ancillary to the rental of real or immovable properties and customarily supplied or rendered in connection with the rental of real or immovable properties, and

(iii) a payment that is included under paragraph 104(13)(a) in computing the recipient's income and that was made from the part of a trust's income (determined without reference to subsection 104(6)) that was derived from rent from real or immovable properties; but

(b) does not include

(i) payment for services supplied or rendered, other than those described in subparagraph (a)(ii), to the tenants of such properties,

(ii) fees for managing or operating such properties,

(iii) payment for the occupation of, use of, or right to use a room in a hotel or other similar lodging facility, or

(iv) rent based on profits.

History: S. 122.1(1), subparagraph (a)(ii) of the definition "rent from real or immovable properties" was replaced, and subparagraph (iii) was added, by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 36(6), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006. S. 122.1(1), subparagraph (a)(ii) of the definition "rent from real or immovable properties" formerly read:

"(ii) payment for services ancillary to the rental of real or immovable properties and customarily supplied or rendered in connection with the rental of real or immovable properties; but"

S. 122.1(1), the definition "rent from real or immovable properties" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 13(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

"security" — "security" of a particular entity means any right, whether absolute or contingent, conferred by the particular entity or by an entity that is affiliated with the particular entity, to receive, either immediately or in the future, an amount that can reasonably be regarded as all or any part of the capital, of the revenue or of the income of the particular entity, or as interest paid or payable by the particular entity, and for greater certainty includes

(a) a liability of the particular entity;

(b) if the particular entity is a corporation,

(i) a share of the capital stock of the corporation, and

(ii) a right to control in any manner whatever the voting rights of a share of the capital stock of the corporation;

(c) if the particular entity is a trust, an income or a capital interest in the trust;

(d) if the particular entity is a partnership, an interest as a member of the partnership; and

(e) a right to, or to acquire, anything described in this paragraph and any of paragraphs (a) to (d).

History: S. 122.1(1), the definition "security" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 13(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

"SIFT trust" — "SIFT trust", being a specified investment flow-through trust, for a taxation year means a trust (other than an excluded subsidiary entity, or a real estate investment trust, for the taxation year) that meets the following conditions at any time during the taxation year:

(a) the trust is resident in Canada;

(b) investments in the trust are listed or traded on a stock exchange or other public market; and

(c) the trust holds one or more non-portfolio properties.

History: S. 122.1(1), the portion of the definition "SIFT trust" before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 36(7), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006. S. 122.1(1), the portion of the definition "SIFT trust" before paragraph (a) formerly read:

" 'SIFT trust' — 'SIFT trust', being a specified investment flow-through trust, for a taxation year means a trust (other than a trust that is a real estate investment trust for the taxation year) that meets the following conditions at any time during the taxation year:"

S. 122.1(1), the definition "SIFT trust" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 13(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

Related Sections: S. 197(1), "SIFT partnership".

"subject entity" — "subject entity" means a person or partnership that is (a) a corporation resident in Canada;

(b) a trust resident in Canada;

(c) a Canadian resident partnership; or

(d) a non-resident person, or a partnership that is not described in paragraph (c), the principal source of income of which is one or any combination of sources in Canada.

History: S. 122.1(1), the definition "subject entity" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 13(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

"unaffiliated publicly-traded liability" — "unaffiliated publicly-traded liability", of an entity at any time means a publicly-traded liability of the entity if, at that time the total fair market value of all publicly-traded liabilities of the entity that are held at that time by persons or partnerships that are not affiliated with the entity is at least 90% of the total fair market value of all publicly-traded liabilities of the entity.

History: S. 122.1(1), the definition "unaffiliated publicly-traded liability" was added by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 36(8), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

► 122.1(2) ◄

(2) Application of definition "SIFT trust". The definition "SIFT trust" applies to a trust for a taxation year of the trust that ends after 2006, except that if the trust would have been a SIFT trust on October 31, 2006 had that definition been in force and applied to the trust as of that date, that definition does not apply to the trust for a taxation year of the trust that ends before the earlier of

(a) 2011, and

(b) the first day after December 15, 2006 on which the trust exceeds normal growth as determined by reference to the normal growth guidelines issued by the Department of Finance on December 15, 2006, as amended from time to time, unless that excess arose as a result of a prescribed transaction.

Explanatory Note Extract
SIFT Transitional Rules

[Reproduced below is an extract from the Explanatory Notes released with Bill C-10, Budget Implementation Act, 2009 (S.C. 2009, c. 2) (Department of Finance Release No. 2009-014, dated February 2, 2009). Although there was no amendment to subsection 122.1(2) in that Act, the Department of Finance has used this explanatory note to provide notification that the normal growth guidelines described in Department of Finance News Release No. 2006-082 (reproduced below), dated December 15, 2006, and referred to in subsections 122.1(2) and 197(8) have been revised.]

Subsection 122.1(2) of the Act limits the application of the definition "SIFT trust" in subsection (1) for the 2007 to 2010 taxation years. Where a trust (in this commentary referred to as a "transitional SIFT") would, under the text of that definition, be a SIFT trust on October 31, 2006, subsection 122.1(2) provides that the SIFT trust definition will not apply until the earlier of the trust's 2011 taxation year or the taxation year in which the trust exceeds its normal growth (as determined by guidelines issued by the Department of Finance on December 15, 2006), unless that excess arose as a result of a prescribed transaction.

For this purpose, the normal growth guidelines set the maximum growth from November 2006 to December 2010. Specifically, during each of the staging periods described below the maximum growth is the greater of $50 million and a safe harbour amount. That safe harbour amount is measured with respect to the transitional SIFT's market capitalization on October 31, 2006 and is staged as follows: 40% for Nov 2006 – Dec 2007; 20% for 2008; 20% for 2009; and 20% for 2010. These percentages are cumulative (in contrast, the $50 million "de minimis" amounts cannot be carried forward from one staging period to the next) such that a transitional SIFT will have been able to issue, as of January 2010, new equity of up to 100% of its October 31, 2006 market capitalization.

This note is included to serve as notification that the Department's normal growth guidelines are revised, effective December 4, 2008.

The first revision applies to certain situations involving a transitional SIFT, units of which are publicly traded, that holds securities in another transitional SIFT (whether a trust or partnership and referred to in this commentary as the "second transitional SIFT") the units of which are not publicly traded. If the transitional SIFT's securities in the second transitional SIFT are non-portfolio property of the transitional SIFT (determined for purposes of this revision to the guidelines as though the definition "non-portfolio property" in subsection 122.1(1) of the Act were read without reference to its paragraphs (b) and (c) and as though a reference to "10%" in its paragraph (a) were a reference to "25%"), then new equity issued by the second transitional SIFT will count towards the growth of the transitional SIFT and not the second transitional SIFT, provided that at least one of the following conditions is met:

- that the new equity is convertible into the equity of the transitional SIFT;
- that the new equity can reasonably be regarded to be funded by the issuance of new equity in the transitional SIFT.

This revision of the normal growth guidelines is intended to prevent, in the particular circumstances described, an inappropriate duplication of growth as between the transitional SIFT and the second transitional SIFT where there is a sufficient level of non-arm's length relations between the two entities.

The normal growth guidelines are also being revised to accelerate the remaining growth room for transitional SIFTs by making the safe harbour, and the $50M de minimis amounts, for each of 2009 and 2010 available on and after December 4, 2008. This change does not affect the maximum available growth of a transitional SIFT, but allows it to use all of its remaining growth room in a single year, rather than staging it (i.e., at the greater of 20% and $50M per year) over the 2009 and 2010 years. In effect, the revision preserves the original 2008 staging period, and combines the 2009 and 2010 staging periods into a single period that starts on December 4, 2008.

The following three examples illustrate the application of this second revision to the normal growth guidelines.

Example 1

SIFT A is a transitional SIFT with a $2 billion October 31, 2006 market capitalization. For the period from November 1, 2006 to December 3, 2008, SIFT A's only issuance of new equity was on July 23, 2008 in the amount of $1.2 billion (60% of its benchmark market capitalization). The revised guidelines allow SIFT A to issue as of December 4, 2008 up to $800 million (i.e., the greater of 40% of its October 31, 2006 market capitalization and $100 million) in additional new equity during the remaining transition period. Because SIFT A had already maximized its growth limits for the original 2008 staging period, the revisions apply only to combine its 2009 and 2010 staging periods into a single period that starts on December 4, 2008.

Example 2

SIFT B is a transitional SIFT with a $90 million October 31, 2006 market capitalization. For the period from November 1, 2006 to December 3, 2008, SIFT B issued no new equity. The revised guidelines allow SIFT B to issue as of December 4, 2008 up to $150 million (i.e., the greater of 100% of its October 31, 2006 market capitalization and the total of its unused 2008, 2009 and 2010 de minimis amounts, being $150 million) in additional new equity in 2008. In effect, SIFT B has available to it both its $50 million growth from its original 2008 staging period, as well as the $100 million in growth from its combined 2009 and 2010 staging periods that starts on December 4, 2008. If SIFT B issues no new equity in 2008 (i.e., in the period from December 4 to December 31, 2008), the revised guidelines allow SIFT B to issue after 2008 up to $100 million (i.e., the greater of 100% of its October 31, 2006 market capitalization and the total of its unused 2009 and 2010 de minimis amounts, being $100 million) in additional new equity.

Example 3

SIFT C is a transitional SIFT with a $2 billion October 31, 2006 market capitalization. For the period from November 1, 2006 to December 3, 2008, SIFT C's only issuances of new equity were on October 1, 2007 in the amount of $200 million and on September 1, 2008 in the amount of $300 million. The revised guidelines allow SIFT C to issue as of December 4, 2008 up to $1.5 billion (i.e., the greater of 75% of its October 31, 2006 market capitalization and $100 million) in additional new equity during the remaining transition period. If SIFT C issued $1.5 billion of new equity on December 22, 2008 it will have maximized its available growth room and the issuance by it of additional new equity before 2011 will cause it to lose its status as a transitional SIFT.

Department of Finance Press Release
Department of Finance Provides Guidance on "Normal Growth" for Income Trusts and Other Flow-Through Entities

[Reproduced is Department of Finance News Release 2006-082, dated December 15, 2006, which describes what the government considers to be "normal growth" with respect to the implementation date for the tax on income trusts and public partnerships announced on October 31, 2006.]

Following the close of financial markets today, the Department of Finance provided further guidance on "normal growth" in respect of the tax measures announced on October 31, 2006 regarding income trusts and other flow-through entities.

On October 31, 2006, the Minister of Finance, the Honourable Jim Flaherty, announced a Tax Fairness Plan. The Plan includes a Distribution Tax on certain amounts distributed by a "specified investment flow-through" (SIFT) trust or SIFT partnership. This new tax applies as of 2007 to new entities, but is deferred until 2011 for SIFTs that were publicly traded as of October 31, 2006.

The deferred application of these measures is, however, conditional on existing SIFTs respecting the policy objectives of the proposals. Materials released with the Minister's announcement indicated that, for example, the undue expansion of an existing SIFT might cause the deferral to be rescinded. On the other hand, the continuation of the normal growth of a SIFT would not raise concerns.

This document provides existing SIFTs with more detail as to what is meant by "normal growth" in this context. The Department's guidance has been prepared following consultations with many publicly-traded trusts and partnerships, and is based on its observations as to the range of growth arising in the normal course of business.

Specifically, the Department will not recommend any change to the 2011 date in respect of any SIFT whose equity capital grows as a result of issuances of new equity, in any of the intervening periods described below, by an amount that does not exceed the greater of $50 million and an objective "safe harbour" described below.

The safe harbour amount will be measured by reference to a SIFT's market capitalization as of the end of trading on October 31, 2006. Market capitalization is to be measured in terms of the value of a SIFT's issued and outstanding publicly-traded units. For this purpose, it would not include debt (whether or not that debt carried a conversion right or was itself publicly-traded), options or other interests that were convertible into units of the SIFT.

For the period from November 1, 2006 to the end of 2007, a SIFT's safe harbour will be 40 percent of that October 31, 2006 benchmark. A SIFT's safe harbour for each of the 2008 through 2010 calendar years will be 20 percent of that benchmark, together allowing growth of up to 100 percent over the four-year transition period.

The following are additional details of the Department's approach:

- The annual safe harbour amounts are cumulative: for example, a SIFT that issues no new equity in 2007 will as a result enjoy a greater safe harbour amount in 2008. The $50 million amounts, in contrast, are not cumulative.
- New equity for these purposes includes units and debt that is convertible into units; if attempts are made to develop other such substitutes for equity, those may be included as well.
- Replacing debt that was outstanding as of October 31, 2006 with new equity, whether through a debenture conversion or otherwise, will not be considered growth for these purposes. New, non-convertible debt can also be issued without affecting the safe harbour; however, the replacement of that new debt with equity will be counted as growth.
- An issuance by a SIFT of new equity will not be considered growth to the extent that the issuance is made in satisfaction of the exercise by another person or partnership of a right in place on October 31, 2006 to exchange an interest in a partnership, or a share of a corporation, into that new equity.
- The merger of two or more SIFTs each of which was publicly-traded on October 31, 2006, or a reorganization of such a SIFT, will not be considered growth to the extent that there is no net addition to equity as a result of the merger or reorganization.

Consistent with the objectives of Tax Fairness Plan, the Department of Finance will monitor developments in the market and will take action accordingly to ensure that this guidance is respected.

Conversion of Trusts to Corporations

It is intended that conversions of a SIFT to a corporation be allowed to take place without any tax consequences to investors on the conversion. The Department has received a number of representations concerning the rules applying on the conversion of a SIFT to a corporation, and is examining whether any impediments to conversion exist under the current income tax rules. If so, changes will be recommended to ensure that appropriate rules are in place to facilitate such conversions.

History: S. 122.1(2) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 13(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 38, SIFT Rules — Transitional Normal Growth.
Tax Topics: No. 1867-68, 2007 Canadian Tax Foundation Annual Conference CRA Round Table.

SECTION 122.2:

► 122.2(1) ◄

(1) Amount deemed paid in prescribed manner. [Repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 10(2).]

History: S. 122.2(1)(b)(i), was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 138, applicable on Royal Assent, June 18, 1998. It formerly read:

"(i) the total of all amounts each of which would be the income for the year of the individual or a supporting person of an eligible child of the individual for the year if no amount were included in respect of a gain from a disposition of property to which section 79 applies in computing that income"

S. 122.2(1) was repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 10(2), applicable with respect to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.2(1) formerly read:

"(1) Where an individual who has an eligible child files with the individual's return of income (other than a return of income filed under subsection 70(2) or 104(23), paragraph 128(2)(e) or subsection 150(4)) under this Part for a taxation year a prescribed form, containing prescribed information, completed by the individual or, where the individual resided at the end of the year with a supporting person of that child, jointly by the individual and that supporting person, the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of

(i) the product obtained when $559 is multiplied by the number of eligible children of the individual for the year, and

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is, in respect of an eligible child of the individual for the year who is under 7 years of age at the end of the year, the amount, if any, by which $200 exceeds 25% of such portion of all amounts deducted under section 63 for the year as may reasonably be considered to have been paid in respect of the child

exceeds

(b) 5% of the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is the income for the year of the individual or a supporting person of an eligible child of the individual for the year

exceeds

(ii) $24,090

shall be deemed to be an amount paid by the individual, in prescribed manner and on prescribed dates, on account of the individual's tax under this Part for the year."

Related Sections: S. 117.1(1) Annual adjustment (indexing).
Regulations: 6400.

► 122.2(2) ◄

(2) Definitions. [Repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 10(2).]

History: S. 122.2(2), the portion preceding the definition "eligible child", was repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 10(2), applicable with respect to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. The portion formerly read:

"(2) Definitions. In this section,"

Cases: For the purposes of the child tax credit the grossed-up dividend is included in income. Ford v. M.N.R., (T.C.C.) 86 DTC 1701.

"eligible child" — [Repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 10(2).]

History: S. 122.2(2), the definition of "eligible child", was repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 10(2), applicable with respect to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. That definition formerly read:

"'eligible child' — 'eligible child' of an individual for a taxation year means a child in respect of whom the individual

(a) is entitled to receive a family allowance under the Family Allowances Act

(i) in December of the year, or

(ii) where the child died or attained the age of 18 years during any month in the year, in that month, or

(b) would be entitled to receive a family allowance under the Family Allowances Act in December of the year if under that Act such an allowance were payable in the month in which the child becomes a child of the individual or becomes resident in Canada;"

S. 122.2(2), the definition of "eligible child", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 10(1), applicable with respect to the 1992 taxation year. That definition formerly read:

" 'eligible child' — 'eligible child' of an individual for a taxation year means a child in respect of whom the individual is entitled

(a) in January of the following taxation year, or

(b) where the child died or attained 18 years of age during any month in the year, in that month, to receive a family allowance under the Family Allowances Act."

Related Sections: S. 252(1) Extended meaning of "child".

"supporting person" — [Repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 10(2).]

History: S. 122.2(2), the definition "supporting person", was repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 10(2), applicable with respect to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. That definition formerly read:

" 'supporting person' — 'supporting person' of an eligible child of an individual for a taxation year means

(a) where the individual was married and resided with the individual's spouse at the end of the year, that spouse,

(b) where the eligible child is the child of the individual and another person who resided together at the end of the year, that other person, and

(c) any taxpayer who deducted an amount under section 118 for the year in respect of an eligible child of the individual."

SECTION 122.3: [Overseas Employment Tax Credit].

► 122.3(1) ◄

(1) Deduction from tax payable where employment out of Canada. Where an individual is resident in Canada in a taxation year and, throughout any period of more than 6 consecutive months that commenced before the end of the year and included any part of the year (in this subsection referred to as the "qualifying period")

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of subsection 122.3(1) of the Act before paragraph (a) is replaced by the following:

SECTION 122.3:

(1) Overseas employment tax credit. If an individual is resident in Canada in a taxation year and, throughout any period of more than six consecutive months that began before the end of the year and included any part of the year (in this section referred to as the "qualifying period")

Applicable: To taxation years that begin after the day on which this Act is assented to.

Explanatory Note: Section 122.3 of the Act provides an "overseas employment tax credit" to individuals resident in Canada who are employed for at least six consecutive months in a foreign country by a specified employer in respect of certain enumerated activities.

Subsection 122.3(1.1), which at present limits access to the tax credit in one set of circumstances, is amended so that the credit is also unavailable in another situation. New paragraph 122.3(1.1)(b) denies an individual the benefit of the credit if, at any time in the qualifying period, the services of the individual are provided to a firm with which the employer does not deal at arm's length, and less than 10% of the fair market value of all the interests in the firm are held directly or indirectly by persons resident in Canada.

Example:

Situation:

An individual is employed by a corporation that is a specified employer. The employer supplies the individual's services to a non-resident corporation, the shares of which are held as follows: 60% are held by a non-resident corporation that also controls the individual's corporate specified employer; 20% are held by a non-resident trust, all of the units of which are held by non-residents; and 20% are held by a second non-resident trust, half of the units of which are held by residents of Canada.

Result:

Since they are related, the specified employer does not deal at arm's length with the recipient of the services in this example. However, new paragraph 122.3(1.1)(b) would not apply in this instance because residents of Canada hold, indirectly through the second trust, 10% of the interests in the recipient corporation.

The set of circumstances currently described in paragraphs 122.3(1.1)(a), (b) and (c) is contained in amended paragraph 122.3(1.1)(a), and subsection 122.3(1) is amended to ensure that the term "qualifying period" applies to subsection 122.3(1.1), as well as to subsection 122.3(1).

These amendments to subsections 122.3(1) and (1.1) apply to taxation years that begin after this Act is assented to.

(a) was employed by a person who was a specified employer, other than for the performance of services under a prescribed international development assistance program of the Government of Canada, and

(b) performed all or substantially all the duties of the individual's employment outside Canada

(i) in connection with a contract under which the specified employer carried on business outside Canada with respect to

(A) the exploration for or exploitation of petroleum, natural gas, minerals or other similar resources,

(B) any construction, installation, agricultural or engineering activity, or

(C) any prescribed activity, or

(ii) for the purpose of obtaining, on behalf of the specified employer, a contract to undertake any of the activities referred to in clause (i)(A), (B) or (C), there may be deducted, from the amount that would, but for this section, be the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year, an amount equal to that proportion of the tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year by the individual that the lesser of (c) an amount equal to that proportion of $80,000 that the number of days

(i) in that portion of the qualifying period that is in the year, and

(ii) on which the individual was resident in Canada is of 365, and

(d) 80% of the individual's income for the year from that employment that is reasonably attributable to duties performed on the days referred to in paragraph (c)

is of

(e) the amount, if any, by which

(i) if the individual is resident in Canada throughout the year, the individual's income for the year, and

(ii) if the individual is non-resident at any time in the year, the amount determined under paragraph 114(a) in respect of the taxpayer for the year

exceeds

(iii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under section 110.6 or paragraph 111(1)(b), or deductible under paragraph

110(1)(d.2), (d.3), (f), (g) or (j), in computing the individual's taxable income for the year.

History: S. 122.3(1)(e)(iii) was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 37(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years except that, for the 1997 taxation year, subparagraph 122.3(1)(e)(iii) of the Act shall be read as follows:

"(iii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the individual under section 110.6 or paragraph 111(1)(b), or deductible by the individual under paragraph 110(1)(d.2), (d.3), (f), (g) or (j), for the year or in respect of the period or periods referred to in subparagraph (ii), as the case may be."

Notwithstanding subsections 152(4) to (5) of the Act, any assessment of a taxpayer's tax, interest or penalty for any taxation year shall be made that is necessary to give effect to the amendment to subparagraph 122.3(1)(e)(iii) and the alternative reading for 1997.

S. 122.3(1)(e)(iii) formerly read:

"(iii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under section 110.6 or paragraph 111(1)(b) or deductible under paragraph 110(1)(d.2), (d.3), (f) or (j) in computing the individual's taxable income for the year."

S. 122.3(1)(e) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 106(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.3(1)(e) formerly read;

"(e) the amount, if any, by which

(i) where section 114 does not apply to the individual in respect of the year, the individual's income for the year, and

(ii) where section 114 applies to the individual in respect of the year, the total of

(A) the individual's income for the period or periods in the year referred to in paragraph 114(a), and

(B) the amount that would be determined under paragraph 114(b) in respect of the individual for the year if subsection 115(1) were read without reference to paragraphs 115(1)(d) to (f)

exceeds

(iii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the individual under section 110.6 or paragraph 111(1)(b) or deductible by the individual under paragraph 110(1)(d.2), (d.3), (f) or (j) for the year or in respect of the period or periods referred to in subparagraph (ii), as the case may be."

S. 122.3(1)(e)(i) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 31(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.3(1)(e)(i) formerly read:

"(i) where section 114 is not applicable to the individual in respect of the year, the total of the individual's income for the year and the amount, if any, included pursuant to subsection 110.4(2) in computing the individual's taxable income for the year, and"

S. 122.3(1)(c)(ii) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 56(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years except that, where a taxpayer elects in accordance the application provision to section 114 provided by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 52(3), the amendment to s. 122.3(1)(c)(ii) does not apply to the taxpayer's 1992 taxation year. Subparagraph 122.3(1)(c)(ii) formerly read:

"(ii) on which the individual was resident in Canada or carrying on business in Canada,"

S. 122.3(1)(e)(ii) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 56(2), applicable to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.3(1)(e)(ii) formerly read:

"(ii) where section 114 is applicable to the individual in respect of the year, the individual's income for the period or periods in the year referred to in paragraph 114(a)"

S. 122.3(1)(b), preceding clause (i)(A), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 99(1), applicable to the 1985 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.3(1)(b), preceding clause (i)(A), formerly read:

"(b) performed all or substantially all the duties of the individual's employment in one or more countries other than Canada

(i) in connection with a contract under which the specified employer carried on business in that country or those countries with respect to"

Regulations: 3400; 6000.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-497R4 Overseas employment tax credit. Secondary — IT-270R3 Foreign tax credit.

Information Circulars: IC 07-1 Taxpayer Relief Provisions

Forms: T626.

Cases: The taxpayer was entitled to the overseas employment tax credit because throughout the qualifying period, which was the entire year, the taxpayer performed all or substantially all of his employment duties outside of Canada. It was not required that the taxpayer be employed outside of Canada for at least six continuous months in the year. Rooke v. the Queen, 2002 DTC 7442 (F.C.A.), reversing 2000 DTC 2206 (T.C.C.).

The taxpayer was denied an overseas employment tax credit because there was no evidence that his employer's activities outside of Canada amounted to carrying on a business as opposed to operating exclusively for charitable purposes. Brown v. The Queen, 2000 DTC 6410 (F.C.A.), affirming 99 DTC 3536 (T.C.C.).

When the taxpayer's employer entered into a contract with an international organization for the purpose of establishing dairy farms in Malawi, the taxpayer was entitled to deduct an overseas employment tax credit on the basis that his employer did carry on "business" in Malawi as required by s. 122.3(1). The definition of "business" in s. 248(1) contains no requirement for a predominant profit motive. Timmins v. The Queen, 99 DTC 5494 (F.C.A.), reversing 96 DTC 6378 (F.C.T.D.)

► 122.3(1.1) ◄

(1.1) Excluded income. No amount may be included under paragraph (1)(d) in respect of an individual's income for a taxation year from the individual's employment by an employer where

(a) the employer carries on a business of providing services and does not employ in the business throughout the year more than 5 full-time employees;

(b) the individual

(i) does not deal at arm's length with the employer, or is a specified shareholder of the employer, or

(ii) where the employer is a partnership, does not deal at arm's length with a member of the partnership, or is a specified shareholder of a member of the partnership; and

(c) but for the existence of the employer, the individual would reasonably be regarded as an employee of a person or partnership that is not a specified employer.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subsection 122.3(1.1) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(1.1) Excluded income. No amount may be included under paragraph (1)(d) in respect of an individual's income for a taxation year from the individual's employment by an employer

(a) if

(i) the employer carries on a business of providing services and does not employ in the business throughout the year more than five full-time employees,

(ii) the individual

(A) does not deal at arm's length with the employer, or is a specified shareholder of the employer, or

(B) where the employer is a partnership, does not deal at arm's length with a member of the partnership, or is a specified shareholder of a member of the partnership, and

(iii) but for the existence of the employer, the individual would reasonably be regarded as being an employee of a person or partnership that is not a specified employer; or

(b) if at any time in that portion of the qualifying period that is in the taxation year

(i) the employer provides the services of the individual to a corporation, partnership or trust with which the employer does not deal at arm's length, and

(ii) the fair market value of all the issued shares of the capital stock of the corporation or of all interests in the partnership or trust, as the case may be, that are held, directly or indirectly, by persons who are resident in Canada is less than 10% of the fair market value of all those shares or interests.

Applicable: To taxation years that begin after the day on which this Act is assented to.

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the amendment to the portion of subsection 122.3(1) of the Act before paragraph (a).

History: S. 122.3(1.1) was added by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 31(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years.

► 122.3(2) ◄

(2) Definitions. In subsection (1),

"specified employer" — "specified employer" means

(a) a person resident in Canada,

(b) a partnership in which interests that exceed in total value 10% of the fair market value of all interests in the partnership are owned by persons resident in Canada or corporations controlled by persons resident in Canada, or

(c) a corporation that is a foreign affiliate of a person resident in Canada;

"tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year" — "tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year" means the amount that, but for this section, sections 120 and 120.2, subsection 120.4(2) and sections 121, 126, 127 and 127.4, would be the tax payable under this Part for the year.

History: S. 122.3(2), the definition "tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year" was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 31(2), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.3(2), the definition "tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year" formerly read:

" 'tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year' — 'tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year' means the amount that, but for this section and sections 120, 120.1, 120.2, 121, 126, 127 and 127.2 to 127.4, would be the tax payable under this Part for the year."

SECTION 122.4: [Sales tax credit]. [Repealed by 1990, c. 45, s. 47(1).]

SECTION 122.5: [Goods and services tax credit].

► 122.5(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. The following definitions apply in this section.

"adjusted income" — "adjusted income", of an individual for a taxation year in relation to a month specified for the taxation year, means the total of the individual's income for the taxation year and the income for the taxation year of the individual's qualified relation, if any, in relation to the specified month, both calculated as if no amount were included under paragraph 56(1)(q.1) or subsection 56(6) or in respect of any gain from a disposition of property to which section 79 applies in computing that income and as if no amount were deductible under paragraph 60(y) or (z) in computing that income.

History: S. 122.5(1), the definition "adjusted income" was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 111, applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(1), the definition "adjusted income" formerly read:

" 'adjusted income' — 'adjusted income' of an individual, for a taxation year in relation to a month specified for the taxation year, means the total of the individual's income for the taxation year and the income for the taxation year of the individual's qualified relation, if any, in relation to the specified month, both calculated as if no amount were included under subsection 56(6) or in respect of any gain from a disposition of property to which section 79 applies in computing that income and as if no amount were deductible under paragraph 60(y) in computing that income."

S. 122.5(1), the definition "adjusted income" was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 175(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 122.5(1), the definition "adjusted income" formerly read:

" 'adjusted income' — 'adjusted income' of an individual, for a taxation year in relation to a month specified for the taxation year, means the total of the individual's income for the taxation year and the income for the taxation year of the individual's qualified relation, if any, in relation to the specified month, both calculated as if no amount were included in respect of any gain from a disposition of property to which section 79 applies."

S. 122.5(1), the definition "adjusted income" was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 38(1), applicable to amounts that are deemed to be paid during months specified for the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(1), the definition "adjusted income" formerly read:

"(1) Definitions. In this section,

'adjusted income' — 'adjusted income' of an individual for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which would be the income for the year of

(a) the individual, or

(b) the individual's qualified relation for the year

if no amount were included in respect of a gain from a disposition of property to which section 79 applies in computing that income;"

S. 122.5, the definition of "adjusted income", was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 139(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. That definition formerly read:

" 'adjusted income' — 'adjusted income' of an individual for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which is the income for the year of

(a) the individual, or

(b) the individual's qualified relation for the year;"

S. 122.5(1), paragraph (c) of the definition of "adjusted income", was repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 60(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(1), paragraph (c) of the definition of "adjusted income", formerly read:

"(c) a person (other than the individual or the individual's qualified relation for the year) who deducts for the year an amount under section 118 in respect of a qualified dependant of the individual for the year;"

Related Sections: S. 122.51(1), "Adjusted income"; s. 122.6, "adjusted income".

"cohabiting spouse or common-law partner" — "cohabiting spouse or common-law partner" of an individual at any time has the meaning assigned by section 122.6.

History: S. 122.5(1), the definition "cohabiting spouse or common-law partner" was added by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 38(1), applicable to amounts that are deemed to be paid during months specified for the 2001 and subsequent taxation years.

"eligible individual" — "eligible individual", in relation to a month specified for a taxation year, means an individual (other than a trust) who

(a) has, before the specified month, attained the age of 19 years; or

(b) was, at any time before the specified month,

(i) a parent who resided with their child, or

(ii) married or in a common-law partnership.

History: S. 122.5(1), the definition "eligible individual" was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 38(1), applicable to amounts that are deemed to be paid during months specified for the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(1), the definition "eligible individual" formerly read:

" 'eligible individual' — 'eligible individual' for a taxation year means an individual (other than a trust) who, at the end of December 31 of that year, is resident in Canada and is

(a) married or in a common-law partnership,

(b) a parent of a child, or

(c) 19 years of age or over;"

S. 122.5(1), paragraph (a) of the definition "eligible individual" was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 11(b), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 122.5(1), paragraph (a) of the definition "eligible individual" formerly read:

"(a) married,"

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 122.5(1), that portion of the definition of "eligible individual" preceding paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 139(2), applicable after April 26, 1995. That portion formerly read:

" 'eligible individual' — 'eligible individual' for a taxation year means an individual (other than a trust) who, at the end of December of that year, is resident in Canada and is"

Related Sections: S. 122.51(1), "Eligible individual"; s. 122.6, "eligible individual".

"qualified dependant" — "qualified dependant" of an individual, in relation to a month specified for a taxation year, means a person who at the beginning of the specified month

(a) is the individual's child or is dependent for support on the individual or on the individual's cohabiting spouse or common-law partner;

(b) resides with the individual;

(c) is under the age of 19 years;

(d) is not an eligible individual in relation to the specified month; and

(e) is not a qualified relation of any individual in relation to the specified month.

History: S. 122.5(1), the definition "qualified dependant" was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 38(1), applicable to amounts that are deemed to be paid during months specified for the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(1), the definition "qualified dependant" formerly read:

" 'qualified dependant' — 'qualified dependant' of an individual for a taxation year means a person who is

(a) a person in respect of whom the individual or the individual's qualified relation for the year is the only person who deducts an amount under section 118 for the year, or

(b) a child of the individual residing with the individual at the end of the year, and who is not

(c) an eligible individual for the year,

(d) the qualified relation of an individual for the year, or

(e) a person in respect of whom an amount is deemed under this section to be paid by any other individual for the year;"

"qualified relation" — "qualified relation" of an individual, in relation to a month specified for a taxation year, means the person, if any, who, at the beginning of the specified month, is the individual's cohabiting spouse or common-law partner.

History: S. 122.5(1), the definition "qualified relation" was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 38(1), applicable to amounts that are deemed to be paid during months specified for the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(1), the definition "qualified relation" formerly read:

" 'qualified relation' — 'qualified relation' of an individual for a taxation year means the person who, at the end of the year, is the individual's cohabiting spouse or common-law partner (within the meaning assigned by section 122.6)."

S. 122.5(1), the definition "qualified relation", was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.10), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 122.5(1), the definition "qualified relation", formerly read:

" 'qualified relation' — 'qualified relation' of an individual for a taxation year means the person who, at the end of the year, is the individual's cohabiting spouse (within the meaning assigned by section 122.6)."

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 122.5(1), the definition of "qualified relation", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 60(2), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years, except that, in its application to the 1992 taxation year, the definition "qualified relation" in subsection 122.5(1) of the Act shall be read as follows:

" 'qualified relation' — 'qualified relation' of an individual for a taxation year means the person who, at the beginning of the 1993 calendar year, is the individual's cohabiting spouse (within the meaning assigned by section 122.6)."

S. 122.5(1), the definition of "qualified relation", formerly read:

" qualified relation — 'qualified relation' of an individual for a taxation year means the person, if any, who is either

(a) the individual's spouse, or

(b) the other parent of a child of the individual, if the child is a qualified dependant of the individual, who is of the opposite sex to the individual and who, at the end of the year, is not living separate and apart from the individual by reason of the breakdown of their marriage or other conjugal relationship."

Related Sections: S. 122.6, "cohabiting spouse or common-law partner"; s. 248(1), "individual".

"return of income" — "return of income", in respect of a person for a taxation year, means

(a) for a person who is resident in Canada at the end of the taxation year, the person's return of income (other than a return of income under subsection 70(2) or 104(23), paragraph 128(2)(e) or subsection 150(4)) that is required to be filed for the taxation year or that would be required to be filed if the person had tax payable under this Part for the taxation year; and

(b) in any other case, a prescribed form containing prescribed information that is filed for the taxation year with the Minister.

History: S. 122.5(1), the definition "return of income" was added by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 38(1), applicable to amounts that are deemed to be paid during months specified for the 2001 and subsequent taxation years.

► 122.5(2) ◄

(2) Persons not eligible individuals, qualified relations or qualified dependants. Notwithstanding subsection (1), a person is not an eligible individual, is not a qualified relation and is not a qualified dependant, in relation to a month specified for a taxation year, if the person

(a) died before the specified month;

(b) is confined to a prison or similar institution for a period of at least 90 days that includes the first day of the specified month;

(c) is at the beginning of the specified month a non-resident person, other than a non-resident person who

(i) is at that time the cohabiting spouse or common-law partner of a person who is deemed under subsection 250(1) to be resident in Canada throughout the taxation year that includes the first day of the specified month, and

(ii) was resident in Canada at any time before the specified month;

(d) is at the beginning of the specified month a person described in paragraph 149(1)(a) or (b); or (e) is a person in respect of whom a special allowance under the Children's Special Allowances Act is payable for the specified month.

History: S. 122.5(2) was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 38(1), applicable to amounts that are deemed to be paid during months specified for the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(2) formerly read:

"(2) Persons not eligible individuals, qualified relations or qualified dependants. Notwithstanding subsection (1), a person shall be deemed not to be an eligible individual for a taxation year or a qualified relation or qualified dependant of an individual for a taxation year where the person

(a) dies before the end of the year;

(b) is, at the end of the year, a person described in paragraph 149(1)(a) or (b); or

(c) is, at the end of the year, confined to a prison or similar institution and has been so confined for a period of, or periods the total of which in the year was more than, 6 months."

► 122.5(3) ◄

(3) Deemed payment on account of tax. An eligible individual in relation to a month specified for a taxation year who files a return of income for the taxation year and applies for an amount under this subsection is deemed to have paid during the specified month on account of their tax payable under this Part for the taxation year an amount equal to 1/4 of the amount, if any, determined by the formula

$$A - B$$

where

A is the total of

(a) $213,

(b) $213 for the qualified relation, if any, of the individual in relation to the specified month,

(c) if the individual has no qualified relation in relation to the specified month and is entitled to deduct an amount for the taxation year under subsection 118(1) because of paragraph (b) of the description of B in that subsection in respect of a qualified dependant of the individual in relation to the specified month, $213,

(d) $112 times the number of qualified dependants of the individual in relation to the specified month, other than a qualified dependant in respect of whom an amount is included under paragraph (c) in computing the total for the specified month,

(e) if the individual has no qualified relation and has one or more qualified dependants, in relation to the specified month, $112, and

(f) if the individual has no qualified relation and no qualified dependant, in relation to the specified month, the lesser of $112 and 2% of the amount, if any, by which the individual's income for the taxation year exceeds $6,911; and

B is 5% of the amount, if any, by which the individual's adjusted income for the taxation year in relation to the specified month exceeds $27,749.

CRA Press Release

2.5% Indexation Factor for 2009

See CRA Fact Sheet, dated December 8, 2008, that is reproduced following subsection 117.1(1). This release announces a 2.5% indexation factor applicable for 2009 tax bracket thresholds, personal amounts and other amounts relating to non-refundable credits, as well as the refundable medical expense supplement and Old Age Security repayment threshold. Increases to the Canada Child Tax Benefit (including the National Child Benefit supplement and the Child Disability Benefit) and the Goods and Services Tax Credit will take effect as of July 1, 2009.

History: S. 122.5(3) was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 38(1), applicable to amounts that are deemed to be paid during months specified for the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(3) formerly read:

"(3) Deemed payment on account. Where a return of income (other than a return of income filed under subsection 70(2), paragraph 104(23)(d) or 128(2)(e) or subsection 150(4)) is filed under this Part for a taxation year in respect of an eligible individual and the individual applies therefor in writing, 1/4 of the amount, if any, by which the total of

(a) $190,

(b) $190 for a person who is the qualified relation of the individual for the year,

(c) $190, where the individual has no qualified relation for the year and is entitled to deduct an amount for the year under subsection 118(1) because of paragraph (b) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) in respect of a qualified dependant of the individual for the year,

(d) the product obtained when $100 is multiplied by the number of qualified dependants of the individual for the year, other than a qualified dependant in respect of whom an amount is included by reason of paragraph (c) in computing an amount deemed to be paid under this subsection for the year, and

(e) where the individual has no qualified relation for the year,

(i) if the individual has one or more qualified dependants for the year, $105, and

(ii) if the individual has no qualified dependant for the year, the lesser of

(A) $105, and

(B) 2% of the amount, if any, by which

(I) the individual's income for the year exceeds

(II) $6,546

exceeds

(f) 5% of the amount, if any, by which

(i) the individual's adjusted income for the year exceeds

(ii) $26,284,

shall be deemed to be an amount paid by the individual on account of the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year during each of the months specified for that year under subsection (4)."

S. 122.5(3)(f)(ii) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 14, s. 38(2), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(3)(f)(ii) formerly read:

"(ii) $25,921,"

S. 122.5(3)(e)(ii)(B)(II) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 14, s. 38(1), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(3)(e)(ii)(B)(II) formerly read:

"(II) $6,456,"

S. 122.5(3)(e) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 26, s. 41(1), applicable to amounts deemed to be paid in specified months that are after June 1999. S. 122.5(3)(e) formerly read:

"(e) where the individual has no qualified relation for the year, the lesser of

(i) $100, and

(ii) 2% of the amount, if any, by which

(A) the individual's income for the year exceeds

(B) the amount determined for the year for the purposes of paragraph (c) of the description of B in subsection 118(1),"

S. 122.5(3)(c) was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 32(1), applicable April 25, 1997. S. 122.5(3)(c) formerly read:

"(c) $190, where the individual has no qualified relation for the year and is entitled to deduct an amount for the year under subsection 118(1) by reason of paragraph 118(1)(b) in respect of a qualified dependant of the individual for the year,"

S. 122.5(3)(e)(ii)(B) was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 32(2), applicable April 25, 1997. S. 122.5(3)(e)(ii)(B) formerly read:

"(B) the amount determined for the year for the purposes of paragraph 118(1)(c),"

S. 122.5(3), that portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 57(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(3), that portion before paragraph (a), formerly read:

"(3) Amount deemed paid on account of tax. Where an eligible individual for a taxation year files with the individual's return of income (other than a return of income filed under subsection 70(2), paragraph 104(23)(d) or 128(2)(e) or subsection 150(4)) under this Part for the year a prescribed form, containing prescribed information, 1/4 of the amount, if any, by which the total of"

S. 122.5(3)(f)(ii) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 11(1), applicable with respect to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(3)(f)(ii) formerly read:

"(ii) the amount referred to in subparagraph 122.2(1)(b)(ii) for the year,"

Related Sections: S. 117.1(1) Annual adjustment (indexing).
Information Circulars: IC 07-1 Taxpayer Relief Provisions.

► 122.5(3.1) ◄

(3.1) When advance payment applies. Subsection (3.2) applies in respect of an eligible individual in relation to a particular month specified for a taxation year, and each subsequent month specified for the taxation year, if

(a) the amount deemed by that subsection to have been paid by the eligible individual during the particular month specified for the taxation year is less than $25; and

(b) it is reasonable to conclude that the amount deemed by that subsection to have been paid by the eligible individual during each subsequent month specified for the taxation year will be less than $25.

History: S. 122.5(3.1) was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 38(1), applicable to amounts that are deemed to be paid during months specified for the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(3.1) formerly read:

"(3.1) Adjustment of certain amounts. For the purpose of subsection (3) and notwithstanding subsection 117.1(1), the amounts, in respect of the amounts of $190, $100 and $105 referred to in subsection (3), used for the purpose of determining amounts deemed to be paid during months specified under subsection (4)

(a) for the 1999 taxation year are deemed to be $205, $107 and $107, respectively;

(b) for the 2000 taxation year shall be equal to the greater of the amounts referred to in paragraph (a) and the amounts that would otherwise be determined to be paid during those months if this Act were read without reference to this subsection; and

(c) for the 2001 and subsequent taxation years shall be computed without reference to paragraphs (a) and (b)."

S. 122.5(3.1) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 14, s. 38(3), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years.

► 122.5(3.2) ◄

(3.2) Advance payment. If this subsection applies, the total of the amounts that would otherwise be deemed by subsection (3) to have been paid on account of the eligible individual's tax payable under this Part for the taxation year during the particular month specified for the taxation year, and during each subsequent month specified for the taxation year, is deemed to have been paid by the eligible individual on account of their tax payable under this Part for the taxation year during the particular specified month for the taxation year, and the amount deemed by subsection (3) to have been paid by the eligible individual during those subsequent months specified for the taxation year is deemed, except for the purpose of this subsection, not to have been paid to the extent that it is included in an amount deemed to have been paid by this subsection.

History: S. 122.5(3.2) was added by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 38(1), applicable to amounts that are deemed to be paid during months specified for the 2001 and subsequent taxation years.

► 122.5(4) ◄

(4) Months specified. For the purposes of this section, the months specified for a taxation year are July and October of the immediately following taxation year and January and April of the second immediately following taxation year.

► 122.5(5) ◄

(5) Only one eligible individual. If an individual is a qualified relation of another individual, in relation to a month specified for a taxation year, only one of them is an eligible individual in relation to that specified month, and if both of them claim to be eligible individuals, the individual that the Minister designates is the eligible individual in relation to that specified month.

History: S. 122.5(5) was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 38(2), applicable to amounts that are deemed to be paid during months specified for the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(5) formerly read:

"(5) Exceptions. Notwithstanding subsection (3),

(a) where an individual is a qualified relation of another individual for a taxation year, only one of them may apply under that subsection for the year;

(b) where the total of all amounts, deemed under that subsection to be paid by an individual for a taxation year during months specified for the year, is less than $100, the total shall be deemed to be paid by the individual during the first month specified for the year, and no other amount shall be deemed to be paid under that subsection by the individual for the year; and

(c) no amount shall be deemed to be paid under that subsection by an individual for a taxation year during a month specified for that year where the individual died before that month or was not resident in Canada at the beginning of that month."

S. 122.5(5)(a) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 57(2), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(5)(a) formerly read:

"(a) where an individual is a qualified relation of another individual for a taxation year, only one of them may file a prescribed form under that subsection for the year;"

S. 122.5(5)(b) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 60(3), applicable on Royal Assent, June 10, 1993. s. 122.5(5)(b) formerly read:

"(b) where the total of all amounts, each of which is an amount deemed under that subsection to be paid by an individual for a taxation year during a month specified for the year, is less than

(i) one dollar, the total shall be deemed to be nil, and

(ii) $100 but not less than one dollar, the total shall be deemed to be paid by the individual during the first month specified for the year, and no other amount shall be deemed to be paid under that subsection by the individual for the year; and"

S. 122.5(5)(c) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 60(4), applicable to the 1989 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(5)(c) formerly read:

"(c) no amount shall be deemed to be paid under that subsection by an individual for a taxation year

(i) during a month specified for that year where the individual died before that month or was not resident in Canada at the beginning of that month, or

(ii) where the individual's return of income under this Part for the year and prescribed form under this section are not filed within 3 years after the end of the year."

Related Sections: S. 248(1), "amount", "individual"; s. 255 Canada.

► 122.5(5.1) ◄

(5.1) Exception. [Repealed by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 38(2).]

History: S. 122.5(5.1) was repealed by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 38(2), applicable to amounts that are deemed to be paid during months specified for the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(5.1) formerly read:

"(5.1) Exception. No amount is deemed to be paid under subsection (3) by an individual for the 2000 taxation year if the individual is confined to a prison or similar institution at any time during the 12-month period that ends on June 30, 2002, unless the individual satisfies the Minister that the individual's confinement is for a period of not more than 6 months included in that 12-month period."

S. 122.5(5.1) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 107(1), applicable to amounts deemed to be paid during months specified for the 2000 taxation year.

► 122.5(6) ◄

(6) Exception re qualified dependant. If a person would, if this Act were read without reference to this subsection, be the qualified dependant of two or more individuals, in relation to a month specified for a taxation year,

(a) the person is deemed to be a qualified dependant, in relation to that month, of the one of those individuals on whom those individuals agree;

(b) in the absence of an agreement referred to in paragraph (a), the person is deemed to be, in relation to that month, a qualified dependant of the individual, if any, who is, at the beginning of that month, an eligible individual within the meaning assigned by section 122.6 in respect of the person; and

(c) in any other case, the person is deemed to be, in relation to that month, a qualified dependant only of the individual that the Minister designates.

History: S. 122.5(6) was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 38(2), applicable to amounts that are deemed to be paid during months specified for the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(6) formerly read:

"(6) Qualified relation of deceased eligible individual. Notwithstanding paragraph (5)(c), on written application made, on or before the day on or before which a return of income (other than a return of income filed under subsection 70(2), paragraph 104(23)(d) or 128(2)(e) or subsection 150(4)) of a deceased person is required to be filed under this Part for the taxation year in which the person died (or would have been so required if the person were liable to pay tax under this Part for that year), by an individual who

(a) is the deceased person's qualified relation for the taxation year in respect of which a payment under this section would, but for that paragraph, be made, and

(b) is not an individual to whom that paragraph applies, each amount that, but for that paragraph, would be deemed to be paid under subsection (3) by the deceased person during a month specified for a taxation year shall be deemed to be paid during the month on account of the individual's tax payable under this Part for that year."

S. 122.5(6), that portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 57(3), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(6), that portion before paragraph (a), formerly read:

"(6) Qualified relation of a deceased individual. Notwithstanding paragraph (5)(c), on application made in prescribed form containing prescribed information within 60 days after a person's death (or within such longer period as the Minister considers reasonable in the circumstances) by an individual who"

S. 122.5(6) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 60(5), applicable to the 1989 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.5(6) formerly read:

"(6) Qualified relation of a deceased eligible individual. Notwithstanding subparagraph (5)(c)(i), on application made in prescribed form containing prescribed information within 60 days after a person's death (or within such longer period as the Minister considers reasonable in the circumstances) by an individual who

(a) is the deceased person's qualified relation for the taxation year in respect of which a payment under this section would, but for that subparagraph, be made, and

(b) is not an individual to whom that subparagraph applies, each amount that, but for that subparagraph, would be deemed to be paid under subsection (3) by the deceased person during a month specified for a taxation year shall be deemed to be paid during the month on account of the individual's tax payable under this Part for that year."

Related Sections: S. 248(1), "individual", "prescribed".

► 122.5(6.1) ◄

(6.1) Notification to Minister. An individual shall notify the Minister of the occurrence of any of the following events before the end of the month following the month in which the event occurs:

(a) the individual ceases to be an eligible individual;

(b) a person becomes or ceases to be the individual's qualified relation; and

(c) a person ceases to be a qualified dependant of the individual, otherwise than because of attaining the age of 19 years.

History: S. 122.5(6.1) was added by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 38(2), applicable to amounts that are deemed to be paid during months specified for the 2001 and subsequent taxation years.

► 122.5(6.2) ◄

(6.2) Non-residents and part-year residents. For the purpose of this section, the income of a person who is non-resident at any time in a taxation year is deemed to be equal to the amount that would, if the person were resident in Canada throughout the year, be the person's income for the year.

History: S. 122.5(6.2) was added by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 38(2), applicable to amounts that are deemed to be paid during months specified for the 2001 and subsequent taxation years.

► 122.5(7) ◄

(7) Effect of bankruptcy. For the purpose of this section, where in a taxation year an individual becomes bankrupt,

(a) the individual's income for the year shall include the individual's income for the taxation year that begins on January 1 of the calendar year that includes the date of bankruptcy; and

(b) the amount determined for the year under clause (3)(e)(ii)(B) shall include the amount determined for the purpose of paragraph (c) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) for the individual's taxation year that begins on January 1 of the calendar year that includes the date of bankruptcy.

History: S. 122.5(7) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 139(3), applicable to bankruptcies that occur after April 26, 1995.

Related Sections: S. 118.95 Credits in year of bankruptcy; s. 120.2(4) Where subsection (1) does not apply; s. 122.61(3.1) Effect of bankruptcy; s. 127.1(1) Refundable investment tax credit; s. 128(2) Where individual bankrupt; s. 248(1), "bankrupt".

SECTION 122.51: [Refundable Medical Expense Supplement].

► 122.51(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. The definitions in this subsection apply in this section.

"adjusted income" — "adjusted income" of an individual for a taxation year has the meaning assigned by section 122.6.

"eligible individual" — "eligible individual" for a taxation year means an individual (other than a trust)

(a) who is resident in Canada throughout the year (or, if the individual dies in the year, throughout the portion of the year before the individual's death);

(b) who, before the end of the year, has attained the age of 18 years; and

(c) the total of whose incomes for the year from the following sources is at least $2,500:

(i) offices and employments (computed without reference to paragraph 6(1)(f)),

(ii) businesses each of which is a business carried on by the individual either alone or as a partner actively engaged in the business, and

(iii) the program established under the Wage Earner Protection Program Act.

History: S. 122.51(1), paragraph (c) of the definition "eligible individual" was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 37(1), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.51(1), paragraph (c) of the definition "eligible individual" formerly read:

"(c) whose incomes for the year from all

(i) offices and employments (computed without reference to paragraph 6(1)(f)), and

(ii) businesses each of which is a business carried on by the individual either alone or as a partner actively engaged in the business

total $2,500 or more."

S. 122.51(1) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 32(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years.

► 122.51(2) ◄

(2) Deemed payment on account of tax. Where a return of income (other than a return of income filed under subsection 70(2), paragraph 104(23)(d) or 128(2)(e) or subsection 150(4)) is filed in respect of an eligible individual for a particular taxation year that ends at the end of a calendar year, there is deemed to be paid at the end of the particular year on account of the individual's tax payable under this Part for the particular year the amount determined by the formula

$$A - B$$

where

A is the lesser of

(a) $1,000, and

(b) the total of

(i) the amount determined by the formula

$$(25/C) \times D$$

where

C is the appropriate percentage for the particular taxation year, and

D is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount determined by the formula in subsection 118.2(1) for the purpose of computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for a taxation year that ends in the calendar year, and

(ii) 25% of the total of all amounts each of which is the amount deductible under section 64 in computing the individual's income for a taxation year that ends in the calendar year; and

B is 5% of the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's adjusted income for a taxation year that ends in the calendar year

exceeds

(b) $21,663.

CRA Press Release

2.5% Indexation Factor for 2009

See CRA Fact Sheet, dated December 8, 2008, that is reproduced following subsection 117.1(1). This release announces a

2.5% indexation factor applicable for 2009 tax bracket thresholds, personal amounts and other amounts relating to non-refundable credits, as well as the refundable medical expense supplement and Old Age Security repayment threshold. Increases to the Canada Child Tax Benefit (including the National Child Benefit supplement and the Child Disability Benefit) and the Goods and Services Tax Credit will take effect as of July 1, 2009.

History: S. 122.51(2), subparagraph (b)(i) of the description of A was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 31(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 122.51(2), subparagraph (b)(i) of the description of A formerly read:

"(i) $^{25}/_{16}$ of the total of all amounts each of which is the amount determined by the formula in subsection 118.2(1) for the purpose of computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for a taxation year that ends in the calendar year, and"

S. 122.51(2), paragraph (a) of the description of A was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 70(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 122.51(2), paragraph (a) of the description of A formerly read:

"(a) $750, and"

S. 122.51(2), paragraph (b) of the description of B was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 70(2), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 122.51(2), paragraph (b) of the description of B formerly read:

"(b) the sum of

(i) the greatest total that may be determined in respect of an individual for the year under paragraph (a) of the description of B in subsection 118(1), and

(ii) the dollar amount used for the year in computing the amount that may be claimed under subsection 118.3(1) in respect of an individual who has attained the age of 18 years before the end of the year."

S. 122.51(2), paragraph (a) of the description of A was replaced by S.C. 2005, c. 30, s. 7(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.51(2), paragraph (a) of the description of A formerly read:

"(a) $500, and"

S. 122.51(2), paragraph (b) of the description of A was replaced by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 26(1), applicable to the 2004 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.51(2), paragraph (b) of the description of A formerly read:

"(b) $^{25}/_{16}$ of the total of all amounts each of which is the amount determined by the formula in subsection 118.2(1) for the purpose of computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for a taxation year that ends in the calendar year; and"

S. 122.51(2), paragraph (b) of the description of A was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 108(1), by replacing the reference to the fraction "$^{25}/_{17}$" with a reference to the fraction "$^{25}/_{16}$", applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 122.51(2), paragraph (b) of the description of B was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 14, s. 39(1), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.51(2), paragraph (b) of the description of B formerly read:

"(b) $17,419."

S. 122.51(2), the description of B was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 32(1), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to the 1999 taxation year, paragraph (b) of the description of B in subsection 122.51(2) of the Act, as enacted by subsection (1), shall be read as follows:

"(b) $16,745."

S. 122.51(2), the description of B formerly read:

"B is 5% of the amount, if any, by which

(a) the individual's adjusted income for the particular year

exceeds

(b) $16,069."

S. 122.51(2) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 32(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 117.1(1) Annual adjustment (indexing); s. 152(1)(b) Assessment; s. 152(4.2) Reassessment with taxpayer's consent.

Information Circulars: 07-1 Taxpayer relief provisions.

Subdivision a.1 — Canada Child Tax Benefit

SECTION 122.6: Definitions.

In this subdivision,

History: The heading before s. 122.6 was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 21, s. 91(1), applicable after June 1998. That heading formerly read:
"Child Tax Benefit"

S. 122.6 was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(2) and (3) below.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-495R3 Child care expenses.
Cases: S. 122.6 does not permit the proration of benefits between two persons who claim to be eligible parents. The Queen v. Marshall et al., 96 DTC 6292 (F.C.A.).
Guides: T4114 Your Child Tax Benefit.

"adjusted earned income" — [Repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 21, s. 92(1).]

History: S. 122.6, the definition "adjusted earned income" was repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 21, s. 92(1), applicable with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 1998. S. 122.6, the definition "adjusted earned income" formerly read:

" 'adjusted earned income' — 'adjusted earned income' of an individual for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which is the earned income for the year of the individual or of the person who was the individual's cohabiting spouse at the end of the year;"

"adjusted income" — "adjusted income", of an individual for a taxation year, means the total of all amounts each of which would be the income for the year of the individual or of the person who was the individual's cohabiting spouse or common-law partner at the end of the year if no amount were included under paragraph 56(1)(q.1) or subsection 56(6) or in respect of any gain from a disposition of property to which section 79 applies in computing that income and if no amount were deductible under paragraph 60(y) or (z) in computing that income;

History: S. 122.6, the definition "adjusted income" was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 112, applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.6, the definition "adjusted income" formerly read:

" 'adjusted income' — 'adjusted income' of an individual for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which would be the income for the year of the individual or of the person who was the individual's cohabiting spouse or common-law partner at the end of the year if no amount were included under subsection 56(6) or in respect of any gain from a disposition of property to which section 79 applies in computing that income and if no amount were deductible under paragraph 60(y) in computing that income;"

S. 122.6, the definition "adjusted income" was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 176(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 122.6, the definition "adjusted income" formerly read:

" 'adjusted income' — 'adjusted income' of an individual for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which would be the income for the year of the individual or of the person who was the individual's cohabiting spouse or common-law partner at the end of the year if no amount were included in respect of a gain from a disposition of property to which section 79 applies in computing that income;"

S. 122.6, the definition "adjusted income" was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.11), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 122.6, the definition "adjusted income" formerly read:

" 'adjusted income' — 'adjusted income' of an individual for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which would be the income for the year of the individual or of the person who was the individual's cohabiting spouse at the end of the year if no amount were included in respect of a gain from a disposition of property to which section 79 applies in computing that income;"

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 122.6, the definition of "adjusted income" was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 140(1), applicable in determining the adjusted income of an individual for the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. That definition formerly read:

" 'adjusted income' — 'adjusted income' of an individual for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which is the income for the year of the individual or of the person who was the individual's cohabiting spouse at the end of the year;"

Related Sections: S. 122.5(1), "Adjusted income"; s. 122.51(1), "adjusted income"; s. 122.62(5) Death of cohabiting spouse; s. 122.62(6) Separation from cohabiting spouse.

"base taxation year" — "base taxation year" in relation to a month means

(a) where the month is any of the first 6 months of a calendar year, the taxation year that ended on December 31 of the second preceding calendar year, and

(b) where the month is any of the last 6 months of a calendar year, the taxation year that ended on December 31 of the preceding calendar year;

"cohabiting spouse or common-law partner" — "cohabiting spouse or common-law partner" of an individual at any time means the person who at that time is the individual's spouse or common-law partner and who is not at that time living separate and apart from the individual and, for the purpose of this definition, a person shall not be considered to be living separate and apart from an individual at any time unless they were living separate and apart at that time, because of a breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership, for a period of at least 90 days that includes that time;

History: S. 122.6, the definition "cohabiting spouse" was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.11) and 9(h), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 122.6, the definition "cohabiting spouse" formerly read:

" 'cohabiting spouse' — 'cohabiting spouse' of an individual at any time means the person who at that time is the individual's spouse and who is not at that time living separate and apart from the individual and, for the purpose of this definition, a person shall not be considered to be living separate and apart from an individual at any time unless they were living separate and apart at that time, because of a breakdown of their marriage, for a period of at least 90 days that includes that time;"

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

"earned income" — [Repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 21, s. 92(1).]

History: S. 122.6, the definition "earned income" was repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 21, s. 92(1), applicable with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 1998. S. 122.6, the definition "earned income" formerly read:

" 'earned income' — 'earned income' of an individual for a taxation year has the meaning assigned by subsection 63(3);"

"eligible individual" — "eligible individual" in respect of a qualified dependant at any time means a person who at that time

(a) resides with the qualified dependant,

(b) is the parent of the qualified dependant who primarily fulfils the responsibility for the care and upbringing of the qualified dependant,

(c) is resident in Canada or, where the person is the cohabiting spouse or common-law partner of a person who is deemed under subsection 250(1) to be resident in Canada throughout the taxation year that includes that time, was resident in Canada in any preceding taxation year,

(d) is not described in paragraph 149(1)(a) or (b), and

(e) is, or whose cohabiting spouse or common-law partner is, a Canadian citizen or a person who

(i) is a permanent resident within the meaning of subsection 2(1) of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act,

(ii) is a temporary resident within the meaning of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act, who was resident in Canada throughout the 18 month period preceding that time, or

(iii) is a protected person within the meaning of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act,

(iv) was determined before that time to be a member of a class defined in the Humanitarian Designated Classes Regulations made under the Immigration Act,

and for the purposes of this definition,

(f) where a qualified dependant resides with the dependant's female parent, the parent who primarily fulfils the responsibility for the care and upbringing of the qualified dependant is presumed to be the female parent,

(g) the presumption referred to in paragraph (f) does not apply in prescribed circumstances, and

(h) prescribed factors shall be considered in determining what constitutes care and upbringing;

History: S. 122.6, subparagraphs (e)(i) to (iii) of the definition "eligible individual" were amended by S.C. 2001, c. 27, s. 254, coming into force on a day or days to be fixed by order of the Governor in Council (not yet fixed at date of publication). S. 122.6, subparagraphs (e)(i) to (iii) of the definition "eligible individual" formerly read:

"(i) is a permanent resident (within the meaning assigned by the Immigration Act),

(ii) is a visitor in Canada or the holder of a permit in Canada (within the meanings assigned by the Immigration Act) who was resident in Canada throughout the 18 month period preceding that time,

(iii) was determined before that time under the Immigration Act, or regulations made under that Act, to be a Convention refugee, or"

S. 122.6, subparagraph (e)(iv) of the definition "eligible individual" was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 109(1), applicable in respect of overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2001.

S. 122.6, the definition "eligible individual", was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.11), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 122.6, the definition "eligible individual" formerly read:

"'eligible individual' — 'eligible individual' in respect of a qualified dependant at any time means a person who at that time

(a) resides with the qualified dependant,

(b) is the parent of the qualified dependant who primarily fulfils the responsibility for the care and upbringing of the qualified dependant,

(c) is resident in Canada or, where the person is the cohabiting spouse of a person who is deemed under subsection 250(1) to be resident in Canada throughout the taxation year that includes that time, was resident in Canada in any preceding taxation year,

(d) is not described in paragraph 149(1)(a) or (b), and

(e) is, or whose cohabiting spouse is, a Canadian citizen or a person who

(i) is a permanent resident (within the meaning assigned by the Immigration Act),

(ii) is a visitor in Canada or the holder of a permit in Canada (within the meanings assigned by the Immigration Act) who was resident in Canada throughout the 18 month period preceding that time, or

(iii) was determined before that time under the Immigration Act, or regulations made under that Act, to be a Convention refugee,

and for the purposes of this definition,

(f) where the qualified dependant resides with the dependant's female parent, the parent who primarily fulfils the responsibility for the care and upbringing of the qualified dependant is presumed to be the female parent,

(g) the presumption referred to in paragraph (f) does not apply in prescribed circumstances, and

(h) prescribed factors shall be considered in determining what constitutes care and upbringing;"

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 122.6, paragraph (c) of the definition "eligible individual" was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 44(1), applicable after February 23, 1998. S. 122.6, paragraph (c) of the definition "eligible individual" formerly read:

"(c) is resident in Canada,"

S. 122.6, paragraphs (g) and (h) of the definition "eligible individual", was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 140(3), applicable after August 27, 1995. Those paragraphs formerly read:

"(g) the presumption referred to in paragraph (f) does not apply in circumstances set out in regulations made by the Governor in Council on the recommendation of the Minister of Human Resources Development, and (h) factors to be considered in determining what constitutes care and upbringing may be set out in regulations made by the Governor in Council on the recommendation of the Minister of Human Resources Development;"

S. 122.6, subparagraph (e)(iii) of the definition of "eligible individual", was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 140(2), applicable after 1992. That subparagraph formerly read:

"(iii) was determined before that time by the Convention Refugee Determination Division of the Immigration and Refugee Board to be a Convention refugee,"

S. 122.6, paragraphs (g) and (h) of the definition "eligible individual" were amended by S.C. 1996, c. 11, s. 95, by replacing the term "Minister of National Health and Welfare" with the term "Minister of Human Resources Development", effective July 12, 1996.

Related Sections: S. 122.5(1), "Eligible individual"; s. 122.51(1), "eligible individual"; s. 122.62(1) Eligible individuals.

Regulations: 6301; 6302.

Guides: T4114 Your Child Tax Benefit.

Cases: S. 122.6 does not permit the proration of benefits between two persons who claim to be eligible parents. The Queen v. Marshall et al., 96 DTC 6292 (F.C.A.).

"qualified dependant" — "qualified dependant" at any time means a person who at that time

(a) has not attained the age of 18 years,

(b) is not a person in respect of whom an amount was deducted under paragraph (a) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) in computing the tax payable under this Part by the person's spouse or common-law partner for the base taxation year in relation to the month that includes that time, and

(c) is not a person in respect of whom a special allowance under the Children's Special Allowances Act is payable for the month that includes that time;

History: S. 122.6, the definition "qualified dependant", was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.11), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 122.6, the definition "qualified dependant" formerly read:

"'qualified dependant' — 'qualified dependant' at any time means a person who at that time

(a) has not attained the age of 18 years,

(b) is not a person in respect of whom an amount was deducted under paragraph (a) of the description of B in subsection 118(1) in computing the tax payable under this Part by the person's spouse for the base taxation year in relation to the month that includes that time, and

(c) is not a person in respect of whom a special allowance under the Children's Special Allowances Act is payable for the month that includes that time;"

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

"return of income" — "return of income" filed by an individual for a taxation year means

(a) where the individual was resident in Canada throughout the year, the individual's return of income (other than a return of income filed under subsection 70(2) or 104(23), paragraph 128(2)(e) or subsection 150(4)) that is filed or required to be filed under this Part for the year, and (b) in any other case, a prescribed form containing prescribed information, that is filed with the Minister.

Related Sections: S. 164(2.3) Form deemed to be a return of income.

Secs. 12(2) and (3), Sched. VII, Chap. 7, S.C. 1994

Sec. 12. [Application of section 122.6.]

(2) Sections 122.6 to 122.63 apply with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after 1992, and with respect to

(a) any amount deemed by subsection 122.61(1) of the said Act, as enacted by subsection (1), to be an overpayment on account of an individual's liability under Part I of the said Act

(i) during any month before July 1993, the individual's cohabiting spouse at the end of 1991 includes a person who

(A) is of the opposite sex to the individual,

(B) is at the beginning of the month a parent of a child of whom the individual is a parent, and

(C) is not living separate and apart from the individual for a period of at least 90 days that includes December 31, 1991, and

(ii) during any month after June 1993 and before July 1994, the cohabiting spouse of an individual at the end of 1992 includes the person of the opposite sex who, at the end of 1992, was cohabiting with the individual in a conjugal relationship and

(A) had so cohabited with the individual throughout a 12 month period ending before the end of 1992, or

(B) is a parent of a child of whom the individual is a parent,

and, for the purpose of this subparagraph, where before the end of 1992 the individual and the person cohabited in a conjugal relationship, they shall be deemed to be cohabiting in a conjugal relationship at the end of 1992, unless they were not cohabiting at that time for a period of at least 90 days that includes that time because of a breakdown of their conjugal relationship; and

(b) any amount deemed by the said subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment on account of a person's liability under Part I of the said Act arising in any month in relation to which the 1992 taxation year is the base taxation year, the expression "earned income" as defined in section 122.6 shall be deemed to have the meaning assigned by paragraph 63(3)(b) of the said Act as that paragraph reads in its application to the 1993 taxation year.

(3) The Minister of National Revenue may during any month

(a) in relation to which the 1991 taxation year is the base taxation year, and

(b) that is before the month in which that Minister mails to an individual a notice of determination of the amounts deemed by subsection 122.61(1) of the said Act, as enacted by subsection (1), to be overpayments on account of the individual's liability under Part I of the said Act for the 1991 taxation year, pay to the individual, in respect of a qualified dependant who was an eligible child (within the meaning assigned by paragraph 122.2(2)(a) of the said Act) of the individual for the 1992 taxation year, an amount not exceeding the amount that would be deemed by the said subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment on account of the individual's liability under Part I of the said Act for the 1991 taxation year that would have arisen in that month or a preceding month if the individual's adjusted income and adjusted earned income for the 1991 taxation year were equal to zero and if the individual had filed a return of income for that year, and any amount so paid shall be deemed to be an amount refunded on account of the individual's liability under Part I of the said Act for the 1991 taxation year that arose as a consequence of the operation of the said subsection 122.61(1).

SECTION 122.61:

► 122.61(1) ◄

(1) Deemed overpayment. Where a person and, where the Minister so demands, the person's cohabiting spouse or common-law partner at the end of a taxation year have filed a return of income for the year, an overpayment on account of the person's liability under this Part for the year is deemed to have arisen during a month in relation to which the year is the base taxation year, equal to the amount determined by the formula

$$1/12[(A - B) + C + M]$$

where

A is the total of

(a) the product obtained by multiplying $1,090 by the number of qualified dependants in respect of whom the person was an eligible individual at the beginning of the month, and

(b) the product obtained by multiplying $75 by the number of qualified dependants, in excess of 2, in respect of whom the person was an eligible individual at the beginning of the month;

(c) [Repealed.]

B is 4% (or where the person is an eligible individual in respect of only one qualified dependant at the beginning of the month, 2%) of the amount, if any, by which

(a) the person's adjusted income for the year

exceeds

(b) the greater of $32,000 and the dollar amount, as adjusted annually and referred to in paragraph 117(2)(a), that is used for the calendar year following the base taxation year;

C is the amount determined by the formula

$$F - (G \times H)$$

where

F is, where the person is, at the beginning of the month, an eligible individual in respect of

(a) only one qualified dependant, $1,463, and

(b) two or more qualified dependants, the total of

(i) $1,463 for the first qualified dependant,

(ii) $1,254 for the second qualified dependant, and

(iii) $1,176 for each of the third and subsequent qualified dependants,

G is the amount determined by the formula

$$J - [K + (L/0.122)]$$

where

J is the person's adjusted income for the year,

K is the amount referred to in paragraph (b) of the description of B, and

L is the amount referred to in paragraph (a) of the description of F, and

H is

(a) if the person is an eligible individual in respect of only one qualified dependant, 12.2%, and

(b) if the person is an eligible individual in respect of two or more qualified dependants, the fraction (expressed as a percentage rounded to the nearest one-tenth of one per cent) of which

(i) the numerator is the total that would be determined under the description of F in respect of the eligible individual if that description were applied without reference to the fourth and subsequent qualified dependants in respect of whom the person is an eligible individual, and

(ii) the denominator is the amount referred to in paragraph (a) of the description of F, divided by 0.122; and

M is the amount determined by the formula

$$N - (O \times P)$$

where

N is the product obtained by multiplying $2,300 by the number of qualified dependants in respect of whom both

(a) an amount may be deducted under section 118.3 for the taxation year that includes the month, and

(b) the person is an eligible individual at the beginning of the month,

O is the amount determined by the formula

$$J - [F/H + (K - L/0.122)]$$

where the descriptions of J, F, H, K, and L are described in the description of C, and

P is 4% (or where the person is an eligible individual in respect of only one qualified dependant included in the description of N at the beginning of the month, 2%) of the amount determined for the description of O,

Federal Budget Extract

Canada Child Tax Benefit/National Child Benefit Supplement

[Reproduced below is an excerpt from the January 27, 2009 Federal Budget, which notes an increase in the income-testing level for the Canada Child Tax Benefit and the National Child Benefit supplement, in line with the increase in the upper limit of the lowest personal income tax bracket.]

The income levels on which income-testing of the base benefit under the Canada Child Tax Benefit (CCTB) and the National Child Benefit supplement (NCBs) are based, will be increased in line with the increase in the upper limit of the lowest personal income tax bracket. Specifically, for the 2009–10 benefit year, the income level at which the phase-out of the CCTB begins will increase to $40,726, and the income level at which the phase-out of the NCBs begins will increase by $1,894 such that it is completely phased out by $40,726 for the majority of families.

CRA Press Release

2.5% Indexation Factor for 2009

See CRA Fact Sheet, dated December 8, 2008, that is reproduced following subsection 117.1(1). This release announces a 2.5% indexation factor applicable for 2009 tax bracket thresholds, personal amounts and other amounts relating to non-refundable credits, as well as the refundable medical expense supplement and Old Age Security repayment threshold. Increases to the Canada Child Tax Benefit (including the National Child Benefit supplement and the Child Disability Benefit) and the Goods and Services Tax Credit will take effect as of July 1, 2009.

History: S. 122.61(1), paragraph (c) of the description of A was repealed by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 177(1), applicable in respect of overpayments that are deemed to arise during months that are after June 2007. S. 122.61(1), paragraph (c) of the description of A formerly read:

"(c) the amount determined by the formula

$$D - E$$

where

D is the product obtained by multiplying $249 by the number of qualified dependants who have attained the age of 6 years before the month and have not attained the age of 7 years before the month and in respect of whom the person is an eligible individual at the beginning of the month, and

E is 25% of the total of all amounts deducted under section 63 in respect of qualified dependants in computing the income for the year of the person or the person's cohabiting spouse or common-law partner;"

The description of D in paragraph (c) of the description of A in subsection 122.61(1) is replaced for overpayments that are deemed to arise during months that are after June 2006 and before July 2007. The description of D in paragraph (c) of the description of A in subsection 122.61(1) formerly read:

"D is the product obtained by multiplying $213 by the number of qualified dependants who have not attained the age of 7 years before the month and in respect of whom the person is an eligible individual at the beginning of the month, and"

S. 122.61(1), the portion of the description of N before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 71(1), applicable in respect of overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2006. S. 122.61(1), the portion of the description of N before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"N is the product obtained by multiplying $2,000 by the number of qualified dependants in respect of whom both"

S. 122.61(1), the description of P was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 71(2), applicable in respect of overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2006. S. 122.61(1), the description of P formerly read:

"P is the amount that would be determined for the description of H if the person were an eligible individual in respect of only the number of qualified dependants included in the description of N."

S. 122.61(1), the portion of the description of N before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2005, c. 30, s. 8(1), applicable in respect of overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2005. S. 122.61(1), the portion of the description of N before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"N is the product obtained by multiplying $1,600 by the number of qualified dependants in respect of whom both"

S. 122.61(1), the first formula was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 77(1), applicable in respect of overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2003. S. 122.61(1), the first formula formerly read:

"1/12[(A – B) + C]"

S. 122.61(1), paragraphs (a) and (b) of the description of F in the description of C were replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 77(2), applicable in respect of overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2003. S. 122.61(1), paragraphs (a) and (b) of the description of F in the description of C formerly read:

"(a) only one qualified dependant, $1,255, and

(b) two or more qualified dependants, the total of

(i) $1,255 for the first qualified dependant,

(ii) $1055 for the second qualified dependant, and

(iii) $980 for each of the third and subsequent qualified dependants."

S. 122.61(1), the descriptions of G and H were replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 77(3), applicable in respect of overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2003 except that, for overpayments deemed to arise during those months that are before July 2004, the following applies:

(a) the description of G is to be read as follows:

"G is the amount, if any, by which the person's adjusted income for the year exceeds $21,529, and"

(b) subparagraph (b)(ii) in the description of H is to be read as follows:

"(ii) the denominator is the amount by which the amount referred to in paragraph (b) of the description of B exceeds $21,529."

The descriptions of G and H formerly read:

"G is the amount, if any, by which the person's adjusted income for the year exceeds $21,214, and

H is the proportion (expressed as a percentage rounded to the nearest one-tenth of one per cent) that (a) the total that would be determined under the description of F in respect of the eligible individual if that description were applied without reference to the fourth and subsequent qualified dependants in respect of whom the person is an eligible individual

is of

(b) the amount by which

(i) the amount referred to in paragraph (b) of the description of B exceeds

(ii) $21,214."

S. 122.61(1), the descriptions of M, N, O and P were added by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 77(4), applicable in respect of overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2003 except that, for overpayments deemed to arise during those months that are before July 2004, the description of O in subsection 122.61(1) of the Act is to be read as follows:

"O is the amount determined by the formula

(a) 'J – $33,487', if the person is an eligible individual in respect of three or fewer qualified dependants, and

(b) 'J – (F/H + $21,529)', if the person is an eligible individual in respect of more than three qualified dependants, where the descriptions of J, F and H are described in the description of C, and"

S. 122.61(1), the portion of the description of B before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 110(1), applicable with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2004. S. 122.61(1), the portion of the description of B before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"B is 5% (or where the person is an eligible individual in respect of only one qualified dependant at the beginning of the month, 2 1/2%) of the amount, if any, by which"

S. 122.61(1), paragraph (b) of the description of B was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 110(2), applicable with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2001. S. 122.61(1), paragraph (b) of the description of B formerly read:

"(b) the dollar amount, as adjusted annually and referred to in paragraph 117(2)(a), that is used for the calendar year following the base taxation year; and"

S. 122.61(1), paragraphs (a) and (b) of the description of F were amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 110(3), applicable with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2001. S. 122.61(1), paragraphs (a) and (b) of the description of F formerly read:

"(a) only one qualified dependant, $1,155, and

(b) two or more qualified dependants, the total of

(i) $1,155 for the first qualified dependant,

(ii) $955 for the second qualified dependant, and

(iii) $880 for each of the third and subsequent qualified dependants,"

S. 122.61(1), the descriptions of G and H were amended by S.C. 2000, c. 14, s. 40(4), applicable with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2000. S. 122.61(1), the descriptions of G and H formerly read:

"G is the amount, if any, by which the person's adjusted income for the year exceeds $20,921, and

H is, where the person is an eligible individual in respect of

(a) only one qualified dependant, 11.0%,

(b) two qualified dependants, 19.7%, and

(c) three or more qualified dependants, 27.6%."

S. 122.61(1), paragraphs (a) and (b) of the description of F were amended by S.C. 2000, c. 14, s. 40(3), applicable with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2000 except that, with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2000 and before July 2001, the references to "$1,155", "$955" and "$880" in paragraphs (a) and (b) of the description of F in subsection 122.61(1) of the Act shall be read as references to "$977", "$771" and "$694", respectively. S. 122.61(1), paragraphs (a) and (b) of the description of F formerly read:

"(a) only one qualified dependant, $955, and

(b) two or more qualified dependants, the total of

(i) $955 for the first qualified dependant,

(ii) $755 for the second qualified dependant, and

(iii) $680 for each of the third and subsequent qualified dependants,"

S. 122.61(1), the description of B was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 14, s. 40(2), applicable with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2000. S. 122.61(1), the description of B formerly read:

"B is 5% (or where the person is an eligible individual in respect of only one qualified dependant at the beginning of the month, 2 1/2%) of the amount, if any, by which the person's adjusted income for the year exceeds $29,590; and"

S. 122.61(1), paragraph (a) of the description of A was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 14, s. 40(1), applicable with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2000. S. 122.61(1), paragraph (a) of the description of A formerly read:

"(a) the product obtained by multiplying $1,020 by the number of qualified dependants in respect of whom the person was an eligible individual at the beginning of the month,"

S. 122.61(1), the portion before the formula, was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.12), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 122.61(1), the portion before the formula formerly read:

"(1) Where a person and, where the Minister so demands, the person's cohabiting spouse at the end of a taxation year have filed a return of income for the year, an overpayment on account of the person's liability under this Part for the year is deemed to have arisen during a month in relation to which the year is the base taxation year, equal to the amount determined by the formula"

S. 122.61(1), the description of E in paragraph (c) of the description of A, was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.12), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 122.61(1), the description of E in paragraph (c) formerly read:

"E is 25% of the total of all amounts deducted under section 63 in respect of qualified dependants in computing the income for the year of the person or the person's cohabiting spouse;"

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 122.61(1), the application of paragraph 36(7)(a) of S.C. 1999, c. 26 was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 73(1), deemed to have come into force on June 17, 1999. That application now reads:

"(a) the references to '$955', '$755' and '$680' in paragraphs (a) and (b) of the description of F in subsection 122.61(1) of the Act, as enacted by subsection (2), shall be read as references to '$785', '$585' and '$510', respectively; and"

S. 122.61(1), the portion of the description of F before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 33(1), deemed to have come into force on June 18, 1998. S. 122.61(1), the portion of the description of F before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"F is, where the person is an eligible individual in respect of"

S. 122.61(1), paragraphs (a) to (c) of the description of H were amended by S.C. 1999, c. 26, s. 36(3), applicable to the calculation of overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 1999 except that, in their application to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 1999 and before July 2000,

(a) the references to "11.0%", "19.7%" and "27.6%" in paragraphs (a) to (c) of the description of H in subsection 122.61(1) of the Act, shall be read as references to "11.5%", "20.1%" and "27.5%", respectively. S. 122.61(1), paragraphs (a) to (c) of the description of H formerly read:

"(a) only one qualified dependant, 12.1%,

(b) two qualified dependants, 20.2%, and

(c) three or more qualified dependants, 26.8%."

S. 122.61(1), paragraphs (a) and (b) of the description of F were amended by S.C. 1999, c. 26, s. 36(2), applicable to the calculation of overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 1999 except that, in their application to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 1999 and before July 2000,

(a) the references to "$955", "$755" and "$680" in subparagraphs (b)(i) to (iii) of the description of F in subsection 122.61(1) of the Act shall be read as references to "$785", "$585" and "$510", respectively. S. 122.61(1), paragraphs (a) and (b) of the description of F formerly read:

"(a) only one qualified dependant, $605, and

(b) two or more qualified dependants, the total of

(i) $605 for the first qualified dependant,

(ii) $405 for the second qualified dependant, and

(iii) $330 for each, if any, of the third and subsequent qualified dependants,"

S. 122.61(1), the description of B was amended by S.C. 1999,c. 26, s. 36(1), applicable to the calculation of overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2000. S. 122.61(1), the description of B formerly read:

"B is 5% (or where the person is an eligible individual in respect of only one qualified dependant at the beginning of the month, 2 1/2%) of the amount, if any, by which the person's adjusted income for the year exceeds $25,921; and"

S. 122.61(1) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 21, s. 93(1), applicable with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 1998. S. 122.61(1) formerly read:

"S. 122.61. Deemed overpayment.

(1) Where a person and, where the Minister so demands, the person's cohabiting spouse at the end of a taxation year have filed a return of income for the year, an overpayment on account of the person's liability under this Part for the year shall be deemed to have arisen during a month in relation to which the year is the base taxation year, equal to the amount determined by the formula

$$\frac{1}{12}(A - B)$$

where

A is the total of

(a) the product obtained by multiplying $1,020 by the number of qualified dependants in respect of whom the person was an eligible individual at the beginning of the month,

(b) the product obtained by multiplying $75 by the number of qualified dependants, in excess of 2, in respect of whom the person was an eligible individual at the beginning of the month,

(c) where the person is, at the beginning of the month, an eligible individual in respect of one or more qualified dependants, the amount determined by the formula

$$\left[C \times \frac{(D - $3{,}750)}{$6{,}250}\right] - (G \times H)$$

where

C is, where the person is an eligible individual in respect of

(i) only one qualified dependant, $605, and

(ii) two or more qualified dependants, the total of

(A) $605 for the first qualified dependant,

(B) $405 for the second qualified dependant, and

(C) $330 for each, if any, of the third and subsequent qualified dependants,

D is the lesser of $10,000 and the person's adjusted earned income for the year,

G is the amount, if any, by which the person's adjusted income for the year exceeds $20,921, and

H is, where the person is an eligible individual in respect of

(i) only one qualified dependant, 12.1%,

(ii) two qualified dependants, 20.2%, and

(iii) three or more qualified dependants, 26.8%, and

(d) the amount determined by the formula

$$E - F$$

where

E is the product obtained by multiplying $213 by the number of qualified dependants who have not attained the age of 7 years before the month and in respect of whom the person is an eligible individual at the beginning of the month, and

F is 25% of the total of all amounts deducted under section 63 in respect of qualified dependants in computing the income for the year of the person or the person's cohabiting spouse; and

B is 5% (or where the person is an eligible individual in respect of only one qualified dependant at the beginning of the month, 2½%) of the amount, if any, by which the person's adjusted income for the year exceeds $25,921."

S. 122.61(1), paragraph (c) in the description of A, was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 26, s. 80(1), applicable to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 1997. That part formerly read:

"(c) where the person is, at the beginning of the month, an eligible individual in respect of one or more qualified dependants, the amount determined by the formula

$$C - D$$

where

C is the lesser of $500 and 8% of the amount, if any, by which the person's adjusted earned income for the year exceeds $3,750, and

D is 10% of the amount, if any, by which the person's adjusted income for the year exceeds $20,921, and"

S. 122.61(1) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), below.

Related Sections: S. 122.62 Eligible individuals; s. 122.63(1) Agreement.
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary— IT-495R3 Child care expenses.
Forms: RC65; RC66; RC66 SCH.
Guides: RC4198 Your Canada Child Tax Benefit; T4114 Your Canada Child Tax Benefit.

Secs. 12(2) and (3), Sched. VII, Chap. 7, S.C. 1994

Sec. 12. [Application of section 122.61.]

(2) Sections 122.6 to 122.63 apply with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after 1992, and with respect to

(a) any amount deemed by subsection 122.61(1) of the said Act, as enacted by subsection (1), to be an overpayment on account of an individual's liability under Part I of the said Act

(i) during any month before July 1993, the individual's cohabiting spouse at the end of 1991 includes a person who

(A) is of the opposite sex to the individual,

(B) is at the beginning of the month a parent of a child of whom the individual is a parent, and

(C) is not living separate and apart from the individual for a period of at least 90 days that includes December 31, 1991, and

(ii) during any month after June 1993 and before July 1994, the cohabiting spouse of an individual at the end of 1992 includes the person of the opposite sex who, at the end of 1992, was cohabiting with the individual in a conjugal relationship and

(A) had so cohabited with the individual throughout a 12 month period ending before the end of 1992, or

(B) is a parent of a child of whom the individual is a parent,

and, for the purpose of this subparagraph, where before the end of 1992 the individual and the person cohabited in a conjugal relationship, they shall be deemed to be cohabiting in a conjugal relationship at the end of 1992, unless they were not cohabiting at that time for a period of at least 90 days that includes that time because of a breakdown of their conjugal relationship; and

(b) any amount deemed by the said subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment on account of a person's liability under Part I of the said Act arising in any month in relation to which the 1992 taxation year is the base taxation year, the expression "earned income" as defined in section 122.6 shall be deemed to have the meaning assigned by paragraph 63(3)(b) of the said Act as that paragraph reads in its application to the 1993 taxation year.

(3) The Minister of National Revenue may during any month

(a) in relation to which the 1991 taxation year is the base taxation year, and

(b) that is before the month in which that Minister mails to an individual a notice of determination of the amounts deemed by subsection 122.61(1) of the said Act, as enacted by subsection (1), to be overpayments on account of the individual's liability under Part I of the said Act for the 1991 taxation year, pay to the individual, in respect of a qualified dependant who was an eligible child (within the meaning assigned by paragraph 122.2(2)(a) of the said Act) of the individual for the 1992 taxation year, an amount not exceeding the amount that would be deemed by the said subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment on account of the individual's liability under Part I of the said Act for the 1991 taxation year that would have arisen in that month or a preceding month if the individual's adjusted income and adjusted earned income for the 1991 taxation year were equal to zero and if the individual had filed a return of income for that year, and any amount so paid shall be deemed to be an amount refunded on account of the individual's liability under Part I of the said Act for the 1991 taxation year that arose as a consequence of the operation of the said subsection 122.61(1).

► 122.61(2) ◄

(2) Exceptions. Notwithstanding subsection (1), where a particular month is the first month during which an overpayment that is less than $10 (or such other amount as is prescribed) is deemed under that subsection to have arisen on account of a person's liability under this Part for the base taxation year in relation to the particular month, any such overpayment that would, but for this subsection, reasonably be expected at the end of the particular month to arise during another month in relation to which the year is the base taxation year shall be deemed to arise under that subsection during the particular month and not during the other month.

History: S. 122.61(2) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), reproduced under s. 122.61(1) above.

► 122.61(3) ◄

(3) Non-residents and part-year residents. For the purposes of this section, unless a person was resident in Canada throughout a taxation year,

(a) for greater certainty, the person's income for the year shall be deemed to be equal to the amount that would have been the person's income for the year had the person been resident in Canada throughout the year; and

(b) the person's earned income for the year shall not exceed that portion of the amount that would, but for this paragraph, be the person's earned income that is included because of section 114 or subsection 115(1) in computing the person's taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada, as the case may be, for the year.

History: S. 122.61(3) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), reproduced under s. 122.61(1) above.

► 122.61(3.1) ◄

(3.1) Effect of bankruptcy. For the purposes of this subdivision, where in a taxation year an individual becomes bankrupt,

(a) the individual's income for the year shall include the individual's income for the taxation year that begins on January 1 of the calendar year that includes the date of bankruptcy; and

(b) the total of all amounts deducted under section 63 in computing the individual's income for the year shall include the amount deducted under that section for the individual's taxation year that begins on January 1 of the calendar year that includes the date of bankruptcy.

(c) [Repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 21, s. 94.]

History: S. 122.61(3.1)(a) and (b) were amended, and paragraph (c) was repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 21, s. 94, applicable on Royal Assent, June 18, 1998. S. 122.61(3.1)(a) to (c) formerly read:

"(a) the individual's earned income for the year shall include the individual's earned income for the taxation year that begins on January 1 of the calendar year that includes the date of bankruptcy;

(b) the individual's income for the year shall include the individual's income for the taxation year that begins on January 1 of the calendar year that includes the date of bankruptcy; and

(c) the total of all amounts deducted under section 63 in computing the individual's income for the year shall include the amount deducted under that section for the individual's taxation year that begins on January 1 of the calendar year that includes the date of bankruptcy."

S. 122.61(3.1) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 141(1), applicable to bankruptcies that occur after April 26, 1995.

Related Sections: S. 118.95 Credits in year of bankruptcy; s. 120.2(4) Where subsection (1) does not apply; s. 122.5(7) Effect of bankruptcy; s. 127.1(1) Refundable investment tax credit; s. 128(2) Where individual bankrupt; s. 248(1), "bankrupt".

► 122.61(4) ◄

(4) Amount not to be charged, etc. A refund of an amount deemed by this section to be an overpayment on account of a person's liability under this Part for a taxation year

(a) shall not be subject to the operation of any law relating to bankruptcy or insolvency;

(b) cannot be assigned, charged, attached or given as security;

(c) does not qualify as a refund of tax for the purposes of the Tax Rebate Discounting Act;

(d) cannot be retained by way of deduction or set-off under the Financial Administration Act; and (e) is not garnishable moneys for the purposes of the Family Orders and Agreements Enforcement Assistance Act.

History: S. 122.61(4) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), reproduced under s. 122.61(1) above.

Guides: T4114 Your Canada Child Tax Benefit

► 122.61(5) ◄

(5) Annual adjustment. Each amount expressed in dollars in subsection (1) shall be adjusted so that, where the base taxation year in relation to a particular month is after 1998, the amount to be used under that subsection for the month is the total of

(a) the amount that would, but for subsection (7), be the relevant amount used under subsection (1) for the month that is one year before the particular month, and

(b) the product obtained by multiplying

(i) the amount referred to in paragraph (a)

by

(ii) the amount, adjusted in such manner as is prescribed and rounded to the nearest one-thousandth or, where the result obtained is equidistant from 2 such consecutive one-thousandths, to the higher thereof, that is determined by the formula

$$(A/B) - 1$$

where

A is the Consumer Price Index (within the meaning assigned by subsection 117.1(4)) for the 12-month period that ended on September 30 of the base taxation year, and

B is the Consumer Price Index for the 12 month period preceding the period referred to in the description of A.

History: S. 122.61(5)(b)(ii), the description of A was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 14, s. 40(7), applicable with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2000. S. 122.61(1)(b)(ii), the description of A formerly read:

"A is the Consumer Price Index (within the meaning assigned by subsection 117.1(4)) for the 12 month period that ended on March 31 in the calendar year following the base taxation year, and"

S. 122.61(5), the formula in subparagraph (b)(ii) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 14, s. 40(6), applicable with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2000. S. 122.61(5), the formula in subparagraph (b)(ii) formerly read:

"

$$\frac{A}{B} - 1.03$$

"

S. 122.61(5), the portion before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 14, s. 40(5), applicable with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2000. S. 122.61(5), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(5) Annual adjustment. Each amount expressed in dollars in subsection (1) shall be adjusted so that, where the base taxation year in relation to a particular month is after 1996, the amount to be used under that subsection for the month is equal to the total of"

S. 122.61(5), the portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 26, s. 36(4), applicable in respect of months that are after June 1997. S. 122.61(5), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(5) Annual adjustment. Each amount (other than the amounts of $6,250 and $20,921) expressed in dollars in subsection (1) shall be adjusted so that, where the base taxation year in relation to a particular month is after 1996, the amount to be used under that subsection for the month is equal to the total of"

S. 122.61(5), the portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 26, s. 80(2), applicable to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 1997. That part formerly read:

"(5) Annual adjustment. Each amount (other than the amount of $20,921) expressed in dollars in subsection (1) shall be adjusted so that, where the base taxation year in relation to a particular month is after 1991, the amount to be used under that subsection for the month is equal to the total of"

S. 122.61(5) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), reproduced under s. 122.61(1) above.

Guides: T4114 Your Canada Child Tax Benefit

► 122.61(5.1) ◄

(5.1) Annual adjustment. [Repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 21, s. 93(3).]

History: S. 122.61(5.1) was repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 21, s. 93(3), applicable with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 1998. S. 122.61(5.1) formerly read:

"(5.1) Annual adjustment. The amount of $6,250 referred to in subsection (1) shall be adjusted so that the amount to be used under that subsection for a month in relation to a base taxation year that is after 1996 is equal to the amount by which

(a) the amount of $10,000 referred to in that subsection, as adjusted and rounded under this section for the year,

exceeds

(b) the amount of $3,750 referred to in that subsection, as adjusted and rounded under this section for the year."

S. 122.61(5.1) was added by S.C. 1997, c. 26, s. 80(3), applicable to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 1997.

► 122.61(6) ◄

(6) Additions to NCB supplement — July 2005 and 2006. Each amount referred to in the description of F in subsection (1) that is to be used for the purpose of determining the amount deemed to be an overpayment arising during months that are

(a) after June 2005 and before July 2006, is to be replaced with the amount that is the total of $185 and the amount otherwise determined under subsection (5) for those months; and

(b) after June 2006 and before July 2007, is to be replaced with the amount that is the total of $185 and the amount otherwise determined, for those months, by applying subsection (5) to the amount determined under paragraph (a).

History: S. 122.61(6) was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 77(5), applicable in respect of overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2003. S. 122.61(6) formerly read:

"(6) Adjustment to certain amounts. For the purpose of subsection (5), the amount of $1,090, and the amounts in respect of the amounts of $213 and $75, referred to in subsection (1), that are used for the purpose of determining the amount deemed to be an overpayment arising during particular months that are

(a) after June 2000 and before July 2001, are deemed to be $1,104, $219 and $77, respectively;

(b) after June 2001 and before July 2002, shall be equal to the greater of the amounts deemed under paragraph (a) to be an overpayment arising during the months referred to in that paragraph and the amounts that would otherwise be determined for those particular months if this Act were read without reference to this subsection; and

(c) after June 2002, shall be computed without reference to paragraphs (a) and (b)."

S. 122.61(6) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 14, s. 40(8), applicable with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2000. S. 122.61(6) was previously repealed. See history note below.

S. 122.61(6) was repealed by S.C. 1999, c. 26, s. 36(5), applicable in respect of months that are after June 1997. S. 122.61(6) formerly read:

"(6) Idem. The amount of $20,921 referred to in subsection (1) shall be adjusted so that the amount to be used thereunder for a month in relation to a base taxation year that is after 1991 is equal to the amount by which (a) the amount of $25,921 referred to in subsection (1), as adjusted and rounded under this section for the year,

exceeds

(b) the product obtained by multiplying the amount of $500 referred to in subsection (1), as adjusted and rounded under this section for the year, by 10."

S. 122.61(6) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), reproduced under s. 122.61(1) above.

► 122.61(6.1) ◄

(6.1) Agreement with a province. Notwithstanding subsection (5), for the purposes of any agreement referred to in section 122.63 with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2001 and before July 2002, the amount determined under subparagraph (5)(b)(ii) for a month referred to in paragraph (6)(b) is deemed to be 0.012.

History: S. 122.61(6.1) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 110(4), applicable in respect of overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2001 and before July 2002. S. 122.61(6.1) formerly read:

"(6.1) Exception. Where section 122.63 applies for the purpose of calculating an overpayment deemed under subsection (1) to arise during a month referred to in paragraph (6)(a) or (b) on account of a person's tax liability, the amount determined under subparagraph (5)(b)(ii) in respect of the person for the month is deemed to be

(a) zero, where the month is referred to

(i) in paragraph (6)(a), or

(ii) in paragraph (6)(b) and the amount otherwise determined under subparagraph (5)(b)(ii) is less than 0.014; and

(b) 1090/1104 of the amount otherwise determined under that subparagraph, in any other case."

S. 122.61(6.1) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 14 s. 40(8), applicable with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after June 2000.

► 122.61(7) ◄

(7) Rounding. Where an amount referred to in subsection (1), when adjusted as provided in subsection (5), is not a multiple of one dollar, it shall be rounded to the nearest multiple of one dollar or, where it is equidistant from 2 such consecutive multiples, to the higher thereof.

History: S. 122.61(7) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), reproduced under s. 122.61(1), above.

SECTION 122.62:

► 122.62(1) ◄

(1) Eligible individuals. For the purposes of this subdivision, a person may be considered to be an eligible individual in respect of a particular qualified dependant at the beginning of a month only if the person has, no later than 11 months after the end of the month, filed with the Minister a notice in prescribed form containing prescribed information.

History: S. 122.62(1) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 142(1), applicable after August 27, 1995. S. 122.62(1) formerly read:

"(1) For the purposes of this subdivision, a person may be considered to be an eligible individual in respect of a particular qualified dependant at the beginning of a month only if the person has, no later than 11 months after the end of the month, filed with the Minister of Human Resources Development a notice in a form authorized, and containing information required, by that Minister."

S. 122.62(1) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 11, s. 95, by replacing the term "Minister of National Health and Welfare" with the term "Minister of Human Resources Development", effective July 12, 1996.

S. 122.62(1) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), below.

Secs. 12(2) and (3), Sched. VII, Chap. 7, S.C. 1994

Sec. 12. [Application of section 122.62.]

(2) Sections 122.6 to 122.63 apply with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after 1992, and with respect to

(a) any amount deemed by subsection 122.61(1) of the said Act, as enacted by subsection (1), to be an overpayment on account of an individual's liability under Part I of the said Act

(i) during any month before July 1993, the individual's cohabiting spouse at the end of 1991 includes a person who

(A) is of the opposite sex to the individual,

(B) is at the beginning of the month a parent of a child of whom the individual is a parent, and

(C) is not living separate and apart from the individual for a period of at least 90 days that includes December 31, 1991, and

(ii) during any month after June 1993 and before July 1994, the cohabiting spouse of an individual at the end of 1992 includes the person of the opposite sex who, at the end of 1992, was cohabiting with the individual in a conjugal relationship and

(A) had so cohabited with the individual throughout a 12 month period ending before the end of 1992, or

(B) is a parent of a child of whom the individual is a parent,

and, for the purpose of this subparagraph, where before the end of 1992 the individual and the person cohabited in a conjugal relationship, they shall be deemed to be cohabiting in a conjugal relationship at the end of 1992, unless they were not cohabiting at that time for a period of at least 90 days that includes that time because of a breakdown of their conjugal relationship; and

(b) any amount deemed by the said subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment on account of a person's liability under Part I of the said Act arising in any month in relation to which the 1992 taxation year is the base taxation year, the expression "earned income" as defined in section 122.6 shall be deemed to have the meaning assigned by paragraph 63(3)(b) of the said Act as that paragraph reads in its application to the 1993 taxation year.

(3) The Minister of National Revenue may during any month

(a) in relation to which the 1991 taxation year is the base taxation year, and

(b) that is before the month in which that Minister mails to an individual a notice of determination of the amounts deemed by subsection 122.61(1) of the said Act, as enacted by subsection (1), to be overpayments on account of the individual's liability under Part I of the said Act for the 1991 taxation year, pay to the individual, in respect of a qualified dependant who was an eligible child (within the meaning assigned by paragraph 122.2(2)(a) of the said Act) of the individual for the 1992 taxation year, an amount not exceeding the amount that would be deemed by the said subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment on account of the individual's liability under Part I of the said Act for the 1991 taxation year that would have arisen in that month or a preceding month if the individual's adjusted income and adjusted earned income for the 1991 taxation year were equal to zero and if the individual had filed a return of income for that year, and any amount so paid shall be deemed to be an amount refunded on account of the individual's liability under Part I of the said Act for the 1991 taxation year that arose as a consequence of the operation of the said subsection 122.61(1).

► 122.62(2) ◄

(2) Extension for notices. The Minister may at any time extend the time for filing a notice under subsection (1).

History: S. 122.62(2) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 142(1), applicable after August 27, 1995. S. 122.62(2) formerly read:

"(2) The Minister of Human Resources Development may at any time extend the time for filing a notice under subsection (1)."

S. 122.62(2) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 11, s. 95, by replacing the term "Minister of National Health and Welfare" with the term "Minister of Human Resources Development", effective July 12, 1996.

S. 122.62(2) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), reproduced under s. 122.62(1) above.

► 122.62(3) ◄

(3) Exception. Where at the beginning of 1993 a person is an eligible individual in respect of a qualified dependant, subsection (1) does not apply to the person in respect of the qualified dependant if the qualified dependant was an eligible child (within the meaning assigned by subsection 122.2(2) because of subparagraph (a)(i) of the definition "eligible child" in that subsection) of the individual for the 1992 taxation year.

History: S. 122.62(3) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), reproduced under s. 122.62(1) above.

► 122.62(4) ◄

(4) Person ceasing to be an eligible individual. Where during a particular month a person ceases to be an eligible individual in respect of a particular qualified dependant (otherwise than because of the qualified dependant attaining the age of 18 years), the person shall notify the Minister of that fact before the end of the first month following the particular month.

History: S. 122.62(4) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 142(2), applicable after August 27, 1995. S. 122.62(4) formerly read:

"(4) Where during a particular month a person ceases to be an eligible individual in respect of a particular qualified dependant (otherwise than because of the qualified dependant attaining the age of 18 years), the person shall inform the Minister of Human Resources Development of that fact, in such form as that Minister may require, before the end of the first month following the particular month."

S. 122.62(4) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 11, s. 95, by replacing the term "Minister of National Health and Welfare" with the term "Minister of Human Resources Development", effective July 12, 1996.

S. 122.62(4) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), reproduced under s. 122.62(1) above.

► 122.62(5) ◄

(5) Death of cohabiting spouse. Where

(a) before the end of a particular month the cohabiting spouse or common-law partner of an eligible individual in respect of a qualified dependant dies, and

(b) the individual so elects, before the end of the eleventh month after the particular month, in a form that is acceptable to the Minister, for the purpose of determining the amount deemed under subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment arising in any month after the particular month on account of the individual's liability under this Part for the base taxation year in relation to the particular month, subject to any subsequent election under subsection (5) or (7), the individual's adjusted income for the year is deemed to be equal to the individual's income for the year.

(c) [Repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 21, s. 95.]

(d) [Repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 21, s. 95.]

History: S. 122.62(5)(a) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.13), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 122.62(5)(a) formerly read:

"(a) before the end of a particular month the cohabiting spouse of an eligible individual in respect of a qualified dependant dies, and"

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 122.62(5), the portion after paragraph (b) was amended, and paragraphs (c) and (d) were repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 21, s. 95, applicable on Royal Assent, June 18, 1998. That portion formerly read:

"for the purpose of determining the amount deemed under subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment arising in any month after the particular month on account of the individual's liability under this Part for the base taxation year in relation to the particular month, subject to any subsequent election under subsection (6) or (7),

(c) the individual's adjusted income for the year is deemed to be equal to the individual's income for the year, and

(d) the individual's adjusted earned income for the year is deemed to be equal to the individual's earned income for the year."

S. 122.62(5) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 142(2), applicable after August 27, 1995. S. 122.62(5) formerly read:

"(5) Waiver. The Minister of Human Resources Development may at any time waive the requirement

(a) under subsection (1) to file a notice; or

(b) under subsection (4) to inform that Minister that the person has ceased to be an eligible individual in respect of a particular qualified dependant."

S. 122.62(5) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 11, s. 95, by replacing the term "Minister of National Health and Welfare" with the term "Minister of Human Resources Development", effective July 12, 1996.

S. 122.62(5) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), reproduced under s. 122.62(1) above.

► 122.62(6) ◄

(6) Separation from cohabiting spouse. Where

(a) before the end of a particular month an eligible individual in respect of a qualified dependant begins to live separate and apart from the individual's cohabiting spouse or common-law partner, because of a breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership, for a period of at least 90 days that includes a day in the particular month, and for the purpose of determining the amount deemed under subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment arising in any month after the particular month on account of the individual's liability under this Part for the base taxation year in relation to the particular month, subject to any subsequent election under subsection (5) or (7), the individual's adjusted income for the year is deemed to be equal to the individual's income for the year.

(b) the individual so elects, before the end of the eleventh month after the particular month, in a form that is acceptable to the Minister,

(c) [Repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 21, s. 95.]

(d) [Repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 21, s. 95.]

History: S. 122.62(6)(a) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.13) and 9(i), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 122.62(6)(a) formerly read:

"(a) before the end of a particular month an eligible individual in respect of a qualified dependant begins to live separate and apart from the individual's cohabiting spouse, because of a breakdown of their marriage, for a period of at least 90 days that includes a day in the particular month, and"

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 122.62(6), the portion after paragraph (b) was amended, and paragraphs (c) and (d) were repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 21, s. 95, applicable on Royal Assent, June 18, 1998. That portion formerly read:

"for the purpose of determining the amount deemed under subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment arising in any month after the particular month on account of the individual's liability under this Part for the base taxation year in relation to the particular month, subject to any subsequent election under subsection (5) or (7),

(c) the individual's adjusted income for the year is deemed to be equal to the individual's income for the year, and

(d) the individual's adjusted earned income for the year is deemed to be equal to the individual's earned income for the year."

S. 122.62(6)was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 142(2), applicable after August 27, 1995. S. 122.62(6) formerly read:

"(6) Death of cohabiting spouse. Where before the end of a particular month the cohabiting spouse of an eligible individual in respect of a qualified dependant dies and the individual so elects, before the end of the eleventh month following the particular month, in a form that is acceptable to the Minister of Human Resources Development, for the purpose of determining the amount deemed under subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment arising in any month after the particular month on account of the individual's liability under this Part for the base taxation year in relation to the particular month subject to any subsequent election under subsection (7) or (8), the individual's adjusted income for the year shall be deemed to be equal to the individual's income for the year and the individual's adjusted earned income for the year shall be deemed to be equal to the individual's earned income for the year."

S. 122.62(6) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 11, s. 95, by replacing the term "Minister of National Health and Welfare" with the term "Minister of Human Resources Development", effective July 12, 1996.

S. 122.62(6) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), reproduced under s. 122.62(1) above.

► 122.62(7) ◄

(7) Person becoming a cohabiting spouse. Where

(a) at any particular time before the end of a particular month a taxpayer has become the cohabiting spouse or common-law partner of an eligible individual, and

(b) the taxpayer and the eligible individual jointly so elect in prescribed form filed with the Minister before the end of the eleventh month after the particular month, for the purpose of determining the amount deemed by subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment arising in any month after the particular month on account of the eligible individual's liability under this Part for the year, the taxpayer is deemed to have been the eligible individual's cohabiting spouse or common-law partner throughout the period that began immediately before the end of the base taxation year in relation to the particular month and ended at the particular time.

History: S. 122.62(7)(a) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.13), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 122.62(7)(a) formerly read:

"(a) at any particular time before the end of a particular month a taxpayer has become the cohabiting spouse of an eligible individual, and"

S. 122.62(7), the portion after paragraph (b) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.13), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 122.62(7), the portion after paragraph (b) formerly read:

"for the purpose of determining the amount deemed by subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment arising in any month after the particular month on account of the eligible individual's liability under this Part for the year, the taxpayer is deemed to have been the eligible individual's cohabiting spouse throughout the period that began immediately before the end of the base taxation year in relation to the particular month and ended at the particular time."

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 122.62(7) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 142(2), applicable after August 27, 1995. S. 122.62(7) formerly read:

"(7) Separation from cohabiting spouse. Where before the end of a particular month an eligible individual in respect of a qualified dependant commences to live separate and apart from the individual's cohabiting spouse, because of a breakdown of their marriage, for a period of at least 90 days that includes a day in the particular month and the individual so elects, before the end of the eleventh month following the particular month, in a form that is acceptable to the Minister of Human Resources Development, for the purposes of determining the amount deemed under subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment arising in any month after the particular month on account of the individual's liability under this Part for the base taxation year in relation to the particular month subject to any subsequent election under subsection (6) or (8), the individual's adjusted income for the year shall be deemed to be equal to the individual's income for the year and the individual's adjusted earned income for the year shall be deemed to be equal to the individual's earned income for the year."

S. 122.62(7) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 11, s. 95, by replacing the term "Minister of National Health and Welfare" with the term "Minister of Human Resources Development", effective July 12, 1996.

S. 122.62(7) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), reproduced under s. 122.62(1) above.

► 122.62(8) ◄

(8) Person becoming a cohabiting spouse. [Repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 142(2).]

History: S. 122.62(8) was repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 142(2), applicable after August 27, 1995. S. 122.62(8) formerly read:

"(8) Person becoming a cohabiting spouse. Where at any particular time before the end of a particular month a taxpayer has become the cohabiting spouse of an eligible individual and the taxpayer and the eligible individual jointly so elect, before the end of the eleventh month following the particular month, in a form that is acceptable to the Minister of Human Resources Development, the taxpayer shall be deemed to have been the eligible individual's cohabiting spouse throughout the period commencing immediately before the end of the base taxation year in relation to the particular month and ending at the particular time for the purposes of determining the amount deemed by subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment arising in any month after the particular month on account of the eligible individual's liability under this Part for the year."

S. 122.62(8) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 11, s. 95, by replacing the term "Minister of National Health and Welfare" with the term "Minister of Human Resources Development", effective July 12, 1996.

S. 122.62(8) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), reproduced under s. 122.62(1) above.

► 122.62(9) ◄

(9) Advice of Department of Human Resources Development. [Repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 142(2).]

History: S. 122.62(9) was repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 142(2), applicable after August 27, 1995. S. 122.62(9) formerly read:

"(9) Advice of Department of Human Resources Development. The Minister may obtain the advice of the Department of Human Resources Development as to whether (a) a taxpayer is an eligible individual in respect of a qualified dependant;

(b) a person is a qualified dependant; or

(c) a person is a taxpayer's cohabiting spouse."

S. 122.62(9) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 11, s. 97(1), by replacing the term "Department of National Health and Welfare" with the term "Department of Human Resources Development", effective July 12, 1996.

S. 122.62(9) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), reproduced under s. 122.62(1) above.

SECTION 122.63:

► 122.63(1) ◄

(1) Agreement. The Minister of Finance may enter into an agreement with the government of a province whereby the amounts determined under paragraph (a) of the description of A in subsection 122.61(1) with respect to persons resident in the province shall, for the purpose of calculating overpayments deemed to arise under that subsection, be replaced by amounts determined in accordance with the agreement.

History: S. 122.63(1) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 142(1), applicable after August 27, 1995. S. 122.63(1) formerly read:

"(1) The Minister of Finance and the Minister of Human Resources Development may enter jointly into an agreement with the government of a province whereby the amounts determined under paragraph (a) of the description of A in subsection 122.61(1) with respect to persons resident in the province shall, for the purposes of calculating overpayments deemed to arise under that subsection, be replaced by amounts determined in accordance with the agreement."

S. 122.63(1) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 11, s. 95, by replacing the term "Minister of National Health and Welfare" with the term "Minister of Human Resources Development", effective July 12, 1996.

S. 122.63(1) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3) below.

Related Sections: S. 122.6, "Eligible individual".

Secs. 12(2) and (3), Sched. VII, Chap. 7, S.C. 1994

Sec. 12. [Application of section 122.63.]

(2) Sections 122.6 to 122.63 apply with respect to overpayments deemed to arise during months that are after 1992, and with respect to

(a) any amount deemed by subsection 122.61(1) of the said Act, as enacted by subsection (1), to be an overpayment on account of an individual's liability under Part I of the said Act

(i) during any month before July 1993, the individual's cohabiting spouse at the end of 1991 includes a person who

(A) is of the opposite sex to the individual,

(B) is at the beginning of the month a parent of a child of whom the individual is a parent, and

(C) is not living separate and apart from the individual for a period of at least 90 days that includes December 31, 1991, and

(ii) during any month after June 1993 and before July 1994, the cohabiting spouse of an individual at the end of 1992 includes the person of the opposite sex who, at the end of 1992, was cohabiting with the individual in a conjugal relationship and

(A) had so cohabited with the individual throughout a 12 month period ending before the end of 1992, or

(B) is a parent of a child of whom the individual is a parent,

and, for the purpose of this subparagraph, where before the end of 1992 the individual and the person cohabited in a conjugal relationship, they shall be deemed to be cohabiting in a conjugal relationship at the end of 1992, unless they were not cohabiting at that time for a period of at least 90 days that includes that time because of a breakdown of their conjugal relationship; and

(b) any amount deemed by the said subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment on account of a person's liability under Part I of the said Act arising in any month in relation to which the 1992 taxation year is the base taxation year, the expression "earned income" as defined in section 122.6 shall be deemed to have the meaning assigned by paragraph 63(3)(b) of the said Act as that paragraph reads in its application to the 1993 taxation year.

(3) The Minister of National Revenue may during any month

(a) in relation to which the 1991 taxation year is the base taxation year, and

(b) that is before the month in which that Minister mails to an individual a notice of determination of the amounts deemed by subsection 122.61(1) of the said Act, as enacted by subsection (1), to be overpayments on account of the individual's liability under Part I of the said Act for the 1991 taxation year, pay to the individual, in respect of a qualified dependant who was an eligible child (within the meaning assigned by paragraph 122.2(2)(a) of the said Act) of the individual for the 1992 taxation year, an amount not exceeding the amount that would be deemed by the said subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment on account of the individual's liability under Part I of the said Act for the 1991 taxation year that would have arisen in that month or a preceding month if the individual's adjusted income and adjusted earned income for the 1991 taxation year were equal to zero and if the individual had filed a return of income for that year, and any amount so paid shall be deemed to be an amount refunded on account of the individual's liability under Part I of the said Act for the 1991 taxation year that arose as a consequence of the operation of the said subsection 122.61(1).

► 122.63(2) ◄

(2) Idem. The amounts determined under paragraph (a) of the description of A in subsection 122.61(1) for a base taxation year because of any agreement entered into with a province and referred to in subsection (1) shall be based on the age of qualified dependants of eligible individuals, or on the number of such qualified dependants, or both, and shall result in an amount in respect of a qualified dependant that is not less, in respect of that qualified dependant, than 85% of the amount that would otherwise be determined under that paragraph in respect of that qualified dependant for that year.

History: S. 122.63(2) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), reproduced under s. 122.63(1) above.

► 122.63(3) ◄

(3) Idem. Any agreement entered into with a province and referred to in subsection (1) shall provide that, where the operation of the agreement results in a total of all amounts, each of which is an amount deemed under subsection 122.61(1) to be an overpayment on account of the liability under this Part for a taxation year of a person subject to the agreement, that exceeds 101% of the total of such overpayments that would have otherwise been deemed to have arisen under subsection 122.61(1), the excess shall be reimbursed by the government of the province to the Government of Canada.

History: S. 122.63(3) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1). For application, see S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, ss. 12(2) and (3), reproduced under s. 122.63(1) above.

SECTION 122.64:

► 122.64(1) ◄

(1) Confidentiality of information. Information obtained under this Act or the Family Allowances Act by or on behalf of the Minister of Social Development is deemed to be obtained on behalf of the Minister of National Revenue for the purposes of this Act.

History: S. 122.64(1) was amended by S.C. 2005, c. 35, s. 67, by replacing the expression "Minister of Human Resources Development" with "Minister of Social Development", in force on October 5, 2005.

S. 122.64(1) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 11, s. 95, by replacing the term "Minister of National Health and Welfare" with the term "Minister of Human Resources Development", effective July 12, 1996.

S. 122.64(1) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1), deemed to have come into force on January 1, 1993.

► 122.64(2) ◄

(2) Communication of information. Notwithstanding subsection 241(1), an official (as defined in subsection 241(10)) may provide information obtained under subsection 122.62(1), (4), (5), (6) or (7) or the Family Allowances Act

(a) to an official of the government of a province, solely for the purposes of the administration or enforcement of a prescribed law of the province; or

(b) to an official of the Department of Social Development for the purposes of the administration of the Family Allowances Act, the Canada Pension Plan or the Old Age Security Act.

History: S. 122.64(2)(b) was amended by S.C. 2005, c. 35, s. 66, by replacing the expression "Department of Human Resources Development" with "Department of Social Development", in force on October 5, 2005.

S. 122.64(2) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 144(1), applicable after August 27, 1995 except that, before July 12, 1996, the reference to "Human Resources Development" shall be read as a reference to "National Health and Welfare". S. 122.64(2) formerly read:

"(2) Notwithstanding subsection 241(1), an official or authorized person may provide information obtained under subsection 122.62(1), (4), (6), (7) or (8) or the Family Allowances Act

(a) to an official of the government of a province, solely for the purposes of the administration or enforcement of a prescribed law of the province; or

(b) to an official of the Department of Human Resources Development for the purposes of the administration of the Children's Special Allowances Act, the Canada Pension Plan and the Old Age Security Act."

S. 122.64(2)(b) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 11, s. 97(1), by replacing the term "Department of National Health and Welfare" with the term "Department of Human Resources Development", effective July 12, 1996.

S. 122.64(2) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1), deemed to have come into force on January 1, 1993.

Regulations: 3003.

► 122.64(3) ◄

(3) Taxpayer's address. Notwithstanding subsection 241(1), an official or authorized person may provide a taxpayer's name and address that has been obtained by or on behalf of the Minister of National Revenue for the purposes of this subdivision, for the purposes of the administration or enforcement of Part I of the Family Orders and Agreements Enforcement Assistance Act.

History: S. 122.64(3) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1), deemed to have come into force on January 1, 1993.

► 122.64(4) ◄

(4) Offence. Every person to whom information has been provided under subsection (2) or (3) and who knowingly uses, communicates or allows to be communicated that information for any purpose other than that for which it was provided is guilty of an offence and is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding $5,000 or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months or to both that fine and imprisonment.

History: S. 122.64(4) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1), deemed to have come into force on January 1, 1993.

► 122.64(5) ◄

(5) "Official" and "authorized person". [Repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 144(2).]

History: S. 122.64(5) was repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 144(2), applicable after August 27, 1995. S. 122.64(5) formerly read:

"(5) 'Official' and 'authorized person'. For the purposes of subsections (2) and (3), 'official' and 'authorized person' have the meanings assigned by subsection 241(10)."

S. 122.64(5) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VII, s. 12(1), deemed to have come into force on January 1, 1993.

Subdivision a.2 — Working Income Tax Benefit

SECTION 122.7:

► 122.7(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. The following definitions apply in this section.

"adjusted net income" — "adjusted net income" of an individual for a taxation year means the amount that would be the individual's income for the taxation year if

(a) this Act were read without reference to paragraph 81(1)(a) and subsection 81(4);

(b) in computing that income, no amount were included under paragraph 56(1)(q.1) or subsection 56(6), or in respect of any gain from a disposition of property to which section 79 applies; and

(c) in computing that income, no amount were deductible under paragraph 60(y) or (z).

History: S. 122.7(1), the definition "adjusted net income" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years except that for the 2007 taxation year, paragraphs (b) and (c) of the definition "adjusted net income" in subsection 122.7(1) shall be read as follows:

"(b) in computing that income, no amount were included under subsection 56(6), as a beneficiary of a registered disability savings plan or in respect of any gain from a disposition of property to which section 79 applies; and (c) in computing that income, no amount were deductible under paragraph 60(y)."

"cohabiting spouse or common-law partner" — "cohabiting spouse or common-law partner" of an individual at any time has the meaning assigned by section 122.6.

History: S. 122.7(1), the definition "cohabiting spouse or common-law partner" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

"designated educational institution" — "designated educational institution" has the meaning assigned by subsection 118.6(1).

History: S. 122.7(1), the definition "designated educational institution" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

"eligible dependant" — "eligible dependant" of an individual for a taxation year means a child of the individual who, at the end of the year,

(a) resided with the individual;

(b) was under the age of 19 years; and

(c) was not an eligible individual.

History: S. 122.7(1), the definition "eligible dependant" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

"eligible individual" — "eligible individual" for a taxation year means an individual (other than an ineligible individual) who was resident in Canada throughout the taxation year and who was, at the end of the taxation year,

(a) 19 years of age or older;

(b) the cohabiting spouse or common-law partner of another individual; or

(c) the parent of a child with whom the individual resides.

History: S. 122.7(1), the definition "eligible individual" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

"eligible spouse" — "eligible spouse" of an eligible individual for a taxation year means an individual (other than an ineligible individual) who was resident in Canada throughout the taxation year and who was, at the end of the taxation year, the cohabiting spouse or common-law partner of the eligible individual.

History: S. 122.7(1), the definition "eligible spouse" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

"ineligible individual" — "ineligible individual" for a taxation year means an individual

(a) who is described in paragraph 149(1)(a) or (b) at any time in the taxation year;

(b) who, except where the individual has an eligible dependant for the taxation year, was enrolled as a full-time student at a designated educational institution for a total of more than 13 weeks in the taxation year; or

(c) who was confined to a prison or similar institution for a period of at least 90 days during the taxation year.

History: S. 122.7(1), the definition "ineligible individual" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

"return of income" — "return of income" filed by an individual for a taxation year means a return of income (other than a return of income filed under subsection 70(2) or 104(23), paragraph 128(2)(e) or subsection 150(4)) that is required to be filed for the taxation year or that would be required to be filed if the individual had tax payable under this Part for the taxation year.

History: S. 122.7(1), the definition "return of income" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

"working income" — "working income" of an individual for a taxation year means the total of

(a) the total of all amounts each of which would, if this Act were read without reference to section 8, paragraph 81(1)(a) and subsection 81(4), be the individual's income for the taxation year from an office or employment;

(b) all amounts that are included, or that would, but for paragraph 81(1)(a), be included, because of paragraph 56(1)(n) or (o) or subparagraph 56(1)(r)(v) in computing the individual's income for a period in the taxation year; and

(c) the total of all amounts each of which would, if this Act were read without reference to paragraph 81(1)(a), be the individual's income for the taxation year from a business carried on by the individual otherwise than as a specified member of a partnership.

History: S. 122.7(1), paragraph (b) of the definition "working income" was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 38(1), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 122.7(1), paragraph (b) of the definition "working income" formerly read:

"(b) all amounts that are included, or that would, but for paragraph 81(1)(a), be included, because of paragraph 56(1)(n) or (o) in computing the individual's income for the taxation years; and"

S. 122.7(1), the definition "working income" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

► 122.7(2) ◄

(2) Deemed payment on account of tax. Subject to subsections (4) and (5), an eligible individual for a taxation year who files a return of income for the taxation year and who makes a claim under this subsection, is deemed to have paid, at the end of the taxation year, on account of tax payable under this Part for the taxation year, an amount equal to the amount, if any, determined by the formula

A – B

where

A is

(a) if the individual had neither an eligible spouse nor an eligible dependant, for the taxation year, the lesser of $500 and 20% of the amount, if any, by which the individual's working income for the taxation year exceeds $3,000, or

(b) if the individual had an eligible spouse or an eligible dependant, for the taxation year, the lesser of $1,000 and 20% of the amount, if any, by which the total of the working incomes of the individual and, if applicable, of the eligible spouse of the individual, for the taxation year, exceeds $3,000; and

B is

(a) if the individual had neither an eligible spouse nor an eligible dependant, for the taxation year, 15% of the amount, if any, by which the individual's adjusted net income for the taxation year exceeds $9,500, or

(b) if the individual had an eligible spouse or an eligible dependant, for the taxation year, 15% of the amount, if any, by which the total of the adjusted net incomes of the individual and, if applicable, of the eligible spouse of the individual, for the taxation year, exceeds $14,500.

History: S. 122.7(2) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

Editorial Note: The $500 and $1,000 working income tax benefit limits, and the $9,500 and $14,500 adjusted net income thresholds, but not the $3,000 working income threshold, will be indexed to the consumer price index every year.

Related Sections: S. 117(2.1) Tax payable — WITB advance payment; s. 248(1), "common-law partner".

Forms: RC201; T2201.

Guides: RC4227 Working Income Tax Benefit.

► 122.7(3) ◄

(3) Deemed payment on account of tax — disability supplement. An eligible individual for a taxation year who files a return of income for the taxation year and who may deduct an amount under subsection 118.3(1) in computing tax payable under this Part for the taxation year is deemed to have paid, at the end of the taxation year, on account of tax payable under this Part for the taxation year, an amount equal to the amount, if any, determined by the formula

C – D

where

C is the lesser of $250 and 20% of the amount, if any, by which the individual's working income for the taxation year exceeds $1,750, and

D is

(a) if the individual had neither an eligible spouse nor an eligible dependant, for the taxation year, 15% of the amount, if any, by which the individual's adjusted net income for the taxation year exceeds $12,833,

(b) if the individual had an eligible spouse for the taxation year who was not entitled to deduct an amount under subsection 118.3(1) for the taxation year, or had an eligible dependant for the taxation year, 15% of the amount, if any, by which the total of the adjusted net incomes of the individual and, if applicable, of the eligible spouse, for the taxation year, exceeds $21,167, or

(c) if the individual had an eligible spouse for the taxation year who was entitled to deduct an amount under subsection 118.3(1) for the taxation year, 7.5% of the amount, if any, by which the total of the adjusted net incomes of the individual and of the eligible spouse, for the taxation year, exceeds $21,167.

History: S. 122.7(3) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

Editorial Note: The $250 disability supplement limit, and the $12,833 and $21,167 adjusted net income thresholds, but not the $1,750 working income threshold, will be indexed to the consumer price index every year.

Forms: T2201.

► 122.7(4) ◄

(4) Eligible spouse deemed not to be an eligible individual. An eligible spouse of an eligible individual for a taxation year is deemed, for the purpose of subsection (2), not to be an eligible individual for the taxation year if the eligible spouse made a joint application described in subsection (6) with the eligible individual and the eligible individual received an amount under subsection (7) in respect of the taxation year.

History: S. 122.7(4) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

► 122.7(5) ◄

(5) Amount deemed to be nil. If an eligible individual had an eligible spouse for a taxation year and both the eligible individual and the eligible spouse make a claim for the taxation year under subsection (2), the amount deemed to have been paid under that subsection by each of them on account of tax payable under this Part for the taxation year, is nil.

History: S. 122.7(5) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

► 122.7(6) ◄

(6) Application for advance payment. Subsection (7) applies to an individual for a taxation year if,

(a) at any time after January 1 and before September 1 of the taxation year, the individual makes an application (or in the case of an individual who has, at that time, a cohabiting spouse or common-law partner, the two of them make a joint application designating the individual for the purpose of subsection (7)), to the Minister in prescribed form, containing prescribed information; and

(b) where the individual and a cohabiting spouse or common-law partner have made a joint application referred to in paragraph (a)

(i) the individual's working income for the taxation year can reasonably be expected to be greater than the working income of the individual's cohabiting spouse or common-law partner for the taxation year, or

(ii) the individual can reasonably be expected to be deemed by subsection (3) to have paid an amount on account of tax payable under this Part for the taxation year.

History: S. 122.7(6) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years.

Forms: RC201.

► 122.7(7) ◄

(7) Advance payment. Subject to subsection (8), the Minister may pay to an individual before the end of January of the year following a taxation year, one or more amounts that, in total, do not exceed one-half of the total of the amounts that the Minister estimates will be deemed to be paid by the individual under subsection (2) or (3) at the end of the taxation year, and any amount paid by the Minister under this subsection is deemed to have been received by the individual in respect of the taxation year.

History: S. 122.7(7) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years.

► 122.7(8) ◄

(8) Limitation — advance payment. No payment shall be made under subsection (7) to an individual in respect of a taxation year

(a) if the total amount that the Minister may pay under that subsection is less than $100; or

(b) before the day on which the individual has filed a return of income for a preceding taxation year in respect of which the individual received a payment under that subsection.

History: S. 122.7(8) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years.

► 122.7(9) ◄

(9) Notification to Minister. If, in a taxation year, an individual makes an application described in subsection (6), the individual shall notify the Minister of the occurrence of any of the following events before the end of the month following the month in which the event occurs

(a) the individual ceases to be resident in Canada in the taxation year;

(b) the individual ceases, before the end of the taxation year, to be a cohabiting spouse or common-law partner of another person with whom the individual made the application;

(c) the individual enrols as a full-time student at a designated educational institution in the taxation year; or

(d) the individual is confined to a prison or similar institution in the taxation year.

History: S. 122.7(9) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

► 122.7(10) ◄

(10) Special rule re eligible dependant. For the purpose of applying subsections (2) and (3), an individual (referred to in this subsection as the "child") is deemed not to be an eligible dependant of an eligible individual for a taxation year if the child is an eligible dependant of another eligible individual for the taxation year and both eligible individuals identified the child as an eligible dependant for the purpose of claiming or computing an amount under this section for the taxation year.

History: S. 122.7(10) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

Editorial Note: The bankrupt taxpayer must consider both his or her pre-bankruptcy and post-bankruptcy working income and adjusted net income to calculate his or her working income tax benefit.

► 122.7(11) ◄

(11) Effect of bankruptcy. For the purpose of this subdivision, if an individual becomes bankrupt in a particular calendar year

(a) notwithstanding subsection 128(2), any reference to the taxation year of the individual (other than in this subsection) is deemed to be a reference to the particular calendar year; and

(b) the individual's working income and adjusted net income for the taxation year ending on December 31 of the particular calendar year is deemed to include the individual's working income and adjusted net income for the taxation year that begins on January 1 of the particular calendar year.

History: S. 122.7(11) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

► 122.7(12) ◄

(12) Special rules in the event of death. For the purpose of this subdivision, if an individual dies after June 30 of a calendar year

(a) the individual is deemed to be resident in Canada from the time of death until the end of the year and to reside at the same place in Canada as the place where the individual resided immediately before death;

(b) the individual is deemed to be the same age at the end of the year as the individual would have been if the individual were alive at the end of the year;

(c) the individual is deemed to be the cohabiting spouse or common-law partner of another individual (referred to in this paragraph as the "surviving spouse") at the end of the year if,

(i) immediately before death, the individual was the cohabiting spouse or common-law partner of the surviving spouse, and

(ii) the surviving spouse is not the cohabiting spouse or common-law partner of another individual at the end of the year; and

(d) any return of income filed by a legal representative of the individual is deemed to be a return of income filed by the individual.

History: S. 122.7(12) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

Editorial Note: A taxpayer who dies after June 30 in a year will continue to meet the following status requirements for the rest of the year for the purpose of claiming the working income tax benefit: maintain Canadian residence until year-end; be the same age at year-end as that if he or she had been alive at year-end; be a cohabiting spouse or common-law partner at year-end if he or she was one immediately before his or her death and if the surviving spouse was not cohabiting with someone else at year-end; and be deemed to have filed a return of income for the year if one was filed by his or her legal representative.

SECTION 122.71: Modification for purposes of provincial program.

The Minister of Finance may enter into an agreement with the government of a province whereby the amounts determined under subsections 122.7(2) and (3) with respect to an eligible individual resident in the province at the end of the taxation year shall, for the purpose of calculating amounts deemed to be paid on account of the tax payable of an individual under those subsections, be replaced by amounts determined in accordance with the agreement.

History: S. 122.71 was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years.

Subdivision b — Rules Applicable to Corporations

SECTION 123:

► 123(1) ◄

(1) Rate for corporations. The tax payable under this Part for a taxation year by a corporation on its taxable income or taxable income earned in Canada, as the case may be, (in this section referred to as its "amount taxable") for the year is, except where otherwise provided,

(a) 38% of its amount taxable for the year.

(b) [Repealed by 1988, c. 28, s. 248(1).]

(c) [Repealed by 1988, c. 55, s. 100(2).]

(d) [Repealed by 1988, c. 55, s. 100(2).]

Related Sections: S. 133(3) Special tax rate; s. 143(3) Refusal to accept election; s. 149(1) Miscellaneous exemptions; s. 219(1) Branch tax; s. 248(1), "corporation", "taxable income", "taxable income earned in Canada"; s. 249 Definition of "taxation year"; s. 255 Canada.

Tax Topics: No. 1695, Corporate Tax Rates - How They (Now) Work; No. 1644, The Canadian Tax Advantage.

► 123(2) ◄

(2) Definitions — "Amount taxable earned by the corporation in the year in the Nova Scotia offshore area", "Nova Scotia offshore area". [Repealed by 1988, c. 28, s. 248(2).]

Regulations: 414; 415.

SECTION 123.1: Corporation surtax.

There shall be added to the tax otherwise payable under this Part for each taxation year by a corporation (other than a corporation that was throughout the year an investment corporation or a non-resident-owned investment corporation) an amount equal to that proportion of 5% of the amount, if any, by which

(a) the tax payable under this Part by the corporation for the year determined without reference to this section, sections 123.2 and 126 (except for the purposes of subsection 125(1) and section 125.1), subsections 127(3) and (5), 127.2(1) and 127.3(1) of this Act and paragraph 123(1)(b) and subsection 127(13) of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, and as if subsection 124(1) of this Act were read without reference to the words "in a province" in that subsection

exceeds

(b) in the case of a Canadian-controlled private corporation to which subsection 125(1) applies, the amount, if any, by which

(i) 15% of the least of the amounts, if any, determined under paragraphs 125(1)(a) to (c) in respect of the corporation for the year

exceeds

(ii) the amount, if any, determined under paragraph 125.1(1)(b) in respect of the corporation for the year,

(c) in the case of a mutual fund corporation, the least of the amounts that would be determined under paragraphs (a) to (c) of the description of A in the definition "refundable capital gains tax on hand" in subsection 131(6) in respect of the corporation for the year if this Act were read without reference to this section, and that the number of days in that portion of the year that is after June 30, 1985 and before 1987 is of the number of days in the year.

(d) in any other case, nil

Related Sections: S. 136(1) Cooperative not private corporation; s. 137(7) Credit union not private corporation.

SECTION 123.2:

► 123.2(1) ◄

(1) Corporation surtax. [Repealed by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 72(2).]

History: S. 123.2(1) was repealed by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 72(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 2007. S. 123.2(1) formerly read:

"S. 123.2. (1) Corporation surtax. There shall be added to the tax otherwise payable under this Part for each taxation year by a corporation an amount equal to the corporation's specified percentage for the taxation year multiplied by the amount, if any, by which

(a) the tax payable under this Part by the corporation for the year determined without reference to this section, sections 123.3, 123.4 and 125 to 126 and subsections 127(3), (5), (27) to (31), (34) and (35) and 137(3) and as if subsection 124(1) did not contain the words 'in a province'

exceeds

(b) in the case of a corporation that was throughout the year an investment corporation or a mutual fund corporation, the amount determined for A in the definition 'refundable capital gains tax on hand' in subsection 131(6) in respect of the corporation for the year, and

(c) in any other case, nil."

S. 123.2 was replaced, and subsection (1) was added, by S.C. 2005, c. 30, s. 9, in force on Royal Assent, June 29, 2005. S. 123.2 formerly read:

"S. 123.2. Corporate surtax. There shall be added to the tax otherwise payable under this Part for each taxation year by a corporation (other than a corporation that was throughout the year a non-resident-owned investment corporation) an amount equal to 4% of the amount, if any, by which

(a) the tax payable under this Part by the corporation for the year determined without reference to this section, sections 123.3, 123.4 and 125 to 126 and subsections 127(3), (5), (27) to (31), (34) and (35) and 137(3) and as if subsection 124(1) did not contain the words 'in a province'

exceeds

(b) in the case of a corporation that was throughout the year an investment corporation or a mutual fund corporation, the amount determined for A in the definition 'refundable capital gains tax on hand' in subsection 131(6) in respect of the corporation for the year, and

(c) in any other case, nil.

(d) [Repealed by 1990, c. 39, S. 28(1).]"

S. 123.2(a) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 111(1), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 123.2(a) formerly read:

"(a) the tax payable under this Part by the corporation for the year determined without reference to this section, sections 123.3 and 125 to 126 and subsections 127(3), (5), (27) to (31), (34) and (35) and 137(3) and as if subsection 124(1) did not contain the words 'in a province'"

S. 123.2(a) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 45(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 123.2(a) formerly read:

"(a) the tax payable under this Part by the corporation for the year determined without reference to this section, sections 123.3 and 125 to 126 and subsections 127(3) and (5) and 137(3) and as if subsection 124(1) did not contain the words 'in a province'."

S. 123.2, that portion before paragraph (b), was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 24(1), applicable to taxation years that end after February 27, 1995 except that, in applying section 123.2 to a taxation year that began before February 28, 1995, the amount otherwise determined under that section shall be reduced by that proportion of 1/4 of that amount that the number of days in the year that are before February 28, 1995 is of the number of days in the year.

That portion formerly read:

"S. 123.2. Corporation surtax. There shall be added to the tax otherwise payable under this Part for each taxation year by a corporation (other than a corporation that was throughout the year a non-resident-owned investment corporation) an amount equal to 3% of the amount, if any, by which

(a) the tax payable under this Part by the corporation for the year determined without reference to this section, sections 125 to 126 and subsections 127(3) and (5) and 137(3) and as if subsection 124(1) did not contain the words 'in a province' therein

exceeds"

S. 123.2(a) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 61(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to the corporation's taxation year commencing before 1992, there shall be deducted from the amount determined under paragraph 123.2(a) in respect of the corporation for the year an amount equal to that proportion of the amount determined under subsection 137(3) of the Act in respect of the corporation for the year that the number of days in the year that are before 1992 is of the number of days in the year. S. 123.2(a) formerly read:

"(a) the tax payable under this Part by the corporation for the year determined without reference to this section and sections 125 to 126 and subsections 127(3) and (5) of this Act and paragraph 123(1)(b) of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, and as if subsection 124(1) of this Act were read without reference to the words 'in a province' in that subsection"

Regulations: 8602.

► 123.2(2) ◄

(2) Specified percentage. [Repealed by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 72(2).]

History: S. 123.2(2) was repealed by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 72(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 2007. S. 123.2(2) formerly read:

"(2) Specified percentage. The specified percentage of a corporation for a taxation year is that proportion of 4% that the number of days in the taxation year that are before 2008 is of the number of days in the taxation year."

S. 123.2(2) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 72(1), in force on Royal Assent, June 22, 2006.

S. 123.2(2) formerly read:

"(2) Specified percentage. The specified percentage of a corporation for a taxation year is

(a) if the taxable capital employed in Canada of the corporation for the taxation year is equal to or less than $50,000,000, that proportion of 4% that the number of days in the taxation year that are before 2008 is of the number of days in the taxation year; and

(b) if paragraph (a) does not apply, the percentage determined by the formula

A + B[(C – $50,000,000)/$25,000,000]

where

A is that proportion of 4% that the number of days in the taxation year that are before 2008 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

B is that proportion of 4% that the number of days in the taxation year that are after 2007 is of the number of days in the taxation year; and

C is the lesser of $75,000,000 and the taxable capital employed in Canada of the corporation for the taxation year."

S. 123.2(2) was added by S.C. 2005, c. 30, s. 9, in force on Royal Assent, June 29, 2005. S. 123.2(2) was previously repealed under the Former Act.

► 123.2(3) ◄

(3) Taxable income. [Repealed by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 72(1).]

History: S. 123.2(3) was repealed by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 72(1), in force on Royal Assent, June 22, 2006.

S. 123.2(3) formerly read:

"(3) Taxable income. For the purpose of subsection (2), the taxable capital employed in Canada of a corporation for a particular taxation year is

(a) if the corporation is associated with one or more other corporations in the particular taxation year, the total of all amounts each of which is the taxable capital employed in Canada (within the meaning assigned by subsection 181.2(1) or 181.3(1) or section 181.4, as the case may be) of the corporation, or of such an associated corporation, for its last taxation year that ended in the calendar year preceding the calendar year in which the particular taxation year ends; and

(b) if the corporation is not associated with one or more other corporations in the particular taxation year, the taxable capital employed in Canada (within the meaning assigned by subsection 181.2(1) or 181.3(1) or section 181.4, as the case may be) of the corporation for the particular taxation year."

S. 123.2(3) was added by S.C. 2005, c. 30, s. 9, in force on Royal Assent, June 29, 2005. S. 123.2(3) was previously repealed under the Former Act.

SECTION 123.3: Refundable tax on CCPC's investment income.

There shall be added to the tax otherwise payable under this Part for each taxation year by a corporation that is throughout the year a Canadian-controlled private corporation an amount equal to 6 2/3% of the lesser of

(a) the corporation's aggregate investment income for the year (within the meaning assigned by subsection 129(4)), and

(b) the amount, if any, by which its taxable income for the year exceeds the least of the amounts determined in respect of it for the year under paragraphs 125(1)(a) to (c).

History: S. 123.3 was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 25(1), applicable to taxation years that end after June 1995 except that, in its application to such taxation years that begin before July 1995, the reference in section 123.3 to "6 2/3%" shall be read as "that proportion of 6 2/3% that the number of days in the year that are after June 1995 is of the number of days in the year".

Related Sections: S. 125(7), "Canadian-controlled private corporation"; s. 129(4), "aggregate investment income".

Tax Topics: No. 1695, Corporate Tax Rates — How They (Now) Work.

Corporation Tax Reductions

SECTION 123.4:

► 123.4(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. The definitions in this subsection apply in this section.

Related Sections: S. 125(1) Small business deduction; s. 125(7), "Canadian-controlled private corporation"; s. 125.11(1), "taxable resource income"; s. 125.11(2) Resource deduction; s. 129(4) Definitions; s. 130(3) Meaning of expressions "investment corporation" and "taxed capital gains"; s. 130.1(6) Meaning of "mortgage investment corporation"; s. 131(8) Meaning of "mutual fund corporation"; s. 133(8), "non resident owned investment corporation".

"CCPC rate reduction percentage" — [Repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 78(1).]

History: S. 123.4(1), the definition "CCPC rate reduction percentage" was repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 78(1), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years. The definition formerly read:

" 'CCPC rate reduction percentage' — 'CCPC rate reduction percentage' of a Canadian-controlled private corporation for a taxation year is that proportion of 7% that the number of days in the year that are after 2000 is of the number of days in the year."

S. 123.4(1), the definition "CCPC rate reduction percentage" was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 112(1), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to a taxation year that begins before 2001, the amount determined under subparagraph (b)(iv) of the definition "full rate taxable income" in subsection 123.4(1) of the Act is deemed to be the amount otherwise so determined multiplied by the number obtained by dividing the number of days in the year by the number of days in the year that are after 2000.

"full rate taxable income" — "full rate taxable income" of a corporation for a taxation year is

(a) if the corporation is not a corporation described in paragraph (b) or (c) for the year, the amount by which that portion of the corporation's taxable income for the year (or, for greater certainty, if the corporation is non-resident, that portion of its taxable income earned in Canada for the year) that is subject to tax under subsection 123(1) exceeds the total of

(i) if an amount is deducted under subsection 125.1(1) from the corporation's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year, the amount obtained by dividing the amount so deducted by the corporation's general rate reduction percentage for the taxation year,

(ii) if an amount is deducted under subsection 125.1(2) from the corporation's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year, the amount determined, in respect of the deduction, by the formula in that subsection, and

(iii) [Repealed.]

(iv) if the corporation is a credit union throughout the year and the corporation deducted an amount for the year under subsection 125(1) (because of the application of subsections 137(3) and (4)), the amount if any, by which, the lesser of the amounts described in paragraphs 137(3)(a) and (b) exceeds the amount described in paragraph 137(3)(c) in respect of the corporation for the year;

(b) if the corporation is a Canadian-controlled private corporation throughout the year, the amount by which the corporation's taxable income for the year exceeds the total of

(i) the amounts that would, if paragraph (a) applied to the corporation, be determined under subparagraphs (a)(i) to (iv) in respect of the corporation for the year,

(ii) the least of the amounts, if any, determined under paragraphs 125(1)(a) to (c) in respect of the corporation for the year, and

(iii) the corporation's aggregate investment income for the year, within the meaning assigned by subsection 129(4);

(c) if the corporation is throughout the year an investment corporation, a mortgage investment corporation or a mutual fund corporation, nil.

History: S. 123.4(1), the portion of paragraph (a) of the definition "full rate taxable income" before subparagraph (i) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 32(1), applicable to taxation years that begin on or after May 2, 2006. S. 123.4(1), the portion of paragraph (a) of the definition "full rate taxable income" before subparagraph (i) formerly read:

"(a) if the corporation is not a corporation described in paragraph (b) or (c) for the year, the amount by which the corporation's taxable income for the year (or, for greater certainty, if the corporation is non-resident, its taxable income earned in Canada for the year) exceeds the total of"

S. 123.4(1), subparagraph (a)(iv) of the definition "full rate taxable income" was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 32(2), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 123.4(1), subparagraph (a)(iv) of the definition "full rate taxable income" formerly read:

"(iv) if the corporation is a credit union throughout the year, $^{100}/_{16}$ of the amount, if any, deducted under subsection 137(3) from the corporation's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year;"

S. 123.4(1), subparagraph (b)(ii) of the definition "full rate taxable income" was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 32(3), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 123.4(1), subparagraph (b)(ii) of the definition "full rate taxable income" formerly read:

"(ii) $^{100}/_{16}$ of the amount, if any, deducted under subsection 125(1) from the corporation's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year, and"

S. 123.4(1), the portion of paragraph (a) of the definition "full rate taxable income" before subparagraph (ii) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 73(2), in force on Royal Assent, June 22, 2006. S. 123.4(1), the portion of paragraph (a) of the definition "full rate taxable income" before subparagraph (ii) formerly read:

"(a) if the corporation is not a corporation described in paragraph (b) or (c) for the year, the amount by which the corporation's taxable income for the year exceeds the total of,

(i) if an amount is deducted under subsection 125.1(1) from the corporation's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year, $^{100}/_{7}$ of the amount deducted,"

S. 123.4(1), subparagraph (a)(iii) of the definition "full rate taxable income" was repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 12(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 2006. S. 123.4(1), subparagraph (a)(iii) of the definition "full rate taxable income" formerly read:

"(iii) the corporation's taxable resource income for the year, and"

S. 123.4(1), subparagraph (a)(iii) of the definition "full rate taxable income" was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 12(1), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years. S. 123.4(1), subparagraph (a)(iii) of the definition "full rate taxable income" formerly read:

"(iii) three times the total of all amounts each of which is deducted under paragraph 20(1)(v.1) in computing the corporation's income from a business or property for the year, and"

S. 123.4(1), subparagraph (b)(iv) of the definition "full rate taxable income" was repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 78(2), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years. S. 123.4(1), subparagraph (b)(iv) of the definition "full rate taxable income" formerly read:

"(iv) $^{100}/_{7}$ of the amount, if any, deducted under subsection (3) from the corporation's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year; and"

S. 123.4(1), paragraph (c) of the definition "full rate taxable income" was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 78(3), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years. S. 123.4(1), paragraph (c) of the definition "full rate taxable income" formerly read:

"(c) if the corporation is throughout the year an investment corporation, a mortgage investment corporation, a mutual fund corporation, or a non-resident-owned investment corporation, nil."

S. 123.4(1), the definition "full rate taxable income" was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 112(1), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to a taxation year that begins before 2001, the amount determined under subparagraph (b)(iv) of the definition "full rate taxable income" in subsection 123.4(1) of the Act is deemed to be the amount otherwise so determined multiplied by the number obtained by dividing the number of days in the year by the number of days in the year that are after 2000.

"general rate reduction percentage" — "general rate reduction percentage" of a corporation for a taxation year is the total of

(a) that proportion of 7% that the number of days in the taxation year that are before 2008 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(b) that proportion of 8.5% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2008 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(c) that proportion of 9% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2009 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(d) that proportion of 10% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2010 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(e) that proportion of 11.5% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2011 is of the number of days in the taxation year, and

(f) that proportion of 13% that the number of days in the taxation year that are after 2011 is of the number of days in the taxation year.

History: S. 123.4(1), paragraphs (b) to (e) of the definition "general rate reduction percentage" were replaced, and paragraph (f) was added, by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 181(1), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 123.4(1), paragraphs (b) to (e) of the definition "general rate reduction percentage" formerly read:

"(b) that proportion of 7.5% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2008 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(c) that proportion of 8% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2009 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(d) that proportion of 9% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2010 is of the number of days in the taxation year, and

(e) that proportion of 9.5% that the number of days in the taxation year that are after 2010 is of the number of days in the taxation year."

S. 123.(1), paragraph (d) of the definition "general rate reduction percentage" was replaced, and paragraph (e) was added, by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 14, in force on Royal Assent, June 22, 2007. S. 123.(1), paragraph (d) of the definition "general rate reduction percentage" formerly read:

"(d) that proportion of 9% that the number of days in the taxation year that are after 2009 is of the number of days in the taxation year."

S. 123.4(1), the definition "general rate reduction percentage" was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 73(1), in force on Royal Assent, June 22, 2006.

S. 123.4(1), the definition "general rate reduction percentage" formerly read:

"'general rate reduction percentage'— 'general rate reduction percentage' of a corporation for a taxation year is the total of

(a) that proportion of 1% that the number of days in the year that are in 2001 is of the number of days in the year;

(b) that proportion of 3% that the number of days in the year that are in 2002 is of the number of days in the year;

(c) that proportion of 5% that the number of days in the year that are in 2003 is of the number of days in the year; and

(d) that proportion of 7% that the number of days in the year that are after 2003 is of the number of days in the year."

S. 123.4(1), the definition "general rate reduction percentage" was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 112(1), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to a taxation year that begins before 2001, the amount determined under subparagraph (b)(iv) of the definition "full rate taxable income" in subsection 123.4(1) of the Act is deemed to be the amount otherwise so determined multiplied by the number obtained by dividing the number of days in the year by the number of days in the year that are after 2000.

► 123.4(2) ◄

(2) General deduction from tax. There may be deducted from a corporation's tax otherwise payable under this Part for a taxation year the product obtained by multiplying the corporation's general rate reduction percentage for the year by the corporation's full-rate taxable income for the year.

History: S. 123.4(2) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 112(1), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to a taxation year that begins before 2001, the amount determined under subparagraph (b)(iv) of the definition "full rate taxable income" in subsection 123.4(1) of the Act is deemed to be the amount otherwise so determined multiplied by the number obtained by dividing the number of days in the year by the number of days in the year that are after 2000.

► 123.4(3) ◄

(3) CCPC deduction. [Repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 78(5).]

History: S. 123.4(3) was repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 78(5), applicable to the 2005 and subsequent taxation years. S. 123.4(3) formerly read:

"(3) CCPC deduction. There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable under this Part for a taxation year by a Canadian-controlled private corporation the product obtained by multiplying the corporation's CCPC rate reduction percentage for the year by the amount by which the least of

(a) the amount determined by the formula

($300,000/A) × B

where

A is the total of

(i) that proportion of $200,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are before 2003 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(ii) that proportion of $225,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2003 is of the number of days in the taxation year, and

(iii) that proportion of $250,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2004 is of the number of days in the taxation year, and

B is the corporation's business limit for the taxation year as determined under section 125 for the purpose of paragraph 125(1)(c),

(b) the amount that would be determined under paragraph 125(1)(a) in respect of the corporation for the year if the description of M in the definition 'specified partnership income' in subsection 125(7) were read as it is to be read for fiscal periods that begin after 2005, and

(c) the amount by which

(i) the amount that would, if subsection 126(1) did not apply in respect of any amount included in the corporation's aggregate investment income for the year (determined under subsection 129(4)), be determined under paragraph 125(1)(b) in respect of the corporation for the year

exceeds

(ii) the corporation's aggregate investment income for the year,

exceeds the total of

(d) the amounts that would, if paragraph (a) of the definition 'full-rate taxable income' in subsection (1) applied to the corporation for the year, be determined under subparagraphs (a)(i) to (iv) of that definition in respect of the corporation for the year, and

(e) 100/16 of the amount, if any, deducted under subsection 125(1) from the corporation's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year."

Ss. 123.4(3)(a) and (b) were replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 78(3), applicable to the 2003 and 2004 taxation years. Ss. 123.4(3)(a) and (b) formerly read:

"(a) 3/2 of the corporation's business limit for the year, as determined under section 125 for the purpose of paragraph 125(1)(c), (b) the amount that would be determined under paragraph 125(1)(a) in respect of the corporation for the year if the references in the description of M in the definition 'specified partnership income' in subsection 125(7) to '$200,000' and '$548' were read as references to '$300,000' and '$822', respectively, and"

S. 123.4(3) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 112(1), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to a taxation year that begins before 2001, the amount determined under subparagraph (b)(iv) of the definition "full rate taxable income" in subsection 123.4(1) of the Act is deemed to be the amount otherwise so determined multiplied by the number obtained by dividing the number of days in the year by the number of days in the year that are after 2000.

SECTION 123.5: Idem. [Repealed by 1985, c. 45, s. 69(1).]

SECTION 124:

► 124(1) ◄

(1) Deduction from corporation tax. There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable by a corporation under this Part for a taxation year an amount equal to 10% of the corporation's taxable income earned in the year in a province.

Regulations: Part IV.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-177R2 (Consolid.) Permanent establishment of a corporation in a province. Secondary — IT-347R2 Crown corporations [Archived by the CRA].

Tax Profile: May 2003 — The Interprovincial Transfer of Passive Corporate Income.

Canadian Tax Foundation: Auger and Belanger, "Interprovincial Allocation of Income", 1999 Conference Report, 10:1.

Cases: Taxpayer directed its real estate management and construction business from its main office in Canada. Although 90% of its income was generated in the U.S., it had no permanent establishment there, as on-site supervision lasted only until each project was completed. The taxpayer therefore qualified for the 10% tax reduction. Hegeman-Harris Co. of Canada Ltd. v. M.N.R., 79 DTC 886 (T.R.B.).

Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 2, Permanent establishment in a province through an agent.

► 124(2) ◄

(2) Idem. [Repealed by 1974-75-76, c. 71, s. 6(1).]

► 124(2.1) ◄

(2.1) Idem. [Repealed by 1974-75-76, c. 71, s. 6(1).]

► 124(2.2) ◄

(2.2) Calculation of percentage for particular taxation year. [Repealed by 1974-75-76, c. 71, s. 6(1).]

► 124(3) ◄

(3) Crown agents. Notwithstanding subsection (1), no deduction may be made under this section from the tax otherwise payable under this Part for a taxation year by a corporation in respect of any taxable income of the corporation for the year that is not, because of an Act of Parliament, subject to tax under this Part or by a prescribed federal Crown corporation that is an agent of Her Majesty.

History: S. 124(3) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 62(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. S. 124(3) formerly read:

"(3) No deduction may be made under this section from the tax otherwise payable under this Part for a taxation year by a prescribed federal Crown corporation that is an agent of Her Majesty."

Regulations: 7100.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-347R2 Crown corporations [Archived by the CRA].

► 124(4) ◄

(4) Definitions. In this section,

"province" — "province" includes the Newfoundland offshore area and the Nova Scotia offshore area;

Related Sections: S. 133(4) No deduction for foreign taxes; s. 248(1), "amount", "corporation", "Newfoundland offshore area", "prescribed", "taxable income"; s. 249 Definition of "taxation year".

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-177R2 (Consolid.) Permanent establishment of a corporation in a province.

"taxable income earned in the year in a province" — "taxable income earned in the year in a province" means the amount determined under rules prescribed for the purpose by regulations made on the recommendation of the Minister of Finance.

Regulations: 400 to 413.

SECTION 124.1: "Taxable production profits from a mineral resource in Canada" defined. [Repealed by 1974-75-76, c. 71, s. 7(1).]

SECTION 124.2: "Taxable production profits from oil or gas wells in Canada" defined. [Repealed by 1974-75-76, c. 71, s. 7(1).]

SECTION 125:

► 125(1) ◄

(1) Small business deduction. There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable under this Part for a taxation year by a corporation that was, throughout the taxation year, a Canadian-controlled private corporation, an amount equal to the corporation's small business deduction rate for the taxation year multiplied by the least of

(a) the amount, if any, by which the total of

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is the income of the corporation for the year from an active business carried on in Canada (other than the income of the corporation for the year from a business carried on by it as a member of a partnership), and

(ii) the specified partnership income of the corporation for the year

exceeds the total of

(iii) the total of all amounts each of which is a loss of the corporation for the year from an active business carried on in Canada (other than a loss of the corporation for the year from a business carried on by it as a member of a partnership), and

(iv) the specified partnership loss of the corporation for the year,

(b) the amount, if any, by which the corporation's taxable income for the year exceeds the total of

(i) 10/3 of the total of the amounts that would be deductible under subsection 126(1) from the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by it if those amounts were determined without reference to sections 123.3 and 123.4,

(ii) 10/4 of the total of the amounts that would be deductible under subsection 126(2) from the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by it if those amounts were determined without reference to section 123.4, and

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subparagraph 125(1)(b)(ii) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(ii) three times the total of the amounts that would be deductible under subsection 126(2) from the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by it if those amounts were determined without reference to section 123.4, and

Applicable: To the 2003 and subsequent taxation years.

Explanatory Note: Under subsection 125(1) of the Act, a CCPC's small business deduction for a taxation year is calculated as 16% of the least of three amounts. One of these, set out in paragraph 125(1)(b), is the amount by which the corporation's taxable income for the year exceeds income that has supported a foreign tax credit (FTC) or that is statutorily exempt from tax. The amount of income that has supported an FTC is determined by multiplying the corporation's FTCs for the year (subject to certain adjustments) by a factor that reflects an assumed rate of tax. For FTCs in respect of foreign non-business income, the factor is currently 10/3, reflecting an assumed tax rate of 30%. For business-income FTCs, the factor is currently 10/4, which reflects an assumed tax rate of 40%.

Subparagraph 125(1)(b)(ii) is amended to adjust the factor for foreign business income, as part of a series of amendments reflecting recent and planned reductions in income tax rates. The factor for business-income FTCs will become 3. This implies an assumed tax rate of 33.3%. This amendment applies to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years.

(iii) the amount, if any, of the corporation's taxable income for the year that is not, because of an Act of Parliament, subject to tax under this Part, and

(c) the corporation's business limit for the year.

History: S. 125(1), the portion before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 33(1), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 125(1), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"S. 125. (1) Small business deduction. There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable under this Part for a taxation year by a corporation that was, throughout the year, a Canadian-controlled private corporation, an amount equal to 16% of the least of"

S. 125(1)(b), the portion before subparagraph (iii) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 113(1), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 125(1)(b), the portion before subparagraph (iii) formerly read:

"(b) the amount, if any, by which the corporation's taxable income for the year exceeds the total of

(i) 10/3 of the total of the amounts that would be deductible under subsection 126(1) from the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by it if those amounts were determined without reference to section 123.3,

(ii) 10/4 of the total of amounts deducted under subsection 126(2) from the tax for the year otherwise payable by it under this Part, and"

S. 125(1), that portion preceding paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 145(1), applicable to taxation years that end after June 1988, except that there shall be added to the amount otherwise determined under subsection 125(1), in respect of a corporation's taxation year that began before July 1988 and ended after June 1988, that proportion of 5% of the least of the amounts determined under paragraphs 125(1)(a) to (c) of the Act in respect of the corporation for the year that the number of days in the year that are before July 1988 is of the number of days in the year. That portion of s. 125(1) formerly read:

"S. 125. Small business deduction.

(1) There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable under this Part for a taxation year by a corporation that was, throughout a taxation year, a Canadian-controlled private corporation, an amount equal to 16% of the least of"

S. 125(1)(b)(i) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 26(1), applicable to taxation years that end after June 1995. S. 125(1)(b)(i) formerly read:

"(i) 10/3 of the total of amounts deducted under subsection 126(1) from the tax for the year otherwise payable by it under this Part,"

S. 125(1)(b)(iii) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 63(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years.

Editorial Note: The small business deduction is computed by applying the "small business deduction rate" (per s. 125(1.1)) to the least of the corporation's:

1. non-partnership income from an active business carried on in Canada and "specified partnership income" (see the editorial note in s. 125(7)), less non-partnership Canadian-active-business losses and "specified partnership losses" (see the editorial note in s. 125(7)) (see paragraph (a));

2. Small business limit — As amended by the 2009 Federal Budget (S.C. 2009, c. 2) (s. 125(2)), this is normally $500,000 for the 2009 and subsequent taxation years (prorated where the 2009 taxation year straddles December 31, 2008). This may be reduced where it the corporation is associated in the year with one or more corporations (see paragraph (c));

3. A general limitation based on the corporation's taxable income, reduced by amounts designed to estimate the extent to which the corporation's taxable income is effectively sheltered by foreign tax credits, or is tax-exempt (see paragraph (b)).

While a corporation must be a CCPC throughout the year to qualify for the small business deduction, s. 249(3.1) or (4) provides a deemed year end when CCPC status is lost. The small business deduction is phased-out (per s. 125(5.1)), based on taxable capital employed in Canada of between $10M–$15M. Special rules in s. 125(5) may apply for short taxation years, as well as where a corporation has two or more taxation years which end in the same calendar year.

Related Sections: S. 89(1), "general rate income pool", "low rate income pool"; s. 89(11) Election: non-CCPC; s. 110.5 Additions for foreign tax deductions; s. 123.1 Corporation surtax; s. 123.3 Refundable tax on CCPC's investment income; s. 123.4(1), "full rate taxable income"; s. 125(1.1) Small business deduction rate; s. 125(2) Business limit; s. 125(6) Corporate partnerships; s. 125(6.1) Corporation deemed member of partnership; s. 125(6.2) Specified partnership income deemed nil; s. 125(6.3) Partnership deemed to be controlled; s. 125(7), "Canadian controlled private corporation", "specified partnership income"; s. 125.1 Manufacturing and processing profits deductions; s. 126(1) Foreign tax deduction — non-business income; s. 126(2) Employees of international organizations; s. 129(3) Definition of "refundable dividend tax on hand"; s. 129(6)(b) Investment income from associated corporation deemed to be active business income; s. 136(1) Cooperative not private corporation; s. 137(3) Additional deduction; s. 137(7) Credit union not private corporation.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-73R6 The small business deduction. Secondary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) — Scientific research and experimental development expenditures; IT-151R4 Scientific research and experimental development expenditures [Archived by the CRA]; IT-189R2 Corporations used by practising members of professions; IT-232R3 Non-capital losses, net capital losses, restricted farm losses, farm losses and limited partnership losses — Their composition and deductibility in computing taxable income; IT-243R4 Dividend refund to private corporations; IT-362R Patronage dividends; IT-458R2 Canadian-controlled private corporation.

Information Circulars: IC 88-2 General anti-avoidance rule — Section 245 of the Income Tax Act (para. 11).

Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 30, Reasonableness of Shareholder/Manager Remuneration.

Forms: T2 SCH 7; T2 SCH 70; T2 SCH 341; T2 SCH 424.

Tax Topics: No. 1695, Corporate Tax Rates – How They (Now) Work; No. 1652, Owner-Manager Remuneration – Is the CCRA Tightening the Screws?; No. 1579, Tax Rate Drops Change Business Tax Planning; No. 1500, Shareholder-Manager Bonus Policy — A Follow up.

Tax Profile: July 2007 — Canadian Tax Traps; May 2006 — Professional Corporations for Physicians and Dentists in Ontario; June 2004 — Owner-Manager Remuneration: Bonuses Out of Non-Active Business Income; November 2003 — Revenue Canada Round Table; October 2000 — Reasonableness of Bonuses: CCRA Says You Have to Be Direct Owner of Shares.

Tax Window Files: Incorporation of Medical Partnership, 2004, CRA Document No. 2004-0069011R3 [Professional corporation providing medical services to another corporation not carrying on a "personal services business"; entitled to small business deduction]; Specified Investment Business — Five Full-time Employee Test, June 25, 2001, CRA Document No. 2001-0076645 [Whether a corporation carrying on a business as a member of a joint venture employs more than five full-time employees for the purposes of the definition of "specified investment business"].

Cases: The loss of an associated corporation did not reduce income for the purposes of the income threshold applicable to the small business deduction. Airtel Communications Ltd. v. The Queen, 91 DTC 5235 (N.B. Q.B.-T.D.).

A corporation was denied the small business deduction because its only activity was to provide a showroom for a related corporation. Its income was held to be derived from a "personal services business" and it was, therefore, not entitled to the deduction. 533702 Ontario Ltd. v. M.N.R., 91 DTC 982 (T.C.C.).

The holding of mortgages was not held to be active business since, even though they were linked with the sale of three commercial properties, the wholly-owned subsidiary of the taxpayer had made a decision to get out of the active business of owning and managing commercial properties. Alexander Cole Ltd. v. M.N.R., 90 DTC 1894 (T.C.C.).

Capital gain can be added to business income for the purpose of calculating a patronage dividend deduction but not for the purpose of calculating the small business deduction. Sedgewick Co-operative Association Ltd. v. The Queen, 83 DTC 5455 (F.C.T.D.).

► 125(1.1) ◄

(1.1) Small business deduction rate. For the purpose of subsection (1), a corporation's small business deduction rate for a taxation year is the total of

(a) that proportion of 16% that the number of days in the taxation year that are before 2008 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(b) that proportion of 17% that the number of days in the taxation year that are after 2007 is of the number of days in the taxation year.

(c) [Repealed.]

History: S. 125(1.1)(b) was replaced, and paragraph (c) was repealed, by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 182(1), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 125(1.1)(b) and (c) formerly read:

"(b) that proportion of 16.5% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2008 is of the number of days in the taxation year, and (c) that proportion of 17% that the number of days in the taxation year that are after 2008 is of the number of days in the taxation year."

S. 125(1.1) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 33(2), applicable to the 2008 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 125(1.1) was previously repealed under the Former Act (1984, c. 45, s. 40(1)).

Editorial Note: Income eligible for the small business deduction is excluded from "full rate taxable income" per paragraph (b) of the definition in s. 123.4(1) and will therefore not qualify for the "general rate reduction" applicable to business income, per s. 123.4(1) and 123.4(2). Thus, the effective benefit of the small business deduction is net of the general rate reduction.

Related Sections: S. 137(3) Additional deduction; s. 137.1(9) Special tax rate.

► 125(2) ◄

(2) Business limit. For the purpose of this section, a corporation's business limit for a taxation year is $500,000 unless the corporation is associated in the taxation year with one or more other Canadian-controlled private corporations, in which case, except as otherwise provided in this section, its business limit is nil.

History: S. 125(2) was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 39(1), applicable to the 2009 and subsequent taxation years except that, for a 2009 or 2010 taxation year that began before 2009, the reference in subsection 125(2) to "$500,000" shall be read as a reference to the total of

(a) that proportion of $400,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are before 2009 is of the number of days in the taxation year, and

(b) that proportion of $500,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are after 2008 is of the number of days in the taxation year.

S. 125(2) formerly read:

"(2) Business limit. For the purpose of this section, a corporation's business limit for a taxation year is $400,000 unless the corporation is associated in the taxation year with one or more other Canadian-controlled private corporations, in which case, except as otherwise provided in this section, its business limit is nil."

S. 125(2) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 33(3), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years except that, for a 2007 or 2008 taxation year that began before 2007, the reference in subsection 125(2) to "$400,000" is to be read as a reference to the total of

(a) that proportion of $300,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are before 2007 is of the number of days in the taxation year, and

(b) that proportion of $400,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are after 2006 is of the number of days in the taxation year.

S. 125(2) formerly read:

"(2) Interpretation of business limit. For the purpose of this section, a corporation's 'business limit' for a taxation year is $300,000 unless the corporation is associated in the year with one or more other Canadian-controlled private corporations in which case, except as otherwise provided in this section, its business limit for the year is nil."

S. 125(2), the application of the amendment to subsection 125(2) in S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 79(3) was replaced by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 56(1) and (2), deemed to have come into force on June 19, 2003. The application phased-in the increase in the business limit for the small business deduction and this increase to $300,000 has been accelerated by one year. As a result, the amendment to subsection 125(2) in S.C. 2003, c. 15, s.79(1) regarding the increase in the business limit is applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years except that for taxation years that begin before 2005,

(a) the reference to "$300,000" is to be read as a reference to the total of

(i) that proportion of $200,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are before 2003 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(ii) that proportion of $225,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2003 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(iii) that proportion of $250,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2004 is of the number of days in the taxation year, and

(iv) that proportion of $300,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are after 2004 is of the number of days in the taxation year.

S. 125(2) was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 79(1), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years except that for taxation years that begin before 2006

(a) the reference to "$300,000" is to be read as a reference to the total of

(i) that proportion of $200,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are before 2003 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(ii) that proportion of $225,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2003 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(iii) that proportion of $250,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2004 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(iv) that proportion of $275,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2005 is of the number of days in the taxation year, and

(v) that proportion of $300,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are after 2005 is of the number of days in the taxation year.

S. 125(2) formerly read:

"(2) Interpretation of 'business limit'. For the purposes of this section, a corporation's 'business limit' for a taxation year is $200,000 unless the corporation is associated in the year with one or more other Canadian-controlled private corporations in which case, except as otherwise provided in this section, its business limit for the year is nil."

Editorial Note: See the editorial note to s. 125(1). The 2009 Federal Budget (S.C. 2009, c. 2) raised the small business limit from $400,000 to $500,000 for the 2009 and subsequent taxation years (prorated where the 2009 taxation year straddles December 31, 2008). Provincial small business limits may vary from the limit specified in s. 125(2).

Related Sections: S. 87(2)(oo.1) Refundable investment tax credit and balance-due day; s. 88(1)(e.9) Winding-up; s. 125(3) Associated corporations; s. 125(4) Failure to file agreement; s. 125(5) Special rules for business limit; s. 125(5.1) Business limit reduction; s. 127(10.1)–127(10.6); s. 127.1(2), "qualifying corporation"; s. 182(2) Definitions; s. 248(1), "balance due day"; s. 256(2) Corporations associated through a third corporation.

Tax Topics: No. 1500, Shareholder-Manager Bonus Policy — A Follow up.

Tax Profile: October 2000 — Reasonableness of Bonuses: CCRA Says You Have to Be Direct Owner of Shares.

► 125(3) ◄

(3) Associated corporations. Notwithstanding subsection (2), if all the Canadian-controlled private corporations that are associated with each other in a taxation year file with the Minister in prescribed form an agreement that assigns for the purpose of this section a percentage to one or more of them for the year, the business limit for the year of each of the corporations is

(a) if the total of the percentages assigned in the agreement does not exceed 100%, $500,000 multiplied by the percentage assigned to that corporation in the agreement; and

(b) in any other case, nil.

History: S. 125(3)(a) was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 39(2), applicable to the 2009 and subsequent taxation years except that, for a 2009 or 2010 taxation year that began before 2009, the reference in paragraph 125(3)(a) to "$500,000" is to be read as a reference to "the amount that would, if the corporation were not associated in the year with any other corporation, be its business limit for the year determined without reference to subsections (5) and (5.1)".

S. 125(3)(a) formerly read:

"(a) if the total of the percentages assigned in the agreement does not exceed 100%, $400,000 multiplied by the percentage assigned to that corporation in the agreement; and"

S. 125(3)(a) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 33(4), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years except that, for a 2007 or 2008 taxation year that began before 2007, the reference in subsection 125(3) to "$400,000" is to be read as a reference to "the amount that would, if the corporation were not associated in the year with any other corporation, be its business limit for the year determined without reference to subsections (5) and (5.1)".

S. 125(3)(a) formerly read:

"(a) if the total of the percentages assigned in the agreement does not exceed 100%, $300,000 multiplied by the percentage assigned to that corporation in the agreement; and"

S. 125(3), the application of the amendment to subsection 125(3) in S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 79(3) was replaced by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 56(1) and (2), deemed to have come into force on June 19, 2003. The application phased-in the increase in the business limit for the small business deduction and this increase to $300,000 has been accelerated by one year. As a result, the amendment to subsection 125(3) in S.C.2003, c. 15, s.79(1) regarding the increase in the business limit is applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years except that for taxation years that begin before 2005,

(a) the reference to "$300,000" is to be read as a reference to the total of

(i) that proportion of $200,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are before 2003 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(ii) that proportion of $225,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2003 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(iii) that proportion of $250,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2004 is of the number of days in the taxation year, and

(iv) that proportion of $300,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are after 2004 is of the number of days in the taxation year.

S. 125(3) was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 79(1), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years except that for taxation years that begin before 2005 the reference to "$300,000" is to be read as a reference to "the amount that would, if the corporation were not associated in the year with any other corporation, be its business limit for the year determined without reference to subsections (5) and (5.1),".

S. 125(3) formerly read:

"(3) Associated corporations. Notwithstanding subsection (2), if all of the Canadian-controlled private corporations that are associated with each other in a taxation year have filed with the Minister in prescribed form an agreement whereby, for the purposes of this section, they allocate an amount to one or more of them for the taxation year and the amount so allocated or the total of the amounts so allocated, as the case may be, is $200,000, the business limit for the year of each of the corporations is the amount so allocated to it."

Editorial Note: Associated CCPCs have a business limit of nil unless they file an allocation agreement (Schedule 23). Subsection 125(4) requires the CRA to make an allocation if any associated corporation fails to file an agreement within 30 days after notice in writing that such an agreement is required.

Related Sections: S. 125(4) Failure to file agreement; s. 125(5) Special rules for business limit; s. 125(6) Corporate partnerships; s. 256 Associated corporations.

Forms: T2 SCH 23.

Cases: Since a franchisor did not have de facto control over it's franchisees, the franchisees were not associated with each other for purposes of the small business deduction. The Queen v. Lenester Sales Ltd. et al., 2004 DTC 6461 (F.C.A.), affirming 2003 DTC 997 (T.C.C.).

► 125(4) ◄

(4) Failure to file agreement. If any of the Canadian-controlled private corporations that are associated with each other in a taxation year has failed to file with the Minister an agreement as contemplated by subsection (3) within 30 days after notice in writing by the Minister has been forwarded to any of them that such an agreement is required for the purpose of any assessment of tax under this Part, the Minister shall, for the purpose of this section, allocate an amount to one or more of them for the taxation year. The total amount so allocated must equal the least of the amounts that would, if none of the corporations were associated with any other corporation during the year and if this Act were read without reference to subsections (5) and (5.1), be the business limits of the corporations for the year.

History: S. 125(4) was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 79(1), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years. S. 125(4) formerly read:

"(4) Failure to file agreement. If any of the Canadian-controlled private corporations that are associated with each other in a taxation year has failed to file with the Minister an agreement as contemplated by subsection (3) within 30 days after notice in writing by the Minister has been forwarded to any of them that such an agreement is required for the purpose of any assessment of tax under this Part, the Minister shall, for the purpose of this section, allocate an amount to one or more of them for the taxation year, which amount or the total of which amounts, as the case may be, shall equal $200,000, and in any such case, notwithstanding subsection (2), the business limit for the year of each of the corporations is the amount so allocated to it."

Editorial Note: See the editorial note to subsection 125(3).

Related Sections: S. 125(3) Associated corporations; s. 125(6) Corporate partnerships; s. 256 Associated corporations.

► 125(5) ◄

(5) Special rules for business limit. Notwithstanding subsections (2) to (4),

(a) where a Canadian-controlled private corporation (in this paragraph referred to as the "first corporation") has more than one taxation year ending in the same calendar year and it is associated in 2 or more of those taxation years with another Canadian-controlled private corporation that has a taxation year ending in that calendar year, the business limit of the first corporation for each taxation year ending in the calendar year in which it is associated with the other corporation that ends after the first such taxation year ending in that calendar year is, subject to the application of paragraph (b), an amount equal to the lesser of

(i) its business limit determined under subsection (3) or (4) for the first such taxation year ending in the calendar year, and [Editorial Note: See the history note for the alternative reading of

s. 125(5)(a)(i) for a 2009 or 2010 taxation year of a corporation that began before 2009.]

(ii) its business limit determined under subsection (3) or (4) for the particular taxation year ending in the calendar year; and

(b) where a Canadian-controlled private corporation has a taxation year that is less than 51 weeks, its business limit for the year is that proportion of its business limit for the year determined without reference to this paragraph that the number of days in the year is of 365.

History: A transitional rule for s. 125(5) was added by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 39(3), in force on Royal Assent, March 12, 2009. The transitional rule provides that in applying subsection 125(5) to a corporation for a 2009 or 2010 taxation year of the corporation that began before 2009, subparagraph 125(5)(a)(i) is to be read as follows:

"(i) the amount that would have been its business limit determined under subsection (3) or (4) for the first such taxation year ending in the calendar year if the reference to $400,000 in subsection (3), as it applied in respect of that first such taxation year, had been read in the same manner as it is read in respect of the particular taxation year ending in the calendar year, and"

A transitional rule for s. 125(5) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 33(10), in force on Royal Assent, February 21, 2007, to provide that in applying subsection 125(5) of the Act to a corporation for a 2007 or 2008 taxation year, of the corporation, that began before 2007, subparagraph 125(5)(a)(i) of the Act is to be read as follows:

"(i) the amount that would have been its business limit determined under subsection (3) or (4) for the first such taxation year ending in the calendar year if the reference to $300,000 in subsection (3), as it applied in respect of that first such taxation year, had been read in the same manner as it is read in respect of the particular taxation year ending in the calendar year, and"

S. 125(5), that portion preceding paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 35(1), applicable to taxation years that end after June 1994. S. 125(5), that portion preceding paragraph (a), formerly read:

"(5) Special rules for business limit. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section,"

S. 125(5)(a) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 63(2), applicable to taxation years ending after December 20, 1991. S. 125(5)(a) formerly read:

"(a) where a Canadian-controlled private corporation (in this paragraph referred to as the 'first corporation') has more than one taxation year ending in the same calendar year and it is associated in two or more of those taxation years with another Canadian-controlled private corporation that has a taxation year ending in that calendar year, the business limit of the first corporation for each taxation year in which it is associated with the other corporation ending in that calendar year is, subject to the application of paragraph (b), an amount equal to its business limit for the first such taxation year determined without reference to paragraph (b), and"

Editorial Note: Paragraph 125(5)(b) pro-rates the business limit for and taxation year of less than 51 weeks, based on the number of days in the taxation year, divided by 365.

Paragraph 125(5)(a) is applicable where a corporation has two or more taxation years which end in the same calendar year, and is associated in at least two of those years with another CCPC that has a taxation year ending in the particular calendar year. The business limit of the corporation for the second and subsequent taxation years is the business limit allocated to the corporation for the first taxation year, or that of the particular year, if less. (Paragraph (a) is then subject to the application of paragraph (b); for an example of the interaction of paragraphs (a) and (b), see paragraph 28 of Interpretation Bulletin IT-73R6.) The provision could apply when there is a deemed year end, such as a change of status to/from a CCPC or an acquisition of control.

Related Sections: S. 87(2)(a) Refundable dividend tax on hand; s. 127(10.2) Expenditure limit determined; s. 249(3.1) Year end on status change; s. 249(4) Year end on change of control; s. 249.1 Definition of "fiscal period"; s. 256 Associated corporations.

▶ 125(5.1) ◀

(5.1) Business limit reduction. Notwithstanding subsections (2) to (5), a Canadian-controlled private corporation's business limit for a particular taxation year ending in a calendar year is the amount, if any, by which its business limit otherwise determined for the particular year exceeds the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times \frac{B}{$11{,}250}$$

where

A is the amount that would, but for this subsection, be the corporation's business limit for the particular year; and

B is

(a) where the corporation is not associated with any other corporation in the particular year, the amount that would, but for subsections 181.1(2) and (4), be the corporation's tax payable under Part I.3 for its preceding taxation year, and

(b) where the corporation is associated with one or more other corporations in the particular year, the total of all amounts each of which would, but for subsections 181.1(2) and (4), be the tax payable under Part I.3 by the corporation or any such other corporation for its last taxation year ending in the preceding calendar year.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The description of B in subsection 125(5.1) of the Act is replaced by the following:

B is the amount determined by the formula

$$0.225\% \times (D - $10 \text{ million})$$

where

D is

(a) if, in both the particular taxation year and the preceding taxation year, the corporation is not associated with any corporation, the taxable capital employed in Canada (within the meaning assigned by subsection 181.2(1) or 181.3(1) or section 181.4, as the case may be) of the corporation for the preceding taxation year,

(b) if, in the particular taxation year, the corporation is not associated with any corporation but was associated with one or more corporations in the preceding taxation year, the taxable capital employed in Canada (within the meaning assigned by subsection 181.2(1) or 181.3(1) or section 181.4, as the case may be) of the corporation for the particular taxation year, or

(c) if, in the particular taxation year, the corporation is associated with one or more particular corporations, the total of all amounts each of which is the taxable capital employed in Canada (within the meaning assigned by subsection 181.2(1) or 181.3(1) or section 181.4, as the case may be) of the corporation or of any of the particular corporations for its last taxation year that ended in the preceding calendar year.

Applicable: To taxation years that begin after December 20, 2002, except that, in its application to a corporation described in subsection 181.1(3) for taxation years of the corporation that began before this Act is assented to, the description of B in subsection 125(5.1) shall be read as follows:

"

B is

(a) if, in both the particular taxation year and the preceding taxation year, the corporation is not associated with any corporation, the amount that would, but for subsections 181.1(2) and

(4), be the corporation's tax payable under Part I.3 for the preceding taxation year,

(b) if, in the particular taxation year, the corporation is not associated with any corporation but was associated with one or more corporations in the preceding taxation year, the amount that would, but for subsections 181.1(2) and (4), be the corporation's tax payable under Part I.3 for the particular taxation year, and

(c) if, in the particular taxation year, the corporation is associated with one or more particular corporations, the amount determined by the formula

$$0.225\% \times (D - E)$$

where

D is the total of all amounts each of which is the taxable capital employed in Canada (within the meaning assigned by subsection 181.2(1) or 181.3(1) or section 181.4, as the case may be) of the corporation or of any of the particular corporations for its last taxation year that ended in the preceding calendar year, and

E is $10 million."

Explanatory Note: A corporation's entitlement to the small business deduction for a particular taxation year is determined by reference to, among other things, the "business limit" of the corporation for the particular year. In broad terms, subsection 125(5.1) of the Act reduces the business limit of a corporation if tax under Part I.3 of the Act was payable by the corporation for its preceding taxation year. If the corporation is associated with one or more other corporations in the particular year, the provision takes into account the Part I.3 tax payable by it and those other corporations, in each case for their last taxation years that ended in the preceding calendar year.

Subsection 125(5.1) is amended to respond better to cases in which a corporation is associated with more, fewer or different corporations in one taxation year than in the past. Specifically, the description of B in the formula in the subsection — a description that in effect refers to an amount of tax under Part I.3 — will take one of three forms, depending on the corporation's associations in the current and, in some cases, the preceding taxation year:

- if the corporation is not associated with any other corporation in the current year, and was not associated with any other corporation in the preceding taxation year, the description of B is based on the corporation's Part I.3 tax for the preceding taxation year;
- if the corporation is not associated with any other corporation in the current year, but was so associated in the preceding taxation year, the description of B is based on the corporation's Part I.3 tax for the current year; and
- if the corporation is associated with one or more corporations in the current year, the description of B is the product of a formula that looks to the total taxable capital employed in Canada of the corporation itself and all the corporations with which it is associated in the current year, in each case for its last taxation year that ended in the preceding calendar year.

This amendment applies to taxation years that begin after December 20, 2002.

History: The formula in subsection 125(5.1) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 26(2), applicable,

(a) where a corporation is not associated with any other corporation in a particular taxation year and the corporation's preceding taxation year began after February 27, 1995, to the corporation's particular year and subsequent taxation years; and

(b) where a particular corporation is associated with one or more other corporations in a particular taxation year that ends in a calendar year and the last taxation year of the particular corporation and of each of the other corporations that ended in the preceding calendar year began after February 27, 1995, to the particular year and subsequent taxation years of the particular corporation.

The formula formerly read:

"

$$A \times \frac{B}{$10{,}000}$$

"

S. 125(5.1) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 35(2), applicable to taxation years that end after June 1994 except that, in its application to taxation years that begin before July 1994, subsection 125(5.1) shall be read as follows:

"(5.1) Notwithstanding subsections (2) to (5), a Canadian-controlled private corporation's business limit for a particular taxation year ending in a calendar year is the amount, if any, by which its business limit otherwise determined for the particular year exceeds the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times \frac{B}{$10{,}000} \times \frac{C}{D}$$

where

A is the amount that would, but for this subsection, be the corporation's business limit for the particular year;

B is

(a) where the corporation is not associated with any other corporation in the particular year, the lesser of $10,000 and the amount that would, but for subsections 181.1(2) and (4), be the corporation's tax payable under Part I.3 for its preceding taxation year, and

(b) where the corporation is associated with one or more other corporations in the particular year, the lesser of $10,000 and the total of all amounts each of which would, but for subsections 181.1(2) and (4), be the tax payable under Part I.3 by the corporation or any such other corporation for its last taxation year ending in the preceding calendar year;

C is the number of days in the particular year that are after June 1994; and

D is the number of days in the particular year."

Editorial Note: See the editorial note to subsection 125(1).

Related Sections: S. 87(2)(j.92) Subsections 125(5.1) and 157.1(1); s. 125(4) Failure to file agreement; s. 181.1(1.2) Exceptions; s. 181.5(1.1) Lower capital deduction.; s, 181.5(4.1) Lower capital deduction allocation; s. 257 Negative amounts.

Sec. 47(3), Chap. 21, 1996

(3) For the purpose of applying subsection 125(5.1) of the Act, the amount that would, but for subsections 181.1(2) and (4) of the Act, be a corporation's tax payable under Part I.3 of the Act for a taxation year that began before February 28, 1995 shall be determined without reference to the amendment made by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 47(1).

Sec. 35(4), Chap. 3, S.C. 1995

Sec. 35. [Application.]

(4) Notwithstanding any other provision of the Income Tax Act or of this Act, nothing in this section shall affect the amount of interest payable under the Income Tax Act in respect of a corporation for any period or part thereof that is before July 1994.

▶ 125(6) ◀

(6) Corporate partnerships. Where in a taxation year a corporation is a member of a particular partnership and in the year the corporation or a corporation with which it is associated in the year is a member of one or more other partnerships and it may reasonably be considered that one of the main reasons for the separate existence of the partnerships is to increase the amount of a deduction of any corporation under subsection (1), the specified partnership income of the corporation for the year shall, for the purposes of this section, be computed in respect of those partnerships as if all amounts each of which is the income of one of the partnerships for a fiscal period ending in the year from an active business carried on in Canada were nil except for the greatest of those amounts.

Editorial Note: Subsections 125(6) to (6.3) are anti-avoidance rules directed against the use of partnerships to increase entitlement to the small business deduction. Per subsection 125(6), where a corporation or associated corporation is a member of a number of partnerships and it may reasonably be considered that one of the main reasons for the separate existence of the partnerships is to increase the small business deduction, the specified partnership income is limited to the greatest income of one of the partnerships, with the remaining partnership income ignored.

Related Sections: S. 125(7), "specified partnership income".

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-458R2 Canadian-controlled private corporation.

▶ 125(6.1) ◀

(6.1) Corporation deemed member of partnership. For the purposes of this section, a corporation that is a member, or is deemed by this subsection to be a member, of a partnership that is a member of another partnership shall be deemed to be a member of the other partnership and the corporation's share of the income of the other partnership for a fiscal period shall be deemed to be equal to the amount of that income to which the corporation was directly or indirectly entitled.

Editorial Note: Subsection 125(6.1), which is part of the anti-avoidance rules in subsections 125(6) to (6.3) pertaining to partnerships and the small business deduction, is a look-through rule for tiered partnerships, such that lower-tier income is considered to be that of the upper-tier partnership.

Related Sections: S. 125(7), "specified partnership income".

► 125(6.2) ◄

(6.2) Specified partnership income deemed nil. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, where a corporation is a member of a partnership that was controlled, directly or indirectly in any manner whatever, by one or more non-resident persons, by one or more public corporations (other than a prescribed venture capital corporation) or by any combination thereof at any time in its fiscal period ending in a taxation year of the corporation, the income of the partnership for that fiscal period from an active business carried on in Canada shall, for the purposes of computing the specified partnership income of a corporation for the year, be deemed to be nil.

Editorial Note: Subsections 125(6.2) and (6.3) — part of the anti-avoidance rules in subsections 125(6) to (6.3) pertaining to partnerships and the small business deduction — are designed to impose a requirement at the partnership level which is similar to Canadian-controlled corporation status. Per subsection 125(6.2), where a corporation is a member of a partnership that is controlled by non-residents and/or public corporations at any time in its fiscal period, Canadian active business income for the purpose of computing specified partnership income (i.e., income eligible for the small business deduction) is generally deemed to be nil. (It is not clear that the control test is necessarily based on 265(5.1) (de facto control).) Subsection 125(6.3) deems a partnership to be controlled by one or more persons if the total share of the partnership income from any source for the fiscal period exceeds 50% of the income from that source.

Related Sections: S. 125(7), "specified partnership income".

► 125(6.3) ◄

(6.3) Partnership deemed to be controlled. For the purposes of subsection (6.2), a partnership shall be deemed to be controlled by one or more persons at any time if the total of the shares of that person or those persons of the income of the partnership from any source for the fiscal period of the partnership that includes that time exceeds ½ of the income of the partnership from that source for that period.

Editorial Note: See the editorial note to subsection 125(6.2).

Related Sections: S. 125(7), "specified partnership income".

► 125(7) ◄

(7) Definitions. In this section,

Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 3, Canadian-controlled private corporation.

"active business carried on by a corporation" — "active business carried on by a corporation "means any business carried on by the corporation other than a specified investment business or a personal services business and includes an adventure or concern in the nature of trade;

Cases: Income from short-term investments was income from an "active business" in a case where they had been held to satisfy the taxpayer's liquidity needs, i.e. as a "backup asset to be called on in support of" its business operations. Cornwall Gravel Co. Ltd. v. The Queen, 94 DTC 1709 (T.C.C.).

The taxpayer's income from the sale of building lots, renting a plaza and investing in mortgages and other securities was not active business income when its primary intention was to hold the plaza as an investment rather than sell it and derive business income from it. Its other investments were not required by its business, in the sense that their removal would not have put it at risk. Lake Superior Investment Ltd. v. M.N.R., 93 DTC 898 (T.C.C.).

The taxpayer earned interest on U.S. dollar deposits in the Philippines, such funds being committed to the carrying on of the taxpayer's business there. It was held that the deposits were an integral part of the business and therefore the interest earned on them was active business income. Ensite Limited v. The Queen, 86 DTC 6521 (S.C.C.), affirming 83 DTC 5315 (F.C.A.), reversing 81 DTC 5326 (F.C.T.D.).

The taxpayer disposed of its broadcasting division when its broadcasting licence was not renewed. The sale proceeds were invested in short-term securities, and substantial effort was made to obtain a maximum return. The income from these investments was active business income rather than income from property. There is a rebuttable presumption that income earned by a company incorporated for the general purpose of earning income by doing business is business income, plus the commercial reality in this case was that the company had been compelled to enter into an investment business. Canadian Marconi Co. v. The Queen, 86 DTC 6526 (S.C.C.), reversing 84 DTC 6267 (F.C.A.) and 82 DTC 6236 (F.C.T.D.).

"Canadian-controlled private corporation" — "Canadian-controlled private corporation" means a private corporation that is a Canadian corporation other than

(a) a corporation controlled, directly or indirectly in any manner whatever, by one or more non-resident persons, by one or more public corporations (other than a prescribed venture capital corporation), by one or more corporations described in paragraph (c), or by any combination of them,

(b) a corporation that would, if each share of the capital stock of a corporation that is owned by a non-resident person, by a public corporation (other than a prescribed venture capital corporation), or by a corporation described in paragraph (c) were owned by a particular person, be controlled by the particular person,

(c) a corporation a class of the shares of the capital stock of which is listed on a designated stock exchange, or

(d) in applying subsection (1), paragraphs 87(2)(vv) and (ww) (including, for greater certainty, in applying those paragraphs as provided under paragraph 88(1)(e.2)), the definitions "excessive eligible dividend designation", "general rate income pool" and "low rate income pool" in subsection 89(1) and subsections 89(4) to (6), (8) to (10) and 249(3.1), a corporation that has made an election under subsection 89(11) and that has not revoked the election under subsection 89(12);

History: S. 125(7), paragraph (c) of the definition "Canadian-controlled private corporation" was amended by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 68(2), by replacing "prescribed stock exchange" with "designated stock exchange", applicable on and after December 14, 2007 [the day on which this Act is assented to].

S. 125(7), paragraph (d) of the definition "Canadian-controlled private corporation" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 49(1), applicable to taxation years that end after 2005.

S. 125(7), the definition "Canadian-controlled private corporation" was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 113(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1999. S. 125(7), the definition "Canadian-controlled private corporation" formerly read:

" 'Canadian-controlled private corporation' — 'Canadian-controlled private corporation' means a private corporation that is a Canadian corporation other than a corporation

(a) controlled, directly or indirectly in any manner whatever, by one or more non-resident persons, by one or more public corporations (other than a prescribed venture capital corporation), or by any combination thereof,

(b) that would, if each share of the capital stock of a corporation that is owned by a non-resident person or a public corporation (other than a prescribed venture capital corporation) were owned by a particular person, be controlled by the particular person, or

(c) a class of the shares of the capital stock of which is listed on a prescribed stock exchange;"

S. 125(7), the definition of "Canadian-controlled private corporation" was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 145(2), applicable after 1995. That definition formerly read:

" 'Canadian-controlled private corporation' — ' Canadian-controlled private corporation' means a private corporation that is a Canadian corporation other than a corporation controlled, directly or indirectly in any manner whatever, by one or more non-resident persons, by one or more public corporations (other than a prescribed venture capital corporation) or by any combination thereof;"

Editoriaí Note: CCPC status is based on being both a "Canadian corporation" and a "private corporation", per subsection 89(1). Further, the corporation must not be controlled, (effectively or legally) by any combination of non-resident persons or public corporations (other than a prescribed venture capital corporation). Finally, no class of its shares can be listed on a designated stock exchange (whether Canadian or foreign). Because control is defined in the negative, a deadlock will not disqualify a corporation. If the control requirements are broken anywhere in a corporate chain, downstream companies will not be Canadian-controlled private corporations. Per paragraph (b) of the definition, non-residents' and public corporations' shareholdings must be notionally attributed to one hypothetical person. If that person would control the corporation, then the corporation is not a CCPC (paragraph (a) on its own would require a common connection between non-residents and/or public companies).

Paragraph (d) relates to the eligible dividend regime, providing that, if the corporation has elected not to be a CCPC pursuant to subsection 89(11) (so that it can pay eligible dividends "by default" — see the editorial note to subsection 89(11)), CCPC status will not apply, but only for the specific provisions listed (e.g., the small business deduction per subsection 125(1) will not be available, but the RDTOH regime will continue to apply).

Related Sections: S. 7(1.1) Employee stock options; s. 7(8) Deferral in respect of non-CCPC employee options; s. 39(1)(c) Meaning of capital gain and capital loss; s. 44.1(1), "eligible small business corporation"; s. 89(1), "Canadian corporation", "eligible dividend", "excessive eligible dividend designation", "general rate income pool", "low rate income pool", "private corporation", "public corporation"; s. 89(1.1) Capital dividend account where control acquired; s. 89(4) GRIP addition — becoming CCPC–89(15) Meaning of expression "deposit insurance corporation"; s. 110.6(1), "qualified small business corporation share"; s. 123.3 Refundable tax on CCPC's investment income; s. 123.4 Corporate tax reductions; s. 125(1) Small business deduction; s. 125(5) Special rules for business limit; s. 125.1(1) Manufacturing and processing profits deductions; s. 127 Logging tax deduction; s. 127.1 Refundable investment tax credit; s. 129(3) Definition of "refundable dividend tax on hand"; s. 129(3.1) Application; s. 152(3.1) Definition of "normal reassessment period"; s. 157(1.1) Special case; s. 157(1.2) Small-CCPC; s. 181.5(7) Related corporations that are not associated; s. 185.2(3) Joint and several liability from excessive dividend designations; s. 248(1), "balance-due day", "small business corporation"; s. 249(3.1) Year end on status change; s. 251(5) Control by related groups, options, etc; s. 256(2) Corporations associated through a third corporation; s. 256(6.1) Simultaneous control.

Regulations: 6700.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-458R2 Canadian-controlled private corporation. Secondary — IT-113R4 Benefits to employees — Stock options; IT-484R2 Business investment losses.

Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 25, Silicon Graphics Ltd. v. The Queen; Issue No. 16, Parthenon Investments Limited v. The Queen.

Tax Topics: No. 1692, Income Tax Implications of Buy-Sell Provisions.

Tax Profile: April 2006 — Concept of Control.

Cases: The taxpayer was a CCPC although all of its shares were owned by a public corporation. The public corporation did not control the taxpayer because it was controlled by individual Canadian residents. Paragraph (b) of the CCPC definition does not require an attribution of share ownership to a single hypothetical shareholder, where all of the shares are already owned by a single shareholder. Perfect Fry Company Ltd. v. The Queen, 2008 DTC 6472 (F.C.A.), affirming 2007 DTC 588 (T.C.C.).

"income of the corporation for the year from an active business" — "income of the corporation for the year from an active business" means the total of

(a) the corporation's income for the year from an active business carried on by it including any income for the year pertaining to or incident to that business, other than income for the year from a source in Canada that is a property (within the meaning assigned by subsection 129(4)), and

(b) the amount, if any, included under subsection 12(10.2) in computing the corporation's income for the year;

History: S. 125(7), paragraph (a) of the definition "income of the corporation for the year from an active business", was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 26(3), applicable to taxation years that end after June 1995. That paragraph formerly read:

"(a) the corporation's income for the year from an active business carried on by it including any income for the year pertaining to or incident to that business, other than income for the year from a source in Canada that is a property (within the meaning assigned by subsection 129(4.1)), and"

The definition of "income for the corporation for the year from an active business" in s. 125(7) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 63(3), applicable to the 1991 and subsequent taxation years. S. 125(7)(c) formerly read:

"(c) 'income of the corporation for the year from an active business' means the income of the corporation for the year from an active business carried on by it including any income for the year pertaining to or incident to that business, but does not include income for the year from a source in Canada that is a property (within the meaning assigned by subsection 129(4.1));"

"personal services business" — "personal services business" carried on by a corporation in a taxation year means a business of providing services where

(a) an individual who performs services on behalf of the corporation (in this definition and paragraph 18(1)(p) referred to as an "incorporated employee"), or

(b) any person related to the incorporated employee is a specified shareholder of the corporation and the incorporated employee would reasonably be regarded as an officer or employee of the person or partnership to whom or to which the services were provided but for the existence of the corporation, unless

(c) the corporation employs in the business throughout the year more than five full-time employees, or

(d) the amount paid or payable to the corporation in the year for the services is received or receivable by it from a corporation with which it was associated in the year;

Editorial Note: A personal services business is denied the small business rate, and deductions are severely curtailed (see paragraph 18(1)(p)). It involves an individual providing services through his or her corporation to a would-be employer. If, but for the service company, the individual would reasonably have employee status, the provision applies, provided that the individual or a related person is a "specified shareholder" (per subsection 248(1)) of the service company. (Basically, this requires at least 10% of any class of shares counting those held by non-arm's length persons.) Exceptions apply if throughout the year the corporation employs more than five full-time employees or if the services are provided to an associated corporation. See 489599 B.C. Ltd. v. The Queen in "Cases" below.

The applicable corporate tax rate should be the general business rate rather than the higher corporate rate applying to investment-type income. A CCPC would generate a GRIP account and could thus pay eligible dividends.

Related Sections: S. 18(1)(p) Limitation re personal services business expenses; s. 125(1) Small business deduction; s. 248(1), "specified shareholder"; s. 251(2) Definition of "related persons"; s. 256(1) Associated corporations.

Tax Topics: No. 1784, One Step Too Far by the Court?.

Canadian Tax Foundation: Magee, "Personal Services Businesses, Personal Tax Planning Feature", 2007 Canadian Tax Journal, No. 1, 160.

Cases: The phrase "more than five full-time employees" does not mean "at least six full-time employees". It can mean five full-time employees plus one or more part-time employees. 489599 B.C. Ltd. v. The Queen, 2008 DTC 4107 (T.C.C.).

A taxpayer was not carrying on a personal services business and she qualified for the small business deduction when she entered into two management agreements with two partnerships of which she was a partner. Given the lack of control, the presence of remuneration risk, the provision of her own work place and the fact that she was providing a total management service, she could not be considered as being under a contract of service with the partnerships and, as a partner, she could hardly be considered as an employee or officer. Crestglen Investments Limited v. M.N.R., 93 DTC 462 (T.C.C.).

However, a corporation providing construction cost appraisal services which were in fact rendered by its president and principal shareholder, ML, was considered to operate a "personal services business" where the tests used to distinguish between an employee and a self-employed worker led to the conclusion that ML could reasonably be regarded as an officer or employee of the corporation. Placements Marcel Lapointe Inc. v. M.N.R., 93 DTC 821 (T.C.C.).

Revenue Canada has attacked many cases where personal services were provided by a corporation in years prior to the change in the definition of "active business". Such attacks were generally made on the ground that the corporation was a sham. However, the F.C.A. has held that to ignore the corporate structure was to ignore the legal realities of the situation and further held that the corporation was not "sham" even though the sole purpose of the corporation was the reduction of tax. The Queen v. Parsons, 84 DTC 6345.

"specified investment business" — "specified investment business" carried on by a corporation in a taxation year means a business (other than a business carried on by a credit union or a business of leasing property other than real property) the principal purpose of which is to derive income (including interest, dividends, rents and royalties) from property but, except where the corporation was a prescribed labour-sponsored venture capital corporation at any time in the year, does not include a business carried on by the corporation in the year where

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 3 — Amendments Relating to Bijuralism — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of the definition "specified investment business" in subsection 125(7) of the Act before paragraph (a) is replaced by the following:

"specified investment business" — "specified investment business", carried on by a corporation in a taxation year, means a business (other than a business carried on by a credit union or a business of leasing property other than real or immovable property) the principal purpose of which is to derive income (including interest, dividends, rents and royalties) from property but, except where the corporation was a prescribed labour-sponsored venture capital corporation at any time in the year, does not include a business carried on by the corporation in the year where

Applicable: Royal Assent.

Explanatory Note: [See the Explanatory Note re amendments related to bijuralism following the amendment to paragraph 12(1)(o).]

(a) the corporation employs in the business throughout the year more than 5 full-time employees, or

(b) any other corporation associated with the corporation provides, in the course of carrying on an active business, managerial, administrative, financial, maintenance or other similar services to the corporation in the year and the corporation could reasonably be expected to require more than 5 full-time employees if those services had not been provided;

History: S. 125(7), the definition of "specified investment business" was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 145(3), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years. That definition formerly read;

"'specified investment business' — 'specified investment business' carried on by a corporation in a taxation year means a business (other than a business carried on by a credit union or a business of leasing property other than real property) the principal purpose of which is to derive income from property (including interest, dividends, rents or royalties), unless

(a) the corporation employs in the business throughout the year more than five full-time employees, or

(b) in the course of carrying on an active business, any other corporation associated with it provides managerial, administrative, financial, maintenance or other similar services to the corporation in the year and the corporation could reasonably be expected to require more than five full-time employees if those services had not been provided;"

Editorial Note: Income from a "specified investment business" is not eligible for the small business deduction but instead attracts "investment rates"/refundable tax treatment if earned by a CCPC. This refers to a business whose principal purpose is to derive income from property, including interest, dividends, rents or royalties, but excluding non-real-estate leasing. Two ordinarily-applicable exceptions arise where the corporation employs throughout the year more than five full-time employees (see Cases below), or where an associated corporation provides managerial administrative, financial, maintenance or other services, but for which the corporation could reasonably be expected to require more than five full-time employees.

Related Sections: S. 95(1), "investment business"; s. 95(2.5), "specified deposit"; s. 125(7), "active business carried on by a corporation"; s. 129(4), "income or loss"; s. 248(1), "active business", "specified business".

Regulations: 6701.

Forms: T2 SCH 7; T2 SCH 70.

Cases: The phrase "more than five full-time employees" does not mean "at least six full-time employees". It can mean five full-time employees plus one or more part-time employees. 489599 B.C. Ltd. v. The Queen, 2008 DTC 4107 (T.C.C.).

Working 20 hours per week does not constitute full-time employment for the purpose of the definition of "specified investment business". The test set out in Ben Raedarc Holdings Limited v. The Queen (98 DTC 1218) (T.C.C.) is too narrow and subjective. Baker et al. v. The Queen, 2005 DTC 5266 (F.C.A.), affirming 2004 DTC 2833 (T.C.C.).

A taxpayer who employed two full-time employees and shared the expenses of 15 others through co-ownership arrangements was considered a specified investment business and denied a small business deduction. Lerric Investments Corp. v. The Queen, 2001 DTC 5169 (F.C.A.), affirming 99 DTC 756 (T.C.C.).

"specified partnership income" — "specified partnership income" of a corporation for a taxation year means the amount determined by the formula

$$A + B$$

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount in respect of a partnership of which the corporation was a member in the year equal to the lesser of

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount in respect of an active business carried on in Canada by the corporation as a member of the partnership determined by the formula

$$G - H$$

where

G is the total of all amounts each of which is the corporation's share of the income (determined in accordance with subdivision j of Division B) of the partnership for a fiscal period of the business that ends in the year or an amount included in the corporation's income for the year from the business because of subsection 34.2(5), and

H is the total of all amounts deducted in computing the corporation's income for the year from the business (other than amounts that were deducted in computing the income of the partnership from the business), and

(b) the amount determined by the formula

$$K/L \times M$$

where

K is the total of all amounts each of which is the corporation's share of the income (determined in accordance with subdivision j of Division B) of the partnership for a fiscal period ending in the year from an active business carried on in Canada

L is the total of all amounts each of which is the income of the partnership for a fiscal period referred to in paragraph (a) from an active business carried on in Canada, and

M is the lesser of

(i) $500,000, and

(ii) the product obtained when $1,370 is multiplied by the total of all amounts each of which is the number of days in a fiscal period of the partnership that ends in the year, and

B is the lesser of

(a) the total of the amounts determined in respect of the corporation for the year under subparagraphs (1)(a)(iii) and (iv), and

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount in respect of a partnership of which the corporation was a member in the year equal to the amount determined by the formula

N – O

where

N is the amount determined in respect of the partnership for the year under paragraph (a) of the description of A, and

O is the amount determined in respect of the partnership for the year under paragraph (b) of the description of A;

History: S. 125(7), the description of M in the definition "specified partnership income" was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 39(4), applicable to fiscal periods of a partnership that end after 2008. S. 125(7), the description of M in the definition "specified partnership income" formerly read:

"M is the lesser of

(i) $400,000, and

(ii) the product obtained when $1,096 is multiplied by the total of all amounts each of which is the number of days in a fiscal period of the partnership that ends in the year, and

"

S. 125(7), the description of M in the definition "specified partnership income" was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 33(5), applicable to partnership fiscal periods that end after 2006.

S. 125(7), the description of M in the definition "specified partnership income" formerly read:

"M is the lesser of

(i) $300,000, and

(ii) the product obtained when $822 is multiplied by the total of all amounts each of which is the number of days in a fiscal period of the partnership that ends in the year, and"

S. 125(7), the application of the amendment to the description of M in the definition "specified partnership income" in subsection 125(7) in S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 79(4) was replaced by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 56(3) and (4), deemed to have come into force on June 19, 2003. The application phased-in the increase in the business limit for the small business deduction and this increase to $300,000 has been accelerated by one year. As a result, the amendment to the description of M in the definition "specified partnership income" in subsection 125(7) regarding the increase in the business limit is applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years except that for taxation years that begin before 2005 the references in the description of M to "$300,000" and "$822", are to be read,

(a) for fiscal periods of a partnership that end in a corporation's 2003 taxation year, as "$225,000" and "$617", respectively; and

(b) for fiscal periods of a partnership that end in a corporation's 2004 taxation year, as "$250,000" and "$685", respectively.

S. 125(7), the description of M in the definition "specified partnership income" was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 79(2), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years except that, for taxation years that begin before 2006, the references in the description of M to "$300,000" and "$822", are to be read,

(a) for fiscal periods of a partnership that end in a corporation's 2003 taxation year, as "$225,000" and "$617", respectively;

(b) for fiscal periods of a partnership that end in a corporation's 2004 taxation year, as "$250,000" and "$685", respectively; and

(c) for fiscal periods of a partnership that end in a corporation's 2005 taxation year, as "$275,000" and "$754", respectively.

S. 125(7), the description of M in the definition "specified partnership income" formerly read:

"M is the lesser of

(i) $200,000, and

(ii) the product obtained when $548 is multiplied by the total of all amounts each of which is the number of days contained in a fiscal period of the partnership ending in the year, and"

S. 125(7), the description of G in the definition "specified partnership income", was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 26(4), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years. That portion formerly read:

"G is the total of all amounts each of which is the corporation's share of the income (determined in accordance with subdivision j of Division B) of the partnership for a fiscal period ending in the year from the business, and"

S. 125(7), paragraph (a) of the description of A in the definition "specified partnership income" was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 100(1), applicable to the 1985 and subsequent taxation years. S. 125(7), paragraph (a) of the description of A, formerly read:

"(a) the total of all amounts each of which is the corporation's share of the income (determined in accordance with subdivision j of Division B) of the partnership for a fiscal period ending in the year from an active business carried on in Canada by it as a member of the partnership, and"

The description of K in the definition of "specified partnership income" in s. 125(7) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 100(2), applicable to the 1985 and subsequent taxation years. The description of K in the definition of "specified partnership income" in s. 125(7) formerly read:

"K is the amount determined under paragraph (a),"

Editorial Note: A corporation's partnership income is eligible for the small business deduction only to the extent it is "specified partnership income". For each partnership, a ceiling on specified partnership income is generally based on the proportion of the small business limit (i.e., $500,000, per the 2009 federal Budget) that the corporation's share of the partnership income is to total partnership income from Canadian active businesses (paragraph (b) of the description of A), with a proportionately smaller amount for short partnership fiscal periods (subparagraph (ii) of the description of M). A lower eligible share will apply if the partnership income from Canadian active businesses, net of partner-level deductions in respect of such partnership businesses, is lower than the foregoing formula (paragraph (a) of the description of A). To the extent that the corporation's share of a partnership's income from Canadian active businesses exceeds the specified partnership income, and the corporation incurs losses from Canadian active businesses, directly or as "specified partnership losses" of other partnerships, the specified partnership income will be increased by the amount of the losses (the description of B). S. 125(6)–(6.3) contain anti-avoidance rules pertaining to corporate partnerships, including the proliferation of partnerships to avoid the above limitations, as well as partnerships controlled by non-residents and or public corporations.

Related Sections: S. 125(1) Small business deduction; s. 125(6) Corporate partnerships; s. 125(6.1) Corporation deemed member of partnership; s. 125(6.2) Specified partnership income deemed nil; s. 125(6.3) Partnership deemed to be controlled; s. 125(7), "specified partnership loss"; s. 257 Negative amounts.

"specified partnership loss" — "specified partnership loss" of a corporation for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which is an amount in respect of a partnership of which the corporation was a member in the year determined by the formula

A + B

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is the corporation's share of the loss (determined in accordance with subdivision j of Division B) of the partnership for a fiscal period ending in the year from an active business carried on in Canada by the corporation as a member of the partnership, and

B is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined by the formula

G – H

where

G is the amount determined for H in the definition "specified partnership income" in this subsection for the year in respect of the corporation's income from an active business carried on in Canada by the corporation as a member of the partnership, and

H is the amount determined for G in the definition "specified partnership income" in this subsection for the year in respect of the corporation's share of the income from the business.

History: The definition of "specified partnership loss" in s. 125(7) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 100(3), applicable to the 1985 and subsequent taxation years. The definition of "specified partnership loss" in s. 125(7) formerly read:

" 'specified partnership loss' — 'specified partnership loss' of a corporation for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which is an amount in respect of a partnership of which the corporation was a member in the year equal to the corporation's share of a loss (determined in accordance with subdivision j of Division B) of the partnership for a fiscal period ending in the year from an active business carried on in Canada by it as a member of the partnership."

Editorial Note: For each partnership, "specified partnership loss" is comprised of the corporation's share of partnership losses from Canadian active businesses [the description of A], and an additional amount where the partner-level deductions in respect of the partnership's Canadian active businesses exceeds partnership income from such businesses [the description of B]. Unlike "specified partnership income", the specified partnership loss is not subject to a ceiling based on the annual business limit, nor is there any proration for a short partnership year. Specified partnership losses may reduce the amount eligible for the small business deduction (per subparagraph 125(1)(a)(iv)) and increase the corporation's specified partnership income (per paragraph (a) of the description of B of the definition).

Related Sections: S. 125(1) Small business deduction; s. 125(6) Corporate partnerships; s. 125(6.1) Corporation deemed member of partnership; s. 125(6.2) Specified partnership income deemed nil; s. 125(6.3) Partnership deemed to be controlled; s. 125(7), "specified partnership income"; s. 257 Negative amounts.

► 125(8) ◄

(8) Rules applicable. [Repealed by 1984, c. 45, s. 40(1).]

► 125(8.1) ◄

(8.1) Adjustments to the cumulative deduction account. [Repealed by 1984, c. 45, s. 40(1).]

► 125(8.2) ◄

(8.2) Idem. [Repealed by 1984, c. 45, s. 40(1).]

► 125(8.3) ◄

(8.3) Idem. [Repealed by 1984, c. 45, s. 40(1).]

► 125(8.4) ◄

(8.4) Idem. [Repealed by 1984, c. 45, s. 40(1).]

► 125(8.5) ◄

(8.5) Idem. [Repealed by 1984, c. 45, s. 40(1).]

► 125(8.6) ◄

(8.6) Idem. [Repealed by 1983-84, c. 1, s. 69(10).]

► 125(9) ◄

(9) Definitions. [Repealed by 1984, c. 45, s. 40(1).]

► 125(9.1) ◄

(9.1) Business connected. [Repealed by 1984, c. 45, s. 40(1).]

► 125(10) ◄

(10) Where corporation a member of a partnership. [Repealed by 1984, c. 45, s. 40(1).]

► 125(11) ◄

(11) Where corporation deemed to employ more than five full-time employees. [Repealed by 1984, c. 45, s. 40(1).]

► 125(12) ◄

(12) Definitions. [Repealed by 1980-81-82-83, c. 140, s. 86(16).]

► 125(13) ◄

(13) Connected partnerships. [Repealed by 1984, c. 45, s. 40(1).]

► 125(14) ◄

(14) Idem. [Repealed by 1984, c. 45, s. 40(1).]

► 125(15) ◄

(15) Appeal. [Repealed by 1984, c. 45, s. 40(1).]

SECTION 125.1:

► 125.1(1) ◄

(1) Manufacturing and processing profits deductions. There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable under this Part by a corporation for a taxation year an amount equal to the corporation's general rate reduction percentage for the taxation year (within the meaning assigned by subsection 123.4(1)) multiplied by the lesser of

(a) the amount, if any, by which the corporation's Canadian manufacturing and processing profits for the year exceed, where the corporation was a Canadian-controlled private corporation throughout the year, the least of the amounts determined under paragraphs 125(1)(a) to (c) in respect of the corporation for the year, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which the corporation's taxable income for the year exceeds the total of

(i) where the corporation was a Canadian-controlled private corporation throughout the year, the least of the amounts determined under paragraphs 125(1)(a) to (c) in respect of the corporation for the year,

(ii) $^{10}/_{4}$ of the total of the amounts that would be deductible under subsection 126(2) from the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by the corporation if those amounts were determined without reference to section 123.4, and

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subparagraph 125.1(1)(b)(ii) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(ii) three times the total of the amounts that would be deductible under subsection 126(2) from the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by the corporation if those amounts were determined without reference to section 123.4, and

Applicable: To the 2003 and subsequent taxation years.

Explanatory Note:

Manufacturing and Processing Profits Deduction

Subsection 125.1(1) of the Act provides the basic rules for the calculation of a corporation's manufacturing and processing profits deduction. The deduction for a given taxation year is the lesser of two amounts, one of which is the corporation's taxable income less certain other amounts. One of these other amounts, described in subparagraph 125.1(1)(b)(ii), is the grossed up amount of the corporation's foreign tax credits (FTCs) for the year in respect of foreign businesses. Currently, the corporation's FTCs are grossed up by a factor of 10/4, which assumes this income was subject to tax at a rate of 40%.

Subparagraph 125.1(1)(b)(ii) is amended to adjust this factor to reflect recent reductions to income tax rates. The new factor will be 3, which implies an assumed tax rate of 33.3% on foreign source business income.

This amendment applies to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years.

(iii) where the corporation was a Canadian-controlled private corporation throughout the year, its aggregate investment income for the year (within the meaning assigned by subsection 129(4)).

History: S. 125.1(1), the portion before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 74(1), in force on Royal Assent, June 22, 2006.

S. 125.1(1), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"S. 125.1. (1) Manufacturing and processing profits deductions. There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable under this Part by a corporation for a taxation year an amount equal to 7% of the lesser of"

S. 125.1(1)(b)(ii) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 114(1), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 125.1(1)(b)(ii) formerly read:

"(ii) 10/4 of the total of amounts deducted under subsection 126(2) from the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by the corporation, and"

S. 125.1(1)(b)(iii) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 27(1), applicable to taxation years that end after June 1995. S. 125.1(1)(b)(iii) formerly read:

"(iii) where the corporation was a Canadian-controlled private corporation throughout the year, the amount determined under clause 129(3)(a)(i)(B) in respect of the corporation for the year."

S. 125.1(1), that portion preceding paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 64(1), applicable to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to taxation years commencing before 1994, the reference in subsection 125.1(1) of the Act to "7%" shall be read as a reference to the total of

(a) that proportion of 5% that the number of days in the year that are before 1993 is of the number of days in the year,

(b) that proportion of 6% that the number of days in the year that are in 1993 is of the number of days in the year, and

(c) that proportion of 7% that the number of days in the year that are after 1993 is of the number of days in the year.

S. 125.1(1), that portion preceding paragraph (a), formerly read:

"(1) Deduction re manufacturing and processing profits. There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable under this Part by a corporation for a taxation year an amount equal to 5% of the lesser of"

Related Sections: S. 110.5 Additions for foreign tax deductions; s. 125(7) Definitions.

Regulations: Part LII; 5200; 5201.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-145R (Consolid.) Canadian manufacturing and processing profits — Reduced rate of corporate tax. Secondary — IT-92R2 Income of contractors.

Forms: T2 SCH 27; T2 SCH 426; T2 SCH 404; T2 SCH 440; T2 SCH 320; T2 SCH 300.

Cases: A taxpayer was not entitled to the M&P tax credit and ITCs it had claimed in respect of an asphalt plant which had been acquired primarily for the purpose of producing asphalt for use in its paving contracts, which were essentially contracts for work and materials. Will-Kare Paving & Contracting Limited v. The Queen, 2000 DTC 6467 (S.C.C.), affirming 98 DTC 6203 (F.C.A.) and 97 DTC 506 (T.C.C.).

The taxpayer's activities involving the replacement of parts of a customer's hydraulic systems with parts it itself manufactured did not constitute the manufacture of goods for sale since, in common law, "for sale" does not mean "for use in a repair process" and no commercial person would say that manufacture of parts to be used to repair a customer's defective equipment is a manufacture of those parts for sale. The Queen v. Coopers & Lybrand Ltd., 94 DTC 6541 (F.C.A.), reversing 92 DTC 6453 (F.C.T.D.), affirming unreported (T.C.C.).

When a corporation's business involved using data supplied by its customers to make images of sections of the earth on "seismic sections" from which it produced output tapes for them, it was in reality processing the raw information received from them and such processing could not be equated with the processing or manufacturing of goods. The Queen v. Veritas Seismic (1987) Ltd., 94 DTC 6123 (F.C.A.).

A manufacturer of modular buildings was allowed to include in the "cost of manufacturing and processing labour" and "cost of labour" amounts paid to its subcontractors, other than plumbers and electricians. The unpredictable market demands for production experienced by the taxpayer required it to engage the subcontractors who performed the same services for the taxpayer as those performed by its own employees. NRB Inc. v. M.N.R., 93 DTC 295 (T.C.C.).

The demolition activities carried on by a taxpayer with a view to selling a portion of the materials found at its demolition sites constituted "processing" where important transformation work was required with respect to the steel, wood, and bricks obtained at the demolition sites, in order to render them fit for sale. Démolition A.M. de l'Est du Québec Inc. v. M.N.R., 93 DTC 889 (T.C.C.).

A corporate taxpayer engaged in providing diamond drilling services to its customers in the mining industry, primarily in the form of drilling core samples, was not manufacturing or processing goods for "sale or lease" but was providing drilling services when its customers never received possession of any of the products involved which were either consumed in the drilling process or returned to the taxpayer for future use or recycling. Germac Enterprises Ltd. v. The Queen, 93 DTC 1466 (T.C.C.).

Rebuilding aircraft engines that retained their identity through the process did not constitute "manufacturing or processing goods for sale". Rolls-Royce (Canada) Ltd. v. The Queen, 93 DTC 5031 (F.C.A.), affirming 91 DTC 5579 (F.C.T.D.).

A manufacturer of electronic equipment disposed of a broadcasting division when its licence was not renewed. The proceeds were invested in short-term securities, and effort was made to obtain a maximum return. The income from these investments was Canadian manufacturing and processing profits. There is a presumption that income earned by a company incorporated for the purpose of earning income by doing business is business income. The commercial reality in this case was that the company had been compelled to enter into an investment business. Canadian Marconi Co. v. The Queen, 86 DTC 6526 (S.C.C.), reversing 84 DTC 6267 (F.C.A.).

► 125.1(2) ◄

(2) Electrical energy and steam. A corporation that generates electrical energy for sale, or produces steam for sale, in a taxation year may deduct from its tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year an amount equal to the corporation's general rate reduction percentage for the taxation year (within the meaning assigned by subsection 123.4(1)) multiplied by the amount determined by the formula

$$A - B$$

where

A is the amount, if any, that would, if the definition "manufacturing or processing" in subsection (3), and in subsection 1104(9) of the Income Tax Regulations, were read without reference to paragraph (h) of those definitions (other than for the purpose of applying section 5201 of the Income Tax Regulations) and if subsection (5) applied for the purpose of subsection (1), be the lesser of

(a) the amount determined under paragraph (1)(a) in respect of the corporation for the year, and

(b) the amount determined under paragraph (1)(b) in respect of the corporation for the year; and

B is the amount, if any, that is the lesser of

(a) the amount determined under paragraph (1)(a) in respect of the corporation for the year, and

(b) the amount determined under paragraph (1)(b) in respect of the corporation for the year.

History: S. 125.1(2), the portion before the formula was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 74(2), in force on Royal Assent, June 22, 2006.

S. 125.1(2), the portion before the formula formerly read:

"(2) Electrical energy and steam. A corporation that generates electrical energy for sale, or produces steam for sale, in a taxation year may deduct from its tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year 7% of the amount determined by the formula"

S. 125.1(2), the portion before the formula was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 114(1), applicable to taxation years that end after 1999 except that, in its application to such a taxation year that begins before 2002, the reference to "7%" in subsection 125.1(2) of the Act shall be read as a reference to the total of

(a) 0% multiplied by the number of days in the year that are before 1999,

(b) in the case of a corporation that in 1999 generated electrical energy for sale, or produced steam for use in the generation of electrical energy for sale, that proportion of 1% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in the 1999 calendar year is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(c) in the case of a corporation to which paragraph (b) does not apply, 0% multiplied by the number of days in the taxation year that are in the 1999 calendar year,

(d) that proportion of 3% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in the 2000 calendar year is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(e) that proportion of 5% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in the 2001 calendar year is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(f) that proportion of 7% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in the 2002 calendar year is of the number of days in the taxation year, and

(g) that proportion of 7% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in the 2003 calendar year is of the number of days in the taxation year.

S. 125.1(2), the portion before the formula formerly read:

"(2) Generating electrical energy for sale. A corporation that generates electrical energy for sale, or produces steam for use in the generation of electrical energy for sale, in a taxation year may deduct from its tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year 7% of the amount determined by the formula"

S. 125.1(2) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 34(1), applicable to taxation years that end after 1998 except that, in its application to such a taxation year that begins before 2002, the reference to "7%" in subsection 125.1(2) of the Act shall be read as a reference to the total of

(a) 0% multiplied by the number of days in the year that are before 1999,

(b) that proportion of "1%" that the number of days in the taxation year that are in the year is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(c) that proportion of "3%" that the number of days in the taxation year that are in the 2000 calendar year is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(d) that proportion of "5%" that the number of days in the taxation year that are in the 2001 calendar year is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(e) that proportion of "7%" that the number of days in the taxation year that are in the 2002 calendar year is of the number of days in the taxation year, and

(f) that proportion of "7%" that the number of days in the taxation year that are in the 2003 calendar year is of the number of days in the taxation year.

► 125.1(3) ◄

(3) Definitions. In this section,

"Canadian manufacturing and processing profits" — "Canadian manufacturing and processing profits" of a corporation for a taxation year means such portion of the total of all amounts each of which is the income of the corporation for the year from an active business carried on in Canada as is determined under rules prescribed for that purpose by regulation made on the recommendation of the Minister of Finance to be applicable to the manufacturing or processing in Canada of goods for sale or lease;

Regulations: Part LII.

Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 8, Pre-delivery service of new vehicles Interpretation Bulletin IT-145R.

Cases: Because the taxpayer made a tax overpayment out of profits earned in its business, when it received a tax refund, such refund represented a return of money that was intended for use in its business. Hence, the refund interest was active business income, and had to be included in its "adjusted business income" for MPP tax credit purposes. The Queen v. Irving Oil Limited, 2002 DTC 6716 (F.C.A.), affirming 2000 DTC 2164 (T.C.C.).

"manufacturing or processing" — "manufacturing or processing" does not include

(a) farming or fishing,

(b) logging,

(c) construction,

(d) operating an oil or gas well or extracting petroleum or natural gas from a natural accumulation of petroleum or natural gas,

(e) extracting minerals from a mineral resource,

(f) processing

(i) ore (other than iron ore or tar sands ore) from a mineral resource located in Canada to any stage that is not beyond the prime metal stage or its equivalent,

(ii) iron ore from a mineral resource located in Canada to any stage that is not beyond the pellet stage or its equivalent, or

(iii) tar sands ore from a mineral resource located in Canada to any stage that is not beyond the crude oil stage or its equivalent,

(g) producing industrial minerals,

(h) producing or processing electrical energy or steam, for sale,

(i) processing natural gas as part of the business of selling or distributing gas in the course of operating a public utility,

(j) processing heavy crude oil recovered from a natural reservoir in Canada to a stage that is not beyond the crude oil stage or its equivalent,

(k) Canadian field processing, or

(l) any manufacturing or processing of goods for sale or lease, if, for any taxation year of a corporation in respect of which the expression is being applied, less than 10% of its gross revenue from all active businesses carried on in Canada was from

(i) the selling or leasing of goods manufactured or processed in Canada by it, and

(ii) the manufacturing or processing in Canada of goods for sale or lease, other than goods for sale or lease by it.

History: S. 125.1(3), paragraphs (d) to (k) of the definition "manufacturing or processing", were amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 33(1), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1996. Those paragraphs formerly read:

"(d) operating an oil or gas well, extracting petroleum or natural gas from a natural accumulation thereof or processing heavy crude oil recovered from a natural reservoir in Canada to a stage that is not beyond the crude oil stage or its equivalent,

(e) extracting minerals from a mineral resource,

(f) processing ore (other than iron ore or tar sands) from a mineral resource located in Canada to any stage that is not beyond the prime metal stage or its equivalent,

(g) processing iron ore from a mineral resource located in Canada to any stage that is not beyond the pellet stage or its equivalent,

(h) processing tar sands from a mineral resource located in Canada to any stage that is not beyond the crude oil stage or its equivalent,

(i) producing industrial minerals other than sulphur produced by processing natural gas,

(j) producing or processing electrical energy or steam, for sale,

(k) processing gas, if such gas is processed as part of the business of selling or distributing gas in the course of operating a public utility, or"

S. 125.1(3), paragraphs (f) to (h) of the definition "manufacturing or processing", were amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 101(1), applicable to the 1990 and subsequent taxation years. Those paragraphs formerly read:

"(f) processing ore (other than iron ore or tar sands) from a mineral resource to any stage that is not beyond the prime metal stage or its equivalent,

(g) processing iron ore from a mineral resource to any stage that is not beyond the pellet stage or its equivalent,

(h) processing tar sands to any stage that is not beyond the crude oil stage or its equivalent,"

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-411R Meaning of "construction".

Cases: The taxpayer's activities gathering, processing and providing information for wells drilled for oil and gas in Canada did not constitute manufacturing or processing, since information was not "goods" within the meaning of s. 125.1; the only "goods" involved (the tapes and microfiches) served simply as the medium on which the information was copied and their sale or lease was not the real source of the taxpayer's income. The Queen v. International Petrodata Inc., 95 DTC 5335 (F.C.A.), reversing 93 DTC 110 (T.C.C.).

When a corporation's business involved using data supplied by its customers to make images of sections of the earth on "seismic sections" from which it produced output tapes for them, it was in reality processing the raw information received from them. Such processing could not be equated with the processing or manufacturing of goods. The Queen v. Veritas Seismic (1987) Ltd., 94 DTC 6123 (F.C.A.).

► 125.1(4) ◄

(4) Determination of gross revenue. For the purposes of paragraph (l) of the definition "manufacturing or processing" in subsection (3), where a corporation was a member of a partnership at any time in a taxation year,

(a) there shall be included in the gross revenue of the corporation for the year from all active businesses carried on in Canada, that proportion of the gross revenue from each such business carried on in Canada by means of the partnership, for the fiscal period of the partnership coinciding with or ending in that year, that the corporation's share of the income of the partnership from that business for that fiscal period is of the income of the partnership from that business for that fiscal period; and

(b) there shall be included in the gross revenue of the corporation for the year from all activities described in subparagraphs (l)(i) and (ii) of the definition "manufacturing or processing" in subsection (3), that proportion of the gross revenue from each such activity engaged in in the course of a business carried on by means of the partnership, for the fiscal period of the partnership coinciding with or ending in that year, that the corporation's share of the income of the partnership from that business for that fiscal period is of the income of the partnership from that business for that fiscal period.

► 125.1(5) ◄

(5) Interpretation. For the purpose of the description of A in subsection (2) and for the purpose of applying the Income Tax Regulations (other than section 5201 of the Regulations) to that subsection other than the description of B,

(a) electrical energy and steam are deemed to be goods; and

(b) the generation of electrical energy for sale, and the production of steam for sale, are deemed to be, subject to paragraph (l) of the definition "manufacturing or processing" in subsection (3), manufacturing or processing.

History: Ss. 125.1(5)(a) and (b) were amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 114(3), applicable to taxation years that end after 1999. Ss. 125.5(5)(a) and (b) formerly read:

"(a) electrical energy is deemed to be a good; and (b) the generation of electrical energy for sale, or the production of steam for use in the generation of electrical energy for sale, is deemed to be, subject to paragraph (l) of the definition 'manufacturing or processing' in subsection (3), manufacturing or processing."

S. 125.1(5) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 34(1), applicable to taxation years that end after 1998.

SECTION 125.11: [Corporate Rate Reductions for Resource Income].

► 125.11(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. [Repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 13(2).]

History: S. 125.11(1), the portion before the definition "resource rate reduction percentage" was repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 13(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 2006. S. 125.11(1), the portion before the definition "resource rate reduction percentage" formerly read:

"(1) Definitions. The following definitions apply in section 123.4 and this section."

"resource rate reduction percentage" — [Repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 13(2).]

History: S. 125.11(1), the definition "resource rate reduction percentage" was repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 13(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 2006. S. 125.11(1), the definition "resource rate reduction percentage" formerly read:

"'resource rate reduction percentage' — 'resource rate reduction percentage', of a corporation for a taxation year, is the total of

(a) that proportion of 1% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2003 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(b) that proportion of 2% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2004 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(c) that proportion of 3% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2005 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(d) that proportion of 5% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2006 is of the number of days in the taxation year, and

(e) that proportion of 7% that the number of days in the taxation year that are after 2006 is of the number of days in the taxation year."

S. 125.11(1), the definition "resource rate reduction percentage" was added by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 13(1), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years.

"taxable resource income" — [Repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 13(2).]

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The definition "taxable resource income" in subsection 125.11(1) of the Act is replaced by the following:

"taxable resource income" — "taxable resource income", of a taxpayer for a taxation year, is the lesser of

(a) the amount, if any, by which the taxpayer's taxable income for the taxation year exceeds 100/16 of the amount deducted under subsection 125(1) from the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year, and

(b) the amount determined by the formula

$$3(A/B) + C - D - E$$

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is deducted by the taxpayer under paragraph 20(1)(v.1) in computing the taxpayer's income for the taxation year,

B is the percentage that is the total of

(i) that proportion of 100% that the number of days in the taxation year that are before 2003 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(ii) that proportion of 90% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2003 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(iii) that proportion of 75% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2004 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(iv) that proportion of 65% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2005 is of the number of days in the taxation year, and

(v) that proportion of 35% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2006 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

C is total of all amounts included in computing the taxpayer's income for the taxation year under paragraph 59(3.2)(b) or (c),

D is the total of all amounts deducted by the taxpayer under any of sections 65 to 66.7, other than subsections 66(4), 66.21(4) and 66.7(2) and (2.3), of this Act, and subsections 17(2) and (6) and section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules, in computing the taxpayer's income for the taxation year, and

E is $^{100}/_{16}$ of the amount deducted under subsection 125(1) from the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year.

Applicable: To taxation years that begin after February 27, 2004.

Explanatory Note:

"taxable resource income"

Section 125.11 of the Act has the effect of reducing the federal corporate income tax rate for income earned from resource activities from 28% to 21% by 2007. This is accomplished for the years 2003-2006 by providing a deduction against the 28% rate for income that falls within the definition of "taxable resource income". After 2006 resource income will be included in full rate taxable income and be subject to the general rate reduction rules.

Currently, a taxpayer's "taxable resource income" is the lesser of the taxpayer's taxable income for the taxation year and the amount calculated by the following formula: 3(A/B) + C – D. A represents the deduction taken as a resource allowance under paragraph 20(1)(v.1). B is a reduction of the resource allowance, which is being phased out between 2003 and 2006, prorated for non-calendar year-ends. C represents additions to the taxpayer's income resulting from negative resource pools. Lastly, D is any amounts deducted from income on account of resource pools.

The definition "taxable resource income" is being amended to ensure that resource income that was earned by a Canadian-controlled private corporation (CCPC) and received a small business deduction under section 125(1) of the Act is not also eligible for this rate reduction. The result is that a taxpayer's "taxable resource income" will now be the lesser of two amounts. The first amount is the taxpayer's taxable income for the year less 100/16 of the amount the taxpayer deducted from tax payable pursuant to section 125(1) of the Act. The second amount is calculated by the formula 3(A/B) + C – D – E. Elements A to D are unchanged from the previous formula contained in this definition, and remain as described above. New element E is 100/16 of the amount deducted from tax otherwise payable pursuant to subsection 125(1) of the Act. This amendment ensures that resource income earned by a CCPC can only benefit from one rate reduction.

This amendment applies to taxation years that begin after February 27, 2004.

History: S. 125.11(1), the definition "taxable resource income" was repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 13(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 2006. S. 125.11(1), the definition "taxable resource income" formerly read:

" 'taxable resource income' — 'taxable resource income', of a taxpayer for a taxation year, is the lesser of the taxpayer's taxable income for the taxation year and the amount determined by the formula

3(A/B) + C – D

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is deducted by the taxpayer under paragraph 20(1)(v.1) in computing the taxpayer's income for the taxation year;

B is the percentage that is the total of

(a) that proportion of 100% that the number of days in the taxation year that are before 2003 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(b) that proportion of 90% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2003 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(c) that proportion of 75% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2004 is of the number of days in the taxation year,

(d) that proportion of 65% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2005 is of the number of days in the taxation year, and

(e) that proportion of 35% that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2006 is of the number of days in the taxation year;

C is the total of all amounts included in computing the taxpayer's income for the taxation year under paragraph 59(3.2)(b) or (c); and

D is the total of all amounts deducted by the taxpayer under any of sections 65 to 66.7, other than subsections 66(4), 66.21(4) and 66.7(2) and (2.3), of this Act, and subsections 17(2) and (6) and section 29 of the Income Tax Application Rules, in computing the taxpayer's income for the taxation year."

S. 125.11(1), the definition "taxable resource income" was added by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 13(1), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years except that, for those taxation years that begin before June 9, 2003, the value of C in the formula in the definition "taxable resource income" in subsection 125.11(1) of the Act is deemed to be nil.

► 125.11(2) ◄

(2) Resource deduction. [Repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 13(2).]

History: S. 125.11(2) was repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 13(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 2006. S. 125.11(2) formerly read:

"(2) Resource deduction. There may be deducted from a corporation's tax otherwise payable under this Part for a taxation year the product obtained by multiplying the corporation's resource rate reduction percentage for the taxation year by the corporation's taxable resource income for the taxation year."

S. 125.11(2) was added by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 13(1), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 20(1)(v.1) Resource allowance; s. 65(1) Allowance for oil or gas well, mine or timber limit; s. 66 Exploration and development expenses of principal-business corporations; s. 66.1 Cumulative Canadian exploration expenses; s. 66.2 Cumulative Canadian development expenses; s. 66.21 Cumulative foreign resource expense; s. 66.4 Canadian oil and gas property expense; s. 66.7 Successor of exploration and development expenses; s. 123.4 Corporate tax reductions.

SECTION 125.2:

► 125.2(1) ◄

(1) Deduction of Part VI tax. There may be deducted in computing the tax payable under this Part for a taxation year by a corporation that was throughout the year a financial institution (within the meaning assigned by section 190) an amount equal to such part as the corporation claims of its unused Part VI tax credits for any of its 7 immediately preceding taxation years ending before 1992, to the extent that that amount does not exceed the amount, if any, by which

(a) its tax payable under this Part (determined without reference to this section) for the year

exceeds the total of

(b) the amount that would, but for subsection 190.1(3), be its tax payable under Part VI for the year, and

(c) the lesser of its Canadian surtax payable (within the meaning assigned by subsection 125.3(4)) for the year and the amount that would, but for subsection 181.1(4), be its tax payable under Part I.3 for the year.

History: S. 125.2(1) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 65(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years and, where a corporation elected under subsection 111(2) of this Act to have subsection 111(1) of this Act apply to its taxation years ending in 1991, to all such years except that, in its application to such years, subsection 125.2(1) of the Income Tax Act, as enacted by subsection (1), shall be read without reference to (a) the expression "the total of",

(b) the word "and" at the end of paragraph 125.2(1)(b), and (c) paragraph 125.2(1)(c), and the reference therein to "1992" shall be read as "1991".

S. 125.2(1) formerly read:

"(1) There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable under this Part for a taxation year by a corporation that was throughout the year a financial institution (within the meaning assigned by section 190) an amount equal to the total of

(a) its tax payable under Part VI for the year, and

(b) such part of its unused Part VI tax credits for the seven taxation years immediately preceding and the three taxation years immediately following the year as the corporation may claim."

S. 125.2(1) has an alternative reading, provided by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 102(a) and reproduced below, which applies to corporations described in paragraphs (d) or (e) of the definition "financial institution" in subsection 190(1), as amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 156(1).

Forms: T2 SCH 42.

Sec. 102, Sched. II, Chap. 7, S.C. 1994

Sec. 102. [Applicability of subsections 125.2(1) and (3) to certain corporations.] In its application to corporations described in paragraph (d) or (e) of the definition "financial institution" in subsection 190(1) of the said Act, as enacted by this Act,

(a) for taxation years commencing before February 21, 1990, subsection 125.2(1) of the Act shall be read as follows:

"SEC. 125.2. (1) There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable under this Part for a taxation year by a corporation that was throughout the year a financial institution (within the meaning assigned by section 190) an amount equal to the lesser of

(a) the total of

(i) its tax payable under Part VI for the year, and

(ii) such part of its unused Part VI tax credits for the three taxation years immediately following the year as the corporation claims; and

(b) that proportion of its tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year that the number of days in the year that are after February 20, 1990 is of the number of days in the year."; and

(b) subsection 125.2(3) of the Act shall be read as follows:

"(3) For the purposes of this section, 'unused Part VI tax credit' of a corporation for a taxation year beginning before February 21, 1990 means the amount, if any, by which the corporation's tax payable under Part VI for the year exceeds the amount deductible under subsection (1) in computing its tax payable under this Part for the year."

Related Sections: S. 190 Tax on capital of financial institutions.

► 125.2(2) ◄

(2) Idem. For the purposes of this section,

(a) an amount may not be claimed under subsection (1) in computing a corporation's tax payable under this Part for a particular taxation year in respect of its unused Part VI tax credit for another taxation year until its unused Part VI tax credits for taxation years preceding the other year that may be claimed for the particular year have been claimed; and

(b) an amount in respect of a corporation's unused Part VI tax credit for a taxation year may be claimed under subsection (1) in computing its tax payable under this Part for another taxation year only to the extent that it exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is the amount claimed in respect of that unused Part VI tax credit in computing its tax payable under this Part for a taxation year preceding that other year.

► 125.2(3) ◄

(3) Definition of "unused Part VI tax credit". For the purposes of this section, "unused Part VI tax credit" of a corporation for a taxation year is the lesser of

(a) its tax payable under Part VI (determined without reference to subsections 190.1(1.1) and (3)) for the year, and

(b) the amount determined by the formula

A – B

where

A is its tax payable under Part VI for the year (determined without reference to subsection 190.1(3)), and

B is the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount that would, but for this section, be its tax payable under this Part for the year

exceeds

(ii) the lesser of its Canadian surtax payable (within the meaning assigned by subsection 125.3(4)) and the amount that would, but for subsection 181.1(4), be its tax payable under Part I.3 for the year.

History: S. 125.2(3) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 58(1), applicable for the purpose of computing the amount that may be deducted by a corporation under subsection 125.2(1) of the Act

(a) subject to paragraphs (b) and (c), for taxation years that end before 1992 in respect of unused Part VI tax credits for taxation years that end after 1991;

(b) where the corporation elected under subsection 111(2) of An Act to amend the Income Tax Act, the Canada Pension Plan, the Income Tax Conventions Interpretation Act, the Tax Rebate Discounting Act, the Unemployment Insurance Act and certain related Acts, being chapter 24 of the Statutes of Canada, 1993, for its taxation years that end before 1991 in respect of unused Part VI tax credits for taxation years that end after 1990, except that for the purpose of computing its unused Part VI tax credits under subsection 125.2(3) of the Income Tax Act for taxation years that end in 1991, the amount determined under subparagraph (ii) of the description of B in subsection 125.2(3) of the Act shall be deemed to be nil; and

(c) where paragraph (b) does not apply and the corporation elected under paragraph 88(2)(b), for its taxation years that end before 1992 in respect of unused Part VI tax credits for taxation years that end after 1990, except that

(i) for the purpose of computing its unused Part VI tax credits under subsection 125.2(3) of the Act for its taxation years that end in 1991, the amount determined under subparagraph (ii) of the description of B in subsection 125.2(3) of the Act shall be deemed to be nil, and

(ii) for the purpose of computing the amount that it may deduct under subsection 125.2(1) of the Act for its taxation years that end in 1991, paragraph 125.2(3)(a) of the Act shall be read as follows:

"(a) its tax payable under Part VI (determined without reference to subsection 190.1(3)) for the year, and"

S. 125.2(3) of the Act formerly read:

"(3) Definition of 'unused Part VI tax credit'. For the purposes of this section, 'unused Part VI tax credit' of a corporation for a taxation year ending after 1991 means the amount determined by the formula

A – B

where

A is the corporation's tax payable under Part VI for the year (determined without reference to subsection 190.1(3)), and

B is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the amount that would, but for this section, be its tax payable under this Part for the year

exceeds

(b) the lesser of its Canadian surtax payable (within the meaning assigned by subsection 125.3(4)) and the amount that would, but for subsection 181.1(4), be its tax payable under Part I.3 for the year."

S. 125.2(3) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 65(2), applicable for the purpose of computing the amount that may be deducted by a corporation under subsection 125.2(1) of the said Act

(a) subject to paragraph (b), for taxation years ending before 1992 in respect of unused Part VI tax credits for taxation years ending after 1991; or

(b) where the corporation elected under subsection 111(2) of this Act to have subsection 111(1) of this Act apply to its taxation years ending in 1991, for its taxation years ending before 1991 in respect of unused Part VI tax credits for taxation years ending after 1990, except that, for the purpose of computing its unused Part VI tax credits under subsection 125.2(3) of the Income Tax Act, as enacted by subsection (2), for taxation years ending in 1991, the amount determined under paragraph (b) in the description of B in the said subsection 125.2(3) shall be deemed to be nil.

S. 125.2(3) formerly read:

"(3) Definition of 'unused Part VI tax credit'. In this section, 'unused Part VI tax credit' of a corporation for a taxation year means the amount, if any, by which the corporation's tax payable under Part VI for the year exceeds the amount that would, but for this section, be its tax payable under this Part for the year."

S. 125.2(3) has an alternative reading, provided by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 102(b) and reproduced under s. 125.2(1) above, which applies to corporations described in paragraphs (d) or (e) of the definition "financial institution" in subsection 190(1), as amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 156(1).

SECTION 125.3:

► 125.3(1) ◄

(1) Deduction of Part I.3 tax. There may be deducted in computing the tax payable under this Part for a taxation year by a corporation (other than a corporation that was throughout the year a financial institution, within the meaning assigned by section 190) an amount equal to such part as the corporation claims of its unused Part I.3 tax credits for any of its 7 immediately preceding taxation years ending before 1992, to the extent that that amount does not exceed the amount, if any, by which

(a) its Canadian surtax payable for the year

exceeds

(b) the amount that would, but for subsection 181.1(4), be its tax payable under Part I.3 for the year.

History: S. 125.3(1) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 66(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. S. 125.3(1) formerly read:

"S. 125.3. Deduction re Part I.3 tax.

(1) There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable under this Part for a taxation year by a corporation an amount equal to the lesser of

(a) the total of

(i) its tax payable under Part I.3 for the year, and

(ii) such part of its unused Part I.3 tax credits for the 7 taxation years immediately preceding and the 3 taxation years immediately following the year as the corporation may claim, and

(b) its Canadian surtax payable for the year."

Related Sections: S. 181–181.9.
Forms: T2 SCH 37.

► 125.3(1.1) ◄

(1.1) Idem. There may be deducted in computing the tax payable under this Part for a taxation year by a corporation that was a financial institution (within the meaning assigned by section 190) throughout the year an amount equal to such part as the corporation claims of its unused Part I.3 tax credits for any of its 7 immediately preceding taxation years ending before 1992, to the extent that that amount does not exceed the lesser of

(a) the amount, if any, by which its Canadian surtax payable for the year exceeds the amount that would, but for subsection 181.1(4), be its tax payable under Part I.3 for the year, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which its tax payable under this Part (determined without reference to this section and section 125.2) for the year exceeds the amount that would, but for subsections 181.1(4) and 190.1(3), be the total of its taxes payable under Parts I.3 and VI for the year.

History: S. 125.3(1.1) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 66(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years.

► 125.3(2) ◄

(2) Special rules. For the purposes of this section,

(a) no amount may be claimed under subsection (1) in computing a corporation's tax payable under this Part for a particular taxation year in respect of its unused Part I.3 tax credit for another taxation year until its unused Part I.3 tax credits for taxation years preceding the other year that may be claimed for the particular year have been claimed; and

(b) an amount in respect of a corporation's unused Part I.3 tax credit for a taxation year may be claimed under subsection (1) in computing its tax payable under this Part for another taxation year only to the extent that it exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is the amount claimed in respect of that unused Part I.3 tax credit in computing its tax payable under this Part for a taxation year preceding that other year.

► 125.3(3) ◄

(3) Acquisition of control. Where, at any time, control of a corporation has been acquired by a person or group of persons, no amount in respect of its unused Part I.3 tax credit for a taxation year ending before that time is deductible by the corporation for a taxation year ending after that time and no amount in respect of its unused Part I.3 tax credit for a taxation year ending after that time is deductible by the corporation for a taxation year ending before that time, except that

(a) where a business was carried on by the corporation in a taxation year ending before that time, its unused Part I.3 tax credit for that year is deductible by the corporation for a particular taxation year ending after that time only if that business was carried on by the corporation for profit or with a reasonable expectation of profit throughout the particular year and only to the extent of that proportion of the corporation's Canadian surtax payable for the particular year that

(i) the amount, if any, by which

(A) the total of its income for the particular year from that business and, where properties were sold, leased, rented or developed or services rendered in the course of carrying on that business before that time, its income for the particular year from any other business substantially all the income of which was derived from the sale, leasing, rental or development, as the case may be, of similar properties or the rendering of similar services

exceeds

(B) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under paragraph 111(1)(a) or (d) for the particular year by the corporation in respect of a non-capital loss or a farm loss, as the case may be, for a taxation year in respect of that business or the other business,

is of the greater of

(ii) the amount determined under subparagraph (i), and

(iii) the corporation's taxable income for the particular year; and

(b) where a business was carried on by the corporation throughout a taxation year ending after that time, its unused Part I.3 tax credit for that year is deductible by the corporation for a particular taxation year ending before that time only if that business was carried on by the corporation for profit or with a reasonable expectation of profit in the particular year and only to the extent of that proportion of the corporation's Canadian surtax payable for the particular year that

(i) the amount, if any, by which

(A) the total of its income for the particular year from that business and, where properties were sold, leased, rented or developed or services rendered in the course of carrying on that business before that time, its income for the particular year from any other business substantially all the income of which was derived from the sale, leasing, rental or development, as the case may be, of similar properties or the rendering of similar services

exceeds

(B) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under paragraph 111(1)(a) or (d) for the particular year by the corporation in respect of a non-capital loss or a farm loss, as the case may be, for a taxation year in respect of that business or the other business,

is of the greater of

(ii) the amount determined under subparagraph (i), and

(iii) the corporation's taxable income for the particular year.

► 125.3(4) ◄

(4) Definitions. For the purposes of this section,

"Canadian surtax payable" — "Canadian surtax payable" of a corporation for a taxation year means

(a) in the case of a corporation that is non-resident throughout the year, the lesser of

(i) the amount determined under section 123.2 in respect of the corporation for the year, and

(ii) its tax payable under this Part for the year, and

(b) in any other case, the lesser of

(i) the prescribed proportion of the amount determined under section 123.2 in respect of the corporation for the year, and

(ii) its tax payable under this Part for the year;

History: S. 125.3(4), the definition of "Canadian surtax payable", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 59(1), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years. S. 125.3(4), the definition of "Canadian surtax payable", formerly read:

"'Canadian surtax payable' — 'Canadian surtax payable' of a corporation for a taxation year means

(a) in the case of a corporation that is throughout the year not resident in Canada, the amount determined under section 123.2 in respect of the corporation for the year, and

(b) in any other case, the prescribed proportion of the amount determined under section 123.2 in respect of the corporation for the year;"

Regulations: 8602.

"unused Part I.3 tax credit" — "unused Part I.3 tax credit" of a corporation for a taxation year means

(a) where the year ended before 1992, the amount, if any, by which its tax payable under Part I.3 for the year exceeds the amount deductible under subsection (1) in computing its tax payable under this Part for the year, and

(b) where the year ends after 1991, the amount, if any, by which the corporation's tax payable under Part I.3 for the year (determined without reference to subsection 181.1(4)) exceeds its Canadian surtax payable under this Part for the year.

History: S. 125.3(4), the definition of "unused Part I.3 tax credit", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 66(2), applicable for the purpose of computing the amount that may be deducted under subsection 125.3(1) of the Act for taxation years ending after June 1989.

S. 125.3(4), the definition of "unused Part I.3 tax credit", formerly read:

"'unused Part I.3 tax credit' — 'unused Part I.3 tax credit' of a corporation for a taxation year means the amount, if any, by which the corporation's tax payable under Part I.3 for the year exceeds the amount deductible under subsection (1) in computing its tax payable under this Part for the year."

Canadian Film or Video Production Tax Credit

SECTION 125.4:

► 125.4(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. The definitions in this subsection apply in this section.

Regulations: 8201.

"assistance" — "assistance" means an amount, other than a prescribed amount or an amount deemed under subsection (3) to have been paid, that would be included under paragraph 12(1)(x) in computing a taxpayer's income for any taxation year if that paragraph were read without reference to subparagraphs (v) to (vii).

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The definition "assistance" in subsection 125.4(1) of the Act is replaced by the following:

"assistance" — "assistance" means an amount, other than a prescribed amount or an amount deemed under subsection (3) to have been paid, that would be included under paragraph 12(1)(x) in computing a taxpayer's income for any taxation year if that paragraph were read without reference to

(a) subparagraphs 12(1)(x)(v) to (viii), if the amount were received

(i) from a person or partnership described in subparagraph 12(1)(x)(ii), or

(ii) in circumstances where clause 12(1)(x)(i)(C) applies; and

(b) subparagraphs 12(1)(x)(v) to (vii), in any other case.

Applicable:

(a) To film or video productions for which the production commencement time of the corporation (or, if there is more than one qualified corporation in respect of the production, of all such corporations) is on or after November 14, 2003; and

(b) to a corporation in respect of a film or video production for which the production commencement time of any corporation is before November 14, 2003

(i) if the earliest labour expenditure of the corporation (or, if there is more than one qualified corporation in respect of the production, of all such corporations) in respect of the production is made after 2003, or

(ii) if the corporation elects (or, if there is more than one qualified corporation in respect of the production, all such corporations jointly elect), in writing, and the election is filed with the Minister of National Revenue on or before the earliest filing-due date of any qualified corporation in respect of the production for that corporation's taxation year that includes the day on which this Act is assented to, and the earliest labour expenditure of all such qualified corporations in respect of the production is made

(A) after the last taxation year of any such corporation that ended before November 14, 2003, or

(B) if the first taxation year of all such corporations includes November 14, 2003, in that taxation year.

The earliest labour expenditure referred to in [the application above] is to be determined under the provisions of subsection 125.4(1) or (2) that would apply if the following provisions had not been enacted:

(a) the definitions "assistance" and "salary or wages" in subsection 125.4(1);

(b) the portion of the definition "labour expenditure" in subsection 125.4(1) before subparagraph (b)(i);

(c) the portions of the definition "qualified labour expenditure" in subsection 125.4(1) before paragraph (a) and the description of A in paragraph (b);

(d) the definitions "production commencement time" and "script material" in subsection 125.4(1);

(e) the portion of subsection 125.4(2) before paragraph (b); and

(f) paragraph 125.4(2)(d).

Explanatory Note: Section 125.4 of the Act sets out the rules that apply for the purpose of computing the Canadian film or video production tax credit ("CFVPTC"). Generally, this tax credit is available at a rate of 25% of qualified labour expenditures incurred by a qualified corporation for a production certified by the Minister of Canadian Heritage to be a Canadian film or video production.

Except as noted below, the amendments to subsection 125.4 generally apply in respect of productions for which development commences on or after November 14, 2003 or the first labour expenditures (as determined under subsections 125.4(1) and (2) as they applied before that date — the "old rules") of the production corporation are incurred after 2003. As well, if development commenced before November 14, 2003 and the first labour expenditures (as defined under the old rules) were incurred by the corporation in its taxation year that includes November 14, 2003, the corporation may elect to have the new rules apply. Subject to this election, corporations must continue to claim the CFVPTC under the old rules for productions that qualified under those rules. Where, in the case of a co-production, more than one qualified corporation is eligible to claim a CFVPTC in respect of the production, the election to have the new rules apply must be made jointly. A production cannot qualify under both schemes.

"assistance"

In computing the CFVPTC, qualified labour expenditures in respect of a film or video production are limited to 48% of the amount by which the cost of the production exceeds any "assistance" in respect of that cost that has not been repaid.

The definition "assistance" is amended to provide that the equity share of a production of a government or other public authority is treated in the same manner as government assistance. This could include, for example, a loan from a government agency where repayment of the loan is dependent on profit from the production.

History: S. 125.4(1), the definition "assistance" was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 46(1), applicable to amounts received after February 23, 1998. S. 125(4), the definition "assistance" formerly read:

" 'assistance' — 'assistance' means an amount, other than an amount deemed under subsection (3) to have been paid, that would be included under paragraph 12(1)(x) in computing the income of a taxpayer for any taxation year if that paragraph were read without reference to subparagraphs (v) to (vii)."

S. 125.4(1), the definition "assistance", was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 28(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 87(2)(j.94) Film or video productions.

"Canadian film or video production" — "Canadian film or video production" has the meaning assigned by regulation.

History: S. 125.4(1), the definition "Canadian film or video production", was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 28(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 87(2)(j.94) Film or video productions.

"Canadian film or video production certificate" — "Canadian film or video production certificate" means a certificate issued in respect of a production by the Minister of Canadian Heritage

(a) certifying that the production is a Canadian film or video production, and

(b) estimating amounts relevant for the purpose of determining the amount deemed under subsection (3) to have been paid in respect of the production.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The definition "Canadian film or video production certificate" in subsection 125.4(1) of the Act is replaced by the following:

"Canadian film or video production certificate" — "Canadian film or video production certificate" means a certificate issued in respect of a production by the Minister of Canadian Heritage certifying that the production is a Canadian film or video production in respect of which that Minister is satisfied that

(a) except where the production is a treaty co-production (as defined by regulation), an acceptable share of revenues from the exploitation of the production in non-Canadian markets is, under the terms of any agreement, retained by

(i) a qualified corporation that owns or owned an interest in, or for civil law a right in, the production,

(ii) a prescribed taxable Canadian corporation related to the qualified corporation, or

(iii) any combination of corporations described in subparagraph (i) or (ii); and (b) public financial support of the production would not be contrary to public policy.

Applicable: In respect of film or video productions in respect of which certificates are issued by the Minister of Canadian Heritage after December 20, 2002, except that, in respect of those film or video productions in respect of which certificates are issued by the Minister of Canadian Heritage before 2004, the definition "Canadian film or video production certificate" in subsection 125.4(1) is to be read as follows:

" 'Canadian film or video production certificate' means a certificate issued in respect of a production by the Minister of Canadian Heritage

(a) certifying that the production is a Canadian film or video production in respect of which that Minister is satisfied that

(i) except where the production is a treaty co-production (as defined by regulation), an acceptable share of revenues from the exploitation of the production in non-Canadian markets is, under the terms of any agreement, retained by

(A) a qualified corporation that owns or owned an interest in, or for civil law a right in, the production,

(B) a prescribed taxable Canadian corporation related to the qualified corporation, or

(C) any combination of corporations described in clause (A) or (B), and

(ii) public financial support of the production would not be contrary to public policy; and

(b) estimating amounts relevant for the purpose of determining the amount deemed under subsection (3) to have been paid in respect of the production."

Explanatory Note:

"Canadian film or video production certificate"

A qualified corporation must file a Canadian film or video production certificate with its tax return for a taxation year in which it claims a Canadian film or video production tax credit in respect of the production. A "Canadian film or video production certificate", as defined in subsection 125.4(1) of the Act, is issued by the Minister of Canadian Heritage. The definition is amended to provide that that Minister will also certify that the public funding of the production would not be contrary to public policy and that, generally, a qualified corporation or a related taxable Canadian corporation will retain an acceptable share of revenues from the exploitation of the production in non-Canadian markets. The Minister of Canadian Heritage will issue guidelines as to how these criteria can be met.

This amendment generally applies in respect of Canadian film or video productions for which certificates are issued by the Minister of Canadian Heritage after December 20, 2002.

The definition is also amended to remove the requirement for the Minister of Canadian Heritage to provide estimates relevant to the calculation of the CFVPTC, in respect of certificates issued after 2003.

History: S. 125.4(1), the definition "Canadian film or video production certificate", was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 28(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 87(2)(j.94) Film or video productions.

"investor" — "investor" means a person, other than a prescribed person, who is not actively engaged on a regular, continuous and substantial basis in a business carried on through a permanent establishment (as defined by regulation) in Canada that is a Canadian film or video production business.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The definition "investor" in subsection 125.4(1) of the Act is repealed.

"investor" — [Repealed.]

Applicable:

(a) To taxation years that end after November 14, 2003; and

(b) in respect of a film or video production in respect of which a corporation has, in a return of income filed before November 14, 2003, claimed an amount under subsection 125.4(3) in respect of a labour expenditure incurred after 1997.

Explanatory Note:

"investor"

The definition "investor" describes a person who is not actively engaged on a regular, continuous, and substantial basis in a Canadian film or video production business carried on through a permanent establishment in Canada. A CFVPTC may not be claimed in respect of a Canadian film or video production where an investor, or a partnership in which an investor has an interest, may deduct an amount in respect of the production.

The definition of investor is repealed, applicable to taxation years that end after November 14, 2003, as well as to productions in respect of which a qualifying production corporation has, in a return of income filed before November 14, 2003, claimed an amount under subsection 125.4(3) of the Act in respect of a labour expenditure incurred after 1997 in respect of the production.

History: S. 125.4(1), the definition "investor", was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 28(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 87(2)(j.94) Film or video productions.
Regulations: 8201.

"labour expenditure" — "labour expenditure" of a corporation for a taxation year in respect of a property of the corporation that is a Canadian film or video production means, in the case of a corporation that is not a qualified corporation for the year, nil, and in the case of a corporation that is a qualified corporation for the year, subject to subsection (2), the total of the following amounts to the extent that they are reasonable in the circumstances and included in the cost or, in the case of depreciable property, the capital cost to the corporation of the property:

(a) the salary or wages directly attributable to the production that are incurred after 1994 and in the year, or the preceding taxation year, by the corporation for the stages of production of the property, from the final script stage to the end of the post-production stage, and paid by it in the year or within 60 days after the end of the year (other than amounts incurred in that preceding year that were paid within 60 days after the end of that preceding year),

(b) that portion of the remuneration (other than salary or wages and other than remuneration that relates to services rendered in the preceding taxation year and that was paid within 60 days after the end of that preceding year) that is directly attributable to the production of property, that relates to services rendered after 1994 and in the year, or that preceding year, to the corporation for the stages of production, from the final script stage to the end of the post-production stage, and that is paid by it in the year or within 60 days after the end of the year to

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of the definition "labour expenditure" in subsection 125.4(1) of the Act before subparagraph (b)(i) is replaced by the following:

"labour expenditure" — "labour expenditure", of a corporation for a taxation year in respect of a Canadian film or video production, means, in the case of a corporation that is not a qualified corporation for the taxation year, nil, and in the case of a corporation that is a qualified corporation for the taxation year, subject to subsection (2), the total of the following amounts to the extent that they are reasonable in the circumstances and included in the cost to, or in the case of depreciable property the capital cost to, the corporation, or any other person or partnership, of the production:

(a) the salary or wages directly attributable to the production that are incurred after 1994 and in the taxation year, or the preceding taxation year, by the corporation for the stages of production of the property, from the production commencement time to the end of the post-production stage, and paid by it in the taxation year or within 60 days after the end of the taxation year (other than amounts incurred in that preceding taxation year that were paid within 60 days after the end of that preceding taxation year),

(b) that portion of the remuneration (other than salary or wages and other than remuneration that relates to services rendered in the preceding taxation year and that was paid within 60 days after the end of that preceding taxation year) that is directly attributable to the production of property, that relates to services rendered after 1994 and in the taxation year, or that preceding taxation year, to the corporation for the stages of production, from the production commencement time to the end of the post-production stage, and that is paid by it in the taxation year or within 60 days after the end of the taxation year to

Applicable: [The application of this pending amendment is the same as that for the pending amendment to the definition of "assistance" in subsection 125.4(1). See the application noted with the pending amendment to the definition of "assistance".]

Explanatory Note:

"labour expenditure"

The definition "labour expenditure" describes the underlying expenditures of a qualified corporation in respect of a film or video production that will be eligible for the CFVPTC. The definition is amended concurrently with the repeal of the definition "investor" in subsection 125.4(1) and the amendment of subsections 125.4(2) and (4) of the Act, to include those production expenditures incurred by the qualified corporation for or on behalf of another person. That is, labour expenditures are no longer limited to those included in the cost to the qualified corporation of the production. The definition is also amended concurrently with the introduction of the definition "production commencement time", which represents the time after which an eligible expenditure will qualify for the CFVPTC.

Where a particular corporation is a co-producer with another qualified corporation, and that other corporation has incurred expenditures for or on behalf of the taxpayer, new paragraph 125.4(2)(d) of the Act prevents the particular corporation from claiming a CFVPTC in respect of those expenditures.

For more information on subsections 125.4(2) and (4) and the definitions "investor" and "production commencement time", refer to the commentary for those provisions.

(i) an individual who is not an employee of the corporation, to the extent that the amount paid

(A) is attributable to services personally rendered by the individual for the production of the property, or

(B) is attributable to and does not exceed the salary or wages of the individual's employees for personally rendering services for the production of the property,

(ii) another taxable Canadian corporation, to the extent that the amount paid is attributable to and does not exceed the salary or wages of the other corporation's employees for personally rendering services for the production of the property,

(iii) another taxable Canadian corporation all the issued and outstanding shares of the capital stock of which (except directors' qualifying shares) belong to an individual and the activities of which consist principally of the provision of the individual's services, to the extent that the amount paid is attributable to services rendered personally by the individual for the production of the property, or

(iv) a partnership that is carrying on business in Canada, to the extent that the amount paid

(A) is attributable to services personally rendered by an individual who is a member of the partnership for the production of the property, or

(B) is attributable to and does not exceed the salary or wages of the partnership's employees for personally rendering services for the production of the property, and

(c) where

(i) the corporation is a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation of another taxable Canadian corporation (in this section referred to as the "parent"), and

(ii) the corporation and the parent have agreed that this paragraph apply in respect of the production, the reimbursement made by the corporation in the year, or within 60 days after the end of the year, of an expenditure that was incurred by the parent in a particular taxation year of the parent in respect of that production and that would be included in the labour expenditure of the corporation in respect of the property for the particular taxation year because of paragraph (a) or (b) if

(iii) the corporation had had such a particular taxation year, and

(iv) the expenditure were incurred by the corporation for the same purpose as it was by the parent and were paid at the same time and to the same person or partnership as it was by the parent.

History: S. 125.4(1), the definition "labour expenditure", was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 28(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 87(2)(j.94) Film or video productions.
Regulations: 8201.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subsection 125.4(1) of the Act is amended by adding the following in alphabetical order:

"production commencement time" — "production commencement time", in respect of a Canadian film or video production, means the earlier of

(a) the time at which principal photography of the production begins, and

(b) the latest of

(i) the time at which a qualified corporation that has an interest in, or for civil law a right in, the production, or the parent of the corporation, first makes an expenditure for salary or wages or other remuneration for activities, of scriptwriters, that are directly attributable to the development by the corporation of script material of the production,

(ii) the time at which the corporation or the parent of the corporation acquires a property, on which the production is based, that is a published literary work, screenplay, play, personal history or all or part of the script material of the production, and

(iii) two years before the date on which principal photography of the production begins.

Applicable: [The application of this pending amendment is the same as that for the pending amendment to the definition of "assistance" in subsection 125.4(1). See the application noted with the pending amendment to the definition of "assistance".]

Explanatory Note:

"production commencement time"

For the purpose of the definition "labour expenditure" in subsection 125.4(1) of the Act, in order to be eligible for the CFVPTC, expenditures in respect of a film or video production must be incurred by a qualified corporation from the time that is the "final script stage" of the production. The definition "labour expenditure" is amended to instead refer to expenditures incurred after the production commencement time. The new definition "production commencement time" describes the time that is the latest of the following:

1. The time at which a qualified corporation or its parent company first incurs development labour costs for the development of property of the corporation that is script material on which a Canadian film or video production is based.

2. The first time at which the qualified corporation or its parent company acquires a right in respect of the story that is the basis of the final script. Such rights might include a published literary work, play or screenplay.

3. Two years before the date on which principal photography of the production begins.

It is intended that the in-house development labour costs of an initial draft of a script, as well as the cost of modifications, should fall within the period of production for which labour expenditures qualify for the CFVPTC. These in-house costs could include the cost to hire an independent writer to create a script on the basis of some other story or literary work for which the rights have been acquired by the corporation.

Existing conditions on eligible labour expenditures also apply to scriptwriting labour. (See, for example, amounts excluded from the definition "salary and wages" in subsection 125.4(1) of the Act, such as amounts determined by reference to profits or revenues). As well, the cost to acquire an initial script or any other right referred to above will, like other rights, not qualify. Such an expenditure represents the cost of a property, not a labour expenditure.

The new definition "script material" in subsection 125.4(1) is defined for the purpose of the definition "production commencement time".

"qualified corporation" — "qualified corporation" for a taxation year means a corporation that is throughout the year a prescribed taxable Canadian corporation the activities of which in the year are primarily the carrying on through a permanent establishment (as defined by regulation) in Canada of a business that is a Canadian film or video production business.

History: S. 125.4(1), the definition "qualified corporation" was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 28(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years, except that, in applying the definition in respect of a film or video production the principal photography of which began before July 1996, the words "are primarily" in that definition shall be read as "include".

Related Sections: S. 87(2)(j.94) Film or video productions.
Regulations: 8201.

"qualified labour expenditure" — "qualified labour expenditure" of a corporation for a taxation year in respect of a property of the corporation that is a Canadian film or video production means the lesser of

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of the definition "qualified labour expenditure" in subsection 125.4(1) of the Act before paragraph (a) is replaced by the following:

"qualified labour expenditure" — "qualified labour expenditure", of a corporation for a taxation year in respect of a Canadian film or video production, means the lesser of

Applicable: [The application of this pending amendment is the same as that for the pending amendment to the definition of "assistance" in subsection 125.4(1). See the application noted with the pending amendment to the definition of "assistance".]

Explanatory Note:

"qualified labour expenditure"

The definition "qualified labour expenditure" describes the portion of a qualified corporation's labour expenditures upon which it can claim a 25% investment tax credit for a Canadian film or video production. Under a formula in the definition, qualified labour expenditures in respect of a production are limited to 48% of the amount by which the cost of the production to the qualified corporation exceeds any "assistance" in respect of that cost that has not been repaid.

Variable A in the formula is amended to increase the maximum amount of labour expenditure that qualify for the CFVPTC from 48% to 60% of the cost of the production. The definition is also amended concurrently with the repeal of the definition "investor" in subsection 125.4(1) and the amendment of subsections 125.4(2) and (4) of the Act, to include in the production cost those production expenditures incurred by the qualified corporation for or on behalf of another person. That is, production expenditures are no longer limited to those included in the cost to the qualified corporation of the production.

Where the taxpayer corporation is a co-producer with another qualified corporation, and that other corporation has incurred expenditures for or on behalf of the taxpayer, those expenditures are excluded from the formula by new paragraph 125.4(2)(b) of the Act.

For more information on subsections 125.4(2) and (4) and the definition "investor", refer to the commentary for those provisions.

(a) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of

(A) the labour expenditure of the corporation for the year in respect of the production, and

(B) the amount by which the total of all amounts each of which is the labour expenditure of the corporation for a preceding taxation year in respect of the production exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is a qualified labour expenditure of the corporation in respect of the production for a preceding taxation year before the end of which the principal filming or taping of the production began

exceeds

(ii) where the corporation is a parent, the total of all amounts each of which is an amount that is the subject of an agreement in respect of the production referred to in paragraph (c) of the definition "labour expenditure" between the corporation and its wholly-owned corporation, and

(b) the amount determined by the formula

A – B

where

A is 48% of the amount by which

(i) the cost or, in the case of depreciable property, the capital cost to the corporation of the production at the end of the year,

exceeds

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of the description of A in paragraph (b) of the definition "qualified labour expenditure" in subsection 125.4(1) of the Act before subparagraph (ii) is replaced by the following:

A is 60% of the amount by which

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is an expenditure by the corporation in respect of the production that is included in the cost to, or in the case of depreciable property the capital cost to, the corporation or any other person or partnership of the production at the end of the taxation year,

exceeds

Applicable: [The application of this pending amendment is the same as that for the pending amendment to the definition of "assistance" in subsection 125.4(1). See the application noted with the pending amendment to the definition of "assistance".]

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the amendment to the portion of the definition "qualified labour expenditure" in subsection 125.4(1) before paragraph (a).

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount of assistance in respect of that cost that, at the time of the filing of its return of income for the year, the corporation or any other person or partnership has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive, that has not been repaid before that time pursuant to a legal obligation to do so (and that does not otherwise reduce that cost), and

B is the total of all amounts each of which is the qualified labour expenditure of the corporation in respect of the production for a preceding taxation year before the end of which the principal filming or taping of the production began.

History: S. 125.4(1), the definition "qualified labour expenditure", was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 28(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 125.4(2) Rules governing labour expenditure of a corporation.

"salary or wages" — "salary or wages" does not include an amount described in section 7 or any amount determined by reference to profits or revenues.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The definition "salary or wages" in subsection 125.4(1) of the Act is replaced by the following:

"salary or wages" — "salary or wages" does not include an amount

(a) described in section 7;

(b) determined by reference to profits or revenues; or

(c) paid to a person in respect of services rendered by the person at a time when the person was non-resident, unless the person was at that time a Canadian citizen.

Applicable: [The application of this pending amendment is the same as that for the pending amendment to the definition of "assistance" in subsection 125.4(1). See the application noted with the pending amendment to the definition of "assistance".]

Explanatory Note:

"salary or wages"

For the purposes of the Canadian film and video production tax credit, the definition "salary or wages", which is generally defined in subsection 248(1) of the Act, does not include an amount described in section 7 of the Act (share option benefits) or any amount determined by reference to profits or revenues.

The definition "salary or wages" is amended to provide that it also does not include an amount paid to a person in respect of services rendered by the person at a time when the person was non-resident, unless the person was at that time a Canadian citizen.

History: S. 125.4(1), the definition "salary or wages", was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 28(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subsection 125.4(1) of the Act is amended by adding the following in alphabetical order:

"script material" — "script material", in respect of a production, means written material describing the story on which the production is based and, for greater certainty, includes a draft script, an original story, a screen story, a narration, a television production concept, an outline or a scene-by-scene schematic, synopsis or treatment.

Applicable: [The application of this pending amendment is the same as that for the pending amendment to the definition of "assistance" in subsection 125.4(1). See the application noted with the pending amendment to the definition of "assistance".]

Explanatory Note:

"script material"

The new definition "script material" applies for the purpose of determining the "production commencement time" of a production. Script material is written material describing the story on which the production is based and, for greater certainty, includes a draft script, original story, screen story, narration, television production concept, outline or scene-by-scene schematic, synopsis or treatment. These descriptions are terms commonly used in the film production industry.

► 125.4(2) ◄

(2) Rules governing labour expenditure of a corporation. For the purpose of the definition "labour expenditure" in subsection (1),

(a) remuneration does not include remuneration determined by reference to profits or revenues;

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of subsection 125.4(2) of the Act before paragraph (b) is replaced by the following:

(2) Rules governing labour expenditures of a corporation. For the purposes of the definitions "labour expenditure" and "qualified labour expenditure" in subsection (1),

(a) remuneration does not include remuneration

(i) determined by reference to profits or revenues, or

(ii) in respect of services rendered by a person at a time when the person was non-resident, unless the person was at that time a Canadian citizen;

Applicable: [The application of this pending amendment is the same as that for the pending amendment to the definition of "assistance" in subsection 125.4(1). See the application noted with the pending amendment to the definition of "assistance".]

Explanatory Note:

Rules Governing Labour Expenditure of a Corporation

Subsection 125.4(2) of the Act provides rules that apply for the purpose of the definition of "labour expenditure" in subsection 125.4(1). Paragraph 125.4(2)(a) provides that remuneration does not include remuneration determined by reference to profits or revenues.

Subsection 125.4(2) is amended to provide that it also applies to the definition "qualified labour expenditure" in subsection 125.4(1). In addition, paragraph 125.4(2)(a) is amended to provide that remuneration also does not included remuneration in respect of services rendered by a person at a time when the person was non-resident, unless the person was at that time a Canadian citizen.

A film or video production may be produced jointly by two or more qualified corporations. New paragraph 125.4(2)(d) of the Act is added to ensure that only one qualified corporation may claim a CFVPTC in respect of any particular expenditure. Where another qualified corporation supplies goods to or renders services for or on behalf of the taxpayer corporation, new paragraph 125.4(2)(d) provides that the related expenditure by the taxpayer is not a labour expenditure, a cost or capital cost of the production to the taxpayer. This provision does not affect the calculation of the cost of the production for other purposes of the Act.

(b) services referred to in paragraph (b) of that definition that relate to the post-production stage of the production include only the services that are rendered at that stage by a person who performs the duties of animation cameraman, assistant colourist, assistant mixer, assistant sound-effects technician, boom operator, colourist, computer graphics designer, cutter, developing technician, director of post production, dubbing technician, encoding technician, inspection technician — clean up, mixer, optical effects technician, picture editor, printing technician, projectionist, recording technician, senior editor, sound editor, sound-effects technician, special effects editor, subtitle technician, timer, video-film recorder operator, videotape operator or by a person who performs a prescribed duty; and

(c) that definition does not apply to an amount to which section 37 applies.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subsection 125.4(2) of the Act is amended by striking out the word "and" at the end of paragraph (b), by adding the word "and" at the end of paragraph (c) and by adding the following after paragraph (c):

(d) an expenditure incurred in respect of a film or video production by a qualified corporation (in this paragraph referred to as the "co-producer") in respect of goods supplied or services rendered by another qualified corporation to the co-producer in respect of the production is not a labour expenditure to the co-producer or, for the purpose of applying of this section to the co-producer, a cost or capital cost of the production.

Applicable: [The application of this pending amendment is the same as that for the pending amendment to the definition of "assistance" in subsection 125.4(1). See the application noted with the pending amendment to the definition of "assistance".]

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the amendment to the portion of subsection 125.4(2) of the Act before paragraph (b).

History: S. 125.4(2)(c) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 115(1), applicable after November 1999.

S. 125.4(2) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 28(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years.

Regulations: 202(1.1); 1106.

► 125.4(3) ◄

(3) Tax credit. Where

(a) a qualified corporation for a taxation year files with its return of income for the year

(i) a Canadian film or video production certificate issued in respect of a Canadian film or video production of the corporation,

(ii) a prescribed form containing prescribed information, and

(iii) each other document prescribed in respect of the production, and

(b) the principal filming or taping of the production began before the end of the year, the corporation is deemed to have paid on its balance-due day for the year an amount on account of its tax payable under this Part for the year equal to 25% of its qualified labour expenditure for the year in respect of the production.

History: S. 125.4(3), the portion after paragraph (b), was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 34(1), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. That part formerly read:

> "the corporation is deemed to have paid, on the day referred to in paragraph 157(1)(b) on or before which the corporation would be required to pay the remainder of its tax payable under this Part for the year if such a remainder were payable, an amount on account of its tax payable under this Part for the year equal to 25% of its qualified labour expenditure for the year in respect of the production."

S. 125.4(3) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 28(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 125.4(6) Revocation of a certificate; s. 248(1), "balance-due date".
Regulations: 1104(9); 1106.
Forms: T2 SCH 302; T2 SCH 345; T2 SCH 365; T2 SCH 382; T2 SCH 410; T1196; T1131.
Guides: RC4164 Claiming a Canadian Film or Video Production Tax Credit: Guide to Form T1131.

► 125.4(4) ◄

(4) Exception. This section does not apply to a Canadian film or video production where an investor, or a partnership in which an investor has an interest, directly or indirectly, may deduct an amount in respect of the production in computing its income for any taxation year.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subsection 125.4(4) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(4) Exception. This section does not apply to a Canadian film or video production if the production — or an interest in a person or partnership that has, directly or indirectly, an interest in, or for civil law a right in, the production — is a tax shelter investment for the purpose of section 143.2.

Applicable:

(a) To taxation years that end after November 14, 2003; and

(b) in respect of a film or video production in respect of which a corporation has, in a return of income filed before November 14, 2003, claimed an amount under subsection 125.4(3) of the Act in respect of a labour expenditure incurred after 1997.

Explanatory Note:

Exception

Subsection 125.4(4) of the Act provides that a Canadian film or video production tax credit is not available for a production if an investor may deduct an amount in respect of the production in computing its income for any taxation year. An investor is defined in subsection 125.4(1) to include, generally, any person, other than a prescribed person, that does not carry on a film or video production basis in Canada on a substantial basis.

Subsection 125.4(4) is amended concurrently with the repeal of the definition "investor", to deny the CFVPTC only in circumstances where the production or a person or partnership holding an interest in the production is a tax shelter investment for the purpose of section 143.2 of the Act.

However, section 1106 of the Income Tax Regulations includes a requirement that, for a film or video production to qualify as a Canadian film or video production eligible for the CFVPTC, a prescribed taxable Canadian corporation must retain worldwide ownership of copyright.

This amendment applies to taxation years that end after November 14, 2003, or if a qualifying production corporation has, in a return of income filed before November 14, 2003, claimed an amount under subsection 125.4(3) in respect of a labour expenditure incurred after 1997 in respect of the production.

History: S. 125.4(4) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 28(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years.

► 125.4(5) ◄

(5) When assistance received. For the purposes of this Act other than this section, and for greater certainty, the amount that a corporation is deemed under subsection (3) to have paid for a taxation year is assistance received by the corporation from a government immediately before the end of the year.

History: S. 125.4(5) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 28(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 12(1)(x) Inducement, reimbursement, etc.; s. 13(7.4) Deemed capital cost; s. 53(2)(k) Amounts to be deducted — Government assistance.

► 125.4(6) ◄

(6) Revocation of a certificate. A Canadian film or video production certificate in respect of a production may be revoked by the Minister of Canadian Heritage where

(a) an omission or incorrect statement was made for the purpose of obtaining the certificate, or

(b) the production is not a Canadian film or video production, and, for the purpose of subparagraph (3)(a)(i), a certificate that has been revoked is deemed never to have been issued.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subsection 125.4(6) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(6) Revocation of a certificate. If an omission or incorrect statement was made for the purpose of obtaining a Canadian film or video production certificate in respect of a production, or if the production is not a Canadian film or video production,

(a) the Minister of Canadian Heritage may

(i) revoke the certificate, or

(ii) if the certificate was issued in respect of productions included in an episodic television series, revoke the certificate in respect of one or more episodes in the series;

(b) for greater certainty, for the purposes of this section, the expenditures and cost of production in respect of productions included in an episodic television series that relate to an episode in the series in respect of which a certificate has been revoked are not attributable to a Canadian film or video production; and

(c) for the purpose of subparagraph (3)(a)(i), a certificate that has been revoked is deemed never to have been issued.

Applicable: After November 14, 2003.

Explanatory Note:

Revocation of a Certificate

Subsection 125.4(6) of the Act provides that a Canadian film or video production certificate in respect of a production may be revoked by the Minister of Canadian Heritage. The revocation of a certificate may occur if an incorrect statement or an omission was made in order to obtain the certificate, or if the production is not a Canadian film or video production. A revoked certificate is considered never to have been issued, so a Canadian film or video production tax credit under new subsection 125.4(3) cannot be claimed in respect of the decertified production.

Subsection 125.4(6) is amended, applicable after November 14, 2003, to clarify that a Canadian film or video production certificate may be revoked in respect of one episode of a television series without affecting the eligibility of other episodes in the series and that, in such a case, the expenditures attributable to that episode do not qualify for the CFVPTC.

History: S. 125.4(6) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 28(1), applicable to the 1995 and subsequent taxation years.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Section 125.4 of the Act is amended by adding the following after subsection (6):

(7) Guidelines. The Minister of Canadian Heritage shall issue guidelines respecting the circumstances under which the conditions in paragraphs (a) and (b) of the definition of "Canadian film or video production certificate" in subsection (1) are satisfied. For greater certainty, these guidelines are not statutory instruments as defined in the Statutory Instruments Act.

Applicable: In respect of film or video productions in respect of which certificates are issued by the Minister of Canadian Heritage after December 20, 2002, except that, in respect of those film or video productions in respect of which certificates are issued by the Minister of Canadian Heritage before 2004, the reference to "paragraphs (a) and (b)" in subsection 125.4(7) is to be read as a reference to "subparagraphs (a)(i) and (ii)".

Explanatory Note:

Guidelines

New subsection 125.4(7) of the Act, which applies in respect of Canadian film or video productions for which certificates are issued by the Minister of Canadian Heritage after December 20, 2002, requires the Minister of Canadian Heritage to issue guidelines respecting the circumstances under which new conditions in the definition "Canadian film or video production certificate" in subsection 125.4(1) are met. For further details, see the commentary for that definition.

Film or Video Production Services Tax Credit

SECTION 125.5:

► 125.5(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. The definitions in this subsection apply in this section.

Regulations: 8201.

"accredited film or video production certificate" — "accredited film or video production certificate", in respect of a film or video production, means a certificate issued by the Minister of Canadian Heritage certifying that the production is an accredited production.

"accredited production" — "accredited production" has the meaning assigned by regulation.

Regulations: 9300.

"assistance" — "assistance" means an amount, other than an amount deemed under subsection (3) to have been paid, that would be included under paragraph 12(1)(x) in computing the income of a taxpayer for any taxation year if that paragraph were read without reference to subparagraphs (v) to (vii).

"Canadian labour expenditure" — "Canadian labour expenditure" of a corporation for a taxation year in respect of an accredited production means, in the case of a corporation that is not an eligible production corporation in respect of the production for the year, nil, and in any other case, subject to subsection (2), the total of the following amounts in respect of the production to the extent that they are reasonable in the circumstances:

(a) the salary or wages directly attributable to the production that are incurred by the corporation after October 1997, and in the year or the preceding taxation year, and that relate to services rendered in Canada for the stages of production of the production, from the final script stage to the end of the post-production stage, and paid by it in the year or within 60 days after the end of the year to employees of the corporation who were resident in Canada at the time the payments were made (other than amounts incurred in that preceding year that were paid within 60 days after the end of that preceding year),

(b) that portion of the remuneration (other than salary or wages and other than remuneration that relates to services rendered in the preceding taxation year and that was paid within 60 days after the end of that preceding year) that is directly attributable to the production, that relates to services rendered in Canada after October 1997 and in the year, or that preceding year, to the corporation for the stages of production of the production, from the final script stage to the end of the post-production stage, and that is paid by it in the year or within 60 days after the end of the year to a person or a partnership, that carries on a business in Canada through a permanent establishment (as defined by regulation), and that is

(i) an individual resident in Canada at the time the amount is paid and who is not an employee of the corporation, to the extent that the amount paid

(A) is attributable to services personally rendered by the individual in Canada in respect of the accredited production, or

(B) is attributable to and does not exceed the salary or wages paid by the individual to the individual's employees at a time when they were resident in Canada for personally rendering services in Canada in respect of the accredited production,

(ii) another corporation that is a taxable Canadian corporation, to the extent that the amount paid is attributable to and does not exceed the salary or wages paid to the other corporation's employees at a time when they were resident in Canada for personally rendering services in Canada in respect of the accredited production,

(iii) another corporation that is a taxable Canadian corporation, all the issued and outstanding shares of the capital stock of which (except directors' qualifying shares) belong to an individual who was resident in Canada and the activities of which consist principally of the provision of the individual's services, to the extent that the amount paid is attributable to services rendered personally in Canada by the individual in respect of the accredited production, or

(iv) a partnership, to the extent that the amount paid

(A) is attributable to services personally rendered in respect of the accredited production by an individual who is resident in Canada and who is a member of the partnership, or

(B) is attributable to and does not exceed the salary or wages paid by the partnership to its employees at a time when they were resident in Canada for personally rendering services in Canada in respect of the accredited production, and

(c) where

(i) the corporation is a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation of another corporation that is a taxable Canadian corporation (in this section referred to as the "parent"), and

(ii) the corporation and the parent have filed with the Minister an agreement that this paragraph apply in respect of the production, the reimbursement made by the corporation in the year, or within 60 days after the end of the year, of an expenditure that was incurred by the parent in a particular taxation year of the parent in respect of the production and that would be included in the Canadian labour expenditure of the corporation in respect of the production for the particular taxation year because of paragraph (a) or (b) if

(iii) the corporation had had such a particular taxation year, and

(iv) the expenditure were incurred by the corporation for the same purpose as it was incurred by the parent and were paid at the same time and to the same person or partnership as it was paid by the parent.

Regulations: 9300.

"eligible production corporation" — "eligible production corporation", in respect of an accredited production for a taxation year, means a corporation, the activities of which in the year in Canada are primarily the carrying on through a permanent establishment (as defined by regulation) in Canada of a film or video production business or a film or video production services business and that

(a) owns the copyright in the accredited production throughout the period during which the production is produced in Canada, or

(b) has contracted directly with the owner of the copyright in the accredited production to provide production services in respect of the production, where the owner of the copyright is not an eligible production corporation in respect of the production, except a corporation that is, at any time in the year,

(c) a person all or part of whose taxable income is exempt from tax under this Part,

(d) controlled directly or indirectly in any manner whatever by one or more persons all or part of whose taxable income is exempt from tax under this Part, or (e) prescribed to be a labour-sponsored venture capital corporation for the purpose of section 127.4.

History: S. 125.5(1), the portion of the definition "eligible production corporation" after paragraph (b) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 116(1), applicable after November 1999. S. 125.5(1), the portion of the definition "eligible production corporation" after paragraph (b) formerly read:

"except a corporation that is"

Regulations: 8201; 9300.

"qualified Canadian labour expenditure" — "qualified Canadian labour expenditure" of an eligible production corporation for a taxation year in respect of an accredited production means the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is the corporation's Canadian labour expenditure for the year or a preceding taxation year exceeds the aggregate of

(b) the total of all amounts, each of which is an amount of assistance that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of amounts included in the total determined under paragraph (a) in respect of the corporation for the year that, at the time of filing its return of income for the year, the corporation or any other person or partnership has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive, that has not been repaid before that time pursuant to a legal obligation to do so (and that does not otherwise reduce that expenditure),

(c) the total of all amounts, each of which is the qualified Canadian labour expenditure of the corporation in respect of the accredited production for a preceding taxation year before the end of which the principal filming or taping of the production began, and

(d) where the corporation is a parent, the total of all amounts each of which is included in the total determined under paragraph (a) in respect of the corporation for the year and is the subject of an agreement in respect of the accredited production referred to in paragraph (c) of the definition "Canadian labour expenditure" between the corporation and its subsidiary wholly-owned corporation.

Regulations: 9300.

"salary or wages" — "salary or wages" does not include an amount described in section 7 or an amount determined by reference to profits or revenues.

History: S. 125.5(1) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 145.1(1), applicable to taxation years that end after October 1997.

► 125.5(2) ◄

(2) Rules governing Canadian labour expenditure of a corporation. For the purpose of the definition "Canadian labour expenditure" in subsection (1),

(a) remuneration does not include remuneration determined by reference to profits or revenues;

(b) services referred to in paragraph (b) of that definition that relate to the post-production stage of the accredited production include only the services that are rendered at that stage by a person who performs the duties of animation cameraman, assistant colourist, assistant mixer, assistant sound-effects technician, boom operator, colourist, computer graphics designer, cutter, developing technician, director of post production, dubbing technician, encoding technician, inspection technician — clean up, mixer, optical effects technician, picture editor, printing technician, projectionist, recording technician, senior editor, sound editor, sound-effects technician, special effects editor, subtitle technician, timer, video-film recorder operator, videotape operator or by a person who performs a prescribed duty;

(c) that definition does not apply to an amount to which section 37 applies; and

(d) for greater certainty, that definition does not apply to an amount that is not a production cost including an amount in respect of advertising, marketing, promotion, market research or an amount related in any way to another film or video production.

History: S. 125.5(2) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 145.1(1), applicable to taxation years that end after October 1997.

Regulations: 202(1.1); 9300.

► 125.5(3) ◄

(3) Tax credit. An eligible production corporation in respect of an accredited production for a taxation year is deemed to have paid on its balance-due day for the year an amount on account of its tax payable under this Part for the year equal to 16% of its qualified Canadian labour expenditure for the year in respect of the production, if

(a) the corporation files with its return of income for the year

(i) a prescribed form containing prescribed information in respect of the production,

(ii) an accredited film or video production certificate in respect of the production, and

(iii) each other document prescribed in respect of the production; and

(b) the principal filming or taping of the production began before the end of the year.

History: S. 125.5(3) was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 80(1), applicable in respect of Canadian labour expenditures incurred after February 18, 2003. S. 125.5(3) formerly read:

"(3) Tax credit. Subject to subsection (4), where

(a) an eligible production corporation in respect of an accredited production for a taxation year files with its return of income for the year

(i) a prescribed form containing prescribed information in respect of the production,

(ii) an accredited film or video production certificate in respect of the production, and

(iii) each other document prescribed in respect of the production, and

(b) the principal filming or taping of the production began before the end of the year, the corporation is deemed to have paid on its balance-due day for the year an amount on account of its tax payable under this Part for the year equal to 11% of its qualified Canadian labour expenditure for the year in respect of the production."

S. 125.5(3) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 145.1(1), applicable to taxation years that end after October 1997.

Related Sections: S. 87(2)(j.94) Film or video productions; s. 152(1)(b) Assessment; s. 157(3)(e) Reduced instalments.

Regulations: 9300.

Forms: T2 SCH 302; T2 SCH 345; T2 SCH 365; T2 SCH 382; T2 SCH 410; T1197; T1177.

Guides: RC4385 Claiming a Film or Video Production Services Tax Credit.

Tax Topics: No. 1688, Settlement in Film Tax Shelters.

► 125.5(4) ◄

(4) Canadian film or video production. Subsection (3) does not apply in respect of a production in respect of which an amount is deemed to have been paid under subsection 125.4(3).

History: S. 125.5(4) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 145.1(1), applicable to taxation years that end after October 1997.

► 125.5(5) ◄

(5) When assistance received. For the purposes of this Act other than this section, and for greater certainty, the amount that a corporation is deemed under subsection (3) to have paid for a taxation year is assistance received by the corporation from a government immediately before the end of the year.

History: S. 125.5(5) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 145.1(1), applicable to taxation years that end after October 1997.

► 125.5(6) ◄

(6) Revocation of certificate. An accredited film or video production certificate in respect of an accredited production may be revoked by the Minister of Canadian Heritage where

(a) an omission or incorrect statement was made for the purpose of obtaining the certificate, or

(b) the production is not an accredited production, and, for the purpose of subparagraph (3)(a)(ii), a certificate that has been revoked is deemed never to have been issued.

History: S. 125.5(6) was added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 145.1(1), applicable to taxation years that end after October 1997.

Subdivision c — Rules Applicable to All Taxpayers

SECTION 126:

► 126(1) ◄

(1) Foreign tax deduction. A taxpayer who was resident in Canada at any time in a taxation year may deduct from the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by the taxpayer an amount equal to

(a) such part of any non-business-income tax paid by the taxpayer for the year to the government of a country other than Canada (except, where the taxpayer is a corporation, any such tax or part thereof that may reasonably be regarded as having been paid by the taxpayer in respect of income from a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer) as the taxpayer may claim,

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 1 — Foreign Investment Entities and Non-Resident Trusts — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Paragraph 126(1)(a) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(a) the part of any non-business income tax paid by the taxpayer for the year to the government of a country other than Canada that the taxpayer claims,

Applicable: To taxation years that begin after 2006, except that paragraph 126(1)(a) also applies to a taxation year of a taxpayer that begins before 2007 if sections 94.1 to 94.4 apply to that taxation year of the taxpayer.

Explanatory Note: Subsection 126(1) of the Act provides a tax credit to a taxpayer in respect of foreign non-business income tax — that is, foreign taxes levied on investment and other non-business income of the taxpayer. However, paragraph 126(1)(a) provides an exception to the effect that no tax credit is available if the taxpayer is a corporation and the foreign taxes paid by the taxpayer are in respect of income from a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer.

Paragraph 126(1)(a) is amended to remove the reference to the exception for taxes paid in respect of income from a share of a foreign affiliate. This exception is now found in subsection 126(1.2).

New subsection 126(1.2) describes circumstances in which subsection 126(1) does not apply. More specifically, it provides that subsection 126(1):

- does not apply to non-business income tax paid by a taxpayer in respect of a particular amount that is included in computing, in respect of the taxpayer, the amount determined under subparagraph 94.4(2)(a)(i) in respect of a participating interest of the taxpayer, if the taxpayer made a deduction under subsection 94.4(3) in respect of the particular amount — in this regard, see the commentary on the related rule found in new subsection 94.3(3), and
- does not apply to non-business income tax paid by a corporation in respect of income from a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation.

These amendments apply to taxation years that begin after 2006.

not exceeding, however,

(b) that proportion of the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by the taxpayer that

(i) the amount, if any, by which the total of the taxpayer's qualifying incomes exceeds the total of the taxpayer's qualifying losses

(A) for the year, if the taxpayer is resident in Canada throughout the year, and

(B) for the part of the year throughout which the taxpayer is resident in Canada, if the taxpayer is non-resident at any time in the year, from sources in that country, on the assumption that

(C) no businesses were carried on by the taxpayer in that country,

(D) where the taxpayer is a corporation, it had no income from shares of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, and

(E) where the taxpayer is an individual,

(I) no amount was deducted under subsection 91(5) in computing the taxpayer's income for the year, and

(II) if the taxpayer deducted an amount under subsection 122.3(1) from the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year, the taxpayer's income from employment in that country was not from a source in that country to the extent of the lesser of the amounts determined in respect thereof under paragraphs 122.3(1)(c) and (d) for the year,

is of

(ii) the total of

(A) the amount, if any, by which,

(I) if the taxpayer was resident in Canada throughout the year, the taxpayer's income for the year computed without reference to paragraph 20(1)(ww), and

(II) if the taxpayer was non-resident at any time in the year, the amount determined under paragraph 114(a) in respect of the taxpayer for the year

exceeds

(III) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under section 110.6 or paragraph 111(1)(b), or deductible under any of paragraphs 110(1)(d) to (d.3), (f), (g) and (j) and sections 112 and 113, in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year, and

(B) the amount, if any, added under section 110.5 in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year.

History: S. 126(1)(b)(ii)(A)(III) was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 39(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years except that, for the 1997 taxation year subclause 126(1)(b)(ii)(A)(III) shall be read as follows:

"(III) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the taxpayer under section 110.6 or paragraph 111(1)(b), or deductible by the taxpayer under paragraph 110(1)(d), (d.1), (d.2), (d.3), (f), (g) or (j) or section 112 or 113, for the year or in respect of the period or periods referred to in subclause (II), as the case may be, and"

Notwithstanding subsections 152(4) to (5) of the Act, any assessment of a taxpayer's tax, interest or penalty for any taxation year shall be made that is necessary to give effect to the amendments to subclause 126(1)(b)(ii)(A)(III) and the alternative reading for 1997.

S. 126(1)(b)(ii)(A)(III) formerly read:

"(III) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under section 110.6 or paragraph 111(1)(b), or deductible under any of paragraphs 110(1)(d) to (d.3), (f) and (j) and sections 112 and 113, in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year, and"

S. 126(1)(b)(ii)(A) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to the 1998 and 1999 taxation years, subclause 126(1)(b)(ii)(A)(I) shall be read without reference to the expression "computed without reference to paragraph 20(1)(ww)". S. 126(1)(b)(ii)(A) formerly read:

"(A) the amount, if any, by which,

(I) where section 114 does not apply to the taxpayer in respect of the year, the taxpayer's income for the year computed without reference to paragraph 20(1)(ww), and

(II) where section 114 applies to the taxpayer in respect of the year, the total of the taxpayer's income for the period or periods in the year referred to in paragraph 114(a) and the amount that would be determined under paragraph 114(b) in respect of the taxpayer for the year if subsection 115(1) were read without reference to paragraphs 115(1)(d) to (f)

exceeds

(III) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the taxpayer under section 110.6 or paragraph 111(1)(b), or deductible by the taxpayer under paragraph 110(1)(d), (d.1), (d.2), (d.3), (f) or (j) or section 112 or 113, for the year or in respect of the period or periods referred to in subclause (II), as the case may be, and"

S. 126(1)(b)(ii)(A)(I) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 35(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years except that, in their application to the 1998 and 1999 taxation years, subclauses 126(1)(b)(ii)(A)(I) and (2.1)(a)(ii)(A)(I) and subparagraph 126(3)(b)(i) of the Act shall be read without reference to the expression "computed without reference to paragraph 20(1)(ww)". S. 126(1)(b)(ii)(A)(I) formerly read:

"(I) where section 114 is not applicable to the taxpayer in respect of the year, the total of the taxpayer's income for the year and the amount, if any, added under subsection 110.4(2) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year, and"

S. 126(1)(b)(i), the portion before clause C, was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 47(1), applicable to taxation years that begin after February 24, 1998. S. 126(1)(b)(i), the portion before clause C, formerly read:

"(i) the total of the taxpayer's incomes from sources in that country, excluding any portion thereof that was deductible by the taxpayer under subparagraph 110(1)(f)(i) or in respect of which an amount was deducted by the taxpayer under section 110.6,

(A) for the year, if section 114 is not applicable, or

(B) if section 114 is applicable, for the period or periods in the year referred to in paragraph 114(a),

on the assumption that"

S. 126(1)(b)(ii)(A)(II) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 60(1), applicable to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. S. 126(2.1)(b)(ii)(A)(II) formerly read:

"(II) where section 114 is applicable to the taxpayer in respect of the year, the taxpayer's income for the period or periods in the year referred to in paragraph 114(a)"

Related Sections: S. 4(1) Income or loss from a source or from sources in a place; s. 4(3) Deductions applicable; s. 104(22) Designation of foreign source income by trust; s. 110.5 Additions for foreign tax deductions; s. 126(7) Definitions; s. 127.54 Foreign tax credit — Minimum tax; s. 129(3) Definition of "refundable dividend tax on hand"; s. 138(8) No deduction for foreign tax; s. 144(8.1) Foreign tax deduction.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-270R3 Foreign tax credit; IT-395R2 Foreign tax credit — Foreign-source capital gains and losses. Secondary — IT-201R2 Foreign tax credit — Trust and beneficiaries; IT-273R2 Government assistance — General comments; IT-379R Employees Profit Sharing Plans — Allocations to Beneficiaries; IT-497R4 Overseas employment tax credit; IT-506 Foreign income taxes as a deduction from income.

Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 31R2, Social Security Taxes and the Foreign Tax Credit; Issue No. 30, Social Security Taxes and the Foreign Tax Credit.

Forms: T2036; T2209.

Tax Topics: No. 1565, U.S. AMT Foreign Tax Credits.

Tax Profile: February 2007 — U.S. Limited Liability Companies — The Good, the Bad and the Ugly; September 2006 — Canadian Acquisition of U.S. Real Estate; January 2006 — Foreign Source Income: Outbound Structures and Foreign Tax Credit Planning — Part I; February 2006 — Foreign Source Income: Outbound Structures and Foreign Tax Credit Planning — Part II; November 2003 — Revenue Canada Round Table; April 2001 — Canada–U.S. Hybrids.

Canadian Tax Foundation: Snider, "The Foreign Tax Credit Rules", 2001 Annual Conference, 14:1.

Cases: Contributions to the Maine State Retirement System were not a foreign tax for FTC purposes. Nadeau v. The Queen, 2004 DTC 2929 (T.C.C.).

► 126(1.1) ◄

(1.1) Authorized foreign bank. In applying subsections 20(12) and (12.1) and this section in respect of an authorized foreign bank,

(a) the bank is deemed, for the purposes of subsections (1), (4) to (5), (6) and (7), to be resident in Canada in respect of its Canadian banking business;

(b) the references in subsection 20(12) and paragraph (1)(a) to "country other than Canada" shall be read as a reference to "country that is neither Canada nor a country in which the taxpayer is resident at any time in the taxation year";

(c) the reference in subparagraph (1)(b)(i) to "from sources in that country" shall be read as a reference to "in respect of its Canadian banking business from sources in that country";

(d) subparagraph (1)(b)(ii) shall be read as follows:

"(ii) the lesser of

(A) the taxpayer's taxable income earned in Canada for the year, and

(B) the total of the taxpayer's income for the year from its Canadian banking business and the amount determined in respect of the taxpayer under subparagraph 115(1)(a)(vii) for the year;"

(e) in computing the non-business income tax paid by the bank for a taxation year to the government of a country other than Canada, there shall be included only taxes that relate to amounts that are included in computing the bank's taxable income earned in Canada from its Canadian banking business; and

(f) the definition "tax-exempt income" in subsection (7) shall be read as follows:

"'tax-exempt income' means income of a taxpayer from a source in a particular country in respect of which

(a) the taxpayer is, because of a comprehensive agreement or convention for the elimination of double taxation on income, which has the force of law in the particular country and to which a country in which the taxpayer is resident is a party, entitled to an exemption from all income or profits taxes, imposed in the particular country, to which the agreement or convention applies, and

(b) no income or profits tax to which the agreement or convention does not apply is imposed in the particular country;".

History: S. 126(1.1) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(2), applicable after June 27, 1999.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 1 — Foreign Investment Entities and Non-Resident Trusts — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Section 126 of the Act is amended by adding the following after subsection (1.1):

(1.2) Exception. Subsection (1) does not apply to non-business income tax paid by

(a) a taxpayer, in respect of a particular amount that is included in computing, in respect of the taxpayer, the amount determined under subparagraph 94.4(2)(a)(i) in respect of a participating interest of the taxpayer, if the taxpayer made a deduction under subsection 94.4(3) in respect of the particular amount; and (b) a corporation in respect of income from a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation.

Applicable: To taxation years that begin after 2006, except that subsection 126(1.2) also applies to a taxation year of a taxpayer that begins before 2007 if sections 94.1 to 94.4 apply to that taxation year of the taxpayer.

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the amendment to paragraph 126(1)(a).

► 126(2) ◄

(2) Idem. Where a taxpayer who was resident in Canada at any time in a taxation year carried on business in the year in a country other than Canada, the taxpayer may deduct from the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by the taxpayer an amount not exceeding the least of

(a) such part of the total of the business-income tax paid by the taxpayer for the year in respect of businesses carried on by the taxpayer in that country and the taxpayer's unused foreign tax credits in respect of that country for the 10 taxation years immediately preceding and the 3 taxation years immediately following the year as the taxpayer may claim,

(b) the amount determined under subsection (2.1) for the year in respect of businesses carried on by the taxpayer in that country, and

(c) the amount by which

(i) the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by the taxpayer

exceeds

(ii) the amount or the total of amounts, as the case may be, deducted under subsection (1) by the taxpayer from the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part.

History: S. 126(2)(a) was replaced by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 27(1), applicable in respect of unused foreign tax credits computed for taxation years that end after March 22, 2004. S. 126(2)(a) formerly read:

"(a) such part of the total of the business-income tax paid by the taxpayer for the year in respect of businesses carried on by the taxpayer in that country and the taxpayer's unused foreign tax credits in respect of that country for the seven taxation years immediately preceding and the three taxation years immediately following the year as the taxpayer may claim,"

Related Sections: S. 110.5 Additions for foreign tax deductions; s. 125(1) Small business deduction; s. 126(2.1) Amount determined for purposes of para. (2)(b); s. 126(6) Rules of construction; s. 126(7) Definitions; s. 129(3) Definition of "refundable dividend tax on hand"; s. 152(6) Reassessment where certain deductions claimed.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-270R3 Foreign tax credit; IT-520 (Consolid.) Unused foreign tax credits — Carryforward and carryback.

Forms: T2036; T2209.

Tax Profile: September 2006 — Canadian Acquisition of U.S. Real Estate; January 2006 — Foreign Source Income: Outbound Structures and Foreign Tax Credit Planning — Part I; February 2006 — Foreign Source Income: Outbound Structures and Foreign Tax Credit Planning — Part II.

Canadian Tax Foundation: Snider, "The Foreign Tax Credit Rules", 2001 Annual Conference, 14:1.

Canadian Petroleum Tax Journal: Selected Income Tax Considerations When Structuring Foreign Resource Ventures, William A. Brebber, Vol. 15 No. 1 2002.

Cases: Taxpayer became liable for U.K. tax at the end of a fiscal period, but the tax did not have to be paid for 14 months. The correct method of calculating the Canadian tax credit was to apply against the foreign tax the weighted average exchange rate which prevailed during the fiscal period in question rather than the rate which prevailed when the foreign tax was actually paid. The Bank of Nova Scotia v. The Queen, 81 DTC 5115 (F.C.A.). See also Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce v. The Queen, 81 DTC 5119 (F.C.A.).

The U.S. social security tax was held to be an income tax; therefore it was eligible. Seley v. M.N.R., 62 DTC 565 (T.A.B.). This decision was accepted by the Department of National Revenue in Interpretation Bulletin No. IT-122R.

► 126(2.1) ◄

(2.1) Amount determined for purposes of para. (2)(b). For the purposes of paragraph (2)(b), the amount determined under this subsection for a year in respect of businesses carried on by a taxpayer in a country other than Canada is the total of

(a) that proportion of the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by the taxpayer that

(i) the amount, if any, by which the total of the taxpayer's qualifying incomes exceeds the total of the taxpayer's qualifying losses

(A) for the year, if the taxpayer is resident in Canada throughout the year, and

(B) for the part of the year throughout which the taxpayer is resident in Canada, if the taxpayer is non-resident at any time in the year, from businesses carried on by the taxpayer in that country

is of

(ii) the total of

(A) the amount, if any, by which

(I) if the taxpayer is resident in Canada throughout the year, the taxpayer's income for the year computed without reference to paragraph 20(1)(ww), and

(II) if the taxpayer is non-resident at any time in the year, the amount determined under paragraph 114(a) in respect of the taxpayer for the year

exceeds

(III) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under section 110.6 or paragraph 111(1)(b), or deductible under any of paragraphs 110(1)(d) to (d.3), (f), (g) and (j) and sections 112 and 113, in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year, and

(B) the amount, if any, added under section 110.5 in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year, and

(b) that proportion of the amount, if any, added under subsection 120(1) to the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by the taxpayer that

(i) the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(i) in respect of the country

is of

(ii) the amount, if any, by which,

(A) where section 114 does not apply to the taxpayer in respect of the year, the taxpayer's income for the year, and

(B) where section 114 applies to the taxpayer in respect of the year, the total of the taxpayer's income for the period or periods referred to in paragraph 114(a) and the amount that would be determined under paragraph 114(b) in respect of the taxpayer for the year if subsection 115(1) were read without reference to paragraphs 115(1)(d) to (f)

exceeds

(C) the taxpayer's income earned in the year in a province (within the meaning assigned by subsection 120(4)).

History: S. 126(2.1)(a)(ii)(A)(III) was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 39(2), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years except that, for the 1997 taxation year subclause 126(2.1)(a)(ii)(A)(III) shall be read as follows:

"(III) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the taxpayer under section 110.6 or paragraph 111(1)(b), or deductible by the taxpayer under paragraph 110(1)(d), (d.1), (d.2), (d.3), (f), (g) or (j) or section 112 or 113, for the year or in respect of the period or periods referred to in subclause (II), as the case may be, and"

Notwithstanding subsections 152(4) to (5) of the Act, any assessment of a taxpayer's tax, interest or penalty for any taxation year shall be made that is necessary to give effect to the amendments to subclause 126(2.1)(a)(ii)(A)(III) and the alternative reading for 1997.

S. 126(2.1)(a)(ii)(A)(III) formerly read:

"(III) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under section 110.6 or paragraph 111(1)(b), or deductible under any of paragraphs 110(1)(d) to (d.3), (f) and (j) and sections 112 and 113, in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year, and"

S. 126(2.1)(a)(ii)(A) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(3), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years except that, in their application to the 1998 and 1999 taxation years, subclause 126(2.1)(a)(ii)(A)(I) of the Act shall be read without reference to the expression "computed without reference to paragraph 20(1)(w w)". S. 126(2.1)(a)(ii)(A) formerly read:

"(A) the amount, if any, by which

(I) where section 114 does not apply to the taxpayer in respect of the year, the taxpayer's income for the year computed without reference to paragraph 20(1)(ww), and

(II) where section 114 applies to the taxpayer in respect of the year, the total of the taxpayer's income for the period or periods referred to in paragraph 114(a) and the amount that would be determined under paragraph 114(b) in respect of the taxpayer for the year if subsection 115(1) were read without reference to paragraphs 115(1)(d) to (f)

exceeds

(III) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the taxpayer under section 110.6 or paragraph 111(1)(b), or deductible by the taxpayer under paragraph 110(1)(d), (d.1), (d.2), (d.3), (f) or (j) or section 112 or 113, for the year or in respect of the period or periods referred to in subclause (II), as the case may be, and"

S. 126(2.1)(a)(ii)(A)(I) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 35(2), applicable To the 1998 and subsequent taxation years except that, in their application to the 1998 and 1999 taxation years, subclauses 126(1)(b)(ii)(A)(I) and (2.1)(a)(ii)(A)(I) and subparagraph 126(3)(b)(i) of the Act shall be read without reference to the expression "computed without reference to paragraph 20(1)(ww)". S. 126(2.1)(a)(ii)(A)(I) formerly read:

"(I) where section 114 is not applicable to the taxpayer in respect of the year, the total of the taxpayer's income for the year and the amount, if any, included under subsection 110.4(2) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year, and"

S. 126(2.1)(b)(i) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 47(3), applicable to taxation years that begin after February 24, 1998. S. 126(2.1)(b)(i) formerly read:

"(i) the total of the taxpayer's incomes described in subparagraph (a)(i)"

S. 126(2.1)(a)(i) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 47(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after February 24, 1998. S. 126(2.1)(a)(i) formerly read:

"(i) the total of the taxpayer's incomes

(A) for the year, if section 114 is not applicable, or

(B) if section 114 is applicable, for the period or periods in the year referred to in paragraph 114(a),

from businesses carried on by the taxpayer in that country, other than any portion of that income that was deductible under subparagraph 110(1)(f)(i) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year, is of"

S. 126(2.1)(a)(ii)(A)(II) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 60(2), applicable to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. S. 126(2.1)(a)(ii)(A)(II) formerly read:

"(II) where section 114 is applicable to the taxpayer in respect of the year, the taxpayer's income for the period or periods in the year referred to in paragraph 114(a)"

S. 126(2.1)(b)(ii) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 60(3), applicable to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. S. 126(2.1)(b)(ii) formerly read:

"(ii) the taxpayer's income, other than the taxpayer's income earned in the year in a province (within the meaning assigned by subsection 120(4)),

(A) for the year, if section 114 is not applicable, or

(B) if section 114 is applicable, for the period or periods in the year referred to in paragraph 114(a)."

S. 126(2.1)(a)(i), following clause (B), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 103(1), applicable to taxation years ending after July 13, 1990. S. 126(2.1)(a)(i), following clause (B), formerly read:

"from businesses carried on by the taxpayer in that country"

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-270R3 Foreign tax credit.

► 126(2.2) ◄

(2.2) Non-resident's foreign tax deduction. If at any time in a taxation year a taxpayer who is not at that time resident in Canada disposes of a property that was deemed by subsection 48(2), as it read in its application before 1993, or by paragraph 128.1(4)(e), as it read in its application before October 2, 1996, to be taxable Canadian property of the taxpayer, the taxpayer may deduct from the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by the taxpayer an amount equal to the lesser of

(a) the amount of any non-business-income tax paid by the taxpayer for the year to the government of a country other than Canada that can reasonably be regarded as having been paid by the taxpayer in respect of any gain or profit from the disposition of the property, and

(b) that proportion of the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by the taxpayer that

(i) the taxable capital gain from the disposition of that property

is of

(ii) if the taxpayer is non-resident throughout the year, the taxpayer's taxable income earned in Canada for the year determined without reference to paragraphs 115(1)(d) to (f), and

(iii) if the taxpayer is resident in Canada at any time in the year, the amount that would have been the taxpayer's taxable income earned in Canada for the year if the part of the year throughout which the taxpayer was non-resident were the whole taxation year.

History: S. 126(2.2)(b)(ii) was amended, and subparagraph (iii) was added, by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(5), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 126(2.2)(b)(ii) formerly read:

"(ii) the amount that would be the taxpayer's taxable income earned in Canada

(A) for the year, if section 114 is not applicable, or

(B) if section 114 is applicable, for the portion of the year referred to in paragraph 114(b)

if subsection 115(1) were read without reference to that portion thereof following paragraph 115(1)(c)."

S. 126(2.2), the portion before paragraph (b) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(4), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. S. 126(2.2), the portion before paragraph (b) formerly read:

"(2.2) Non-resident's foreign tax deduction. Where at any time in a taxation year a taxpayer who is not at that time resident in Canada disposes of property that was deemed by subsection 48(2), as it read in its application before 1993, or paragraph 128.1(4)(e) to be taxable Canadian property of the taxpayer, the taxpayer may deduct from the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by the taxpayer an amount equal to

(a) the amount of any non-business-income tax paid by the taxpayer for the year to the government of a country other than Canada that may reasonably be regarded as having been paid by the taxpayer in respect of any gain or profit from the disposition of that property

not exceeding, however,"

S. 126(2.2), that portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 60(4), applicable after 1992. S. 126(2.2), that portion before paragraph (a), formerly read:

"(2.2) Non-residents' foreign tax deduction. Where at any time in a taxation year a taxpayer who was not at that time resident in Canada disposed of property that was deemed by subsection 48(2) to be taxable Canadian property of the taxpayer, the taxpayer may deduct from the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by the taxpayer an amount equal to"

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-395R2 Foreign tax credit — Foreign-source capital gains and losses. Secondary — IT-451R Deemed disposition and acquisition on ceasing to be or becoming resident in Canada.

► 126(2.21) ◄

(2.21) Former resident — deduction. If at any particular time in a particular taxation year a non-resident individual disposes of a property that the individual last acquired because of the application, at any time (in this subsection referred to as the "acquisition time") after October 1, 1996, of paragraph 128.1(4)(c), there may be deducted from the individual's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year (in this subsection referred to as the "emigration year") that includes the time immediately before the acquisition time an amount not exceeding the lesser of

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of any business-income tax or non-business-income tax paid by the individual for the particular year

(i) where the property is real property situated in a country other than Canada,

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 3 — Amendments Relating to Bijuralism — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of subparagraph 126(2.21)(a)(i) of the Act before clause (A) is replaced by the following:

(i) where the property is real or immovable property situated in a country other than Canada,

Applicable: Royal Assent.

Explanatory Note: [See the Explanatory Note re amendments related to bijuralism following the amendment to paragraph 12(1)(o).]

(A) to the government of that country, or

(B) to the government of a country with which Canada has a tax treaty at the particular time and in which the individual is resident at the particular time, or

(ii) where the property is not real property, to the government of a country with which Canada has a tax treaty at the particular time and in which the individual is resident at the particular time,

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 3 — Amendments Relating to Bijuralism — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subparagraph 126(2.21)(a)(ii) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(ii) where the property is not real or immovable property, to the government of a country with which Canada has a tax treaty at the particular time and in which the individual is resident at the particular time,

Applicable: Royal Assent.

Explanatory Note: [See the Explanatory Note re amendments related to bijuralism following the amendment to paragraph 12(1)(o).]

that can reasonably be regarded as having been paid in respect of that portion of any gain or profit from the disposition of the property that accrued while the individual was resident in Canada and before the time the individual last ceased to be resident in Canada, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount of tax under this Part that was, after taking into account the application of this subsection in respect of dispositions that occurred before the particular time, otherwise payable by the individual for the emigration year

exceeds

(ii) the amount of such tax that would have been payable if the property had not been deemed by subsection 128.1(4) to have been disposed of in the emigration year.

History: S. 126(2.21) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(6), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 152(6) Reassessment where certain deductions claimed.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-395R2 Foreign tax credit — Foreign-source capital gains and losses.

► 126(2.22) ◄

(2.22) Former resident — trust beneficiary. If at any particular time in a particular taxation year a non-resident individual disposes of a property that the individual last acquired at any time (in this subsection referred to as the "acquisition time") on a distribution after October 1, 1996 to which paragraphs 107(2)(a) to (c) do not apply only because of subsection 107(5), the trust may deduct from its tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year (in this subsection referred to as the "distribution year") that includes the acquisition time an amount not exceeding the lesser of

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of any business-income tax or non-business-income tax paid by the individual for the particular year

(i) where the property is real property situated in a country other than Canada,

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 3 — Amendments Relating to Bijuralism — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of subparagraph 126(2.22)(a)(i) of the Act before clause (A) is replaced by the following:

(i) where the property is real or immovable property situated in a country other than Canada,

Applicable: Royal Assent.

Explanatory Note: [See the Explanatory Note re amendments related to bijuralism following the amendment to paragraph 12(1)(o).]

(A) to the government of that country, or

(B) to the government of a country with which Canada has a tax treaty at the particular time and in which the individual is resident at the particular time, or

(ii) where the property is not real property, to the government of a country with which Canada has a tax treaty at the particular time and in which the individual is resident at the particular time,

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 3 — Amendments Relating to Bijuralism — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subparagraph 126(2.22)(a)(ii) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(ii) where the property is not real or immovable property, to the government of a country with which Canada has a tax treaty at the particular time and in which the individual is resident at the particular time,

Applicable: Royal Assent.

Explanatory Note: [See the Explanatory Note re amendments related to bijuralism following the amendment to paragraph 12(1)(o).]

that can reasonably be regarded as having been paid in respect of that portion of any gain or profit from the disposition of the property that accrued before the distribution and after the latest of the times, before the distribution, at which

(iii) the trust became resident in Canada,

(iv) the individual became a beneficiary under the trust, or

(v) the trust acquired the property, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount of tax under this Part that was, after taking into account the application of this subsection in respect of dispositions that occurred before the particular time, otherwise payable by the trust for the distribution year

exceeds

(ii) the amount of such tax that would have been payable by the trust for the distribution year if the property had not been distributed to the individual.

History: S. 126(2.22) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(6), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 152(6) Reassessment where certain deductions claimed.

► 126(2.23) ◄

(2.23) Where foreign credit available. For the purposes of subsections (2.21) and (2.22), in computing, in respect of the disposition of a property by an individual in a taxation year, the total amount of taxes paid by the individual for the year to one or more governments of countries other than Canada, there shall be deducted any tax credit (or other reduction in the amount of a tax) to which the individual was entitled for the year, under the law of any of those countries or under a tax treaty between Canada and any of those countries, because of taxes paid or payable by the individual under this Act in respect of the disposition or a previous disposition of the property.

History: S. 126(2.23) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(6), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years.

► 126(2.3) ◄

(2.3) Rules relating to unused foreign tax credit. For the purposes of this section,

(a) the amount claimed under paragraph (2)(a) by a taxpayer for a taxation year in respect of a country shall be deemed to be in respect of the business-income tax paid by the taxpayer for the year in respect of businesses carried on by the taxpayer in that country to the extent of the amount of that tax, and the remainder, if any, of the amount so claimed shall be deemed to be in respect of the taxpayer's unused foreign tax credits in respect of that country that may be claimed for the taxation year;

(b) no amount may be claimed under paragraph (2)(a) in computing a taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for a particular taxation year in respect of the taxpayer's unused foreign tax credit in respect of a country for a taxation year until the taxpayer's unused foreign tax credits in respect of that country for taxation years preceding the taxation year that may be claimed for the particular taxation year have been claimed; and

(c) an amount in respect of a taxpayer's unused foreign tax credit in respect of a country for a taxation year may be claimed under paragraph (2)(a) in computing the taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for a particular taxation year only to the extent that it exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount that may reasonably be considered to have been claimed in respect of that unused foreign tax credit in computing the taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for a taxation year preceding the particular taxation year.

History: Ss. 126(2.3)(b) and (c) were amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(7), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. Ss. 126(2.3)(b) and (c) formerly read:

"(b) no amount may be claimed under paragraph (2)(a) in computing a taxpayer's tax payable under this Part or Part I.1 for a particular taxation year in respect of the taxpayer's unused foreign tax credit in respect of a country for a taxation year until the taxpayer's unused foreign tax credits in respect of that country for taxation years preceding the taxation year that may be claimed for the particular taxation year have been claimed; and

(c) an amount in respect of a taxpayer's unused foreign tax credit in respect of a country for a taxation year may be claimed under paragraph (2)(a) in computing the taxpayer's tax payable under this Part or Part I.1 for a particular taxation year only to the extent that it exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount that may reasonably be considered to have been claimed in respect of that unused foreign tax credit in computing the taxpayer's tax payable under this Part or Part I.1 for a taxation year preceding the particular taxation year."

Related Sections: S. 126(7) Definitions.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-520 (Consolid.) Unused foreign tax credits — Carryforward and carryback.

► 126(3) ◄

(3) Employees of international organizations. Where an individual is resident in Canada at any time in a taxation year, there may be deducted from the individual's tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part, an amount equal to that proportion of the tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part by the individual that

(a) the individual's income

(i) for the year, if the individual is resident in Canada throughout the year, and

(ii) for the part of the year throughout which the individual was resident in Canada, if the individual is non-resident at any time in the year, from employment with an international organization (other than a prescribed international organization), as defined for the purposes of section 2 of the Foreign Missions and International Organizations Act

is of

(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) if the taxpayer is resident in Canada throughout the year, the taxpayer's income for the year computed without reference to paragraph 20(1)(ww), and

(ii) if the taxpayer is non-resident at any time in the year, the amount determined under paragraph 114(a) in respect of the taxpayer for the year

exceeds

(iii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under section 110.6 or paragraph 111(1)(b), or deductible under any of paragraphs 110(1)(d) to (d.3), (f), (g) and (j), in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year, except that the amount deductible under this subsection in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year may not exceed that proportion of the total of all amounts each of which is an amount paid by the individual to the organization as a levy (the proceeds of which are used to defray expenses of the organization), computed by reference to the remuneration received by the individual in the year from the organization in a manner similar to the manner in which income tax is computed, that

(c) the individual's income for the year from employment with the organization

is of

(d) the amount that would be the individual's income for the year from employment with the organization if this Act were read without reference to paragraph 81(1)(a).

History: S. 126(3)(b)(iii) was amended by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 39(3), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years except that, for the 1997 taxation year subparagraph 126(3)(b)(iii) shall be read as follows:

"(iii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under section 110.6 or paragraph 111(1)(b), or deductible under paragraph 110(1)(d), (d.1), (d.2), (d.3), (f), (g) or (j), in computing the individual's taxable income for the year or in respect of the period or periods referred to in subparagraph (ii), as the case may be,"

Notwithstanding subsections 152(4) to (5) of the Act, any assessment of a taxpayer's tax, interest or penalty for any taxation year shall be made that is necessary to give effect to the amendments to subparagraph 126(3)(b)(iii) and the alternative reading for 1997.

S. 126(3)(b)(iii) formerly read:

"(iii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under section 110.6 or paragraph 111(1)(b), or deductible under any of paragraphs 110(1)(d) to (d.3), (f) and (j), in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year,"

Ss. 126(3)(a)(i) and (ii) were amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(8), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. Ss. 126(3)(a)(i) and (ii) formerly read:

"(i) for the year, where section 114 is not applicable to the individual in respect of the year, and

(ii) for the period or periods in the year referred to in paragraph 114(a), where section 114 is applicable to the individual in respect of the year,"

S. 126(3)(b) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(9), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years except that, in their application to the 1998 and 1999 taxation years, subparagraph 126(3)(b)(i) of the Act shall be read without reference to the expression "computed without reference to paragraph 20(1)(ww)". S. 126(3)(b) formerly read:

"(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) where section 114 does not apply to the individual in respect of the year, the individual's income for the year computed without reference to paragraph 20(1)(ww), and

(ii) where section 114 applies to the individual in respect of the year, the total of the individual's income for the period or periods in the year referred to in paragraph 114(a) and the amount that would be determined under paragraph 114(b) in respect of the individual for the year if subsection 115(1) were read without reference to paragraphs 115(1)(d) to (f)

exceeds

(iii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under section 110.6 or paragraph 111(1)(b), or deductible under paragraph 110(1)(d), (d.1), (d.2), (d.3), (f) or (j), in computing the individual's taxable income for the year or in respect of the period or periods referred to in subparagraph (ii), as the case may be,"

S. 126(3)(b)(i) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 35(3), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years except that, in their application to the 1998 and 1999 taxation years, subclauses 126(1)(b)(ii)(A)(I) and (2.1)(a)(ii)(A)(I) and subparagraph 126(3)(b)(i) of the Act shall be read without reference to the expression "computed without reference to paragraph 20(1)(ww)". S. 126(3)(b)(i) formerly read:

"(i) where section 114 does not apply to the individual in respect of the year, the total of the individual's income for the year and the amount, if any, included under subsection 110.4(2) in computing the individual's taxable income for the year, and"

S. 126(3)(b)(i) and 126(3)(b)(ii) were amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 60(5), applicable to the 1993 and subsequent taxation years. S. 126(3)(b)(i) and 126(3)(b)(ii) formerly read:

"(i) the total of the individual's income for the year and the amount, if any, included pursuant to subsection 110.4(2) in computing the individual's taxable income for the year, where section 114 is not applicable to the individual in respect of the year, or

(ii) the individual's income for the period or periods in the year referred to in paragraph 114(a), where section 114 is applicable to the individual in respect of the year,"

S. 126(3)(a), that portion following subparagraph (ii), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 67(1), applicable to the 1991 and subsequent taxation years. S. 126(3)(a), that portion following subparagraph (ii), formerly read:

"from employment with an organization, as defined in section 3 of the Privileges and Immunities (International Organizations) Act"

S. 126(3), that portion following subparagraph (b)(ii), was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 67(2), applicable to the 1991 and subsequent taxation years. S. 126(3), that portion following subparagraph (b)(ii), formerly read:

"exceeds

(iii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the individual under section 110.6 or paragraph 111(1)(b), or deductible by the individual under paragraph 110(1)(d) or (f), for the year or in respect of the period or periods referred to in subparagraph (ii), as the case may be,

except that where the organization referred to in paragraph (a) is neither the United Nations nor a specialized agency that is brought into relationship with the United Nations in accordance with Article 63 of the Charter of the United Nations, the amount deductible under this subsection by the individual may not exceed that proportion of the total of all amounts each of which is an amount paid by the individual to the organization as a levy (the proceeds of which are used to defray expenses of the organization) computed by reference to the remuneration received by the individual in the year from the organization in a manner similar to the manner in which income tax is computed that"

Related Sections: S. 110(1)(f) Deductions for payments; s. 126(7) Definitions.

► 126(4) ◄

(4) Portion of foreign tax not included. For the purposes of this Act, an income or profits tax paid by a person resident in Canada to the government of a country other than Canada does not include a tax, or that portion of a tax, imposed by that government that would not be imposed if the person were not entitled under section 113 or this section to a deduction in respect of the tax or that portion of the tax.

History: S. 126(4) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(10), applicable after June 27, 1999. S. 126(4) formerly read:

"(4) Portion of foreign tax not included. For the purposes of this Act, an income or profits tax paid by a person resident in Canada to the government of a country other than Canada or to the government of a state, province or other political subdivision of such a country does not include a tax, or that portion of a tax, imposed by that country or by that state, province or other political subdivision, as the case may be, that would not be imposed if the person were not entitled under this section or under section 113 to a deduction in respect thereof."

► 126(4.1) ◄

(4.1) No economic profit. If a taxpayer acquires a property, other than a capital property, at any time after February 23, 1998 and it is reasonable to expect at that time that the taxpayer will not realize an economic profit in respect of the property for the period that begins at that time and ends when the taxpayer next disposes of the property, the total amount of all income or profits taxes (referred to as the "foreign tax" for the purpose of subsection 20(12.1)) in respect of the property for the period, and in respect of related transactions, paid by the taxpayer for any year to the government of any country other than Canada, is not included in computing the taxpayer's business-income tax or non-business-income tax for any taxation year.

History: S. 126(4.1) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(10), applicable after June 27, 1999. S. 126(4.1) formerly read:

"(4.1) No economic profit. If a taxpayer acquires a property, other than a capital property, at any time after February 23, 1998 and it is reasonable to expect at that time that the taxpayer will not realize an economic profit in respect of the property for the period that begins at that time and ends when the taxpayer next disposes of the property, the total amount of all income or profits taxes (referred to as the 'foreign tax' for the purpose of subsection 20(12.1)) in respect of the property for the period, and in respect of related transactions, paid by the taxpayer for any year to the government of any country other than Canada or to the government of a state, province or other political subdivision of such a country, is not included in computing taxpayer's business-income tax or non-business-income tax for any taxation year."

S. 126(4.1) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 47(4), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 126(7), "Economic profit", "related transactions"; s. 248(28) Limitation respecting inclusions, deductions and tax credits.

► 126(4.2) ◄

(4.2) Short-term securities acquisitions. If at any particular time a taxpayer disposes of a property that is a share or debt obligation and the period that began at the time the taxpayer last acquired the property and ended at the particular time is one year or less, the amount included in business-income tax or non-business-income tax paid by the taxpayer for a particular taxation year on account of all taxes (referred to in this subsection and subsections (4.3) and 161(6.1) as the "foreign tax") that are

(a) paid by the taxpayer in respect of dividends or interest in respect of the period that are included in computing the taxpayer's income from the property for any taxation year,

(b) otherwise included in business-income tax or non-business-income tax for any taxation year, and

(c) similar to the tax levied under Part XIII shall, subject to subsection (4.3), not exceed the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times (B - C) \times D/E$$

where

A is 40%, if the foreign tax would otherwise be included in business-income tax, and 30%, if the foreign tax would otherwise be included in non-business-income tax,

B is the total of the taxpayer's proceeds from the disposition of the property at the particular time and the amount of all dividends or interest from the property in respect of the period included in computing the taxpayer's income for any taxation year,

C is the total of the cost at which the taxpayer last acquired the property and any outlays or expenses made or incurred by the taxpayer for the purpose of disposing of the property at the particular time,

D is the amount of foreign tax that would otherwise be included in computing the taxpayer's business-income tax or non-business-income tax for the particular year, and

E is the total amount of foreign tax that would otherwise be included in computing the taxpayer's business-income tax or non-business-income tax for all taxation years.

History: S. 126(4.2) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 47(4), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years.

► 126(4.3) ◄

(4.3) Exceptions. Subsection (4.2) does not apply to a property of a taxpayer

(a) that is a capital property;

(b) that is a debt obligation issued to the taxpayer that has a term of one year or less and that is held by no one other than the taxpayer at any time;

(c) that was last acquired by the taxpayer before February 24, 1998; or

(d) in respect of which any foreign tax is, because of subsection (4.1), not included in computing the taxpayer's business-income tax or non-business-income tax.

History: S. 126(4.3) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 47(4), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years.

► 126(4.4) ◄

(4.4) Dispositions ignored. For the purposes of subsections (4.1) and (4.2) and the definition "economic profit" in subsection (7),

(a) a disposition or acquisition of property deemed to be made by subsection 10(12) or (13), 14(14) or (15) or 45(1), section 70 or 128.1, paragraph 132.2(1)(f), subsection 138(11.3), 142.5(2) or 142.6(1.1) or (1.2), paragraph 142.6(1)(b) or subsection 149(10) is not a disposition or acquisition, as the case may be; and

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Paragraph 126(4.4)(a) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(a) a disposition or acquisition of property deemed to be made by subsection 10(12) or (13), 14(14) or (15) or 45(1), section 70, 128.1 or 132.2, subsections 138(11.3) or 142.5(2), paragraph 142.6(1)(b), or subsections 142.6(1.1) or (1.2) or 149(10) is not a disposition or acquisition, as the case may be; and

Applicable: To dispositions and acquisitions that occur after 1998, except that, in applying paragraph 126(4.4)(a) to dispositions and acquisitions that occur before June 28, 1999, that paragraph is to be read without reference to "10(12) or (13), 14(14) or (15), or".

Explanatory Note:

Foreign Tax Credit — Dispositions Ignored

Subsection 126(4.4) of the Act directs that certain dispositions and acquisitions of property be ignored for the purposes of the foreign tax credit limitations in subsections 126(4.1) and (4.2) and the definition of "economic profit" in subsection 126(7). As a consequence of the restructuring of section 132.2 of the Act, the reference in paragraph 126(4.4)(a) to paragraph 132.2(1)(f) is replaced by a reference to section 132.2.

This amendment applies to dispositions and acquisitions that occur after 1998 except that, in applying paragraph 126(4.4)(a) of the Act to dispositions and acquisitions that occur before June 28, 1999, that paragraph is to be read without reference to subsections 10(12), 10(13), 14(14) and 14(15) of the Act.

(b) a disposition

(i) to which section 51.1 applies, of a convertible obligation in exchange for a new obligation,

(ii) to which subsection 86(1) applies, of old shares in exchange for new shares, or

(iii) to which subsections 87(4) and (8) apply, of old shares in exchange for new shares, is not a disposition, and the convertible obligation and the new obligation, or the old shares and the new shares, as the case may be, are deemed to be the same property.

History: S. 126(4.4)(a) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(11), applicable after June 27, 1999. S. 126(4.4)(a) formerly read:

"(a) a disposition or acquisition of property deemed to be made by subsection 45(1), section 70 or 128.1, paragraph 132.2(1)(f), subsection 138(11.3) or 142.5(2), paragraph 142.6(1)(b) or subsection 149(10) is not a disposition or acquisition, as the case may be; and"

S. 126(4.4) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 47(4), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years.

► 126(5) ◄

(5) Foreign oil and gas levies. A taxpayer who is resident in Canada throughout a taxation year and carries on a foreign oil and gas business in a taxing country in the year is deemed for the purposes of this section to have paid in the year as an income or profits tax to the government of the taxing country an amount equal to the lesser of

(a) the amount, if any, by which

(i) 40% of the taxpayer's income from the business in the taxing country for the year

exceeds

(ii) the total of all amounts that would, but for this subsection, be income or profits taxes paid in the year in respect of the business to the government of the taxing country, and

(b) the taxpayer's production tax amount for the business in the taxing country for the year.

History: S. 126(5) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(12), applicable to taxation years of a taxpayer that begin after the earlier of

(a) December 31, 1999; and

(b) where, for the purposes of this subsection, a date is designated in writing by the taxpayer and the designation is filed with the Minister of National Revenue on or before the taxpayer's filing-due date for the taxpayer's taxation year that includes June 14, 2001, the later of

(i) the date so designated, and

(ii) December 31, 1994.

S. 126(5) formerly read:

"(5) Foreign tax. A tax paid to the government of a country other than Canada or to the government of a state, province or other political subdivision of such a country may, subject to prescribed conditions, be deemed, for the purposes of this Act, to be an income or profits tax paid to the government of that country."

Canadian Petroleum Tax Journal: Selected Income Tax Considerations When Structuring Foreign Resource Ventures, William A. Brebber, Vol. 15 No. 1 2002.

► 126(5.1) ◄

(5.1) Deductions for specified capital gains. Where in a taxation year an individual has claimed a deduction under section 110.6 in computing the individual's taxable income for the year, for the purposes of this section the individual shall be deemed to have claimed the deduction under section 110.6 in respect of such taxable capital gains or portion thereof as the individual may specify in the individual's return of income required to be filed pursuant to section 150 for the year or, where the individual has failed to so specify, in respect of such taxable capital gains as the Minister may specify in respect of the taxpayer for the year.

► 126(6) ◄

(6) Rules of construction. For the purposes of this section,

(a) the government of a country other than Canada includes the government of a state, province or other political subdivision of that country;

(b) where a taxpayer's income for a taxation year is in whole or in part from sources in more than one country other than Canada, subsections (1) and (2) shall be read as providing for separate deductions in respect of each of the countries other than Canada; and

(c) if any income from a source in a particular country would be tax-exempt income but for the fact that a portion of the income is subject to an income or profits tax imposed by the government of a country other than Canada, the portion is deemed to be income from a separate source in the particular country.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subsection 126(6) of the Act is amended by striking out the word "and" at the end of paragraph (b), by adding the word "and" at the end of paragraph (c) and by adding the following after paragraph (c):

(d) if, in computing a taxpayer's income for a taxation year from a business carried on by the taxpayer in Canada, an amount is included in respect of interest paid or payable to the taxpayer by a person resident in a country other than Canada, and the taxpayer has paid to the government of that other country a non-business income tax for the year with respect to the amount, the amount is, in applying the definition "qualifying incomes" in subsection (7) for the purpose of subsection (1), deemed to be income from a source in that other country.

Applicable: To amounts received after February 27, 2004.

Explanatory Note:

Rules of Construction

Section 126 of the Act permits a taxpayer to claim a foreign tax credit. Subsection 126(1) sets out the rules for claiming the credit in respect of foreign non-business-income tax — that is, the foreign taxes imposed on investment income and other categories of foreign source non-business income. A credit in respect of foreign taxes on business income is provided under subsection 126(2).

Subsection 126(1) has been interpreted to allow a non-business foreign tax credit for non-business foreign tax paid on interest income earned abroad by a Canadian business that does not carry on business in the foreign jurisdiction, and therefore is not eligible for a business foreign tax credit. In order to ensure that the credit continues to be available in these situations, subsection 126(6), which contains interpretation rules that apply to the section, is amended to add new paragraph 126(6)(d). New paragraph 126(6)(d) deems foreign interest income earned from a business carried on in Canada, and for which the business has paid a non-business foreign tax to a country other than Canada, to be from a source in that other country. Therefore, if a taxpayer includes in its Canadian business income for the year foreign interest income, and has paid foreign tax with respect to this amount, the taxpayer will be eligible to claim a non-business foreign tax credit subject to the limits set out in section 126.

New paragraph 126(6)(d) applies to amounts received after February 27, 2004.

History: S. 126(6) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(13), applicable after June 27, 1999. S. 126(6) formerly read:

"(6) Construction of ss. (1) and (2). For greater certainty, where a taxpayer's income for a taxation year is in whole or in part from sources in more than one country other than Canada, subsections (1) and (2) shall be read as providing for separate deductions in respect of each of the countries other than Canada."

► 126(7) ◄

(7) Definitions. In this section,

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-270R3 Foreign tax credit; IT-506 Foreign income taxes as a deduction from income.
Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 8, Treatment of United States unitary state taxes.

"business-income tax" — "business-income tax" paid by a taxpayer for a taxation year in respect of businesses carried on by the taxpayer in a country other than Canada (in this definition referred to as the "business country") means, subject to subsections (4.1) and (4.2), the portion of any income or profits tax paid by the taxpayer for the year to the government of a country other than Canada that can reasonably be regarded as tax in respect of the income of the taxpayer from a business carried on by the taxpayer in the business country, but does not include a tax, or the portion of a tax, that can reasonably be regarded as relating to an amount that

(a) any other person or partnership has received or is entitled to receive from that government, or

(b) was deductible under subparagraph 110(1)(f)(i) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year;

History: S. 126(7), the portion of the definition "business-income tax" before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(16), applicable after June 27, 1999. S. 126(7), the portion of the definition "business-income tax" before paragraph (a) formerly read:

" 'business-income tax' — 'business-income tax' paid by a taxpayer for a taxation year in respect of businesses carried on by the taxpayer in a country other than Canada (in this definition referred to as the 'business country') means, subject to subsections (4.1) and (4.2), the portion of any income or profits tax paid by the taxpayer for the year to the government of any country other than Canada or to the government of a state, province or other political subdivision of any such country that can reasonably be regarded as tax in respect of the income of the taxpayer from any business carried on by the taxpayer in the business country, but does not include a tax, or the portion of a tax, that can reasonably be regarded as relating to an amount that"

S. 126(7), the portion of the definition "business-income tax" before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 47(5), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 126(7), the portion of the definition "business-income tax" before paragraph (a) formerly read:

" 'business-income tax' — 'business-income tax' paid by a taxpayer for a taxation year in respect of businesses carried on by the taxpayer in a country other than Canada (in this paragraph referred to as the 'business country') means such portion of any income or profits tax paid by the taxpayer for the year to the government of any country other than Canada or to the government of a state, province or other political subdivision of any such country as can reasonably be regarded as tax in respect of the income of the taxpayer from any business carried on by the taxpayer in the business country, but does not include a tax, or the portion of a tax, that can reasonably be regarded as relating to an amount that"

S. 126(7), the definition of "business-income tax", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 103(2), applicable to taxation years ending after July 13, 1990. S. 126(7), the definition of "business-income tax", formerly read:

" 'business-income tax' — 'business-income tax' paid by a taxpayer for a taxation year in respect of businesses carried on by the taxpayer in a country other than Canada (in this definition referred to as the 'business country') means such portion of any income or profits tax paid by the taxpayer for the year to the government of a country other than Canada or to the government of a state, province or other political subdivision of such a country as may reasonably be regarded as tax in respect of the income of the taxpayer from any business carried on by the taxpayer in the business country, but does not include a tax, or the portion of a tax, that may reasonably be regarded as relating to an amount that any other person or partnership has received or is entitled to receive from that government;"

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-270R3 Foreign tax credit. Secondary — IT-520 (Consolid.) Unused foreign tax credits — Carryforward and carryback.
Canadian Petroleum Tax Journal: Selected Income Tax Considerations When Structuring Foreign Resource Ventures, William A. Brebber, Vol. 15 No. 1 2002.

"commercial obligation" — "commercial obligation" in respect of a taxpayer's foreign oil and gas business in a country means an obligation of the taxpayer to a particular person, undertaken in the course of carrying on the business or in contemplation of the business, if the law of the country would have allowed the taxpayer to undertake an obligation, on substantially the same terms, to a person other than the particular person;

History: S. 126(7), the definition "commercial obligation" was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(19), applicable to taxation years of a taxpayer that begin after the earlier of

(a) December 31, 1999; and

(b) where, for the purposes of this subsection, a date is designated in writing by the taxpayer and the designation is filed with the Minister of National Revenue on or before the taxpayer's filing-due date for the taxpayer's taxation year that includes June 14, 2001, the later of

(i) the date so designated, and

(ii) December 31, 1994.

"economic profit" — "economic profit" of a taxpayer in respect of a property for a period means the part of the taxpayer's profit, from the business in which the property is used, that is attributable to the property in respect of the period or to related transactions, determined as if the only amounts deducted in computing that part of the profit were

(a) interest and financing expenses incurred by the taxpayer and attributable to the acquisition or holding of the property in respect of the period or to a related transaction,

(b) income or profits taxes payable by the taxpayer for any year to the government of a country other than Canada, in respect of the property for the period or in respect of a related transaction, or

(c) other outlays and expenses that are directly attributable to the acquisition, holding or disposition of the property in respect of the period or to a related transaction;

History: S. 126(7), paragraph (b) of the definition "economic profit" was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(17), applicable after June 27, 1999. S. 126(7), paragraph (b) of the definition "economic profit" formerly read:

"(b) income or profits taxes payable by the taxpayer for any year to the government of any country other than Canada or to the government of any state, province or other political subdivision of such a country, in respect of the property for the period or in respect of a related transaction, or"

S. 126(7), the definition "economic profit" was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 47(7), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 126(4.1) No economic profit; s. 126(7), "related transactions".

"foreign oil and gas business" — "foreign oil and gas business" of a taxpayer means a business, carried on by the taxpayer in a taxing country, the principal activity of which is the extraction from natural accumulations, or from oil or gas wells, of petroleum, natural gas or related hydrocarbons;

History: S. 126(7), the definition "foreign oil and gas business" was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(19), applicable to taxation years of a taxpayer that begin after the earlier of

(a) December 31, 1999; and

(b) where, for the purposes of this subsection, a date is designated in writing by the taxpayer and the designation is filed with the Minister of National Revenue on or before the taxpayer's filing-due date for the taxpayer's taxation year that includes June 14, 2001, the later of

(i) the date so designated, and

(ii) December 31, 1994.

Canadian Petroleum Tax Journal: Selected Income Tax Considerations When Structuring Foreign Resource Ventures, William A. Brebber, Vol. 15 No. 1 2002.

"Foreign-tax carryover" — [Repealed by 1984, c. 45, s. 42(5).]

"non-business-income tax" — "non-business-income tax" paid by a taxpayer for a taxation year to the government of a country other than Canada means, subject to subsections (4.1) and (4.2), the portion of any income or profits tax paid by the taxpayer for the year to the government of that country that

(a) was not included in computing the taxpayer's business-income tax for the year in respect of any business carried on by the taxpayer in any country other than Canada,

(b) was not deductible by virtue of subsection 20(11) in computing the taxpayer's income for the year, and

(c) was not deducted by virtue of subsection 20(12) in computing the taxpayer's income for the year, but does not include a tax, or the portion of a tax,

(c.1) that is in respect of an amount deducted because of subsection 104(22.3) in computing the taxpayer's business-income tax,

(d) that would not have been payable had the taxpayer not been a citizen of that country and that cannot reasonably be regarded as attributable to income from a source outside Canada,

(e) that may reasonably be regarded as relating to an amount that any other person or partnership has received or is entitled to receive from that government,

(f) that, where the taxpayer deducted an amount under subsection 122.3(1) from the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year, may reasonably be regarded as attributable to the taxpayer's income from employment to the extent of the lesser of the amounts determined in respect thereof under paragraphs 122.3(1)(c) and (d) for the year,

(g) that can reasonably be attributed to a taxable capital gain or a portion thereof in respect of which the taxpayer or a spouse or common-law partner of the taxpayer has claimed a deduction under section 110.6,

(h) that may reasonably be regarded as attributable to any amount received or receivable by the taxpayer in respect of a loan for the period in the year during which it was an eligible loan (within the meaning assigned by subsection 33.1(1)), or

(i) that can reasonably be regarded as relating to an amount that was deductible under subparagraph 110(1)(f)(i) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income for the year;

History: S. 126(7), the portion of the definition "non-business-income tax" before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(18), applicable after June 27, 1999. S. 126(7), the portion of the definition "non-business-income tax" before paragraph (a) formerly read:

" 'non-business-income tax' — 'non-business-income tax' paid by a taxpayer for a taxation year to the government of a country other than Canada means, subject to subsections (4.1) and (4.2), the portion of any income or profits tax paid by the taxpayer for the year to the government of that country, or to the government of a state, province or other political subdivision of that country, that"

S. 126(7), paragraph (g) of the definition "non-business-income tax" was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.14), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 126(7), paragraph (g) of the definition "non-business-income tax" formerly read:

"(g) that can reasonably be attributed to a taxable capital gain or a portion thereof in respect of which the taxpayer or a spouse of the taxpayer has claimed a deduction under section 110.6,"

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision.] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 126(7), the portion of the definition "non-business-income tax" before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 47(6), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 126(7), the portion of the definition "non-business-income tax" formerly read:

" 'non-business-income tax' — 'non-business-income tax' paid by a taxpayer for a taxation year to the government of a country other than Canada means such portion of any income or profits tax paid by the taxpayer for the year to the government of that country, or to the government of a state, province or other political subdivision of that country, as"

S. 126(7), paragraph (g) of the definition "non-business income tax", was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 36(2), applicable to the 1994 and subsequent taxation years. That paragraph formerly read:

"(g) that may reasonably be attributed to a taxable capital gain or a portion thereof in respect of which the taxpayer has claimed a deduction for the year under section 110.6,"

S. 126(7), the definition of "non-business-income tax", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 60(6) to add paragraph (c.1), applicable to taxation years that end after November 12, 1981.

Paragraph (i) of the definition of "non-business-income tax" in subsection 126(7) of the Act was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 103(3), applicable to taxation years ending after July 13, 1990.

Related Sections: S. 80.1(2) Election re interest received or to be received on expropriation assets acquired by taxpayer.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-270R3 Foreign tax credit. Secondary — IT-395R2 Foreign tax credit — Foreign-source capital gains and losses.

Income Tax Technical News: Issue No. 31R2, Social Security Taxes and the Foreign Tax Credit; Issue No. 30, Social Security Taxes and the Foreign Tax Credit.

"production tax amount" — "production tax amount" of a taxpayer for a foreign oil and gas business carried on by the taxpayer in a taxing country for a taxation year means the total of all amounts each of which

(a) became receivable in the year by the government of the country because of an obligation (other than a commercial obligation) of the taxpayer, in respect of the business, to the government or an agent or instrumentality of the government,

(b) is computed by reference to the amount by which

(i) the amount or value of petroleum, natural gas or related hydrocarbons produced or extracted by the taxpayer in the course of carrying on the business in the year

exceeds

(ii) an allowance or other deduction that

(A) is deductible, under the agreement or law that creates the obligation described in paragraph (a), in computing the amount receivable by the government of the country, and

(B) is intended to take into account the taxpayer's operating and capital costs of that production or extraction, and can reasonably be considered to have that effect,

(c) would not, if this Act were read without reference to subsection (5), be an income or profits tax, and

(d) is not identified as a royalty under the agreement that creates the obligation or under any law of the country;

History: S. 126(7), the definition "production tax amount" was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(19), applicable to taxation years of a taxpayer that begin after the earlier of

(a) December 31, 1999; and

(b) where, for the purposes of this subsection, a date is designated in writing by the taxpayer and the designation is filed with the Minister of National Revenue on or before the taxpayer's filing-due date for the taxpayer's taxation year that includes June 14, 2001, the later of

(i) the date so designated, and

(ii) December 31, 1994.

"qualifying incomes" — "qualifying incomes" of a taxpayer from sources in a country means incomes from sources in the country, determined in accordance with subsection (9);

History: S. 126(7), the definition "qualifying incomes" was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(14), applicable to taxation years of a taxpayer that begin after the earlier of

(a) December 31, 1999; and

(b) where, for the purposes of this subsection, a date is designated in writing by the taxpayer and the designation is filed with the Minister of National Revenue on or before the taxpayer's filing-due date for the taxpayer's taxation year that includes the day on which this Act receives royal assent [June 14, 2001], the later of

(i) the date so designated, and

(ii) December 31, 1994.

S. 126(7), the definition "qualifying incomes" formerly read:

" 'qualifying incomes' — 'qualifying incomes' of a taxpayer from sources in a country means incomes from sources in the country, determined without reference to

(a) any portion of income that was deductible under subparagraph 110(1)(f)(i) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income,

(b) for the purpose of subparagraph 126(1)(b)(i), any portion of income in respect of which an amount was deducted under section 110.6 by the taxpayer, and

(c) any income from a source in the country if any income of the taxpayer from the source would be tax-exempt income;"

S. 126(7), the definition "qualifying incomes" was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 47(7), applicable to taxation years that begin after February 24, 1998.

Related Sections: S. 126(7), "Qualifying losses", "tax-exempt income".

"qualifying losses" — "qualifying losses" of a taxpayer from sources in a country means losses from sources in the country, determined in accordance with subsection (9);

History: S. 126(7), the definition "qualifying losses" was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(14), applicable to taxation years of a taxpayer that begin after the earlier of

(a) December 31, 1999; and

(b) where, for the purposes of this subsection, a date is designated in writing by the taxpayer and the designation is filed with the Minister of National Revenue on or before the taxpayer's filing-due date for the taxpayer's taxation year that includes June 14, 2001, the later of

(i) the date so designated, and

(ii) December 31, 1994.

S. 126(7), the definition "qualifying losses" formerly read:

" 'qualifying losses' — 'qualifying losses' of a taxpayer from sources in a country means losses from sources in the country, determined without reference to

(a) any portion of income that was deductible under subparagraph 110(1)(f)(i) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income,

(b) for the purpose of subparagraph 126(1)(b)(i), any portion of income in respect of which an amount was deducted by the taxpayer under section 110.6, and

(c) any loss from a source in the country if any income of the taxpayer from the source would be tax-exempt income;"

S. 126(7), the definition "qualifying losses" was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 47(7), applicable to taxation years that begin after February 24, 1998.

Related Sections: S. 126(7), "Qualifying incomes", "tax-exempt income".

"related transactions" — "related transactions", in respect of a taxpayer's ownership of a property for a period, means transactions entered into by the taxpayer as part of the arrangement under which the property was owned;

History: S. 126(7), the definition "related transactions" was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 47(7), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 126(4.1) No economic profit; s. 126(7), "economic profit".

"tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part" — "tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part" by a taxpayer means

(a) in paragraph (1)(b) and subsection (3), the amount determined by the formula

$$A - B$$

where

A is the amount that would be the tax payable under this Part for the year by the taxpayer if that tax were determined without reference to section 120.3 and before making any deduction under any of sections 121, 122.3, 125 to 127.41 and, if the taxpayer is a Canadian-controlled private corporation throughout the year, section 123.4, and

B is the amounts deemed by subsections 120(2) and (2.2) to have been paid on account of tax payable under this Part by the taxpayer,

(b) in subparagraph (2)(c)(i) and paragraph (2.2)(b), the amount that would be the tax payable under this Part for the year by the taxpayer if that tax were determined without reference to sections 120.3 and 123.3 and before making any deduction under any of sections 121 and 122.3, subsection 123.4(3), and sections 124 to 127.41, and

(c) in subsection (2.1), the amount that would be the tax payable under this Part for the year by the taxpayer if that tax were determined without reference to subsection 120(1) and sections 120.3 and 123.3 and before making any deduction under any of sections 121 and 122.3, subsection 123.4(3) and sections 124 to 127.41;

History: S. 126(7), the definition "tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part" was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(15), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 126(7), the definition "tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part" formerly read:

" 'tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part' — 'tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part' means

(a) in paragraph (1)(b) and subsection (3), the amount determined by the formula

$$A - B$$

where

A is the amount that would be the tax payable under this Part for the year if that tax were determined without reference to section 120.3 and before making any deduction under any of sections 121, 122.3 and 125 to 127.41, and

B is the amounts deemed by subsections 120(2) and (2.2) to have been paid on account of tax payable under this Part,

(b) in subparagraph (2)(c)(i) and paragraph (2.2)(b), the tax for the year payable under this Part (determined without reference to sections 120.3 and 123.3 and before making any deduction under any of sections 121, 122.3 and 124 to 127.41), and

(c) in subsection (2.1), the tax for the year payable under this Part (determined without reference to subsection 120(1) and sections 120.3 and 123.3 and before making any deduction under any of sections 121, 122.3 and 124 to 127.41);"

S. 126(7), the description of A in the definition "tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part" was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 35(4), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 126(7), the description of A in the definition "tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part" formerly read:

"A is the amount that would be the tax payable under this Part for the year if that tax were determined without reference to sections 120.1 and 120.3 and before making any deduction under any of sections 121, 122.3, 125 to 127 and 127.2 to 127.41, and"

S. 126(7), the description of B in the definition "tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part" was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 35(4), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 126(7), the description of B in the definition "tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part" formerly read:

"B is the amount, if any, deemed by subsection 120(2) to have been paid on account of tax payable under this Part,"

S. 126(7), paragraphs (b) and (c) of the definition "tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part" was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 35(6), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 126(7), paragraphs (b) and (c) of the definition "tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part" formerly read:

"(b) in subparagraph (2)(c)(i) and paragraph (2.2)(b), the tax for the year payable under this Part (determined without reference to sections 120.1, 120.3 and 123.3 and before making any deduction under any of sections 121, 122.3, 124 to 127 and 127.2 to 127.41), and

(c) in subsection (2.1), the tax for the year payable under this Part (determined without reference to subsection 120(1) and sections 120.1, 120.3 and 123.3 and before making any deduction under any of sections 121, 122.3, 124 to 127 and 127.2 to 127.41);"

S. 126(7), paragraphs (b) and (c) of the definition "tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part", were amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 29(1), applicable to taxation years that end after June 1995. Paragraphs (b) and (c) formerly read:

"(b) in subparagraph (2)(c)(i) and paragraph (2.2)(b), the tax for the year payable under this Part (determined without reference to sections 120.1 and 120.3 and before making any deduction under any of sections 121, 122.3, 124 to 127 and 127.2 to 127.41), and

(c) in subsection (2.1), the tax for the year payable under this Part (determined without reference to subsection 120(1) and sections 120.1 and 120.3 and before making any deduction under any of sections 121, 122.3, 124 to 127 and 127.2 to 127.41);"

S. 126(7), the definition "tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part", was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 36(1), applicable to taxation years that end after February 22, 1994. That definition formerly read:

"'tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part' — 'tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part' means

(a) in paragraph (1)(b) and subsection (3), the amount determined by the formula

A – B

where

A is the amount that would be the tax payable under this Part for the year if that tax were determined without reference to sections 120.1 and 120.3 of this Act and paragraph 123(1)(b) of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, as it read in its application to taxation years beginning before December 22, 1989, and before making any deduction under any of sections 121, 122.3, 125 to 127 and 127.2 to 127.4, and

B is the amount, if any, deemed by subsection 120(2) to have been paid on account of tax payable under this Part for the year,

(b) in subparagraph (2)(c)(i) and paragraph (2.2)(b), the tax for the year payable under this Part (determined without reference to sections 120.1 and 120.3 of this Act and paragraph 123(1)(b) of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, as it read in its application to taxation years beginning before December 22, 1989, and before making any deduction under any of sections 121, 122.3, 124 to 127 and 127.2 to 127.4), and

(c) in subsection (2.1), the tax for the year payable under this Part (determined without reference to subsection 120(1) and sections 120.1 and 120.3 of this Act and paragraph 123(1)(b) of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, as it read in its application to taxation years beginning before December 22, 1989, and before making any deduction under any of sections 121, 122.3, 124 to 127 and 127.2 to 127.4);"

The description of A in paragraph (a) of the definition "tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part" in subsection 126(7) of the Act was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 103(4), applicable to the 1990 and subsequent taxation years. The description of A in paragraph (a), subsection 126(7) of the Act, formerly read:

"A is the amount that would be the tax payable under this Part for the year if that tax were determined without reference to section 120.1 of this Act and paragraph 123(1)(b) of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, and before making any deduction under any of sections 121, 122.3, 125 to 127 and 127.2 to 127.4, and"

Paragraphs (b) and (c) of the definition "tax for the year otherwise payable under this Part" in subsection 126(7) of the Act were amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 103(5), applicable to the 1990 and subsequent taxation years. Paragraphs (b) and (c) formerly read:

"(b) in subparagraph (2)(c)(i) and paragraph (2.2)(b), the tax for the year payable under this Part (determined without reference to section 120.1 of this Act and paragraph 123(1)(b) of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, and before making any deduction under any of sections 121, 122.3, 124 to 127 and 127.2 to 127.4), and

(c) in subsection (2.1), the tax for the year payable under this Part (determined without reference to subsection 120(1) and section 120.1 of this Act and paragraph 123(1)(b) of the Income Tax Act, chapter 148 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, and before making any deduction under any of sections 121, 122.3, 124 to 127 and 127.2 to 127.4);"

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-270R3 Foreign tax credit.

"tax-exempt income" — "tax-exempt income" means income of a taxpayer from a source in a country in respect of which

(a) the taxpayer is, because of a tax treaty with that country, entitled to an exemption from all income or profits taxes, imposed in that country, to which the treaty applies, and

(b) no income or profits tax to which the treaty does not apply is imposed in any country other than Canada;

History: S. 126(7), the definition "tax-exempt income" was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 47(7), applicable to taxation years that begin after February 24, 1998.

Related Sections: S. 126(7), "Qualifying incomes", "qualifying losses"; s. 126(8) Deemed dividend — partnership; s. 248(1), "tax treaty".

"taxing country" — "taxing country" means a country (other than Canada) the government of which regularly imposes, in respect of income from businesses carried on in the country, a levy or charge of general application that would, if this Act were read without reference to subsection (5), be an income or profits tax.

History: S. 126(7), the definition "taxing country" was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(19), applicable to taxation years of a taxpayer that begin after the earlier of

(a) December 31, 1999; and

(b) where, for the purposes of this subsection, a date is designated in writing by the taxpayer and the designation is filed with the Minister of National Revenue on or before the taxpayer's filing-due date for the taxpayer's taxation year that includes June 14, 2001, the later of

(i) the date so designated, and

(ii) December 31, 1994.

"unused foreign tax credit" — "unused foreign tax credit" of a taxpayer in respect of a country for a taxation year means the amount, if any, by which

(a) the business-income tax paid by the taxpayer for the year in respect of businesses carried on by the taxpayer in that country

exceeds

(b) the amount, if any, deductible under subsection (2) in respect of that country in computing the taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for the year.

History: S. 126(7), the definition "unused foreign tax credit" was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(15), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 126(7), the definition "unused foreign tax credit" formerly read:

"'unused foreign tax credit' — 'unused foreign tax credit' of a taxpayer in respect of a country for a taxation year means the amount determined by the formula

A – (B + C)

where

A is the business-income tax paid by the taxpayer for the year in respect of businesses carried on by the taxpayer in that country,

B is the amount, if any, deductible under subsection (2) in respect of that country in computing the taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for the year, and

C is that portion of business income tax paid by the taxpayer for the year in respect of businesses carried on by the taxpayer in that country that may reasonably be considered to have been deducted in computing the taxpayer's tax payable under Part I.1 for the year."

Related Sections: S. 180.1 Individual surtax.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-520 (Consolid.) Unused foreign tax credits — Carryforward and carryback. Secondary — IT-488R2 Winding-up of 90%-owned taxable Canadian corporations [Archived by the CRA].

► 126(8) ◄

(8) Deemed dividend — partnership. If an amount is deemed by subsection 96(1.11) to be a taxable dividend received by a person in a taxation year of the person in respect of a partnership, and it is reasonable to consider that all or part of the amount (in this subsection referred to as the "foreign-source portion") is attributable to income of the partnership from a source in a country other than Canada, the person is deemed for the purposes of this section to have an amount of income from that source for that taxation year equal to the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B/C$$

where

A is the total amount included under subsection 82(1) in computing the income of the person in respect of the taxable dividend for that taxation year;

B is the foreign-source portion; and

C is the amount of the taxable dividend deemed to be received by the person.

History: S. 126(8) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 29, s. 15(1), deemed to have come into force on October 31, 2006.

S. 126(8) was repealed by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(20), applicable after June 27, 1999. S. 126(8) formerly read:

"(8) Deemed separate source. For the purpose of this section, if any income from a source in a particular country would be tax-exempt income but for the fact that a portion of the income is subject to an income or profits tax imposed by the government of a country other than Canada or of a state, province or other political subdivision of such a country, the portion is deemed to be income from a separate source in the particular country."

S. 126(8) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 47(8), applicable to taxation years that begin after February 24, 1998.

Related Sections: S. 96(1.11) Deemed dividend of SIFT partnership; s. 126(7), "Tax-exempt income"; s. 197(2) Tax on partnership income.

► 126(9) ◄

(9) Computation of qualifying incomes and losses. The qualifying incomes and qualifying losses for a taxation year of a taxpayer from sources in a country shall be determined

(a) without reference to

(i) any portion of income that was deductible under subparagraph 110(1)(f)(i) in computing the taxpayer's taxable income,

(ii) for the purpose of subparagraph (1)(b)(i), any portion of income in respect of which an amount was deducted under section 110.6 in computing the taxpayer's income, or

(iii) any income or loss from a source in the country if any income of the taxpayer from the source would be tax-exempt income; and

(b) as if the total of all amounts each of which is that portion of an amount deducted under subsection 66(4), 66.21(4), 66.7(2) or 66.7(2.3) in computing those qualifying incomes and qualifying losses for the year that applies to those sources were the greater of

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is that portion of an amount deducted under subsection 66(4), 66.21(4), 66.7(2) or 66.7(2.3) in computing the taxpayer's income for the year that applies to those sources, and

(ii) the total of

(A) the portion of the maximum amount that would be deductible under subsection 66(4) in computing the taxpayer's income for the year that applies to those sources if the amount determined under subparagraph 66(4)(b)(ii) for the taxpayer in respect of the year were equal to the amount, if any, by which the total of

(I) the taxpayer's foreign resource income (within the meaning assigned by subsection 66.21(1)) for the year in respect of the country, determined as if the taxpayer had claimed the maximum amounts deductible for the year under subsections 66.7(2) and (2.3), and

(II) all amounts each of which would have been an amount included in computing the taxpayer's income for the year under subsection 59(1) in respect of a disposition of a foreign resource property in respect of the country, determined as if each amount determined under subparagraph 59(1)(b)(ii) were nil,

exceeds

(III) the total of all amounts each of which is a portion of an amount (other than a portion that results in a reduction of the amount otherwise determined under subclause (I)) that applies to those sources and that would be deducted under subsection 66.7(2) in computing the taxpayer's income for the year if the maximum amounts deductible for the year under that subsection were deducted,

(B) the maximum amount that would be deductible under subsection 66.21(4) in respect of those sources in computing the taxpayer's income for the year if

(I) the amount deducted under subsection 66(4) in respect of those sources in computing the taxpayer's income for the year were the amount determined under clause (A),

(II) the amounts deducted under subsections 66.7(2) and (2.3) in respect of those sources in computing the taxpayer's income for the year were the maximum amounts deductible under those subsections,

(III) for the purposes of the definition "cumulative foreign resource expense" in subsection 66.21(1), the total of the amounts designated under subparagraph 59(1)(b)(ii) for the year in respect of dispositions by the taxpayer of foreign resource properties in respect of the country in the year were the maximum total that could be so designated without any reduction in the maximum amount that would be determined under clause (A) in respect of the taxpayer for the year in respect of the country if no assumption had been made under subclause (A)(II) in respect of designations made under subparagraph 59(1)(b)(ii), and

(IV) the amount determined under paragraph 66.21(4)(b) were nil, and

(C) the total of all amounts each of which is the maximum amount, applicable to one of those sources, that is deductible under subsection 66.7(2) or (2.3) in computing the taxpayer's income for the year.

History: S. 126(9) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 117(21), applicable to taxation years of a taxpayer that begin after the earlier of

(a) December 31, 1999; and

(b) where, for the purposes of this subsection, a date is designated in writing by the taxpayer and the designation is filed with the Minister of National Revenue on or before the taxpayer's filing-due date for the taxpayer's taxation year that includes June 14, 2001, the later of

(i) the date so designated, and

(ii) December 31, 1994.

SECTION 126.1: [UI premium tax credit].

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Section 126.1 of the Act is repealed.

SECTION 126.1: [UI premium tax credit]. [Repealed.]

Applicable: In respect of forms filed after March 20, 2003.

Explanatory Note: Section 126.1 of the Act provides certain employers with a refundable tax credit to offset the increase in the employer's portion of 1993 unemployment insurance premiums.

This section has lapsed, and is repealed in respect of forms filed after March 20, 2003.

► 126.1(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. In this section,

"1992 cumulative premium base" — "1992 cumulative premium base" of an employer on any particular day means the total of all qualifying employer premiums of the employer for the period beginning on January 1, 1992 and ending on the day that is 365 days earlier than the particular day that became payable on or before the last day of that period;

History: S. 126.1(1), the definition of "1992 cumulative premium base", was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

"1992 premium base" — "1992 premium base" of an employer means the total of all qualifying employer premiums for 1992 of the employer;

History: S. 126.1(1), the definition of "1992 premium base", was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

"1993 cumulative premium base" — "1993 cumulative premium base" of an employer on any particular day means the total of all qualifying employer premiums of the employer for the period beginning on January 1, 1993 and ending on the particular day that became payable on or before the last day of that period;

History: S. 126.1(1), the definition of "1993 cumulative premium base", was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

"1993 premium base" — "1993 premium base" of an employer means the total of all qualifying employer premiums for 1993 of the employer;

History: S. 126.1(1), the definition of "1993 premium base", was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

"employer" — "employer" at any time means any person or partnership (other than a person who at that time is exempt because of any of paragraphs 149(1)(a) to (d), (h.1), (o) to (o.2), (o.4) to (s) and (u) to (y) from tax under this Part on all or part of the person's taxable income) that has a qualifying employee in 1992 or 1993;

History: S. 126.1(1), the definition of "employer", was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

"qualifying employee" — "qualifying employee" of an employer means,

(a) where the employer is not exempt because of subsection 149(1) from tax under this Part on all or part of the employer's taxable income,

(i) any employee of the employer, other than any employee whose remuneration is not deductible in computing income from a business or property, and

(ii) any person in respect of whom the employer is deemed under any regulation under the Unemployment Insurance Act to be an employer for the purpose of determining an employer's UI premium, and

(b) in any other case, any employee of the employer;

History: S. 126.1(1), the definition of "qualifying employee", was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

"qualifying employer premium" — "qualifying employer premium" for a period of an employer means that portion of the employer's UI premium that can reasonably be attributed to the remuneration paid in the period to qualifying employees of the employer;

History: S. 126.1(1), the definition of "qualifying employer premium", was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

"remittance date" — "remittance date" for 1993 of an employer means the day prescribed under the Unemployment Insurance Act on or before which the employer is required to remit a UI premium in respect of remuneration paid in 1993;

History: S. 126.1(1), the definition of "remittance date", was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

"UI premium" — "UI premium" of an employer means a premium under subsection 51(2) of the Unemployment Insurance Act payable,

(a) where the employer is a partnership, by the members of the partnership in respect of remuneration paid by the partnership to employees of the partnership, and

(b) in any other case, by the employer.

History: S. 126.1(1), the definition of "UI premium", was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

Related Sections: S. 152(1.2) Provisions applicable; s. 160.1(2.2) Liability for excess refunds under section 126.1 to partners; s. 164(1.6) Refund of UI premium tax credit.

► 126.1(2) ◄

(2) Associated employers. For the purpose of this section,

(a) employers that are corporations that are associated with each other at any time shall be deemed to be employers that are associated with each other at that time; and

(b) where 2 employers

(i) would, but for this paragraph, not be associated with each other at any time, and

(ii) are associated, or are deemed by this subsection to be associated, with another corporation at that time, they shall be deemed to be associated with each other at that time.

History: S. 126.1(2) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

► 126.1(3) ◄

(3) Idem. In determining for the purpose of this section whether 2 or more employers are associated with each other at any time, and in determining whether an employer is at any time a specified employer in relation to another employer,

(a) where an employer at any time is an individual, the employer shall be deemed at that time to be a corporation all the issued shares of the capital stock of which, having full voting rights under all circumstances, are owned by the individual; and

(b) where an employer at any time is a partnership,

(i) the employer shall be deemed at that time to be a corporation having one class of issued shares, which shares have full voting rights under all circumstances, and

(ii) each member of the partnership shall be deemed to own at that time the greatest proportion of the number of issued shares of the capital stock of the corporation that

(A) the member's share of the income or loss of the partnership from any source for the fiscal period of the partnership that includes that time

is of

(B) the income or loss of the partnership from that source for that period and for the purpose of this paragraph, where the income and loss of the partnership from any source for that period are nil, that proportion shall be computed as if the partnership had income from that source for that period in the amount of $1,000,000.

History: S. 126.1(3) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

► 126.1(4) ◄

(4) Business carried on by another employer. Where at any time before 1994 an employer (referred to in this subsection and subsection (5) as the "successor") carries on, as a separate business or as part of another business, a business or part of a business that was carried on at any earlier time after 1991 by a specified employer in relation to the successor (which business or part of a business is referred to in this subsection as the "specified business"), in determining

(a) the UI premium tax credit of the specified employer and the successor, and

(b) each amount that is or would, but for subsection (13), be deemed by subsection (12) to be paid to the specified employer or the successor at any time after the successor began to carry on the specified business, that portion of the qualifying employer premiums for any period of the specified employer that can reasonably be considered to relate to the specified business shall be deemed not to be qualifying employer premiums for the period of the specified employer and to be qualifying employer premiums for the period of the successor.

History: S. 126.1(4) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

► 126.1(5) ◄

(5) Definition of "specified employer". For the purposes of subsection (4), "specified employer" at any time in relation to a successor means any particular employer with whom the successor at that time is not or would not be dealing at arm's length if,

(a) where the particular employer ceased to exist before that time, the particular employer were in existence at that time, and

(b) the particular employer were controlled at that time by each person or group of persons who at any time in 1992 or 1993 controlled the particular employer, except that a particular employer is not a specified employer in relation to a successor where the successor is, for the purposes of this section, deemed by paragraph 87(2)(mm) or 88(1)(e.2) to be a continuation of, and the same corporation as, the particular employer.

History: S. 126.1(5) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

► 126.1(6) ◄

(6) UI premium tax credit. Where an employer (other than a partnership) files with the Minister a prescribed form containing prescribed information, an overpayment on account of the employer's liability under this Part for the employer's last taxation year beginning before 1994 equal to the employer's UI premium tax credit shall be deemed to have arisen on the later of March 1, 1994 and the day on which the form is so filed.

History: S. 126.1(6) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

Related Sections: S. 152(3.4) Determination of UI premium tax credit; s. 152(3.5) Notice of determination; s. 152(4.2) Reassessment with taxpayer's consent; s. 164(1.6) Refund of UI premium tax credit.

► 126.1(7) ◄

(7) Idem. Where a member of a partnership, acting on behalf of all of the members of the partnership, files with the Minister a prescribed form containing prescribed information, an overpayment on account of each taxpayer's liability under this Part for the taxpayer's last taxation year beginning before 1994 equal to that portion of the partnership's UI premium tax credit that can reasonably be considered to be the taxpayer's share thereof shall be deemed to have arisen on the later of March 1, 1994 and the day on which the form is so filed.

History: S. 126.1(7) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

Related Sections: S. 152(3.4) Determination of UI premium tax credit; s. 152(3.5) Notice of determination; s. 152(4.2) Reassessment with taxpayer's consent; s. 164(1.6) Refund of UI premium tax credit.

► 126.1(8) ◄

(8) Definition of "UI premium tax credit". For the purposes of this section, an employer's "UI premium tax credit" is the lesser of

(a) the amount, if any, by which $30,000 exceeds the amount, if any, by which the employer's 1992 premium base exceeds $30,000, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which the employer's 1993 premium base exceeds the employer's 1992 premium base, unless the employer is associated at the end of 1993 with any other employer, in which case, subject to subsection (11), the employer's UI premium tax credit is nil.

History: S. 126.1(8) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

► 126.1(9) ◄

(9) Allocation by associated employers. An employer that is a member of a group of employers that are associated with each other at the end of 1993 (referred to in this subsection and in subsections (10) and (11) as "associated employers") may file with the Minister an agreement in prescribed form on behalf of the associated employers allocating among them an amount not exceeding the lesser of

(a) the amount, if any, by which $30,000 exceeds the amount, if any, by which the total of the 1992 premium bases of all of the associated employers exceeds $30,000, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of the 1993 premium bases of all of the associated employers

exceeds

(ii) the total of the 1992 premium bases of all of the associated employers.

History: S. 126.1(9) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

► 126.1(10) ◄

(10) Allocation by the Minister. The Minister may request any of the associated employers to file with the Minister an agreement referred to in subsection (9) and, where the employer does not file the agreement within 30 days after receiving the request, the Minister may allocate among them an amount not exceeding the lesser of the amounts determined under paragraphs (9)(a) and (b).

History: S. 126.1(10) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

► 126.1(11) ◄

(11) UI premium tax credit — associated employers. For the purposes of this section, the least amount allocated to an associated employer under an agreement described in subsection (9) or the amount allocated to the employer by the Minister under subsection (10), as the case may be, is the UI premium tax credit of the employer.

History: S. 126.1(11) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

► 126.1(12) ◄

(12) Prepayment of UI premium tax credit. Where before March 1994 an employer or, where the employer is a partnership, any member of the partnership acting on behalf of all of the members of the partnership, files with the Minister a prescribed form containing prescribed information, the Minister shall, subject to subsection (13), be deemed to have paid to the employer on account of the overpayment determined under subsection (6) in respect of the employer, and the employer shall be deemed, for the purpose of paragraph 12(1)(x), to have received and, for the purposes of the Unemployment Insurance Act and regulations made under it, to have remitted to the Receiver General on account of the employer's UI premium, on each remittance date for 1993, an amount that is equal to,

(a) where the employer was not associated with any other employer on the remittance date, the lesser of

(i) the amount, if any, by which the lesser of

(A) the amount, if any, by which $30,000 exceeds the amount, if any, by which the 1992 premium base of the employer exceeds $30,000, and

(B) the amount, if any, by which

(I) the 1993 cumulative premium base of the employer on the remittance date

exceeds

(II) the 1992 cumulative premium base of the employer on the remittance date exceeds the total of all amounts deemed or that would, but for subsection (13), be deemed by this subsection to have been paid to the employer before the remittance date, and

(ii) the amount determined by the formula

$$A - (B + C)$$

where

A is the total of all UI premiums of the employer payable on or before the remittance date that can reasonably be attributed to remuneration paid in the period beginning on January 1, 1993 and ending on the remittance date,

B is the total of all amounts (determined without reference to this subsection) remitted by the employer to the Receiver General on or before the remittance date on account of the UI premiums referred to in the description of A, and

C is the total of all amounts deemed or that would, but for subsection (13), be deemed by this subsection to have been paid to the employer before the remittance date; and

(b) where the employer (in this paragraph referred to as the "particular employer") was associated on the remittance date with any other employer (in this paragraph referred to as an "associated employer"), the lesser of

(i) the amount that would be determined under paragraph (a) in respect of the particular employer on the remittance date if the particular employer were not associated on the remittance date with any other employer, and

(ii) the amount, if any, by which the lesser of

(A) the amount, if any, by which $30,000 exceeds the amount, if any, by which the total of the 1992 premium bases of the particular employer and all associated employers exceeds $30,000, and

(B) the amount, if any, by which

(I) the total of all amounts each of which is the 1993 cumulative premium base of the particular employer or an associated employer on the remittance date

exceeds

(II) the total of all amounts each of which is the 1992 cumulative premium base of the particular employer or an associated employer on the remittance date

exceeds the total of

(C) all amounts each of which is an amount deemed or that would, but for subsection (13), be deemed by this subsection to have been paid to the particular employer or an associated employer before the remittance date, and

(D) all amounts each of which is an amount that would be determined under subparagraph (a)(ii) in respect of an associated employer on the remittance date if the associated employer were not associated on that date with any other employer.

History: S. 126.1(12) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

► 126.1(13) ◄

(13) Idem. Where an amount would, but for this subsection, be deemed by subsection (12) to be paid at any time to a partnership, that portion of the amount that can reasonably be considered to be a taxpayer's share of it shall be deemed not to have been paid to the partnership and to have been paid at that time by the Minister to the taxpayer on account of the overpayment determined under subsection (7) in respect of the taxpayer.

History: S. 126.1(13) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

► 126.1(14) ◄

(14) Excess prepayment. Where the total of all amounts paid under subsection (12) to a taxpayer exceeds the taxpayer's UI premium tax credit, the excess shall be deemed to have been refunded to the taxpayer, on the taxpayer's last remittance date for 1993, on account of the taxpayer's liability under this Part for the taxpayer's last taxation year beginning before 1994.

History: S. 126.1(14) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

► 126.1(15) ◄

(15) Idem. Where the total of all amounts paid under subsection (13) to a taxpayer in respect of a partnership exceeds that portion of the partnership's UI premium tax credit that can reasonably be considered to be the taxpayer's share of it, the excess shall be deemed to have been refunded to the taxpayer, on the partnership's last remittance date for 1993, on account of the taxpayer's liability under this Part for the taxpayer's last taxation year beginning before 1994.

History: S. 126.1(15) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 14(1), applicable after 1992.

SECTION 127:

► 127(1) ◄

(1) Logging tax deduction. There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable by a taxpayer under this Part for a taxation year an amount equal to the lesser of

(a) 2/3 of any logging tax paid by the taxpayer to the government of a province in respect of income for the year from logging operations in the province, and

(b) 6⅔% of the taxpayer's income for the year from logging operations in the province referred to in paragraph (a),

except that in no case shall the total of amounts in respect of all provinces that would otherwise be deductible under this subsection from the tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year by the taxpayer exceed 6⅔% of the amount that would be the taxpayer's taxable income for the year or taxable income earned in Canada for the year, as the case may be, if this Part were read without reference to paragraphs 60(b), (c) to (c.2), (i) and (v) and sections 62, 63 and 64.

History: The portion of subsection 127(1) of the Act after paragraph (b) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 68(1), applicable with respect to the 1991 and subsequent taxation years. That portion of s. 127(1) formerly read:

"except that in no case shall the total of amounts in respect of all provinces that would otherwise be deductible under this section from the tax otherwise payable by the taxpayer under this Part for the year exceed 6⅔% of the taxpayer's taxable income for the year or taxable income earned in Canada for the year, as the case may be."

Related Sections: S. 96(2.4) Limited partner; s. 110.5 Additions for foreign tax deductions.
Regulations: Part VII.
Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-121R3 Election to capitalize cost of borrowed money [Archived by the CRA].
Forms: T2 SCH 21.
Tax Window Files: Section of Manufacturing Industries, Companies and Trusts (French only), July 14, 1994, CRA Document No. 9416147; Minimum Tax — Application of Non-Capital Losses, December 8, 1993, CRA Document No. 9330216.

► 127(2) ◄

(2) Definitions. In subsection (1),

"income for the year from logging operations in the province" — "income for the year from logging operations in the province" has the meaning assigned by regulation;

Regulations: 700(1), (2).
Cases: It was held that "income for the year from logging operations in a province" includes income from sources carried on or operated by the taxpayer and not from sources carried on by a third person. This decision indicates that interest income from a promissory note due to the taxpayer by a subsidiary that generates income from logging operations is not income from logging operations of the taxpayer for the purpose of the logging tax deduction. MacMillan Bloedel (Alberni) Ltd. v. M.N.R., 73 DTC 5264 (F.C.T.D.). See also the discussion in MacMillan Bloedel Limited v. the Queen, 90 DTC 6219 (F.C.T.D.).

"logging tax" — "logging tax" means a tax imposed by the legislature of a province that is declared by regulation to be a tax of general application on income from logging operations.

Editorial Note: The relevant provinces are British Columbia and Quebec. (Province is defined in subsection 35(1) of the Interpretation Act and includes the territories.)

Regulations: 700(3).
Cases: It was held that this definition must be used when calculating the logging tax credit even when the provincial statute imposing the tax computes income from logging operations in a different manner. British Columbia Forest Products Ltd. v. M.N.R., 71 DTC 5178 (S.C.C.), affirming 69 DTC 5127 (Ex. Ct.).

► 127(3) ◄

(3) Monetary contributions — Canada Elections Act. There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable by a taxpayer under this Part for a taxation year in respect of the total of all amounts each of which is a monetary contribution referred to in the Canada Elections Act made by the taxpayer in the year to a registered party, a provincial division of a registered party, a registered association or a candidate, as those terms are defined in that Act,

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of subsection 127(3) of the Act before paragraph (a) is replaced by the following:

(3) Contributions to registered parties and candidates. There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable by a taxpayer under this Part for a taxation year in respect of the total of all amounts each of which is the eligible amount of a monetary contribution that is referred to in the Canada Elections Act and that is made by the taxpayer in the year to a registered party, a provincial division of a registered party, a registered association or a candidate, as those terms are defined in that Act,

Applicable: To monetary contributions made after December 20, 2002, except that, for monetary contributions made before 2004, the reference to "to a registered party, a provincial division of a registered party, a registered association or a candidate" in subsection 127(3) is to be read as a reference to "to a registered party or a candidate".

Explanatory Note:

Contributions to Registered Parties and Candidates

Subsection 127(3) of the Act provides a tax credit to a taxpayer in respect of amounts contributed to a registered party or to a candidate. Subsection 127(3) is amended consequential to the addition of new subsections 248(31) and (32) of the Act, to provide that the amount of a contribution that is eligible for the political contributions tax credit is to be reduced by the amount of any advantage or benefit, as defined by subsection 248(32), to which the taxpayer is entitled in respect of the contribution. This amendment is generally applicable to monetary contributions made after December 20, 2002.

It is proposed that subsections 2000(1) and (6) of the Regulations be amended to provide that every official receipt issued by a registered party in respect of a contribution contain, in addition to the information already prescribed, the eligible amount and the amount of the advantage, if any, in respect of the contribution.

For additional details, see the commentary to new subsections 248(31) and (32) regarding the amount of the advantage in respect of a contribution.

(a) when that total does not exceed $400, 75% of that total,

(b) when that total exceeds $400 and does not exceed $750, $300 plus 50% of the amount by which that total exceeds $400, and

(c) when that total exceeds $750, the lesser of

(i) $650, and

(ii) $475 plus 33 1/3% of the amount by which the total exceeds $750, if payment of each monetary contribution that is included in that total is evidenced by filing with the Minister a receipt, signed by the agent authorized under that Act to accept that monetary contribution, that contains prescribed information.

History: S. 127(3) was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 19, s. 73(1), applicable to monetary contributions made in taxation years ending after 2003.

For monetary contributions made in 2004 taxation years but before January 1, 2004, subsection 127(3) of the Income Tax Act is to be read [as amended], except that the expression "to a registered party, a registered association, or a candidate" is to be replaced by the expression "to a registered party or a candidate".

If January 1, 2004 occurs during an election period, within the meaning assigned by the Canada Elections Act, subsection 127(3) of the Income Tax Act is to be read, in respect of that election, as described by [the paragraph above].

S. 127(3) formerly read:

"(3) Contributions to registered parties and candidates. There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable by a taxpayer under this Part for a taxation year in respect of the total of all amounts each of which is a monetary contribution made by the taxpayer in the year to a registered party or to a candidate whose nomination has been confirmed in an election of a member or members to serve in the House of Commons of Canada (in this section referred to as 'the total'),

(a) 75% of the total, if the total does not exceed $200,

(b) $150 plus 50% of the amount by which the total exceeds $200, if the total exceeds $200 and does not exceed $550, or

(c) the lesser of

(i) $325 plus 33 1/3% of the amount by which the total exceeds $550, and

(ii) $500,

if payment of each monetary contribution that is included in the total is proven by filing a receipt with the Minister, signed by a registered agent of the registered party or by the official agent of the candidate whose nomination has been confirmed, as the case may be, that contains prescribed information."

S. 127(3) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 9, s. 560(1), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to money contributions made after 1999 and before the coming into force of this Act, the references in that subsection to "a monetary contribution made", "monetary contribution" and a "candidate whose nomination has been confirmed" shall be read as references to "an amount contributed", "amount contributed" and "an officially nominated candidate", respectively. S. 127(3) comes into force on September 1, 2000. S. 127(3) formerly read:

"(3) Contributions to registered parties and candidates. There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable by a taxpayer under this Part for a taxation year in respect of the total of all amounts each of which is an amount contributed by the taxpayer in the year to a registered party or to an officially nominated candidate at an election of a member or members to serve in the House of Commons of Canada (in this section referred to as 'the total'),

(a) 75% of the total if the total does not exceed $100,

(b) $75 plus 50% of the amount by which the total exceeds $100 if the total exceeds $100 and does not exceed $550, or

(c) the lesser of

(i) $300 plus 33 1/3% of the amount by which the total exceeds $550 if the total exceeds $550, and

(ii) $500,

if payment of each amount contributed that is included in the total is proven by filing a receipt with the Minister, signed by a registered agent of the registered party or by the official agent of the officially nominated candidate, as the case may be, that contains prescribed information."

Editorial Note: A tax credit may be claimed under subsection 127(3) only in respect of contributions to a federal political party, candidate or association. The calculation of the credit encourages small contributions, with no credit for contributions over $1,275 per year. The maximum annual credit is $650.

Related Sections: S. 18(1)(n) Political contributions; s. 123.2(1)(a) Corporation surtax; s. 127(3.1) Issue of receipts; s. 127(3.2) Authorization required for receipts from registered associations; s. 127(3.3) Prohibition — issuance of receipts; s. 127(4.1) Monetary contributions — form and content; s. 230.1(1) Records re monetary contributions — Canada Elections Act.

Proposed Related Sections: s. 248(41).

Regulations: Part XX.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-143R3 Meaning of eligible capital expenditure.

Information Circulars: IC 75-2R7 Contributions to a Registered Party a Registered Association or to a Candidate at a Federal Election

Forms: T2092; T2093.

Tax Window Files: Contributions in Civic Elections Not Deductible, October 28, 1991, CRA Document No. 7-912730.

► 127(3.1) ◄

(3.1) Issue of receipts. A receipt referred to in subsection (3) must be issued only in respect of the monetary contribution that it provides evidence for and only to the contributor who made it.

History: S. 127(3.1) was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 19, s. 73(1), applicable to monetary contributions made in taxation years ending after 2003. S. 127(3.1) formerly read:

"(3.1) Issue of receipts. A receipt referred to in subsection (3) shall not be issued

(a) by a registered agent of a registered party, or

(b) by an official agent of a candidate whose nomination has been confirmed otherwise than in respect of a monetary contribution and to the contributor who made it."

S. 127(3.1) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 9, s. 560(1), and comes into force on September 1, 2000. S. 127(3.1) formerly read:

"(3.1) Issue of receipts. A receipt referred to in subsection (3) shall not be issued

(a) by a registered agent of a registered party, or

(b) by an official agent of an officially nominated candidate otherwise than in respect of an amount contributed and to the contributor of such an amount."

Related Sections: S. 238(1) Offences and punishment.

► 127(3.2) ◄

(3.2) Authorization required for receipts from registered associations. No agent of a registered association of a registered party shall issue a receipt referred to in subsection (3) unless the leader of the registered party has, in writing, notified the financial agent, as referred to in the Canada Elections Act, of the registered association that its agents are authorized to issue those receipts.

History: S. 127(3.2) was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 19, s. 73(1), applicable to monetary contributions made in taxation years ending after 2003. S. 127(3.2) formerly read:

"(3.2) Deposit of amounts contributed. An official agent of a candidate whose nomination has been confirmed — other than in an electoral district referred to in Schedule 3 to the Canada Elections Act — who receives a monetary contribution, shall without delay deposit it in an account in the name of the official agent, in his or her capacity as such, in a branch or other office in Canada of a Canadian financial institution as defined in section 2 of the Bank Act, or in an authorized foreign bank, as defined in that section, that is not subject to the restrictions and requirements referred to in subsection 524(2) of that Act."

S. 127(3.2) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 9, s. 560(1), and comes into force on September 1, 2000. S. 127(3.2) formerly read:

"(3.2) Deposit of amounts contributed. Where an amount contributed has been received by an official agent of an officially nominated candidate other than an officially nominated candidate in any of the electoral districts referred to in Schedule III to the Canada Elections Act, the official agent shall forthwith deposit that amount contributed in an account standing to the credit of the official agent in the agent's capacity as such in the records of a branch or other office in Canada of

(a) a bank;

(b) a corporation that is licensed or otherwise authorized under the laws of Canada or a province to carry on in Canada the business of offering to the public its services as trustee; or

(c) a credit union."

Information Circulars: IC 75-2R7 Contributions to a Registered Party a Registered Association or to a Candidate at a Federal Election.

► 127(3.3) ◄

(3.3) Prohibition — issuance of receipts. If the Commissioner of Canada Elections makes an application under subsection 521.1(2) of the Canada Elections Act in respect of a registered party, no registered agent of the party — including, for greater certainty, a registered agent appointed by a provincial division of the party — and no electoral district agent of a registered association of the party shall issue a receipt referred to in subsection (3) unless the Commissioner withdraws the application or the court makes an order under subsection 521.1(6) of that Act or dismisses the application.

History: S. 127(3.3) was added by S.C. 2004, c. 24, s. 24, and came into force on May 15, 2004. As set out in S.C. 2006, c. 1, the sunset provision in S.C. 2004, c. 24, s. 26 was replaced with a requirement for a mandatory review by a committee of the Senate and a committee of the House of Commons, within two years of the coming into force of S.C. 2004, c. 24.

► 127(4) ◄

(4) Definitions. [Repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 19, s. 73(1).]

History: S. 127(4) was repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 19, s. 73(1), applicable to monetary contributions made in taxation years ending after 2003. S. 127(4) formerly read:

"(4) Definitions. In subsections (3), (3.1), (3.2) and (4.1), the terms 'official agent', 'registered agent' and 'registered party' have the meanings assigned to them by subsection 2(1) of the Canada Elections Act and the expression 'candidate whose nomination has been confirmed' means a person whom the returning officer has, under subsection 71(1) of the Canada Elections Act, confirmed as a candidate in an election."

S. 127(4) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 9, s. 560(1), and comes into force on September 1, 2000. S. 127(4) formerly read:

"(4) Definitions. In subsections (3), (3.1), (3.2) and (4.1), the terms 'official agent', 'registered agent' and 'registered party' have the meanings assigned to them by section 2 of the Canada Elections Act and the term 'officially nominated candidate' means a person in respect of whom a nomination paper and deposit have been filed as referred to in the definition 'official nomination' in that section of that Act."

► 127(4.1) ◄

(4.1) Monetary contributions — form and content. For the purpose of subsections (3) and (3.1), a monetary contribution made by a taxpayer may be in the form of cash or of a negotiable instrument issued by the taxpayer. However, it does not include

(a) a monetary contribution that a taxpayer who is an agent authorized under the Canada Elections Act to accept monetary contributions makes in that capacity; or

(b) a monetary contribution in respect of which a taxpayer has received or is entitled to receive a financial benefit of any kind (other than a prescribed financial benefit or a deduction under subsection (3)) from a government, municipality or other public authority, whether as a grant, subsidy, forgivable loan or deduction from tax or an allowance or otherwise.

History: S. 127(4.1), the portion before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 9, s. 64(1), in force on January 1, 2007 but does not apply in respect of monetary contributions made before that day.

S. 127(4.1), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(4.1) Monetary contributions — form and content. For the purpose of subsections (3), (3.1) and (4.2), a monetary contribution made by a taxpayer may be in the form of cash or of a negotiable instrument issued by the taxpayer. However, it does not include"

S. 127(4.1) was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 19, s. 73(1), applicable to monetary contributions made in taxation years ending after 2003. S. 127(4.1) formerly read:

"(4.1) Definition of 'amount contributed'. In subsections (3), (3.1), (3.2) and (4.2), 'monetary contribution' made by a taxpayer means a contribution made by the taxpayer to a registered party or to a candidate whose nomination has been confirmed in the form of cash or in the form of a negotiable instrument issued by the taxpayer, but does not include

(a) a monetary contribution made by an official agent of a candidate whose nomination has been confirmed or a registered agent of a registered party (in the agent's capacity as official agent or registered agent, as the case may be) to another such official agent or registered agent, as the case may be; or

(b) a monetary contribution in respect of which the taxpayer has received or is entitled to receive a financial benefit of any kind (other than a prescribed financial benefit or a deduction under subsection (3)) from a government, municipality or other public authority, whether as a grant, subsidy, forgivable loan or deduction from tax or an allowance or otherwise."

S. 127(4.1) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 9, s. 560(1), and comes into force on September 1, 2000. S. 127(4.1) formerly read:

"(4.1) Definition of 'amount contributed'. In subsections (3), (3.1) and (3.2), 'amount contributed' by a taxpayer means a contribution by the taxpayer to a registered party or an officially nominated candidate in the form of cash or in the form of a negotiable instrument issued by the taxpayer, but does not include

(a) a contribution made by an official agent of an officially nominated candidate or a registered agent of a registered party (in the agent's capacity as such official agent or registered agent, as the case may be) to another such official agent or registered agent, as the case may be; or

(b) a contribution in respect of which the taxpayer has received or is entitled to receive a financial benefit of any kind (other than a prescribed financial benefit or a deduction pursuant to subsection (3)) from a government, municipality or other public authority, whether as a grant, subsidy, forgivable loan or deduction from tax or an allowance or otherwise."

Related Sections: S. 230.1(1) Records re monetary contributions — Canada Elections Act; s. 237.1(1), "gifting arrangement", "tax shelter".
Proposed Related Sections: s. 248(31).
Regulations: Part XX.

► 127(4.2) ◄

(4.2) Allocation of amount contributed among partners. [Repealed by S.C. 2006, c. 9, s. 64(2).]

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Subsection 127(4.2) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(4.2) Allocation of amount contributed among partners. If at the end of a fiscal period of a partnership a taxpayer is a member of the partnership, the taxpayer's share of the total that would, if the partnership were a person and its fiscal period were its taxation year, be the total referred to in subsection (3) in respect of the partnership for that taxation year is deemed for the purpose of that subsection to be a monetary contribution made by the taxpayer in the taxpayer's taxation year in which the fiscal period of the partnership ends.

Applicable: To monetary contributions made after December 20, 2002. The amendment to subsection 127(4.2) is deemed to have come into force before the repeal of subsection 127(4.2) in Bill C-2 [S.C. 2006, c. 9, s. 64(2)].

Explanatory Note:

Allocation of Amount Contributed Among Partners

Subsection 127(4.2) of the Act allows the tax benefits of political contributions made by a partnership to be flowed through to its members. Subsection 127(4.2) is amended consequential to the amendment of subsection 127(3) of the Act, applicable to contributions made after December 20, 2002, to provide the amount of a contribution that is eligible for a tax credit because of a taxpayer's membership in a partnership.

History: S. 127(4.2) was repealed by S.C. 2006, c. 9, s. 64(2), in force on January 1, 2007 but does not apply in respect of monetary contributions made before that day.

S. 127(4.2) formerly read:

"(4.2) Allocation of amount contributed among partners. Where a taxpayer was, at the end of a taxation year of a partnership, a member of the partnership, the taxpayer's share of any monetary contribution made by the partnership in that taxation year that would, if the partnership were a person, be a monetary contribution referred to in subsection (3), is, for the purposes of that subsection, deemed to be a monetary contribution made by the taxpayer in the taxpayer's taxation year in which the taxation year of the partnership ended."

S. 127(4.2) was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 9, s. 560(1), deemed to have come into force on September 1, 2000. S. 127(4.2) formerly read:

"(4.2) Allocation of amount contributed among partners. Where a taxpayer was, at the end of a taxation year of a partnership, a member of the partnership, the taxpayer's share of any amount contributed by the partnership in that taxation year that would, if the partnership were a person, be an amount contributed referred to in subsection (3), shall, for the purposes of that subsection, be deemed to be an amount contributed by the taxpayer in the taxpayer's taxation year in which the taxation year of the partnership ended."

Related Sections: S. 53(2)(c)(iii) Amounts to be deducted — Interest in a partnership.

► 127(5) ◄

(5) Investment tax credit. There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable by a taxpayer under this Part for a taxation year an amount not exceeding the lesser of

(a) the total of

(i) the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of property acquired before the end of the year, of the taxpayer's apprenticeship expenditure for the year or a preceding taxation year, of the taxpayer's child care space amount for the year or a preceding taxation year, of the taxpayer's flow-through mining expenditure for the year or a preceding taxation year, of the taxpayer's pre-production mining expenditure for the year or a preceding taxation year or of the taxpayer's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of the year or at the end of a preceding taxation year, and

(ii) the lesser of

(A) the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of property acquired in a subsequent taxation year, of the taxpayer's apprenticeship expenditure for a subsequent taxation year, of the taxpayer's child care space amount for a subsequent taxation year, of the taxpayer's flow-through mining expenditure for a subsequent taxation year, of the taxpayer's pre-production mining expenditure for a subsequent taxation year or of the taxpayer's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of the subsequent taxation year to the extent that an investment tax credit was not deductible under this subsection for the subsequent taxation year, and

(B) the amount, if any, by which the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year exceeds the amount, if any, determined under subparagraph (i), and

(b) where Division E.1 applies to the taxpayer for the year, the amount, if any, by which

(i) the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year

exceeds

(ii) the taxpayer's minimum amount for the year determined under section 127.51.

History: S. 127(5)(a), the portion before clause (ii)(B) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(1), applicable on and after March 19, 2007. S. 127(5)(a), the portion before clause (ii)(B) formerly read:

"(a) the total of

(i) the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of property acquired before the end of the year, of the taxpayer's apprenticeship expenditure for the year or a preceding taxation year, of the taxpayer's flow-through mining expenditure for the year or a preceding taxation year, of the taxpayer's pre-production mining expenditure for the year or a preceding taxation year or of the taxpayer's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of the year or at the end of a preceding taxation year, and

(ii) the lesser of

(A) the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of property acquired in a subsequent taxation year, of the taxpayer's apprenticeship expenditure for a subsequent taxation year, of the taxpayer's flow-through mining expenditure for a subsequent taxation year, of the taxpayer's pre-production mining expenditure for a subsequent taxation year or of the taxpayer's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of the subsequent taxation year to the extent that an investment tax credit was not deductible under this subsection for the subsequent taxation year, and"

S. 127(5)(a), the portion before clause (ii)(B) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 34(1), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006.

S. 127(5)(a), the portion before clause (ii)(B) formerly read:

"(a) the total of

(i) the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of property acquired before the end of the year, of the taxpayer's flow-through mining expenditure for the year or a preceding taxation year, of the taxpayer's pre-production mining expenditure for the year or a preceding taxation year or of the taxpayer's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of the year or at the end of a preceding taxation year, and

(ii) the lesser of

(A) the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of property acquired in a subsequent taxation year, of the taxpayer's flow-through mining expenditure for a subsequent taxation year, of the taxpayer's pre-production mining expenditure for a subsequent taxation year or of the taxpayer's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of a subsequent taxation year to the extent that an investment tax credit was not deductible under this subsection for the subsequent year, and"

S. 127(5)(a)(i) was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 14(1), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127(5)(a)(i) formerly read:

"(i) the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of property acquired before the end of the year, of the taxpayer's flow-through mining expenditure for the year or a preceding taxation year or of the taxpayer's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of the year or of a preceding taxation year, and"

S. 127(5)(a)(ii)(A) was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 14(2), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127(5)(a)(ii)(A) formerly read:

"(A) the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of property acquired in a subsequent taxation year, of the taxpayer's flow-through mining expenditure for a subsequent taxation year or of the taxpayer's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of a subsequent taxation year to the extent that an investment tax credit was not deductible under this subsection for the subsequent year, and"

S. 127(5)(a)(i) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 118(1), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127(5)(a)(i) formerly read:

"(i) the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of property acquired before the end of the year or of the taxpayer's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of the year or of a preceding taxation year, and"

S. 127(5)(a)(ii)(A) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 118(2), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years, except that, for the 2000 taxation year, clause 127(5)(a)(ii)(A) of the Act shall be read as follows:

"(A) the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of property acquired in a subsequent taxation year, of the taxpayer's flow-through mining expenditure for a subsequent taxation year or of the taxpayer's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of a subsequent taxation year to the extent that an investment tax credit was not deductible under this subsection or subsection 180.1(1.2) for the subsequent year, and"

S. 127(5)(a)(ii)(A) formerly read:

"(A) the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of property acquired in a subsequent taxation year or of the taxpayer's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of a subsequent taxation year to the extent that an investment tax credit was not deductible under this subsection or subsection 180.1(1.2) for the subsequent year, and"

S. 127(5)(b) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 118(3), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127(5)(b) formerly read:

"(b) where Division E.1 applies to the taxpayer for the year, the amount, if any, by which the total of

(i) the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year, and

(ii) the taxpayer's tax payable under Part I.1 for the year before deducting any amount under subsection 180.1(1.2) exceeds the taxpayer's minimum amount for the year determined under section 127.51."

S. 127(5)(a)(i) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(1), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

S. 127(5)(a)(i) formerly read:

"(i) the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of property acquired, or an expenditure made, before the end of the year, and"

S. 127(5)(a)(ii)(A) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995. S. 127(5)(a)(ii)(A) formerly read:

"(A) the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of property acquired, or an expenditure made, in a subsequent taxation year, to the extent that the investment tax credit was not deductible under this subsection or subsection 180.1(1.2) for the taxation year in which the property was acquired, or the expenditure was made, as the case may be, and"

S. 127(5) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(1), applicable to taxation years beginning after 1993. S. 127(5) formerly read:

"(5) There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable by a taxpayer under this Part for a taxation year an amount not exceeding the least of

(a) the taxpayer's annual investment tax credit limit for the year,

(b) the total of

(i) the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of property acquired, or an expenditure made, before the end of the year, and

(ii) the lesser of

(A) the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of property acquired, or an expenditure made, in a subsequent taxation year, to the extent that the investment tax credit was not deductible under this subsection or subsection 180.1(1.2) for the taxation year in which the property was acquired, or the expenditure was made, as the case may be, and

(B) the amount, if any, by which the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable by the taxpayer under this Part for the year exceeds the amount, if any, determined under subparagraph (i), and

(c) where Division E.1 is applicable to the taxpayer for the year, the amount, if any, by which the total of

(i) the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year, and

(ii) the taxpayer's tax payable under Part I.1 for the year before deducting any amount under subsection 180.1(1.2), exceeds the taxpayer's minimum amount for the year determined under section 127.51."

Related Sections: S. 12(1)(t) Investment tax credit; s. 13(7.1) Deemed capital cost of certain property; s. 13(21), "undepreciated capital cost"; s. 37(1)(e) Scientific research and experimental development; s. 37(13) Non-arm's length contract — linked work; s. 53(2)(c)(vi) Amounts to be deducted — Interest in a partnership; s. 53(2)(h)(ii) Amounts to be deducted — Capital interest in a trust; s. 53(2)(k)(ii) Amounts to be deducted — Government assistance; s. 66.1(6), "cumulative Canadian exploration expense"; s. 87(2)(qq) Continuation of corporation; s. 87(2.11) Vertical amalgamations; s. 88(2)(c) Winding-up of Canadian corporation; s. 123.2(1)(a) Corporation surtax; s. 127(9) Definitions; s. 127(11.2) Time of expenditure and acquisition; s. 127(12.2) Adjusted cost base deductions re partnership interest, trust capital interest and government assistance; s. 127(13) Agreement to transfer qualified expenditures; s. 127(17) Assessment; s. 127(26) Unpaid amounts; s. 127.1(1) Refundable investment tax credit; s. 127.1(2) Definitions; s. 127.1(3) Deemed deduction; s. 128(2)(e)(iii)(C) Where individual bankrupt; s. 149(10)(c) Exempt corporations; s. 152(6)(d) Reassessment where certain deductions claimed; s. 164(5)(f) Effect of carryback of loss, etc; s. 164(5.1) Interest — disputed amounts.

Regulations: Part XLVI.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) Scientific Research and Experimental Development Expenditures; Secondary — IT-92R2 Income of contractors; IT-411R Meaning of Construction.

Information Circulars: IC 78-4R3 Investment tax credit rates.

Forms: T2 SCH 31; T2 SCH 301; T2 SCH 321; T2 SCH 340; T2 SCH 344; T2 SCH 360; T2 SCH 380; T2 SCH 381; T2 SCH 402; T2 SCH 403; T2 SCH 426; T2 SCH 442; T661; T666; T1129; T1232; T1263; T2038(IND).

Guides: T4052 An Introduction to the Scientific Research and Experimental Development Program; T4088 Claiming Scientific Research and Experimental Development — Guide to Form T661; RC4290 Refunds for Small Business R&D.

Tax Profile: April 2006 — The SR&ED Deduction and Investment Tax Credits; March 2006 — Some Tax Considerations for Investing in Silicon Valley North.

Canadian Petroleum Tax Journal: R&D Recent Developments, Arthur, Chawla, and Kourtzoglou, Vol. 20 No. 1 2007; Recent Cases of Interest — Capital Vs. Current Expense (Plus a Little SR&ED) — Pipeline Replacement and Repair, Gerald Grenon, Vol. 13 No. 1 2000.

Canadian Tax Foundation: R & D Recent Developments, "Shop Floor SR & ED: Are You Missing Out?", 2006 Conference Report, vol. 6, no. 2; Tax for the Owner Manager, 6, "Supporting SR & ED Claims", 2006 Conference Report, vol. 6, no. 4; Tax for the Owner Manager, 8-9, "SR & ED and Outsourcing", Canadian Tax Highlights, 6, vol. 14, no. 4; "R&D: Credits Today, Innovation Tomorrow", 1999 Corporate Management Tax Conference, 1:1–15:77.

Tax Window Files: Scientific Research and Experimental Development — Tests and Studies Required to Meet Regulatory Requirements, January 17, 2007, CRA Document No. 2005-0152601E5; Investment Tax Credit, July 29, 2005, CRA Document No. 2005-0143681I7; Investment Tax Credit and Minimum Tax, October 8, 2004, CRA Document No. 2004-0093371I7; Investment Tax Credits — Carryback Denial After Wind-Up, June 1, 2004, CRA Document No. 2004-0078161I7; Scientific Research and Experimental Development — Accrued Salaries, November 30, 1993, CRA Document No. 931850A; Processing of Industrial Minerals, September 29, 1993, CRA Document No. 9315766; Investment Tax Credit of Individual, February 7, 1992, CRA Document No. 9131225.

► 127(6) ◄

(6) Investment tax credit of cooperative corporation. Where at any particular time in a taxation year a taxpayer that is a cooperative corporation within the meaning assigned by subsection 136(2) has, as required by subsection 135(3), deducted or withheld an amount from a payment made by it to any person pursuant to an allocation in proportion to patronage, the taxpayer may deduct from the amount otherwise required by that subsection to be remitted to the Receiver General, an amount, not exceeding the amount, if any, by which

(a) its investment tax credit at the end of the immediately preceding taxation year in respect of property acquired and expenditures made before the end of that preceding taxation year

exceeds the total of

(b) the amount deducted under subsection (5) from its tax otherwise payable under this Part for the immediately preceding taxation year in respect of property acquired and expenditures made before the end of that preceding taxation year, and

(c) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount deducted by virtue of this subsection from any amount otherwise required to be remitted by subsection 135(3) in respect of payments made by it before the particular time and in the taxation year, and the amount, if any, so deducted from the amount otherwise required to be remitted by subsection 135(3)

(d) shall be deducted in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the taxation year, and

(e) shall be deemed to have been remitted by the taxpayer to the Receiver General on account of tax under this Part of the person to whom that payment was made.

Related Sections: S. 12(1)(t) Investment tax credit; s. 13(7.1) Deemed capital cost of certain property; s. 13(21), "undepreciated capital cost"; s. 53(2)(k)(ii) Amounts to be deducted — Government assistance; s. 66.1(6), "cumulative Canadian exploration expense".

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-362R Patronage dividends.

Forms: T2 SCH 31; T661; T2038.

► 127(7) ◄

(7) Investment tax credit of testamentary trust. If, in a particular taxation year of a taxpayer who is a beneficiary under a testamentary trust or under an inter vivos trust that is deemed to be in existence by section 143, an amount is determined in respect of the trust under paragraph (a), (a.1), (a.4), (a.5), (b) or (e.1) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection (9) for its taxation year that ends in that particular taxation year, the trust may, in its return of income for its taxation year that ends in that particular taxation year, designate the portion of that amount that can, having regard to all the circumstances including the terms and conditions of the trust, reasonably be considered to be attributable to the taxpayer and was not designated by the trust in respect of any other beneficiary of the trust, and that portion shall be added in computing the investment tax credit of the taxpayer at the end of that particular taxation year and shall be deducted in computing the investment tax credit of the trust at the end of its taxation year that ends in that particular taxation year.

History: S. 127(7) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(2), applicable on and after March 19, 2007. S. 127(7) formerly read:

"(7) Investment tax credit of testamentary trust. If, in a particular taxation year of a taxpayer who is a beneficiary under a testamentary trust or under an inter vivos trust that is deemed to be in existence by section 143, an amount is determined in respect of the trust under paragraph (a), (a.1), (a.4), (b) or (e.1) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9) for its taxation year that ends in that particular taxation year, the trust may, in its return of income for its taxation year that ends in that particular taxation year, designate the portion of that amount that can, having regard to all the circumstances including the terms and conditions of the trust, reasonably be considered to be attributable to the taxpayer and was not designated by the trust in respect of any other beneficiary of the trust, and that portion shall be added in computing the investment tax credit of the taxpayer at the end of that particular taxation year and shall be deducted in computing the investment tax credit of the trust at the end of its taxation year that ends in that particular taxation year."

S. 127(7) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 34(2), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006.

S. 127(7) formerly read:

"(7) Investment tax credit of testamentary trust. Where, in a particular taxation year of a taxpayer who is a beneficiary under a testamentary trust or under an inter vivos trust that is deemed to be in existence by section 143, an amount is determined in respect of the trust under paragraph (a), (a.1), (b) or (e.1) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9) for its taxation year that ends in that particular taxation year, the trust may, in its return of income for its taxation year that ends in that particular taxation year, designate the portion of that amount that can, having regard to all the circumstances including the terms and conditions of the trust, reasonably be considered to be attributable to the taxpayer and was not designated by the trust in respect of any other beneficiary of the trust, and that portion shall be added in computing the investment tax credit of the taxpayer at the end of that particular taxation year and shall be deducted in computing the investment tax credit of the trust at the end of its taxation year that ends in that particular taxation year."

S. 127(7) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(3), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

S. 127(7) formerly read:

"(7) Investment tax credit of testamentary trust. Where, in a particular taxation year of a taxpayer who is a beneficiary under a testamentary trust or under an inter vivos trust that is deemed to be in existence by section 143, an amount is determined in respect of the trust under paragraph (a), (b) or (e.1) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9) for its taxation year ending in that particular taxation year, the trust may, in its return of income under this Part for its taxation year ending in that particular taxation year, designate such portion of that amount as may, having regard to all the circumstances including the terms and conditions of the trust, reasonably be considered to be attributable to the taxpayer and was not designated by the trust in respect of any other beneficiary of that trust, and that portion shall be added in computing the investment tax credit of the taxpayer at the end of that particular taxation year and shall be deducted in computing the investment tax credit of the trust at the end of its taxation year ending in that particular taxation year."

Related Sections: S. 53(2)(h)(ii) Amounts to be deducted — Capital interest in a trust; s. 127(11.2) Time of expenditure and acquisition; s. 127(11.5)–(11.8) Adjustments to qualified expenditures.

► 127(8) ◄

(8) Investment tax credit of partnership. Subject to subsections (28) and (28.1), where, in a particular taxation year of a taxpayer who is a member of a partnership, an amount would be determined in respect of the partnership, for its taxation year that ends in the particular taxation year, under paragraph (a), (a.1), (a.4), (a.5), (b) or (e.1) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection (9), if

(a) except for the purpose of subsection (13), the partnership were a person and its fiscal period were its taxation year, and

(b) in the case of a taxpayer who is a specified member of the partnership in the taxation year of the partnership, that definition were read without reference to paragraph (a.1) thereof, and paragraph (e.1) of that definition were read without reference to subparagraphs (ii) to (iv) thereof, the portion of that amount that can reasonably be considered to be the taxpayer's share thereof shall be added in computing the investment tax credit of the taxpayer at the end of the particular year.

History: S. 127(8), the portion before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(3), applicable on and after March 19, 2007. S. 127(8), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(8) Investment tax credit of partnership. Subject to subsection (28), where, in a particular taxation year of a taxpayer who is a member of a partnership, an amount would be determined in respect of the partnership, for its taxation year that ends in the particular taxation year, under paragraph (a), (a.1), (a.4), (b) or (e.1) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9), if"

S. 127(8), the portion before paragraph (a) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 34(3), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006.

S. 127(8), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(8) Investment tax credit of partnership. Subject to subsection (28), where, in a particular taxation year of a taxpayer who is a member of a partnership, an amount would be determined in respect of the partnership, for its taxation year that ends in the particular year, under paragraph (a), (a.1), (b) or (e.1) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9), if"

S. 127(8), the portion before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 48(1), applicable to dispositions and conversions of property that occur after February 23, 1998. S. 127(8), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(8) Investment tax credit of partnership. Where, in a particular taxation year of a taxpayer who is a member of a partnership, an amount would be determined in respect of the partnership, for its taxation year that ends in the particular year, under paragraph (a), (a.1), (b) or (e.1) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9), if"

S. 127(8)(b)(ii) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(4), applicable to taxation years that end after December 2, 1992 and begin before 1996. S. 127(8)(b)(ii) formerly read:

"(ii) paragraph (e.1) of that definition were read without reference to the words 'or that reduced the amount of an expenditure made by the taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(c)',"

S. 127(8) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(5), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

S. 127(8) formerly read:

"(8) Investment tax credit of partnership. Where, in a particular taxation year of a taxpayer who is a member of a partnership, an amount would, if the partnership were a person and its fiscal period were its taxation year, be determined in respect of the partnership, for its taxation year ending in that particular taxation year, under paragraph (a), (b) or (e.1) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9), if

(a) paragraph (a) of that definition were read without reference to subparagraph (a)(iii) thereof, and

(b) in the case of a taxpayer who is a specified member of the partnership in the taxation year of the partnership,

(i) paragraph (a) of that definition were read without reference to subparagraph (a)(ii) thereof, and

(ii) paragraph (e.1) of that definition were read without reference to the words 'the amount of an expenditure made by the taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(c)', the portion of that amount that may reasonably be considered to be the taxpayer's share thereof shall be added in computing the investment tax credit of the taxpayer at the end of that particular taxation year."

Related Sections: S. 53(2)(c)(vi) Amounts to be deducted — Interest in a partnership; s. 96(2.1) Limited partnership losses; s. 127(8.1) Investment tax credit of limited partner; s. 127(8.3) Investment tax credit — allocation of unallocated partnership ITCs; s. 127(8.4) Renunciation to investment tax credit; s. 127(11.2) Time of expenditure and acquisition; s. 127(28) Recapture of investment tax credit of partnership.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2004-02R2, Filing Requirements for Claiming SR&ED.

Tax Window Files: Investment Tax Credits Allocated to Members of Partnership, October 16, 1997, CRA Document No. 9710866; Partner's Election with Respect to Investment Tax Credits, February 5, 1998, CRA Document No. 9642016.

► 127(8.1) ◄

(8.1) Investment tax credit of limited partner. Notwithstanding subsection (8), if a taxpayer is a limited partner of a partnership at the end of a fiscal period of the partnership, the amount, if any, determined under subsection (8) to be added in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the taxpayer's taxation year in which that fiscal period ends shall not exceed the lesser of

(a) the portion of the amount that would, if this section were read without reference to this subsection, be determined under subsection (8) to be the amount to be added in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the taxpayer's taxation year in which that fiscal period ends as is considered to have arisen because of the expenditure by the partnership of an amount equal to the taxpayer's expenditure base (as determined under subsection (8.2) in respect of the partnership) at the end of that fiscal period, and

(b) the taxpayer's at-risk amount in respect of the partnership at the end of that fiscal period.

History: S. 127(8.1) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 34(4), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006.

S. 127(8.1) formerly read:

"(8.1) Investment tax credit of limited partner. Where a taxpayer is a limited partner of a partnership at the end of the partnership's taxation year, the amount referred to under subsection (8) as the amount which can reasonably be considered to be the taxpayer's share of the amounts that would be determined under paragraph (a), (a.1), (b) or (e.1) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9) in respect of the partnership for the year shall not exceed the lesser of

(a) such portion of the amount thereof so determined without reference to this subsection, as is considered to have arisen by virtue of the expenditure by the partnership of an amount equal to the taxpayer's expenditure base (as determined under subsection (8.2)) in respect of the partnership at the end of the year, and

(b) the taxpayer's at-risk amount in respect of the partnership at the end of the year."

S. 127(8.1), that portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(6), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

S. 127(8.1) formerly read:

"(8.1) Investment tax credit of limited partner. Where a taxpayer is a limited partner of a partnership at the end of the partnership's taxation year, the amount referred to under subsection (8) as the amount which may reasonably be considered to be the taxpayer's share of the amounts that would be determined under paragraph (a), (b) or (e.1) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9), if paragraph (a) of that definition were read without reference to subparagraph (a)(iii) thereof, in respect of the partnership for the year shall not exceed the lesser of"

Editorial Note: Subsection 127(8.1) limits the ITCs that a partnership can allocate to a limited partner, based on the limited partnership's expenditure base, as described in subsection 127(8.2), and at-risk amount for the partnership, as described in subsection 96(2.2).

Related Sections: S. 37(13) Non-arm's length contract — linked work; s. 96(2.1)–(2.4) Limited partnership losses; s. 127(8.2) Expenditure base; s. 127(8.5) Definitions.

Tax Window Files: Investment Tax Credit — Allocation to General Partner of Limited Partnership, September 28, 1998, CRA Document No. 9817885.

► 127(8.2) ◄

(8.2) Expenditure base. For the purposes of subsection (8.1), a taxpayer's expenditure base in respect of a partnership at the end of a taxation year of the partnership is the lesser of

(a) the amount, if any, by which the total of

(i) the taxpayer's at-risk amount in respect of the partnership at the time the taxpayer last became a limited partner of the partnership,

(ii) all amounts described in subparagraph 53(1)(e)(iv) contributed by the taxpayer after the time the taxpayer last became a limited partner of the partnership and before the end of the year that may reasonably be considered to have increased the taxpayer's at-risk amount in respect of the partnership at the end of the taxation year in which the contribution was made, and

(iii) the amount, if any, by which

(A) the total of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's share of any income of the partnership as determined under paragraph 96(1)(f) for the year, or a preceding year ending after the time the taxpayer last became a limited partner of the partnership,

exceeds

(B) the total of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's share of any loss of the partnership as determined under paragraph 96(1)(g) for one of those years

exceeds the total of

(iv) all amounts received by the taxpayer after the time the taxpayer last became a limited partner of the partnership and before the end of the year as, on account or in lieu of payment of, or in satisfaction of, a distribution of the taxpayer's share of partnership profits or partnership capital, and

(v) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of an expenditure of the partnership referred to in paragraph (8.1)(a) in respect of the taxpayer for a preceding year, and

(b) that proportion of the lesser of

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is, if the partnership were a person and its fiscal period were its taxation year,

(A) an amount a specified percentage of which would be determined in respect of the partnership under paragraph (a), (b) or (e.1) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection (9) for the year,

(A.1) an amount that would be the apprenticeship expenditure of the partnership if the reference to "$2,000" in paragraph (a) of the definition "apprenticeship expenditure" in subsection (9) were read as a reference to "$20,000" and paragraph (b) of that definition were read without reference to "10% of",

(A.2) an amount that would be the child care space amount in respect of a property of the partnership if the reference to "$10,000" in paragraph (a) of the definition "child care space amount" in subsection (9) were read as a reference to "$40,000" and paragraph (b) of that definition were read without reference to "25% of", or

(B) the amount that would be the SR&ED qualified expenditure pool of the partnership at the end of the year, and

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount determined under paragraph (a) in respect of each of the limited partners of the partnership at the end of the year that

(iii) the amount determined in respect of the taxpayer under paragraph (a) for the year

is of

(iv) the amount determined under subparagraph (ii).

History: S. 127(8.2)(b)(i)(A.2) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(4), applicable on and after March 19, 2007.

S. 127(8.2)(b)(i)(A.1) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 34(5), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006.

S. 127(8.2)(b)(i) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(7), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

S. 127(8.2)(b)(i) formerly read:

"(i) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount a specified percentage of which would, if the partnership were a person and its fiscal period were its taxation year, be determined in respect of the partnership under paragraph (a), (b) or (e.1) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9), if paragraph (a) of that definition were read without reference to subparagraph (a)(iii) thereof, for the taxation year, and"

Related Sections: S. 37(13) Non-arm's length contract — linked work.

Tax Window Files: Allocation of Investment Tax Credit to General Partner, 2003, CRA Document No. 2003-0017923; Investment Tax Credit — Allocation to General Partner of Limited Partnership, September 28, 1998, CRA Document No. 9817885.

► 127(8.3) ◄

(8.3) Investment tax credit — allocation of unallocated partnership ITCs. For the purpose of subsection (8), and subject to subsection (8.4), if a taxpayer is a member of a partnership (other than a specified member) throughout a fiscal period of the partnership, there shall be added to the amount that can reasonably be considered to be that member's share of the amount determined under subsection (8) the amount, if any, that is such portion of the amount determined under subsection (8.31) in respect of that fiscal period as is reasonable in the circumstances (having regard to the investment in the partnership, including debt obligations of the partnership, of each of those members of the partnership who was a member of the partnership throughout the fiscal period of the partnership and who was not a specified member of the partnership during the fiscal period of the partnership).

History: S. 127(8.3) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 34(6), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006 except that, in respect of a taxpayer's taxation year that ends in 2006, subsections 127(8.3) and (8.31) shall be read as follows:

"(8.3) Where

(a) the amount that would, if the partnership were a person and its fiscal period were its taxation year, be determined in respect of the partnership under paragraph (a), (a.1), (a.4), (b) or (e.1) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9) for a taxation year

exceeds

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount determined, under subsections (8) and (8.1), to be the share thereof of a limited partner of the partnership, such portion of the excess as is reasonable in the circumstances (having regard to the investment in the partnership, including debt obligations of the partnership, of each of those members of the partnership who was a member of the partnership throughout the fiscal period of the partnership and who was not a limited partner of the partnership during the fiscal period of the partnership) shall, for the purposes of subsection (8), be considered to be the amount that may reasonably be considered to be that member's share of the amount described in paragraph (a)."

S. 127(8.3) formerly read:

"(8.3) Investment tax credit not allocated to limited partners. Where

(a) the amount that would, if the partnership were a person and its fiscal period were its taxation year, be determined in respect of the partnership under paragraph (a), (*a.*1), (b) or (*e.*1) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9) for a taxation year

exceeds

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount determined, under subsections (8) and (8.1), to be the share thereof of a limited partner of the partnership,

such portion of the excess as is reasonable in the circumstances (having regard to the investment in the partnership, including debt obligations of the partnership, of each of those members of the partnership who was a member of the partnership throughout the fiscal period of the partnership and who was not a limited partner of the partnership during the fiscal period of the partnership) shall, for the purposes of subsection (8), be considered to be the amount that may reasonably be considered to be that member's share of the amount described in paragraph (a)."

S. 127(8.3)(a) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(8), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

S. 127(8.3)(a) formerly read:

"(a) the amount that would, if the partnership were a person and its fiscal period were its taxation year, be determined in respect of the partnership under paragraph (a), (b) or (*e.*1) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9), if paragraph (a) of that definition were read without reference to subparagraph (a)(iii) thereof, for a taxation year"

Related Sections: S. 37(13) Non-arm's length contract — linked work; s. 96(2.1)–96(2.4) Limited partnership losses; s. 127(8.5) Definitions.

Tax Window Files: Allocation of Investment Tax Credit to General Partner, 2003, CRA Document No. 2003-0017923; Investment Tax Credit — Allocation to General Partner of Limited Partnership, September 28, 1998, CRA Document No. 9817885.

► 127(8.31) ◄

(8.31) Amount of unallocated partnership ITC. For the purpose of subsection (8.3), the amount determined under this subsection in respect of a fiscal period of a partnership is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount that would, if the partnership were a person and its fiscal period were its taxation year, be determined in respect of the partnership under paragraph (a), (a.1), (a.4), (a.5), (b) or (e.1) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection (9) for a taxation year that is the fiscal period,

exceeds

(b) the total of

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount determined under subsection (8) in respect of the fiscal period to be the share of the total determined under paragraph (a) of a partner of the partnership (other than a member of the partnership who was at any time in the fiscal period of the partnership a specified member of the partnership), and

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount determined under subsection (8), with reference to subsection (8.1), in respect of the fiscal period to be the share of the total determined under paragraph (a) of a partner of the partnership who was at any time in the fiscal period of the partnership a specified member of the partnership.

(iii) [Repealed.]

History: S. 127(8.31)(a) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(5), applicable on and after March 19, 2007. S. 127(8.31)(a) formerly read:

"(a) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount that would, if the partnership were a person and its fiscal period were its taxation year, be determined in respect of the partnership under paragraph (a), (a.1), (a.4), (b) or (e.1) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9) for a taxation year that is the fiscal period,"

S. 127(8.31)(b)(iii) was repealed by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(6), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127(8.31)(b)(iii) formerly read:

"(iii) the amount, if any, by which

(A) the amount that would be determined under subparagraph (i) in respect of the partners referred to in subparagraph (ii) if subparagraph (i) applied only to those partners and those partners were not specified members of the partnership,

exceeds

(B) the amount determined under subparagraph (ii) in respect of those partners."

S. 127(8.31) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 34(6), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006 except that, in respect of a taxpayer's taxation year that ends in 2006, subsections 127(8.3) and (8.31) shall be read as follows:

"(8.3) Where

(a) the amount that would, if the partnership were a person and its fiscal period were its taxation year, be determined in respect of the partnership under paragraph (a), (a.1), (a.4), (b) or (e.1) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9) for a taxation year

exceeds

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount determined, under subsections (8) and (8.1), to be the share thereof of a limited partner of the partnership, such portion of the excess as is reasonable in the circumstances (having regard to the investment in the partnership, including debt obligations of the partnership, of each of those members of the partnership who was a member of the partnership throughout the fiscal period of the partnership and who was not a limited partner of the partnership during the fiscal period of the partnership) shall, for the purposes of subsection (8), be considered to be the amount that may reasonably be considered to be that member's share of the amount described in paragraph (a)."

► 127(8.4) ◄

(8.4) Idem. Notwithstanding subsection (8), where, pursuant to subsections (8) and (8.3) an amount would, but for this subsection, be required to be added in computing the investment tax credit of a taxpayer for a taxation year, where the taxpayer so elects in prescribed form and manner in the taxpayer's return of income (other than a return of income filed under subsection 70(2) or 104(23), paragraph 128(2)(e) or subsection 150(4)) under this Part for the year, such portion of the amount as is elected by the taxpayer shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed not to have been required by subsection (8) to have been added in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year.

Forms: T932.

► 127(8.5) ◄

(8.5) Definitions. In subsections (8.1) to (8.4), the words "at-risk amount" of a taxpayer and "limited partner" of a partnership have the meanings assigned to those words by subsections 96(2.2) and (2.4), respectively.

► 127(9) ◄

(9) Idem. In this section,

Regulations: Part XXIX; Part XLVI; 2902.

Tax Window Files: SR&ED Government Assistance, May 3, 2007, CRA Document No. 2007-0224191E5; Lease of used equipment & non-arm's length party, February 15, 2007, CRA Document No. 2006-0206761I7; SR&ED Used Equipment, January 30, 2007, CRA Document No. 2006-0211041E5; Allocation of Investment Tax Credit to General Partner, 2003, CRA Document No. 2003-0017923.

"annual investment tax credit limit" — [Repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(2).]

History: S. 127(9), the definition of "annual investment tax credit limit", was repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1993. S. 127(9), the definition of "annual investment tax credit limit", formerly read:

"'annual investment tax credit limit' — 'annual investment tax credit limit' of a taxpayer for a taxation year means

(a) in the case of a corporation, the total of

(i) 3/4 of the corporation's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year, and

(ii) where the corporation is a Canadian-controlled private corporation throughout the year, 3% of the least of the amounts determined under paragraphs 125(1)(a) to (c) in respect of the corporation for the year, and

(b) in any other case, the total of

(i) $24,000, and

(ii) 3/4 of the amount, if any, by which the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year exceeds $24,000;"

"apprenticeship expenditure" — "apprenticeship expenditure" of a taxpayer for a taxation year in respect of an eligible apprentice is the lesser of

(a) $2,000, and

(b) 10% of the eligible salary and wages payable by the taxpayer in the taxation year to the eligible apprentice in respect of the eligible apprentice's employment in the taxation year and on or after May 2, 2006, by the taxpayer in a business carried on in Canada by the taxpayer in the taxation year;

History: S. 127(9), the definition "apprenticeship expenditure" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 34(8), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006.

Related Sections: S. 127(9), "investment tax credit, paragraph (a.4); s. 127(11.1)(c.4) Investment tax credit.

"approved project" — "approved project" means a project with a total capital cost of depreciable property, determined without reference to subsection 13(7.1) or (7.4), of not less than $25,000 that has, on application in writing before July, 1988, been approved by such member of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada as is designated by the Governor in Council for the purposes of this definition in relation to projects in the appropriate province or region of a province;

"approved project property" — [Repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(9).]

History: S. 127(9), the definition "approved project property", was repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(9), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

That definition formerly read:

"'approved project property' — 'approved project property' of a taxpayer means property that is certified by the member of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada appointed to be the Minister for the purposes of the Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency Act to be property that has not been used, or acquired for use or lease, for any purpose whatever before it was acquired by the taxpayer, and to be

(a) a prescribed building, to the extent that it is acquired by the taxpayer after May 23, 1985 and before 1993, or

(b) prescribed machinery and equipment acquired by the taxpayer after May 23, 1985 and before 1993, that has been acquired pursuant to a plan by the taxpayer to use the property in Cape Breton primarily for an approved purpose in an approved project or, in the case of a prescribed building, to be leased by the taxpayer to a lessee (other than a person exempt from tax under this Part by virtue of section 149) who can reasonably be expected to use the building pursuant to a plan to use it in Cape Breton primarily for an approved purpose in an approved project, or

(c) part of a prescribed building to the extent that the part is acquired by the taxpayer after May 23, 1985 and before 1993 to be

(i) used by the taxpayer, or

(ii) leased by the taxpayer to a lessee (other than a person exempt from tax under this Part by virtue of section 149) who can reasonably be expected to use that part

pursuant to a plan to use that part in Cape Breton primarily for an approved purpose in an approved project, or

(d) where the taxpayer is a leasing corporation, prescribed machinery and equipment acquired by the taxpayer after May 23, 1985 and before 1993, to be leased by the taxpayer in the ordinary course of carrying on a business in Canada to a lessee (other than a person exempt from tax under this Part by virtue of section 149) who can reasonably be expected to use the property in Cape Breton primarily for an approved purpose in an approved project, but this paragraph only applies if the first lessee of the property commenced use of the property after May 23, 1985, and for the purposes of this definition,

(e) 'for an approved purpose' means for the purpose of

(i) any of the activities described in subparagraphs (c)(i) to (ix), (xi) and (xii) of the definition 'qualified property' in this subsection,

(ii) farming, or

(iii) a prescribed activity, and

(f) 'leasing corporation' means a corporation the principal business of which is leasing property, manufacturing property that it sells or leases, the lending of money, the purchasing of conditional sales contracts, accounts receivable, bills of sale, chattel mortgages, bills of exchange or other obligations representing part or all of the sale price of merchandise or services, or selling or servicing a type of property that it also leases, or any combination thereof;"

"Cape Breton" — "Cape Breton" means Cape Breton Island and that portion of the Province of Nova Scotia within the following described boundary:

beginning at a point on the southwesterly shore of Chedabucto Bay near Red Head, said point being S70 degrees E (Nova Scotia grid meridian) from Geodetic Station Sand, thence in a southwesterly direction to a point on the northwesterly boundary of highway 344, said point being southwesterly 240' from the intersection of King Brook with said highway boundary, thence northwesterly to Crown post 6678, thence continuing northwesterly to Crown post 6679, thence continuing northwesterly to Crown post 6680, thence continuing northwesterly to Crown post 6681, thence continuing northwesterly to Crown post 6632, thence continuing northwesterly to Crown post 6602, thence northerly to Crown post 8575; thence northerly to Crown post 6599, thence continuing northerly to Crown post 6600, thence northwesterly to the southwest angle of the Town of Mulgrave, thence along the westerly boundary of the Town of Mulgrave and a prolongation thereof northerly to the Antigonish-Guysborough county line, thence along said county line northeasterly to the southwesterly shore of the Strait of Canso, thence following the southwesterly shore of the Strait of Canso and the northwesterly shore of Chedabucto Bay southeasterly to the place of beginning;

"certified property" — "certified property" of a taxpayer means any property (other than an approved project property) described in paragraph (a) or (b) of the definition "qualified property" in this subsection

(a) that was acquired by the taxpayer

(i) after October 28, 1980 and

(A) before 1987, or

(B) before 1988 where the property is

(I) a building under construction before 1987, or

(II) machinery and equipment ordered in writing by the taxpayer before 1987,

(ii) after 1986 and before 1989, other than a property included in subparagraph (i),

(iii) after 1988 and before 1995,

(iv) after 1994 and before 1996 where

(A) the property is acquired by the taxpayer for use in a project that was substantially advanced by or on behalf of the taxpayer, as evidenced in writing, before February 22, 1994, and

(B) construction of the project by or on behalf of the taxpayer begins before 1995, or

(v) after 1994 where the property

(A) is acquired by the taxpayer under a written agreement of purchase and sale entered into by the taxpayer before February 22, 1994,

(B) was under construction by or on behalf of the taxpayer on February 22, 1994, or

(C) is machinery or equipment that will be a fixed and integral part of property under construction by or on behalf of the taxpayer on February 22, 1994, and that has not been used, or acquired for use or lease, for any purpose whatever before it was acquired by the taxpayer, and

(b) that is part of a facility as defined for the purposes of the Regional Development Incentives Act, chapter R-3 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1970, and was acquired primarily for use by the taxpayer in a prescribed area;

History: S. 127(9), subparagraph (a)(iii) of the definition "certified property", was amended and subparagraphs (a)(iv) and (a)(v) added, by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 37(1), applicable to property acquired and expenditures incurred after 1994. Subparagraph (a)(iii) of the definition "certified property" formerly read:

"(iii) after 1988,"

Regulations: 4602.

"child care space amount" — "child care space amount" of a taxpayer for a taxation year is, if the provision of child care spaces is ancillary to one or more businesses of the taxpayer that are carried on in Canada in the taxation year and that do not otherwise include the provision of child care spaces, the lesser of

(a) the amount obtained when $10,000 is multiplied by the number of new child care spaces created by the taxpayer during the taxation year in a licensed child care facility for the benefit of children of the taxpayer's employees, or of a combination of children of the taxpayer's employees and other children; and

(b) 25% of the taxpayer's eligible child care space expenditure for the taxation year;

History: S. 127(9), the definition "child care space amount" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(13), applicable to expenditures incurred on and after March 19, 2007.

"contract payment" — "contract payment" means

(a) an amount paid or payable to a taxpayer, by a taxable supplier in respect of the amount, for scientific research and experimental development to the extent that it is performed

(i) for or on behalf of a person or partnership entitled to a deduction in respect of the amount because of subparagraph 37(1)(a)(i) or (i.1), and

(ii) at a time when the taxpayer is dealing at arm's length with the person or partnership, or

(b) an amount, other than a prescribed amount, payable by a Canadian government or municipality or other Canadian public authority or by a person exempt, because of section 149, from tax under this Part on all or part of the person's taxable income for scientific research and experimental development to be performed for it or on its behalf;

History: S. 127(9), paragraph (a) of the definition "contract payment", was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(11), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

That paragraph formerly read:

"(a) an amount payable for scientific research and experimental development to the extent that it can reasonably be considered to have been performed for, or on behalf of, a person entitled to a deduction in respect of the amount because of subparagraph 37(1)(a)(i) or clause 37(1)(a)(ii)(D), or"

S. 127(9), the definition "contract payment", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 68(2), applicable to amounts that become payable after December 20, 1991. The definition formerly read:

"'contract payment' — 'contract payment' means

(a) an amount payable by a person resident in Canada for scientific research and experimental development related to the business of that person,

(b) an amount, other than a prescribed amount, payable by a Canadian government, municipality or other Canadian public authority or by a person exempt from tax under Part I by virtue of section 149 for scientific research and experimental development to be performed for it or on its behalf, or

(c) an amount payable by a person not resident in Canada if that person is entitled to a deduction under clause 37(1)(a)(ii)(D) in respect of the amount;"

Related Sections: S. 127(18) Reduction of qualified expenditures; s. 127(19) Reduction of qualified expenditures; s. 127(24) Exclusion from qualified expenditure; s. 127(25) Deemed contract payment.

Regulations: 4606.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2005-02, General Rules Concerning the Treatment of Government and Non-Government Assistance; Application Policy 2004-03, Prototypes, Pilot Plants/Commercial Plants, Custom Products and Commercial Assets; Application Policy 2002-03, Taxable Supplier Rates; Application Policy 94-04, Definition of "contract payment" in subsection 127(9).

Tax Topics: No. 1830, The CRA's Revised Position on SR&ED Contracts.

Tax Window Files: Scientific Research and Experimental Development — Activities Performed on Behalf of Foreign Corporation, October 7, 2005, CRA Document No. 2005-0140991C6; Research and Development, September 11, 2001, CRA Document No. 2001-0078855; Investment Tax Credit —

Moveable Hopper, November 1 and 25, 1993, CRA Document No. 9321745; 9322255; Certified Property — Investment Tax Credit — Natural Gas Processing Plant, January 26, 1993, CRA Document No. 9232387.

"designated region" — [Repealed by 1986, c. 6, s. 71(2).]

"eligible apprentice" — "eligible apprentice" means an individual who is employed in Canada in a trade prescribed in respect of a province or in respect of Canada, during the first twenty-four months of the individual's apprenticeship contract registered with the province or Canada, as the case may be, under an apprenticeship program designed to certify or license individuals in the trade;

History: S. 127(9), the definition "eligible apprentice" was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(7), applicable to taxation years ending on or after May 2, 2006. S. 127(9), the definition "eligible apprentice" formerly read:

"'eligible apprentice' — 'eligible apprentice' means an individual who is employed in a prescribed trade in Canada during the first two years of the individual's apprenticeship contract, which is registered with Canada or a province under an apprenticeship program designed to certify or license individuals in the trade;"

S. 127(9), the definition "eligible apprentice" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 34(8), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006.

Regulations: 7310.

"eligible child care space expenditure" — "eligible child care space expenditure" of a taxpayer for a taxation year is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount

(a) that is incurred by the taxpayer in the taxation year for the sole purpose of the creation of one or more new child care spaces in a licensed child care facility operated for the benefit of children of the taxpayer's employees, or of a combination of children of the taxpayer's employees and other children, and

(b) that is

(i) incurred by the taxpayer to acquire depreciable property of a prescribed class (other than a specified property) for use in the child care facility, or

(ii) incurred by the taxpayer to make a specified child care start-up expenditure in respect of the child care facility;

History: S. 127(9), the definition "eligible child care space expenditure" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(13), applicable to expenditures incurred on and after March 19, 2007.

"eligible salary and wages" — "eligible salary and wages" payable by a taxpayer to an eligible apprentice means the amount, if any, that is the salary and wages payable by the taxpayer to the eligible apprentice in respect of the first 24 months of the apprenticeship (other than remuneration that is based on profits, bonuses, amounts described in section 6 or 7, and amounts deemed to be incurred by subsection 78(4));

History: S. 127(9), the definition "eligible salary and wages" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 34(8), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006.

Related Sections: S. 127(11.4) Special rule for eligible salary and wages — apprentices.

"eligible taxpayer" — "eligible taxpayer" means

(a) a corporation other than a non-qualifying corporation,

(b) an individual other than a trust,

(c) a trust all the beneficiaries of which are eligible taxpayers, and

(d) a partnership all the members of which are eligible taxpayers, and, for the purpose of this definition, a beneficiary of a trust is a person or partnership that is beneficially interested in the trust;

History: S. 127(9), the definition of "eligible taxpayer", was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(9), applicable to property acquired after December 2, 1992.

Related Sections: S. 248(25) Beneficially interested.

"first term shared-use-equipment" — "first term shared-use-equipment" of a taxpayer means depreciable property of the taxpayer (other than prescribed depreciable property of a taxpayer) that is used by the taxpayer, during its operating time in the period (in this subsection and subsection (11.1) referred to as the "first period") beginning at the time the property was acquired by the taxpayer and ending at the end of the taxpayer's first taxation year ending at least 12 months after that time, primarily for the prosecution of scientific research and experimental development in Canada, but does not include general purpose office equipment or furniture;

History: S. 127(9), the definition of "first term shared-use-equipment", was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(9), applicable to property acquired after December 2, 1992.

Related Sections: S. 88(1)(e.3) Winding-up; s. 127(11.5)(b)
Regulations: 2900(11).
SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2005-01, Shared-Use Equipment; Application Policy 2003-01, Capital Property Intended to be Used All or Substantially All for SR&ED.

"flow-through mining expenditure" — "flow-through mining expenditure" of a taxpayer for a taxation year means an expense deemed by subsection 66(12.61) (or by subsection 66(18) as a consequence of the application of subsection 66(12.61) to the partnership, referred to in paragraph (c) of this definition, of which the taxpayer is a member) to be incurred by the taxpayer in the year

(a) that is a Canadian exploration expense incurred by a corporation after March 2009 and before 2011 (including, for greater certainty, an expense that is deemed by subsection 66(12.66) to be incurred before 2011) in conducting mining exploration activity from or above the surface of the earth for the purpose of determining the existence, location, extent or quality of a mineral resource described in paragraph (a) or (d) of the definition "mineral resource" in subsection 248(1),

(b) that

(i) is an expense described in paragraph (f) of the definition "Canadian exploration expense" in subsection 66.1(6), and

(ii) is not an expense in respect of

(A) trenching, if one of the purposes of the trenching is to carry out preliminary sampling (other than specified sampling),

(B) digging test pits (other than digging test pits for the purpose of carrying out specified sampling), and

(C) preliminary sampling (other than specified sampling),

(c) an amount in respect of which is renounced in accordance with subsection 66(12.6) by the corporation to the taxpayer (or a partnership of which the taxpayer is a member) under an agreement described in that subsection and made after March 2009 and before April 2010, and

(d) that is not an expense that was renounced under subsection 66(12.6) to the corporation (or a partnership of which the corporation is a member), unless that renunciation was under an agreement described in that subsection and made after March 2009 and before April 2010;

(e) [Repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 81(2).]

History: S. 127(9), paragraph (a) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 40(1), applicable to expenses renounced under a flow-through share agreement made after March 2009. S. 127(9), paragraph (a) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" formerly read:

"(a) that is a Canadian exploration expense incurred by a corporation after March 2008 and before 2010 (including, for greater certainty, an expense that is deemed by subsection 66(12.66) to be incurred before 2010) in conducting mining exploration activity from or above the surface of the earth for the purpose of determining the existence, location, extent or quality of a mineral resource described in paragraph (a) or (d) of the definition 'mineral resource' in subsection 248(1),"

S. 127(9), paragraphs (c) and (d) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" were replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 40(2), applicable to expenses renounced under a flow-through share agreement made after March 2009. S. 127(9), paragraphs (c) and (d) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" formerly read:

"(c) an amount in respect of which is renounced in accordance with subsection 66(12.6) by the corporation to the taxpayer (or a partnership of which the taxpayer is a member) under an agreement described in that subsection and made after March 2008 and before April 2009, and

(d) that is not an expense that was renounced under subsection 66(12.6) to the corporation (or a partnership of which the corporation is a member), unless that renunciation was under an agreement described in that subsection and made after March 2008 and before April 2009;"

S. 127(9), paragraph (a) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" was replaced by S.C. 2008, c. 28, s. 19(1), applicable to expenses renounced under a flow through share agreement made after March 2008. S. 127(9), paragraph (a) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" formerly read:

"(a) that is a Canadian exploration expense incurred by a corporation after March 2007 and before 2009 (including, for greater certainty, an expense that is deemed by subsection 66(12.66) to be incurred before 2009) in conducting mining exploration activity from or above the surface of the earth for the purpose of determining the existence, location, extent or quality of a mineral resource described in paragraph (a) or (d) of the definition 'mineral resource' in subsection 248(1),"

S. 127(9), paragraphs (c) and (d) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" were replaced by S.C. 2008, c. 28, s. 19(2), applicable to expenses renounced under a flow through share agreement made after March 2008. S. 127(9), paragraphs (c) and (d) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" formerly read:

"(c) an amount in respect of which is renounced in accordance with subsection 66(12.6) by the corporation to the taxpayer (or a partnership of which the taxpayer is a member) under an agreement described in that subsection and made after March 2007 and before April 2008, and

(d) that is not an expense that was renounced under subsection 66(12.6) to the corporation (or a partnership of which the corporation is a member), unless that renunciation was under an agreement described in that subsection and made after March 2007 and before April 2008;"

S. 127(9), paragraph (a) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(8), applicable to expenses renounced under agreements made after March 2007. S. 127(9), paragraph (a) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" formerly read:

"(a) that is a Canadian exploration expense incurred by a corporation after May 1, 2006 and before 2008 (including, for greater certainty, an expense that is deemed by subsection 66(12.66) to be incurred before 2008) in conducting mining exploration activity from or above the surface of the earth for the purpose of determining the existence, location, extent or quality of a mineral resource described in paragraph (a) or (d) of the definition "mineral resource" in subsection 248(1),"

S. 127(9), paragraphs (c) and (d) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" were replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(9), applicable to expenses renounced under agreements made after March 2007. S. 127(9), paragraphs (c) and (d) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" formerly read:

"(c) an amount in respect of which is renounced in accordance with subsection 66(12.6) by the corporation to the taxpayer (or a partnership of which the taxpayer is a member) under an agreement described in that subsection and made after May 1, 2006 and before April 1, 2007, and

(d) that is not an expense that was renounced under subsection 66(12.6) to the corporation (or a partnership of which the corporation is a member), unless that renunciation was under an agreement described in that subsection and made after May 1, 2006 and before April 1, 2007;"

S. 127(9), paragraph (a) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 75(2), applicable to expenses renounced under agreements made after May 1, 2006. S. 127(9), paragraph (a) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" formerly read:

"(a) that is a Canadian exploration expense incurred after October 17, 2000 and before 2006 by a corporation in conducting mining exploration activity from or above the surface of the earth for the purpose of determining the existence, location, extent or quality of a mineral resource described in paragraph (a) or (d) of the definition 'mineral resource' in subsection 248(1),"

S. 127(9), paragraphs (c) and (d) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" were replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 75(3), applicable to expenses renounced under agreements made after May 1, 2006. S. 127(9), paragraphs (c) and (d) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" formerly read:

"(c) an amount in respect of which is renounced in accordance with subsection 66(12.6) by the corporation to the taxpayer (or a partnership of which the taxpayer is a member) under an agreement described in that subsection and made after October 17, 2000, and

(d) that is not an expense that was renounced under subsection 66(12.6) to the corporation (or a partnership of which the corporation is a member), unless that renunciation was under an agreement described in that subsection and made after October 17, 2000;"

S. 127(9), paragraph (a) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" was replaced by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 28(1), applicable after March 23, 2004. S. 127(9), paragraph (a) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" formerly read:

"(a) that is a Canadian exploration expense incurred after October 17, 2000 and before 2005 by a corporation in conducting mining exploration activity from or above the surface of the earth for the purpose of determining the existence, location, extent or quality of a mineral resource described in paragraph (a) or (d) of the definition 'mineral resource' in subsection 248(1),"

S. 127(9), paragraph (a) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 81(1), applicable after February 18, 2003. S. 127(9), paragraph (a) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" formerly read:

"(a) that is a Canadian exploration expense incurred after October 17, 2000 and before 2004 by a corporation in conducting mining exploration activity from or above the surface of the earth for the purpose of determining the existence, location, extent or quality of a mineral resource described in paragraph (a) or (d) of the definition 'mineral resource' in subsection 248(1),"

S. 127(9), paragraph (e) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" was repealed by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 81(1), applicable after February 18, 2003. S. 127(9), paragraph (e) of the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" formerly read:

"(e) that is an expense that would be incurred by the corporation before 2004 if this Act were read without reference to subsection 66(12.66);"

S. 127(9), the definition "flow-through mining expenditure" was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 118(7), applicable after October 17, 2000.

Related Sections: S. 127(9), "investment tax credit"; s. 127(11.1)(c.2) Investment tax credit.

"Gaspé Peninsula" — "Gaspé Peninsula" means that portion of the Gaspé region of the Province of Quebec that extends to the western border of Kamouraska County and includes the Magdalen Islands;

Tax Window Files: Investment Tax Credits — Borders of Gaspe Peninsula, April 20, 2005, CRA Document No. 2004-0101461E5.

"government assistance" — "government assistance" means assistance from a government, municipality or other public authority whether as a grant, subsidy, forgivable loan, deduction from tax, investment allowance or as any other form of assistance other than as a deduction under subsection (5) or (6);

Related Sections: S. 12(1)(x) Inducement, reimbursement, etc.; s. 248(16) Goods and services tax — input tax credit and rebate; s. 248(16.1) Goods and services tax — input tax credit and rebate; s. 248(18) Goods and services tax — input tax credit and rebate.

Proposed Related Sections: s. 248(18.1).

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2005-02, General Rules Concerning the Treatment of Government and Non Government Assistance.

Tax Window Files: SR&ED Government Assistance, May 3, 2007, CRA Document No. 2007-0224191E5; Scientific Research and Experimental Development — Government Assistance, December 23, 2004, CRA Document No. 2004-0095621I7; Research and Development, September 11, 2001, CRA Document No. 2001-0078855.

Cases: When the Coal Research Agreement between the taxpayer and the Province of Alberta required Alberta to sell its equity interest in the project to the taxpayer if it became commercially successful, the $725,000 payment made to the taxpayer constituted some form of government assistance considering that Alberta did not have an ordinary business interest in the project. The Queen v. CCLC Technologies Inc., 96 DTC 6527 (F.C.A.), reversing 95 DTC 5685 (T.C.C.).

"investment tax credit" — "investment tax credit" of a taxpayer at the end of a taxation year means the amount, if any, by which the total of

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is the specified percentage of the capital cost to the taxpayer of certified property or qualified property acquired by the taxpayer in the year,

(a.1) 20% of the amount by which the taxpayer's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of the year exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is the super-allowance benefit amount for the year in respect of the taxpayer in respect of a province,

(a.2) where the taxpayer is an individual (other than a trust), 15% of the taxpayer's flow-through mining expenditures for the year,

(a.3) where the taxpayer is a taxable Canadian corporation, the specified percentage of the taxpayer's pre-production mining expenditure for the year,

(a.4) the total of all amounts each of which is an apprenticeship expenditure of the taxpayer for the taxation year in respect of an eligible apprentice,

(a.5) the child care space amount of the taxpayer for the taxation year,

(b) the total of amounts required by subsection (7) or (8) to be added in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year,

(c) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined under any of paragraphs (a) to (b) in respect of the taxpayer for any of the 10 taxation years immediately preceding or the 3 taxation years immediately following the year,

(d) [Repealed by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 75(1).]

(e) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount required by subsection (10.1) to be added in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year or at the end of any of the 10 taxation years immediately preceding or the 3 taxation years immediately following the year,

(e.1) the total of all amounts each of which is the specified percentage of that part of a repayment made by the taxpayer in the year or in any of the 10 taxation years immediately preceding or the 3 taxation years immediately following the year that can reasonably be considered to be a repayment of government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment that reduced

(i) the capital cost to the taxpayer of a property under paragraph (11.1)(b),

(ii) the amount of a qualified expenditure incurred by the taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(c) for taxation years that began before 1996,

(iii) the prescribed proxy amount of the taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(f) for taxation years that began before 1996,

(iv) a qualified expenditure incurred by the taxpayer under any of subsections (18) to (20),

(v) the amount of a pre-production mining expenditure of the taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(c.3),

(vi) the amount of eligible salary and wages payable by the taxpayer to an eligible apprentice under paragraph (11.1)(c.4), to the extent that that reduction had the effect of reducing the amount of an apprenticeship expenditure of the taxpayer, or

(vii) the amount of an eligible child care space expenditure of the taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(c.5), to the extent that that reduction had the effect of reducing the amount of a child care space amount of the taxpayer, and

(e.2) the total of all amounts each of which is the specified percentage of 1/4 of that part of a repayment made by the taxpayer in the year or in any of the 10 taxation years immediately preceding or the 3 taxation years immediately following the year that can reasonably be considered to be a repayment of government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment that reduced

(i) the amount of a qualified expenditure incurred by the taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(e) for taxation years that began before 1996, or

(ii) a qualified expenditure incurred by the taxpayer under any of subsections (18) to (20), in respect of first term shared-use-equipment or second term shared-use-equipment, and, for that purpose, a repayment made by the taxpayer in any taxation year preceding the first taxation year that ends coincidentally with the first period or the second period in respect of first term shared-use-equipment or second term shared-use-equipment, respectively, is deemed to have been incurred by the taxpayer in that first taxation year,

exceeds the total of

(f) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under subsection (5) from the tax otherwise payable under this Part by the taxpayer for a preceding taxation year in respect of property acquired, or an expenditure incurred, in the year or in any of the 10 taxation years immediately preceding or the 2 taxation years immediately following the year, or in respect of the taxpayer's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of such a year,

(g) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount required by subsection (6) to be deducted in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit

(i) at the end of the year, or

(ii) [Repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(15).]

(iii) at the end of any of the 9 taxation years immediately preceding or the 3 taxation years immediately following the year,

(h) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount required by subsection (7) to be deducted in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit

(i) at the end of the year, or

(ii) [Repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(16).]

(iii) at the end of any of the 10 taxation years immediately preceding or the 3 taxation years immediately following the year,

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount claimed under subparagraph 192(2)(a)(ii) by the taxpayer for the year or a preceding taxation year in respect of property acquired, or an expenditure made, in the year or the 10 taxation years immediately preceding the year,

(j) where the taxpayer is a corporation control of which has been acquired by a person or group of persons at any time before the end of the year, the amount determined under subsection (9.1) in respect of the taxpayer, and

(k) where the taxpayer is a corporation control of which has been acquired by a person or group of persons at any time after the end of the year, the amount determined under subsection (9.2) in respect of the taxpayer;

except that no amount shall be included in the total determined under any of paragraphs (a) to (e.2) in respect of an outlay, expense or expenditure that would, if this Act were read without reference to subsections (26) and 78(4), be made or incurred by the taxpayer in the course of earning income in a particular taxation year, and no amount shall be added under paragraph (b) in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of a particular taxation year in respect of an outlay, expense or expenditure made or incurred by a trust or a partnership in the course of earning income, if

(l) any of the income is exempt income or is exempt from tax under this Part,

(m) the taxpayer does not file with the Minister a prescribed form containing prescribed information in respect of the amount on or before the day that is one year after the taxpayer's filing-due date for the particular year;

History: S. 127(9), paragraph (a.5) of the definition "investment tax credit" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(10), applicable to expenditures incurred on and after March 19, 2007.

S. 127(9), paragraph (e.1)(vi) and (vii) of the definition "investment tax credit" were added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(11), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006, except that subparagraph (e.1)(vii) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection 127(9) applies to taxation years that end on or after March 19, 2007.

S. 127(9), paragraph (a.4) of the definition "investment tax credit" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 34(7), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006.

S. 127(9), paragraph (d) of the definition "investment tax credit" was repealed by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 75(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 127(9), paragraph (d) of the definition "investment tax credit" formerly read:

"(d) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount required by subsection 119(9) to be added in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year or at the end of any of the 10 taxation years immediately preceding the year,"

S. 127(9), paragraph (a.3) of the definition "investment tax credit" was added by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 14(3), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 127(9), paragraph (c) of the definition "investment tax credit" was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 14(4), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127(9), paragraph (c) of the definition "investment tax credit" formerly read:

"(c) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined under paragraph (a), (a.1), (a.2) or (b) in respect of the taxpayer for any of the 10 taxation years immediately preceding or the 3 taxation years immediately following the year,"

S. 127(9), subparagraph (e.1)(v) of the definition "investment tax credit" was added by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 14(5), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 127(9), paragraph (a.1) of the definition "investment tax credit" was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 118(4), applicable to taxation years that begin after February 2000 except that, if a corporation's first taxation year that begins after February 2000 ends before 2001, those provisions apply to the corporation's taxation years that begin after 2000. S. 127(9), paragraph (a.1) of the definition "investment tax credit" formerly read:

"(a.1) 20% of the taxpayer's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of the year,"

S. 127(9), paragraph (a.2) of the definition "investment tax credit" was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 118(4), applicable after October 17, 2000.

S. 127(9), paragraph (c) of the definition "investment tax credit" was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 118(5), applicable after October 17, 2000. S. 127(9), paragraph (c) of the definition "investment tax credit" formerly read:

"(c) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined under paragraph (a), (a.1) or (b) in respect of the taxpayer for any of the 10 taxation years immediately preceding or the 3 taxation years immediately following the year,"

S. 127(9), paragraph (l) of the definition "investment tax credit" was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 118(6), applicable to all taxation years. S. 127(9), paragraph (l) of the definition "investment tax credit" formerly read:

"(l) any of the income is exempt income, or"

S. 127(9), the portion after paragraph (k) of the definition "investment tax credit" was amended, and paragraphs (l) and (m) were added by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 33(1), applicable to all taxation years except that, if the taxpayer's filing-due date for the year is before June 1996, the taxpayer may file the prescribed form referred to in paragraph (m) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection 127(9) of the Act before June 1997, and, for the purposes of this subsection and subsection (1), the definition "filing-due date" in subsection 248(1) of the Act applies to all taxation years. S. 127(9), the portion after paragraph (k) of the definition "investment tax credit" formerly read:

"except that no amount shall be included in the total determined under any of paragraphs (a) to (e.2) in respect of any qualified expenditure incurred by the taxpayer in the course of earning income from a business, or in respect of any certified property or qualified property acquired by the taxpayer for use in the course of earning income from a business, if any of the income from that business is exempt from tax under this Part;"

S. 127(9), paragraph (a) of the definition "investment tax credit" was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(12), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

That paragraph formerly read:

"(a) the total of all amounts each of which is the specified percentage of

(i) the capital cost to the taxpayer of approved project property, certified property, qualified construction equipment, qualified property, qualified small-business property or qualified transportation equipment acquired by the taxpayer in the year,

(ii) a qualified expenditure made by the taxpayer in the year, or

(iii) the taxpayer's qualified Canadian exploration expenditure for the year,"

S. 127(9), paragraph (a.1) of the definition "investment tax credit" was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(12), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

S. 127(9), paragraph (c) of the definition "investment tax credit" was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(13), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

That paragraph formerly read:

"(c) the total of all amounts each of which is

(i) an amount determined under paragraph (a) or (b) in respect of the taxpayer for any of the 5 taxation years immediately preceding the year, where the property was acquired, or the qualified expenditure was made, before April 20, 1983, or

(ii) an amount determined under paragraph (a) or (b) in respect of the taxpayer for any of the 10 taxation years immediately preceding or the 3 taxation years immediately following the year, where the property was acquired, or the qualified expenditure was made, after April 19, 1983 or the qualified Canadian exploration expenditure was for a taxation year ending after November 30, 1985,"

S. 127(9), that portion of the definition "investment tax credit" after paragraph (e) and before paragraph (g) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(14), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

That portion formerly read:

"(e.1) the total of all amounts each of which is the specified percentage of that part of a repayment made by the taxpayer in the year or in any of the 10 taxation years immediately preceding or the 3 taxation years immediately following the year that can reasonably be considered to be a repayment of government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment that reduced the capital cost to the taxpayer of a property under paragraph (11.1)(b), the amount of an expenditure made by the taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(c) or the prescribed proxy amount of the taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(f), and

(e.2) the total of all amounts each of which is the specified percentage of 1/4 of that part of a repayment made by the taxpayer in the year or in any of the 10 taxation years immediately preceding or the 3 taxation years immediately following the year that can reasonably be considered to be a repayment of government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment that reduced the amount of an expenditure made by the taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(e) in respect of first term shared-use-equipment or second term shared-use-equipment, and, for that purpose, a repayment made by the taxpayer in any taxation year preceding the first taxation year ending coincidentally with the first period or the second period in respect of first term shared-use-equipment or second term shared-use-equipment, respectively, shall be deemed to have been made by the taxpayer in that first taxation year

exceeds the total of

(f) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under subsection (5) from the tax otherwise payable under this Part by the taxpayer for a preceding taxation year in respect of

(i) property acquired, or an expenditure made, in any of the 5 taxation years immediately preceding the year, where the property was acquired, or the expenditure was made, before April 20, 1983, or

(ii) property acquired, or an expenditure made, in the year or in any of the 10 taxation years immediately preceding or the 2 taxation years immediately following the year, where the property was acquired, or the expenditure was made, after April 19, 1983,"

S. 127(9), subparagraph (g)(ii) of the definition "investment tax credit", was repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(15), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

Subparagraph (g)(ii) formerly read:

"(ii) in respect of property acquired, or an expenditure made, before April 20, 1983, at the end of any of the 4 taxation years immediately preceding the year, or"

S. 127(9), subparagraph (g)(iii) of the definition "investment tax credit", was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(15), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995. Subparagraph (g)(iii) formerly read:

"(iii) in respect of property acquired, or an expenditure made, after April 19, 1983, at the end of any of the 9 taxation years immediately preceding or the 3 taxation years immediately following the year,"

S. 127(9), subparagraph (h)(ii) of the definition "investment tax credit", was repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(16), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

Subparagraph (h)(ii) formerly read:

"(ii) in respect of property acquired, or an expenditure made, before April 20, 1983, at the end of any of the 5 taxation years immediately preceding the year, or"

S. 127(9), subparagraph (h)(iii) of the definition "investment tax credit", was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(16), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

Subparagraph (h)(iii) formerly read:

"(iii) in respect of property acquired, or an expenditure made, after April 19, 1983, at the end of any of the 10 taxation years immediately preceding or the 3 taxation years immediately following the year,"

S. 127(9), that portion of the definition "investment tax credit" after paragraph (k), was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(17), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

That portion formerly read:

"except that no amount shall be included in the total determined under any of paragraphs (a) to (e.2) in respect of any qualified Canadian exploration expenditure or qualified expenditure made by the taxpayer in the course of earning income from a business, or in respect of any approved project property, certified property, qualified property or qualified small-business property acquired by the taxpayer for use in the course of earning income from a business, if any of the income from that business is exempt from tax under this Part;"

S. 127(9), subparagraph (a)(i) of the definition "investment tax credit", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(3), applicable to property acquired after December 2, 1992. S. 127(9), subparagraph (a)(i) of the definition of "investment tax credit", formerly read:

"(i) the capital cost to the taxpayer of a qualified property, qualified transportation equipment, qualified construction equipment, approved project property or certified property acquired by the taxpayer in the year,"

S. 127(9), paragraph (e.1) of the definition "investment tax credit", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(4), applicable to taxation years that end after December 2, 1992. S. 127(9), paragraph (e.1) of the definition of "investment tax credit", formerly read:

"(e.1) the total of all amounts each of which is the specified percentage of that part of a repayment made by the taxpayer in the year or in any of the 10 taxation years immediately preceding or the 3 taxation years immediately following the year that may reasonably be considered to be a repayment of government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment that reduced the capital cost to the taxpayer of a property under paragraph (11.1)(b) or that reduced the amount of an expenditure made by the taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(c)"

S. 127(9), paragraph (e.2) of the definition of "investment tax credit" was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(4), applicable to taxation years that end after December 2, 1992.

S. 127(9), the portion following paragraph (k) of the definition "investment tax credit" was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(5), applicable to property acquired after December 2, 1992. The portion formerly read:

"except that no amount shall be included in the total determined under any of paragraphs (a) to (e.1) in respect of any qualified Canadian exploration expenditure or qualified expenditure made by the taxpayer in the course of earning income from a business, or in respect of any certified property, qualified property or approved project property acquired by the taxpayer for use in the course of earning income from a business, if any of the income from that business is exempt from tax under this Part;"

S. 127(9), the portion following paragraph (k) of the definition "investment tax credit", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 104(1), applicable with respect to property acquired and expenditures made by a taxpayer after July 13, 1990, other than property acquired and expenditures made after that day and before 1992

(a) under an agreement in writing entered into by the taxpayer on or before July 13, 1990; or

(b) for the purpose of completing the construction of property that was under construction by or on behalf of the taxpayer on or before July 13, 1990.

S. 127(9), the portion following paragraph (k) of the definition "investment tax credit", formerly read:

"except that no amount shall be included in the total determined under any of paragraphs (a) to (e.1) in respect of any qualified Canadian exploration expenditure or qualified expenditure made by the taxpayer in the course of earning income from a business, or in respect of any certified property, qualified property or approved project property acquired by the taxpayer for use in the course of earning income from a business, if any of the income from that business is exempt from tax under this Part;"

Related Sections: S. 37(10) Time for election; s. 87(2)(qq) Continuation of corporation; s. 87(2.11) Vertical amalgamations; s. 88(1)(e.3) Winding-up; s. 127(7) Investment tax credit of testamentary trust; s. 127(8) Investment tax credit of partnership; s. 127(9.01)–(9.02) Transitional application of investment tax credit definition; s. 127(9.1) Control acquired before the end of the year; s. 127(9.2) Control acquired after the end of the year; s. 127(10.1) Additions to investment tax credit; s. 127(10.8) Further additions to investment tax credit; s. 127(11.1) Investment tax credit; s. 127(11.2) Time of expenditure and acquisition; s. 127(26) Unpaid amounts; s. 127(27)–127(29) Recapture of investment tax credit; s. 127.1 Refundable investment tax credit; s. 248(1), "investment tax credit".

Proposed Related Sections: S. 220(2.2).

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) Scientific Research and Experimental Development Expenditures.

Information Circulars: IC 78-4R3 Investment tax credit rates.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2004-02R2, Filing Requirements for Claiming SR&ED.

Tax Topics: No. 1844, SR&ED Investment Tax Credit Claims: Making the CRA's Revised Procedures Work; No. 1824, Stamping of Hand-Delivered Mail at CRA Local Offices — SR&ED Implications.

Canadian Tax Foundation: "R&D: Credits Today, Innovation Tomorrow", 1999 Corporate Management Tax Conference, 1:1–15:77.

Tax Window Files: Scientific Research and Experimental Development — Activities Performed on Behalf of Foreign Corporation, October 7, 2005, CRA Document No. 2005-0140991C6; Investment Tax Credits — Borders of Gaspe Peninsula, April 20, 2005, CRA Document No. 2004-0101461E5; Investment Tax Credits — Carryback Denial After Wind-Up, June 1, 2004, CRA Document No. 2004-0078161I7; Scientific Research — Treatment of Licence to Use Computer Software, October 3, 2001, CRA Document No. 2001-0092607; Scientific Research and Experimental Development — Ontario Innovation Tax Credit, June 25, 1996, CRA Document No. 9606976; Non-Profit Corporation for Scientific Research, 1996, CRA Document No. 9600943.

Cases: The taxpayer, who operates a restaurant chain, was denied an ITC claim in respect of its buildings. Although the word "processing" does not exclude the preparation of food, the buildings were not being used "primarily" for processing. The most important factor was the portion of the building that was dedicated to processing, although other factors could be considered. Burger King Restaurants of Canada Inc. v. The Queen, 2000 DTC 6061 (F.C.A.), affirming 97 DTC 841 (T.C.C.).

The taxpayer's activities involving the replacement of parts of a customer's hydraulic systems with parts it itself manufactured did not constitute the manufacture of goods for sale since, in common law, "for sale" does not mean "for use in a repair process" and manufacture of parts to be used to repair a customer's defective equipment is not tantamount to manufacturing those parts for sale. The Queen v. Coopers & Lybrand Ltd., 94 DTC 6541 (F.C.A.), reversing 92 DTC 6453 (F.C.T.D.).

The taxpayer was involved in a SR&ED project but derived income from the sale of its experimental production of oysters. Considering the Minister's admission that 80% of the taxpayer's current expenditures qualified as SR&ED expenditures, he could not say that the "commercial production" stage had been reached. Cultures Laflamme (1984) Inc. v. M.N.R., 93 DTC 603 (T.C.C.).

"non-government assistance" — "non-government assistance" means an amount that would be included in income by virtue of paragraph 12(1)(x) if that paragraph were read without reference to subparagraphs 12(1)(x)(vi) and (vii);

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2005-02, General Rules Concerning the Treatment of Government and Non Government Assistance.

Tax Window Files: Research and Development, September 11, 2001, CRA Document No. 2001-0078855.

"non-qualifying corporation" — "non-qualifying corporation" at any time means

(a) a corporation that is, at that time, not a Canadian-controlled private corporation,

(b) a corporation that would be liable to pay tax under Part I.3 for the taxation year of the corporation that includes that time if that Part were read without reference to subsection 181.1(4) and if the amount determined under subsection 181.2(3) in respect of the corporation for the year were determined without reference to amounts described in any of paragraphs 181.2(3)(a), (b), (d) and (f) to the extent that the amounts so described were used to acquire property that would be qualified small-business property if the corporation were not a non-qualifying corporation, or

(c) a corporation that at that time is related for the purposes of section 181.5 to a corporation described in paragraph (b);

History: S. 127(9), the definition of "non-qualifying corporation", was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(9), applicable to property acquired after December 2, 1992.

Related Sections: S. 181.5(7) Related corporations that are not associated.

"pre-production mining expenditure" — "pre-production mining expenditure", of a taxable Canadian corporation for a taxation year, means the total of all amounts each of which is an expenditure incurred after 2002 by the taxable Canadian corporation in the taxation year that

(a) would be an expense described in paragraph (f) or (g) of the definition "Canadian exploration expense" in subsection 66.1(6) if the expression "mineral resource" in that paragraph were defined to mean a mineral deposit from which the principal mineral to be extracted is diamond, a base or precious metal deposit, or a mineral deposit from which the principal mineral to be extracted is an industrial mineral that, when refined, results in a base or precious metal, and (b) is not an expense that was renounced under subsection 66(12.6) to the taxable Canadian corporation;

Department of Finance Comfort Letter
[Pre-Production Mining Expenditures Incurred by Wholly-Owned Subsidiary of Taxable Canadian Corporation]

December 8, 2004

Dear XXXX

We are writing in response to your letter dated March 23, 2004 and further to our meeting on May 25, 2004.

In your letter and in our subsequent meeting you expressed concern regarding the restriction in paragraph (b) of the definition "pre-production mining expenditure" in subsection 127(5) [(sic) should be 127(9)] of the Income Tax Act (the "Act"). That paragraph excludes an expenditure from qualifying as a pre-production mining expenditure if it is renounced under the terms of a flow-through share agreement.

You have asked us to recommend changes to the Act that would allow pre-production mining expenditures renounced under a flow-through share agreement to qualify for the pre-production tax credit if the flow-through shareholder is a taxable Canadian corporation that owns all the outstanding shares of the corporation that incurred the expenditures.

You advised us that, for commercial reasons, mineral exploration and development activities are frequently carried on through a wholly-owned subsidiary of a mining corporation. You also advised us that the preferred method of financing the subsidiary would generally be through the issuance of flow-through shares. In this case, the subsidiary would not normally have any income or would not be expected to have any income for a considerable period of time and, therefore, would not be in a position to use the pre-production tax credit.

As set out in the March 2003 technical paper titled, "Improving the Income Taxation of the Resource Sector in Canada", the credit was deliberately limited to the taxable Canadian corporation that incurred the expenditures and was not intended to be transferable to another corporation.

However, we agree that pre-production mining expenditures actually incurred by a wholly-owned subsidiary of a taxable Canadian corporation ("parent corporation") and renounced to that corporation should qualify for the pre-production tax credit if the parent corporation is a "principal-business corporation" as defined in subsection 66(15) of the Act, if the definition were read without reference to paragraphs (a), (a.1), (f), (h) and (i). Accordingly, we will recommend to the Minister of Finance that the definition of pre-production mining expenditure be amended, for expenses renounced under a flow-through share agreement entered into after 2004, to provide for this result. While I cannot offer any assurance that either the Minister or Parliament will agree with our recommendation, I hope that this statement of our intentions is helpful to you.

Yours sincerely,

Len Farber
General Director
Tax Legislation Division
Tax Policy Branch

History: S. 127(9), the definition "pre-production mining expenditure" was added by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 14(7), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 127(9), "investment tax credit"; s. 127(11.1)(c.3) Investment tax credit.

"qualified Canadian exploration expenditure" — [Repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(9).]

History: S. 127(9), the definition "qualified Canadian exploration expenditure", was repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(9), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

That definition formerly read:

" 'qualified Canadian exploration expenditure' — 'qualified Canadian exploration expenditure' of a taxpayer for a taxation year means the prescribed expenditure of the taxpayer for the year;"

"qualified construction equipment" — [Repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(9).]

History: S. 127(9), the definition "qualified construction equipment", was repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(9), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

That definition formerly read:

" 'qualified construction equipment' — 'qualified construction equipment' of a taxpayer means prescribed equipment acquired by the taxpayer after April 19, 1983 and before 1989 that has not been used, or acquired for use or lease, for any purpose whatever before its acquisition by the taxpayer and that is

(a) to be used by the taxpayer principally for the purpose of construction in Canada in the course of carrying on a business other than a business

(i) the income from which is exempt from income tax by virtue of any provision of this Act, or

(ii) the income from which is not included in the taxpayer's income or, in the case of a non-resident person, in the taxpayer's taxable income earned in Canada, or

(b) to be leased by the taxpayer, if

(i) the equipment is leased by the taxpayer in the ordinary course of carrying on a business in Canada, the income from which is other than income referred to in subparagraph (a)(i) or (ii), to a lessee who can reasonably be expected to use the equipment principally for the purpose and under the circumstances referred to in paragraph (a), and

(ii) the taxpayer is a corporation whose principal business is a business described in subparagraph (d)(i) of the definition 'qualified property' in this subsection or is a taxpayer whose principal business is a construction business;"

"qualified expenditure" — "qualified expenditure" incurred by a taxpayer in a taxation year means

(a) an amount that is an expenditure incurred in the year by the taxpayer in respect of scientific research and experimental development that is an expenditure

(i) for first term shared-use-equipment or second term shared-use-equipment,

(ii) described in paragraph 37(1)(a), or

(iii) described in subparagraph 37(1)(b)(i), or

(b) a prescribed proxy amount of the taxpayer for the year (which, for the purpose of paragraph (e), is deemed to be an amount incurred in the year),

but does not include

(c) a prescribed expenditure incurred in the year by the taxpayer,

(d) where the taxpayer is a corporation, an expenditure specified by the taxpayer for the year for the purpose of clause 194(2)(a)(ii)(A),

(e) [Repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 33(2).]

(f) an expenditure (other than an expenditure that is salary or wages of an employee of the taxpayer) incurred by the taxpayer in respect of scientific research and experimental development to the extent that it is performed by another person or partnership at a time when the taxpayer and the person or partnership to which the expenditure is paid or payable do not deal with each other at arm's length,

(g) an expenditure described in paragraph 37(1)(a) that is paid or payable by the taxpayer to or for the benefit of a person or partnership that is not a taxable supplier in respect of the expenditure, other than an expenditure in respect of scientific research and experimental development directly undertaken by the taxpayer, and

(h) an amount that would otherwise be a qualified expenditure incurred by the taxpayer in the year to the extent of any reduction in respect of the amount that is required under any of subsections (18) to (20) to be applied;

History: S. 127(9), paragraph (e) of the definition "qualified expenditure", was repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 33(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995. S. 127(9), paragraph (e) of the definition "qualified expenditure" formerly read:

"(e) subject to subsection (11.4), an amount in respect of which the taxpayer does not file with the Minister a prescribed form containing prescribed information on or before the day that is 12 months after the taxpayer's filing-due date for the particular taxation year in which the amount would have been incurred if this Act were read without reference to subsections (26) and 78(4) where the particular year begins after 1995,"

S. 127(9), paragraph (f) of the definition "qualified expenditure", was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 33(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995. S. 127(9), paragraph (f) of the definition "qualified expenditure" formerly read:

"(f) an expenditure (other than an expenditure that is salary or wages of an employee of the taxpayer) incurred by the taxpayer in respect of scientific research and experimental development to the extent that it is performed for or on behalf of the taxpayer at a time when the taxpayer and the person or partnership to which the expenditure is paid or payable do not deal with each other at arm's length,"

S. 127(9), paragraph (g) of the definition "qualified expenditure", was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 33(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995. S. 127(9), paragraph (g) of the definition "qualified expenditure" formerly read:

"(g) an expenditure described in paragraph 37(1)(a), other than an expenditure on scientific research and experimental development directly undertaken by the taxpayer, that is paid or payable by the taxpayer to or for the benefit of a person or partnership that is not a taxable supplier in respect of the expenditure, and"

S. 127(9), the definition "qualified expenditure", was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(10), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

That definition formerly read:

"'qualified expenditure' — 'qualified expenditure' means an expenditure in respect of scientific research and experimental development incurred by a taxpayer that is an expenditure in respect of first term shared-use-equipment or second term shared-use-equipment or an expenditure described in paragraph 37(1)(a) or subparagraph 37(1)(b)(i) and includes an amount that is a prescribed proxy amount of a taxpayer, but does not include

(a) a prescribed expenditure,

(b) in the case of a taxpayer that is a corporation, an expenditure specified by the taxpayer for the purposes of clause 194(2)(a)(ii)(A), or

(c) subject to subsection (11.4), an expenditure in respect of which the taxpayer does not, by the day on or before which the taxpayer's return of income under this Part for the taxpayer's taxation year after that in which the expenditure was incurred is required to be filed, or would be required to be filed if tax under this Part were payable by the taxpayer for that following year, file with the Minister a prescribed form containing prescribed information;"

S. 127(9), the definition of "qualified expenditure", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 61(1), to add paragraph (c), applicable after February 21, 1994 to expenditures incurred at any time except that, for an expenditure incurred by a taxpayer in a taxation year ending before February 22, 1994, the taxpayer may file the prescribed form referred to in paragraph (c) of the definition "qualified expenditure" in subsection 127(9) of the Act by the later of the day referred to in that paragraph and the day that is 90 days after this Act is assented to (June 15, 1994).

The portion of the definition "qualified expenditure" in subsection 127(9) before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(6), applicable to taxation years that end after December 2, 1992. That portion formerly read:

"'qualified expenditure' — 'qualified expenditure' means an expenditure in respect of scientific research and experimental development made by a taxpayer after March 31, 1977 that qualifies as an expenditure described in paragraph 37(1)(a) or subparagraph 37(1)(b)(i), but does not include"

Editorial Note: A taxpayer is entitled to a 20% or 35% investment tax credit in respect of qualified expenditures that are fully deductible under subsection 37(1). If an expenditure is excluded under paragraph (f) of the definition "qualified expenditure" (i.e., because it was performed by a person not dealing at arm's length with the taxpayer), an election may be available under subsection 127(13) to allow for the transfer of qualified expenditures between the non-arm's length taxpayers to qualify for a credit.

Related Sections: S. 12(1)(e) Reserves for certain goods and services, etc.; s. 18(9)(e) Limitation respecting prepaid expenses; s. 37(1) Scientific research and experimental development; s. 127(11.5)–(11.6); s. 127(13)–(16); s. 127(18)–(20) s. 127(24) Exclusion from qualified expenditure.

Proposed Related Sections: S. 143.3.

Regulations: 2900(4)–(10); 2902.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) Scientific Research and Experimental Development Expenditures.

Information Circulars: IC 78-4R3 Investment tax credit rates.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2005-02, General Rules Concerning the Treatment of Government and Non Government Assistance; Application Policy 2004-01, Retiring Allowance; Application Policy 2003-01, Capital Property Intended to be Used All or Substantially All for SR&ED; Application Policy 2002-03, Expenditures Incurred for Administrative Salaries or Wages — "Directly Related" Test; Application Policy 2000-03, Government Assistance - Treatment of Provincial and Territorial R&D Assistance; Application Policy 96-03, Claimants' entitlements and responsibilities; Application Policy 95-05, SR&ED Capital Expenditures — Retroactive deductions under subsection 37(1); Application Policy 94-01, Retroactive Claims for Scientific Research (TPRs).

Tax Topics: No. 1830, The CRA's Revised Position on SR&ED Contracts; No. 1767, Draft Legislation Overrides Alcatel — Affects SR&ED ITCs and More.

Tax Profile: March 2006 — Some Tax Considerations for Investing in Silicon Valley North.

Tax Window Files: ITCs — Non-Arm's Length Lease of Used Equipment, February 15, 2007, CRA Document No. 2006-0206761I7; Scientific Research and Experimental Development — Employee Stock Options, October 7, 2005, CRA Document No. 2005-0141141C6; Transfer of SR&ED Expenditures — Ownership Rights, September 14, 2000, CRA Document No. 2000-0006845; Definition of Canada for Purposes of SR&ED, July 31, 2000, CRA Document No. 2000-0037597; Investment Tax Credit — Frozen Food Storage, January 8, 1996, CRA Document No. 9525137; Non-Profit Corporation for Scientific Research, 1996, CRA Document No. 9600943; Investment Tax Credit — Logging Trucks, September 13, 1994, CRA Document No. 9327027; Investment Tax Credit, June 4, 1993, CRA Document No. 9303305; Scientific Research — Section 16.1 Election, June 8, 1993, CRA Document No. 9315705; Qualified Expenditure — Election under Section 16.1, May 7, 1993, CRA Document No. 9236865; Definition of Canada for Purposes of SR & ED, September 23, 1998, CRA Document No. 9809087.

Cases: Stock option benefits provided by the taxpayer to its employees, who were engaged in SR&ED, were "salary or wages" and therefore qualified expenditures. Alcatel Canada Inc. v. The Queen, 2005 DTC 387 (T.C.C.).

"qualified property" — "qualified property" of a taxpayer means property (other than an approved project property or a certified property) that is

(a) a prescribed building to the extent that it is acquired by the taxpayer after June 23, 1975, or

(b) prescribed machinery and equipment acquired by the taxpayer after June 23, 1975, that has not been used, or acquired for use or lease, for any purpose whatever before it was acquired by the taxpayer and that is

(c) to be used by the taxpayer in Canada primarily for the purpose of

(i) manufacturing or processing goods for sale or lease,

(ii) farming or fishing,

(iii) logging,

(iv) operating an oil or gas well or extracting petroleum or natural gas from a natural accumulation of petroleum or natural gas,

(v) extracting minerals from a mineral resource,

(vi) processing

(A) ore (other than iron ore or tar sands ore) from a mineral resource to any stage that is not beyond the prime metal stage or its equivalent,

(B) iron ore from a mineral resource to any stage that is not beyond the pellet stage or its equivalent, or

(C) tar sands ore from a mineral resource to any stage that is not beyond the crude oil stage or its equivalent,

(vii) producing industrial minerals,

(viii) processing heavy crude oil recovered from a natural reservoir in Canada to a stage that is not beyond the crude oil stage or its equivalent,

(ix) Canadian field processing,

(x) exploring or drilling for petroleum or natural gas,

(xi) prospecting or exploring for or developing a mineral resource,

(xii) storing grain, or

(xiii) harvesting peat,

(c.1) to be used by the taxpayer in Canada primarily for the purpose of producing or processing electrical energy or steam in a prescribed area, where

(i) all or substantially all of the energy or steam

(A) is used by the taxpayer for the purpose of gaining or producing income from a business (other than the business of selling the product of the particular property), or

(B) is sold directly (or indirectly by way of sale to a provincially regulated power utility operating in the prescribed area) to a person related to the taxpayer, and

(ii) the energy or steam is used by the taxpayer or the person related to the taxpayer primarily for the purpose of manufacturing or processing goods in the prescribed area for sale or lease, or

(d) to be leased by the taxpayer to a lessee (other than a person exempt from tax under this Part because of section 149) who can reasonably be expected to use the property in Canada primarily for any of the purposes referred to in subparagraphs (c)(i) to (xiii), but this paragraph does not apply to property that is prescribed for the purpose of paragraph (b) unless use of the property by the first person to whom it was leased began after June 23, 1975 and

(i) the property is leased in the ordinary course of carrying on a business in Canada by a corporation whose principal business is leasing property, lending money, purchasing conditional sales contracts, accounts receivable, bills of sale, chattel mortgages or hypothecary claims on movables, bills of exchange or other obligations representing all or part of the sale price of merchandise or services, or any combination thereof,

(ii) the property is manufactured and leased in the ordinary course of carrying on business in Canada by a corporation whose principal business is manufacturing property that it sells or leases,

(iii) the property is leased in the ordinary course of carrying on business in Canada by a corporation whose principal business is selling or servicing property of that type, or

(iv) the property is a fishing vessel, including the furniture, fittings and equipment attached to it, leased by an individual (other than a trust) to a corporation, controlled by the individual, that carries on a fishing business in connection with one or more commercial fishing licences issued by the Government of Canada to the individual, and, for the purpose of this definition, "Canada" includes the offshore region prescribed for the purpose of the definition "specified percentage";

History: S. 127(9), subparagraph (d)(i) of the definition "qualified property" was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 213, applicable on Royal Assent, June 14, 2001. S. 127(9), subparagraph (d)(i) of the definition "qualified property" formerly read:

"(i) the property is leased in the ordinary course of carrying on a business in Canada by a corporation whose principal business is leasing property, lending money, purchasing conditional sales contracts, accounts receivable, bills of sale, chattel mortgages, bills of exchange or other obligations representing all or part of the sale price of merchandise or services, or any combination thereof,"

S. 127(9), subparagraphs (c)(ii) to (xii) of the definition "qualified property", were amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 35(1), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1996. Those subparagraphs formerly read:

"(ii) operating an oil or gas well, extracting petroleum or natural gas from a natural accumulation thereof or processing heavy crude oil recovered from a natural reservoir in Canada to a stage that is not beyond the crude oil stage or its equivalent,

(iii) extracting minerals from a mineral resource,

(iv) processing ore (other than iron ore or tar sands) from a mineral resource to a stage that is not beyond the prime metal stage or its equivalent,

(v) processing iron ore from a mineral resource to a stage that is not beyond the pellet stage or its equivalent,

(vi) processing tar sands to a stage that is not beyond the crude oil stage or its equivalent,

(vii) exploring or drilling for petroleum or natural gas,

(viii) prospecting or exploring for or developing a mineral resource,

(ix) logging,

(x) farming or fishing,

(xi) storing grain,

(xii) producing industrial minerals, or"

S. 127(9), the definition of "qualified property", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 61(2), to add paragraph (c.1), applicable to property acquired after 1991.

S. 127(9), the definition of "qualified property", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 61(3), to add subparagraph (iv) at the end of paragraph (d), applicable to the 1985 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 127(9), subparagraph (c)(xiii) of the definition "qualified property" was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 104(2), applicable to the 1985 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 127(9), paragraph (d) of the definition "qualified property", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 104(3), applicable with respect to property acquired after July 13, 1990. S. 127(9), paragraph (d) of the definition "qualified property", formerly read:

"(d) to be leased by the taxpayer to a lessee (other than a person exempt from tax under section 149) who can reasonably be expected to use the property in Canada primarily for any of the purposes referred to in subparagraphs (c)(i) to (xii), but this paragraph does not apply in respect of property that is a prescribed property for the purposes of paragraph (b) unless

(i) the property is leased by the taxpayer in the ordinary course of carrying on a business in Canada and the taxpayer is a corporation whose principal business is leasing property, manufacturing property that it sells or leases, the lending of money, the purchasing of conditional sales contracts, accounts receivable, bills of sale, chattel mortgages, bills of exchange or other obligations representing part or all of the sale price of merchandise or services, or selling or servicing a type of property that it also leases, or any combination thereof, and

(ii) use of the property by the first lessee commenced after June 23, 1975;"

S. 127(9), that portion following paragraph (d) of the definition "qualified property", was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 104(4), applicable after February 25, 1986.

Related Sections: S. 127(11) Interpretation; s. 248(1), "Canadian field processing.

Regulations: 4600(1)–(2); 4610.

Canadian Petroleum Tax Journal: Offshore Oil & Gas Interests: A Perspective on Exploration & Development of Offshore Petroleum and Natural Gas Resources in Eastern Canada, Michael R. Smith, CA and B. David Nielsen, CA, Vol. 13 No. 1 2000.

Tax Window Files: Investment Tax Credit — Logging Truck, November 29, 2005, CRA Document No. 2005-0130101I7; Investment Tax Credit — Improvements to a Dry Kiln, June 23, 2005, CRA Document No. 2005-0118191I7; Qualified Property, November 4, 2002, CRA Document No. 2002-0143485; Leasing Farm Equipment, April 3, 2002, CRA Document No. 2002-0122357.

Cases: A taxpayer was not entitled to the M&P tax credit and ITCs it had claimed in respect of an asphalt plant which had been acquired primarily for the purpose of producing asphalt for use in its paving contracts, which were essentially contracts for work and materials. Will-Kare Paving & Contracting Limited v. The Queen, 2000 DTC 6467 (S.C.C.), affirming 98 DTC 6203 (F.C.A.) and 97 DTC 506 (T.C.C.).

"qualified small-business property" — [Repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(9).]

History: S. 127(9), the definition "qualified small-business property", was repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(9), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

That definition formerly read:

" 'qualified small-business property' — 'qualified small-business property' means property, acquired by a taxpayer who was an eligible taxpayer at the time the property was acquired, that, if this subsection were read without reference to subsection (11.2), would be

(a) certified property of the taxpayer if the definition 'certified property' were read without the reference in it to paragraph (a) of the definition 'qualified property' and without reference to subparagraphs (a)(i) and (ii) of it and if the reference in subparagraph (a)(iii) of it to 'after 1988' were read as a reference to 'after December 2, 1992 and before 1994',

(b) qualified construction equipment of the taxpayer if the definition 'qualified construction equipment' were read without reference to paragraph (b) of it and if the reference in it to 'after April 19, 1983 and before 1989' were read as a reference to 'after December 2, 1992 and before 1994',

(c) qualified property of the taxpayer if the definition 'qualified property' were read without reference to paragraphs (a) and (d) of it and if the reference in paragraph (b) of it to 'after June 23, 1975' were read as a reference to 'after December 2, 1992 and before 1994', or

(d) qualified transportation equipment of the taxpayer if the definition 'qualified transportation equipment' were read without reference to paragraph (b) of it and if the reference in it to 'after November 16, 1978 and before 1989' were read as a reference to 'after December 2, 1992 and before 1994', and where the property was acquired by the taxpayer to be leased to a person with whom the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length and the property is used by the person in Canada primarily for the purposes described in any of the definitions 'qualified construction equipment', 'qualified property' and 'qualified transportation equipment', for the purposes of this subsection, the taxpayer shall be deemed to have acquired the property for that use;"

S. 127(9), the definition of "qualified small-business property", was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(9), applicable to property acquired after December 2, 1992.

Tax Window Files: Available for Use Rules — Small Business Investment Tax Credit, April 21, 1993, CRA Document No. 9308977.

"qualified transportation equipment" — [Repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(9).]

History: S. 127(9), the definition "qualified transportation equipment", was repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(9), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

That definition formerly read:

" 'qualified transportation equipment' — 'qualified transportation equipment' of a taxpayer means prescribed equipment acquired by the taxpayer after November 16, 1978 and before 1989 that has not been used, or acquired for use or lease, for any purpose whatever before it was acquired by the taxpayer and that is

(a) to be used by the taxpayer principally for the purpose of transporting passengers, property or passengers and property, in Canada or to and from Canada, in the ordinary course of carrying on a business in Canada other than a business

(i) the income from which is exempt from income tax by virtue of any provision of this Act, or

(ii) the income from which is not included in the taxpayer's income or, in the case of a non-resident person, the taxpayer's taxable income earned in Canada, or

(b) to be leased by the taxpayer, if

(i) the equipment is leased by the taxpayer in the ordinary course of carrying on a business in Canada, the income from which is other than income referred to in subparagraph (a)(i) or (ii), to a lessee who can reasonably be expected to use the equipment principally for the purposes and under the circumstances referred to in paragraph (a), and

(ii) the taxpayer is a corporation whose principal business is a business described in subparagraph (d)(i) of the definition 'qualified property' in this subsection or is a taxpayer whose principal business is passenger, property or passenger and property transport;"

"second term shared-use-equipment" — "second term shared-use-equipment" of a taxpayer means property of the taxpayer that was first term shared-use-equipment of the taxpayer and that is used by the taxpayer, during its operating time in the period (in this subsection and subsection (11.1) referred to as the "second period") beginning at the time the property was acquired by the taxpayer and ending at the end of the taxpayer's first taxation year ending at least 24 months after that time, primarily for the prosecution of scientific research and experimental development in Canada;

History: S. 127(9), the definition of "second term shared-use-equipment", was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(9), applicable to property acquired after December 2, 1992.

Related Sections: S. 88(1)(e.3) Winding-up; s. 127(11.5)(b) Adjustments to qualified expenditures.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2003-01, Capital Property Intended to be Used All or Substantially All for SR&ED.

"specified child care start-up expenditure" — "specified child care start-up expenditure" of a taxpayer in respect of a child care facility is an expenditure incurred by the taxpayer (other than to acquire a depreciable property) that is

(a) a landscaping cost incurred to create, at the child care facility, an outdoor play area for children,

(b) an architectural fee for designing the child care facility or a fee for advice on planning, designing and establishing the child care facility,

(c) a cost of construction permits in respect of the child care facility,

(d) an initial licensing or regulatory fee in respect of the child care facility, including fees for mandatory inspections,

(e) a cost of educational materials for children, or

(f) a similar amount incurred for the sole purpose of the initial establishment of the child care facility;

History: S. 127(9), the definition "specified child care start-up expenditure" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(13), applicable to expenditures incurred on and after March 19, 2007.

"specified percentage" — "specified percentage" means

(a) in respect of a qualified property

(i) acquired before April, 1977, 5%,

(ii) acquired after March 31, 1977 and before November 17, 1978 primarily for use in

(A) the Province of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island or Newfoundland or the Gaspé Peninsula, 10%,

(B) a prescribed designated region, 7½%, and

(C) any other area in Canada, 5%,

(iii) acquired primarily for use in the Province of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island or Newfoundland or the Gaspé Peninsula,

(A) after November 16, 1978 and before 1989, 20%,

(B) after 1988 and before 1995, 15%,

(C) after 1994, 15% where the property

(I) is acquired by the taxpayer under a written agreement of purchase and sale entered into by the taxpayer before February 22, 1994,

(II) was under construction by or on behalf of the taxpayer on February 22, 1994, or

(III) is machinery or equipment that will be a fixed and integral part of property under construction by or on behalf of the taxpayer on February 22, 1994, and

(D) after 1994, 10% where the property is not property to which clause (C) applies,

(iv) acquired after November 16, 1978 and before February 26, 1986 primarily for use in a prescribed offshore region, 7%,

(v) acquired primarily for use in a prescribed offshore region and

(A) after February 25, 1986 and before 1989, 20%,

(B) after 1988 and before 1995, 15%,

(C) after 1994, 15% where the property

(I) is acquired by the taxpayer under a written agreement of purchase and sale entered into by the taxpayer before February 22, 1994,

(II) was under construction by or on behalf of the taxpayer on February 22, 1994, or

(III) is machinery or equipment that will be a fixed and integral part of property under construction by or on behalf of the taxpayer on February 22, 1994, and

(D) after 1994, 10% where the property is not property to which clause (C) applies,

(vi) acquired primarily for use in a prescribed designated region and

(A) after November 16, 1978 and before 1987, 10%,

(B) in 1987, 7%,

(C) in 1988, 3%, and

(D) after 1988, 0%, and

(vii) acquired primarily for use in Canada (other than a property described in subparagraph (iii), (iv), (v) or (vi)), and

(A) after November 16, 1978 and before 1987, 7%,

(B) in 1987, 5%,

(C) in 1988, 3%, and

(D) after 1988, 0%,

(b) in respect of qualified transportation equipment acquired

(i) before 1987, 7%,

(ii) in 1987, 5%, and

(iii) in 1988, 3%,

(c) in respect of qualified construction equipment acquired

(i) before 1987, 7%,

(ii) in 1987, 5%, and

(iii) in 1988, 3%,

(d) in respect of certified property

(i) included in subparagraph (a)(i) of the definition "certified property" in this subsection, 50%,

(ii) included in subparagraph (a)(ii) of that definition, 40%, and

(iii) in any other case, 30%,

(e) in respect of a qualified expenditure

(i) made after March 31, 1977 and before November 17, 1978 in respect of scientific research and experimental development to be carried out in

(A) the Province of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island or Newfoundland or the Gaspé Peninsula, 10%,

(B) a prescribed designated region, 7½%, and

(C) any other area in Canada, 5%,

(ii) made by a taxpayer after November 16, 1978 and before the taxpayer's taxation year that includes November 1, 1983 or made by the taxpayer in the taxpayer's taxation year that includes November 1, 1983 or a subsequent taxation year if the taxpayer deducted an amount under section 37.1 in computing the taxpayer's income for the year,

(A) where the expenditure was made by a Canadian-controlled private corporation in a taxation year of the corporation in which it is or would, if it had sufficient taxable income for the year, be entitled to a deduction under section 125 in computing its tax payable under this Part for the year, 25%, and

(B) where clause (A) is not applicable and the qualified expenditure was in respect of scientific research and experimental development to be carried out in

(I) the Province of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island or Newfoundland or the Gaspé Peninsula, 20%, and

(II) any other area in Canada, 10%,

(iii) made by a taxpayer in the taxpayer's taxation year that ends after October 31, 1983 and before January 1, 1985, other than a qualified expenditure in respect of which subparagraph (ii) is applicable,

(A) where the expenditure was made by a Canadian-controlled private corporation in a taxation year of the corporation in which it is or would, if it had sufficient taxable income for the year, be entitled to a deduction under section 125 in computing its tax payable under this Part for the year, 35%, and

(B) where clause (A) is not applicable and the qualified expenditure was in respect of scientific research and experimental development to be carried out in

(I) the Province of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island or Newfoundland or the Gaspé Peninsula, 30%, and

(II) any other area in Canada, 20%,

(iv) made by a taxpayer

(A) after the taxpayer's 1984 taxation year and before 1995, or

(B) after 1994 under a written agreement entered into by the taxpayer before February 22, 1994,

(other than a qualified expenditure in respect of which subparagraph (ii) applies) in respect of scientific research and experimental development to be carried out in

(C) the Province of Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia or New Brunswick or the Gaspé Peninsula, 30%, and

(D) in any other area in Canada, 20%, and

(v) made by a taxpayer after 1994, 20% where the amount is not an amount to which clause (iv)(B) applies,

(f) in respect of the repayment of government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment that reduced

(i) the capital cost to the taxpayer of a property under paragraph (11.1)(b),

(ii) the amount of a qualified expenditure incurred by the taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(c) or (e) for taxation years that began before 1996, or

(iii) the prescribed proxy amount of the taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(f) for taxation years that began before 1996,

the specified percentage that applied in respect of the property, the expenditure or the prescribed proxy amount, as the case may be,

(f.1) in respect of the repayment of government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment that reduced

(i) a qualified expenditure incurred by the taxpayer under any of subsections (18) to (20), 20%,

(ii) the amount of eligible salary and wages payable (by the taxpayer) to an eligible apprentice under paragraph (11.1)(c.4), 10%, or

(iii) the amount of the taxpayer's eligible child care space expenditure under paragraph (11.1)(c.5), 25%;

(g) in respect of an approved project property acquired

(i) before 1989, 60%, and

(ii) after 1988, 45%,

(h) in respect of the qualified Canadian exploration expenditure of a taxpayer for a taxation year, 25%,

(i) in respect of qualified small-business property, 10%, and

(j) in respect of a pre-production mining expenditure, if the expenditure was incurred

(i) in 2003, 5%,

(ii) in 2004, 7%, and

(iii) after 2004, 10%;

History: S. 127(9), paragraph (f.1) of the definition "specified percentage" was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(12), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006, except that subparagraph (f.1)(iii) of the definition "specified percentage" in subsection 127(9) applies to taxation years that end on or after March 19, 2007. S. 127(9)(f.1) formerly read:

"(f.1) in respect of the repayment of government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment that reduced a qualified expenditure incurred by the taxpayer under any of subsections (18) to (20), 20%,"

S. 127(9), paragraph (j) of the definition "specified percentage", was added by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 14(6), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 127(9), paragraph (f) of the definition "specified percentage", was amended, and paragraph (f.1) was added, by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 146(1), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995. Paragraph (f) formerly read:

"(f) in respect of the repayment of government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment that reduced the capital cost to the taxpayer of a property under paragraph (11.1)(b), the amount of an expenditure made by the taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(c) or (e), or the prescribed proxy amount of a taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(f), the specified percentage that was applicable in respect of the property, the expenditure or the prescribed proxy amount, as the case may be,"

S. 127(9), clause (a)(iii)(B) of the definition "specified percentage", was amended, and clauses (C) and (D) were added, by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 37(2), applicable to property acquired and expenditures incurred after 1994. Clause (B) formerly read:

"(B) after 1988, 15%,"

S. 127(9), clause (a)(v)(B) of the definition "specified percentage", was amended, and clauses (C) and (D) added, by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 37(3), applicable to property acquired and expenditures incurred after 1994. Clause (B) formerly read:

"(B) after 1988, 15%,"

S. 127(9), subparagraph (e)(iv) of the definition "specified percentage", was amended, and subparagraph (v) added, by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 37(4), applicable to property acquired and expenditures incurred after 1994. Subparagraph (iv) formerly read:

"(iv) made by a taxpayer in his 1985 taxation year or a subsequent taxation year, other than a qualified expenditure in respect of which subparagraph (ii) is applicable, in respect of scientific research and experimental development to be carried out in

(A) the Province of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island or Newfoundland or the Gaspé Peninsula, 30%, and

(B) any other area in Canada, 20%,"

Paragraph (f) of the definition "specified percentage" in s. 127(9) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(7), applicable to taxation years that end after December 2, 1992. Paragraph (f) of the definition "specified percentage" formerly read:

"(f) in respect of the repayment of government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment that reduced the capital cost to the taxpayer of a property under paragraph (11.1)(b) or that reduced the amount of an expenditure made by the taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(c), the specified percentage that was applicable in respect of the property or expenditure, as the case may be,"

S. 127(9), paragraph (i) of the definition "specified percentage", was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(8), applicable to property acquired after December 2, 1992.

Related Sections: S. 127(10.1) Additions to investment tax credit; s. 127(10.7) Further additions to investment tax credit; s. 127(10.8) Further additions to investment tax credit.

Regulations: 4607; 4609.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) Scientific Research and Experimental Development Expenditures.

Information Circulars: IC 78-4R3 Investment tax credit rates.

Canadian Petroleum Tax Journal: Offshore Oil & Gas Interests: A Perspective on Exploration & Development of Offshore Petroleum and Natural Gas Resources in Eastern Canada, Michael R. Smith, CA and B. David Nielsen, CA, Vol. 13 No. 1 2000.

Tax Window Files: Investment Tax Credit — Logging Truck, November 29, 2005, CRA Document No. 2005-0130101I7; Investment Tax Credits — Borders of Gaspe Peninsula, April 20, 2005, CRA Document No. 2004-0101461E5.

"specified property" — "specified property" in respect of a taxpayer means any property that is

(a) a motor vehicle or any other motorized vehicle, or

(b) a property that is, or is located in, or attached to, a residence

(i) of the taxpayer,

(ii) an employee of the taxpayer,

(iii) a person who holds an interest in the taxpayer, or

(iv) a person related to a person referred to in any of subparagraphs (i) to (iii);

History: S. 127(9), the definition "specified property" was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(13), applicable to expenditures incurred on and after March 19, 2007.

"specified sampling" — "specified sampling" means the collecting and testing of samples in respect of a mineral resource except that specified sampling does not include

(a) the collecting or testing of a sample that, at the time the sample is collected, weighs more than 15 tonnes, and

(b) the collecting or testing of a sample collected at any time in a calendar year in respect of any one mineral resource if the total weight of all such samples collected (by any person or partnership or any combination of persons and partnerships) in the period in the calendar year that is before that time (other than samples each of which weighs less than one tonne) exceeds 1,000 tonnes;

History: S. 127(9), the definition "specified sampling" was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 118(8), applicable after October 17, 2000.

"SR&ED qualified expenditure pool" — "SR&ED qualified expenditure pool" of a taxpayer at the end of a taxation year means the amount determined by the formula

$$A + B - C$$

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is a qualified expenditure incurred by the taxpayer in the year,

B is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined under paragraph (13)(e) for the year in respect of the taxpayer, and in respect of which the taxpayer files with the Minister a prescribed form containing prescribed information by the day that is 12 months after the taxpayer's filing-due date for the year, and

C is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined under paragraph (13)(d) for the year in respect of the taxpayer;

History: S. 127(9), the definition "SR&ED qualified expenditure pool", was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(18), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

Related Sections: S. 127(5)(a) Investment tax credit; s. 127(9), "investment tax credit"; s. 127(10.1)(b) Additions to investment tax credit; s. 127(13) Agreement to transfer qualified expenditures; s. 127(14) Identification of amounts transferred; s. 257 Negative amounts.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) Scientific Research and Experimental Development Expenditures.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2005-02, General Rules Concerning the Treatment of Government and Non Government Assistance; Application Policy 2000-04, Recapture of Investment Tax Credit.

Forms: T661.

Guides: T4088 Claiming Scientific Research and Experimental Development Expenditures.

Tax Window Files: SR&ED Used Equipment, January 30, 2007, CRA Document No. 2006-0211041E5.

"super-allowance benefit amount" — "super-allowance benefit amount" for a particular taxation year in respect of a corporation in respect of a province means the amount determined by the formula

$$(A - B) \times C$$

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount that is or may become deductible by the corporation, in computing income or taxable income relevant in calculating an income tax payable by the corporation under a law of the province for any taxation year, in respect of an expenditure on scientific research and experimental development incurred in the particular year,

B is the amount by which the amount of the expenditure exceeds the total of all amounts that would be required by subsections (18) to (20) to reduce the corporation's qualified expenditures otherwise determined under this section if the definitions "government assistance" and "non-government assistance" did not apply to assistance provided under that law, and

C is,

(a) where the corporation's expenditure limit for the particular year is nil, the maximum rate of the province's income tax that applies for that year to active business income earned in the province by a corporation, and

(b) in any other case, the rate of the province's income tax for that year that would apply to the corporation if

(i) it were not associated with any other corporation in the year,

(ii) its taxable income for the year were less than $200,000, and

(iii) its taxable income for the year were earned in the province in respect of an active business carried on in the province.

History: S. 127(9), the definition "super-allowance benefit amount" was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 118(7), applicable to taxation years that begin after February 2000 except that, if a corporation's first taxation year that begins after February 2000 ends before 2001, those provisions apply to the corporation's taxation years that begin after 2000.

Related Sections: S. 37(1)(d.1) Scientific research and experimental development; s. 127(9), "investment tax credit"; s. 127(10.1)(b) Additions to investment tax credit; s. 257 Negative amounts.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) Scientific Research and Experimental Development Expenditures.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2005-02, General Rules Concerning the Treatment of Government and Non Government Assistance.

"taxable supplier" — "taxable supplier" in respect of an amount means

(a) a person resident in Canada or a Canadian partnership, or

(b) a non-resident person, or a partnership that is not a Canadian partnership,

(i) by which the amount was payable, or

(ii) by or for whom the amount was receivable

in the course of carrying on a business through a permanent establishment (as defined by regulation) in Canada.

History: S. 127(9), paragraph (b) of the definition "taxable supplier", was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 33(3), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995. S. 127(9), paragraph (b) of the definition "taxable supplier" formerly read:

"(b) a non-resident person, or a partnership that is not a Canadian partnership,

(i) by which the amount was payable, or

(ii) by or for the benefit of which the amount was receivable in the course of carrying on a business through a permanent establishment (as defined by regulation) in Canada."

S. 127(9), the definition "taxable supplier", was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(18), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

Regulations: 8201.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2002-03, Taxable Supplier Rules.

Tax Window Files: Scientific Research and Experimental Development — Activities Performed on Behalf of Foreign Corporation, October 7, 2005, CRA Document No. 2005-0140991C6; Research and Development, September 11, 2001, CRA Document No. 2001-0078855.

► 127(9.01) ◄

(9.01) Transitional application of investment tax credit definition. For the purpose of applying each of paragraphs (c) to (f), (h) and (i) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection (9) in respect of a taxpayer, the reference to "10" in that paragraph is to be read as a reference to the number that is the lesser of

(a) 20, and

(b) the number that is the total of 10 and the number of taxation years by which the number of taxation years of the taxpayer that have ended after 1997 exceeds 11.

History: S. 127(9.01)(b) was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 40(3), applicable in respect of the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127(9.01)(b) formerly read:

"(b) the number that is the total of 10 and the number of taxation years by which the number of taxation years of the taxpayer that have ended after 2005 exceeds 11."

S. 127(9.01) was added by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 75(4), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

► 127(9.02) ◄

(9.02) Transitional application of investment tax credit definition. For the purpose of applying paragraph (g) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection (9) in respect of a taxpayer, the reference to "9" in that paragraph is to be read as a reference to the number that is the lesser of

(a) 19, and

(b) the number that is the total of 9 and the number of taxation years by which the number of taxation years of the taxpayer that have ended after 1997 exceeds 11.

History: S. 127(9.02)(b) was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 40(4), applicable in respect of the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127(9.02)(b) formerly read:

"(b) the number that is the total of 9 and the number of taxation years by which the number of taxation years of the taxpayer that have ended after 2005 exceeds 11."

S. 127(9.02) was added by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 75(4), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

► 127(9.1) ◄

(9.1) Control acquired before the end of the year. Where a taxpayer is a corporation the control of which has been acquired by a person or group of persons (each of whom is in this subsection referred to as the "purchaser") at any time (in this subsection referred to as "that time") before the end of a taxation year of the corporation, the amount determined for the purposes of paragraph (j) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection (9) is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of all amounts added in computing its investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of a property acquired, or an expenditure made, before that time

exceeds

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount

(A) deducted in computing its investment tax credit at the end of the year under paragraph (f) or (g) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection (9), or

(B) deducted in computing its investment tax credit at the end of the taxation year immediately preceding the year under paragraph (i) of that definition, to the extent that the amount may reasonably be considered to have been so deducted in respect of a property or expenditure in respect of which an amount is included in subparagraph (i)

exceeds the total of

(b) [Repealed by 1987, c. 46, s. 46(3).]

(c) the amount, if any, by which its refundable Part VII tax on hand at the end of the year exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is an amount designated under subsection 192(4) in respect of a share issued by it

(i) in the period commencing one month before that time and ending at that time, or

(ii) after that time, and before the end of the year, and

(d) that proportion of the amount that, but for subsections (3) and (5) and sections 126, 127.2 and 127.3, would be its tax payable under this Part for the year that,

(i) where throughout the year the corporation carried on a particular business in the course of which a property was acquired, or an expenditure was made, before that time in respect of which an amount is included in computing its investment tax credit at the end of the year, the amount, if any, by which the total of all amounts each of which is

(A) its income for the year from the particular business, or

(B) its income for the year from any other business substantially all the income of which was derived from the sale, leasing, rental or development of properties or the rendering of services similar to the properties sold, leased, rented or developed, or the services rendered, as the case may be, by the corporation in carrying on the particular business before that time

exceeds

(C) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under paragraph 111(1)(a) or (d) for the year by the corporation in respect of a non-capital loss or a farm loss, as the case may be, for a taxation year in respect of the particular business or the other business,

is of the greater of

(ii) the amount determined under subparagraph (i), and

(iii) its taxable income for the year.

Related Sections: S. 139.1(18) Acquisition of control; s. 249(4) Year end on change of control; s. 256(6)–(9).

► 127(9.2) ◄

(9.2) Control acquired after the end of the year. Where a taxpayer is a corporation the control of which has been acquired by a person or group of persons at any time (in this subsection referred to as "that time") after the end of a taxation year of the corporation, the amount determined for the purposes of paragraph (k) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection (9) is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount included in computing its investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of a property acquired, or an expenditure made, after that time

exceeds the total of

(b) [Repealed by 1987, c. 46, s. 46(6).]

(c) its refundable Part VII tax on hand at the end of the year, and

(d) that proportion of the amount that, but for subsections (3) and (5) and sections 126, 127.2 and 127.3, would be its tax payable under this Part for the year that,

(i) where the corporation acquired a property or made an expenditure, in the course of carrying on a particular business throughout the portion of a taxation year that is after that time, in respect of which an amount is included in computing its investment tax credit at the end of the year, the amount, if any, by which the total of all amounts each of which is

(A) its income for the year from the particular business, or

(B) where the corporation carried on a particular business in the year, its income for the year from any other business substantially all the income of which was derived from the sale, leasing, rental or development of properties or the rendering of services similar to the properties sold, leased, rented or developed, or the services rendered, as the case may be, by the corporation in carrying on the particular business before that time

exceeds

(C) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted under paragraph 111(1)(a) or (d) for the year by the corporation in respect of a non-capital loss or a farm loss, as the case may be, for a taxation year in respect of the particular business or the other business

is of the greater of

(ii) the amount determined under subparagraph (i), and

(iii) its taxable income for the year.

Related Sections: S. 139.1(18) Acquisition of control; s. 249(4) Year end on change of control; s. 256(6)–(9).

► 127(10) ◄

(10) Ascertainment of certain property. The Minister may

(a) obtain the advice of the appropriate minister for the purposes of the Regional Development Incentives Act, chapter R-3 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1970, as to whether any property is property as described in paragraph (b) of the definition "certified property" in subsection (9);

(b) obtain a certificate from the appropriate minister for the purposes of the Regional Development Incentives Act certifying that any property specified therein is property as described in paragraph (b) of that definition; or

(c) provide advice to the member of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada appointed to be the Minister for the purposes of the Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency Act as to whether any property qualifies for certification under the definition "approved project property" in subsection (9).

► 127(10.1) ◄

(10.1) Additions to investment tax credit. For the purpose of paragraph (e) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection (9), where a corporation was throughout a taxation year a Canadian-controlled private corporation, there shall be added in computing the corporation's investment tax credit at the end of the year the amount that is 15% of the least of

(a) such amount as the corporation claims;

(b) the amount by which the corporation's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of the year exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is the super-allowance benefit amount for the year in respect of the corporation in respect of a province; and

(c) the corporation's expenditure limit for the year.

History: S. 127(10.1)(b) was amended by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 118(8), applicable to taxation years that begin after February 2000 except that, if a corporation's first taxation year that begins after February 2000 ends before 2001, those provisions apply to the corporation's taxation years that begin after 2000. S. 127(10.1)(b) formerly read:

"(b) the SR&ED qualified expenditure pool of the corporation at the end of the year; and"

S. 127(10.1) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(19), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

S. 127(10.1) formerly read:

"(10.1) Additions to investment tax credit. For the purpose of paragraph (e) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9), where a corporation was throughout a particular taxation year a Canadian-controlled private corporation, there shall be added in computing the corporation's investment tax credit at the end of the particular year the amount determined by the formula

$$(\frac{35}{100} \times A) - B$$

where

A is the lesser of

(a) the total of all expenditures described in any of subparagraphs (e)(iv) and (v) of the definition 'specified percentage' in subsection (9) made by the corporation in the particular year and that were designated by it in its return of income under this Part for the particular year, and

(b) the corporation's expenditure limit for the particular year; and

B is the total of all amounts determined under paragraph (a) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9) in respect of an expenditure referred to in paragraph (a) of the description of A."

S. 127(10.1) was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 37(5), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995. S. 127(10.1) formerly read:

"(10.1) Additions to investment tax credit. For the purpose of paragraph (e) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9), where a taxpayer was throughout a particular taxation year a Canadian-controlled private corporation the taxable income of which, for the taxation year preceding the particular year together with the taxable incomes of all corporations with which it was associated in the particular year for their taxation years ending in the calendar year preceding the calendar year in which the taxpayer's particular year ended, does not exceed twice the total of the business limits (as determined under section 125) of the taxpayer and the associated corporations for those preceding years, the amount, if any, by which

(a) 35% of the lesser of

(i) the total of all expenditures described in subparagraph (e)(iv) of the definition 'specified percentage' in subsection (9) made by the taxpayer in the particular year and that were designated by it in its return of income under this Part for the particular year, and

(ii) the taxpayer's expenditure limit for the particular year

exceeds

(b) the total of all amounts determined under paragraph (a) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9) in respect of an expenditure referred to in subparagraph (a)(i) shall be added in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the particular year."

S. 127(10.1) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(10), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1993. S. 127(10.1) formerly read:

"(10.1) For the purposes of paragraph (e) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9), where a taxpayer was throughout its taxation year a Canadian-controlled private corporation whose taxable income for the immediately preceding taxation year together with the taxable incomes of all corporations with which it was associated in the year for their taxation years ending in the calendar year immediately preceding the calendar year in which the corporation's year ended does not exceed the total of the business limits (as determined under section 125) of the corporation and the associated corporations for those preceding years, the amount, if any, by which

(a) 35% of the lesser of

(i) the total of all expenditures described in subparagraph (e)(iv) of the definition 'specified percentage' in subsection (9) made by it in the year and that were designated by the taxpayer in its return of income under this Part for the year, and

(ii) the taxpayer's expenditure limit for the year

exceeds

(b) the total of all amounts determined under paragraph (a) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9) in respect of an expenditure referred to in subparagraph (a)(i) shall be added in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the taxation year."

Editorial Note: Subsection 127(10.1) provides certain Canadian-controlled private corporations an additional 15% ITC for qualified SR&ED expenditures, bringing the total ITC to 35%. However, the additional ITC is not available to large corporations. Paragraph 127(10.1)(c) ensures that the additional 15% is limited to the corporation's "expenditure limit" for the year, as defined in subsection 127(10.2). The expenditure limit is reduced proportionately when the small business limit in subsection 125(2) is reduced.

Related Sections: S. 127(10.2) Expenditure limit determined; s. 127(10.7) Further additions to investment tax credit; s. 127.1(2), "refundable investment tax credit"; s. 127.1(2.01) Addition to refundable investment tax credit; s. 136(1) Cooperative not private corporation; s. 137(7) Credit union not private corporation.

Forms: T2 SCH 31.

Tax Profile: April 2006 — The SR&ED Deduction and Investment Tax Credits.

Tax Window Files: Investment Tax Credit — Expenditure Limit, June 20, 2006, CRA Document No. 2005-0165381E5; Business Limit — Non-CCPC, October 7, 1993, CRA Document No. 9312685; Investment Tax Credits of Partnership — Transfers to Partners that are CCPCs, February 28, 1992, CRA Document No. 9120477.

► 127(10.2) ◄

(10.2) Expenditure limit determined. For the purpose of subsection (10.1), a particular corporation's expenditure limit for a particular taxation year is the amount determined by the formula

($8 million − 10A) × [($40 million − B)/$40 million]

where

A is the greater of

(a) $500,000, and

(b) the amount that is

(i) if the particular corporation is not associated with any other corporation in the particular taxation year, the particular corporation's taxable income for its immediately preceding taxation year (determined before taking into consideration the specified future tax consequences for that preceding year), or

(ii) if the particular corporation is associated with one or more other corporations in the particular taxation year, the total of all amounts each of which is the taxable income of the particular corporation for its, or of one of the other corporations for its, last taxation year that ended in the last calendar year that ended before the end of the particular taxation year (determined before taking into consideration the specified future tax consequences for that last taxation year), and

B is

(a) nil, if the following amount is less than or equal to $10 million:

(i) if the particular corporation is not associated with any other corporation in the particular taxation year, the amount that is its taxable capital employed in Canada (within the meaning assigned by section 181.2 or 181.3) for its immediately preceding taxation year, or

(ii) if the particular corporation is associated with one or more other corporations in the particular taxation year, the amount that is the total of all amounts, each of which is the taxable capital employed in Canada (within the meaning assigned by section 181.2 or 181.3) of the particular corporation for its, or of one of the other corporations for its, last taxation year that ended in the last calendar year that ended before the end of the particular taxation year, or

(b) in any other case, the lesser of $40 million and the amount by which the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(i) or (ii), as the case may be, exceeds $10 million.

History: S. 127(10.2), the formula and paragraph (a) of the description of A were replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 40(5) and 40(6) respectively, applicable to the 2010 and subsequent taxation years, except that the expenditure limit in subsection 127(10.2) of the Act in respect of a corporation for 2010 taxation years that begin before 2010, be determined by the formula

$$A + [(B - A) \times (C/D)]$$

where

A is the expenditure limit of the corporation for the taxation year determined in accordance with the formula in subsection 127(10.2) of the Act as that subsection read in its application to taxation years that end in 2009;

B is the expenditure limit of the corporation for the taxation year determined in accordance with the formula in subsection 127(10.2) of the Act, as that subsection would apply to the taxation year in the absence of this exception;

C is the number of days in the taxation year that are after 2009; and

D is the total number of days in the taxation year.

S. 127(10.2), the formula formerly read:

"($7 million – 10A) × [($40 million – B)/$40 million]

"

S. 127(10.2), paragraph (a) of the description of A formerly read:

"(a) $400,000, and"

S. 127(10.2), subparagraphs (a)(i) and (ii) of the description of B were replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 40(7), applicable to taxation years that end on or after February 26, 2008. S. 127(10.2), subparagraphs (a)(i) and (ii) of the description of B formerly read:

"(i) if the particular corporation is not associated with any other corporation in the particular taxation year, the amount that is its taxable capital employed in Canada (within the meaning assigned by section 181.2) for its immediately preceding taxation year, or

(ii) if the particular corporation is associated with one or more other corporations in the particular taxation year, the amount that is the total of all amounts, each of which is the taxable capital employed in Canada (within the meaning assigned by section 181.2) of the particular corporation for its, or of one of the other corporations for its, last taxation year that ended in the last calendar year that ended before the end of the particular taxation year, or"

S. 127(10.2) was replaced by S.C. 2008, c. 28, s. 19(3), applicable to taxation years that end on or after February 26, 2008, except that for taxation years that include February 26, 2008, the expenditure limit of a corporation shall be determined by the formula

$$A + [(B - A) \times (C/D)]$$

where

A is the expenditure limit of the corporation for the taxation year determined in accordance with the formula in subsection 127(10.2) of the Income Tax Act as that subsection read in its application to a taxation year that ended immediately before February 26, 2008;

B is the expenditure limit of the corporation for the taxation year determined in accordance with the formula in subsection 127(10.2) of the Income Tax Act, as that subsection would apply to a taxation year that ended on February 26, 2008;

C is the number of days in the taxation year that are after February 25, 2008; and

D is the number of days in the taxation year.

The wording for the descriptions of A and B was amended by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 82, to read as noted in the application above, in force on March 12, 2009.

S. 127(10.2) formerly read:

"(10.2) Expenditure limit determined. For the purpose of subsection (10.1), a corporation's expenditure limit for a particular taxation year is the amount determined by the formula

$$($6{,}000{,}000 - 10A) \times B/C$$

where

A is the greater of $400,000 and either

(a) if the corporation is associated with one or more other corporations in the particular year and the particular year ends in a calendar year, the total of all amounts each of which is the taxable income of the corporation, or of such an associated corporation, for its last taxation year that ended in the preceding calendar year (determined before taking into consideration the specified future tax consequences for that last taxation year), or

(b) if paragraph (a) does not apply, the corporation's taxable income for its immediately preceding taxation year (determined before taking into consideration the specified future tax consequences for that preceding year),

B is the total of the business limits under section 125 for the particular year of the corporation and any such other corporations for the particular year, and

C is

(a) if the corporation is associated with one or more other corporations in the particular year, the total of all amounts each of which would be the business limit for the particular year of the corporation or of such an associated corporation, if this Act were read without reference to subsections 125(5) and (5.1), or

(b) if paragraph (a) does not apply, the amount that would, if this Act were read without reference to subsections 125(5) and (5.1), be the corporation's business limit for the particular year."

S. 127(10.2), the portion before paragraph (a) of the description of A was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 34(9), applicable to the 2007 and subsequent taxation years except that, for a 2007 or 2008 taxation year that immediately follows a taxation year that ended before 2007, the reference in the formula in subsection 127(10.2) to "$6,000,000" is to be read as a reference to "$5,000,000" and the reference to "$400,000" in the description of A is to be read as a reference to "$300,000".

S. 127(10.2), the portion before paragraph (a) of the description of A formerly read:

"(10.2) Expenditure limit determined. For the purpose of subsection (10.1), a corporation's expenditure limit for a particular taxation year is the amount determined by the formula

$$($5{,}000{,}000 - 10A) \times B/C$$

where

A is the greater of $300,000 and either"

S. 127(10.2) was replaced by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 81(3), applicable to taxation years that end after 2002 except that, for taxation years that immediately follow taxation years that ended before 2003, the reference in the formula to "$5,000,000" is to be read as a reference to "$4,000,000" and the reference to "$300,000" in the description of A is to be read as a reference to "$200,000". S. 127(10.2) formerly read:

"(10.2) Expenditure limit determined. For the purpose of subsection (10.1), a corporation's expenditure limit for a particular taxation year is the amount determined by the formula

$$($4{,}000{,}000 - 10A) \times \frac{B}{$200{,}000}$$

where

A is the greater of $200,000 and either

(a) where the corporation is associated with one or more other corporations in the particular year and the particular year ends in a calendar year, the total of all amounts each of which is the taxable income of the corporation or such an associated corporation for its last taxation year that ended in the preceding calendar year (determined before taking into consideration the specified future tax consequences for that last year), or

(b) where paragraph (a) does not apply, the corporation's taxable income for its immediately preceding taxation year (determined before taking into consideration the specified future tax consequences for that preceding year), and

B is the total of the business limits under section 125 for the particular year of the corporation and any such other corporations for the particular year,unless the corporation is associated in the particular year with one or more other Canadian-controlled private corporations, in which case, except as otherwise provided in this section, its expenditure limit for the particular year is nil."

S. 127(10.2), the description of A, was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 35(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995. That part formerly read:

"A is the greater of

(a) $200,000, and

(b) the taxable income of the corporation for its preceding taxation year or, if it is associated with one or more other corporations in the particular year, the taxable income of the corporation for its last taxation year ending in the preceding calendar year plus the taxable incomes of all such other corporations for their last taxation years ending in the preceding calendar year, and"

S. 127(10.2) was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 37(5), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995. S. 127(10.2) formerly read:

"(10.2) Expenditure limit determined. For the purpose of subsection (10.1), a corporation's expenditure limit for a particular taxation year is the amount determined by the formula

$4,000,000 – 10A

where

A is the greater of

(a) $200,000, and

(b) the total of the taxable income of the corporation for the taxation year preceding the particular year and the taxable incomes of all corporations with which it was associated in the particular year for their taxation years ending in the calendar year preceding the calendar year in which the taxpayer's particular year ended, unless the corporation is associated in the particular year with one or more other Canadian-controlled private corporations in which case, except as otherwise provided in this section, its expenditure limit for the particular year is nil."

S. 127(10.2) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(10), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1993. S. 127(10.2) formerly read:

"(10.2) For the purposes of subsection (10.1), a corporation's expenditure limit for a taxation year is $2,000,000 unless the corporation is associated in the year with one or more other Canadian-controlled private corporations in which case, except as otherwise provided in this section, its expenditure limit for the year is nil."

Editorial Note: See the Editorial Note under subsection 127(10.1).

Related Sections: S. 87(2)(oo) Investment tax credit s. 88(1)(e.8) Winding-up; s. 127(10.21)–(10.6); s. 248(1), "specified future tax consequences"; s. 257 Negative amounts.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) Scientific Research and Experimental Development Expenditures.

Tax Window Files: Investment Tax Credit — Expenditure Limit, June 20, 2006, CRA Document No. 2005-0165381E5; Business Limit and Expenditure Limit — Associated Canadian- controlled Private Corporations with Multiple Taxation Years, October 21, 2003, CRA Document No. 2003-0031577; Investment Tax Credit Election by Corporations Not To Be Associated, August 29, 2002, CRA Document No. 2002-0145465.

► 127(10.21) ◄

(10.21) Expenditure limits — associated CCPCs. Notwithstanding subsection (10.2), the expenditure limit for a taxation year of a corporation that is associated in the taxation year with one or more other Canadian-controlled private corporations is, except as otherwise provided in this section, nil.

History: S. 127(10.21) was added by S.C. 2003, c. 15, s. 81(3), applicable to taxation years that end after 2002.

Related Sections: S. 127(10.3) Associated corporations.

Tax Window Files: Business Limit and Expenditure Limit — Associated Canadian-controlled Private Corporations with Multiple Taxation Years, October 21, 2003, CRA Document No. 2003-0031577.

► 127(10.22) ◄

(10.22) Deemed non-association of corporations. If a particular Canadian-controlled private corporation is associated with another corporation in circumstances where those corporations would not be associated if the Act were read without reference to paragraph 256(1.2)(a), the particular corporation has issued shares to one or more persons who have been issued shares by the other corporation and there is at least one shareholder of the particular corporation who is not a shareholder of the other corporation or one shareholder of the other corporation who is not a shareholder of the particular corporation, the particular corporation is deemed not to be associated with the other corporation for the purpose of determining the particular corporation's expenditure limit under subsection (10.2).

History: S. 127(10.22) was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 40(8), applicable to taxation years that end on or after March 9, 2009. S. 127(10.22) formerly read:

"(10.22) Expenditure limits — associated CCPCs. If a particular Canadian-controlled private corporation is associated with another corporation in circumstances where those corporations would not be associated if the Act were read without reference to paragraph 256(1.2)(a), the particular corporation has issued shares to one or more persons who have been issued shares by the other corporation and there is at least one shareholder of the particular corporation who is not a shareholder of the other corporation or one shareholder of the other corporation who is not a shareholder of the particular corporation, the particular corporation is not associated with the other corporation for the purpose of

(a) determining the particular corporation's expenditure limit under subsection (10.2); and

(b) determining the particular corporation's business limit under section 125, as applied for the purpose only of determining the particular corporation's expenditure limit under subsection (10.2)."

S. 127(10.22) was added by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 28(2), applicable to taxation years that end after March 22, 2004.

Editorial Note: Subsection 127(10.22) allows associated corporations to be considered not associated for purposes of SR&ED tax credits if they are associated through a third company and the conditions in subsection 127(10.23) are met. However, subsection 127(10.22) does not apply for purposes of claiming the small business deduction in section 125. Subsection 127.1(2.2) provides a parallel rule for refundable investment tax credits.

Related Sections: S. 127(10.23) Application of subsection (10.22); s. 127.1(2.2) Refundable investment tax credit — associated CCPCs; s. 127.1(2.3) Application of subsection (2.2).

Tax Profile: March 2006 — Some Tax Considerations for Investing in Silicon Valley North.

Tax Window Files: Enhanced ITC for CCPCs, May 18, 2005, CRA Document No. 2005-012689117.

► 127(10.23) ◄

(10.23) Application of subsection (10.22). Subsection (10.22) applies to the particular corporation and the other corporation referred to in that subsection only if the Minister is satisfied that

(a) the particular corporation and the other corporation are not otherwise associated under this Act; and

(b) the existence of one or more shareholders of the particular corporation who is not a shareholder of the other corporation, or the existence of one or more shareholders of the other corporation who is not a shareholder of the particular corporation, is not for the purpose of satisfying the requirements of subsection (10.22) or 127.1(2.2).

History: S. 127(10.23) was added by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 28(2), applicable to taxation years that end after March 22, 2004.

Editorial Note: See the editorial note under subsection 127(10.22).

Related Sections: S. 127.1(2.2) Refundable investment tax credit — associated CCPCs; s. 127.1(2.3) Application of subsection (2.2).

Tax Window Files: Enhanced ITC for CCPCs, May 18, 2005, CRA Document No. 2005-012689117.

► 127(10.3) ◄

(10.3) Associated corporations. If all of the Canadian-controlled private corporations that are associated with each other in a taxation year file with the Minister in prescribed form an agreement whereby, for the purpose of subsection (10.1), they allocate an amount to one or more of them for the year and the amount so allocated or the total of the amounts so allocated, as the case may be, does not exceed the amount determined for the year by the formula in subsection (10.2), the expenditure limit for the year of each of the corporations is the amount so allocated to it.

History: S. 127(10.3) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(10), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1993. S. 127(10.3) formerly read:

"(10.3) If all of the Canadian-controlled private corporations that are associated with each other in a taxation year have filed with the Minister in prescribed form an agreement whereby, for the purposes of subsection (10.1), they allocate an amount to one or more of them for the taxation year and the amount so allocated or the total of the amounts so allocated, as the case may be, is $2,000,000, the expenditure limit for the year of each of the corporations is the amount so allocated to it."

Related Sections: S. 127(10.4) Failure to file agreement.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) Scientific Research and Experimental Development Expenditures.

Forms: T2 SCH 49; T2 SCH 23.

Tax Window Files: Business Limit and Expenditure Limit — Associated Canadian-controlled Private Corporations with Multiple Taxation Years, October 21, 2003, CRA Document No. 2003-0031577.

► 127(10.4) ◄

(10.4) Failure to file agreement. If any of the Canadian-controlled private corporations that are associated with each other in a taxation year fails to file with the Minister an agreement as contemplated by subsection (10.3) within 30 days after notice in writing by the Minister is forwarded to any of them that such an agreement is required for the purposes of this Part, the Minister shall, for the purpose of subsection (10.1), allocate an amount to one or more of them for the year, which amount or the total of which amounts, as the case may be, shall equal the amount determined for the year by the formula in subsection (10.2), and in any such case the expenditure limit for the year of each of the corporations is the amount so allocated to it.

History: S. 127(10.4) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(10), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1993. S. 127(10.4) formerly read:

"(10.4) If any of the Canadian-controlled private corporations that are associated with each other in a taxation year has failed to file with the Minister an agreement as contemplated by subsection (10.3) within 30 days after notice in writing by the Minister has been forwarded to any of them that such an agreement is required for the purpose of any assessment of tax under this Part, the Minister shall, for the purposes of subsection (10.1), allocate an amount to one or more of them for the taxation year, which amount or the total of which amounts, as the case may be, shall equal $2,000,000, and in any such case the expenditure limit for the year of each of the corporations is the amount so allocated to it."

► 127(10.5) ◄

(10.5) Failure to file agreement. [Repealed by 1985, c. 45, s. 72(6).]

► 127(10.6) ◄

(10.6) Expenditure limit determination in certain cases. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section,

(a) where a Canadian-controlled private corporation (in this paragraph referred to as the "first corporation") has more than one taxation year ending in the same calendar year and it is associated in two or more of those taxation years with another Canadian-controlled private corporation that has a taxation year ending in that calendar year, the expenditure limit of the first corporation for each taxation year in which it is associated with the other corporation ending in that calendar year is, subject to the application of paragraph (b), an amount equal to its expenditure limit for the first such taxation year determined without reference to paragraph (b);

(b) where a Canadian-controlled private corporation has a taxation year that is less than 51 weeks, its expenditure limit for the year is that proportion of its expenditure limit for the year determined without reference to this paragraph that the number of days in the year is of 365; and

(c) for the purpose of subsection (10.2), where a Canadian-controlled private corporation has a taxation year that is less than 51 weeks, the taxable income of the corporation for the year shall be determined by multiplying that amount by the ratio that 365 is of the number of days in that year.

History: S. 127(10.6)(c) was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 40(9), applicable to taxation years that end on or after March 9, 2009. S. 127(10.6)(c) formerly read:

"(c) for the purpose of subsection (10.2), where a Canadian-controlled private corporation has a taxation year that is less than 51 weeks, the taxable income and business limit of the corporation for the year shall be determined by multiplying those amounts by the ratio that 365 is of the number of days in that year."

S. 127(10.6)(c) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 37(6), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) Scientific Research and Experimental Development Expenditures.

Tax Window Files: Business Limit and Expenditure Limit — Associated Canadian- controlled Private Corporations with Multiple Taxation Years, October 21, 2003, CRA Document No. 2003-0031577.

► 127(10.7) ◄

(10.7) Further additions to investment tax credit. Where a taxpayer has in a particular taxation year repaid an amount of government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment that was applied to reduce

(a) the amount of a qualified expenditure incurred by the taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(c) for a preceding taxation year that began before 1996,

(b) the prescribed proxy amount of the taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(f) for a preceding taxation year that began before 1996, or

(c) a qualified expenditure incurred by the taxpayer under any of subsections (18) to (20) for a preceding taxation year, there shall be added to the amount otherwise determined under subsection (10.1) in respect of the taxpayer for the particular year the amount, if any, by which

(d) the amount that would have been determined under subsection (10.1) in respect of the taxpayer for that preceding year if subsections (11.1) and (18) to (20) had not applied in respect of the government assistance, non-government assistance or contract payment, as the case may be, to the extent of the amount so repaid,

exceeds

(e) the amount determined under subsection (10.1) in respect of the taxpayer for that preceding year.

History: S. 127(10.7) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(20), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

S. 127(10.7) formerly read:

"(10.7) Further additions to investment tax credits. Where a taxpayer has in a particular taxation year repaid an amount of government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment that had, because of subsection (11.1), resulted in a reduction of the amount of a qualified expenditure for a preceding taxation year, there shall be added to the amount otherwise determined under subsection (10.1) in respect of the taxpayer for the particular year the amount, if any, by which

(a) the amount that would have been determined under subsection (10.1) in respect of the taxpayer for that preceding year if subsection (11.1) had not applied in respect of the government assistance, non-government assistance or contract payment, as the case may be, to the extent of the amount so repaid,

exceeds

(b) the amount determined under subsection (10.1) in respect of the taxpayer for that preceding year."

S. 127(10.7) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 104(5), applicable with respect to amounts repaid after May 23, 1985.

Related Sections: S. 127(10.8) Further additions to investment tax credit.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2005-02, General Rules Concerning the Treatment of Government and Non Government Assistance.

► 127(10.8) ◄

(10.8) Further additions to investment tax credit. For the purposes of paragraph (e.1) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection (9), subsection (10.7) and paragraph 37(1)(c), an amount of government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment that

(a) was applied to reduce

(i) the capital cost to a taxpayer of a property under paragraph (11.1)(b),

(ii) the amount of a qualified expenditure incurred by a taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(c) for taxation years that began before 1996,

(iii) the prescribed proxy amount of a taxpayer under paragraph (11.1)(f) for taxation years that began before 1996, or

(iv) a qualified expenditure incurred by a taxpayer under any of subsections (18) to (20),

(b) was not received by the taxpayer, and

(c) ceased in a taxation year to be an amount that the taxpayer can reasonably be expected to receive, is deemed to be the amount of a repayment by the taxpayer in the year of the government assistance, non-government assistance or contract payment, as the case may be.

History: S. 127(10.8) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(20), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

S. 127(10.8) formerly read:

"(10.8) Idem. For the purposes of paragraph (e.1) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9), subsection (10.7) and paragraph 37(1)(c), where an amount of assistance that

(a) was applied in reduction of

(i) the capital cost to a taxpayer of a property, because of paragraph (11.1)(b), or

(ii) the amount of a qualified expenditure made by a taxpayer, because of paragraph (11.1)(c),

(b) was not received by the taxpayer, and

(c) ceased in a taxation year to be an amount that the taxpayer can reasonably be expected to receive, that amount shall be deemed to be an amount of assistance repaid by the taxpayer in the year."

S. 127(10.8) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 68(3), applicable to 1991 and subsequent taxation years.

Editorial Note: Subsection 127(10.8) allows a taxpayer to regenerate an investment tax credit when the assistance has not been received and entitlement to assistance expires.

Related Sections: S. 127(9), "contract payment", "government assistance", "non-government assistance", "qualified expenditure".

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2005-02, General Rules Concerning the Treatment of Government and Non Government Assistance.

► 127(11) ◄

(11) Interpretation. For the purposes of the definition "qualified property" in subsection (9),

(a) "manufacturing or processing" does not include any of the activities

(i) referred to in any of paragraphs (a) to (e) and (g) to (i) of the definition "manufacturing or processing" in subsection 125.1(3),

(ii) that would be referred to in paragraph (f) of that definition if that paragraph were read without reference to the expression "located in Canada",

(iii) that would be referred to in paragraph (j) of that definition if that paragraph were read without reference to the expression "in Canada", or

(iv) that would be referred to in paragraph (k) of that definition if the definition "Canadian field processing" in subsection 248(1) were read without reference to the expression "in Canada"; and

(b) for greater certainty, the purposes referred to in paragraph (c) of the definition "qualified property" in subsection (9) do not include

(i) storing (other than the storing of grain), shipping, selling or leasing finished goods,

(ii) purchasing raw materials,

(iii) administration, including clerical and personnel activities,

(iv) purchase and resale operations,

(v) data processing, or

(vi) providing facilities for employees, including cafeterias, clinics and recreational facilities.

History: S. 127(11)(a)(i) and (ii) were amended, and subparagraphs (iii) and (iv) were added, by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 35(3), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1996. Subparagraphs (i) and (ii) formerly read:

"(i) referred to in any of paragraphs (a) to (e) and (i) to (k) of the definition 'manufacturing or processing' in subsection 125.1(3), or

(ii) that would be referred to in any of paragraphs (f) to (h) of that definition if those paragraphs were read without reference to the expression 'located in Canada'; and"

S. 127(11)(a) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 104(6), applicable to the 1990 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127(11)(a) formerly read:

"(a) 'manufacturing or processing' does not include any of the activities referred to in paragraphs (a) to (k) of the definition 'manufacturing or processing' in subsection 125.1(3); and"

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-411R Meaning of "construction".

Tax Window Files: Investment Tax Credit — Frozen Food Storage, January 8, 1996, CRA Document No. 9525137; Investment Tax Credit — Trucks Hauling Wood Chips, January 27, 1994 and February 4, 1994, CRA Document No. 9333591; 9333597.

► 127(11.1) ◄

(11.1) Investment tax credit. For the purposes of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection (9),

(a) the capital cost to a taxpayer of a property shall be computed as if no amount were added thereto by virtue of section 21;

(b) the capital cost to a taxpayer of a property shall be deemed to be the capital cost to the taxpayer of the property, determined without reference to subsections 13(7.1) and (7.4), less the amount of any government assistance or non-government assistance that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of, or for the acquisition of, the property and that, at the time of the filing of the taxpayer's return of income under this Part for the taxation year in which the property was acquired, the taxpayer has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive;

(c) [Repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(21).]

(c.1) the amount of a taxpayer's qualified Canadian exploration expenditure for a taxation year shall be deemed to be the amount of the taxpayer's qualified Canadian exploration expenditure for the year as otherwise determined less the amount of any government assistance, non-government assistance or contract payment (other than assistance under the Petroleum Incentives Program Act or the Petroleum Incentives Program Act, Chapter P-4.1 of the Statutes of Alberta, 1981) in respect of expenditures included in determining the taxpayer's qualified Canadian exploration expenditure for the year that, at the time of the filing of the taxpayer's return of income for the year, the taxpayer has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive;

(c.2) the amount of a taxpayer's flow-through mining expenditure for a taxation year is deemed to be the amount of the taxpayer's flow-through mining expenditure for the year as otherwise determined less the amount of any government assistance or non-government assistance in respect of expenses included in determining the taxpayer's flow-through mining expenditure for the year that, at the time of the filing of the taxpayer's return of income for the year, the taxpayer has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive;

(c.3) the amount of a taxpayer's pre-production mining expenditure for a taxation year is deemed to be the amount of the taxpayer's pre-production mining expenditure for the year as otherwise determined less the amount of any government assistance or non-government assistance in respect of expenses included in determining the taxpayer's pre-production mining expenditure for the year that, at the time of the filing of the taxpayer's return of income for the year, the taxpayer has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive;

(c.4) the amount of a taxpayer's eligible salary and wages for a taxation year is deemed to be the amount of the taxpayer's eligible salary and wages for the year otherwise determined less the amount of any government assistance or non-government assistance in respect of the eligible salary and wages for the year that, at the time of the filing of the taxpayer's return of income for the year, the taxpayer has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive;

(c.5) the amount of a taxpayer's eligible child care space expenditure for a taxation year is deemed to be the amount of the taxpayer's eligible child care space expenditure for the taxation year otherwise determined less the amount of any government assistance or non-government assistance in respect of the eligible child care space expenditure for the taxation year that, at the time of the filing of the taxpayer's return of income for the taxation year, the taxpayer has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive; and

(d) where at a particular time a taxpayer who is a beneficiary of a trust or a member of a partnership has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment, the amount thereof that may reasonably be considered to be in respect of, or for the acquisition of, depreciable property of the trust or partnership or in respect of an expenditure by the trust or partnership shall be deemed to have been received at that time by the trust or partnership, as the case may be, as government assistance, non-government assistance or as a contract payment in respect of the property or the expenditure, as the case may be.

(e) [Repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(22).]

(f) [Repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(22).]

History: S. 127(11.1)(c.4) was replaced and paragraph (c.5) was added, by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(14), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006, except that paragraph 127(11.1)(c.5) applies to taxation years that end on or after March 19, 2007. S. 127(11.1)(c.4) formerly read:

"(c.4) the amount of a taxpayer's apprenticeship expenditure for a taxation year is deemed to be the amount of the taxpayer's apprenticeship expenditure for the year otherwise determined less the amount of any government assistance or non-government assistance in respect of the expenditure for the year that, at the time of the filing of the taxpayer's return of income for the year, the taxpayer has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive; and"

S. 127(11.1)(c.4) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 34(10), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006.

S. 127(11.1)(c.3) was added by S.C. 2003, c. 28, s. 14(8), applicable to the 2003 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 127(11.1)(c.2) was added by S.C. 2001, c. 17, s. 118(9), applicable to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

S. 127(11.1)(c) was repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(21), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

S. 127(11.1)(c) formerly read:

"(c) the amount of a qualified expenditure (other than a prescribed proxy amount or an amount determined under paragraph (e)) made by a taxpayer shall be deemed to be the amount of the qualified expenditure, determined without reference to subsections 13(7.1) and (7.4), less the amount of any government assistance, non-government assistance or contract payment that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the expenditure and that, at the time of the filing of the taxpayer's return of income under this Part for the taxation year in which the expenditure was made, the taxpayer has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive;"

S. 127(11.1), paragraphs (e) and (f), were repealed by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(22), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

Paragraphs (e) and (f) formerly read:

"(e) the amount of a qualified expenditure made by a taxpayer in the taxation year ending coincidentally with the end of the first period (within the meaning assigned in the definition 'first term shared-use-equipment' in subsection (9)) or the second period (within the meaning assigned in the definition 'second term shared-use-equipment' in subsection (9)) in respect of first term shared-use-equipment or second term shared-use-equipment, respectively, of the taxpayer shall be deemed to be 1/4 of the capital cost of the equipment that would be determined in accordance with paragraphs (a) and (b) if paragraph (b) were read as

"(b) the capital cost to a taxpayer of a property shall be deemed to be the capital cost to the taxpayer of the property, determined without reference to subsections 13(7.1) and (7.4), less the amount of any government assistance, non-government assistance or contract payment that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of, or for the acquisition of, the property and that, at the time of the filing of the return of income under this Part for the taxation year ending coincidentally with the first period, the taxpayer has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive;"; and

(f) the prescribed proxy amount of a taxpayer for a taxation year shall be deemed to be the prescribed proxy amount of the taxpayer for the taxation year less the amount of any government assistance, non-government assistance or contract payment that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of an expenditure described in subparagraph 37(8)(a)(ii), other than an expenditure described in clause (B) of that subparagraph, and that, at the time of the filing of the taxpayer's return of income under this Part for the taxation year in which the expenditure was made, the taxpayer has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive."

S. 127(11.1), paragraphs (b) and (c), were amended by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(12), applicable to taxation years that end after December 2, 1992. S. 127(11.1), paragraphs (b) and (c) formerly read:

"(b) the capital cost to a taxpayer of a property shall be deemed to be the capital cost to the taxpayer of the property, determined without reference to subsections 13(7.1) and (7.4), less the amount of any government assistance or non-government assistance in respect of, or for the acquisition of, the property that, at the time of the filing of the return of income for the taxation year in which the property was acquired, the taxpayer has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive;

(c) the amount of a qualified expenditure made by a taxpayer shall be deemed to be the amount of the qualified expenditure, determined without reference to subsections 13(7.1) and (7.4), less the amount of any government assistance, non-government assistance or contract payment in respect of the expenditure that, at the time of the filing of the return of income for the taxation year in which the expenditure was made, the taxpayer has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive;"

S. 127(11.1), paragraphs (e) and (f), were added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(12), applicable to taxation years that end after December 2, 1992.

Tax Window Files: Quebec Capital Tax Credit, January 22, 2007, CRA Document No. 2006-0212641E5; British Columbia Flow-Through Share Tax Credit, April 3, 2002, CRA Document No. 2002-0124737; R&D Cost Sharing Arrangement Available For Use, February 17, 1994, CRA Document No. 9402746; Contract Payments, November 5, 1993, CRA Document No. 9331455; Scientific Research — Funding Received by Related Non-Resident Corporation — Whether Non-Government Assistance, March 19, 1993, CRA Document No. 9225325; Scientific Research — Non-Government Assistance and Contract Payments, July 22, 1992, CRA Document No. 9206195.

► 127(11.2) ◄

(11.2) Time of expenditure and acquisition. In applying subsections (5), (7) and (8), paragraphs (a), (a.1) and (a.5) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection (9) and section 127.1,

(a) certified property, qualified property and first term shared-use-equipment are deemed not to have been acquired, and

(b) expenditures incurred to acquire property described in subparagraph 37(1)(b)(i) or included in an eligible child care expenditure are deemed not to have been incurred by a taxpayer before the property is considered to have become available for use by the taxpayer, determined without reference to paragraphs 13(27)(c) and 13(28)(d), and subparagraph (27.12)(b)(i).

History: S. 127(11.2) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(15), applicable on and after March 19, 2007. S. 127(11.2) formerly read:

"(11.2) Time of expenditure and acquisition. In applying subsections (5), (7) and (8), paragraphs (a) and (a.1) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9) and section 127.1,

(a) certified property, qualified property and first term shared-use-equipment are deemed not to have been acquired, and

(b) expenditures incurred to acquire property described in subparagraph 37(1)(b)(i) are deemed not to have been incurred by a taxpayer before the property is considered to have become available for use by the taxpayer, determined without reference to paragraphs 13(27)(c) and (28)(d)."

S. 127(11.2) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(23), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

S. 127(11.2) formerly read:

"(11.2) Time of expenditure and acquisition. In applying subsections (5), (7) and (8), paragraph (a) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9) and section 127.1,

(a) property described in subparagraph (a)(i) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9) shall be deemed not to have been acquired,

(b) property that is first term shared-use equipment the expenditure for which is a qualified expenditure included in subparagraph (a)(ii) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9) shall be deemed not to have been acquired, and

(c) expenditures incurred to acquire property described in subparagraph 37(1)(b)(i) shall be deemed not to have been incurred, by the taxpayer before the property is considered to have become available for use by the taxpayer, determined without reference to paragraphs 13(27)(c) and (28)(d)."

S. 127(11.2) was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 37(7), applicable to property acquired and expenditures incurred after February 21, 1994. S. 127(11.2) formerly read:

"(11.2) Idem. For the purposes of this section and section 127.1, property described in subparagraph (a)(i) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9) shall be deemed not to have been acquired, and expenditures made to acquire property described in subparagraph 37(1)(b)(i) shall be deemed not to have been made, by a taxpayer before the property is considered to have become available for use by the taxpayer, determined without reference to paragraphs 13(27)(c) and (28)(d)."

S. 127(11.2) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 104(7), applicable with respect to property acquired and expenditures made after 1989.

Related Sections: S. 13(26)-(31); s. 37(1.2) Deemed time of capital expenditure; s. 127(9), "certified property", "first term shared-use-equipment", "qualified property"; s. 248(19) When property available for use.

Interpretation Bulletins: Primary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) Scientific Research and Experimental Development Expenditures.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2005-01, Shared-use equipment.

Tax Window Files: ITCs — Property Not Previously, September 9, 1992, CRA Document No. 9220985.

► 127(11.3) ◄

(11.3) Decertification of approved project property. For the purposes of the definition "approved project property" in subsection (9), a property that has been certified by the Minister of Regional Industrial Expansion, the Minister of Industry, Science and Technology or the member of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada appointed to be the Minister for the purposes of the Atlantic Canada Opportunities Agency Act may have its certification revoked by the latter Minister where

(a) an incorrect statement was made in the furnishing of information for the purpose of obtaining the certificate, or

(b) the taxpayer does not conform to the plan described in that definition, and a certificate that has been so revoked shall be void from the time of its issue.

► 127(11.4) ◄

(11.4) Special rule for eligible salary and wages — apprentices. For the purpose of the definition "eligible salary and wages" in subsection (9), the eligible salary and wages payable by a taxpayer in a taxation year to an eligible apprentice in respect of the eligible apprentice's employment in the taxation year is, if the eligible apprentice is employed by any other taxpayer who is related to the taxpayer (including a partnership that has a member that is related to the taxpayer) in the calendar year that includes the end of the taxpayer's taxation year, deemed to be nil unless the taxpayer is designated in prescribed form by all of those related taxpayers to be the only employer of the eligible apprentice for the purpose of the taxpayer applying that definition to the salary and wages payable by the taxpayer to the eligible apprentice in that taxation year, in which case

(a) the eligible salary and wages payable by the taxpayer in the taxation year to the eligible apprentice in respect of the eligible apprentice's employment in the taxation year shall be the amount determined without reference to this subsection; and

(b) the eligible salary and wages payable to the eligible apprentice by each of the other related taxpayers in their respective taxation years that end in the calendar year is deemed to be nil.

History: S. 127(11.4) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 34(11), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006.

S. 127(11.4) was repealed by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 33(5), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127(11.4) formerly read:

"(11.4) Reclassified expenditures. Paragraph (m) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection (9) does not apply to an expenditure incurred in a taxation year by a taxpayer if the expenditure is reclassified by the Minister on an assessment of the taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for the year, or on a determination that no tax under this Part is payable for the year by the taxpayer, as an expenditure in respect of scientific research and experimental development."

S. 127(11.4) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 33(4), applicable to the 1996 taxation year. S. 127(11.4) formerly read:

"(11.4) Reclassified expenditures. Paragraph (e) of the definition 'qualified expenditure' in subsection (9) does not apply to an expenditure incurred in a taxation year by a taxpayer where the expenditure is reclassified by the Minister on an assessment of the taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for the year, or on a determination that no tax under this Part is payable for the year by the taxpayer, as an expenditure in respect of scientific research and experimental development."

S. 127(11.4) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(24), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

S. 127(11.4) formerly read:

"(11.4) Reclassified expenditures. Paragraph (c) of the definition 'qualified expenditure' in subsection (9) does not apply to an expenditure incurred in a taxation year by a taxpayer where the expenditure is reclassified by the Minister on an assessment of the taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for the year, or on a determination that no tax under this Part is payable for the year by the taxpayer, as an expenditure in respect of scientific research and experimental development."

S. 127(11.4) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 21, s. 61(4), applicable after February 21, 1994, to expenditures incurred at any time except that, for an expenditure incurred by a taxpayer in a taxation year ending before February 22, 1994, the taxpayer may file the prescribed form referred to in paragraph (c) of the definition "qualified expenditure" in subsection 127(9) of the Act by the later of the day referred to in that paragraph and the day that is 90 days after this Act is assented to (June 15, 1994).

► 127(11.5) ◄

(11.5) Adjustments to qualified expenditures. For the purpose of the definition "qualified expenditure" in subsection (9),

(a) the amount of an expenditure (other than a prescribed proxy amount or an amount described in paragraph (b)) incurred by a taxpayer in a taxation year is deemed to be the amount of the expenditure, determined without reference to subsections 13(7.1) and (7.4) and after the application of subsection (11.6); and

(b) the amount of an expenditure incurred by a taxpayer in the taxation year that ends coincidentally with the end of the first period (within the meaning assigned in the definition "first term shared-use-equipment" in subsection (9)) or the second period (within the meaning assigned in the definition "second term shared-use-equipment" in subsection (9)) in respect of first term shared-use-equipment or second term shared-use-equipment, respectively, of the taxpayer is deemed to be 1/4 of the capital cost of the equipment determined after the application of subsection (11.6) in accordance with the following rules:

(i) the capital cost to the taxpayer shall be computed as if no amount were added thereto because of section 21, and

(ii) the capital cost to the taxpayer is determined without reference to subsections 13(7.1) and (7.4).

History: S. 127(11.5) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(24), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

Related Sections: S. 12(1)(x)(vi) Inducement, reimbursement, etc.; s. 127(11.6) Non-arm's length costs; s. 127(18) Reduction of qualified expenditures.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2005-01, Shared-use equipment.

Tax Window Files: Investment Tax Credits — Reduction in Qualified Expenditures for Assistance and Contract Payments, April 29, 1999, CRA Document No. 9911816.

► 127(11.6) ◄

(11.6) Non-arm's length costs. For the purpose of subsection (11.5), where

(a) a taxpayer would, if this Act were read without reference to subsection (26), incur at any time an expenditure as consideration for a person or partnership (referred to in this subsection as the "supplier") rendering a service (other than a service rendered by a person as an employee of the taxpayer) or providing a property to the taxpayer, and

(b) at that time the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length with the supplier, the amount of the expenditure incurred by the taxpayer for the service or property and the capital cost to the taxpayer of the property are deemed to be

(c) in the case of a service rendered to the taxpayer, the lesser of

(i) the amount of the expenditure otherwise incurred by the taxpayer for the service, and

(ii) the adjusted service cost to the supplier of rendering the service, and

(d) in the case of a property sold to the taxpayer, the lesser of

(i) the capital cost to the taxpayer of the property otherwise determined, and

(ii) the adjusted selling cost to the supplier of the property.

History: S. 127(11.6) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(24), applicable to expenditures incurred in taxation years that begin after 1995.

Related Sections: S. 127(11.7) Definitions; s. 127(11.8) Interpretation for non-arm's length costs; s. 127(24) Exclusion from qualified expenditure.

► 127(11.7) ◄

(11.7) Definitions. The definitions in this subsection apply in this subsection and subsection (11.6).

Related Sections: S. 127(11.8) Interpretation for non-arm's length costs; s. 257 Negative amounts.

"adjusted selling cost" — "adjusted selling cost" to a person or partnership (referred to in this definition as the "supplier") of a property is the amount determined by the formula

A – B

where

A is

(a) where the property is purchased from another person or partnership with which the supplier does not deal at arm's length, the lesser of

(i) the cost to the supplier of the property, and

(ii) the adjusted selling cost to the other person or partnership of the property, and

(b) in any other case, the cost to the supplier of the property, and for the purpose of paragraph (b),

(c) where part of the cost to a supplier of a particular property is attributable to another property acquired by the supplier from a person or partnership with which the supplier does not deal at arm's length, that part of the cost is deemed to be the lesser of

(i) the amount of that part of the cost otherwise determined, and

(ii) the adjusted selling cost to the person or the partnership of the other property,

(d) where part of the cost to a supplier of a property is attributable to a service (other than a service rendered by a person as an employee of the supplier) rendered to the supplier by a person or partnership with which the supplier does not deal at arm's length, that part of the cost is deemed to be the lesser of

(i) the amount of that part of the cost otherwise determined, and

(ii) the adjusted service cost to the person or partnership of rendering the service, and

(e) no part of the cost to a supplier of a property that is attributable to remuneration based on profits or a bonus paid or payable to an employee of the supplier shall be included, and

B is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of government assistance or non-government assistance that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the property and that the supplier has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive.

History: S. 127(11.7) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(24), applicable to expenditures incurred in taxation years that begin after 1995.

"adjusted service cost" — "adjusted service cost" to a person or partnership (referred to in this definition as the "supplier") of rendering a particular service is the amount determined by the formula:

A – B – C – D – E

where

A is the cost to the supplier of rendering the particular service,

B is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the cost to the supplier for a service (other than a service rendered by a person as an employee of the supplier) rendered by a person or partnership that does not deal at arm's length with the supplier to the extent that the cost is incurred for the purpose of rendering the particular service

exceeds

(b) the adjusted service cost to the person or partnership referred to in paragraph (a) of rendering the service referred to in that paragraph to the supplier,

C is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, by which (a) the cost to the supplier of a property acquired by the supplier from a person or partnership that does not deal at arm's length with the supplier

exceeds

(b) the adjusted selling cost to the person or partnership referred to in paragraph (a) of the property, to the extent that the excess relates to the cost of rendering the particular service,

D is the total of all amounts each of which is remuneration based on profits or a bonus paid or payable to an employee of the supplier to the extent that it is included in the cost to the supplier of rendering the particular service, and

E is the total of all amounts each of which is government assistance or non-government assistance that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of rendering the particular service and that the supplier has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive.

► 127(11.8) ◄

(11.8) Interpretation for non-arm's length costs. For the purposes of this subsection and subsections (11.6) and (11.7),

(a) the cost to a person or partnership (referred to in this paragraph as the "supplier") of rendering a service or providing a property to another person or partnership (referred to in this paragraph as the "recipient") with which the supplier does not deal at arm's length does not include,

(i) where the cost to the recipient of the service rendered or property provided by the supplier would, but for this paragraph, be a cost to the recipient incurred in rendering a particular service or providing a particular property to a person or partnership with which the recipient does not deal at arm's length, any expenditure of the supplier to the extent that it would, if it were incurred by the recipient in rendering the particular service or providing the particular property, be excluded from a cost to the recipient because of this paragraph, and

(ii) in any other case, any expenditure of the supplier to the extent that it would, if it were incurred by the recipient, not be a qualified expenditure of the recipient;

(b) paragraph 69(1)(c) does not apply in determining the cost of a property; and

(c) the leasing of a property is deemed to be the rendering of a service.

History: S. 127(11.8) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(24), applicable to expenditures incurred in taxation years that begin after 1995.

Tax Window Files: ITCs — Non-Arm's Length Lease of Used Equipment, February 15, 2007, CRA Document No. 2006-020676117.

► 127(12) ◄

(12) Interpretation. For the purposes of subsection 13(7.1), where, pursuant to a designation or an allocation from a trust or partnership, an amount is required by subsection (7) or (8) to be added in computing the investment tax credit of a taxpayer at the end of the taxpayer's taxation year, the portion thereof that can reasonably be considered to relate to depreciable property shall be deemed to have been received by the partnership or trust, as the case may be, at the end of its fiscal period in respect of which the designation or allocation was made as assistance from a government for the acquisition of depreciable property.

► 127(12.1) ◄

(12.1) Idem. For the purposes of section 37, where, pursuant to a designation or an allocation from a trust or partnership, an amount is required by subsection (7) or (8) to be added in computing the investment tax credit of a taxpayer at the end of the taxpayer's taxation year, the portion thereof that may reasonably be regarded as relating to expenditures of a current nature in respect of scientific research and experimental development that are qualified expenditures shall, at the end of the fiscal period of the trust or partnership, as the case may be, in respect of which the designation or allocation was made, reduce the total of such expenditures of a current nature as may be claimed by the trust or partnership in respect of scientific research and experimental development.

Tax Window Files: Investment Tax Credits Allocated to Members of Partnership, October 16, 1997, CRA Document No. 9710866.

► 127(12.2) ◄

(12.2) Idem. For the purposes of paragraphs 53(2)(c), (h) and (k), where in a taxation year a taxpayer has deducted under subsection (5) an amount that may reasonably be regarded as attributable to amounts included in computing the investment tax credit of the taxpayer at the end of the year in respect of property acquired, or an expenditure made, in a subsequent taxation year, the taxpayer shall be deemed to have made the deduction under that subsection in that subsequent taxation year.

► 127(12.3) ◄

(12.3) Idem. For the purposes of the determination of J in the definition "cumulative Canadian exploration expense" in subsection 66.1(6), where, pursuant to a designation by a trust, an amount is required by subsection (7) to be added in computing the investment tax credit of a taxpayer at the end of the taxpayer's taxation year, the portion thereof that can reasonably be considered to relate to a qualified Canadian exploration expenditure of the trust for a taxation year shall be deemed to have been received by the trust at the end of its taxation year in respect of which the designation was made as assistance from a government in respect of that expenditure.

► 127(13) ◄

(13) Agreement to transfer qualified expenditures. Where a taxpayer (referred to in this subsection and subsections (15) and (16) as the "transferor") and another taxpayer (referred to in this subsection and subsection (15) as the "transferee") file with the Minister an agreement or an amended agreement in respect of a particular taxation year of the transferor, the least of

(a) the amount specified in the agreement for the purpose of this subsection,

(b) the amount that but for the agreement would be the transferor's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of the particular year, and

(c) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount that, if the transferor were dealing at arm's length with the transferee, would be a contract payment

(i) for the performance of scientific research and experimental development for, or on behalf of, the transferee,

(ii) that is paid by the transferee to the transferor on or before the day that is 180 days after the end of the particular year, and

(iii) that would be in respect of

(A) a qualified expenditure that

(I) would be incurred by the transferor in the particular year (if this Act were read without reference to subsections (26) and 78(4)) in respect of that portion of the scientific research and experimental development that was performed at a time when the transferor did not deal at arm's length with the transferee, and

(II) is paid by the transferor on or before the day that is 180 days after the end of the particular year, or

(B) an amount added because of this subsection to the transferor's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of the particular year where the amount is attributable to an expenditure in respect of the scientific research and experimental development is deemed to be

(d) an amount determined in respect of the transferor for the particular year for the purpose of determining the value of C in the definition "SR&ED qualified expenditure pool" in subsection (9), and

(e) an amount determined in respect of the transferee for the transferee's first taxation year that ends at or after the end of the particular year for the purpose of determining the value of B in the definition "SR&ED qualified expenditure pool" in subsection (9), and where the total of all amounts each of which is an amount specified in an agreement filed with the Minister under this subsection in respect of a particular taxation year of a transferor exceeds the amount that would be the transferor's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of the particular year if no agreement were filed with the Minister in respect of the particular year, the least of the amounts determined under paragraphs (a) to (c) in respect of each such agreement is deemed to be nil.

History: S. 127(13) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(25), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

Related Sections: S. 37(1)(e)(iii) Scientific research and experimental development; s. 127(8)(a) Investment tax credit of partnership; s. 127(14) Identification of amounts transferred; s. 127(15) Invalid agreements; s. 127(16) Non-arm's length parties; s. 127(17) Assessment; s. 127(29)(c) Recapture of investment tax credit of allocating taxpayer.

Forms: T1146.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2000-04R2, Recapture of Investment Tax Credit.

Tax Window Files: Municipal Election Campaign Fund, February 21, 2001, CRA Document No. 2000-0051515; Transfer of SR&ED Expenditures — Ownership Rights, September 14, 2000, CRA Document No. 2000-0006845.

► 127(14) ◄

(14) Identification of amounts transferred. Where

(a) a transferor and a transferee have filed an agreement under subsection (13) in respect of a taxation year of the transferor,

(b) the agreement includes a statement identifying the amount specified in the agreement for the purpose of subsection (13), or a part of that amount, as being related to

(i) a particular qualified expenditure included in the value of A in the formula in the definition "SR&ED qualified expenditure pool" in subsection (9) for the purpose of determining the transferor's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of the year, or

(ii) a particular amount included in the value of B in the formula in that definition for the purpose of determining the transferor's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of the year that is deemed by paragraph (d) to be a qualified expenditure, and

(c) the total of all amounts so identified in agreements filed by the transferor under subsection (13) as being related to the particular expenditure or the particular amount does not exceed the particular expenditure or the particular amount, as the case may be,

for the purposes of this section (other than the description of A in the definition "SR&ED qualified expenditure pool" in subsection (9)) and section 127.1,

(d) the amount so identified that is included in the value of B in the formula in that definition for the purpose of determining the transferee's SR&ED qualified expenditure pool at the end of the taxation year of the transferee is deemed to be a qualified expenditure either of a current nature or of a capital nature, incurred by the transferee in that year, where the particular expenditure or the particular amount was an expenditure of a current nature or of a capital nature, as the case may be, and

(e) except for the purpose of paragraph (b), the amount of the transferor's qualified expenditures of a current nature incurred in the taxation year of the transferor in respect of which the agreement is made is deemed not to exceed the amount by which the amount of such expenditures otherwise determined exceeds the total of all amounts identified under paragraph (b) by the transferor in agreements filed under subsection (13) in respect of the year as being related to expenditures of a current nature.

History: S. 127(14) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(25), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

Tax Window Files: Transfer of SR&ED Expenditures — Ownership Rights, September 14, 2000, CRA Document No. 2000-0006845.

► 127(15) ◄

(15) Invalid agreements. An agreement or amended agreement referred to in subsection (13) between a transferor and a transferee is deemed not to have been filed with the Minister for the purpose of that subsection where

(a) it is not in prescribed form;

(b) it is not filed

(i) on or before the transferor's filing-due date for the particular taxation year to which the agreement relates,

(ii) in the period within which the transferor may serve a notice of objection to an assessment of tax payable under this Part for the particular year, or

(iii) in the period within which the transferee may serve a notice of objection to an assessment of tax payable under this Part for its first taxation year that ends at or after the end of the transferor's particular year;

(c) it is not accompanied by,

(i) where the transferor is a corporation and its directors are legally entitled to administer its affairs, a certified copy of their resolution authorizing the agreement to be made,

(ii) where the transferor is a corporation and its directors are not legally entitled to administer its affairs, a certified copy of the document by which the person legally entitled to administer its affairs authorized the agreement to be made,

(iii) where the transferee is a corporation and its directors are legally entitled to administer its affairs, a certified copy of their resolution authorizing the agreement to be made, and

(iv) where the transferee is a corporation and its directors are not legally entitled to administer its affairs, a certified copy of the document by which the person legally entitled to administer its affairs authorized the agreement to be made; or

(d) an agreement amending the agreement has been filed in accordance with subsection (13) and this subsection, except where subsection (16) applies to the original agreement.

History: S. 127(15) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(25), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

► 127(16) ◄

(16) Non-arm's length parties. Where a taxpayer does not deal at arm's length with another taxpayer as a result of a transaction, event or arrangement, or a series of transactions or events, the principal purpose of which can reasonably be considered to have been to enable the taxpayers to enter into an agreement referred to in subsection (13), for the purpose of paragraph (13)(e) the least of the amounts determined under paragraphs (13)(a) to (c) in respect of the agreement is deemed to be nil.

History: S. 127(16) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(25), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

Related Sections: S. 248(10) Series of transactions.

► 127(17) ◄

(17) Assessment. Notwithstanding subsections 152(4) and (5), such assessment of the tax, interest and penalties payable by any taxpayer in respect of any taxation year that began before the day an agreement or amended agreement is filed under subsection (13) or (20) shall be made as is necessary to take into account the agreement or the amended agreement.

History: S. 127(17) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(25), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

S. 127(17) was repealed by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 15(13), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1993. S. 127(17) formerly read:

"(17) Definition of 'tax otherwise payable'. In this section, 'tax otherwise payable' by a taxpayer under this Part for a taxation year means the amount that would, but for subsection (5) and sections 120.1 and 120.2, be the tax payable by the taxpayer under this Part for the year."

► 127(18) ◄

(18) Reduction of qualified expenditures. Where on or before the filing-due date for a taxation year of a person or partnership (referred to in this subsection as the "taxpayer") the taxpayer has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive a particular amount that is government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of scientific research and experimental development, the amount by which the particular amount exceeds all amounts applied for preceding taxation years under this subsection or subsection (19) or (20) in respect of the particular amount shall be applied to reduce the taxpayer's qualified expenditures otherwise incurred in the year that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the scientific research and experimental development.

History: S. 127(18) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(25), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

Related Sections: S. 127(9), "contract payment", "government assistance", "investment tax credit", "non-government assistance", "qualified expenditure"; s. 127(10.7)(c), (d) Further additions to investment tax credit; s. 127(11.5) Adjustments to qualified expenditures; s. 127(21) Failure to allocate; s. 127(23) Partnership's taxation year; s. 248(1), "filing-due date".

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2005-01, Shared-use equipment; Application Policy 2005-02, General Rules Concerning the Treatment of Government and Non Government Assistance.

Tax Window Files: Reduction in qualified expenditures under 127(18), June 18, 2007, CRA Document No. 2007-0226411E5; SR&ED: Repayable Grants, October 7, 2005, CRA Document No. 2005-0141131C6; Scientific Research and Experimental Development — Government Assistance, December 23, 2004, CRA Document No. 2004-0095621I7; Research and Development, September 11, 2001, CRA Document No. 2001-0078855; Investment Tax Credits — Reduction in Qualified Expenditures for Assistance and Contract Payments, April 29, 1999, CRA Document No. 9911816; Government Assistance, June 22, 1999, CRA Document No. 9833526.

► 127(19) ◄

(19) Reduction of qualified expenditures. Where on or before the filing-due date for a taxation year of a person or partnership (referred to in this subsection as the "recipient") the recipient has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive a particular amount that is government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of scientific research and experimental development and the particular amount exceeds the total of

(a) all amounts applied for preceding taxation years under this subsection or subsection (18) or (20) in respect of the particular amount,

(b) the total of all amounts each of which would be a qualified expenditure that is incurred in the year by the recipient and that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the scientific research and experimental development if subsection (18) did not apply to the particular amount, and

(c) the total of all amounts each of which would, but for the application of this subsection to the particular amount, be a qualified expenditure

(i) that was incurred by a person or partnership in a taxation year of the person or partnership that ended in the recipient's taxation year, and

(ii) that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the scientific research and experimental development to the extent that it was performed by the person or partnership at a time when the person or partnership was not dealing at arm's length with the recipient, the particular amount shall be applied to reduce each qualified expenditure otherwise determined that is referred to in paragraph (c).

History: S. 127(19) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(25), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

Related Sections: S. 127(9), "contract payment", "government assistance", "investment tax credit", "non-government assistance", "qualified expenditure"; s. 127(21) Failure to allocate; s. 127(23) Partnership's taxation year; s. 248(1), "filing-due date".

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2005-02, General Rules Concerning the Treatment of Government and Non Government Assistance.

► 127(20) ◄

(20) Agreement to allocate. Where

(a) on or before the filing-due date for a taxation year of a person or partnership (referred to in this subsection and subsection (22) as the "taxpayer") the taxpayer has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive a particular amount that is government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of scientific research and experimental development,

(b) subsection (19) does not apply to the particular amount in respect of the year, and

(c) the taxpayer and a person or partnership (referred to in this subsection and subsection (22) as the "transferee") with which the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length file an agreement or amended agreement with the Minister, the lesser of

(d) the amount specified in the agreement, and

(e) the total of all amounts each of which would, but for the agreement, be a qualified expenditure

(i) that was incurred by the transferee in a particular taxation year of the transferee that ended in the taxpayer's taxation year, and

(ii) that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the scientific research and experimental development to the extent that it was performed by the transferee at a time when the transferee was not dealing at arm's length with the taxpayer shall be applied to reduce the qualified expenditures otherwise determined that are described in paragraph (e).

History: S. 127(20) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(25), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

Related Sections: S. 127(9), "contract payment", "government assistance", "investment tax credit", "non-government assistance", "qualified expenditure"; s. 127(17) Assessment; s. 127(21) Failure to allocate; s. 127(22) Invalid agreements; s. 127(23) Partnership's taxation year; s. 248(1), "filing-due date".

Forms: T1145.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2005-02, General Rules Concerning the Treatment of Government and Non Government Assistance.

► 127(21) ◄

(21) Failure to allocate. Where on or before the filing-due date for a taxation year of a person or partnership (referred to in this subsection as the "recipient") the recipient has received, is entitled to receive or can reasonably be expected to receive a particular amount that is government assistance, non-government assistance or a contract payment that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of scientific research and experimental development and subsection (19) does not apply to the particular amount in respect of the year, the lesser of

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is a qualified expenditure

(i) that was incurred by a particular person or partnership in a taxation year of the particular person or partnership that ended in the recipient's taxation year, and

(ii) that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the scientific research and experimental development to the extent that it was performed by the particular person or partnership at a time when the particular person or partnership was not dealing at arm's length with the recipient, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which the particular amount exceeds the total of amounts applied for the year and preceding taxation years under subsection (18), (19) or (20) in respect of the particular amount is deemed for the purposes of this section to be an amount of government assistance received at the end of the particular year by the particular person or partnership in respect of the scientific research and experimental development.

History: S. 127(21) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(25), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

Related Sections: S. 127(9), "contract payment", "government assistance", "non-government assistance", "qualified expenditure"; s. 127(23) Partnership's taxation year; s. 248(1), "filing-due date".

► 127(22) ◄

(22) Invalid agreements. An agreement or amended agreement referred to in subsection (20) between a taxpayer and a transferee is deemed not to have been filed with the Minister where

(a) it is not in prescribed form;

(b) it is not filed

(i) on or before the taxpayer's filing-due date for the particular taxation year to which the agreement relates,

(ii) in the period within which the taxpayer may serve a notice of objection to an assessment of tax payable under this Part for the particular year, or

(iii) in the period within which the transferee may serve a notice of objection to an assessment of tax payable under this Part for its first taxation year that ends at or after the end of the taxpayer's particular year;

(c) it is not accompanied by,

(i) where the taxpayer is a corporation and its directors are legally entitled to administer its affairs, a certified copy of their resolution authorizing the agreement to be made,

(ii) where the taxpayer is a corporation and its directors are not legally entitled to administer its affairs, a certified copy of the document by which the person legally entitled to administer its affairs authorized the agreement to be made,

(iii) where the transferee is a corporation and its directors are legally entitled to administer its affairs, a certified copy of their resolution authorizing the agreement to be made, and

(iv) where the transferee is a corporation and its directors are not legally entitled to administer its affairs, a certified copy of the document by which the person legally entitled to administer its affairs authorized the agreement to be made; or

(d) an agreement amending the agreement has been filed in accordance with subsection (20) and this subsection.

History: S. 127(22) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(25), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

Related Sections: S. 127(23) Partnership's taxation year; s. 248(1), "filing-due date".

► 127(23) ◄

(23) Partnership's taxation year. For the purposes of subsections (18) to (22), the taxation year of a partnership is deemed to be its fiscal period and its filing-due date for a taxation year is deemed to be the day that would be its filing-due date for the year if it were a corporation.

History: S. 127(23) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(25), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

Related Sections: S. 248(1), "filing-due date".

► 127(24) ◄

(24) Exclusion from qualified expenditure. Where

(a) a person or partnership (referred to in this subsection as the "first person") does not deal at arm's length with another person or partnership (referred to in this subsection as the "second person"),

(b) there is an arrangement under which an amount is paid or payable by the first person to a person or partnership with which the first person deals at arm's length and an amount is received or receivable by the second person from a person or partnership with which the second person deals at arm's length, and

(c) one of the main purposes of the arrangement can reasonably be considered to be to cause the amount paid or payable by the first person to be a qualified expenditure, the amount paid or payable by the first person is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure.

History: S. 127(24) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(25), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

Related Sections: S. 127(9), "qualified expenditure"; s. 127(11.6) Non-arm's length costs.

► 127(25) ◄

(25) Deemed contract payment. Where

(a) a person or partnership (referred to in this subsection as the "first person") deals at arm's length with another person or partnership (referred to in this subsection as the "second person"),

(b) there is an arrangement under which an amount is paid or payable by the first person to a person or partnership (other than the second person) and a particular amount is received or receivable in respect of scientific research and experimental development by the second person from a person or partnership that is not a taxable supplier in respect of the particular amount, and the amount received or receivable by the second person is deemed to be a contract payment in respect of scientific research and experimental development.

(c) one of the main purposes of the arrangement can reasonably be considered to be to cause the amount received or receivable by the second person not to be a contract payment,

History: S. 127(25) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(25), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995, subject to the following application enacted by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 306(1), deemed to have come into force on June 20, 1996.

Sec. 306(1), Chap. 19, S.C. 1998

(26.1) [A]n amount paid or payable by a person or partnership to a taxpayer with whom the person or partnership does not deal at arm's length otherwise

(a) would be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would not be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer, or

(b) would not be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership but would be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer,

the amount is deemed not to be a qualified expenditure of the person or partnership and not to be a contract payment received or receivable by the taxpayer.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2002-03, Taxable Supplies Rules.

► 127(26) ◄

(26) Unpaid amounts. For the purposes of subsections (5) to (25) and section 127.1, a taxpayer's expenditure described in paragraph 37(1)(a) that is unpaid on the day that is 180 days after the end of the taxation year in which the expenditure is otherwise incurred is deemed

(a) not to have been incurred in the year; and

(b) to be incurred at the time it is paid.

History: S. 127(26) was added by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 30(25), applicable to amounts that are incurred at any time, except that it does not apply to amounts that are paid on or before the day that is 90 days after June 20, 1996.

Related Sections: S. 127(11.6) Non-arm's length costs; s. 127(27) Recapture of investment tax credit.

► 127(27) ◄

(27) Recapture of investment tax credit. Where

(a) a taxpayer acquired a particular property from a person or partnership in a taxation year of the taxpayer or in any of the 10 preceding taxation years,

(b) the cost of the particular property was a qualified expenditure to the taxpayer,

(c) the cost of the particular property is included in an amount, a percentage of which can reasonably be considered to be included in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the taxation year, and

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Paragraphs 127(27)(b) and (c) of the Act are replaced by the following:

(b) the cost, or a portion of the cost, of the particular property was a qualified expenditure, or would if this Act were read without reference to subsection (26) be a qualified expenditure, to the taxpayer,

(c) the cost, or the portion of the cost, of the particular property is included, or would if this Act were read without reference to subsection (26) be included, in an amount, a percentage of which can reasonably be considered to be included in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the taxation year, and

Applicable: To dispositions and conversions that occur after December 20, 2002.

Explanatory Note:

Investment Tax Credits

Subsections 127(5) to (35) of the Act provide rules concerning investment tax credits.

Subsection 127(27) — Recapture of Investment Tax Credit

Subsection 127(27) of the Act provides for the recapture of investment tax credits in respect of property used for scientific research and experimental development (SR&ED) where the property is sold or converted to commercial use. This recapture is effected by way of an addition to tax payable of an amount equal to the lesser of

- the amount that can reasonably be considered to have been included in the taxpayer's investment tax credit in respect of the particular property (i.e., the amount that is obtained by multiplying the amount of the qualified expenditure by the ITC rate that applied to that expenditure), and
- the amount that is obtained by multiplying the ITC rate (that applied to the qualified expenditure) by
  - the proceeds of disposition of the particular property (or of property that incorporates the particular property) if the property is disposed of to a person who deals at arm's length with the taxpayer. (See paragraph 127(27)(e) of the Act.)
  - in any other case, the fair market value of the particular property (or the other property) at the time of its conversion or disposition. (See paragraph 127(27)(f) of the Act.)

Concern has been expressed about the application of subsection 127(27) of the Act in the context of shared-use equipment, only 25% or 50% of the cost of which is a "qualified expenditure" under subsection 127(9) because of subsection 127(11.5) of the Act. This concern is illustrated by the following example.

Example:

- Year 1: Taxpayer acquires shared-use equipment for $100. The ITC rate is 20% and the taxpayer claims an ITC for first term shared-use-equipment of $5 (20% × $25 [1/4 of its $100 cost under paragraph 127(11.5)(c)]).
- Year 2: Taxpayer claims an ITC for second term shared-use-equipment of $5 (20% × $25 [1/4 of its $100 cost under paragraph 127(11.5)(c)]).

- Year 4: Taxpayer sells the property for $80.
- Recapture under subsection 127(27):

$10 being the lesser of:

- $10 (20% × $100 × 50% because the property is second term shared-use-equipment), and
- $16 (20% × $80 proceeds of disposition).

However, in this example the $16 amount should be $8 given that only a portion (50%) of the cost of the second term shared-use-equipment is a qualified expenditure.

As well, the government is concerned that subsection 127(27) should apply where the disposition or conversion relates to property acquired pursuant to an expenditure that would have been a qualified expenditure incurred in a taxation year but for the application of the 180-day-unpaid-amount rule in subsection 127(26) of the Act.

To address these concerns, subsection 127(27) is amended in four respects.

First, paragraphs 127(27)(b) and (c) are amended to refer to the "cost, or a portion of the cost, of the particular property" instead of to the "cost of the particular property".

Second, paragraphs 127(27)(b) and (c) are amended to provide that the reference therein to a qualified expenditure included in a taxpayer's investment tax credit be read without reference to subsection 127(26) relating to unpaid amounts.

Third, consequential changes are made to the wording between paragraphs 127(27)(d) and (e) of the Act. In particular, the first of the two amounts in the "lesser of" formula is moved to new paragraph 127(27)(e). The second of these two amounts is described in amended paragraph 127(27)(f), which combines former paragraphs 127(27)(e) and (f).

Fourth, paragraph 127(27)(f), which combines former paragraphs 127(27) (e) and (f), is changed to account for circumstances where the property that is disposed of or converted is first term shared-use-equipment or second term shared-use-equipment.

These amendments apply to dispositions and conversions that occur after December 20, 2002.

(d) in the year and after February 23, 1998, the taxpayer converts to commercial use, or disposes of without having previously converted to commercial use, the particular property or another property that incorporates the particular property,

there shall be added to the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year the lesser of the amount that can reasonably be considered to be included in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit in respect of the particular property and the amount that is the percentage (described in paragraph (c)) of

(e) if the particular property or the other property is disposed of to a person who deals at arm's length with the taxpayer, the proceeds of disposition of that property, and

(f) in any other case, the fair market value of the particular property or the other property at the time of the conversion or disposition.

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

The portion of subsection 127(27) of the Act after paragraph (d) is replaced by the following:

there shall be added to the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year the lesser of

(e) the amount that can reasonably be considered to be included in the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of any taxation year, or that would be so included if this Act were read without reference to subsection (26), in respect of the particular property, and

(f) the amount that is the percentage — that is the sum of each percentage described in paragraph (c) that has been applied to compute the taxpayer's investment tax credit in respect of the particular property — of

(i) in the case where the particular property or the other property is disposed of to a person who deals at arm's length with the taxpayer,

(A) the proceeds of disposition of the property, if the property

(I) is the particular property and is neither first term shared-use equipment nor second term shared-use equipment, or

(II) is the other property,

(B) 25% of the proceeds of disposition of the property, if the property is the particular property, is first term shared-use equipment and is not second term shared-use equipment, and

(C) 50% of the proceeds of disposition of the property, if the property is the particular property and is second term shared-use equipment, and

(ii) in the case where the particular property or the other property is converted to commercial use or is disposed of to a person who does not deal at arm's length with the taxpayer,

(A) the fair market value of the property, if the property

(I) is the particular property and is neither first term shared-use equipment nor second term shared-use equipment, or

(II) is the other property,

(B) 25% of the fair market value of the property at the time of its conversion or disposition, if the particular property is first term shared-use equipment and is not second term shared-use equipment, and

(C) 50% of the fair market of the property at the time of its conversion or disposition, if the particular property is second term shared-use equipment.

Applicable: To dispositions and conversions that occur after December 20, 2002.

Explanatory Note: See the Explanatory Note following the amendment to paragraphs 127(27)(b) and (c).

History: S. 127(27) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 48(2), applicable to dispositions and conversions of property that occur after February 23, 1998.

Editorial Note: Subsection 127(27) provides for a recapture of investment tax credit claims on the cost of property that is converted to commercial use or sold within 20 years (10 years prior to 2006 — see s. 127(36)). It overrides the Tax Court of Canada's decision in Consoltex Inc. v. The Queen, 97 DTC 724. Subsection 127(28) provides a parallel rule for partnerships.

Related Sections: S. 37(1)(c.2) Scientific research and experimental development; s. 127(28) Recapture of investment tax credit of partnership; s. 127(29) Recapture of investment tax credit of allocating taxpayer; s. 127(32) Meaning of cost; s. 127(33) Certain non-arm's length transfers; s. 127(36) Transitional application of investment tax credit recapture.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2005-01, Shared-Use-Equipment; Application Policy 2002-02R2, Revision — Experimental Production and Commercial Production with Experimental Development Work — Allowable SR&ED Expenditures; Application Policy 2000-04R2, Recapture of Investment Tax Credit.

► 127(27.1) ◄

(27.1) Recapture of investment tax credit — child care space amount. There shall be added to a taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for a particular taxation year, the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined under subsection (27.12) in respect of a disposition by the taxpayer in the particular taxation year of a property a percentage of the cost of which can reasonably be considered to have been included in the child care space amount of the taxpayer for a taxation year, if the property was acquired in respect of a child care space that was created at a time that is less than 60 months before the disposition.

History: S. 127(27.1) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(16), applicable on and after March 19, 2007.

► 127(27.11) ◄

(27.11) Disposition. For the purpose of subsection (27.1),

(a) if a particular child care space, in respect of which any amount is included in the child care space amount of a taxpayer or a partnership for a taxation year or a fiscal period, ceases at any particular time to be available, the child care space is, except where the child care space has been disposed of by the taxpayer or the partnership before the particular time, deemed to be a property

(i) disposed of by the taxpayer or the partnership, as the case may be, at the particular time,

(ii) a percentage of the cost of which can reasonably be considered to be included in the child care space amount of the taxpayer or the partnership, as the case may be, for a taxation year or a fiscal period, and

(iii) acquired in respect of a child care space that was created at the time the child care space was created,

(b) child care spaces that cease to be available are deemed to so cease in reverse chronological order to their creation, and

(c) a property acquired by a taxpayer or a partnership in respect of a child care space is deemed to be disposed of by the taxpayer or the partnership, as the case may be, in a disposition described in clause (27.12)(b)(ii)(B) if the property is leased by the taxpayer or the partnership to a lessee for any purpose or is converted to a use by the taxpayer or the partnership other than to a use for the child care space.

History: S. 127(27.11) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(16), applicable on and after March 19, 2007.

► 127(27.12) ◄

(27.12) Amount of recapture. For the purposes of subsection (27.1) and (27.11), the amount determined under this subsection in respect of a disposition of a property by a taxpayer or a partnership is,

(a) where the property disposed of is a child care space, the amount that can reasonably be considered to have been included under paragraph (a.5) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection (9) in respect of the taxpayer or partnership in respect of the child care space, and

(b) in any other case, the lesser of,

(i) the amount that can reasonably be considered to have been included under paragraph (a.5) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection (9) in respect of the taxpayer or partnership in respect of the cost of the property, and

(ii) 25% of

(A) if the property, or a part of the property, is disposed of to a person who deals at arm's length with the taxpayer or the partnership, the proceeds of disposition of the property, or of the part of the property, and

(B) in any other case, the fair market value of the property or of the part of the property, at the time of the disposition.

History: S. 127(27.12) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(16), applicable on and after March 19, 2007.

► 127(28) ◄

(28) Recapture of investment tax credit of partnership. For the purpose of computing the amount determined under subsection (8) in respect of a partnership at the end of a particular fiscal period, where

(a) a particular property, the cost of which is a qualified expenditure, is acquired by the partnership from a person or partnership in the particular fiscal period or in any of the 10 preceding fiscal periods of the partnership,

(b) the cost of the particular property is included in an amount, a percentage of which can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount determined under subsection (8) in respect of the partnership at the end of a fiscal period, and

(c) in the particular fiscal period and after February 23, 1998, the partnership converts to commercial use, or disposes of without having previously converted to commercial use, the particular property or another property that incorporates the particular property,

there shall be deducted in computing the amount determined under subsection (8) in respect of the partnership at the end of the particular fiscal period the lesser of

(d) the amount that can reasonably be considered to have been included in respect of the particular property in computing the amount determined under subsection (8) in respect of the partnership, and

(e) the percentage (described in paragraph (b)) of

(i) where the particular property or the other property is disposed of to a person who deals at arm's length with the partnership, the proceeds of disposition of that property, and

(ii) in any other case, the fair market value of the particular property or the other property at the time of the conversion or disposition.

History: S. 127(28) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 48(2), applicable to dispositions and conversions of property that occur after February 23, 1998.

Editorial Note: See the editorial note under subsection 127(27).

Related Sections: S. 127(30) Addition to tax; s. 127(32) Meaning of cost; s. 127(33) Certain non-arm's length transfers; s. 127(36) Transitional application of investment tax credit recapture.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2000-04R2, Recapture of Investment Tax Credit; Application Policy 2002-02R2, Revision — Experimental Production and Commercial Production with Experimental Development Work — Allowable SR&ED Expenditures; Application Policy 2000-04R2, Recapture of Investment Tax Credit.

► 127(28.1) ◄

(28.1) Recapture of partnership's investment tax credits — child care property. For the purpose of computing the amount determined under subsection (8) in respect of a partnership at the end of a particular fiscal period of the partnership, there shall be deducted the total of all amounts, each of which is an amount determined under subsection (27.12) in respect of a disposition by the partnership in the particular fiscal period of a property a percentage of the cost of which can reasonably be considered to have been included in the child care space amount of the partnership for a fiscal period, if the property was acquired in respect of a child care space that was created at a time that is less than 60 months before the disposition.

History: S. 127(28.1) was added by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s 43(17), applicable on and after March 19, 2007.

► 127(29) ◄

(29) Recapture of investment tax credit of allocating taxpayer. Where

(a) a taxpayer acquired a particular property from a person or partnership in a taxation year or in any of the 10 preceding taxation years,

(b) the cost of the particular property was a qualified expenditure to the taxpayer,

(c) all or part of the qualified expenditure can reasonably be considered to have been the subject of an agreement made under subsection (13) by the taxpayer and another taxpayer (in this subsection referred to as the "transferee"), and

(d) in the year and after February 23, 1998, the taxpayer converts to commercial use, or disposes of without having previously converted to commercial use, the particular property or another property that incorporates the particular property,

there shall be added to the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year the lesser of

(e) the amount that can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the transferee's investment tax credit in respect of the qualified expenditure that was the subject of the agreement, and

(f) the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B - C$$

where

A is the percentage applied by the transferee in determining its investment tax credit in respect of the qualified expenditure that was the subject of the agreement,

B is

(i) where the particular property or the other property is disposed of to a person who deals at arm's length with the taxpayer, the proceeds of disposition of that property, and

(ii) in any other case, the fair market value of the particular property or the other property at the time of the conversion or disposition, and

C is the amount, if any, added to the taxpayer's tax payable under subsection (27) in respect of the particular property.

History: S. 127(29) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 48(2), applicable to dispositions and conversions of property that occur after February 23, 1998.

Editorial Note: Subsection 127(29) implements the same rule as subsection 127(27) when the original investment tax credit was transferred by agreement under subsection 127(13).

Related Sections: S. 37(1)(c.2) Scientific research and experimental development; s. 127(32) Meaning of cost; s. 127(33) Certain non-arm's length transfers; s. 127(36) Transitional application of investment tax credit recapture; s. 257 Negative amounts.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2002-02R2, Revision — Experimental Production and Commercial Production with Experimental Development Work — Allowable SR&ED Expenditures; Application Policy 2000-04R2, Recapture of Investment Tax Credit.

► 127(30) ◄

(30) Addition to tax. Where a taxpayer is a member of a partnership at the end of a fiscal period of the partnership, there shall be added to the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the taxpayer's taxation year in which that fiscal period ends the amount that can reasonably be considered to be the taxpayer's share of the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is the lesser of the amounts described in paragraphs (28)(d) and (e) in respect of the partnership in respect of the fiscal period,

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is the lesser of the amounts described in paragraphs (35)(c) and (d) in respect of the partnership in respect of the fiscal period, and

(iii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount required by subsection (28.1) to be deducted in computing the amount determined in respect of the partnership in respect of the fiscal period under subsection (8),

exceeds

(b) the amount that would be determined in respect of the partnership under subsection (8) if that subsection were read without reference to subsections (28), (28.1), and (35).

History: S. 127(30) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 35, s. 43(18), applicable on and after March 19, 2007. S. 127(30) formerly read:

"(30) Addition to tax. Where a taxpayer is a member of a partnership and the total of

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is the lesser of the amounts described in paragraphs (28)(d) and (e) in respect of a property of the partnership, and

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is the lesser of the amounts described in paragraphs (35)(c) and (d) in respect of a property of the partnership, exceeds the amount that would be determined in respect of the partnership under subsection (8) if that subsection were read without reference to subsections (28) and (35), the portion of the excess that can reasonably be considered to be the taxpayer's share of the excess shall be added to the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year."

S. 127(30) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 48(2), applicable to dispositions and conversions of property that occur after February 23, 1998.

Related Sections: S. 37(1)(c.3) Scientific research and experimental development; s. 53(1)(c)(xiii) Adjustments to cost base — Contributions of capital; s. 127(31) Tiered partnership.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2000-04R2, Recapture of Investment Tax Credit.

► 127(31) ◄

(31) Tiered partnership. Where a taxpayer is a member of a particular partnership that is a member of another partnership and an amount would be added to the particular partnership's tax payable under this Part for the year pursuant to subsection (30) if the particular partnership were a person and its fiscal period were its taxation year, that amount is deemed to be an amount that is the lesser of the amounts described in paragraphs (28)(d) and (e), in respect of a property of the particular partnership, that is required by subsection (28) to be deducted in computing the amount under subsection (8) in respect of the particular partnership at the end of the fiscal period.

History: S. 127(31) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 48(2), applicable to dispositions and conversions of property that occur after February 23, 1998.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2000-04R2, Recapture of Investment Tax Credit.

► 127(32) ◄

(32) Meaning of cost. For the purposes of subsections (27), (28) and (29), "cost of the particular property" to a taxpayer shall not exceed the amount paid by the taxpayer to acquire the particular property from a transferor of the particular property and, for greater certainty, does not include amounts paid by the taxpayer to maintain, modify or transform the particular property.

History: S. 127(32) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 48(2), applicable to dispositions and conversions of property that occur after February 23, 1998.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2000-04R2, Recapture of Investment Tax Credit.

► 127(33) ◄

(33) Certain non-arm's length transfers. Subsections (27) to (29), (34) and (35) do not apply to a taxpayer or partnership (in this subsection referred to as the "transferor") that disposes of a property to a person or partnership (in this subsection and subsections (34) and (35) referred to as the "purchaser"), that does not deal at arm's length with the transferor, if the purchaser acquired the property in circumstances where the cost of the property to the purchaser would have been an expenditure of the purchaser described in subclause 37(8)(a)(ii)(A)(III) or (B)(III) but for subparagraph 2902(b)(iii) of the Income Tax Regulations.

History: S. 127(33) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 48(2), applicable to dispositions and conversions of property that occur after February 23, 1998.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2000-04R2, Recapture of Investment Tax Credit.

► 127(34) ◄

(34) Recapture of investment tax credit. Where, at any particular time in a taxation year and after February 23, 1998, a purchaser (other than a partnership) converts to commercial use, or disposes of without having previously converted to commercial use, a property

(a) that was acquired by the purchaser in circumstances described in subsection (33) or that is another property that incorporates a property acquired in such circumstances; and

(b) that was first acquired, or that incorporates a property that was first acquired, by a person or partnership (in this subsection referred to as the "original user") with which the purchaser did not deal at arm's length at the time at which the purchaser acquired the property, in the original user's taxation year or fiscal period that includes the particular time (on the assumption that the original user had such a taxation year or fiscal period) or in any of the original user's 10 preceding taxation years or fiscal periods, there shall be added to the purchaser's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year the lesser of

(c) the amount

(i) included, in respect of the property, in the investment tax credit of the original user, or

(ii) where the original user is a partnership, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in respect of the property in computing the amount determined under subsection (8) in respect of the original user, and

(d) the amount determined by applying the percentage that was applied by the original user in determining the amount referred to in paragraph (c) to

(i) if the property or the other property is disposed of to a person who deals at arm's length with the purchaser, the proceeds of disposition of that property, and

(ii) in any other case, the fair market value of the property or the other property at the time of the conversion or disposition.

History: S. 127(34) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 48(2), applicable to dispositions and conversions of property that occur after February 23, 1998.

Related Sections: S. 37(1)(c.2) Scientific research and experimental development; s. 127(30) Addition to tax; s. 127(33) Certain non-arm's length transfers; s. 127(36) Transitional application of investment tax credit recapture.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2000-04R2, Recapture of Investment Tax Credit.

► 127(35) ◄

(35) Recapture of investment tax credit. Where, at any particular time in a fiscal period and after February 23, 1998, a purchaser is a partnership that converts to commercial use, or disposes of without having previously converted to commercial use, a property

(a) that was acquired by the purchaser in circumstances described in subsection (33) or that is another property that incorporates a property acquired in such circumstances, and

(b) that was first acquired, or that incorporates a property that was first acquired, by a person or partnership (in this subsection referred to as the "original user") with which the purchaser did not deal at arm's length at the time at which the purchaser acquired the property, in the original user's taxation year or fiscal period that includes the particular time (on the assumption that the original user had such a taxation year or fiscal period) or in any of the original user's 10 preceding taxation years or fiscal periods,

there shall be deducted in computing the amount determined under subsection (8) in respect of the purchaser at the end of the fiscal period the lesser of

(c) the amount

(i) included, in respect of the property, in the investment tax credit of the original user, or

(ii) where the original user is a partnership, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in respect of the property in computing the amount determined under subsection (8) in respect of the original user, and

(d) the amount determined by applying the percentage that was applied by the original user in determining the amount referred to in paragraph (c) to

(i) if the property or the other property is disposed of to a person who deals at arm's length with the purchaser, the proceeds of disposition of that property, and

(ii) in any other case, the fair market value of the property or the other property at the time of the conversion or disposition.

History: S. 127(35) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 48(2), applicable to dispositions and conversions of property that occur after February 23, 1998.

Related Sections: S. 127(30) Addition to tax; s. 127(33) Certain non-arm's length transfers; s. 127(36) Transitional application of investment tax credit recapture.

SR&ED Application Policies: Application Policy 2000-04R2, Recapture of Investment Tax Credit.

► 127(36) ◄

(36) Transitional application of investment tax credit recapture. For the purpose of applying each of subsection (27) or (29) in respect of a taxpayer, subsection (28) in respect of a partnership or subsection (34) or (35) in respect of a purchaser and an original user, as the case may be, (which taxpayer, partnership or original user is, in this subsection, referred to as the "taxpayer"), the reference to "10" in that subsection is to be read as a reference to the number that is the lesser of

(a) 20, and

(b) the number that is the total of 10 and the number of taxation years or fiscal periods, as the case may be, by which the number of taxation years or fiscal periods of the taxpayer that have ended after 1997 exceeds 11.

History: S. 127(36)(b) was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 40(10), applicable in respect of the 2008 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127(36)(b) formerly read:

"(b) the number that is the total of 10 and the number of taxation years or fiscal periods, as the case may be, by which the number of taxation years or fiscal periods of the taxpayer that have ended after 2005 exceeds 11."

S. 127(36) was added by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 75(5), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years.

SECTION 127.1:

► 127.1(1) ◄

(1) Refundable investment tax credit. Where a taxpayer (other than a person exempt from tax under section 149) files

(a) with the taxpayer's return of income (other than a return of income filed under subsection 70(2) or 104(23), paragraph 128(2)(f) or subsection 150(4)) for a taxation year, or

(b) with a prescribed form amending a return referred to in paragraph (a) a prescribed form containing prescribed information, the taxpayer is deemed to have paid on the taxpayer's balance-due day for the year an amount on account of the taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for the year equal to the lesser of

(c) the taxpayer's refundable investment tax credit for the year, and

(d) the amount designated by the taxpayer in the prescribed form.

History: S. 127.1(1)(a) was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 147(1), applicable to taxation years that begin after April 26, 1995. Paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(a) with the taxpayer's return of income (other than a return of income filed under subsection 70(2) or 104(23), paragraph 128(2)(e) or subsection 150(4)) under this Part for a taxation year, or"

S. 127.1(1), the portion after paragraph (b) and before paragraph (c), was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 36(1), applicable to taxation years that end after February 22, 1994. That part formerly read:

"a prescribed form containing prescribed information, the taxpayer shall be deemed to have paid, on the day on which the return referred to in paragraph (a) or the form referred to in paragraph (b), as the case may be, is filed, an amount, on account of the taxpayer's tax under this Part for the year, equal to the lesser of"

Editorial Note: Subsection 127.1(1) allows a taxpayer to claim a refundable investment tax credit for a taxation year. The taxpayer is "deemed to have paid" the amount to its instalment account, the investment tax credit is fully refundable even if no tax is payable for the year. Generally, refundability of investment tax credits are available to Canadian-controlled private corporations, individuals and certain trusts.

Related Sections: S. 13(24) Acquisition of control; s. 127(14) Identification of amounts transferred; s. 127.1(3) Deemed deduction; s. 152(1) Assessment; s. 157(3)(e) Reduced instalments; s. 160.1(1) Where excess refunded; s. 164(1)(a) Refunds; s. 220(6) Assignment by corporation; s. 256(2.1) Anti-avoidance.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) — Scientific research and experimental development expenditures.

Forms: T2 SCH 301; T2 SCH 340; T2 SCH 360; T2 SCH 442; T661; T666; T1129; T1232; T2038(IND); T2 SCH 31.

Guides: T4052 An Introduction to the Scientific Research and Experimental Development Program; T4088 Claiming Scientific Research and Experimental Development Expenditures — Guide to Form T661; RC4290 — Refunds for Small Business R&D.

Canadian Tax Foundation: R&D Recent Developments, "Shop Floor SR&ED: Are You Missing Out?", 2006 Conference Report, vol. 6, no. 2.

Tax Window Files: Scientific Research and Experimental Development — Activities Performed by Canadian Corporation on Behalf of Foreign Corporation, October 7, 2005, CRA Document No. 2005-0140991C6; Amendment of Return to Claim Refundable Investment Tax Credit, February 13, 2002, CRA Document No. 2001-0109827; Refundable Portion of Part I Tax — Effect of Refundable Investment Tax Credits, September 28, 1993, CRA Document No. 917095; ITCs — Property Not Previously "Available For Use ", September 9, 1992, CRA Document No. 9220985.

► 127.1(2) ◄

(2) Definitions. In this section,

"excluded corporation" — "excluded corporation" for a taxation year means a corporation that is, at any time in the year,

(a) controlled directly or indirectly, in any manner whatever, by

(i) one or more persons exempt from tax under this Part by virtue of section 149,

(ii) Her Majesty in right of a province, a Canadian municipality or any other public authority, or

(iii) any combination of persons each of whom is a person referred to in subparagraph (i) or (ii), or

(b) related to any person referred to in paragraph (a);

Related Sections: S. 256(5.1) Control in fact; s. 256(6.2) Application to control in fact.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) Scientific Research and Experimental Development Expenditures.

"qualifying corporation" — "qualifying corporation" for a particular taxation year that ends in a calendar year means a particular corporation that is a Canadian-controlled private corporation in the particular taxation year the taxable income of which for its immediately preceding taxation year — together with, if the particular corporation is associated in the particular taxation year with one or more other corporations (in this subsection referred to as "associated corporations"), the taxable income of each associated corporation for its last taxation year that ended in the preceding calendar year (determined before taking into consideration the specified future tax consequences for that last year) — does not exceed the qualifying income limit of the particular corporation for the particular taxation year;

History: S. 127.1(2), the definition "qualifying corporation" was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 41(1), applicable to taxation years that end on or after February 26, 2008. S. 127.1(2), the definition "qualifying corporation" formerly read:

"'qualifying corporation' — 'qualifying corporation' for a particular taxation year that ends in a calendar year means

(a) a corporation that is a Canadian-controlled private corporation throughout the particular year (other than a corporation associated with another corporation in the particular year) the taxable income of which for its immediately preceding taxation year (determined before taking into consideration the specified future tax consequences for that preceding year) does not exceed its business limit for that preceding year, or

(b) a corporation that is a Canadian-controlled private corporation throughout the particular year and associated with another corporation in the particular year, where the total of all amounts each of which is the taxable income of the corporation or such an associated corporation for its last taxation year that ended in the preceding calendar year (determined before taking into consideration the specified future tax consequences for that last year) does not exceed the total of all amounts each of which is the business limit of the corporation or such an associated corporation for that last year;"

S. 127.1(2), the definition "qualifying corporation", was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 36(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995. That definition formerly read:

" 'qualifying corporation' — 'qualifying corporation' for a particular taxation year means a corporation that is, throughout the particular year, a Canadian-controlled private corporation the taxable income of which for its preceding taxation year or, if it is associated with one or more other corporations in the particular year, the taxable income of the corporation for its last taxation year ending in the preceding calendar year plus the taxable incomes of all such other corporations for their last taxation years ending in the preceding calendar year, does not exceed the total of the business limits (as determined under section 125) of the corporation and the other corporations for those preceding years, except that for a particular taxation year that begins before 1996 the total of the business limits shall be determined under section 125 as that section read in its application to taxation years ending before July 1994;"

S. 127.1(2), the definition "qualifying corporation", was amended by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 38(1), applicable to taxation years that end after June 1994. That definition formerly read:

" 'qualifying corporation' — 'qualifying corporation' for a particular taxation year means a corporation that is, throughout the particular year, a Canadian-controlled private corporation whose taxable income for the immediately preceding taxation year together with the taxable incomes of all corporations with which it was associated in the particular year for their taxation years ending in the calendar year immediately preceding the calendar year in which the particular year of the corporation ended does not exceed the total of the business limits (as determined under section 125) of the corporation and the associated corporations for those preceding years;"

Related Sections: S. 87(2)(oo.1) Investment tax credit; s. 88(1)(e.9) Winding-up; s. 125(7), "Canadian-controlled private corporation"; s. 127.1(2.01) Addition to refundable investment tax credit; s. 127.1(2.2) Refundable investment tax credit — associated CCPCs; s. 127.1(2.3) Application of subsection (2.2); s. 248(1), "business limit", "specified future tax consequences".

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) Scientific Research and Experimental Development Expenditures

Tax Window Files: Refundable Investment Tax Credit — Qualifying Corporation, April 28, 2006, CRA Document No. 2005-016161117; Refundable Investment Tax Credit — Qualifying Corporation, May 13, 2004, CRA Document No. 2003-004799117.

"qualifying income limit" — "qualifying income limit" of a corporation for a particular taxation year is the amount determined by the formula

$$$500{,}000 \times [($40 \text{ million} - A)/$40 \text{ million}]$$

where

A is

(a) nil, if $10 million is greater than or equal to the amount (in paragraph (b) referred to as the "taxable capital amount") that is the total of the corporation's taxable capital employed in Canada (within the meaning assigned by section 181.2 or 181.3) for its immediately preceding taxation year and the taxable capital employed in Canada (within the meaning assigned by section 181.2 or 181.3) of each associated corporation for the associated corporation's last taxation year that ended in the last calendar year that ended before the end of the particular taxation year, or

(b) in any other case, the lesser of $40 million and the amount by which the taxable capital amount exceeds $10 million;

History: S. 127.1(2), the definition "qualifying income limit" was added by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 41(2), applicable to taxation years that end on or after February 26, 2008, except that (a) for taxation years that include February 26, 2008, the formula in the definition "qualifying income limit" in subsection 127.1(2) and the portion of that definition that follows that formula shall be read as follows:

" A + [($400,000 × [($40 million – B)/$40 million] – A) × (C/D)]

where

A is the business limit of the corporation for the particular taxation year determined in accordance with section 125 — together with, if the particular corporation is associated in the particular taxation year with one or more other corporations the business limit of each of those associated corporations for its last taxation year that ends in the particular taxation year (determined in accordance with section 125),

B is

(a) nil, if $10 million is greater than or equal to the amount (in paragraph (b) referred to as the 'taxable capital amount') that is the total of the corporation's taxable capital employed in Canada (within the meaning assigned by section 181.2 or 181.3) for its immediately preceding taxation year and the taxable capital employed in Canada (within the meaning assigned by section 181.2 or 181.3) of each associated corporation for the associated corporation's last taxation year that ended in the last calendar year that ended before the end of the particular taxation year, or

(b) in any other case, the lesser of $40 million and the amount by which the taxable capital amount exceeds $10 million,

C is the number of days in the particular taxation year that are after February 25, 2008, and

D is the total number of days in the particular taxation year;"

(b) for taxation years that begin after February 26, 2008 and end before 2010, the reference to "$500,000" in the formula in the definition "qualifying income limit" in subsection 127.1(2) shall be read as a reference to "$400,000"; and

(c) for 2010 taxation years that begin before 2010, the reference to "$500,000" in the formula in the definition "qualifying income limit" in subsection 127.1(2) shall be read as a reference to an amount that is the total of $400,000 and that proportion of $100,000 that the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2010 is of the number of days in the taxation year.

"refundable investment tax credit" — "refundable investment tax credit" of a taxpayer for a taxation year means, in the case of a taxpayer who is (a) a qualifying corporation for the year,

(b) an individual other than a trust, or

(c) a trust each beneficiary of which is a person referred to in paragraph (a) or (b), an amount equal to 40% of the amount, if any, by which

(d) the total of all amounts included in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year

(i) in respect of property (other than qualified small-business property) acquired, or a qualified expenditure (other than an expenditure in respect of which an amount is included under paragraph (f) in computing the taxpayer's refundable investment tax credit for the year) incurred, by the taxpayer in the year, or

(ii) because of paragraph (b) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection 127(9) in respect of a property (other than qualified small-business property) acquired or a qualified expenditure (other than an expenditure in respect of which an amount is included under paragraph (f) in computing the taxpayer's refundable investment tax credit for the year) incurred

exceeds

(e) the total of

(i) the portion of the total of all amounts deducted under subsection 127(5) for the year or a preceding taxation year (other than an amount deemed by subsection (3) to be so deducted for the year) that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the total determined under paragraph (d), and

(ii) the portion of the total of all amounts required by subsection 127(6) or (7) to be deducted in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the total determined under paragraph (d), plus, where the taxpayer is a qualifying corporation (other than an excluded corporation) for the year, the amount, if any, by which

(f) the total of

(i) the portion of the amount required by subsection 127(10.1) to be added in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year that is in respect of qualified expenditures (other than expenditures of a capital nature) incurred by the taxpayer in the year, and

(ii) all amounts determined under paragraph (a.1) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection 127(9) in respect of expenditures for which an amount is included in subparagraph (i)

exceeds

(g) the total of

(i) the portion of the total of all amounts deducted by the taxpayer under subsection 127(5) for the year or a preceding taxation year (other than an amount deemed by subsection (3) to be so deducted for the year) that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the total determined under paragraph (f), and

(ii) the portion of the total of all amounts required by subsection 127(6) to be deducted in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the total determined under paragraph (f).

History: S. 127.1(2), paragraph (f) of the definition of "refundable tax credit", was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 31(1), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995. That part formerly read:

"(f) the total of

(i) the portion of the amount required by subsection 127(10.1) to be added in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year that is in respect of qualified expenditures (other than expenditures of a capital nature) incurred in the year, and

(ii) all amounts determined under paragraph (a) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection 127(9) in respect of expenditures for which amounts are included in subparagraph (i)"

S. 127.1(2), the definition of "refundable investment tax credit", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 16(1), applicable to taxation years that end after December 2, 1992. S. 127.1(2), the definition of "refundable investment tax credit", formerly read:

" 'refundable investment tax credit' for a taxation year means,

(a) in the case of a taxpayer who is

(i) a qualifying corporation for the year,

(ii) an individual other than a trust, or

(iii) a trust each beneficiary of which is a person referred to in subparagraph (i) or (ii),

an amount equal to 40% of the amount, if any, by which

(iv) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount included in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year

(A) in respect of property acquired, or an expenditure made (other than a qualified Canadian exploration expenditure or an expenditure in respect of which an amount is included under subparagraph (vi) or (b)(ii) in computing the taxpayer's refundable investment tax credit for the year), by the taxpayer in the year and after April 19, 1983,

(B) pursuant to paragraph (b) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection 127(9) in respect of a property acquired, or an expenditure made (other than a qualified Canadian exploration expenditure or an expenditure in respect of which an amount is included under subparagraph (vi) or (b)(ii) in computing the taxpayer's refundable investment tax credit for the year), after April 19, 1983, or

(C) in respect of the taxpayer's qualified Canadian exploration expenditure for the year, or pursuant to paragraph (b) of that definition in respect of a qualified Canadian exploration expenditure for the year, other than an amount included under subparagraph (b)(iii)

exceeds

(v) the total of

(A) such portion of the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the taxpayer under subsection 127(5) for the year or a preceding taxation year (other than an amount deemed by subsection (3) to be so deducted for the year) as may reasonably be considered to be in respect of the total determined under subparagraph (iv), and

(B) such portion of the total of all amounts each of which is an amount required by subsection 127(6) or (7) to be deducted in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year as may reasonably be considered to be in respect of the total determined under subparagraph (iv), plus, in the case of a qualifying corporation for the year, other than an excluded corporation for the year, the amount, if any, by which

(vi) the total of

(A) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount required by subsection 127(10.1) to be added in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year in respect of an expenditure, other than an expenditure of a capital nature, made by it after May 23, 1985 and in the year, and

(B) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined under paragraph (a) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection 127(9) in respect of an expenditure for which an amount is included in clause (A)

exceeds

(vii) the total of

(A) such portion of the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the taxpayer under subsection 127(5) for the year or a preceding taxation year (other than an amount deemed by subsection (3) to be so deducted for the year) as may reasonably be considered to be in respect of the total determined under subparagraph (vi), and

(B) such portion of the total of all amounts each of which is an amount required by subsection 127(6) to be deducted in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year as may reasonably be considered to be in respect of the total determined under subparagraph (vi), and

(b) in the case of any other taxpayer, the total of

(i) 20% of the amount, if any, calculated for the year in respect of the taxpayer, by which the total determined under subparagraph (a)(iv) in respect of property acquired or an expenditure made before 1988, exceeds the total determined under subparagraph (a)(v) in respect of property acquired or an expenditure made before 1988,

(ii) 40% of the amount, if any, by which

(A) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount included in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year

(I) in respect of an approved project property acquired by the taxpayer in the year and before 1988, or

(II) pursuant to paragraph (b) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection 127(9) in respect of an approved project property acquired before 1988

exceeds

(B) the total of

(I) such portion of the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the taxpayer under subsection 127(5) for the year or a preceding taxation year (other than an amount deemed by subsection (3) to be so deducted for the year) as may reasonably be considered to be in respect of the total determined under clause (A), and

(II) such portion of the total of all amounts each of which is an amount required by subsection 127(6) or (7) to be deducted in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year as may reasonably be considered to be in respect of the total determined under clause (A), and

(iii) where the taxation year commences before 1988, 40% of the amount, if any, by which

(A) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount included in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year

(I) in respect of the taxpayer's qualified Canadian exploration expenditure for the year, or

(II) pursuant to paragraph (b) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection 127(9) in respect of a qualified Canadian exploration expenditure for the year,

exceeds

(B) the total of

(I) such portion of the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deducted by the taxpayer under subsection 127(5) for the year or a preceding taxation year (other than an amount deemed by subsection (3) to be so deducted for the year) as may reasonably be considered to be in respect of the total determined under clause (A), and

(II) such portion of the total of all amounts each of which is an amount required by subsection 127(6) or (7) to be deducted in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year as may reasonably be considered to be in respect of the total determined under clause (A)."

Related Sections: S. 87(2)(oo) Investment tax credit; s. 88(1)(e.9) Winding-up; s. 127(9) Definitions, "investment tax credit"; s. 127(10.1) Additions to investment tax credit; s. 127(14) Identification of amounts transferred;

s. 127.1(2.01) Addition to refundable investment tax credit; s. 127.1(2.2)–127.1(2.3) Refundable investment tax credit — associated CCPCs; s. 136(1) Cooperative not private corporation; s. 137(7) Credit union not private corporation; s. 256(2.1) Anti-avoidance; s. 256(5.1) Control in fact; s. 256(6.2) Application to control in fact.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) Scientific Research and Experimental Development Expenditures.

Tax Window Files: Refundable Investment Tax Credit — Qualifying Corporation, April 28, 2006, CRA Document No. 2005-016161117; Refundable Investment Tax Credit — Qualifying Corporation, May 13, 2004, CRA Document No. 2003-004799117.

► 127.1(2.01) ◄

(2.01) Addition to refundable investment tax credit. In the case of a taxpayer that is a Canadian-controlled private corporation other than a qualifying corporation or an excluded corporation, the refundable investment tax credit of the taxpayer for a taxation year is 40% of the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of

(i) the portion of the amount required by subsection 127(10.1) to be added in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year that is in respect of qualified expenditures (other than expenditures of a current nature) incurred by the taxpayer in the year, and

(ii) all amounts determined under paragraph (a.1) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection 127(9) in respect of expenditures for which an amount is included in subparagraph (i)

exceeds

(b) the total of

(i) the portion of the total of all amounts deducted by the taxpayer under subsection 127(5) for the year or a preceding taxation year (other than an amount deemed by subsection (3) to have been so deducted for the year) that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the total determined under paragraph (a), and

(ii) the portion of the total of all amounts required by subsection 127(6) to be deducted in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the total determined under paragraph (a) plus the amount, if any, by which

(c) the total of

(i) the portion of the amount required by subsection 127(10.1) to be added in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year that is in respect of qualified expenditures (other than expenditures of a capital nature) incurred by the taxpayer in the year, and

(ii) all amounts determined under paragraph (a.1) of the definition "investment tax credit" in subsection 127(9) in respect of expenditures for which an amount is included in subparagraph (i)

exceeds

(d) the total of

(i) the portion of the total of all amounts deducted by the taxpayer under subsection 127(5) for the year or a preceding taxation year (other than an amount deemed by subsection (3) to have been so deducted for the year) that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the total determined under paragraph (c), and

(ii) the portion of the total of all amounts required by subsection 127(6) to be deducted in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the total determined under paragraph (c).

History: S. 127.1(2.01)(a) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 31(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995. S. 127.1(2.01)(a) formerly read:

"(a) the total of

(i) the portion of the amount required by subsection 127(10.1) to be added in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year that is in respect of qualified expenditures (other than expenditures of a current nature) incurred in the year, and

(ii) all amounts determined under paragraph (a) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection 127(9) in respect of expenditures for which an amount is included in subparagraph (i)"

S. 127.1(2.01)(c) was amended by S.C. 1996, c. 21, s. 31(3), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1995. S. 127.1(2.01)(c) formerly read:

"(c) the total of

(i) the portion of the amount required by subsection 127(10.1) to be added in computing the taxpayer's investment tax credit at the end of the year that is in respect of qualified expenditures (other than expenditures of a capital nature) incurred in the year, and

(ii) all amounts determined under paragraph (a) of the definition 'investment tax credit' in subsection 127(9) in respect of expenditures for which an amount is included in subparagraph (i)"

S. 127.1(2.01) was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 16(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1993.

Editorial Note: Subsection 127.1(2.01) permits a Canadian-controlled private corporation that is not a "qualifying corporation" under s. 127.1(2) (i.e., taxable income of associated group does not exceed the business limit) nor an "excluded corporation" under s. 127.1(2), to obtain partial refundability of the 35% investment tax credit for SR&ED expenditures, which is phased out as taxable income increases.

Related Sections: S. 127(10.1) Additions to investment tax credit; s. 127(10.2) Expenditure limit determined.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) Scientific Research and Experimental Development Expenditures.

► 127.1(2.1) ◄

(2.1) Application of s. 127(9). The definitions in subsection 127(9) apply to this section.

History: S. 127.1(2.1) was not part of the former Act.

► 127.1(2.2) ◄

(2.2) Refundable investment tax credit — associated CCPCs. If a particular Canadian-controlled private corporation is associated with another corporation in circumstances where those corporations would not be associated if the Act were read without reference to paragraph 256(1.2)(a), the particular corporation has issued shares to one or more persons who have been issued shares by the other corporation and there is at least one shareholder of the particular corporation who is not a shareholder of the other corporation or one shareholder of the other corporation who is not a shareholder of the particular corporation, the particular corporation is not associated with the other corporation for the purpose of calculating that portion of the particular corporation's refundable investment tax credit that is in respect of qualified expenditures.

History: S. 127.1(2.2) was added by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 29(1), applicable to taxation years that end after March 22, 2004.

Editorial Note: Subsection 127.1(2.2) allows associated corporations to be considered not associated for purposes of SR&ED refundable tax credits if they are associated through a third company and the conditions in subsection 127.1(2.3) are met. Subsection 127(10.22) provides a parallel rule for non-refundable investment tax credits.

Related Sections: S. 127(10.22) Expenditure limits — associated CCPCs; s. 127(10.23) Application of subsection (10.22); s. 127.1(2.3) Application of subsection (2.2); s. 256(1.2)(a) Control, etc.

Tax Profile: March 2006 — Some Tax Considerations for Investing in Silicon Valley North.

Tax Window Files: Enhanced ITC for CCPCs, May 18, 2005, CRA Document No. 2005-012689117.

► 127.1(2.3) ◄

(2.3) Application of subsection (2.2). Subsection (2.2) applies to the particular corporation and the other corporation referred to in that subsection only if the Minister is satisfied that

(a) the particular corporation and the other corporation are not otherwise associated under this Act; and

(b) the existence of one or more shareholders of the particular corporation who is not a shareholder of the other corporation, or the existence of one or more shareholders of the other corporation who is not a shareholder of the particular corporation, is not for the purpose of satisfying the requirements of subsection (2.2) or 127(10.22).

History: S. 127.1(2.3) was added by S.C. 2005, c. 19, s. 29(1), applicable to taxation years that end after March 22, 2004.

Editorial Note: See the editorial note under subsection 127.1(2.2).

Related Sections: S. 127(10.22) Expenditure limits — associated CCPCs; s. 127(10.23) Application of subsection (10.22).

Tax Window Files: Enhanced ITC for CCPCs, May 18, 2005, CRA Document No. 2005-012689117.

► 127.1(3) ◄

(3) Deemed deduction. For the purposes of this Act, the amount deemed under subsection (1) to have been paid by a taxpayer for a taxation year shall be deemed to have been deducted by the taxpayer under subsection 127(5) for the year.

Editorial Note: Subsection 127.1(3) ensures that a taxpayer cannot claim more investment tax credits than the maximum allowed under subsection 127(5).

Related Sections: S. 127(5) Investment tax credit.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-151R5 (Consolid.) Scientific Research and Experimental Development Expenditures.

Tax Window Files: Investment Tax Credit, July 29, 2005, CRA Document No. 2005-014368117; Refundable Portion of Part I Tax — Effect of Refundable Investment Tax Credits, September 28, 1993, CRA Document No. 9317095.

► 127.1(4) ◄

(4) Qualifying income limit determined in certain cases. For the purpose of the definition of "qualifying corporation" in subsection (2), where a Canadian-controlled private corporation has a taxation year that is less than 51 weeks, the taxable income of the corporation for the year shall be determined by multiplying that amount by the ratio that 365 is of the number of days in that year.

History: S. 127.1(4) was added by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 41(3), applicable in respect of the 2008 and subsequent taxation years.

SECTION 127.2:

[Editorial note: Section 127.2 applies generally only in respect of new share issues made in the period from June 30, 1983 to the end of 1986. See subsection 192(4) and the definition of "share-purchase tax credit" in subsection 127.2(6).]

► 127.2(1) ◄

(1) Share-purchase tax credit.

There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable under this Part by a taxpayer for a taxation year an amount not exceeding the total of

(a) the taxpayer's share-purchase tax credit for the year, and

(b) the taxpayer's unused share-purchase tax credit for the taxation year immediately following the year.

► 127.2(2) ◄

(2) Persons exempt from tax. Where a taxpayer who was throughout a taxation year a person described in any of paragraphs 149(1)(e) to (y) files with the taxpayer's return of income under this Part for the year a prescribed form containing prescribed information, the taxpayer shall be deemed to have paid, on the day on which the return is filed, an amount, on account of the taxpayer's tax under this Part for the year, equal to the taxpayer's share-purchase tax credit for the year.

► 127.2(3) ◄

(3) Trust. Where, in a particular taxation year of a taxpayer who is a beneficiary under a trust, an amount is included in computing the share-purchase tax credit of the trust for its taxation year ending in that particular taxation year, the trust may, in its return of income for its taxation year ending in that particular taxation year, designate as attributable to the taxpayer such portion of that amount

(a) as may, having regard to all the circumstances (including the terms and conditions of the trust arrangement), reasonably be considered to be attributable to the taxpayer, and

(b) as was not designated by the trust in respect of any other beneficiary of that trust, and, where the trust so designates such a portion, an amount equal to that portion shall be

(c) added in computing the share-purchase tax credit of the taxpayer for the particular taxation year, and

(d) deducted in computing the share-purchase tax credit of the trust for its taxation year ending in the particular taxation year.

► 127.2(3.1) ◄

(3.1) Exclusion of certain trusts. For the purposes of subsection (3), a trust does not include a trust that is

(a) governed by an employee benefit plan or a revoked deferred profit sharing plan; or

(b) exempt from tax under section 149.

► 127.2(4) ◄

(4) Partnership. Where, in a taxation year of a taxpayer who is a member of a partnership, an amount is included in computing the share-purchase tax credit of the partnership for its fiscal period ending in that year, such portion of that amount as may reasonably be considered to be the taxpayer's share thereof shall be

(a) added in computing the share-purchase tax credit of the taxpayer for that year; and

(b) deducted in computing the share-purchase tax credit of the partnership for that fiscal period.

► 127.2(5) ◄

(5) Cooperative corporation. Where at any particular time in a taxation year a taxpayer that is a cooperative corporation (within the meaning assigned by subsection 136(2)) has, as required by subsection 135(3), deducted or withheld an amount from a payment made by it to any person pursuant to an allocation in proportion to patronage, the taxpayer may deduct from the amount otherwise required by subsection 135(3) to be remitted to the Receiver General, an amount not exceeding the amount, if any, by which

(a) the amount that would, but for this subsection, be its share-purchase tax credit for the taxation year in which it made the payment if that year had ended immediately before the particular time

exceeds

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount deducted by virtue of this subsection from any amount otherwise required to be remitted by subsection 135(3) in respect of payments made by it before the particular time and in the taxation year, and the amount, if any, so deducted from the amount otherwise required to be remitted by subsection 135(3) shall be

(c) deducted in computing the share-purchase tax credit of the taxpayer for the taxation year, and

(d) deemed to have been remitted by the taxpayer to the Receiver General on account of tax under this Part of the person to whom that payment was made.

► 127.2(6) ◄

(6) Definitions. In this section,

"share-purchase tax credit" — "share-purchase tax credit" of a taxpayer for a taxation year means the amount determined by the formula

$$(A + B) - C$$

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount designated by a corporation under subsection 192(4) in respect of a share acquired by the taxpayer in the year where the taxpayer is the first person, other than a broker or dealer in securities, to be a registered holder,

B is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount required by subsection (3) or (4) to be added in computing the taxpayer's share-purchase tax credit for the year, and

C is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount required by subsection (3), (4) or (5) to be deducted in computing the taxpayer's share-purchase tax credit for the year;

"unused share-purchase tax credit" — "unused share-purchase tax credit" of a taxpayer for a taxation year means the amount determined by the formula

$$A - (B + C)$$

where

A is the taxpayer's share-purchase tax credit for the year,

B is the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year, the amount deemed by subsection (2) to have been paid on account of the taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for the year or, where Division E.1 is applicable to the taxpayer for the year, the amount, if any, by which the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year exceeds the taxpayer's minimum amount for the year determined under section 127.51, as the case may be, and

C is the taxpayer's refundable Part VII tax on hand at the end of the year.

Related Sections: S. 39(7) Unused share-purchase tax credit.

► 127.2(7) ◄

(7) Definition of "tax otherwise payable". In this section, "tax otherwise payable" under this Part by a taxpayer means the amount that would, but for this section and section 120.1, be the tax payable under this Part by the taxpayer.

► 127.2(8) ◄

(8) Deemed cost of acquisition. For the purposes of this Act, where, at any time in a taxation year, a taxpayer has acquired a share and is the first registered holder of the share, other than a broker or dealer in securities, and an amount is, at any time, designated by a corporation under subsection 192(4) in respect of the share, the following rules apply:

(a) the taxpayer shall be deemed to have acquired the share at a cost to the taxpayer equal to the amount by which

(i) its cost to the taxpayer as otherwise determined

exceeds

(ii) the amount so designated in respect of the share; and

(b) where the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(ii) exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(i), the excess shall

(i) where the share is a capital property to the taxpayer, be deemed to be a capital gain of the taxpayer for the year from the disposition of that property, and

(ii) in any other case, be included in computing the income of the taxpayer for the year, and the cost to the taxpayer of the share shall be deemed to be nil.

► 127.2(9) ◄

(9) Partnership. For the purposes of this section and subsection 193(5), a partnership shall be deemed to be a person and its taxation year shall be deemed to be its fiscal period.

► 127.2(10) ◄

(10) Election re first holder. Where a share of a public corporation has been lawfully distributed to the public in accordance with a prospectus, registration statement or similar document filed with a public authority in Canada pursuant to and in accordance with the law of Canada or of any province, and, where required by law, accepted for filing by such a public authority, the corporation, if it has designated an amount under subsection 192(4) in respect of the share, may, in the prescribed form required to be filed under that subsection, elect that, for the purposes of this section, the first person, other than a broker or dealer in securities, to have acquired the share (and no other person) shall be considered to be the first person to be a registered holder of the share.

► 127.2(11) ◄

(11) Calculation of consideration. For greater certainty,

(a) for the purposes of this section and Part VII, the amount of consideration for which a share is acquired and issued includes the amount of any consideration for the designation under subsection 192(4) in respect of the share; and

(b) the amount received by a corporation as consideration for a designation under subsection 192(4) in respect of a share issued by it shall not be included in computing its income.

SECTION 127.3:

[Editorial note: Section 127.3 generally ceased to apply in respect of shares issued after October 10, 1984, subject to transitional rules. See subsections 194(4) and (4.2).]

► 127.3(1) ◄

(1) Scientific research and experimental development tax credit.

There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable under this Part by a taxpayer for a taxation year an amount not exceeding the total of the taxpayer's

(a) scientific research and experimental development tax credit for the year, and

(b) unused scientific research and experimental development tax credit for the taxation year immediately following the year.

► 127.3(2) ◄

(2) Definitions. In this section,

"scientific research and experimental development tax credit" — "scientific research and experimental development tax credit" of a taxpayer for a taxation year means the amount determined by the formula

A – B

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount equal to (a) where the taxpayer is a corporation, 50%, or

(b) where the taxpayer is an individual other than a trust, 34% of an amount designated by a corporation under subsection 194(4) in respect of (c) a share acquired by the taxpayer in the year where the taxpayer is the first person, other than a broker or dealer in securities, to be a registered holder thereof,

(d) a bond, debenture, bill, note, mortgage or similar obligation (in this section referred to as a "debt obligation") acquired by the taxpayer in the year where the taxpayer is the first person, other than a broker or dealer in securities, to be a registered holder of that debt obligation, or

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 3 — Amendments Relating to Bijuralism — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Paragraph (d) of the description of A in the definition "scientific research and experimental development tax credit" in subsection 127.3(2) of the English version of the Act is replaced by the following:

(d) a bond, debenture, bill, note, mortgage, hypothecary claim or similar obligation (in this section referred to as a "debt obligation") acquired by the taxpayer in the year where the taxpayer is the first person, other than a broker or dealer in securities, to be a registered holder of that debt obligation, or

Applicable: Royal Assent.

Explanatory Note: [See the Explanatory Note re amendments related to bijuralism following the amendment to paragraph 12(1)(o).]

(e) a right acquired by the taxpayer in the year where the taxpayer is the first person, other than a broker or dealer in securities, to have acquired that right, and

B is the total of all amounts required by subsection (5) to be deducted in computing the taxpayer's scientific research and experimental development tax credit for the year;

Cases: Redemption of scientific research tax credit notes yielded capital since they were wholly artificial devices remote from trade, which were intended to procure a tax advantage. Stanley Drug Products Ltd. v. M.N.R., (T.C.C.) 90 DTC 1664.

"unused scientific research and experimental development tax credit" — "unused scientific research and experimental development tax credit" of a taxpayer for a taxation year means the amount determined by the formula

A – (B + C)

where

A is the taxpayer's scientific research and experimental development tax credit for the year,

B is the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year or, where Division E.1 is applicable to the taxpayer for the year, the amount, if any, by which the taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year exceeds the taxpayer's minimum amount for the year determined under section 127.51, as the case may be, and

C is the taxpayer's refundable Part VIII tax on hand at the end of the year.

► 127.3(3) ◄

(3) Trust. For the purposes of this section and section 53, where a taxpayer, other than a broker or dealer in securities, is a beneficiary under a trust and an amount is designated by a corporation under subsection 194(4) in respect of a share, debt obligation or right acquired by the trust in a taxation year of the trust where the trust is the first person, other than a broker or dealer in securities, to be a registered holder of the share or debt obligation or to have acquired the right, as the case may be,

(a) the trust may, in its return of income for that year, specify such portion of that amount as may, having regard to all the circumstances (including the terms and conditions of the trust arrangement), reasonably be considered to be attributable to the taxpayer and as was not specified by the trust in respect of any other beneficiary under that trust; and

(b) the portion specified pursuant to paragraph (a) shall be deemed to be an amount designated on the last day of that year by the corporation under subsection 194(4) in respect of a share, debt obligation or right, as the case may be, acquired by the taxpayer on that day where the taxpayer is the first person, other than a broker or dealer in securities, to be a registered holder of the share or debt obligation or to have acquired the right, as the case may be.

► 127.3(3.1) ◄

(3.1) Exclusion of certain trusts. For the purposes of subsection (3), a trust does not include a trust that is

(a) governed by an employee benefit plan or a revoked deferred profit sharing plan; or

(b) exempt from tax under section 149.

► 127.3(4) ◄

(4) Partnership. For the purposes of this section and section 53, where a taxpayer, other than a broker or dealer in securities, is a member of a partnership and an amount is designated by a corporation under subsection 194(4) in respect of a share, debt obligation or right acquired by the partnership in a taxation year of the partnership where the partnership is the first person, other than a broker or dealer in securities, to be a registered holder of the share or debt obligation or to have acquired the right, as the case may be, such portion of that amount as may reasonably be considered to be the taxpayer's share thereof shall be deemed to be an amount designated on the last day of that year by the corporation under subsection 194(4) in respect of a share, debt obligation or right, as the case may be, acquired by the taxpayer on that day where the taxpayer is the first person, other than a broker or dealer in securities, to be a registered holder of the share or debt obligation or to have acquired the right, as the case may be.

► 127.3(5) ◄

(5) Cooperative corporation. Where at any particular time in a taxation year a taxpayer that is a cooperative corporation (within the meaning assigned by subsection 136(2)) has, as required by subsection 135(3), deducted or withheld an amount from a payment made by it to any person pursuant to an allocation in proportion to patronage, the taxpayer may deduct from the amount otherwise required by subsection 135(3) to be remitted to the Receiver General, an amount not exceeding the amount, if any, by which

(a) the amount that would, but for this subsection, be its scientific research and experimental development tax credit for the taxation year in which it made the payment if that year had ended immediately before the particular time

exceeds

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount deducted by virtue of this subsection from any amount otherwise required to be remitted by subsection 135(3) in respect of payments made by it before the particular time and in the taxation year, and the amount, if any, so deducted from the amount otherwise required to be remitted by subsection 135(3) shall be

(c) deducted in computing the scientific research and experimental development tax credit of the taxpayer for the taxation year, and

(d) deemed to have been remitted by the taxpayer to the Receiver General on account of tax under this Part of the person to whom that payment was made.

► 127.3(6) ◄

(6) Deduction from cost. For the purposes of this Act, where at any time in a taxation year a taxpayer has acquired a share, debt obligation or right and is the first registered holder of the share or debt obligation or the first person to have acquired the right, as the case may be, other than a broker or dealer in securities, and an amount is, at any time, designated by a corporation under subsection 194(4), in respect of the share, debt obligation or right, the following rules apply:

(a) the taxpayer shall be deemed to have acquired the share, debt obligation or right at a cost to the taxpayer equal to the amount by which

(i) its cost to the taxpayer as otherwise determined

exceeds

(ii) 50% of the amount so designated in respect thereof; and

(b) where the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(ii) exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(i), the excess shall

(i) where the share, debt obligation or right, as the case may be, is a capital property to the taxpayer, be deemed to be a capital gain of the taxpayer for the year from the disposition of that property, and

(ii) in any other case, be included in computing the income of the taxpayer for the year, and the cost to the taxpayer of the share, debt obligation or right, as the case may be, shall be deemed to be nil.

► 127.3(7) ◄

(7) Partnership. For the purposes of this section and Part VIII, a partnership shall be deemed to be a person and its taxation year shall be deemed to be its fiscal period.

► 127.3(8) ◄

(8) Definition of "tax otherwise payable". In this section, "tax otherwise payable" under this Part by a taxpayer means the amount that would, but for this section and section 120.1, be the tax payable under this Part by the taxpayer.

► 127.3(9) ◄

(9) Election re first holder. Where a share or debt obligation of a public corporation has been lawfully distributed to the public in accordance with a prospectus, registration statement or similar document filed with a public authority in Canada pursuant to and in accordance with the law of Canada or of any province, and, where required by law, accepted for filing by that public authority, the corporation, if it has designated an amount under subsection 194(4) in respect of the share or debt obligation, may, in the prescribed form required to be filed under that subsection, elect that, for the purposes of this section, the first person, other than a broker or dealer in securities, to have acquired the share or debt obligation, as the case may be, (and no other person) shall be considered to be the first person to be a registered holder thereof.

► 127.3(10) ◄

(10) Calculation of consideration. For greater certainty,

(a) for the purposes of this section and Part VIII, the amount of consideration for which a share, debt obligation or right was acquired and issued or granted includes the amount of any consideration for the designation under subsection 194(4) in respect of the share, debt obligation or right; and

(b) the amount received by a corporation as consideration for a designation under subsection 194(4) in respect of a share, debt obligation or right issued or granted by it shall not be included in computing its income.

SECTION 127.4: [Labour-sponsored funds tax credit].

► 127.4(1) ◄

(1) Definitions. In this section,

"approved share" — "approved share" means a share of the capital stock of a prescribed labour-sponsored venture capital corporation, but does not include

(a) a share issued by a registered labour-sponsored venture capital corporation the venture capital business of which was discontinued before the time of the issue, and

(b) a share issued by a prescribed labour-sponsored venture capital corporation (other than a registered labour-sponsored venture capital corporation) if, at the time of the issue, every province under the laws of which the corporation is a prescribed labour-sponsored venture capital corporation has suspended or terminated its assistance in respect of the acquisition of shares of the capital stock of the corporation;

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Paragraph (b) of the definition "approved share" in subsection 127.4(1) of the Act is replaced by the following:

(b) a share issued by a prescribed labour-sponsored venture capital corporation that is not a registered labour-sponsored venture capital corporation if, at the time of the issue, no province under the laws (described in section 6701 of the Income Tax Regulations) of which the corporation is registered or established provides assistance in respect of the acquisition of the share;

Applicable: To acquisitions of shares that occur after 2003.

Explanatory Note:

"approved share"

Subsection 127.4(2) of the Act allows an individual (other than a trust) a tax credit for the acquisition of an "approved share", which is defined in subsection 127.4(1) as, generally, a share issued by a prescribed LSVCC. LSVCCs prescribed for this purpose under section 6701 of the Regulations include LSVCCs registered under Part X.3 of the Act, as well as specified provincially registered LSVCCs. Paragraph (b) of the definition "approved share" excludes from the definition certain shares issued by a provincially-registered LSVCC that is not a federally-registered LSVCC. This exclusion applies only in the event that, at the time of the issue of the shares, no assistance is available in respect of the acquisition of such shares because of a suspension or termination of assistance to the LSVCC under the laws of every province in which the LSVCC is registered.

Paragraph (b) of the definition "approved share" is amended to provide that an approved share does not include a share issued by a provincially-registered LSVCC (that is not a federally-registered LSVCC) if, at the time of the issue, no province under the laws of which the corporation is an LSVCC that is a prescribed LSVCC provides assistance in respect of the acquisition of the share. This amendment is provided to have the definition "approved share" better reflect the policy that a federal income tax credit be available in respect of a share issued by a provincially-registered LSVCC (that is not a federally-registered LSVCC) only if a provincial income tax credit is also available in respect of the share.

Paragraph (b) of the definition will continue to apply if, at the time of the issue by such an LSVCC of a share, no assistance is available in respect of the acquisition of shares of the LSVCC because of a suspension or termination of assistance to the LSVCC under the laws of every province in which the LSVCC is registered.

Amended paragraph (b) of the definition will also apply where there has not been a suspension or termination of assistance with respect to the issuance of the LSVCC's shares generally, but assistance is not available with respect to the acquisition of a particular share. For example, if under the laws of a province under which an LSVCC is a prescribed LSVCC, a taxpayer who acquires a share is not entitled to any assistance in respect of the acquisition either because of having reached the age of 65 years or because of the province of residence of the taxpayer, the share will not be treated as an approved share.

This amendment applies to acquisitions of shares that occur after 2003.

History: S. 127.4(1), the definition "approved share" was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 36(1), applicable to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127.4(1), the definition "approved share" formerly read:

" 'approved share' — 'approved share' means a share of the capital stock of a prescribed labour-sponsored venture capital corporation;"

S. 127.4(1), the definition "approved share", was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 37(1), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. That definition formerly read:

" 'approved share' — 'approved share' means a share of the capital stock of a prescribed labour-sponsored venture capital corporation acquired or irrevocably subscribed and paid for by an individual where the individual is or will be the first person, other than a broker or dealer in securities, to be a registered holder thereof;"

S. 127.4(1), the definition of "approved share", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 105(1), applicable after 1988. That definition formerly read:

" 'approved share' — 'approved share' means a share of the capital stock of a prescribed labour-sponsored venture capital corporation acquired by an individual where the individual is the first person, other than a broker or dealer in securities, to be a registered holder of that share;"

Related Sections: S. 127.4(1.1) Amalgamations or mergers; s. 204.8(2) When venture capital business discontinued; s. 204.85(3) Amalgamations and mergers.

Regulations: 6701.

Forms: T5006 SUM; T5006.

Tax Window Files: Labour-Sponsored Funds Tax Credit, April 15, 2003, CRA Document No. 2003-0006295; Information slips — Labour-sponsored funds tax credit, October 3, 1997, CRA Document No. 9718927; Definition of paid, September 27, 1995, CRA Document No. 9520275

"labour-sponsored funds tax credit" — [Repealed by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 38(2).]

History: S. 127.4(1), the definition "labour-sponsored funds tax credit", was repealed by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 37(2), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. That definition formerly read:

" 'labour-sponsored funds tax credit' — 'labour-sponsored funds tax credit' of an individual for a taxation year means the amount computed under subsection (3) in respect of the individual for that year;"

Related Sections: S. 127.4(6) Labour-sponsored funds tax credit.

"net cost" — "net cost" to an individual of an approved share means the amount, if any, by which

(a) the amount of consideration paid by the individual to acquire or subscribe for the share

exceeds

(b) the amount of any assistance (other than an amount included in computing a tax credit of the individual in respect of that share) provided or to be provided by a government, municipality or any public authority in respect of, or for the acquisition of, the share;

History: S. 127.4(1), the definition of "net cost", was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 105(1), applicable after 1988. That definition formerly read:

" 'net cost' — 'net cost' to an individual of an approved share means the amount by which

(a) the amount of the consideration for which the share was issued to the individual

exceeds

(b) the amount of any assistance (other than an amount included in computing a tax credit of the individual in respect of that share) provided or to be provided by a government, municipality or any public authority in respect of, or for the acquisition of, the share;"

"original acquisition" — "original acquisition" of a share means the first acquisition of the share, except that (a) where the share is irrevocably subscribed and paid for before its first acquisition, subject to paragraphs (b) and (c), the original acquisition of the share is the first transaction whereby the share is irrevocably subscribed and paid for,

(b) a share is deemed never to have been acquired and never to have been irrevocably subscribed and paid for unless the first registered holder of the share is, subject to paragraph (c), the first person to either acquire or irrevocably subscribe and pay for the share, and

(c) for the purpose of this definition, a broker or dealer in securities acting in that capacity is deemed never to acquire or subscribe and pay for the share and never to be the registered holder of the share;

History: S. 127.4(1), the definition "original acquisition", was added by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 37(3), applicable after 1995.

Related Sections: S. 204.85(3) Amalgamations and mergers.

"qualifying trust" — "qualifying trust" for an individual in respect of a share means

(a) a trust governed by a registered retirement savings plan, under which the individual is the annuitant, that is not a spousal or common-law partner plan (in this definition having the meaning assigned by subsection 146(1)) in relation to another individual,

(b) a trust governed by a registered retirement savings plan, under which the individual or the individual's spouse or common-law partner is the annuitant, that is a spousal or common-law partner plan in relation to the individual or the individual's spouse or common-law partner, if the individual and no other person claims a deduction under subsection (2) in respect of the share, or

(c) a trust governed by a TFSA of which the individual is the holder;

History: S. 127.4(1), the definition "qualifying trust" was replaced by S.C. 2009, c. 2, s. 42(1), applicable to the 2001 and subsequent taxation years, except that the definition "qualifying trust" in subsection 127.4(1)

(a) shall, for taxation years before 2009, be read without reference to its paragraph (c); and

(b) if a taxpayer and a person have jointly elected under section 144 of the Modernization of Benefits and Obligations Act in respect of the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, applies to the taxpayer and the person in respect of that taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 127.4(1), the definition "qualifying trust" formerly read:

" 'qualifying trust' — 'qualifying trust' for an individual in respect of a share means

(a) a trust governed by a registered retirement savings plan, under which the individual is the annuitant, that is not a spousal plan (in this definition having the meaning assigned by subsection 146(1)) in relation to another individual, or

(b) a trust governed by a registered retirement savings plan, under which the individual or the individual's spouse or common-law partner is the annuitant, that is a spousal plan in relation to the individual or the individual's spouse or common-law partner, if the individual and no other person claims a deduction under subsection 127.4(2) in respect of the share;"

S. 127.4(1), paragraph (b) of the definition "qualifying trust" was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 12, Sched. 2, s. 1(z.15), applicable January 1, 2001, coming into force on July 31, 2000. S. 127.4(1), paragraph (b) of the definition "qualifying trust" formerly read:

"(b) a trust governed by a registered retirement savings plan, under which the individual or the individual's spouse is the annuitant, that is a spousal plan in relation to the individual or the individual's spouse, if the individual and no other person claims a deduction under subsection 127.4(2) in respect of the share;"

Sec. 144, Chap. 12, S.C. 2000

144. [Transitional Provision] Where a taxpayer and a person who would have been the taxpayer's common-law partner in the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, if sections 130 to 142 [of S.C. 2000, c. 12] applied to the applicable year, jointly elect in respect of that year by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in prescribed manner on or before their filing due date for the year in which this Act receives royal assent, those sections apply to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year and subsequent taxation years.

S. 127.4(1), the definition "qualifying trust" was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 49(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127.4(1), the definition "qualifying trust" formerly read:

" 'qualifying trust' — 'qualifying trust' for an individual in respect of a share means a trust governed by a registered retirement savings plan where

(a) the individual makes contributions to the trust and those contributions (and no other funds) can reasonably be considered to have been used by the trust to acquire or subscribe for the share, and

(b) the annuitant under the plan is the individual or a spouse of the individual;"

S. 127.4(1), the definition "qualifying trust", was added by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 17(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years.

Related Sections: S. 146(1), "annuitant", "registered retirement savings plan".

Tax Window Files: LSVCC Shares Held in RRIFs, October 31, 2000, CRA Document No. 2000-0043445

"tax otherwise payable" — "tax otherwise payable" by an individual means the amount that, but for this section, would be the individual's tax payable under this Part.

History: S. 127.4(1), the definition "tax otherwise payable" was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 36(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127.4(1), the definition "tax otherwise payable" formerly read:

" 'tax otherwise payable' — 'tax otherwise payable' by an individual means the amount that would, but for this section and section 120.1, be the tax payable under this Part by the individual."

► 127.4(1.1) ◄

(1.1) Amalgamations or mergers. Subsections 204.8(2) and 204.85(3) apply for the purpose of this section.

Editorial Note: This subsection adopts the provisions in Part X.3 dealing with amalgamations and mergers in circumstances where the amalgamated corporation is deemed to be registered, where the venture capital business of a corporation is discontinued, and where it is deemed to be a revoked corporation.

History: S. 127.4(1.1) was added by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 36(2), applicable after February 16, 1999.

► 127.4(2) ◄

(2) Deduction of labour-sponsored funds tax credit. There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable by an individual (other than a trust) for a taxation year such amount as the individual claims not exceeding the individual's labour-sponsored funds tax credit limit for the year.

History: S. 127.4(2) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 49(2), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127.4(2) formerly read:

"(2) Deduction of labour-sponsored funds tax credit. Subject to subsections (3) and (4), there may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable by an individual (other than a trust) for a taxation year such amount as the individual claims not exceeding the individual's labour-sponsored funds tax credit limit for the year."

S. 127.4(2) was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 37(4), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years and, for the 1992 to 1995 taxation years, subsection 127.4(2) shall be read as follows:

"(2) There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable by an individual (other than a trust) for a taxation year the lesser of $1,000 and the individual's labour-sponsored funds tax credit (determined as if an approved share in respect of which an individual receives a payment under section 211.9 had never been either acquired nor irrevocably subscribed and paid for)."

S. 127.4(2) formerly read:

"(2) Deduction of labour-sponsored funds tax credit. There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable by an individual (other than a trust) for a taxation year the lesser of $1,000 and the individual's labour-sponsored funds tax credit for the year."

S. 127.4(2) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. VIII, s. 69(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. S. 147.1(2) formerly read:

"(2) Deduction of labour-sponsored funds tax credit. There may be deducted from the tax otherwise payable by an individual (other than a trust) for a taxation year the lesser of $700 and the individual's labour-sponsored funds tax credit for the year."

Editorial Note: Section 127.4 was originally proposed in the 1985 Budget to encourage investment by individuals in provincially established labour-sponsored venture capital corporations. The initial federal tax credit provided for under section 127.4 was conditional on the province providing a similar credit for provincial income tax purposes. Today, section 127.4 allows individuals to claim a tax credit of 15% of the net cost of acquiring shares of a prescribed labour-sponsored venture capital corporation, whether or not a provincial credit is received by the individual acquiring such shares, up to a maximum tax credit of $750.

Related Sections: S. 127.4(5) Labour-sponsored funds tax credit limit; s. 204.8(2) When venture capital business discontinued; s. 204.85(3) Amalgamations and mergers.

Forms: T2 SCH 460; T2 SCH 480.

Tax Window Files: Spousal RRSP LSF Tax Credit, May 3, 2006, CRA Document No. 2006-0178491E5; Labour-Sponsored Funds Tax Credit — Shares Acquired by Spousal RRSP, March 16, 2006, CRA Document No. 2005-0154871E5; Labour Sponsored Fund Tax Credit — Contribution to Spousal RRSP, September 28, 1995, CRA Document No. 9523585

▶ 127.4(3) ◀

(3) 3-year cooling-off period. [Repealed by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 49(3).]

History: S. 127.4(3) was repealed by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 49(3), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127.4(3) formerly read:

"(3) 3-year cooling-off period. Subject to subsection (4), no amount may be deducted under subsection (2) from an individual's tax otherwise payable for a taxation year that ends after 1996 where

(a) an approved share of the capital stock of a corporation is redeemed, acquired or cancelled by the corporation

(i) after March 5, 1996 (otherwise than pursuant to a request in writing made to the corporation before March 6, 1996), and

(ii) in the year or in either of the 2 preceding taxation years; and

(b) the original acquisition of the share was by the individual or by a qualifying trust for the individual in respect of the share."

S. 127.4(3) was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 37(4), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127.4(3) formerly read:

"(3) Computation of tax credit. The labour-sponsored funds tax credit of an individual for a taxation year is the total of all amounts, in respect of an approved share acquired or irrevocably subscribed and paid for by the individual (or by a qualifying trust for the individual in respect of the share) in the year or within 60 days after the end of the year (to the extent that it was not deducted in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the preceding taxation year), each of which is

(a) where a tax credit is provided under the law of a province in respect of the acquisition of, or subscription for, the share by the individual or the trust, and the share is not a share of a registered labour-sponsored venture capital corporation (within the meaning assigned by section 204.8), the amount, if any, by which

(i) 40% of the net cost to the individual or the trust of the share

exceeds

(ii) the amount of the tax credit so provided; and

(b) in any other case, where the information return described in paragraph 204.81(6)(c) in respect of the share was filed with the individual's return of income under this Part for the year (other than a return of income filed under subsection 70(2), paragraph 104(23)(d) or 128(2)(e) or subsection 150(4)), 20% of the net cost to the individual or the trust of the share."

S. 127.4(3) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 17(2), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127.4(3) formerly read:

"(3) The labour-sponsored funds tax credit of an individual for a taxation year is the total of all amounts, in respect of an approved share acquired or irrevocably subscribed and paid for by the individual in the year or within 60 days after the end of the year (to the extent that it was not deducted in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the preceding taxation year), each of which is

(a) where a tax credit is provided under the law of a province in respect of the acquisition of, or subscription for, the share by the individual, and the share is not a share of a registered labour-sponsored venture capital corporation (within the meaning assigned by section 204.8), the amount, if any, by which

(i) 40% of the net cost to the individual of the share

exceeds

(ii) the amount of the tax credit so provided, and

(b) in any other case, where the information return described in paragraph 204.81(6)(c) in respect of the share is filed with the individual's return of income under this Part for the year (other than a return of income filed under subsection 70(2), paragraph 104(23)(d) or 128(2)(e) or subsection 150(4)), 20% of the net cost to the individual of the share."

S. 127.4(3) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 7, Sched. II, s. 105(2), applicable after 1988. S. 127.4(3) formerly read:

"(3) The labour-sponsored funds tax credit of an individual for a taxation year is the total of all amounts in respect of an approved share acquired by the individual in the year or within 60 days after the end of the year (to the extent it was not deducted in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the immediately preceding taxation year), each of which is

(a) where a tax credit is provided under the law of a province in respect of the acquisition of the share by the individual, the amount, if any, by which

(i) 40% of the net cost to the individual of the share

exceeds

(ii) the amount of the tax credit so provided; and

(b) in any other case, 20% of the net cost to the individual of the share."

Related Sections: S. 127.4(1) Definitions; s. 127.4(4) Exceptions to cooling-off period; s. 204.8, "specified individual".

▶ 127.4(4) ◀

(4) Exceptions to cooling-off period. [Repealed by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 49(3).]

History: S. 127.4(4) was repealed by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 49(3), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127.4(4) formerly read:

"(4) Exceptions to cooling-off period. Subsection (3) does not apply to an individual for a taxation year as a consequence of the redemption, acquisition or cancellation of a share where

(a) the individual dies in the year and before the redemption, acquisition or cancellation;

(b) the individual's labour-sponsored funds tax credit in respect of the original acquisition of the share is nil;

(c) tax becomes payable under Part XII.5 because of the redemption, acquisition or cancellation;

(d) an amount determined under regulations made for the purpose of clause 204.81(1)(c)(v)(F) is directed to be remitted to the Receiver General in order to permit the redemption, acquisition or cancellation; or

(e) the individual becomes either disabled and permanently unfit for work or terminally ill in the year

(i) after the last original acquisition in the year of any approved share by the individual or by a qualifying trust for the individual in respect of that share, and

(ii) before the redemption, acquisition or cancellation."

S. 127.4(4) was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 37(4), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127.4(4) formerly read:

"(4) Idem. Notwithstanding subsection (3), where paragraph (3)(a) applies in computing an individual's labour-sponsored funds tax credit for a taxation year in respect of an approved share and the amount of the tax credit referred to in that paragraph is less than 20% of the consideration for which the share was issued, the amount determined under that paragraph for the year in respect of the share shall be deemed to be nil."

S. 127.4(4) was amended by S.C. 1994, c. 8, s. 17(2), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127.4(4) formerly read:

"(4) Notwithstanding subsection (3), where paragraph (3)(a) is applicable in computing an individual's labour-sponsored fund tax credit for a taxation year in respect of an approved share acquired by the individual and the amount of the tax credit referred to in that paragraph is less than 20% of the consideration for which the share was issued, the amount determined under that paragraph for the year in respect of the share shall be deemed to be nil."

Related Sections: S. 127.4(1) Definitions.

▶ 127.4(5) ◀

(5) Labour-sponsored funds tax credit limit. For the purpose of subsection (2), an individual's labour-sponsored funds tax credit limit for a taxation year is the lesser of

(a) $750, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's labour-sponsored funds tax credit in respect of an original acquisition in the year or in the first 60 days of the following taxation year of an approved share

exceeds

(ii) the portion of the total described in subparagraph (i) that was deducted under subsection (2) in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the preceding taxation year.

History: S. 127.4(5)(a) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 49(4), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127.4(5)(a) formerly read:

"(a) $525, and"

S. 127.4(5) was added by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 37(4), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years, except that, in its application to the 1996 taxation year, subsection 127.4(5) shall be read as follows:

"(5) For the purpose of subsection (2), an individual's labour-sponsored funds tax credit limit for a taxation year is the lesser of

(a) the total of

(i) the lesser of $1,000 and the amount, if any, by which

(A) the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's labour-sponsored funds tax credit in respect of an original acquisition after 1995 and before March 6, 1996 of an approved share

exceeds

(B) such portion of the amount deducted under subsection (2) in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the 1995 taxation year as is attributable to the original acquisition after 1995 of an approved share, and

(ii) the amount, if any, by which $525 exceeds the amount determined under subparagraph (i) in respect of the individual for the year, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's labour-sponsored funds tax credit in respect of an original acquisition in the year or in the first 60 days of the following taxation year of an approved share

exceeds

(ii) the portion of the total described in subparagraph (i) that was deducted under subsection (2) in computing the individual's tax payable under this Part for the preceding taxation year."

Tax Window Files: Spousal RRSP LSF Tax Credit, May 3, 2006, CRA Document No. 2006-0178491E5; Labour-Sponsored Funds Tax Credit — Shares Acquired by Spousal RRSP, March 16, 2006, CRA Document No. 2005-0154871E5; Labour-Sponsored Funds Tax Credit, June 21, 2000, CRA Document No. 2000-0027545

► 127.4(5.1) ◄

(5.1) Deemed original acquisition. If the Minister so directs, an original acquisition of an approved share that occurs in an individual's taxation year (other than in the first 60 days of the year) is deemed for the purpose of this section to have occurred at the beginning of the year and not at the time it actually occurred.

Editorial Note: The circumstances that will give rise to the exercise of the Minister's discretion are not set out in this provision but the explanatory notes accompanying similar provisions (such as subsection 146(22)) indicate that the Minister may use this type of power to provide relief of hardship for a community or group of individuals.

History: S. 127.4(5.1) was added by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 49(5), applicable to acquisitions that are made after 1997.

► 127.4(6) ◄

(6) Labour-sponsored funds tax credit. For the purpose of subsection (5), an individual's labour-sponsored funds tax credit in respect of an original acquisition of an approved share is equal to the least of

(a) 15% of the net cost to the individual (or to a qualifying trust for the individual in respect of the share) for the original acquisition of the share by the individual or by the trust,

(b) nil, where the share was issued by a registered labour-sponsored venture capital corporation unless the information return described in paragraph 204.81(6)(c) is filed with the individual's return of income for the taxation year for which a claim is made under subsection (2) in respect of the original acquisition of the share (other than a return of income filed under subsection 70(2), paragraph 104(23)(d) or 128(2)(e) or subsection 150(4)),

(c) nil, where the individual dies after December 5, 1996 and before the original acquisition of the share, and

(d) nil, where a payment in respect of the disposition of the share has been made under section 211.9.

History: S. 127.4(6), the portion before paragraph (a) was amended by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 49(6), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years. S. 127.4(6), the portion before paragraph (a) formerly read:

"(6) Labour-sponsored funds tax credit. For the purposes of subsections (4) and (5), an individual's labour-sponsored funds tax credit in respect of an original acquisition of an approved share is equal to the least of"

S. 127.4(6) was added by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 37(4), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years, except that the reference to "15%" in paragraph 127.4(6)(a) shall be read as "20%" for original acquisitions that occurred before March 6, 1996.

Editorial Note: The labour-sponsored funds tax credit is available only to individuals but may be claimed where the approved share is acquired by either the individual or by a "qualifying trust" for the individual which includes the individual's RRSP or spousal RRSP. No credit is allowed where the required information return is not filed with the individual's tax return for the year.

Tax Window Files: Spousal RRSP LSF Tax Credit, May 3, 2006, CRA Document No. 2006-0178491E5; Labour-Sponsored Funds Tax Credit — Shares Acquired by Spousal RRSP, March 16, 2006, CRA Document No. 2005-0154871E5; Labour-Sponsored Funds Tax Credit, April 15, 2003, CRA Document No. 2003-0006295; LSVCC Shares Held in RRIFs, October 31, 2000, CRA Document No. 2000-0043445; Labour-Sponsored Funds Tax Credit, June 21, 2000, CRA Document No. 2000-0027545; LSVCC Shares — Allocation of Credit, June 22, 1998, CRA Document No. 9811896; LSVCC and Tax Credit and RRSP, July 6, 1995, CRA Document No. 951260.

SECTION 127.41: [Qualifying environmental trust tax credit].

► 127.41(1) ◄

(1) Part XII.4 tax credit. In this section, the Part XII.4 tax credit of a taxpayer for a particular taxation year means the total of

(a) all amounts each of which is an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times \frac{B}{C}$$

where

A is the tax payable under Part XII.4 by a qualifying environmental trust for a taxation year (in this paragraph referred to as the "trust's year") that ends in the particular year,

B is the amount, if any, by which the total of all amounts in respect of the trust that were included (otherwise than because of being a member of a partnership) because of the application of subsection 107.3(1) in computing the taxpayer's income for the particular year exceeds the total of all amounts in respect of the trust that were deducted (otherwise than because of being a member of a partnership) because of the application of subsection 107.3(1) in computing that income, and

C is the trust's income for the trust's year, computed without reference to subsections 104(4) to (31) and sections 105 to 107, and

(b) in respect of each partnership of which the taxpayer was a member, the total of all amounts each of which is the amount that can reasonably be considered to be the taxpayer's share of the relevant credit in respect of the partnership and, for this purpose, the relevant credit in respect of a partnership is the amount that would, if a partnership were a person and its fiscal period were its taxation year, be the Part XII.4 tax credit of the partnership for its taxation year that ends in the particular year.

History: S. 127.41(1)(a), the description of A was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 34(1), applicable to taxation years that end after February 18, 1997. S. 127.41(1)(a), the description of A formerly read:

"A is the tax payable under Part XII.4 by a mining reclamation trust for a taxation year (in this paragraph referred to as the 'trust's year') that ends in the particular year,"

S. 127.41(1)(a), the description of B was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 34(1), applicable to taxation years that end after February 22, 1994. S. 127.41(1)(a), the description of B formerly read:

"B is the amount, if any, by which the total of all amounts in respect of the trust that were included (otherwise than because of being a member of a partnership) because of the application of subsection 107.3(1) in computing the taxpayer's income for the particular year exceeds the total of all amounts in respect of the trust that were deducted because of the application of subsection 107.3(1) in computing such income, and"

S. 127.41(1) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 39(1), applicable to taxation years that end after February 22, 1994.

Related Sections: S. 248(1), "balance-due day".

Canadian Tax Foundation: Frankovic, "The Case for 'Reverse Depreciation' of Reclamation Costs ", 2004 Canadian Tax Journal, No. 1, 1.

► 127.41(2) ◄

(2) Reduction of Part I tax. There may be deducted from a taxpayer's tax otherwise payable under this Part for a taxation year such amount as the taxpayer claims not exceeding the taxpayer's Part XII.4 tax credit for the year.

History: S. 127.41(2) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 39(1), applicable to taxation years that end after February 22, 1994.

► 127.41(3) ◄

(3) Deemed payment of Part I tax. There is deemed to have been paid on account of the tax payable under this Part by a taxpayer (other than a taxpayer exempt from such tax) for a taxation year on the taxpayer's balance-due day for the year, such amount as the taxpayer claims not exceeding the amount, if any, by which

(a) the taxpayer's Part XII.4 tax credit for the year exceeds

(b) the amount deducted under subsection (2) in computing the taxpayer's tax payable under this Part for the year.

History: S. 127.41(3), the portion before paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1997, c. 25, s. 38(1), applicable to the 1996 and subsequent taxation years. That part formerly read:

"(3) Deemed payment of Part I tax. There shall be deemed to have been paid on account of tax payable under this Part by a taxpayer (other than a taxpayer exempt from such tax) for a taxation year, where the taxpayer is an individual, on the individual's balance-due day for the year and, where the taxpayer is a corporation, on the day referred to in paragraph 157(1)(b) on or before which the remainder of the taxes payable under this Part for the year by the taxpayer would be required to be paid if such a remainder were payable, such amount as the taxpayer claims not exceeding the amount, if any, by which"

S. 127.41(3) was added by S.C. 1995, c. 3, s. 39(1), applicable to taxation years that end after February 22, 1994.

DIVISION E.1 — Minimum Tax

SECTION 127.5: Obligation to pay minimum tax.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act but subject to subsection 120.4(3) and section 127.55, where the amount that, but for section 120, would be determined under Division E to be an individual's tax payable for a taxation year is less than the amount determined under paragraph (a) in respect of the individual for the year, the individual's tax payable under this Part for the year is the total of

(a) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the individual's minimum amount for the year determined under section 127.51

exceeds

(ii) the individual's special foreign tax credit determined under section 127.54 for the year, and

(b) the amount, if any, required by section 120 to be added to the individual's tax otherwise payable under this Part for the year.

Department of Finance Comfort Letter

[Section 119 Credit for Taxpayer Who Paid Minimum Tax]

December 7, 2004

Dear XXXX

I am responding to your letter dated October 1, 2004 regarding the effective date of proposed amendments concerning the determination of alternative minimum tax (AMT) and the ability of an individual to claim a credit under section 119 of the Income Tax Act (the "Act"). Section 119 allows for a tax credit to alleviate the overlap of tax resulting from a subsection 128.1(4) deemed disposition of a capital property and the Part XIII tax on dividends that reduce the taxpayer's loss on that property.

As you know, I have indicated that I am prepared to recommend an amendment to the Act so that a taxpayer who has paid AMT for the year of emigration is not barred from claiming a section 119 credit. In addition, I have indicated that I am prepared to recommend an amendment that would prevent a taxpayer from being reassessed and subjected to AMT for the year of departure from Canada due solely to the application of a section 119 credit to that year. I proposed that these amendments apply to an individual's 2002 and subsequent taxation years.

In your letter you request that the proposed amendments have effect from 1997 in order to provide relief to the individual on whose behalf you contacted us. Following further review of the policy considerations behind these proposed amendments, I believe there is justification for a retroactive application date that corresponds with the inception of the section 119 credit. Therefore, I am prepared to recommend that the proposed amendments affect dispositions after December 23, 1998 by individuals who ceased to be resident in Canada after October 1, 1996.

As I am sure you know, I cannot offer any assurance that either the Minister of Finance or Parliament will agree with the recommendation that we intend to make in this regard. Nonetheless, I hope that this statement of our position is helpful.

Yours sincerely,

Brian Ernewein
Director
Tax Legislation Division
Tax Policy Branch

Department of Finance Comfort Letter

[Section 119 — Tax Credit and Alternative Minimum Tax]

September 9, 2004

Dear XXXX

I am responding to your letter dated March 3, 2004 to Mr. Lawrence Purdy of this Division regarding the interaction of the income tax rules relating to the determination of alternative minimum tax ("AMT"), and the ability of an individual to claim a credit under section 119 of the Income Tax Act (the "Act").

As you know, the purpose behind section 119 is to alleviate a situation where a taxpayer would be subject to taxation both on a gain arising as a result of the section 128.1 deemed disposition of shares held by the taxpayer on emigration from Canada, and on any subsequent dividends the taxpayer received on these shares and in respect of which Part XIII tax was withheld. Although the Act does not allow the taxpayer who has received dividends to claim a capital loss on the subsequent disposition of these shares, the payment of Part XIII tax can be seen as a substitute for the Part I tax paid on the gain. Section 119 therefore allows a credit to offset the potential double taxation. The credit is limited to the lesser of two amounts: that portion of the Part XIII tax paid that the denied loss is of the dividends received; and the amount of tax liability resulting from the deemed gain on the taxpayer's departure from Canada.

In your letter you describe a situation in which your client is being reassessed for the client's year of departure due to the client claiming a section 119 credit. My understanding of your client's situation is as follows. When your client emigrated from Canada your client incurred a tax liability because of the deemed disposition of assets owned by your client, which included shares.

Subsequent to departure your client received dividends on these shares, for which Part XIII withholding tax was paid. Upon disposition of the shares, any loss that may have resulted was not available to your client due to the stop loss rules contained in subsection 40(3.7). However, your client did claim a section 119 credit and requested that the credit be applied against the tax liability arising on the gain on the shares that was triggered in the year of emigration.

You advise that the Canada Revenue Agency (the "CRA") has since notified your client that the client's emigration year tax return is now being reassessed to apply AMT. This is because the section 119 credit as applied to that year has reduced your client's tax payable for the year to a level at which AMT applies. In your view, this negates the purpose of the section 119 credit, as your client is faced with double taxation, since part of the AMT represents tax on the gain from the deemed disposition on departure. You request that we recommend an amendment to the Act, so as to allow your client the ability to claim a full section 119 credit without this claim causing the AMT rules to apply.

Again as I am sure you know, the purpose to the AMT rules is to ensure that individual taxpayers who have significant income pay at least a minimum amount of tax in any particular year. These rules generally speaking recalculate a taxpayer's tax payable by redetermining the taxpayer's income for the year. Essentially the taxpayer adds back to their income what are generally known as "preferences" or deductions that the taxpayer is entitled to. If the amount of AMT determined is greater than the amount of regular Part I tax payable then the taxpayer is liable for the AMT amount.

The interaction between AMT, regular Part I tax and section 119 credits is complex. And it seems to me that there are two potential situations when a difficulty could result. The first situation is one in which the taxpayer was assessed AMT for the year of departure, and subsequently attempts to claim a section 119 credit for that year. It is my understanding that the CRA has advised you that the current rules would not allow the taxpayer in this situation to claim such a credit. Although the purpose of AMT is to ensure an individual pays a minimum amount of tax, I agree with you that, in policy terms, a taxpayer should not be restricted from claiming a section 119 credit merely because the taxpayer was subject to AMT. To do so could result in the potential for double taxation that section 119 is designed to avoid.

The second situation in which a difficulty could arise is the situation your client appears to be facing. In this second instance, the taxpayer was assessed regular Part I tax for the year of departure. In claiming a section 119 credit for that year, the taxpayer is then reassessed because the section 119 credit reduces the regular Part I tax payable to an amount below the tax payable under the AMT rules. The taxpayer is then assessed the higher AMT tax payable for that year. In this situation too, I see no reason in policy terms why a taxpayer should be made subject to AMT simply because the taxpayer claimed a section 119 credit.

This being the case, I am prepared to recommend an amendment to the Income Tax Act so that a taxpayer that has paid AMT for the taxpayer year of emigration is not barred from claiming a section 119 credit. In addition, I am willing to recommend an amendment that would prevent a taxpayer from being reassessed and subjected to AMT for the year of departure from Canada due solely to the application of a section 119 credit to that year.

I note in your letter that you request this amendment be retroactive to the effective date for the application of section 119, which was to dispositions that occurred after December 23, 1998 for individuals that departed Canada after October 1, 1996. We do not normally recommend that changes such as this be made on such a markedly retroactive basis, since both taxpayers and the Government need to be able to rely at any particular time on the law as it exists at that time. Exceptionally, however, we do recommend linking a relieving change to the transaction or circumstance that makes the Government aware of the need for the change. In this case, it is our understanding that this fact situation applies to your client's 2002 taxation year and therefore we are willing to recommend that this change apply to an individual's 2002 and subsequent taxation years.

I cannot offer any assurance that either the Minister of Finance or Parliament will agree with the recommendation that we intend to make in this regard. Nonetheless, I hope that this statement of our position is helpful. Thank you for bringing this issue to our attention.

Yours sincerely,

Brian Ernewein
Director
Tax Legislation Division
Tax Policy Branch

History: S. 127.5 was amended by S.C. 2000, c. 19, s. 37(1), applicable to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years except that, in its application to the 1998 and 1999 taxation years, section 127.5 of the Act shall be read without reference to the expression "subsection 120.4(3) and". S. 127.5 formerly read:

"S. 127.5. Obligation to pay minimum tax. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act but subject to section 127.55, where the amount that, but for sections 120 and 120.1, would be determined under Division E to be the tax payable by an individual for a taxation year is less than the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(i) in respect of the individual, the tax payable under this Part for the year by the individual is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of

(i) the amount, if any, by which the minimum amount for the year of the individual determined under section 127.51 exceeds the individual's special foreign tax credit determined under section 127.54 for the year, and

(ii) the total of all amounts required under sections 120 and 120.1 to be added to the tax otherwise payable under this Part by the individual for the year

exceeds

(b) the amount, if any, that may be deducted under subsection 120.1(1) from the tax otherwise payable under this Part by the individual for the year."

S. 127.5, that portion preceding paragraph (a), was amended by S.C. 1998, c. 19, s. 149(1), applicable to the 1992 and subsequent taxation years. That portion formerly read:

"S. 127.5. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, but subject to section 127.55, where the amount that, but for sections 120 and 120.1, would be determined under Division E to be the tax payable by an individual for a taxation year is less than the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(i) in respect of the individual, the tax payable under this Part for the year by the individual (other than a related segregated fund trust within the meaning assigned by paragraph 138.1(1)(a) or a mutual fund trust) is the amount, if any, by which"

Related Sections: S. 120.2(1) Minimum tax carry-over; s. 127.55 Application of s. 127.5.

Interpretation Bulletins: Secondary — IT-270R3 Foreign tax credit.

SECTION 127.51: Minimum amount determined.

An individual's minimum amount for a taxation year is the amount determined by the formula

$$A (B - C) - D$$

where

A is the appropriate percentage for the year;

B is the individual's adjusted taxable income for the year determined under section 127.52;

C is the individual's basic exemption for the year determined under section 127.53; and

D is the individual's basic minimum tax credit for the year determined under section 127.531.

Forms: T1219; T3 SCH 12; T691.

Sec. 50, Chap. 22, 1999

(1) Where an individual's tax payable under Part I of the Act for a particular taxation year that began after 1993 and before 1998 is greater than the tax that would have been so payable if the Act were read without reference to paragraph 127.52(1)(a) and the individual was resident in Canada throughout, and was not a bankrupt at any time in, the period that began immediately after the end of the particular year and that ended at the end of 1997, the individual's minimum amount for the particular year under section 127.51 of the Act is deemed to be equal to the amount, if any, by which

(a) the amount that would be the individual's minimum amount for the particular year determined without reference to this subsection

exceeds

(b) the part of the individual's additional tax for the particular year determined under subsection 120.2(3) of the Act that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to the application of paragraph 127.52(1)(a) of the Act and not deductible in computing the individual's tax payable under Part I of the Act for any of the taxation years that began after the end of the particular year and before 1998.

SECTION 127.52:

► 127.52(1) ◄

(1) Adjusted taxable income determined. Subject to subsection (2), an individual's adjusted taxable income for a taxation year is the amount that would be the individual's taxable income for the year or the individual's taxable income earned in Canada for the year, as the case may be, if it were computed on the assumption that

(a) [Repealed by S.C. 1999, c. 22, s. 50(2).]

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deductible under paragraph 20(1)(a) or any of paragraphs 20(1)(c) to (f) in computing the individual's income for the year in respect of a rental or leasing property (other than an amount included in the individual's share of a loss referred to in paragraph (c.1)) were the lesser of the total of all amounts otherwise so deductible and the amount, if any, by which the total of

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's income for the year from the renting or leasing of a rental or leasing property owned by the individual or by a partnership, computed without reference to paragraphs 20(1)(a) and (c) to (f), and

(ii) the amount, if any, by which

(A) the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's taxable capital gain for the year from the disposition of a rental or leasing property owned by the individual or by a partnership

exceeds

(B) the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's allowable capital loss for the year from the disposition of a rental or leasing property owned by the individual or by a partnership exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's loss for the year from the renting or leasing of a rental or leasing property owned by the individual or by a partnership (other than an amount included in the individual's share of a loss referred to in paragraph (c.1)), computed without reference to paragraphs 20(1)(a) and (c) to (f);

(c) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deductible under paragraph 20(1)(a) or any of paragraphs 20(1)(c) to (f) in computing the individual's income for the year in respect of a film property referred to in paragraph (w) of Class 10 of Schedule II to the Income Tax Regulations (other than an amount included in the individual's share of a loss referred to in paragraph (c.1)) were the lesser of the total of all amounts otherwise so deductible by the individual for the year and the amount, if any, by which the total of

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's income for the year from the renting or leasing of a film property owned by the individual or by a partnership, computed without reference to paragraphs 20(1)(a) and (c) to (f), and

(ii) the amount, if any, by which

(A) the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's taxable capital gain for the year from the disposition of such a film property owned by the individual or by a partnership

exceeds

(B) the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's allowable capital loss for the year from the disposition of such a film property owned by the individual or by a partnership

exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's loss for the year from such a film property owned by the individual or by a partnership (other than amounts included in the individual's share of a loss referred to in paragraph (c.1)), computed without reference to paragraphs 20(1)(a) and (c) to (f);

(c.1) where, during a partnership's fiscal period that ends in the year (other than a fiscal period that ends because of the application of subsection 99(1)), the individual is a limited partner of the partnership or a member of the partnership who was a specified member of the partnership at all times since becoming a member of the partnership, or the individual's interest in the partnership is an interest for which an identification number is required to be, or has been, obtained under section 237.1,

(i) the individual's share of allowable capital losses of the partnership for the fiscal period were the lesser of

(A) the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's

(I) share of a taxable capital gain for the fiscal period from the disposition of property (other than property acquired by the partnership in a transaction to which subsection 97(2) applied), or

(II) taxable capital gain for the year from the disposition of the individual's interest in the partnership if the individual, or a person who does not deal at arm's length with the individual, does not have an interest in the partnership (otherwise than because of the application of paragraph 98(1)(a) or 98.1(1)(a)) throughout the following taxation year, and

(B) the individual's share of allowable capital losses of the partnership for the fiscal period,

(ii) the individual's share of each loss from a business of the partnership for the fiscal period were the lesser of

(A) the individual's share of the loss, and

(B) the amount, if any, by which

(I) the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's

1. share of a taxable capital gain for the fiscal period from the disposition of property used by the partnership in the business (other than property acquired by the partnership in a transaction to which subsection 97(2) applied), or

2. taxable capital gain for the year from the disposition of the individual's interest in the partnership if the individual, or a person who does not deal at arm's length with the individual, does not have an interest in the partnership (otherwise than because of the application of paragraph 98(1)(a) or 98.1(1)(a)) throughout the following taxation year

exceeds

(II) the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's share of an allowable capital loss for the fiscal period, and

(iii) the individual's share of losses from property of the partnership for the fiscal period were the lesser of

(A) the total of

(I) the individual's share of incomes for the fiscal period from properties of the partnership, and

(II) the amount, if any, by which the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's

1. share of a taxable capital gain for the fiscal period from the disposition of property held by the partnership for the purpose of earning income from property (other than property acquired by the partnership in a transaction to which subsection 97(2) applied), or

2. taxable capital gain for the year from the disposition of the individual's interest in the partnership if the individual, or a person who does not deal at arm's length with the individual, does not have an interest in the partnership (otherwise than because of the application of paragraph 98(1)(a) or 98.1(1)(a)) throughout the following taxation year, exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's share of an allowable capital loss for the fiscal period, and

(B) the individual's share of losses from property of the partnership for the fiscal period;

(c.2) where, during a fiscal period of a partnership that ends in the year (other than a fiscal period that ends because of the application of subsection 99(1)),

(i) the individual is a limited partner of the partnership, or is a member of the partnership who was a specified member of the partnership at all times since becoming a member of the partnership, or

(ii) the partnership owns a rental or leasing property or a film property and the individual is a member of the partnership, the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deductible under any of paragraphs 20(1)(c) to (f) in computing the individual's income for the year in respect of the individual's acquisition of the partnership interest were the lesser of

(iii) the total of all amounts otherwise so deductible, and

(iv) the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's share of any income of the partnership for the fiscal period, determined in accordance with subsection 96(1);

(c.3) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deductible in computing the individual's income for the year in respect of a property for which an identification number is required to be, or has been, obtained under section 237.1 (other than an amount to which any of paragraphs (b) to (c.2) applies) were nil;

(d) except in respect of dispositions of property occurring before 1986 or to which section 79 applies,

(i) the references to the fraction applicable to the individual for the year in each of paragraphs 38(a), (b) and (c) and section 41 were read as a reference to "4/3", other than in the case of a capital gain from a disposition that is the making of a gift of property to a qualified donee, and

(ii) each amount (other than an amount to which subsection 104(21.4) applies) that is designated by a trust for a particular year of the trust in respect of the individual and deemed by subsection 104(21) to be a taxable capital gain for the year of the individual were equal to the amount obtained by the formula

$$4/5(A \times 1/B)$$

where

A is the amount so deemed to be a taxable capital gain for the year of the individual, and

B is the fraction in paragraph 38(a) applicable to the trust for the particular year of the trust for which the designation is made;

Pending Amendment

Former Bill C-10 — Income Tax Amendments Act, 2006 — Part 2 — Technical Amendments — October 29, 2007

[Former Bill C-10 ceased to exist when Parliament was dissolved on September 7, 2008 and has not yet been reintroduced.]

Paragraph 127.52(1)(d) of the Act is amended by striking out the word "and" at the end of subparagraph (i), by adding the word "and" at the end of subparagraph (ii) and by adding the following after subparagraph (ii):

(iii) this Act were read without reference to subsection 104(21.6);

Applicable: To the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

Explanatory Note: Paragraph 127.52(1)(d) of the Act provides that in computing an individual's adjusted taxable income for minimum tax purposes, the total amount of capital gains and losses is to be taken into account. In some cases, because of subsection 104(21.6) of the Act (which in some cases deems a taxpayer to have realised a larger capital gain than was actually realised) more than the total amount of capital gains and losses would be taken into account. Excess capital gains are deemed by subsection 104(21.6) to have been realized in order that the inclusion rate for capital gains realized on property disposed of by a trust prior to February 28, 2000 is 3/4 and property disposed of by a trust after February 27, 2000 and before October 18, 2000 is 2/3. Paragraph 127.52(1)(d) is therefore amended to ensure that only the actual amount of the gain is included in computing the alternative minimum tax.

This change applies to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

(e) the total of all amounts deductible under section 65, 66, 66.1, 66.2, 66.21 or 66.4 or under subsection 29(10) or (12) of the Income Tax Application Rules in computing the individual's income for the year were the lesser of the amounts otherwise so deductible by the individual for the year and the total of

(i) the individual's income for the year from royalties in respect of, and such part of the individual's income, other than royalties, for the year as may reasonably be considered as attributable to, the production of petroleum, natural gas and minerals, determined before deducting those amounts, and

(ii) all amounts included in computing the individual's income for the year under section 59;

(e.1) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deductible under any of paragraphs 20(1)(c)

to (f) in computing the individual's income for the year in respect of a property that is a flow-through share (if the individual is the person to whom the share was issued under an agreement referred to in the definition "flow-through share" in subsection 66(15)), a Canadian resource property or a foreign resource property were the lesser of the total of the amounts otherwise so determined for the year and the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount described in subparagraph (e)(i) or (ii), determined without reference to paragraphs 20(1)(c) to (f),

exceeds

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deductible under section 65, 66, 66.1, 66.2, 66.21 or 66.4 or under subsection 29(10) or (12) of the Income Tax Application Rules in computing the individual's income for the year;

(f) subsection 82(1) were read without reference to paragraph 82(1)(b);

(g) the total of all amounts deductible under section 104 in computing the income of a trust for the year were equal to the total of

(i) the total of all amounts otherwise deductible under that section, and

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is 3/5 of

(A) an amount designated by the trust under subsection 104(21) for the year, or

(B) that portion of a net taxable capital gain of the trust that may reasonably be considered to

(I) be part of an amount included, by virtue of subsection 104(13) or section 105, in computing the income for the year of a non-resident beneficiary of the trust, or

(II) have been paid in the year by a trust governed by an employee benefit plan to a beneficiary thereunder;

(h) the only amounts deductible under sections 110 to 110.7 in computing the individual's taxable income for the year or taxable income earned in Canada for the year, as the case may be, were

(i) the amounts deducted under any of subsections 110(2), 110.6(2), (2.1), (2.2), (3) and (12) and 110.7(1),

(ii) the amount deducted under paragraph 110(1)(d), not exceeding the total of

(A) the amount deducted under paragraph 110(1)(d.01), and

(B) 2/5 of the amount, if any, by which

(I) the amount deducted under paragraph 110(1)(d)

exceeds

(II) the amount determined under clause (A),

(iii) the amount deducted under paragraph 110(1)(d.01),

(iv) 2/5 of the amounts deducted under any of paragraphs 110(1)(d.1) to (d.3),

(v) the amount that would be deductible under paragraph 110(1)(f) if paragraph (d) were applicable in computing the individual's income for the year, and

(vi) the amount deducted under paragraph 110(1)(g);

(h.1) the formula in paragraph 110.6(21)(a) were read as

A – B

(i) in computing the individual's taxable income for the year or the individual's taxable income earned in Canada for the year, as the case may be, the only amounts deductible under

(i) paragraphs 111(1)(a), (c), (d) and (e) were the lesser of

(A) the amount deducted under those paragraphs for the year, and

(B) the total of all amounts that would be deductible under those paragraphs for the year if

(I) paragraphs (b), (c) and (e) of this subsection, as they read in respect of taxation years that began after 1985 and before 1995, applied in computing the individual's non-capital loss, restricted farm loss, farm loss and limited partnership loss for any of those years, and

(II) paragraphs (b) to (c.3), (e) and (e.1) of this subsection applied in computing the individual's non-capital loss, restricted farm loss, farm loss and limited partnership loss for any taxation year that begins after 1994, and

(ii) paragraph 111(1)(b) were the lesser of

(A) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount that can reasonably be considered to be the amount that the individual would have deducted under paragraph 111(1)(b) had paragraph (d) of this subsection been applicable in computing the amount deductible under paragraph 111(1)(b), and

(B) the total of all amounts that would be deductible under that paragraph for the year if

(I) paragraph (d) of this subsection applied in computing the individual's net capital loss for any taxation year that began before 1995, and

(II) paragraphs (c.1) and (d) of this subsection applied in computing the individual's net capital loss for any taxation year that begins after 1994; and

(j) the Income Tax Application Rules were read without reference to section 40 of that Act.

History: S. 127.52(1)(f) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 50(1), applicable to dividends paid after 2005.

S. 127.52(1)(f) formerly read:

"(f) subsection 82(1) were read without reference to that portion following paragraph 82(1)(a);"

S. 127.52(1)(h)(i) was replaced by S.C. 2007, c. 2, s. 34.1(1), applicable to taxation years that end on or after May 2, 2006.

S. 127.52(1)(h)(i) formerly read:

"(i) the amounts deducted under any of subsections 110(2), 110.6(2), (2.1), (3) and (12) and 110.7(1),"

S. 127.52(1)(h)(ii)(A) was replaced by S.C. 2006, c. 4, s. 75.1(1), applicable to the 2006 and subsequent taxation years except that, for the 2006 taxation year, clause 127.52(1)(h)(ii)(A) shall be read as follows:

"(A) the total of

(I) twice the amount deducted under paragraph 110(1)(d.01) in respect of gifts made before May 2, 2006, and

(II) the amount deducted under paragraph 110(1)(d.01) in respect of gifts made after May 1, 2006, and"

S. 127.52(1)(h)(ii)(A) formerly read:

"(A) twice the amount deducted under paragraph 110(1)(d.01), and"

S. 127.52(1)(h)(vi) was added by S.C. 2002, c. 9, s. 40(1), applicable to the 1997 and subsequent taxation years and, notwithstanding subsections 152(4) to (5) of the Act, any assessment of a taxpayer's tax, interest or penalty for any taxation year shall be made that is necessary to give effect to subparagraph 127.52(1)(h)(vi).

